Wedding Fashions - Girl's Big Choice

By Pam Gleaton
(Third of a Series)

What is a wedding?
To many girls there are two important answers to this question.

First, she will now be married. She will assume new responsibility, and along with that, she must become more mature.

Second, it is the time when she will wear the most beautiful dress she may ever own. That dress can be anything from a traditional lace gown with long, pointed sleeves to a sheath or bell-shaped gown of linen or organza. If the wedding is formal, the gown will most definitely be long, and, of course, snow white.

Materials for this dream dress range from the newly popular linens to organza, peau de soie, nylons and the traditional chantilly lace. Cost of a gown depends on the material used and the style. The range is from around $50 to as much as $400 or $500.

Veils may be bouffant, double bubble (layers and layers, of organza), nose-length or halo. Also popular are mantillas of lace or organza.

These delicious-sounding confections range in price from $6 to $100.

The most popular colors for weddings this year are yellow, green, pink, peony and blue. "More and more all white weddings are being planned

★ RAM Hands Two Petitions To Ruffner

By Frank Messersmith

The Rational Action Movement's peaceful petition march to the President's Office Wednesday was peaceful, but it wasn't to the President's Office.

Thirteen RAM members, three newsmen, two photographers and a stray dog left the west patio of the University Center at several minutes past 10 a.m., bound for the administrative offices.

The group carried petitions with more than 3,900 student signatures on them concerning the status of student dignity and the alternative that was proposed by the Student Council for the referendum last week.

The delegation of RAM members originally had planned to present the petitions to President Delyte W. Morris. However, since he was out of town, they instead marched to the Vice President's Office.

Arriving at about 10:15 a.m., the delegation asked to see Ralph W. Ruffner, vice president for area and student services. After waiting several minutes, the group was ushered into Ruffner's office.

Ruffner greeted the delegation with, "I'm sorry but you'll have to be satisfied with the vice president."

The petitions were handed to Ruffner by Robert J. Wenc, RAM member, who said it was his responsibility on behalf of RAM and the student body to present them.

Ruffner accepted the petitions and said he presumed the group wanted the petitions passed on to Morris. The dele-

Astronauts Ready For Historic Trip

By Charles Stafford

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 4 was cleared Wednesday for liftoff on a marathon flight that will carry Edward H. White II to a lonely rendezvous with fame in the black, still vacuum of space. Launch time: 8 a.m. (Carbondale time) Thursday.

Officials of the Gemini space program lit the green light at a conference Wednesday afternoon.

"The spacecraft is ready to go."

"The booster is go and green."

"All major tracking equipment is green and ready."

"The crew is in excellent condition, the best I've ever seen."

"Everything," said the mission director, Christopher Columbus Kraft Jr., "looks to be about as good as you could hope for at this point in the countdown."

If the flight lifts away on time, the command pilot, James A. McDivitt, will pilot the 7,500-pound Gemini 4 to a high noon rendezvous with a satellite — its own booster — over the eastern Pacific.

White, protected by a pressurized space suit and linked to the world of man only by a thick golden tether, will step into the airless, weightless void. He will become a human satellite, orbiting the earth ahead of his spacecraft at 17,500 miles an hour but unconscious of movement.

For 12 minutes — during which he will cross the North American continent from the Pacific to the Atlantic — White will take pictures, move close to the spent rocket and perhaps even touch it, and, hopefully, describe what he sees and feels to the world below.

His space odyssey will be the dramatic high point of a scheduled four-day flight that encompasses the whole objective of the Gemini program: to, in Kraft's words, "learn

Ball Is Thrown Back

Administration Gives Student Councils Task Of Organizing Election of New Government

The University administration has given the Student Councils the task of organizing the coming student government elections, it was announced Wednesday by Vice President Ralph W. Ruffner.

"The task includes not only conducting the elections," said the vice president for area and student services, "but for setting up the basis for representation, and designating the titles and qualifications for each of the positions as well."

"All we want is 40 names," Ruffner said.

The announcement followed a meeting Tuesday between Ruffner and Pat Micken, student body president; Don G. ... t, student body vice president; and William H. Murphy, chairman of the University Student Council.

Ruffner said the University Council's interpretation of Alternative A allowed him to charge the campus councils with such a task.

"By doing this," Ruffner said, "we've tried to throw the ball back into the hands of the students. We most sincerely want to get rid of the mistaken impression that the administration is plotting to abolish student government." Micken reportedly told Ruffner that he'd seriously consider such an undertaking, but that he wanted to wait and see what the Council decided at Thursday's meeting.

Ruffner said Edwardsville has already agreed to carry out the election.

The Student Affairs Office has been instructed to assist in any way possible with the elections, if the campus councils desire help, he added.

"This is a chance for Pat (Micken) and Don (Grant) and the rest of the student government leaders to leave a legacy of positive contribution, rather than a continuing squabble," Ruffner said.

In view of Ruffner's statements, here's how the election would be conducted, assuming the status quo is not upset by the Carbondale Student Council Thursday night.

In the election next Tuesday, 22 senators will be elected from living areas and academic units on the Carbondale campus.

Two other persons, designated as executive officers, will be elected to serve as student body president and vice president.

These 24 students will join with 16 students elected from Edwardsville to become members of the University Student Council which will replace the present eight-member body.

At the same time the 24 from Carbondale and 16 from Edwardsville will serve as individual campus councils.

Along with their other duties the council will have the task of preparing a working paper for a structure and internal operations of student government.

Ruffner explained that the reason for allowing the new government to have a student body president and vice president is that the interim period has been extended and thus the structure doesn't have to conform to the statutes.

Interpreters Theater to Give Frosh Convocation Program

An Interpreters Theater program will be presented at today's Freshman Convocations in Shryock Auditorium by a group of speech students.

The convocations will include a series of four sketches and several excerpts from the collected works of Jules Pheiffer, contemporary writer and cartoonist.

Gerald L. Shriver will direct the cast in their sketches, some of which will include Superman, a satire on today's man; Passionella, the story of a hunchback chimney sweep with a fairy godmother; and Monroe, about a 4-year-old boy who was drafted into the Army.

The show will be presented at both the 10 a.m. and the 1 p.m. convocations.

Parents of Deceased Student Donate Memorial Gift to SIU

A gift of $300 in the memory of John W. (Bill) Rolofson, SIU student killed in an auto accident May 8, 1964, has been announced by Kenneth Miller, executive director of the SIU Foundation.

The donors are the student's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rolofson of Blandinsville, publishers of the Blandinsville Star-Gazette.

At the request of the donors, the money has been placed in the foundation's library resources fund. It will be used to purchase books for Morris Library in economics and statistics, which were the subjects in which Rolofson majored.

According to Ferris S. Randall, librarian, a list of desirable books has been compiled and ordered. Randall said some 50 to 60 books on economics and statistics will be added to the library's holdings through the Rolofson gift. Each book purchased will bear a memorial bookplate provided by Rolofson's parents. Rolofson, 22, was a junior when killed in a head-on collision near Carlyle. Killed in the same accident was Jerry Cobble, 21, an agriculture major at SIU. Cobble was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cobble of Westville.

Fashions Range From Lace to Linen for Girls; Tuxedos to Dark Business Suits for Groom

Bridesmaids' dresses come in a variety of styles and in any of the materials popular for bridal gowns. Long dresses are very good this year, and often can be worn as evening gowns long after the wedding. Prices begin at $25.

Big news in hats for attendants is the picture hat. These will be very popular for summer garden weddings.

Bridal shops usually offer a complete planning service for any size of wedding. Often at the same shop the bride can choose dresses for herself, the attendants, her mother, and the flower girl, all the accessories, including shoes and hats, and her invitations and memory books.

Besides furnishing all the clothes, bridal consultants will arrange for flowers and catering and will make all last-minute adjustments, such as helping the bride get dressed.

Now that there has been a glimpse of what a wedding can be like, and what the clothes can cost, here is some advice from Mrs. Alice Fly, owner of the Fly Shop.

"You're just as married if you don't have a formal wedding," she said. "Private weddings are much less expensive, and for college couples the savings would be well worth it."

Clothes for the bridegroom and groomsmen are less a problem than those for the bride and her attendants.

Depending on the formality of the wedding, the men can wear anything from a dark business suit to tuxedos or morning clothes.

International Club Presidents to Meet

The third meeting of the presidents of international student clubs is scheduled for 7 p.m. today at the International Student Center.

The agenda will include a report of latest developments about summer job opportunities for the international students, report on international student orientation plans in the fall quarter and the planning of summer activities.

During the last meeting on May 21, the international student leaders agreed to establish the Presidents' Council of International Club Presidents as a permanent group to work with the International Student Center to develop better understanding of the needs of foreign students, to plan programs which will meet these needs and to coordinate activities with other university and area programs.

Nine SIU accounting students scored high on the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants' achievement test. Ralph Dale Swick, chairman of the Department of Accounting, said that every year a two-hour achievement test is given to students who will complete the requirements for graduation within a 12-month period. Swick said the scores of the nine SIU students were in the 91-97 percentile. The same examinations were given in many universities throughout the country.

The nine students were Glenn L. Taylor, Carbondale; Robert E. Moore, Decatur; Cecil E. Terry, DuQuoin; Donald R. Williams, Enfield; Robert W. Graf, Golconda; Orvil D. Lauher, LaGrange; John E. Fuesting, Zeigler; James J. Rainwater, St. Louis.

What Became of Ernestine?

With Commencement time nearing, Old Grads the world over, preparing to reunite, are getting chatty little Alumni Notes about their fellow classmates: These Alumni Notes dwell heavily on those who have made it big—the med student who went on to become the celebrated surgeon, the philosophy major who advises Presidents, the campus politician who became Governor, and on and on.

Never a word is said, though, about those who missed the mark, whose bright promise as students turned to cold ash, who stumbled drearily into one of life's pitfalls. To balance the ledger somewhat, we pass along these unofficial Alumni Notes, sad and discordant though some of them be: still chuckle about his attempt to obtain an advance copy of Prof. Smorr's final exam in Phys Ed 273, The True Meaning of Sports. Henry assures us that the Internal Revenue Service was mistaken. He still shows his old sense of humor in commenting on prison food. Henry's address is 27643, Federal House of Detention, Lackluster, Minn.

HENRY (HUSTLE) MOUTON, '39, whose classmates

ERNESTINE GLOUBER, AB '48, MA '50, PhD '57, whose dissertation on "A Hume is Not a House" is considered a major contribution to current philosophical thought, recently participated in the Get-Out-Of-Santo-Domingo march in Washington. Ernestine's picture, which appeared in the WASHINGTON POST, showed her carrying a sign lettered AGGRESSORS ARE PHINKS. Asked by a reporter how she, a college woman with graduate degrees, could do such a thing, Ernestine replied, "I never was good at spelling."

GEORGE MEERSCHAUM, '49, winner of the coveted Silver Sword for military excellence as an ROTC cadet, has been promoted again to Pfc. George was among those who took part recently in a parachute drop at Fort Bragg. Get well soon, George.

BRAD HOUCKLOOPER, '40 is no longer with the State Department. Brad's wife says he left no forwarding address and an FBI search at Manila of a China-bound freighter failed to turn him up. His classmates will miss him at the 25th reunion.

Information on Visiting Legislature, Springfield

By Paul Simon
Illinois State Senator

Frequently people contact legislators and ask questions about our sessions, particularly if they plan to visit Springfield.

Here are a few of the questions, and answers:
"Can the public visit the legislature during sessions?"

Yes.
"Are passes needed?"
No.
"When is a good time to visit?"

Sessions usually begin about noon on Mondays and near 10:00 a.m. on other days. Full sessions are often not held Fridays. Ordinarily both houses meet through the lunch hour. That is why you may occasionally see someone eating a hamburger or drinking a milkshake. That's our lunch. Even better than visiting regular sessions is visiting committee meetings. Here is where much of the hard work is done—or occasionally not done. If you are in Springfield visiting the legislature, ask someone what committees are meeting and what might be interesting. You will find legislators of both parties and the personnel around the legislature ready to help in any way possible.

"Can you tell what will be discussed in advance?"

Ordinarily we cannot. We are given a calendar (work schedule) each morning, listing bills pending, but not everything on the calendar is called for debate or passage. In addition, resolutions and other items of business not on the calendar can be introduced.

"How can I contact my representative or senator when I am in Springfield?"

Go to the door of the House or Senate on the third floor of the capitol. Give the doorkeeper your name. If the representative from your district is involved in debate he will not be able to come out. This does not mean you should feel offended. He must take care of his main job first on the floor of the House or Senate. But ordinarily he will be happy to come to the door and exchange greetings with you.

"When will sessions end?"
They will run at least until July 1st. There is a good possibility that in this session they will go much beyond July 1st.

"Is it possible to see the Governor?"

Ordinarily it is not. His duties are particularly heavy during a legislative session, and much as he would like to visit with the many groups that come to Springfield, it is not possible for him to do so. "What else should we see in Springfield besides the legislature in action?"

The other main attractions are Lincoln's home, Lincoln's tomb, and the New Salem village a few miles from Springfield, recreated to look much as it did when Lincoln lived there. An additional new tourist spot is the first capitol building in Springfield, until recently the Sangamon County courthouse. The state museum and state historical library are also of interest. Of all of these, the one I feel that is most moving is Lincoln's tomb.

It's your legislature and your state capitol. Between now and July 1st is a good time to see both.

IRVING DILLIARD

An Historic Day in Court

Monday, May 17 is a day to go down in letters of gold in the books that record the history of liberty. For the first time an act of Congress was declared unconstitutional because it violated the First Amendment's guarantee of individual freedom against trespass by the federal government.

The law that was rejected as invading the citizen's freedom was on the statute books only since 1962, but that was three years too long. This was the act that put it up to the citizen to sign and send in a reply card if he wanted to receive mail addressed to him and held at a port of entry as "communist propaganda."

To oppose the law is not to favor the pufery from the communist printing presses. But it is to say that Americans have enough confidence in their democracy that they are not afraid to allow the free flow of ideas whatever they may be.

Scores Adverse Effects

Justice Douglas, speaking for a unanimous Supreme court, said the act was: "Almost certain to have a deterrent effect, especially as respects those who have sensitive positions. Their livelihood may be dependent on a security clearance. Public officials, like school teachers who have no tenure, might think they would invite disaster if they read what the government says contains the seeds of treason. The regime of this act is at war with the 'uninhibited, robust, and wide open debate and discussion' that are contemplated by the First Amendment."

The government erred when it set up this snooping into the mails in 1948. The late President Kennedy was right in knocking out the regulation in 1961. Congress erred again by writing it into a law.

Wholesale Denial of Rights

Speaking of stands for liberty, Justice Black was never blunter than in his opinion favoring a decision in the case of the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born vs. Subversive Activities Control Board. After supporting the opinion of Justice Douglas, Justice Black said on his own behalf in opposition to the "freedom-crushing" law in question:

"It is difficult to find laws more thought-stifling than this one even in countries considered the most benighted. . . . My vote is to hear the case now and hold the law to be what I think it is—a wholesale denial of what I believe to be the constitutional heritage of every freedom-loving American."

There is no mistaking those words. Nor is there anyway to mistake lawyer Albert E. Jenner's denunciation of the House un-American activities committee's subpoenaing of Dr. Jeremiah Stampler, adult health division director in Chicago, and his assistant, Mrs. Yolanda F. Hall. Jenner, an eminent Republican and widely respected member of the Chicago bar, said the HUAC hearings lacked "any legislative purpose." As counsel for both these witnesses, Jenner said the order to Mrs. Hall was "solely to punish, embarrass, and harass her" for civil rights activities.

Today's Collegians Becoming Concerned

By Robert M. Hutchins

When I was in college 50 years ago my classmates and I were all incipient organization men. College graduates in those days were two per cent of the population. They came from the "best" families—that is, those which had the most money. They came to college because it was the thing to do, and they expected to go on doing whatever was the thing to do when they got out.

learning anything, except the types of learning involved in making friends, discovering how to get along with people and, if possible, how to get ahead of them.

Hence the curriculum did not mean anything to us. An occasional professor might accidentally interest us because of his anecdotal style, his eccentricity or his histrionic ability.

Our real lives were in extracurricular activities. Here we found vitality and challenge and something that looked far more like preparation for success than the unintelligible list of badly taught courses in the catalog.

As for the world outside, it never crossed our minds. The First World War was going on when I went to college. I cannot remember any discussion of it or of American participation until Congress declared war.

Most people of my generation, and many who are younger than I, think that the reason for going to college is to get a leg up the social and economic ladder and to learn how to fit into the environment without perceptible shock. This must be why the first suggestion made about student demonstrations today is that they are inspired and led by Communists. It is hard for us to realize that, though the colleges have not changed much, the students have.

They are also seriously concerned about what they see around them. They have every reason to be. The prevailing scale of values in this country must be rejected by every intelligent person. The manifestation of these values in the commercials on television and our adventures in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic is made only slightly more palatable by our reluctant agreement to give the Negro his political rights.

The present generation of students will be absorbed all too soon into the mass society. In the meantime we must applaud the "teach-ins" and hope that the next student generation will keep up the good fight.

'War on Ugliness' Conference Of 5 States Planned at SIU

Plans for a Midwestern follow-up to the White House conference on natural beauty are well under way at SIU.

John F. H. Lonergan, SIU landscape architect, one of 800 delegates to the White House conclave, said Thursday that a five-state regional conference will be held at SIU the first week in September in response to President Johnson's plea for action against blight and ugliness.

Lonergan and Stephen Colby, field representative of SIU's Mississippi Valley Investigation office and another conference delegate, are planning the session here. Lonergan said state, county and municipal officials, planners, business executives and civic organization leaders will be invited. He said attendance could reach 2,000.

All delegates to the White House conference (May 24-26) were "tremendously inspired" by the interest of President Johnson and his administration, Lonergan said. Either Johnson or his wife attended every session of the conference, and most cabinet members were there, he added.

Johnson announced plans to send four bills to Congress dealing with stiff controls on highway billboards and junkyards, and use of federal

Special Workshops Set for Summer

SIU's College of Education is offering a score of special workshops in addition to its regular classes this summer, Dean Elmer J. Clark announced.

Although the University is on a year-round schedule of four 12-week quarters, some classes for persons engaged in teaching during the regular school year are set up for eight weeks--June 21 to Aug. 13--Dean Clark said.

He called attention of teachers and other interested persons to the workshops that will be offered in the departments of elementary education, health education, instructional materials, secondary education, special education, physical education for both men and women, recreation and outdoor education, and educational administration and supervision.

Interested persons can write the College of Education or obtain a copy of the schedule of summer classes from SIU's Central Publications.

funds by states for clinic improvement along primary and secondary roads.

Rep. Kenneth Gray, West Frankfort, "definitely" will attend the follow-up meeting here, Lonergan said. The President assured delegates that a member of the cabinet would be on call to attend such regional meetings.

A. B. Mifflin, assistant coordinator of Central Publications at SIU, and Lawrence Cratley, district landscaper for the Illinois Highway Department in Carbondale, are also on the conference planning staff.

"The President's strong promises of complete government backing have turned this whole beautification concept into a much bigger thing than first met the eye," Lonergan said. "He wants no weak spots in government participation." White House delegates were strongly critical of "economyminded" thinking of engineers and architects, with little thought to how things look, Lonergan said.

"The President made it clear that he thinks aesthetics is worth paying for, and in fact is good business," Lonergan said.

City Council Meeting Dates To Be Shifted to Mondays

Carbondale City Council meetings in the future will be held on Monday night instead of Tuesday. An ordinance was adopted at the June 1 meeting changing the night. However, the time, 7:30, will remain the same.

Commissioner Joseph R. Ragsdale recommended that the bid on a new pump for the Crab Orchard pumping station be accepted immediately instead of being referred to committee for consideration.

"The bid of $7,800 comes very close to the estimated amount of $7,500, and it is the only bid we have received," said Ragsdale. "The present pump is in very bad shape. Work should be started as soon as possible to replace it."

The Council passed a motion to accept the bid.

Eight Asian Studies Courses Planned for Summer Term

SIU's Committee on Asian Studies will offer eight special courses during the summer session, June 21-Aug. 29, William H. Harris, chairman of the committee, said.

The courses are designed for public school teachers who wish to strengthen offerings in their schools, Harris said. The courses are: "Individual Work in Anthropology," (Anthropology 483). Instructors are Bruce B. MacLachlan, assistant professor of anthropology, and Joel M. Maring, lecturer in anthropology.

"Readings in Anthropology," (Anthropology 585). Instructors are MacLachlan and Maring.

"Comparative Economic Systems," (GSB 312). The instructor is Donald A. Wells, associate professor of economics.

"Advanced Regional Geography: Eastern and Southern Asia," (Geography 466a). The instructor is Floyd F. Cunningham, professor of geography.

"Government and Politics of South Asia," (Government 460). The instructor is William Hardenbergh, assistant professor of government.

"History of Inner Asian Relations of India," (History 455). The instructor is Ping-Chia Kuo, professor of history.

"Special Problems in Philosophy: Oriental Philosophy," (Philosophy 490). The instructor is William H. Harris, professor of philosophy.

"Philosophies and Religions of India," (GSC 311). Harris is the instructor.

Prof. William Gray Honored at De Pauw

A citation will be presented to William D. Gray, professor of botany at SIU, by DePauw University, at its annual year-end alumni luncheon.

The citation is for "recognition of outstanding achievements and service which reflect honor upon DePauw."

A distinguished teacher and an eminent research botanist, Gray graduated from DePauw 32 years ago. He received his Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania.

Gray is credited with developing a process to produce protein from carbohydrate media, a substantial breakthrough for geographical areas deficient in protein resources.

Gray, a writer and holder of three U.S. patents, is a native of Jeffersonville, Ind.

Leonard Conducts Study in Nigeria

Joseph Leonard, assistant professor of English, has gone to Nigeria, where SIU has a contract with the Ford Foundation to make a study of teaching English as a foreign language in the African country.

Robert Jacobs, dean of international services at Southern, is chief of the group making the study, and has made two visits to Nigeria recently.

Leonard, who arrived in Nigeria April 19, is living in the city of Kaduna.

Pilots, Capsule Pronounced Fit For Four-Day Journey in Space

how to perform true space operations." Included in the flight plan are:

-The initial rendezvous with the booster, and a second attempt later in the day to move close to it once more. -White's venture into space to test man's ability to function in the strange environment.

-The longest flight yet in the American space effort, designed to test the effect on man of long exposure to weightlessness.

Each of these goals is vital to the nation's plan to place a man on the moon early in the next decade.

White, 34, a West Point graduate and Air Force major, is "a miler-type individual," Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' physician, told a news conference.

He's a calm man, with the normally low pulse rate of the distance runner. His heart normally beats 50 times a minute. "When he gets excited it goes to 80," Berry said.

McDivitt, 35, also an Air Force major is in excellent health, too.

As Gemini 4 sails eastward over Hawaii on its second orbit, McDivitt and White will open the spacecraft. White will stand.

At a signal from McDivitt, White will leave the craft, and -using a special kind of jet gun-move toward the spent rocket. It is expected to be tumbling slowly.

White will decide whether to move close enough to touch it.

"There is a very slight possibility that it will be stable," said Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator for manned spaceflight.

The prime danger from a tumbling booster is that the ragged ends would rip the astronaut's spacesuit. Kraft said it was doubtful that it could hit him hard enough to harm him, but this isn't known definitely.

"We'll leave the decision to him," Kraft said.

Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov, the first human to venture into space, experienced some difficulty in returning to the spacecraft. But Kraft said McDivitt could easily haul in White on his tether if he should experience difficulty maneuvering with the jet gun.

Kraft said communications between the two astronauts will be received by tracking stations. He said there was no reason why the conversations shouldn't be broadcast simultaneously to the American people. But if this isn't done, he added, it will not be an indication of trouble. There will be no television pictures because the spacecraft didn't have room for the television equipment, Kraft said. After the second rendezvous attempt, which will come in the fifth orbit, McDivitt will maneuver the spacecraft into a higher orbit designed to last for the duration of the mission. At intervals, space agency officials will evaluate the condition of the spacecraft and the astronauts to determine whether the mission should continue.

Propulsion Gun to Help White Maneuver During Space Walk

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) -Just as the Gemini spacecraft was the world's first maneuverable spacecraft, so astronaut Edward H. White II aims to become the world's first maneuverable spaceman.

When White leaves the Gemini 4 spacecraft, 135 miles above the southern United States, to take his walk in the vacuum of space Thursday, he will be able to propel himself in the direction he wishes to go. He'll get the propulsion from a spacegun held in his hand - a piece of equipment with the mundane name of "self-maneuvering" unit."

The first human to take a space stroll was Soviet Cosmonaut Alexei Leonov last March. But officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration say Leonov carried no propulsion device. When the time came to return to his space vehicle, he had to pull himself in hand over hand along his tether.

White's spacegun was developed at the Manned Space Flight Center over a two-year period. It's a jet gun, which works on the principle that propels a toy balloon when you suddenly let the air out of it.

When White wishes to move forward, he will squeeze the front half of the trigger. The oxygen jets will shoot out the rabbit-ear nozzles past his body on either side, pushing him forward. When he wishes to stop or move backward, he will squeeze the rear half of the trigger, shooting the oxygen out the front nozzle.

On a special bracket atop the gun, White will have a 35 millimeter camera with a 50mm lens to take color pictures of the spacecraft, its spent booster and earth.

Astronaut's Son Mows Lawn While Dad Prepares for Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) -Edward H. White III mowed the lawn Wednesday but the 11-year-old youngster's mind was on Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Gemini 4.

The boy's father is scheduled Thursday to become the first American to walk in space.

Just 24 hours before the Cape Kennedy launch, the families of astronauts Edward H. White II and James A. McDivitt were starting a normal day that, in addition to lawn-mowing, included lemonade, cotton candy and a visit to a beauty shop.

While Edward was busy with the power mower, his sister, Bonnie Lynn, 9, bicycled in the neighborhood and their mother kept an appointment with a hairdresser.

In the Nassau Bay subdivision just two miles away,

Mrs. McDivitt watered the lawn as her children - Mike, 8, Ann Lynn, 6, and Patrick, 4 - patronized a lemonade and cotton candy stand neighbor children had set up nearby.

Both families plan to watch the start of the four-day flight on television in their homes.

No definite plans were announced but it was assumed Mrs. McDivitt and Mrs. White will visit Mission Control Center at some point during the flight.

Senate Votes Funds For Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate passed overwhelmingly Wednesday a new $5.2-billion authorization bill to continue the nation's space programs.

Among other things, the bill would authorize funds to attempt to land a man on the moon and return him in or before 1970.

Passage, by a 79-4 vote, came after the Senate tabled, 59-26, an amendment by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., designed to retain government ownership of most patents resulting from government-financed research.

House Approves Johnson Request For $4.8 Billion Excise Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Wednesday, 401-6, legislation for a $4.8-billion slash in excise taxes that could bring prices down on a wide variety of goods from automobiles to lipsticks.

If the Senate follows suit, as is expected, this would be the second major tax cut in as many years. Income taxes were reduced last year by an amount now estimated at $14 billion.

The reductions provided by the House-passed bill would not be complete until Jan. 1, 1969, but a major portion would go into effect in just four weeks — July 1.

Moreover, the initial three percentage point cut in the automobile excise — an average of about $75 for a passenger car — and the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on air conditioners would be retroactive, applying to all sales after May 14.

Other repeals taking effect July 1 would be those of the 10 per cent retail taxes on furs, jewelry, luggage, toilet preparations, and the manufacturers' taxes, most of them at 10 per cent, on a variety of other goods, including appliances, cameras, business machines, radio, phonograph and television sets and most sporting goods.

On Dec. 31, the tax on cabarets and theater, sporting events and other admissions would go off, to be followed on Jan. 1 by another batch of excises, including those on club dues, passenger automobile parts and sales of stocks and real estate. Also on Jan. 1 the 10 per cent telephone tax would be cut to 3 per cent, the tax would be cut to 3 per cent, the first step in a gradual elimination to be complete Jan. 1, 1969, and the automobile tax would be cut one more percentage point in a similar phasing.

President Johnson advocated the cuts on the double ground of keeping the economy rolling at its present clip and making the tax structure more equitable. Unlike the general sales taxes in use in many states, the federal taxes applied to specified goods only.

Congressional Republicans Urge Free World Meeting on Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans declared Wednesday that the United States has not found an adequate military answer to communism in South Viet Nam.

They called for a free world conference to line up Allied support in the war there, and decided to send a fact-finding team to Paris to look into troubles besetting the Atlantic Alliance.

While urging President Johnson to use "whatever measures are necessary" to win in Viet Nam, they avoided any suggestion that the United States use nuclear weapons there.

In general, a barrage of GOP declarations found little to criticize in the way Johnson has handled the war in Southeast Asia.

Dominican Rebels Reject Elections

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Rebel leaders rejected Wednesday a junta proposal for new elections to settle the Dominican conflict.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, who presides over the rebel regime, turned aside as "a fable," the election formula laid down Tuesday night by the civilian-military junta.

Caamano told newsmen that before any election could be contemplated by the rebel faction a new government operating under the 1963 constitution must be restored.

The junta, headed by Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, called for elections as early as possible under the supervision of the Organization of American States. The election would be open to all "democratic parties."

Soviets Blamed for Allowing Attack on U.S. Military Mission

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army commander in Europe blamed Soviet authorities Wednesday for failure to stop the invasion of the U.S. military mission in East Germany.

An American flag was torn down and the mission building in Potsdam near East Berlin was damaged Tuesday by 300 demonstrators protesting U.S. action in Viet Nam.

Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara sent a sharply worded protest to the Soviet army chief in Germany. He called the demonstration "vicious" and "capricious." He said he viewed "with utmost gravity and concern" Soviet failure "to protect the lives and

But House Republicans said they are not giving blanket approval to Johnson's foreign policy.

"In view of the critical situation in Viet Nam," they said, "we have not considered the past few months as the propitious time to stress points of disagreement with the administration in foreign policy."

GOP policymakers did take a slap at Johnson on civil rights. They said the administration has not enforced the letter and the spirit of civil rights laws.

U.S. Marines Score Victory Over Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marine patrols scored their greatest triumph of the Vietnamese war Wednesday. They caught up with some Viet Cong guerrillas in areas near the Marine beachhead at Chu Lai and killed 20 without suffering a scratch in return.

Militarily the Marines' tactical victory in the Chu Lai sector, 52 miles south of Da Nang, was a bright spot in a day that, for Americans and South Vietnamese alike, tended to be overcast.

North Vietnamese gunners downed two U.S. Navy planes in quick succession about 70 miles south of Hanoi and all their five crewmen were reported killed. A rescue pilot said there was no chance they survived.

The loss of the five Americans was the heaviest on any single day of the raids that were launched against North Viet Nam Feb. 7.

property of the United States military liaison mission."

At about the same time, a West German government official in Bonn charged that the mission was attacked by largely "Communist officials and people's police in multi." The spokesman said the Bonn government received news of the demonstration "with indignation."

In his letter to Soviet Gen. Petr K. Koshevoy, O'Meara said "I hold you completely responsible for these lawless actions." He protested "the vicious and capricious destruction perpetrated by an uncontrolled mob of East German hoodlums against United States property."

Coed Gymnasts To Perform At TP Sunday

Warren Hall's front yard will be turned into a gymnasium Sunday when Coach Herb Vogel's women gymnasts put on their first campus exhibition since they won the National Collegiate Championship last March in St. Louis.

The exhibition, which is scheduled to start at 6 p.m., is being cosponsored by Warren and Smith residence halls at Thompson Point.

The women gymnasts will perform free exercise, tumbling, trampoline, balance beam and uneven parallel bars. Long horse will be excluded from this exhibition.

Team captain Donna Schaezner who won the National Collegiate titles in all-around and tumbling will be one of the performers.

Judy Willis, currently the women's top tumbling and trampoline champion, also will be featured in the exhibition.

Gail Daley, Canada's woman athlete of the year last year, Irene Haworth, Janis and Judy Dunham and Nancy Smith will be the other performers.

Sandner Stars in Meet

New House Wins Intramural Weight Lifting

Jack F. Sandner, senior from Chicago, lifted a total of 585 pounds in the intramural weight lifting tournament to win the 148 pound weight class for the second time in as many years.

Sandner was one of five members of the New House team which placed first in each class if entered, giving the team a 57-38 victory over its nearest competitor, the Gymnastics. A third team, Play-boy Hall, collected seven points.

Winners of the various weight classes and their totals for the three lifts (press, snatch and clean-and-jerk) were:

123-pound class, Steven J. Sarossy, New House, 370-pound total.

132-pound class, Donald W. Devine, New House, 460-pound total.

148-pound class, Jack F. Sandner, New House, 585-pound total.

165-pound class, Robert A. Shadron, individual, 590-pound total.

181-pound class, Robert W. Jennings, Gymnastics, 590-pound total.

198-pound class, Albert F. Usatuck, New House, 440-pound total.

Heavyweight class, Joseph A. Redville, New House, 635-pound total.

Hafner to Conduct Summer Program

Lawrence E. Hafner, assistant professor of education at the SIU Reading Center, will teach a comprehension course and lead seminars this summer at the Reading Institute of Concordia Teachers College at River Forest, Ill.

The six-week program beginning June 21, designed for kindergarten through sixth grade teachers, was created under the National Defense Education Act.

"The purpose of the in-service training program," Hafner said, "is to acquaint teachers with practical methods and techniques to be used in perception and comprehension, to give them practice with children in laboratory situations and to acquaint them with literature and special materials that pertain to these areas."

Only Fittest May Make Gym Team

It will be "survival of the fittest" next fall for the SIU gymnasts as they prepare to regain the NCAA Championship they lost this spring to Penn State.

Gymnastics is a demanding sport and the performers must practice most of the year to keep their motor coordination sharp and their strength and endurance up.

For Coach Bill Meade's gymnasts, what they do this summer could go a long way in determining whether they make the starting lineup or lose their position on the team to harder-working teammates.

Meade is blessed with an over-abundance of good gymnasts in every event and might well take into consideration the shape of his individuals when they start practice.

With the keen competition on the team, several athletes will devote their summer to gymnastics in an effort to get the jump on their teammates.

Rick Tucker and freshmen Paul Mayer and Fred Dennis will be the most active in gymnastics this summer. All three will be working at the Berkeley (Calif.) YMCA as gymnastics instructors.

Tucker and Mayer are both trying to become Meade's all-around performer next year and the time that they are not coaching will be spent on practicing their weak events.

Hutch Dvorak is another member of the team who will be teaching gymnastics. Dvorak will be working at a summer camp in Michigan as a trampoline instructor.

The other performers will not be that close to gymnastics, but all will be working out this summer.

Ruffner Gets RAM Petitions

gation acknowledged that it did, and that was the end of the march.

After the rest had left, Ruffner discussed student-administrative problems with James R. Standard, RAM member and Student Council senator from Liberal Arts and Sciences, and Stephen E. Wilson, RAM member, chairman of the Action Party and Student Council off-campus organized men's senator.

Ruffner, during the discussion, said he thought the whole situation involved the problem of communications. He said that it isn't communications in terms of words, but it is the different motivations words inspire in different persons.

Farmers' Co-Ops Slate Workshop

The Department of Agricultural Industries will sponsor a workshop beginning at 9:15 a.m. July 14 in the Seminar Room of the Agriculture Building. Current problems of farmers' cooperatives will be discussed.

Three panel discussions will be held. They will consider the function of extra services, the usefulness of a college course in cooperatives, and the improvement of the cooperative image.

SIU Plays Ohio Wesleyan in Tourney Today

The Mid-East College Division Regional Baseball tournament opens today at the SIU diamond—weather permitting.

SIU squares off against Ohio Wesleyan University, and Western Illinois, Intercollegiate Athletic Conference champs, challenges unbeaten Union University.

Union and Western will open the festivities at 12:30 p.m. with favorite SIU and Ohio

ED CURRERI

Wesleyan battling in the second game.

The winners will meet Friday for the championship following a 12:30 p.m. consolation contest.

If this afternoon's games are cancelled, the tournament schedule would be moved up one day. First-round games would be played tomorrow with the finals Saturday.

In case of rain on Friday the tournament would be moved up to Saturday and Sunday.

In this afternoon's first game, Western Illinois Leathernecks will have the inevitable job of facting one of the nations' hardest hitting college division teams, Union's Bulldogs.

WSIU Will Relay Baseball Regional

WSIU will broadcast the play-by-play of the SIU game of the NCAA Mid-East Regional Baseball Tournament at 3:55 p.m. today.

Hal Fuller will do the play-by-play, and Gene Sawlich will handle the color announcing.

WSIU will do the SIU game on Friday with Fuller doing the play-by-play and David Ballone handling the color part of the broadcast.

The Jackson, Tenn., team will bring a .348 batting average into the clash along with four of the nations' top individual hitters.

Leading the slugging crew is the nation's top college division batsman, second-baseman Dave Pflasterer who is hitting .526 on 40 hits in 76 at-bats.

Rounding out the powerful foursome is outfielder Paul Slover hitting .430, shortstop Tommy Giles batting .420 and third baseman Gilbert Sikes hitting at an even .400.

Western will try to counter with some strong pitching which brought it the IAC championship. Coach Guy Ricci can pick his starter from either all-conference choices Jim Johnson (7-3) and Dick Howard (6-1), or undefeated Mel Casper (3-0) or Dave Fultz (2-0).

Union will carry a 23-0 record into the contest while Western will bring in a 21-6 mark including 15 wins in its last 17 games.

This afternoon's second contest could be a repeat of the first as little Ohio Wesleyan (12-4) will try to trip up highly favored SIU (19-2) with some fancy pitching.

The Battling Bishops' hopes rest on the strong right arm of junior fastballer Ed Curreri. The small but hard throwing veteran has won eight of the Ohioians' 12 victories this season while compiling a .081 ERA — 13th best in the nation.

He has lost only one contest while completing every game he has started. Included have been five shutouts and a no-hitter against Hiram May 1.

While Wesleyan hasn't played the tough schedule that the Salukis have, they nevertheless held their own against Big Ten champ Ohio State who dealt SIU one of its two losses.

The Buckeyes got a 3-0 win, although they needed two unearned runs and a cheap 310-foot home run to do it. Meanwhile, the Salukis lost to the Big Ten power 9-0 in early season first inning was too much for them to overcome.

Wesleyan, however, shows only a .251 team batting average compared to the Salukis' .302 and it has only catcher, Norm Neeley at .327; a third baseman, Dick Sliwka at .317; and outfielder Dave Cook at .316 who are above the .300 mark.

In comparison, the Salukis have seven men above the magical mark led by right-fielder Kent Collins at .436. SIU also has top-notch pitching as both John Hotz and Gene Vincent return from last year's tournament championship team.

Both are as strong as ever. They have compiled 8-1 records and Hotz has a 1.96 ERA, compared to Vincent's 2.56. SIU Coach Glenn (Abe) Martin was still undecided about his pitching choice Wednesday afternoon, although the choice between Vincent and Hotz.

Professor Speaks On Dutch Radio

Harry T. Moore, research professor of English at SIU, appeared on a Dutch International Radio Service program in Amsterdam Monday.

Moore discussed Dutch arts and letters and their appeal to people from other countries, and points of interest in the Netherlands which hold particular attraction for visitors.

Moore is in Europe on a research trip which will extend through this summer.

Airport Anniversary Planned for Sunday

The Southern Illinois Airport will celebrate its 15th anniversary with an open house from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The open house will feature exhibits and displays including the showing of a Mercury space capsule, a modern jet trainer, antique aircraft and experimental aircraft, a jet fly-by and a demonstration of precision aerobatics by Don Boma.

Also included in the program will be a demonstration by the Illinois State Police, parachuting by the SIU Sport Parachute Club and airplane and helicopter rides for the public.

The Mercury capsule, one of the major displays, will be shown with cutaways of the spacecraft and a full-scale model of a spacesuit-clad dummy astronaut. The display is on loan from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The U.S. Air Force T-38 jet trainer was brought here from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio. It is used for training in supersonic techniques, multijet handling, aerobatics, night and instrument flying and cross-country navigation flights. It has a speed of about 800 m.p.h.

The open house will commemorate 15 years of growth by the airport. Founded on June 1, 1950, with one paved runway and two hangars, the airport today consists of approximately three miles of runways and connecting taxiways, administration building, additional hangars and

Office Hours Unchanged For Summer

Office hours during the summer of 1965 will follow the normal pattern of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, President Morris has announced.

Two reasons were given for not opening the offices at 7:30 a.m. and closing them at 4:30 p.m. as in previous summers.

First, people coming to the University would expect the offices to be open at the regular hours.

Second, since classes will start at 7:30 a.m., there will be less of a traffic problem if the office workers come at 8 a.m. Another factor in the traffic situation is that construction on both the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses will cause further traffic problems.

Car Influx Brings Zaleski Warning

Joseph F. Zaleski, assistant dean of student general affairs, said Tuesday that he had received reports that a large number of unregistered cars had been brought to the campus community during the Memorial Day weekend.

He again warned students in possession of illegal cars that they face assessments of $50 each.

Zaleski said that a student is allowed to be in possession of an unregistered automobile only on the last day of examination period.

nearly 300,000 square feet of ramp and parking area. In addition, one large hangar and maintenance school are under construction.

When the airport opened there were four based aircraft and four employees. Today there are more than 40 aircraft and 40 full or part-time employees at the airport.

Gov. Otto Kerner sent a letter of congratulations to Edward Newby, president of Alpha Eta Rho, the international aviation fraternity at SIU. In the letter he said, "I know Southern Illinois' Airport will continue to grow and be of service to the citizens of this area and this state."

Delyte W. Morris, president of SIU, wrote, "The growth of Southern Illinois University owes much to the Southern Illinois Airport, which has placed the University squarely in the aeronautical age, converted its grounding professors and administrators into flyers and helped broaden its coverage of services to the region, the state and the nation."

THIS JET WILL BE ON DISPLAY AT THE AIRPORT SUNDAY
