Textbook Service Will Remain Open Through June 13 - Book Deadline

The hours the textbook service will be open for returning spring term books has been announced by Helnie Stroman, director of Textbook Service.

They are: Thursday, June 6--7:50 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Friday, June 7--7:50 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.; Saturday, June 8--7:50 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.; Monday, June 10--7:50 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Tuesday, June 11--7:50 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Wednesday, June 12--7:50 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; and Thursday, June 13--7:50 to 12 p.m.

June 13 will be an unlucky day for the superstitious as well as those who don't return their books before noon--this is the deadline for returning books.

Even though the class which the student is taking is continuous this summer or next fall, the books are still to be checked in and then checked out again, Stroman said.

Textbooks are to be returned to the second floor of Morris Library via the center stairwell by the circulation desk, Stroman added.

College Bowl Elimination Winds Up Tonight

Prep Star Coming To Southern

Bob Ingstad of Valley City, N.D., one of the nation's most versatile prep athletes, has indicated he will enroll at SIU next fall. He plans to specialize in track.

Ingstad, a 6-4 195-pounder who has received All-American honors in football, played on a state championship basketball team and led his teammates in scoring three years as well as compiling an outstanding track background, hopes to concentrate on becoming one of the country's finest decathlon competitors at Southern.

Coach Lew Hartzog, who in two seasons here has led the Salukis from last place behind four Illinois and two Michigan universities in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference to fourth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association behind only Oregon, Villanova and Southern California, considers Ingstad one of the finest prep prospects he has ever landed.

"With the times and distances Bob has turned in while competing in North Dakota," Hartzog said, "I'd certainly have to rate him as one of the most promising decathlon performers ever and we feel most fortunate to have him with us."

Although admitting a desire to play more football after finishing college, Ingstad, who averaged 10.6 yards per carry and was North Dakota's third leading scorer in 1961, insists he will participate in track only at SIU.

Group To Plan For SIU's 100th Year

Dean Emeritus T. W. Abbott has been appointed chairman of a committee to plan for the centennial celebration of Southern Illinois University. The school was founded in 1869.

President Morris has named six to serve with him.

These include, Alexander MacMillan, director of the Transportation Institute; Kenneth R. Miller, administrative assistant; Robert Odaniell, director, Alumni office; Miss Vera Peacock, chairman, Foreign Language Department; and Gerald Runkle, associate professor, Humanities.

FINALS SIZZLE - Although it's not quite clear if it's the weather or the textbook that's too hot to handle, the student above finds an afternoon of concentration in the water at Lake-On-The-Campus is a cool move toward finals.

Tolliver's 'La Pintura' Wins Play Contest

William Tolliver, a graduate student in the Theater Department, won first prize in the first Southern Players One Act Play Contest.

Tolliver received the $25 first prize for his play "La Pintura." The play deals with a lonely young American whose encounter with a girl in a unidentified Latin American country leads to an abortive but eventful romance.

The play was produced by the Southern Players on a bill of original one-act plays presented May 28.

Second prize in the contest was won by Ronald Bowman, a printing and photography major from Decatur, for his play "The Enumerator."

Bowman's drama focuses on a strange interview in a university town between an old woman of misguided self-reliance and a statistic-seeking college student.

Bowman received $15 and an inscribed certificate.

Martha Howard Jones, a graduate student in the Theater Department from Cape Girardeau, Mo., received honorable mention for her play "He Who Is Without Sin," an adaptation of a short story by Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Miss Jones teaches in the English Department at Southeast Missouri State College.

According to Christian Moe, acting Chairman of the Theater Department, the contest will be repeated annually.

Entries for the 1964 contest may be sent to Moe in care for the Theater Department after October 1. Final deadline for submission of scripts is April 1, 1964.

Top Four To Represent SIU On National TV

The final eliminations contest for selecting an SIU team to appear on the G.E. College Bowl program next fall will be on WSIU-TV at 7 p.m. today.

Kenneth Frandsen of the Speech Department, who was named to coach the SIU team, said all of the students on the two teams competing tonight appeared on earlier shows on other teams. They were chosen as finalists on a basis of those previous appearances.

Tonight's teams are as follows:

SIU Museum Gets $35,000 Grant

A $35,500 grant from the National Science Foundation--boosting its total contribution to $134,500--has been received for processing archaeological salvage from the American Bottoms in the extensive cooperative research study of the area east of St. Louis, according to Melvin Fowler, SIU Museum curator of North American archaeology and director of the program.

The new grant is exclusively for laboratory analysis of the artifacts and other materials salvaged, he said. The grants have been made for the Illinois Archaeological Survey, a cooperative enterprise involving SIU, the University of Illinois and the Illinois State Museum. SIU will utilize about 1/3 of the new grant.

This is the third year the NSF has supported the program. Field crews from the three cooperating agencies have been pushing excavations in the area stretching from Dupon to the south to near Granite City on the north.

President Morris, John Rendlemen At Higher Education Board Meeting

President Delyte W. Morris and John S. Rendlemen, chief council and special assistant to the president, were in Chicago Tuesday, attending the June meeting of the State of Illinois, Board of Higher Education.

Preliminary reports of two Higher Board committees chaired by two SIU administrators were given at this meeting.

Rendlemen's committee on Illinois Financing of Higher Education and another, Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education committee, made reports. The later committee is headed by Ernest Y. Simon, Dean of the Adult Education Division here.

Charles Zoeckler, sophomore from Carbondale, Carbondale Campus; and Elizabeth Motley, senior from New Canton, Carbondale Campus.

TEAM TWO--Captain, Jeff Barlow, junior from Benton, Carbondale Campus; Douglas Trautt, sophomore from Wood River, Alton Campus; Martha Cotter, junior from Granite City, East St. Louis Campus; and Nick Pasqual, senior from Walnut, Carbondale Campus.

This final locally-televized contest is being held to assist the selection committee in determining which four students will be on the SIU varsity College Bowl team and which four will be alternates to the team, Frandsen said.

Fredna Carlsen, a junior from Tilden, and Noel Schanen, junior from Chicago, are alternates to the eight students scheduled to appear on tonight's program.

Frandsen said the date which the SIU team is scheduled to compete on the nationally-televized G.E. College Bowl Quiz show is Oct. 13. The Sunday afternoon show will shift from CBS to NBC next season, he said.

If the SIU team is successful in its appearances, it could win up to $9,000 in scholarships for the school.

Frandsen pointed out that the final team will be made up of four individuals selected from among the eight competing tonight. The final team will not necessarily be all of the team which wins tonight.

Practice for the team will continue throughout the summer in preparation for the appearance in New York this fall.

Eliminations to name the final team started with written and oral examinations given to interested students.

Twenty-four students were then selected on the basis of top performances on these tests and began competition on the locally-televized quiz shows.

Dean Attends Food Congress In Washington

Dean W.E. Kepper of the School of Agriculture plans to attend World Food Congress sessions in Washington, D.C., this week.

He has been invited to join about 1,200 other representatives from 100 nations at the Congress, which is sponsored by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Discussions will center on efforts to pool existing worldwide experience in fighting hunger and malnutrition, on ways of improving food production and use in under-developed countries, and on economic development aid.

Kepper returned to SIU last July after two years as an FAO administrative officer based in Rome, Italy. He helped plan and develop FAO agricultural teaching, research and educational programs. During 1956 he spent six months as an FAO management consultant to the Venezuelan agriculture ministry.

Associated Press News Roundup:

Sunday Closing Law Passes State Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.

A Sunday closing law aimed at freeing hundreds of thousands of persons who now must work on Sundays passed the Illinois Senate yesterday after a heated, two-hour debate. The controversial bill was sent to the House on a 36-20 vote.

Objectors branded the bill "legislative garbage" and predicted it would stifle competition between discount houses and downtown merchants.

Republican Sen. Egbert

Groen of Pekin, chief sponsor of the bill said its enactment would free perhaps one million "little people" who now must work on Sundays.

Groen said the main objective of the bill was to "protect the general welfare of the people" by giving them a day of rest.

Republican Sens. David Davis of Bloomington and Donald Carpenter of East Moline opposed the proposal as did Democratic Sen. Anthony De Tolve, D-Chicago.

"We sit here like tin gods," De Tolve said. "Who are we to tell people what they can do?"

Among the lengthy list of exemptions are taverns, restaurants, gasoline, food, drugs, newspaper, books, periodicals, tobacco products, bakery goods, dairy products, sunglasses, flowers, light bulbs and funeral supplies.

CHICAGO

James R. Hoffa, Teamsters'

Union head, and seven associates were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury that charged them with fraudulently obtaining more than $20 million in loans from the Central States Pension Fund.

The indictment contained 28 counts and followed two years of investigation by the grand jury and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It charged the eight men diverted more than $1 million from the loans for their personal benefit. The total allegedly diverted included at least $100,000 which the government charged was used to help extricate Hoffa from personal financial involvement.

This included his operations in Sun Valley, Inc., a Florida homes development in Broward County.

WASHINGTON

President Kennedy took steps yesterday to combat racial discrimination in the apprenticeship and construction programs.

Kennedy got out a special statement saying denial of the right to work is unfair, regardless of its victim.

He said it is doubly unfair to throw the burden most heavily on someone because of race or color. Accordingly, the President said he is:

1. Directing the secretary of labor, under the federal apprenticeship laws, to require that admission to apprenticeship programs of the government be on a completely non-discriminatory basis.

2. Asking for a review of all federal construction programs to prevent any racial discrimination in hiring practices.

3. Issuing an executive order shortly to broaden the authority of the Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity to include construction of buildings and other facilities wholly or partly undertaken as a result of federal financial grants.

Kennedy's statement was issued prior to a late afternoon meeting with 100 businessmen who have outlets in the South.

JACKSON, Miss.

Negroes crusading against racial segregation here kept police on the run yesterday with intermittent "pinprick" demonstrations.

Negro leaders said 11 demonstrations were on schedule. Police broke them up as fast as they started. In the first five, 29 persons were arrested.

The demonstrations were attempts to mount boycott picket lines in front of downtown stores and efforts to obtain service at cafes.

JUNEAU, Alaska

Scattered debris from a military-chartered airliner was found 60 miles off the British Columbia coast. There was no sign of any of the 101 men, women and children survived.

The disaster was the third worst in history involving predominantly military personnel.

Aboard were 58 military personnel, 22 military dependents, 15 Defense Department civilian employees and their dependents, and a Northwest Airlines crew of six. They were bound for Anchorage, Alaska, from McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash.

The Coast Guard said the cutter Sorrel and the Alaska Steamship Co. freighter Chena both had picked up mutilated parts of bodies and all kinds of debris from the ill-fated plane.

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill.

Ronald W. Metzger, 20, of Belleville changed his plea Tuesday to guilty in Circuit Court where he had faced trial June 26 in the Feb. 25 murder of a DuQuoin service station attendant. Metzger also held up the Hub Cafe in Carbondale.

Burial Thursday:

Pope John XXIII Lies In State At St. Peter's Basilica Today

By the Associated Press
VATICAN CITY

The body of Pope John XXIII lay in state in St. Peter's Basilica today and thousands of weeping mourners filed past it to pay their last respects to one of the most beloved pontiffs in history of the Roman Catholic Church.

A crowd of some 80,000 had watched in hushed silence as the body of the Pope was borne through the deepening twilight of St. Peter's Square yesterday and into the huge church.

Pope John XXIII will be buried in the crypt beneath the huge church. The body of the 81-year-old pontiff was transferred to the Basilica from the Vatican apartment where he died Monday night after four days of agonizing suffering from a stomach tumor and peritonitis.

Prelates, diplomats and citizens of Vatican City, including the street sweepers and gardeners with whom Pope John liked to chat, called at the papal apartment in tribute while cardinals began preparations to choose a new supreme ruler for the world's half-billion Roman Catholics.

The cardinals, now administering church affairs, scheduled their first business meeting for Wednesday. The meetings, called general congregations, will be held every day for handling routine affairs and arrangements for the conclave that will elect the new pope.

Vatican press officials said the formal nine-day mourning period will start Wednesday. The Vatican's master of ceremonial set the date, they said, and the cardinals are expected to ratify it in their opening business meeting. This would carry the period through the feast day of Corpus Christi June 13, though it might be interrupted for that occasion.

Clothing Specialist Suggests Coeds Give Themselves Pre-Vacation Quiz

Ritta Whitesel, clothing and fashion specialist in the School of Home Economics, recommends that vacation-bound coeds ask themselves these questions:

Where am I going? How? What will I do en route and what will I do after I arrive?

Miss Whitesel suggested a new form of "fashion insurance" for the vacationer: (a) to obtain booklets on our vacation destination from a local travel agent or (b) to write the Chamber of Commerce at your destination asking for information on climate and the kind of clothes worn there.

"Wherever you are going, plan your wardrobe carefully so that you will have a minimum of garments—but appropriate ones," she advised. "Take only those clothes that you will actually need, but be sure to include some of your favorite garments."

"One easy way to keep the wardrobe small is to build it around a basic color scheme, she said. Thus you can mix and match garments so that three or four single and two-piece garments worn in different combinations and with different accessories can be extended into a wardrobe of considerable size.

"This also enables you to keep your accessories at a minimum, since they also can be interchanged," she said. "Then, too, if you choose compatible colors, when you have to dress in a hurry you can be sure that whatever you choose will harmonize."

Easy-care fabrics are a boon for the vacationer, including drip-dry synthetics, crease- and stain-resistant cottons and silks, and jerseys and knits.

"Before selecting garments made of drip-dry fabrics, be sure you will have the time and place to launder them," she cautioned.

"To check for creasing and wrinkling, crumple a bit of the fabric in your hand and hold it rather tightly while you slowly count to 20. Then release it and note what happens. If the fabric wrinkles, don't buy it."

Jerseys and knits are excellent for traveling, since they pack easily and compactly, and wrinkle little, she said. They are favorite choices for European travelers.

Miss Whitesel cited one travel-wise acquaintance who utilized an "ample" wardrobe of only three knit dresses of different weights and one suit with two blouses. Two of the dresses were two-piece so that the tops, blouses and skirts could be interchanged. One blouse had a low neckline and tiny cap sleeves so that it could serve as a cocktail blouse when worn with dressy jewelry.

Other travel musts which she suggested: a folding hat that can be carried in your out-size handbag; a light non-transparent robe; a pair of roll-up, pullman-type bedroom slippers; and some good comfortable walking shoes.

"For automobile traveling, a comfortable hot-weather garment is a skirt which can be buttoned quickly over shorts," Miss Whitesel said. "This is especially useful if you are stopping at a hotel and are not sure about the appropriateness of trousers."

Permanently pleated skirts are practical for long trips, she said. "They shake off creases overnight and are ready to be teamed up with a pretty blouse the next morning."

Civil War In Pictures

In the region of the Upper Mississippi, if one looks no farther than the standard textbooks, the Civil War amounted to no more than a skirmish or two and a series of bushwhacker raids.

Thanks to the newspaper reporters and the magazine sketch artists who followed the troops into battle wherever the Blue and the Gray were engaged, the people of one hundred years ago had a much better grasp of the military panorama which actually spread from Pennsylvania to Arizona and spilled over into other states and territories as well.

Missouri, for instance, was one huge battlefield with a chronology of bloodshed extending from April, 1861 to May, 1865.

In this state General Nathaniel Lyon and his Union troops won a decisive victory at Wilson's Creek, near Springfield, over a much larger force of Confederates. Casualties, in proportion to the number of men engaged, were greater than the losses sustained even at bloody Bull Run.

For all the heroics in the drawing of F.O.C. Darley, from which this engraving was made in 1862, it is easy to believe that the artist was close enough to the action to smell the smoke and to witness the action of men in mortal conflict.

Ernie Pyle, the common soldier's newspaperman of World War II, would have felt right at home with the artist who sent back from the front such impressions of army life as this drawing of a field kitchen in Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper. The steamboat is disembarking Union soldiers at Fort Holt, Ky., almost opposite Cairo.

Two personalities of the war in Southern Illinois: General Grant assumed his first important command at Cairo. For helping the wounded on the field after the Battle of Belmont, Miss Mary J. Safford was called the "Angel of Cairo."

Clifton C. Edom. Missouri Sketch Book: A Collection of Words and Pictures of the Civil War. Columbia, Mo.: Lucas Brothers, 1963.

Professor Edom, who teaches photojournalism at the University of Missouri, is a lifelong Civil War buff with a compulsion to combine the two interests.

Confronted with the failure of technology to develop the photoengraving process in time for the magazine and newspaper readers to enjoy the wartime documentation of Mathew Brady and other great photographers, Professor Edom turned to the other pictorial materials through which the people of that tragic era were made to understand the great events of their day.

This led him through endless files of newspapers and periodicals in search of woodcuts and engravings, into attics, antique stores, libraries and private collections for sketches, photographs and lithographs.

Finally by adding a few photographs of his own, Professor Edom found himself with the material in hand for a rich history of the Civil War in Missouri, best told in the technique of modern photojournalism.

The result is much more than a collection of pictures, important as these materials may be on their own merits.

Political negotiation, campaigns, battles, army life, wartime economics, the home front, ideologies, heroes, villains, everything and everybody seems to be there, and it all falls into place in a meaningful, dynamic pattern.

SIU Teams Chalk Up .686 Average In First Year Of Independent Play

SIU ended its first season as an athletic independent with a .686 winning percentage. Southern won 81, lost 36 and tied one athletic event during the past year.

The overall season percentage ranks higher than the .658 percentage posted a year ago when SIU was still a member of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Gymnastics was the only sport to go through the season without a loss. Bill Meade's gymnasts won all six of their dual meets and finished second in the NCAA meet for the third straight year.

Jack Hartman's SIU basketball squad won the most games of any Saluki athletic squad. The SIU cagers won 20 of 30 games enroute to the fourth place finish in the NCAA College-Division tournament.

Glenn Martin's SIU baseball team continued its winning ways with a 15-6 season. It was the ninth straight winning year for Martin. He has not witnessed a losing season since 1954.

Dick LeFevre's tennis team won 16 of its 18 matches this spring. Only Northwestern and Notre Dame were able to turn

Pratte Named Baseball Captain

Mike Pratte, junior catcher from Bonne Terre, Mo. has been elected captain of next year's SIU baseball team by his teammates.

Glenn Martin, baseball coach, announced Tuesday morning that the team elected Pratte in a meeting Monday night.

Pratte hit .316 this season for the Salukis. He appeared in every game this season. He hit safely 24 times in 76 times at bat.

He has lettered three years in baseball here and one year in basketball. He played basketball two years ago but surpassed the indoor sport last winter to prepare for the baseball season.

back SIU's tennis squad. It was the finest year for SIU tennis in school history.

SIU's golf team took to the links with extreme vigor and optimism. Lynn Holder's squad won 13 matches in 19 outings. The Salukis golfers tied one match.

Track lost only one dual meet this spring. Lew Hartzog's track squad dropped a 74-70 decision to Kansas and then ran over Western Michigan and Notre Dame in home appearances. The Saluki track men also fared well in the big relay carnivals.

SIU's wrestling and swimming teams had 500 seasons. Jim Wilkinson's wrestlers turned back the challenge of Indiana State and Miami of Ohio. The SIU grapplers lost

6 Division Champs

Vie For Crown In IM Bowling

Six division champions were crowned in the intramural bowling league this week. All six teams will engage in a roll-off and then the top two teams will continue for three more games to decide the overall championship.

Power House won the Tuesday night division with a whirlwind finish. The Power House crew needed three victories from the Advisory Staff to win the championship.

Dennis Bronicki led the champs with a 640 series and a 269 single game. Ken Fries' 566 led the losers attack. A second Power House five won the Wednesday night six o'clock league by seven points.

The Screwballs won the championship of the Wednesday "A" League on the basis of a three game sweep of runner-up Freeman Five.

Moder Foders won the Wednesday "B" League title.

The Alkies captured the championship of the six o'clock Thursday league by one-half point over Century Series. Merle Sapp's 557 paced the winners attack.

The Washouts won the nine o'clock Thursday league by seven points.

to Bloomsburg (Pa.) State Teachers College and Oklahoma.

Ralph Casey's SIU swimming team beat Oklahoma, North Central and Iowa State last winter. But the Saluki swimmers dropped meets to Cincinnati, Indiana and Minnesota.

SIU's cross-country team lost its only outing to Kansas in dual competition.

Carmen Piccone, football coach, suffered through his first losing season since he became head coach in 1959. With a couple of breaks here and there the record could have been 6-4 instead of the final 4-6 season.

Since 1957 SIU teams have won 564 athletic contests in 785 outings for a .719 percentage.
