Tenant union will hear initial tenant disputes

By Andris Srasamanis
Staff Writer

Students who seek the aid of the student attorney in landlord-tenant disputes will first have to meet with the Student Tenant Union (STU), a member of the union says.

Phil Klafier, coordinator of special projects for the STU, said that in the past students who had difficulties with their landlords went to either the STU or the attorney.

All students will be referred directly to the tenant union as a result of a decision made at a Thursday meeting between the STU and Elizabeth Streeter, the students' attorney.

"The tenant union will be doing initial interviewing," Klafier said. The STU will decide if a student needs counseling or if some legislation is necessary.

"If (the disputes) can be settled by mediation, we will answer as compared with court," Klafier said, the tenant union will try to help.

If the union cannot handle the dispute, an appointment with the students' attorney will be made for the student.

Streeter said she thinks the new procedure will help reduce her work load.

"I took every single tenant case it would be overwhelming," she said. Previously, when students went to either the STU or the attorney's office, one was doing the same thing," Klafier said.

Families celebrate 201st in area spots

By Kathy Flanigan

The nation's 201st birthday was slightly quieter than last year's bicentennial but several families still found swimming, boating, picnicking, flags and fireworks the best way to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Families dominated the scene at most recreation sites around the Carbondale area. Giant City State Park, Crab Orchard Lake and Lake Murphysboro State Park all had several families enjoying the sunny afternoon.

Crab Orchard Lake was definitely "busier" than normal. Corky Brown, an employee at the Marina, said although most of the boats there are privately owned, several of the boats had been rented by 11 a.m. Monday morning, she said.

Lake Murphysboro State Park was full but not crowded according to Bobby G. Smith, site superintendent. Smith estimated that between 10,000 and 12,000 people would visit the park all day.

"There are a lot of places to go on the Fourth of July," Smith said, adding that the holiday was unlike Memorial Day and other legal holidays where people usually stay home with their families.

The Colonel kept busy as many families opted to picnicking with ready-made fixed chicken. An unusually big order for the Carbondale Kentucky Fried Chicken was a 500-piece order for Southern Hills. Southern Hills campus married student housing, planned a big celebration slated for late evening.

Fireworks, always the highlight of Independence Day, didn't disappoint spectators at Abe Martin Field.

This year sponsored by the Carbondale Lions Club, the blazing rockets entertained faculty, students and Carbondale residents with a colorful display.

Old Glory lined the business districts of Carbondale and Murphysboro. Many families also recognized the country's birthday by displaying flags at their homes.

Unfortunately the Fourth is always an occasion for highway accidents. Before the homebound rush of traffic began Monday, 372 persons had been killed in traffic accidents this year. Safety Council estimates that between some 500 and 600 people will die in accidents on the highways during the three-day weekend.

Iran claims SIU supports dissidents

By Ron Morgan
Student Writer

SIU has been identified as a financial backer of revolutionary activities against the Shah of Iran, a government-controlled newspaper in Tehran, Iran says.

Jared Dorn, director of the International Education Office (IEO) said Friday that a news article which appeared in the summer of 1976 accused SIU of financing Iranian student groups opposed to the Shah through student activity fees. Harvard University and the University of Chicago were also named with SIU in the news article.

The report prompted the United States Information Agency (USIA), to telephone the IEO on August 19, 1976 and request that a telegram be sent to their Washington office explaining why Iranian student groups were entitled to student activity fees, Dorn said.

The information officer who called said the USIA understood why Iranian students were allocated money but wanted the telegram to help the USIA explain the situation to the Iranian government, Dorn said.

On August 20, 1976, Dorn said in a telegram to the USIA, "I am hereby intervening you that Southern Illinois University at Carbondale does not treat the activities of international students different than those of American students.

"Students from many countries have organized national associations and carry on a wide variety of activities and programs, including social functions, forums on various topics and the publication of pamphlets and newsletters."

"As full members of this academic community these associations are entitled to use campus facilities and to expend their shares of activity funds collected from the student body.

"Because intellectual freedom, including freedom of speech, is fundamental at American higher education, Southern Illinois University neither tells foreign students what to think nor endorses the views expressed in their forums and publications."

Five days after Dorn wires his explanation, the University of Chicago appeared in the Iranian newspapers again.

On August 25, an article in the official Iranian newspaper Kayhan said, "The University at Carbondale in Southern Illinois has agreed to pay 75 per cent of the travel costs of Communist Iranians and American citizens to speak against Iran this fall."

At the time the Committee for Artistic and Intellectual Freedom in Iran (CAIF1), an official student organization, had just begun to make preparations to bring Daniel Ellsberg and Iranian poet Hissa Barahem to SIU.

The Daily Egyptian did not know of the proposed lecture until a month later.

The incident gave rise to speculation that members of SAVAK, the Iranian secret police, were operating on the SIU campus.

When asked about the possibility of foreign agents operating at SIU, Dorn said, "I'm sure that not only Iran but also many other countries maintain certain campuses whose job is to keep track of foreign student activities."

Student organizations are allocated activity fees on the basis of proposals submitted weekly to the Tripod. The Safety Council estimates that between some 500 and 600 people will die in accidents on the highways during the three-day weekend.
Stick around for Tricentennial to see what Americans thought

By Donald Sanders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, getting a head start on the nation's 300th birthday, sealed a time capsule so 21st-century Americans will know how the Bicentennial was celebrated.

The National Bicentennial-Tricentennial Time Capsule was sealed during Independence Day ceremonies at the National Archives, the nation's repository of official records.

The agency planned a reading of the Declaration of Independence, reenactments of 18th-century military camp life and drills, and a final ceremony in which three time capsules were sealed.

Anti-Nazi groups set Skokie rallies

By Marc Wilson

The director of Brown University's School of Journalism has saved some documents for a national organization of Nazis unless Nazis appear.

"We know they will be coming someday, and when we face them we'll be ready," said Rabbi Meir Kahane, founder of the militant Jewish Defense League.

Kahane said that the Nazis would soon permit a Nazi march here. "But we won't — if it's a matter of Jewish survival," he said.

Kahane has promised Skokie Mayor Albert Smith that his organization will remain on private property, he added, unless Nazis appear in Skokie. "If Nazis appear, then there will be violence — I promise it," Kahane said.

Kahane contends that Skokie is a 'key' to the U.S. and it's time to stop Nazi ideas here. Nazis will be marching in the streets of five other cities within a year.

An estimated 7,000 survivors of the 1939-45 Holocaust will attend a ceremony at Skokie, a Chicago suburb of 69,000 persons.

In addition to the JDL demonstration, protest rallies have been planned by groups calling themselves "Hunt the Nazi Out bastions of Fascism," and "The Workers Defense Coalition.

Nazi leader Frank Callin said his group has been assigned to guard his headquarters on a 24-hour basis and he's ready to self-sacrifice to stop the demonstrators.

Kahane, at the opening of the National Socialist Congress this weekend, called the march "a last chance fororary people to see theلام of the rallies against Jews in Kansas City.

"There is no future for Jews and no future for Nazis," Kahane vowed.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the demonstration must be speedily reviewed or vacated. The Illinois Attorney General's office had scheduled a hearing on the case for Friday.

Father charged with arson, murder

NORTHLAKE (AP)—Everett Bowen, 34, father of three children killed in a fire at their home over the weekend has been arrested and charged with arson and murder in connection with the blaze, police said Monday.

Three of Bowen's children, Sherri, 12, Julie, 8, and Mark, 5, were killed in the fire that broke out early Saturday in the Northlake home in which the children and their mother were staying. The children's mother, Evelyn, and another son, Howell, escaped from the fire. Northlake Fire chief Julian Sharp called the fire suspicious because of the speed with which it spread through the 1½-story brick house.

National Guardsmen fill prison posts

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—About 1,600 National Guardsmen filled posts left vacant at state prisons and other institutions when members of the Wisconsin State Employees Union, an AFL-CIO affiliate, went on strike early Sunday. Gov. Patrick Lacey ordered the guardsmen to duty under a state of emergency.

Thomas King, executive director of the state employees union, said he expected about a third of his union's approximately 35,000 members would participate in the walkout and a greater number would become involved Tuesday as state government resumed post-holiday office hours.

Mast Fawell
Officer

The Driver's License Examining Station of Springfield was forced to issue its first photo identification card on Friday, said he was not surprised by the lack of public support. "I don't expect a big rush. All these people are waiting for new drivers or, not ID's," he said, indicating five or six weeks waiting for a license examining station at 1200 W. Main.

The Illinois Legislature approved a 1977 budget of $2.8 million for the driver's license and ID programs. Licenses are required to be renewed every five years. An ID is good for five years and costs $14. IDs are free to anyone age 65 or older.

A spokesperson for Secretary of State Alan Doren said the IDs are intended for people who don't drive but need a widely accepted form of identification. The IDs will be administered like driver's licenses and be kept track of in Springfield just like drivers licenses.

"We're talking mainly about the handicapped and elderly who don't drive," the spokesperson explained. "The cards can be used for check cashing or, in the case of college students, proof of age to get into drinking establishments."

The spokesperson said that the photo ID program was added to the photo driver's license program because it cost virtually nothing extra.

New agency given state energy duties

SPRINGFIELD (AP)--Probably the most significant energy-related bill to come out of the 86th General Assembly this spring was one that would create a new Division of Energy for the state.

The division would tackle research questions on alternative power sources, energy scarcity and other conservation matters.

The legislature, in the waning hours of its spring session, approved a bill creating the agency as part of the Department of Business and Economic Development.

The bill setting up the agency, combined with other measures, would give Illinois a systematic way to deal with future energy problems and qualify the state for more federal grants.

In another bill, the legislature voted to curb the use of pollution control agencies to regulate medicines and medical devices, which leak from smoke stacks, thereby encouraging use of high-sulfur Illinois stone.

The bill on sulfur dioxide provides that state regulations are no more restrictive than federal standards.

The legislature rejected a bill that would ban nuclear power plant construction.

The Division of Energy and Conservation bills have the legislative blessing of Gov. James R. Thompson and Lt. Governor Daniel Walker, in the Department of Business and Economic Development, and has been of leadership in recent energy conservation matters in the past two years.

The Illinois Energy Resources Commission, which drafted most of the legislation, highlights of the energy package include:

The Comprehensive Solar Energy Act, defining solar power systems, funding demonstration projects and educational programs and providing incentives for construction of solar systems. A companion bill forbids public utilities from discriminating against persons who use solar power.

Colorado Coal Development Act. Coal utilization projects including for gasification plants would be approved $65 million for research and development.

Alternate energy. A amendment to the coal development act by Rep. Joe Katzev earmarks $5 million for research on alternative energy sources like geothermal power, burning wastes, wind power and gasoline made from agricultural by-products.

Consumption. All state agencies will be required to analyze the cost of energy consumption as a part of planning for new construction or renovation. Another bill would allow the state superintendent of education to authorize four-day weeks, longer school days and energy savings during power or energy shortages without loss of state aid.

Another authorizes the state to set up programs to encourage car pooling at state employees.

Panther founder returns from exile

OAKLAND (AP) — Black Panther leader Huey Newton, who in the 1960s helped found the group that grew into the Black Panther party, and now aspires to peaceful reform, has returned to fight for his legal freedom after 7½ years of self-imposed exile in Cuba.

Newton arrived at San Francisco International Airport Sunday night on a flight from Vancouver, Canada, to face murder and assault charges and to resume active leadership of the Black Panther party.

Newton was taken into custody by Oakland police, but not before responding to a warm welcome from a boisterous crowd of about 500 persons.

“I’m glad to be back with you,” Newton said while standing atop a police counter with his wife, Gwen, and Black Panther chairperson Elaine Brown. “Stay with me and we’ll become closer together.”

He was locked in an Oakland jail cell less than two hours after his arrival. An attorney for Newton said an effort would be made Monday to free him on bail.

In his airport speech, Newton pledged to work for full employment and economic redistribution. “I have returned to continue my commitment to work for progressive change in our society,” he said.

Hospital plans baby-sit class

A baby-sitting workshop for teenagers will be held July 21 at the Memorial Hospital of Carbondale. Covering poison control, basic first aid, emergencies, and care of infants and older children, the program is designed to help teenagers become safer more competent baby-sitters.

Participants are not required to register and there is no charge for the workshop. The program will be held in the conference room of the hospital located on the first floor. The program will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Certificates of attendance will be given at the end of the program.

Speakers for the workshop include Carleen Harrell, registered nurse, supervisor of the hospital’s emergency department; Bobby Waggoner and Linda Sapping, aides in the hospital’s emergency department; Patrolman Norman Nerius, Carbondale Police Department; and Capt. Everett Rushing, Carbondale Fire Department.

The program is part of the Memorial Hospital of Carbondale’s effort to provide more hospital-based community services. George MacNeil, hospital administrator, said he thought the program can provide assurance to parents that baby-sitters who have completed it are qualified.

Seattle Slew finally loses, places fourth

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Seattle Slew's owner Mickey Taylor made no excuses. The other horse at the same race was a better horse, he said. We came up empty. Slew just didn't show it.

So in the $314,600 Swaps Stake, the $314,600 Swaps Stakes, as articulated Seattle Slew as interrupted Sunday. The Triple Crown winner lost by a length to J. O. Tobin, finishing fourth in a field of seven.

Trainer Billy Turner, who watched Slew win the Kentucky Derby, won't be asked to let the crowd in. If Seattle Slew loves out of the gate like he did, he just didn't win his race. Maybe the ground (1/8 of a mile) was too much.

"It looks like a tough course," said Jim Besse, a race pool worker at Midland. "I mean, the course's condition has been doused by last week's rain. "Sure, the rain has really helped," Besse said. It had been like desert country, but now the course looks a lot different. The fairways have been helped by the rain and you won't get as much rail anymore."

"The greens are in great shape, too, but they've been in a real good condition all year," Besse said.

Paratore said the next time will be scheduled from 1 to 2 p.m. She said at the time a person signs up, he can request a tee time for both days. A modified Callaway handicap system will be employed during the tournament. The system takes a golfer's worst holes away from his total score.

Three golfers, the low scratch scorer and the "closest to the pin" winner on the second hole will be awarded trophies by the IM department.

The flights will be determined by a division of all entries into five segments according to original scores.

Vacation specials will be available for rent at Midland Hills. She added that golfers should report to the clubhouse 15 minutes before tee-off time.

Even Lemon surprised by Sox' three-game lead

By Joe Medill
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "I have to be honest," said Manager Bob Lemon of the Chicago White Sox. "I didn't dream at the start of the season that we'd be in first place, let alone by three games at the Fourth of July."

That's where the hit-happy White Sox were following 9-4, 9-inning victories over the Minnesota Twins Sunday for a sweep of their four-game series. The Twins came to town with a one-game lead over the White Sox Friday and left trailing by three.

Willie Wood, turning in his finest performance since having his left knee cap shattered a year ago, limited the Twins to three singles, the first game and the Sox batters Minnesota with 13 hits in the nightcap, eight for extra bases including home runs by Jim Spencer, Jim Eoan and Alan Bannister.

"I've always said I'm the world's worst manager against the home runs," said Twins Manager Gene Mauch. "There were two outs in the fourth with Ralph Garr, Jack Brohamer and Eoan coming up. The next thing I know they have four home runs."

Garr doubled and scored on a single by Brohamer, Eoan hit his seventh homer and Bannister followed with his second.

The Sox also scored four runs in the first on a single by Joe Orta, a double by Richie Zieh, a triple by Lamar Johnson and Spencer's 15th home run.

"It's the greatest series I ever had," said Spencer, who hit two home runs and three singles Saturday. "I didn't know what we had in spring training and after the poor season we had last year I think most of the guys felt we'd do well if we played .300 this season."

"Not now, we're in this thing all the way," added Spencer. "These fans are fantastic, they gave me the chills."

Salukis' Kee 2nd at Russia

Saluki Mike Kee finished second in the 100-meter dash at the 13th annual USSR-USA track and field meet held last weekend at Sochi, Russia.

Kee, who placed fourth in the 1977 NAIA 100-meter dash, was second at Russia behind champion Cliff Riley who won the event with a time of 10.36.

Kee, a sophomore from Dorothy, Mass., qualified for the meet through a third place 100-meter finish at the Amateur Athletic Union national track and field meet held in June in Los Angeles.

Russia won the meet for the 13th time as the men won, 118-105, and the Soviet women won, 89-66.

A Quiet Fourth

Many people found this year’s Fourth of July a quiet follow up to the Bicentennial. Carol Davidson, senior in social welfare, and her friends Karen Holshouser and Beverly Boyd, both of Anna, found picnicking a good way to enjoy the sunny holiday weather.

Others, like the boaters on Crab Orchard Lake, bask in the sun, tan and relax during the three-day weekend.

Fishing becomes a family sport on Lake Murphysboro everyone is home to celebrate the summer holiday.
