No indictment; Meese leaving office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Edwin Meese, a field marshal in the Reagan revolution, said Tuesday a special prosecutor has decided not to indict him and, with that "cloud" lifted, he will leave the Cabinet in a few weeks.

In a surprise announcement just hours after independent counsel James McKay filed a secret 830-page report on his 14-month investigation of Meese, the attorney general told a news conference he will be quitting the government in late July or early August to pursue unspecified opportunities in private life. President Reagan, questioned about the announcement, said, "He's a good friend and I'm going to miss him."

"He's a darned good attorney general," declared Reagan, who Meese had served as a trusted adviser for more than 20 years.

Speaking to reporters in Sacramento, Calif., where he was checking up on anti-marijuana efforts, a smiling Meese said he had spoken with Reagan about leaving and gotten "his permission," but that he and the president had not discussed a possible successor.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said later that Reagan would begin looking for a new attorney general "immediately."

Under the Ethics in Government Act, McKay's report, filed with a special federal appellate panel, will remain under seal until the court decides what to do with it. Although the court is not required to make the report public, similar special prosecutor reports have been released after a court review.

Meese said he had not seen the report, but expected to, and would prepare a detailed response to its findings for simultaneous release.

McKay — who had no comment on Meese's announced resignation — has spent 14 months investigating a number of questions about Meese's involvement with the scandal-plagued Wedtech Corp., a plan for a $1 billion Iraqi pipeline promoted by longtime Meese friend E. Robert Wallach, and questions about Justice Department decisions involving telephone

U.S. investigators search for causes of Iran Air downing MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — U.S. military investigators arrived in Bahrain Tuesday to determine how a sophisticated American warship in the Persian Gulf mistook an Iranian commercial airliner for an F-14 jet fighter and shot it down, killing all 290 people on board.

Iran's official Tehran Radio said a mass funeral for the victims of the worst such aviation disaster was planned in Bandar Abbas along with ceremonies in other Iranian cities Wednesday.

Iran again vowed revenge, demanded an apology for the downing of Iran Air Flight 655 by the guided missile cruiser USS Vincennes Sunday and called an urgent U.N. Security Council meeting. In the meantime, President Reagan told Congress the military action was carried out in accordance with the right of self-defense under the U.N. Charter.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Reagan sent a message to Iran Sunday expressing "deep regret over the loss of life" in the incident, but declined to say if it amounted to an "apology."

The Soviet Union, meanwhile, issued its second call in as many days for the swift withdrawal from the volatile waterway of the U.S. Navy sent to the region to defend sea lanes against attacks in the nearly 8-year Iran-Iraq war.

A six-member Pentagon team headed by Rear Adm. William Fogarty arrived in Bahrain with orders to conduct a "thorough investigation" and submit a report within 15 days on the incident. Lt. Cmdr.

Brad Goforth, a spokesman for the Joint Task Force Middle East, said.

A gulf-based U.S. official said the investigators will take sworn statements from the sailors and the skipper.

"Their primary role is to determine exactly what happened and then report back," the official said.

The French-built Airbus 300-A was en route from the Iranian city of Bandar Abbas to Dubai with 274 passengers and 16 crew aboard when it came under missile fire exploded and crashed, killing everyone on board.

The Pentagon said the Vincennes, a cruiser with highly sophisticated electronic gear that was engaged in sea battles with Iran at the time of the incident, mistook the commercial aircraft for a U.S.-built F-14 fighter.

The Washington Post said that civil aviation officials in Dubai had reported that the Iran Air pilot had just received authorization to climb from 7,000 feet to 14,000 feet when his plane was shot down. The Post said the account was based on the final radio conversation between the aircraft and Iranian air controllers at Bandar Abbas.

But civil aviation officials in Dubai told United Press International that the Iran Air plane had no contact with them before exploding and that it was in Iranian airspace when it was struck. The officials said it would be impossible for air traffic controllers in Dubai to hear instructions given to the pilot by the Bandar Abbas control tower because the distance was so great.

One aviation official, who requested anonymity, said "no one here at Dubai airport could know if the plane was climbing when it was hit or if it received clearance to do so.

"So it couldn't have strayed too far in the seven minutes or so between take-off and when it was hit, if it strayed at all," he said.

Iran's powerful speaker of Parliament and acting commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani, again vowed revenge and said in Tehran that his country would decide in its own time when it will take revenge on the United States for the incident.

"We cannot allow ourselves to refrain from taking revenge, and the choice of timing is up to us and not up to America," the official Tehran Radio quoted Rafsanjani as saying.

He said there was strong probability the downing of the civilian airliner was "a pre-planned and pre-programmed issue and a calculated ploy against the Islamic revolution."

Rafsanjani's remarks followed Iranian spiritual leader Ayatollah Khomeini's vow to take revenge and his call on his Muslim supporters to take part in an "all-out war" with the United States.

Campus grounds unaffected by drought - Plant director

By Christine Cedusky
Staff Writer

Campus grounds are in good condition, despite continued drought conditions, Duane Schroeder, physical plant director, said.

"It really hasn't (affected) us that much," he said, adding that the effects of the drought aren't as severe for campus lawn care as they are for agriculture.

Grounds maintenance conditions are usually the same in late July and August as they are now, Schroeder said. Lawns look rough, but as soon as it rains, greenery will be restored, he said.

Buckhorn, a weed with a tassel, is up a foot above the grass and causes the lawns to look ragged, Schroeder said.

Even though it seems strange to mow in the middle of a drought, he said it's necessary to keep campus

Farmers support Poshard's reelection bid

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

State Senator Glenn Poshard, candidate for Congress from the 22nd Congressional District, has won the support of Illinois farmers.

Poshard, D-Carterville, was at a press conference Tuesday at the Marion Holiday Inn to discuss support he has received from the Illinois Agricultural Association's Political Involvement Fund known as ACTIVATOR. The Illinois Agricultural Association is a statewide Farm Bureau organization.

"I feel no candidate for Congress in this district can be elected without working heavily in agriculture," Poshard said. "Thousands of jobs in the Southern Illinois area are related to agriculture."

Poshard said he plans on visiting farmers in the 22nd District to find out their needs and complaints.

To receive support from ACTIVATOR, Poshard needed the approval of a local trustee committee made up of farmers from this district.

Allen McCabe, member of the ACTIVATOR Executive Committee, said Poshard was supported enthusiastically by farmers because of his record as a state senator and his concern for farm families.

"Most of my family are farmers and I recognize and sympathize with their needs," Poshard said.

Poshard also said he favors ethanol and commented on ideas for future agricultural advancements.

"We will be using corn as a by-product in biodegradable plastics such as trash bag usage and for de-icing roads," Poshard said.

Uses for soybeans and corn will continue to rise and this

Lebanese goes on trial for slaying of U.S. Navy diver

FRANKFURT, West Germany (UPI) — The trial of a Lebanese man charged in the 1985 TWA jet hijacking in which a U.S. Navy diver was killed began Tuesday in a court in Germany, which had refused to extradite the defendant to the United States. The trial of Mohammad Ali Hammadi on charges of air piracy, the murder of Navy diver Robert Stethem and illegal possession of explosives adjourned until Thursday after 3-1/2 hours and four recesses caused by the defendant when he tried to fire his lawyer and interpreter and complained of a headache.

Mexican gov't faces challenge in election

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexicans choose a new president Wednesday in watershed elections in which the ruling party is facing an unprecedented challenge by opposition parties, which have been accused of corruption, fraud and incompetence and which have a chance of rolling up their biggest vote ever. The Mexican army went into its usual pre-electoral state of alert Tuesday across the nation, where soldiers will guard the 55,000 polling places in which 39 million people are eligible to vote for one of five candidates for the single six year presidential term, which begins Dec. 1.

Soviet military makes example of Afghan town

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — Soviet and Afghan troops bombed and shelled residents of a provincial capital near Kabul last week, causing extensive destruction in reprisal for a brief rebel occupation of the town, Western diplomats said Tuesday. The attacks on Maidan Shahr, about 12 miles southwest of the capital, were ordered by Soviet military officials after the U.S.-backed guerrillas had fled the town and despite the objections of Afghan officers, who considered the action unnecessary.

Sandinistas accused of strengthening military

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — The military chief of the Contras accused Nicaragua Tuesday of using the cease-fire to strengthen its field, a day after a suspected rebel-planted anti-tank mine killed 12 people and wounded 10 others. The mine explosion that blew up a military truck and a jeep traveling in central Nicaragua marked the deadliest attack since the Contras and the Sandinistas signed a cease-fire in Sapoa March 23, the Defense Ministry said.

Reagan calls Dukakis an 'out and out liberal'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan ripped into Michael Dukakis Tuesday, calling him an "out and out liberal" whose positions on everything from abortion to jailing drug dealers would reverse the "promise of the future" if elected president. Reagan's harsh denunciation of the likely Democratic presidential candidate was delivered at the White House before 150 conservative supporters whose "ideas and ideals" he said he had followed for the past eight years.

FDA warns consumers of anti-wrinkle drug

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration said Tuesday it is cracking down on the makers of fake or watered-down versions of Retin-A, the powerful acne drug recently touted as an anti-wrinkle cream. The agency also cautioned that long-term effects of Retin-A, when used to smooth wrinkles, have not been determined and warned consumers not to "gamble" with the cream.

Soviets finish inspections of U.S. missile sites

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Forty-eight Soviet missile experts flew back to Moscow Tuesday after conducting the first inspections of key western U.S. military weapons sites under the Intermediate Nuclear Forces Treaty. They maintained the guarded secrecy that surrounded their fast-paced tours of a half-dozen Air Force and Army missile production and training sites in California, Arizona, Utah and Colorado. Twenty-two other Soviet officials stayed behind in Utah.

Vets hit by Agent Orange may start collecting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some Vietnam veterans who were exposed to Agent Orange will begin to receive their share of a $240 million settlement in about six months, a federal judge ruled Tuesday. Judge Jack B. Weinstein also ruled that other veterans who have not yet laid claim to their share of the settlement must do so by January 1. The defoliant Agent Orange was sprayed on jungles during the war in an attempt to expose Viet Cong positions.

As long as the ice cream is a-drippin' and the tail is a-waggin', the dough will be rollin' in.

The event is a wag-a-thon, with Leanne Harpole and her dog, Shannon, raising money for Support Dogs for the Handicapped, Inc.

The wag-a-thon will be held July 18 at the local Dairy Queen, 508 S. Illinois Ave. While Shannon eats a cup full of ice cream, area businesses will be donating so much per tail wag.

Harpole said there still is time left for other area businesses to pledge for the wag-a-thon and that private individuals also can participate.

"My goal for Carbondale is $1,000," she said.

Harpole said she learned about the organization through the newspaper and then applied for a dog.

"I've always been an animal lover," she said. "The organization has done so much for me in giving me Shannon. I just want to give back a little for what I got."

Support Dogs for the Handicapped, Inc. is a non-profit organization in St. Louis. It trains dogs to assist disabled individuals in doing life's everyday tasks.

The trained dogs are valued from $7,000 to $8,000 and are given free to recipients with special needs.

The dogs are trained to maneuver alongside a wheelchair, retrieve dropped objects, pull a wheelchair up a ramp, pull open heavy doors, stand and brace someone from a fall and activate a "send help" device.

Harpole said the "send help" device is a button used to notify someone when she is in trouble — for example, if she should fall on the floor. By giving Shannon a command, the dog will activate the button.

Harpole said the organization survives through donations and fundraisers.

"I want to help make it possible for the next person to get a dog," she said. "These kind of fundraisers keep the organization going. I really don't want to see the organization die."

Providing more of a foundation in student personnel work and education is a main goal Levester Johnson has planned as the new Coordinator of Residence Life at Thompson Point.

Johnson, 26, was named the new CRL at Thompson Point in past May. He replaced Cindy Perkins, the CRL at Brush Towers.

"My game plan is to pick up where Cindy left off," Johnson said, "I respect her style and management, and I'll give them (resident assistants) a little bit of what they expect, while also looking for changes that need to be made."

Johnson, who graduated from the University with a master's degree in science and education, was a graduate assistant from 1984-1986 at Mae Smith tower. He later became a full-time head resident there from 1986-1988.

"I'm really excited about working on the graduate and professional student level," Johnson said.

At Mae Smith, he worked mostly with freshmen and sophomores, he added.

The three main areas for resident living on campus are Brush Towers, Thompson Point and University Park. Programming activities, disciplining the residents and maintaining the physical outlook of the area are jobs expected of CRLs in their area, Johnson said.

They create an environment for the residents that allows them to develop socially, educationally and physically, Johnson said.

"Thompson Point has a very good tradition and I hope to add another chapter to its success," said Johnson.

There's more to AD than raising funds

ALWAYS THE INTERIM athletics director. Never the athletics director.

For the second time in as many tries, Charlotte West has been passed over for the position of athletics director at SIU-C.

The naming of Jim Hart to the position may be as much a blow to the athletics as were the eight punches thrown by Mike Tyson to the head of Michael Spinks.

Whether the effect will be good or bad is yet to be decided.

Hart has the name — having gained nationwide attention as the quarterback for the St. Louis Football Cardinals — but can he save an unstable program that has seen two directors in six years?

Through all the pre-game activities Hart made few references to his administrative abilities, and did little to project that he knows what the job entails.

BUT HART'S ABILITY to scramble around the administrative issue paid off.

His offense was based on his name and its ability to bring notoriety, excitement and good recruits to a team in desperate need of all three. Fundraising, Hart feels, is the key to succeeding with all three. A strategy University President John Guyon appears to endorse wholeheartedly. So much so, that he said it was the deciding factor in his decision.

But there is more to being athletics director than fundraising and public relations, something Hart soon will find out.

West has gained national recognition as an athletics administrator, something the program needs very badly. Her abilities to take charge of women's athletics making it among the best in the nation — and to lead national athletics organizations appeared to be the substance, while her 31 years with the department looked to be the icing on the cake.

THE DECISION HAS been made, and for the betterment of Saluki athletics, everyone needs to support the choice 100 percent.

A team divided will not win — Students, boosters and coaches are the team, and it is Hart's job to bring them all together.

We have seen Hart perform on the football field, and we have heard him talk about returning Saluki athletics to the top of the standings.

The time for talk is in the past and the pre-game hype is over. Let the games begin.

Clock winding down on Reagan era

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

Commentary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lame duck era may be setting in at the White House, but President Reagan would be the last to admit it.

The president still feels he has goals to achieve before he leaves office on Jan. 20. But the departure of White House chief of staff Howard Baker appears to signal a winding down.

Baker changed the atmosphere and paved the way for better relations with Capitol Hill while the White House was still rocking from the Iran-Contra scandal. He also stepped in to help the president through his most trying crisis after chief of staff Donald Regan was given his walking papers.

Baker, could but says he won't write a "kiss and tell" book about President and Mrs. Reagan, something his predecessor did with a vengeance.

But it is difficult to believe that Baker, the political war horse, is ready to be put out to pasture. Republican Party loyalist that he is, it's expected he will do his share politically in the campaign, and if the second spot on the ticket is offered to him by Vice President George Bush, he will not turn it down.

Baker did not get into the nitty-gritty of running the White House. He left that to his deputy, Kenneth Duberstein, who has been anointed as Reagan's fourth chief of staff as he bows out after eight years in office.

Duberstein is a man for detail, and while Baker ran the show, "Duberdog" as Baker calls him, handled the heavy paperwork. White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater seemed to personify life in the dwindling days of the Reagan administration when he discussed the future plans of other staffers, whether they would be jumping ship or staying on.

First lady Nancy Reagan seems to be always saying goodbye these days. Her recent speeches indicate that she already has one foot out of the White House and into her new life in Los Angeles.

She also is getting bolder about baring her true feelings about living in the White House. She says her successor will experience "great thrills and great heartaches" in the goldfish bowl.

President Reagan still enjoys twitting Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev despite the new detente in U.S.-Soviet relations.

In a speech to the Atlantic Council, Reagan said that Ray Shattuck, head of his Secret Service detail, told him the following story:

It seems that Gorbachev and Reagan were riding in a limousine and were sight-seeing. Shattuck was on hand to protect Reagan and Gorbachev had his own KGB security agent.

When they reached a magnificent waterfall, Reagan said that he and the others in the party got out of the limousine to take a closer look. As the story goes, Gorbachev then told Shattuck: "Go ahead, jumper over."

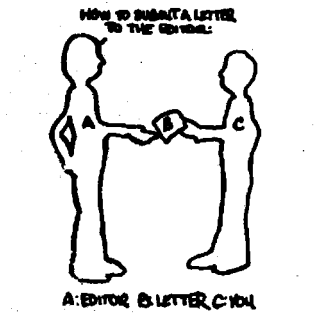

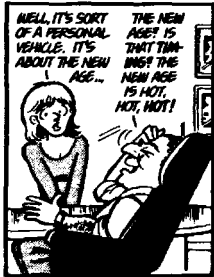

But Shattuck refused, saying, "I've got a wife and three kids."

Then Gorbachev turned to his man, ordering him to jump, and he did.

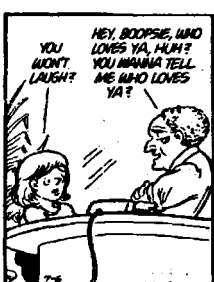

"When he told you to jump, why did you jump?" Shattuck asked the KGB agent.

Because, the agent replied, "I've got a wife and three kids."

No motive found in shooting

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

Investigators are still trying to determine the motive in a Saturday morning shooting that left one woman dead and another wounded.

Larry Parker, 39, 811 W. Cherry St., was charged Monday with three counts of murder, two counts of aggravated battery and one count of unlawful use of a weapon by a felon, Jackson County Sheriff William Kilquist said. Parker is being held at the Jackson County Jail after Judge Watt denied bond in the case.

Parker is accused of opening fire with a handgun in a crowded tavern on the southeast edge of Murphysboro at about 3:40 a.m.

Estella M. Day, 28, Colp, was pronounced dead shortly after she was hit by "a single, deliberate shot" at Kousin's Riverside Club, Route 5, Murphysboro.

Leslie A. Mosely, 20, Carbondale, suffered a gunshot wound in the incident and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Murphysboro where she is in satisfactory condition.

Kilquist said that investigators believe three shots were fired.

"There were a lot of people and it's fortunate there weren't more injuries," Kilquist said.

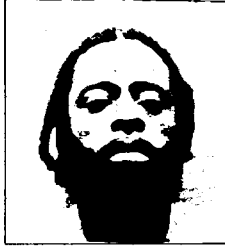

Kilquist would not reveal the number of witnesses to the shooting and said that investigators were trying to piece together the various stories witnesses described.

"There was a lot of confusion, a lot of adrenaline flowing, a lot of patrons running and hiding," Kilquist said. "People were excited and they tend to see different things from different vantage points."

Kilquist said that Murphysboro police, sheriff's deputies and agents from the State Police Division of Criminal Investigation helped interview witnesses and check other leads.

Although Parker is described as Day's boyfriend, Kilquist said it is not clear whether an argument preceded the shooting.

"Anything I say right now (as to a motive) would be supposition," he said.

Larry Parker

Kilquist said that Parker was arrested by Carbondale police a short time after the shooting, but he declined to be more specific or say what led police to Parker so quickly.

The aggravated battery charge stems from the wounding of Mosely. The unlawful use of weapons charge stems from Parker having a criminal record. He had a .38-caliber handgun in his possession when arrested. It is believed to be the murder weapon.

Kilquist said he did not know the exact nature of the charge Parker had been convicted of.

lawns attractive.

"If you see us mowing, but it looks like there's nothing to mow," he said, "it's to keep things in order and keep the buckhorn down."

Most of the campus grounds may not show the effects of the drought until later, Schroeder said. The evergreen trees didn't show damage until a year after the area had freezing temperatures one winter, he said.

Since the campus is in a woodland area, Schroeder said, ground maintenance workers are more particular about trees and shrubs rather than lawns.

The campus has lost some younger trees because of the drought.

The physical plant has saved money and time by mowing less, he said. That gives ground maintenance crews a chance to work on other campus jobs it usually doesn't have time or manpower to do.

The grounds area has 34 workers and no layoffs are planned, Schroeder said.

"We're not labor intense." But area businesses may have to lay off some workers because of the drought.

Commercial groundskeeper Mark Riffel, owner of Earthwork Groundskeeper, Rural Route 6, said his business has come to a halt.

Although his workers are busy on other landscaping projects, he may have to discharge workers temporarily if it doesn't rain by August.

Although McKay's filing of the report was widely seen as a sign he had decided against seeking criminal charges against Meese, sources familiar with the probe said McKay was likely to refer some ethical matters to Justice Department in-year, Jack's Salon will be raffling off a hand-crafted desk valued at $1,500.

Harpole is organizing another raffle that will have three prizes. First prize will probably be a "bucket of booze" that will contain approximately $100 to $150 worth of liquor, she said.

Second place prize will be a $75 bracelet donated by Don's Jewelry, she said. The third place prize will be a 10-pound ham donated by Dixie's Bar-B-Q.

Raffle tickets probably will go on sale in mid-July and will be $1 a piece, she said.

Poshard said it all comes back to education.

"We need better educational programs to show the negative effects of drugs," he said. "We need preventative measures rather than backend programs" that attack the problem from the rear rather than head on.

"Neither Congress nor the administration is doing enough," he said. "Programs must be initiated to stop (youngsters) from using drugs before they start."

"Education telling (youngsters) not to use drugs and showing their harmful effects is the way to wage war on drugs," Poshard said.

will mean increased jobs and a better economic picture for farmers, he said.

Poshard believes the farm economy is improving and the answer to a continued drought is to balance the federal budget.

"We need to balance money coming in (imports) with money going out (exports) and get rid of our federal deficit," Poshard said.

Poshard was asked about the current drought situation.

"This is the worst drought in 50 years and any action taken should be decided in a very reasonable and logical manner," he said. "I don't think anybody has any sure-fire solutions or they would have come forward by now."

School of Music celebrates 27th festival

By Brent Honcharenko
Student Writer

Twenty-seven years of music and it keeps getting better.

The School of Music is holding its 27th annual Southern Illinois Music Festival on campus through July 23.

The assistant director of the school, Robert Weiss, is the administrator and organizer of the festival. The festival consists of three-week music camps for elementary, junior high and senior high school students from Illinois.

"Most of the students are from central and southern Illinois," Weiss said, "but we have students from all over the state."

He said there were 91 senior high students attending the first of the three camps.

The second of the three camps is the junior high camp that runs July 10 to 15 and the third camp — the youth camp — runs July 18 to 23, Weiss said.

The music camps are instrumental and vocal. Students can come for either band or choir, he said. Yet, even with the separation of musical talents, all students participate in an all-camp choir.

"We like to give these students all aspects of music and teach them how to work together to produce music," Weiss said. "This promotes musicianship."

Weiss added that this festival gives youths a chance to stay musically motivated over the summer.

"This is a great camp for most of these kids. Most music programs these students come from are small and don't have an equal representation of all the instruments."

"But these students can come here and learn to play in a big band atmosphere and really hear what it's like,"

"These students can come here and learn to play in a big band atmosphere and really hear what it's like."

—Robert Weiss

Weiss said. "And in addition to learning how to play together and properly, these students get individual and expert attention on the particular instrument they're playing."

Many teaching assistants help during the music festival, in addition to faculty and staff, he said.

One of the co-workers during the music festival is Art Schmittler, who retired last spring from Nashville High School. He was the music director at Nashville for 34 years.

"I've been coming to the music festival for the last 22 years," Schmittler said. "I enjoy the camp, the university atmosphere and especially the kids."

Schmittler usually tries to bring students from his home town and high school. He said this year he has 20 of his former students here.

"The local civic organizations from Nashville usually sponsor 20 students a year to come to the camp," Schmittler said. "They're a great help."

During camp, students stay in the dorms.

Schmittler is the dean of men and in charge of the boys' dorm during the festival. Alice Bilderback, Collinsville, is dean of women and teaches chorus.

The students attend activities from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:45 p.m. During the day they have band rehearsal twice, general chorus practice and individual technical classes with their instruments and instructors, who specialize with certain instruments.

For the choir students attending the week-long camp, the schedule is much the same. In addition to choir rehearsal, they have classes that involve musicianship, stage fundamentals and vocal techniques.

The schedule for the junior high week is the same, except it includes string instruments in addition to band and chorus, he said.

During junior high week, Weiss said, there may be more than 100 students.

This is the first year a youth camp has been added, and Weiss said he is excited to see how it will turn out.

The youth camp is for students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grade, with at least one year of instrument or choir experience, he said. So far, the youth camp has 60 students enrolled. It's three hours long each day.

"It's a commuter camp," Weiss said. "It's for youths in the local area who can be dropped off and picked up everyday by their parents."

Weiss said he looks forward to the festival each year.

"There are a lot of talented kids in the region," Weiss said, "and it's really fun to have such a large talented group on campus from all over."

At the end of each week, the students put on a concert.

The junior high concert will be at 7 p.m. July 15 at Shryock Auditorium. The final concert will be at 11 a.m. July 23 at the University Mall.

"I really hope the public will come to the concerts and support the students who've worked so hard and had fun all week," Schmittler said.

Murphy's talents shine in disastrous 'America'

By Carrie Ferguson
Entertainment Editor

In "Coming to America," Eddie Murphy portrays a prince, a barber, a white man and a singer. And it is Murphy's brilliant role-playing that may save this film from box office disaster.

Murphy, who thought of the story for the film, portrays a young African prince from Samunda who believes he must find a bride — one who will think for herself.

He decides to go to New York, specifically Queens.

The prince finds his future princess at a fast-food restaurant, where he falls in love with her, wins her heart, and then loses her.

But that is not the end of it. The prince regains his wife and they are destined to live happily ever after.

It's an old story line, spiced with several colorful characters.

In Queens, Akeem (Murphy), and his faithful servant Semi (Arsenio Hall), pretend to be poor African students. They rent a filthy, rat-infested apartment above a barbershop, where Murphy and Hall do double and triple time as three rowdy old men — two blacks (Murphy and Hall) and a white man (Murphy) — who shout, swear and sneer at each other in hilariously colorful language. Their portrayal of the old men is the most exciting and delightful scene in the film.

Murphy and Hall also shine during a scene at a "Black Awareness" pageant. Murphy plays a washed-up rock singer and Hall plays a raunchy, ranting minister who can't take his eyes off the contestants.

Veteran actors James Earl Jones and John Amos, make appearances as gloriously stereotypical fathers.

Jones is the insensitive, tyrant king of Samunda and Amos is the father of Murphy's love interest, Lisa (Shari Headley). Amos does a wonderful job of playing the concerned father.

At first, Amos does not want his daughter to date a poor restaurant janitor. But when he discovers that Murphy is a prince, Amos stops at nothing to make sure his daughter does the right thing.

"Coming to America" is a clever film with an old plot — a plot that should be put to rest until someone can come up with a clever twist.

Gospel rock band to perform

Mylon and Broken Heart, a gospel and rock 'n' roll band, will perform 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Marion Civic Center in Marion.

The concert will feature music from the band's new album, "Face the Music," and a light show with 50,000 watts of state-of-the-art digital sound reinforcement.

Tickets are $9.50 in advance, $8.50 with a group of 10 or more people, and $10.50 at the door.

For tickets, contact Jesus Solid Rock Concerts, P.O. Box 608, Carbondale or call 540-4734.

FBI agent admits retaliation against black agent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Court documents examined Tuesday reveal white FBI agents in Chicago talked about how to get even with black agent Donald Rochon for his charges of racism in the crime-fighting agency.

Rochon's allegations have focused national attention on alleged racism in the FBI, and one of his attorneys, Adam Thurschwell, said other FBI documents are more damning than the documents filed at the court.

"There are other documents from the FBI's own internal investigation showing circumstantial evidence linking (white agents) to the most explicit death threat (against Rochon)," Thurschwell said.

Thurschwell said that threat, a typed message sent to Rochon, warned in vulgar and explicit language that Rochon would be mutilated and his wife would be sexually assaulted.

The court documents were filed Friday in U.S. District Court in Washington in connection with a civil lawsuit filed by Rochon. The suit charges the bureau and several white FBI officials in Chicago and Omaha with violations of federal civil rights laws and claims Rochon was the victim of a campaign of harassment in Chicago, where he was assigned from 1984 to 1986. He now works for the FBI in Philadelphia.

The filing, first reported by The New York Times, includes a sworn statement given to FBI investigators by FBI agent Gary Miller.

A spokesman for the FBI said the bureau could not comment publicly on an ongoing court matter.

The documents, obtained from the FBI by Rochon's attorneys, show that Rochon was the focus of anger and suspicion by white agents in Chicago, particularly Miller and Thomas J. Dillon, who regarded the black agent as a troublemaker. They accused Rochon of bringing unfounded charges of racism against other agents in Omaha and Chicago in an effort to be transferred to Los Angeles, his hometown.

Miller, in a sworn statement dated July 30, 1985, said that in April 1985 "a discussion arose in the Squad 9 area of the Chicago division" regarding Rochon and allegations Rochon reportedly made "against various agents."

"During this conversation, the topic extended to retribution against Rochon for his statements about these agents," Miller said.

Report: NASA safety improved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A panel formed to review safety at NASA Tuesday reported "a positive change in attitudes" at the space agency.

There appears to be no major flaws in safety policies in place for the first post-Challenger mission, just two months away and the Ad Hoc Committee for Safety Risk Assessment reported it encountered "a remarkable improvement in the NASA emphasis on safety since the last committee review," which was based on interviews conducted in late 1986 and early 1987 following the Challenger shuttle disaster Jan. 28, 1986.

The shuttle Discovery, hauled to the launch pad July 4, is scheduled to blast off on the first post-Challenger flight in early September. While the report lists several areas of concern, it emphasizes the faults are minor and should not affect Discovery's launching.

"The committee had no significant system safety

"The committee had no significant system issues that would adversely impact the (mission)."

—Ad Hoc Committee report issues that would adversely impact the (mission)."

The report said the committee "has discovered a positive change in attitudes by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and contract managers and workers towards safety. The new launch decision management system is thorough and provides for a health redundancy of safety reviews and oversights."

The presidential panel that investigated the Challenger disaster said faulty decision making by top NASA officials played a role in the accident.

Since then, the space agency has improved communications channels and set up a mission management team headed by astronaut Robert Crippen that now has final responsibility for the decision to launch a shuttle.

The safety panel was formed by NASA in November 1986 to provide an independent assessment of safety policies used in the shuttle program. In an internal report presented to NASA in August 1987, the committee charged that concern about shuttle safety, "which peaked shortly after the Challenger accident, appears to be waning."

Furthermore, the committee said at that time, "there are disturbing signs that some of the pre-Challenger safety-related problems which were identified in the aftermath of the accident still exist."

But in the report released Tuesday, the panel said it was satisfied with the current status of NASA's safety policies and programs.

Beef, citrus pact signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Japan and the United States signed a landmark trade agreement Tuesday that calls on Japan to open its markets to imports of beef and citrus, nearly doubling projected annual sales for U.S. farmers.

The signing ceremony at the Agriculture Department signaled the end of a 10-year dispute between the nations. At the same time, the United States dropped its complaints before an international trade body over Japan's quotas and trade barriers on beef and citrus.

Iran demands apology

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Iran demanded Tuesday that the United States apologize for shooting down an Iranian jetliner and immediately withdraw its naval forces from the Persian Gulf.

Iranian Ambassador Mohammad Jafar Mahallati said he asked the president of the 15-nation Security Council to convene an urgent meeting to consider the incident Sunday in which all 290 passengers aboard the airliner were killed.

Mahallati said the U.S. missile attack Sunday against Iran Air Flight 655 was "premeditated."

President Reagan, who called the incident a tragic "but understandable accident," sent a message to Iran expressing the regret of the U.S. government and calling for an end to the Persian Gulf war.

Washington said the USS Vincennes mistook the AS20 Airbus for an Iranian F-14 jet fighter when it downed the airliner with two missiles. The deadly fire came as the cruiser and Iranian speedboats traded gunfire on the gulf.

"It is indeed an obligation for the United States to make an apology, but can an apology wash away the blood of all 290 persons?" Mahallati told a news conference.

"No," he said. "What the United States should do at this juncture is make an apology, withdraw immediately all its forces from the Persian Gulf and take a neutral stand vis-a-vis the Iran-Iraq war."

U.S. naval forces have been providing protection for oil tankers and commercial ships against attacks from either of the belligerents in the dangerous gulf waters.

The Tehran government has accused the United States and other Western members of the council of siding with Iraq in the war that began in September 1980. It has boycotted all meetings of the council for that reason since 1981.

Iran's request for a Security Council meeting Tuesday was its first call for mediation of a Persian Gulf war-related incident, and Tehran is well aware that the United States will veto any resolutions condemning its actions.

The five permanent members of the Security Council are the United States, Britain, France, China and the Soviet Union, and a veto by any one of them can block any resolution introduced by Iran.

Mahallati said the Security Council should condemn the United States for "the barbaric, terrorist act" and take measures to prevent new attacks against civilian planes in the gulf. He also requested that Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar send a mission to investigate the tragedy.

Washington has dispatched a six-member U.S. government investigative team to the Persian Gulf.

Downed airliner diplomatic opportunity for Iranian war

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — With Iran holding the moral high ground internationally for the first time in its nine-year-old Islamic revolution, the government seems to be concentrating on wringing maximum diplomatic support from the U.S. downing of an Iranian airliner.

As the world nervously anticipates possible Iranian retaliation, so far the government has engaged only in harsh rhetoric, aimed mainly at boosting homefront recruiting for its war with Iraq and getting the U.S. Navy out of the Persian Gulf — something Iran cannot achieve militarily.

Perhaps at this point, a rare exercise in winning over public opinion represents Iran's most fruitful tactic, although in the volatile atmosphere after the shooting down of the airliner,

"We cannot allow ourselves to refrain from taking revenge, and the choice of timing is up to us and not up to America."

militant reactions cannot be ruled out.

Iran's military options are limited, except for possible terrorist acts, since the U.S. Navy administered a severe beating to the Iranian navy, sinking or damaging six ships and killing 15 men in a clash April 18.

Although terrorism is always a distinct possibility, by employing violence at this point Iran would fritter away a rare commodity for the country — world sympathy over the loss of the 290 persons on Iran Air Flight 655.

Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani, the powerful speaker of the parliament, apparently had this in mind Tuesday when he said, "Perhaps (the United States) would like it that today an amateurish action be taken in some corner of the world, so that once again they can remove the wave of propaganda which is now heaped on America's head and divert it in another direction."

Since the April 18 clash and three major military defeats by Iraq, Iran has been more circumspect in attacking not only U.S. targets but also third party vessels.

Sen. expects captain to be exonerated

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., said Tuesday the captain of the USS Vincennes acted prudently in firing at an Iranian jetliner and he predicted the commander "will be exonerated."

"In that hostile situation with that plane closing... I think that captain (Cmdr. Will Rogers) acted as a reasonable and prudent commander in the situation that he found himself in," Dixon said at a news conference.

"I think that as far as every thing we've seen so far, the captain will be exonerated."

"Put yourself in the shoes of that captain, with all this horror around him and the heat of battle and a lot of fighting taking place and then this plane closing on him rapidly. I think it's a difficult situation and his first responsibility is to that ship and that crew."

Dixon recalled last year's Iraqi attack on the USS Stark in which 37 men died.

"And don't forget the captain of the Stark last year for not responding was soundly criticized, kicked out of the Navy and condemned by everyone in the country," he said.

Dixon, a member of the Senate Armed Forces Committee, said he was concerned, however, about reports that the Iranian jetliner may have been ascending when it was hit, not descending as the Pentagon said.

The Pentagon said one of the reasons the plane was fired upon was that it was descending in an attack-like approach.

"There are some suggestions that the Iranian aircraft was not going down, but was actually climbing. That would be a matter of some concern, I think."

Dixon said he would receive more current information on the situation at a briefing when Congress meets Wednesday.

The downing of the Iranian jetliner should not be compared to the Soviet Union's attack on a Korean Airlines jet over Soviet airspace in 1983, Dixon said.

Dixon also said the Iranian's threat of retaliation should be taken seriously and U.S. citizens should avoid traveling to the Middle East.

Terrorists threaten hostages with death

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A telephone caller claiming to represent the pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad said the terrorist group would kill an American hostage Tuesday in retaliation for the downing of an Iran Air flight by a U.S. warship in the Persian Gulf.

"We will kill an American captive and dump his body at the Ramlet Al Baida neighborhood (in Moslem west Beirut) at 8 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) Tuesday in response to the downing of the Iranian jetliner in the gulf," the anonymous caller told the Moslem Voice of the Nation radio station.

The deadline passed with no indication the death threat had been carried out.

The caller claimed to represent the Islamic Jihad, which had previously said its communications would be in writing and accompanied by photographs of the hostages as proof of their authenticity.

The clandestine pro-Iranian group claims to hold two of nine American hostages in Lebanon: Terry Anderson, 41, chief Middle East correspondent for the Associated Press; and Thomas Sutherland, 56, dean of agriculture at the American University of Beirut.

Anderson was kidnapped in March 1985 and Sutherland was seized in June 1985. They are among the longest-held of the 16 foreign hostages in Lebanon.

Islamic Jihad is believed to be linked to another pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem group, Hezbollah, which is suspected of being behind the kidnapping of most of the missing foreigners.

A pro-Iranian terrorist group threatened to kill an American hostage in retaliation for the downed jet, but there is no evidence the threat has been carried out.

The spiritual leader of Hezbollah said Monday the shooting down of Iran Air Flight 655 Sunday by U.S. naval forces who mistook it for an F-14 jetfighter would not affect the fate of the captives, who are believed held in Beirut's southern suburbs.

Responding to a call from Hezbollah Tuesday, hundreds of demonstrators marched to the bombed out former U.S. Embassy building in Beirut calling for revenge for the downing of the Iranian airliner by the U.S. cruiser Vincennes Sunday. The incident, which came during a U.S. clash with Iranian speedboats, killed all 290 people on board the airliner.

"Death to America, the Great Satan... Reagan, the plane's massacre will not go unpunished," said one placard brandished in the frenzied crowd of hundreds of bearded men and chador-clad women.

Beach volleyball entries due

By Brad Bushue
Staff Writer

The sands of Campus Beach will be transformed into a volleyball court by the office of Intramural Sports Recreation July 9 and 10 for a three-on-three volleyball tournament.

Intramural Sports Recreation said there still is room for participants in the men's, women's and co-recreational divisions. Team rosters will be accepted until 4 p.m. today at the captains' meeting. Intramural Sports graduate assistant Azeem Azmi said.

Game times will be established at the captains meeting tonight.

Today is also the last chance to sign up for tennis doubles and table tennis singles at the Recreation Center Information Desk. The activities will both start July 11.

Domino's Team Tennis will resume play today after canceling the first set of matches June 29 because of rain, Azmi said.

Intramural Recreational Sports has set the entrance deadline for July 11 at noon for the 18-hole golf tournament. The competition will be July 12 at the Crab Orchard Golf Club and tee times are arranged at registration. There is an $11 greens fee.

minimal, which gave Hart an edge over her for the position. "I indicated that some of those opinions started to mushroom," she said. "I feel no weakness in that area."

Guyon said that West's status as a woman has no effect on her ability to raise "There are a whole other set of characteristics," Guyon later explained.

Since his retirement from professional football, Hart has opened several restaurants in a partnership with former Cardinal teammate Dan

West was passed over for the same job three years ago, when the position was given to Jim Livengood.

"I'm disappointed, but am realistic with the situation at SIU," she said. "I don't want to prolong my disappointment."

Hart was sympathetic with West. "I certainly feel for her position," he said. "I've lost a few games in my time."

"She'll land on her feet," he said.

Had she been selected, West would have been the second female athletics director in a Division I school.

Eileen Livingston is the only woman holding an athletics director position. She has been AD at Dequesne University since September 1983.

West holds a doctorate in physical education from the University of Wisconsin and has just completed her 31st year at SIU. She was named director of women's athletics in 1974.

"A lot depends on fund raising. I'll kind of agree, being kind of conceited, that if I can't do it, it probably can't be done."

—Jim Hart

Dierdorf and has worked as a broadcaster on the Chicago Bears radio network.

Hart said his job as radio announcer for Chicago Bears games is the only thing he hopes to continue now that he has the job. "If I find (announcing) takes too much time, I will have no qualms about saying, 'Well, that's it,'" he said.

Hart said he thought the job here was a challenge and his family was very positive about it. "It came at a point in our lives where it was very important to us," he said.

Hart stayed with some friends in Carbondale last night. In a phone conversation Monday night, Hart's son said his father was at the V.P. Fair in St. Louis.

Hart received his bachelor's degree in education from SIU-

C in 1967. He played football for the Salukis from 1962 to 1965, breaking several of the Salukis passing records. He began playing with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1966 and was the team's most valuable player in 1973, 1975, and 1978.

He was general chairman of the American Heart Association drive in 1974 and is co-chairman with Ozzie Smith of the Multiple Sclerosis Society Readathon. He is vice-president of the board of directors and chairman of the stockholders committee of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, which is the main fund-raising activity of the organization.

A few months ago, Hart was named honorary chairman of the Salukis' current fund-raising drive.

Hart was not available later for further comments.

1988 Summer Final Exam Schedule

Because of the limited number of examination periods available, no departmental examination times are scheduled for the Summer. The following points are pertinent to the final examination schedule:

1. The class final exam period is scheduled based on the meeting time and days listed on the first line of the class entry in the Schedule of Classes book (which should be the same as the first printed line for the section on the registered student's schedule print-out). For example, a class section is listed in the Schedule book on two lines in the manner:

07:30 - 8:30 T TH
08:40 - 09:40 W F

The scheduled class time for the first line of the entry starts with "07" and the meeting days for that line are "T TH" only. Therefore the exam time is 8:00 - 9:50 a.m. Thursday, August 4, as is indicated on the attached Summer Final Examination Schedule.

2. Classes should plan to hold their final examination in their regularly scheduled class rooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination days to provide adequate notice for all.

3. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.

4. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

1. One credit-hour courses, and classes scheduled for meeting dates less than the full 8-week session have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the two formal exam days.

2. Other classes (those scheduled for the full 8-week session) should hold their final exams according to the following:

First Line of Schedule Listing Shows: Meeting Time Starts With:	Scheduled Meeting Days	Date of Exam	Exam Period
07	T, TH, or T TH only	Thu., Aug. 4	8:00-9:50 a.m.
07	Any day is M or W or F	Thu., Aug. 4	8:00-9:50 a.m.
08	T, TH, or T TH only	Fri., Aug. 5	12:00-1:50 p.m.

Repairs to Rec Center floor to get underway next week

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

Repairs on the Recreation Center gymnasium floor, expected to cost $22,850, are scheduled to begin July 11.

The floor was damaged last summer after a heavy rainfall caused flooding in several parts of Carbondale, Mike Dunn, director of Intramural Recreational sports, said.

He said there were three to four inches of water on the floor at times, and the water caused boards in the wooden floor to buckle.

"You can't have water on a gym floor without repercussions," Dunn said.

He said four areas, about 4-foot by 15-foot each, received enough damage to require the Physical Plant to replace the boards.

"Two courts in the gym were closed for most of last summer," Dunn said.

"It's apparent to the untrained eye that we have a problem, much less the trained eye," he said.

The Recreation Center received two bids to repair the floor. Alpha from Woodale will sand the floor, which should fix any problems, Dunn said.

The other bid recommended replacing the floor, which would cost about $150,000, he said.

The money will come from the repair-replacement-modernization fund, into which $1.75 of each student's Recreation Center fee goes.

Dunn said it has been about 10 years since the floor has been sanded. The floor was sanded about a year after its opening 11 years ago because landscaping problems caused a similar problem.

The contractor shared the cost of those repairs with the University, he said.

Although the repairs are scheduled to continue until Aug. 14, Dunn said work could be finished much earlier than that.

He said the work will be done in a way to "affect programs minimally."

Summer semester ends Aug. 5 and the Recreation Center usually closes for about a week between semesters, Dunn said.

75 come to McAndrew for Prairie State tryout

The track and field trials for the Prairie State Games Southern Division team drew about 75 competitors to McAndrew Stadium July 5.

Meet coordinator Gary Carney said he "would have liked to have seen a better turnout for the size of the area. But in comparison to previous years," he said, "it was much better."

Southern Division team head coach Jim West of Cairo said the number of athletes would have been much larger if the meet, which was originally scheduled for June 29, had not been canceled because of rain.

"Last Wednesday, we had about 150 kids turn out, but when they saw who they would be competing against in the new meet, they didn't show up," West said.

West also said that the size of the area his division covers is really a disadvantage because it is difficult for coaches to get their team members together to practice. The Chicago regions usually do well at the Prairie State Games because of their concentrated size.

West boasted a team roster consisting of "many outstanding athletes" and high jump state champion Jason James of Mount Vernon, state mile champion Nick Schwartz of Centraillia and the fastest 100-meter dash runner in the state, Lubech Graves, would make the southern division the "strongest in a long time."

Though not all results are in, two Salukis will go to the finals in Champaign July 20 through 23 in the open classification. Those who do not meet the Junior and Scholastic age requirements.

Rosanne Vincent ran an uncontested 400-meter in 56 seconds. Bret Garrett ran the 400-meter in one minute, 48 seconds and also will run the 800-meter. Greg Hubbard competed in the high hurdles and Erick Pegues ran the 200- and 400-meters, but the results are not yet known.

Volleyball camp reaches capacity

By Nora Bentley
Staff Writer

The Oblong Volleyball Camp has reached its capacity of 45 members for the summer. Barbara Emil, coordinator, Division of Continuing Education, said.

The camp, which will be held July 11 to 13 at Oblong High School in Oblong, Ill., is a commuter camp. Classes are from 8:30 a.m., noon and 1:30 to 5 p.m. daily.

"Since it is a commuter camp most of the girls come from high schools within a 50-mile radius of Oblong," Emil said. Oblong is 35 miles east of Effingham on Route 33, which is crossed by Interstate 57 in Effingham. Transportation is not provided by the University. Assistant volleyball coach Soya Locke will teach skills and techniques of volleyball, Emil said.

A $55 registration fee includes instruction, handouts and limited camper medical benefits. Limited camper medical benefits cover accidents up to a cost of $1500.

Ultimate Frisbee fails to get enough players

By Brad Bushue

A lack of interest prompted the cancellation of the summer semester Ultimate Frisbee competition sponsored by Intramural Sports Recreation July 5.

Buddy Goldammer, coordinator of Intramural Sports Recreation, said Ultimate Frisbee, a form of football and soccer played with a Frisbee disc, is not as well-known in the southern region of the state as it is in the north, and the decreased number of students attending SIUC this summer played a major role in its current demise.

A low number of participants in the summer semester is not uncommon, Goldammer said, because there has never been more than four teams in a league in the summer months. The sport will be offered next spring when it is most popular, he said.

The cancellation of Ultimate Frisbee, Goldammer said, does not show a trend in declining interest in the rest of Intramural Sport's activities.

Intramural graduate assistant and the activity's director Brian Brown said only one team filled out a roster for the activity, which requires seven people per team.

"Ultimate Frisbee is a sport that a lot of people don't know about, but they would enjoy it if they did," Brown said.

Officials make plans for World Cup

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. soccer officials began six years of planning for the 1994 World Cup Tuesday, one day after having been awarded what many regard as the world's premier sports event.

Werner Fricker, president of the U.S. Soccer Federation, says the United States faces a "monumental task" in preparing for a quadrennial tournament that in 1986 drew 600 million television viewers for the championship game.

Fricker was part of the 13-member U.S. delegation that attended Monday's announcement at the Zurich, Switzerland, headquarters of FIFA, world soccer's governing body.

Top hurdler breaks arm

POMONA, Calif. (UPI) — Greg Foster, the world's top-ranked hurdler, suffered a broken left arm during a routine warmup drill and is doubtful for the Olympic trials later this month.

Foster, 29, underwent emergency surgery at San Dimas Community Hospital after the spill Monday at Cal Poly Pomona. The U.S. trials for the 110-meter hurdles are scheduled for July 22 at Indianapolis.

"If we can get him on the team in the next three weeks we're definitely blessed," said Bob Kersee, a UCLA coach and advisor to Foster.

Hart wants to boost athletics

New head of athletics 'excited'

Jim Hart, whose appointment to athletics director was announced Tuesday, said his goal is to "bring the athletics program overall back to the height it once enjoyed." Hart has a five-year contract and plans to begin his duties July 19.

"I'm real excited to be part of SIU again," Hart, who played football for the Salukis, said. "We're gonna have a good time with this."

Hart was chosen for the position over interim athletics director Charlotte West, Sonoma (Cal.) State University athletics director Ralph Barkey and Central Missouri State University athletics director Jerry Hughes.

Guyon said all four candidates were qualified, but chose Hart because "his name brings recognition and enthusiasm to the athletics program and provides a positive rallying point to help it achieve success."

Guyon described Hart as a "fine human being." "He will be a pleasure to work with and have around in this University," he said.

Guyon acknowledged Hart's limited administrative experience, saying the administrative part of the job can be learned, but the name recognition cannot.

Hart said, "I like to get my feet wet and learn the ropes." Hart's name recognition also plays a part in his ability to raise funds for SIU-C, Guyon said.

"Jim Hart can raise funds. If he can't do it, it can't be done," he said.

Hart said that his ability to raise money helped him when he applied for the position. "A lot depends on fund-raising," he said.

"I'll kind of agree, being kind of conceited, that if I can't do it, it probably can't be done."

"It adds more pressure, but so be it," he said. "It (fund-raising) won't happen overnight."

Hart said the question about which department funds for the athletics department will come from is not yet decided.

Hart feels he will help a lot with recruiting. "I'd like to be able to encourage (young people) to come here and join us," he said.

He also hopes to continue to increase the number of graduating student athletes.

Hart said he hopes to keep West, who has been interim athletics director since the resignation of Jim Livengood in August 1987, in the position as assistant athletics director.

West, who was told Friday morning that Hart had the job, said she plans to wait until she has met with Hart before making any definite plans.

Most coaches happy with Hart as AD

Most coaches support the selection of Jim Hart as athletics director, but at least one was disappointed Charlotte West, interim athletics director, didn't get the job.

Hart, who was named athletics director at a press conference Tuesday, has been lauded since he entered the race for his ability to bring in financial support.

West, who has been the interim athletics director since Jim Livengood left the position in 1987, was among the four finalists.

Football coach Rick Rhoades said all the candidates were qualified, but the decision to name Hart was based on the University's need for athletic funding.

"I think Hart will bring tremendous recognition to the school throughout the country," Rhoades said. "I think he's an excellent choice. We were fortunate to have four outstanding candidates." Rhoades said he doesn't think the decision had anything to do with gender.

"I think the people that decided this thing thought Jim would bring recognition and money that no one else could bring," Rhoades said. "I don't think the man or woman thing had anything to do with it."

Rhoades said Hart should have no problems adapting to an administrative role, although Hart has never been in such a position.

"Anytime you take a job there is a lot of learning to do and I think the people that made the decision are aware of that."

"I saw a picture of Jim Hart in the USA Today today and I don't think any of the other (candidates) would have been there."

Men's tennis coach Dick LeFevre was teaching at the University when Hart was a student here.

"He's a very bright and knowledgeable guy," LeFevre said. "We're sure he'll do a good job and give us a lot of visibility. It shouldn't take him too long to work into the system."

"With Jim, the University will be represented positively in Chicago. He should have a lot of connections up there," LeFevre said. Hart is a member of the Chicago Bears radio broadcast team.

Men's track coach Bill Cornell attended SIU-C at the same time as Hart.

"I feel excited about it, we're old school buddies," Cornell said.

"I think it'll take him a little time (to adjust to the administrative role)," Cornell said. "But he's smart enough for it and he'll be working with Charlotte," he said.

Cornell, too, sees nothing gender-related about the selection.

"Hart was chosen because the biggest thing we need is finances," Cornell said. "He got it because we need money right now."

LeFevre doesn't want to dwell on the subject of gender.

"That's something that should be left behind us," he said. "Jim Hart ought to help our attendance and should help get people who want to be fans and contribute to get involved."

Debbie Hunter, women's volleyball coach, said she is not opposed to Jim Hart as a person, but feels that there were other candidates better qualified for the job.

Hunter said it's distressful to many of the coaches who are concerned about Hart's lack of experience.

"Maybe he'll do as good of a job as anyone and maybe the job doesn't entail as much as we (the coaches), who have been involved with it, think it does," she said.

Hunter is disappointed that Charlotte West was not offered the position. "I think Charlotte's one of the top 5 percent of athletics directors in the country," she said. "I'm sorry they aren't taking advantage of what she can offer them."

West says her gender influenced AD choice

By Beth Clavin
Staff Writer
and UPI

Charlotte West, interim athletics director since Sept. 1, 1987, feels very strongly that her gender denied her the job of athletics director.

"It's another manifestation of SIU's oppressive attitude toward women," she said. "It's a setback for other women besides myself."

"Any complimentary advancement for women is void and I think it disturbs me and it disturbs my female colleagues," West said. "There are a lot of things in life that are not just."

Jim Hart, who was named the new athletics director by President John Guyon, said he hopes to keep West in the position as assistant athletics director. "I would very much like to have (West) in a supportive role and administrative role," he said. "I'd be foolish not to call on her, with her experience."

West said she will wait until she meets with Hart before making any decisions. "It depends on what he sees as my role," she said. "I hope we'll be compatible and be a good team." She said she is entertaining other options, however.
