Million-Volume Library Predicted

SIU's library resources will reach a million volumes within the next two years, Ralph E. McCoy, director of libraries, has predicted.

Citing a growth during the last 10 years from 160,000 to more than 800,000 volumes, he said the SIU library has moved up from the rank of 127th in size among the nation's libraries to 52nd place.

It ranks 13th, however, in the total number of books acquired annually, and last year 103,000 books were added to its shelves.

"During this 10-year period," he said, "library usage has continued to grow annually at a greater rate than student enrollment."

This fall, with a 25 per cent increase in enrollment on the Carbondale campus, general library circulation has increased more than 30 per cent, and circulation of reserve books more than 40 per cent.

"The number of motion picture films used on the Carbondale campus this year has increased 35 per cent over last year."

It has been 10 years since the library moved from old Wheeler Hall, built in 1903, to the basement of the new Morris Library, the only part of the new building then complete.

Now the building has been expanded from three floors to eight floors. A new library has been constructed at the Edwardsville campus and a substantial book collection has been started there.

Tickets for the show are now on sale at the information desk of the University Center.

CHANGE FOR VIOLATORS—Traffic violators on campus are being issued a new type of traffic ticket. The contents of the new ticket is the same as the old, but the size has been doubled.

All information that was on the back of the old ticket has been added to the front of the new one. The change was made for ease in filing.

Campus Senate to Meet With Morris For Discussion of Variety of Issues

Members of the Campus Senate will engage in a "free, frank discussion" with SIU President Delyte W. Morris at a retreat at Little Grassy Lake Saturday, according to George Paluch, student body president.

The meeting is open only to senators. The session will be informal, no agenda has been set, and no minutes will be kept.

Paluch said he is certain that the one-University concept, the proposed activity fee increase for athletics, the proposed new University seal, the "in loco parentis concept" and completion of the University Center will be discussed with Morris.

"This meeting has been set up because Campus Senate members are concerned with keeping communications open and with letting President Morris know on a personal level just what problems they are concerned with," Paluch said.

Senator Bill Moore spoke out recently against the one-University concept; Paluch is opposed to the activity fee increase; a questionnaire distributed by the Campus Senate showed a majority of students who filled out the paper were against the new University seal design; the Commission on Student Rights and Responsibilities is currently studying the "in loco parentis" concept; and a Campus Senate committee was appointed last week to study means of obtaining funds for completion of the University Center.

All Campus Senators are required to attend the meeting. The bus will leave the University Center at 9 a.m. and leave the Little Grassy therapy center at 4:30 p.m.

Record Stands

18-6 for Season

In a rough-and-tumble game of everything from eye-gouging to rim-bending, Wichita held on to take an exciting 87-80 victory over the Salukis in Wichita Tuesday night.

The game at times looked like a football game as the play intensified and the scores were narrowed during the closing minutes. Wichita held a lead of as many as eight points throughout most of the second half before the Salukis threatened to knock off the major college powerhouse by closing the gap late in the game.

The doggedly-determined Salukis had narrowed the margin to 84-80 with as little as 35 seconds to go before the Shockers dropped in three of four free throws to win.

George McNeil and Dave Lee, who wound up with 26 and 18 points respectively, paced the drive for the Salukis. After scoring 18 points in the first half, McNeil was limited to only two points through the first 14 minutes of the second half. But he came through with six points, and Lee chipped in the same total during the late rally.

The crowd of more than 10,000 on hand roared approval as several controversial calls were made by the officials against the Salukis. All in all, 16 fouls were called against Southern in the second half compared to only five against the Shockers. Several players were banged around in the heat of the late-game struggle.

A peculiar incident arose when Wichita's Warren Armstrong bent the rim after stuffing one through the netting. Coach Jack Hartman of the Salukis got up to question the

Faculty Member Takes Stand Against Campus Liquor Rules

Students would be encouraged to adopt more mature responsibility for their conduct if rules against drinking were abolished on college campuses, in the opinion of Robert D. Russell, SIU associate professor of health education.

Russell took the stand against the present rules forbidding drinking on campus in an article that appeared in a magazine that made its debut Tuesday.

The magazine, Per-Se, is an international quarterly published by the Stanford University Press, Stanford, Calif. Russell wrote that drinking by college students is part of the students' desire to "take on behavior which is characteristically adult."

Present rules against drinking on campus, he said, encourage overdrinking and driving after drinking and in general serve as a dare to young people to defy what they consider overprotective regulation by their elders.

"In brief, there should be no rules against drinking on college and university campuses," Russell wrote. "Rules against misconduct of various sorts, property damage, bodily harm to others, disorderly conduct should be sufficient."

Sales Are Normal

Cigarette Warnings Unheeded By SIU's 'Thinking' Smokers

By Willie Wilkerson

"Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

SIU smokers apparently have not been affected by this warning, because cigarette consumption has proceeded at its regular pace, according to Neil Dillard, supervisor of services for Auxiliary Enterprises.

In spite of medical warnings and the threat of cancer, the cigarette smokers at SIU continue to patronize the vending machines on campus at the same rate as before the cancer scare.

The warnings on cigarette packages this year have apparently been unheeded because students are still enjoying the "rich taste of fine tobaccos."

According to Dillard, there was a small decline in sales at the onset of the cancer scare, but since then sales have returned to normal.

Communion to Be Held

Lenten communion services will be held at 7:15 a.m. each Wednesday at the Wesley Foundation.

Cigarette companies did not anticipate such a reaction. Dillard said there was a change in promotional techniques by the companies to compensate for the expected decline in sales. Most noticeable was the withdrawal of company sales representatives who formerly roamed the campus giving out free cigarette samples.

The only result of this strategy was a reduction in the consumption of cartons of cigarettes. Obviously students thought that they could quit smoking by not buying any more cartons. This was to no avail because they still bought the same amount of cigarettes, but package by package.

University measures were then taken to curb smoking or to make the students more aware of the inherent dangers. In conjunction with the University Health Service, a warning was placed on the outside of the cigarette machines. There have been no noticeable positive effects of this action either.

Surprisingly enough, girls smoke more than boys on the Carbondale campus. This observation was cited by Carl Runkel, branch manager of Automatic Retailers of America (ARA), and is based on volume at the various residence halls.

Congress has acted. The next step is yours.

cipate the outcome of a date. The leading consumption centers on campus are (1) University Center, (2) Lentz Hall, and (3) Trueblood Hall in University Park, according to Dillard.

Runkel further said that most girls prefer filter cigarettes. In fact, there is only one unfiltered brand stocked in women's residence halls. He said that the girls' consumption escalates while they nervously await or anti-

MARISSA, ILL. (KA)—Sunny Burst, SIU Vice-President in charge of insignia says he sees nothing wrong with the proposed seal. He feels it reflects the University, especially certain of its personnel. The significance of the tangled line glows brightly, Burst said. Culture cannot be forced -a look at convocation

by john strawn

In the early 1950's, Freshman Convocation was instituted by President Morris to introduce culturally deprived Southern Illinoisans like myself to the finer things in life; by listening to comic pianists, the University Glee Club, disgruntled generals and right-wing journalists. I, and my equally ignorant regional brethren, were going to overcome the inequities of our intolerable background.

Our unemployed coal miner fathers, many of whom—according to a Time article which the university has never to my knowledge repudiated—play in the university symphony we are compelled to hear, could now die comfortably knowing that not only did their sons and daughters have B.A.'s, but culture as well!

But . . . there seems to be an opposition here: is not the university admitting the inadequacy of its own intellectual climate? Is it not admitting that one can spend four years at S.I.U. and still be a Southern Illinoisan—unless, of course, one is convoked?

Now I have convoked on and off for several years, and my reactions have ranged from antipathy to rage. When the programs are bad, we all know they're bad, so we obviously don't need them. If the program happens to be good, the audience, which rightly objects to the whole nonsense, is usually intolerable. The point is not that they are unappreciative, but rather that the whole program inveighs against a rewarding intellectual experience. The result is either that interested people have a frustrating experience because of a noisome audience, or the whole audience has a frustrating experience because of a lousy program.

Even the War on Poverty realizes that the poor must be in control of decisions affecting their own lives; no one needs condescension of patronage, because it's psychologically frustrating. We culturally poor people here at SIU should have the same rights as other poor people, and I cast my lackluster vote against convocation, a dictatorial exercise which directly insults the pride and intelligence of the people of Southern Illinois. Let students control the convocation money, invite speakers of their own choice, and let them attend or not attend of their own volition—we are tired of the burden of travesty.

Reflections

When you get what you want in your struggle for pelf
And the world makes you king for a day,
Then get to the mirror and look at your self
And see what the guy has to say.

For it isn't your father, or mother, or girl
Whose judgement upon you must pass,

The feller whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the guy staring back from the glass.

He's the feller to please, never mind all the rest
For he's with you clear to the end,

And if you have passed this most difficult test,
Then the guy in the glass is your friend.

You may think you're Jack Horner and chisle a plumb,
And think you're a wonderful guy;

But the man in the glass says you're only a bum
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

You can fool the whole world down the pathways of years
And get pats on the back as you pass,

But the final reward will be heartaches and tears
If you've cheated the man in the glass.

A few notes on symbology

by pat gillen

Someone somewhere has apparently decided that Southern needs a new seal. This seems like a noble venture, but I would like to offer a little constructive criticism and sincere suggestion.

It is necessary when one decides to make anything to determine just what the function of this object will be. One of the functions which has been stated lately concerning the seal which we have been seeing so much of is that it should perform equally well now and fifty years from now. This trait is certainly worthwhile for the designer to achieve. Had this been attained in the design of our present seal we would not have to redesign one now.

If timelessness has been achieved in the sunburst of the proposed seal it has been at the expense of more important criteria. It is timeless because it might mean anything to the viewer—in other words, nothing whatsoever in particular. In fact most people would not know that is supposed to be a sunburst. In addition the sunburst is pop art styled. By definition then it is not likely to be very timeless.

In a symbol, it is highly desirable that the central figure be simple. One of the traits of a good symbol is that it is easily remembered by a viewer who is not closely associated with it, or constantly exposed to it. Something as abstract and complex as the sunburst is this symbol is not easily remembered. Everything cannot be solved by shock value.

Effect of monopolies evident on campus

by melvin schmick

In our days of responsible representative government, the student still seems to go along in ignorance concerning the ways and whys of campus life.

As a student loses twenty-five cents in an unsanitary, unsightly, unserviceable machine, he may ask why, after numerous complaints, have these foul, filthy, foiled machines not been replaced. Why does the ARA have a monopoly of the vending machines? Who has authorized it? He knows some powerful body makes these decisions.

Perhaps this same student wonders how, after numerous complaints and shake-ups among student workers, Slater's position has never seemed more secure. Perhaps, also, the reader has noticed increasing numbers of filthy silverware.

It seems this powerful group of "elite" chooses to remain anonymous. It seems doubtful that we will ever see information telling why the bid went to Slaters, or why ARA's contract has been renewed, or what the reasons might be for not giving other companies opportunities to demonstrate their capabilities.

Students, in the words of C. Wright Mills, "feel, even if vaguely, that a compact and powerful elite does now prevail" in Southern Illinois University. They know that a coach was fired and another hired in the name of SIU, "although they were at no time consulted about the matter. They feel that they live in a time of big decisions; they know that they are not making any."

It is doubtful that, in a university community, this ignorance is bliss.

Training for next year's editorial positions is available to anyone wishing to apply. Persons having experience in newspaper work, in particular, KA, will have an added advantage in applying for the paying positions.

Call KA at 3-2890.

"Honor thy loco parentis."

Does present housing supervision really develop a student's maturity?

by ron hirschbein

The SIU housing policy is the illicit child of the "local parent" policy. Hopefully, no one takes the Housing Office's rhetoric seriously when it proclaims:

(The) Housing Office philosophy (is) the fusion of living and learning...

By enforcing SIU's oppressive local parent policy, the Housing Office hopes to equip us for the long slide down the razorblade of life. But, the world is not one big Woody Hall. When life tears us from the surrogate breast of SIU, we find a world unlike—thank God—Thompson Point.

In the world SIU allegedly prepares us for, no one tells us where to live; nor do women have hours. In fact, men and women live in the same building and entertain each other in their apartments.

Our local parents

SIU assumes a paternal role toward the "local children." We are too immature to enjoy the same rights we would have as non-students. Of course the law says we're old enough to marry and march to our death to the sound of patriotic music; but assume SIU is right—we are too immature.

SIU builds maturity by treating students like children. Consider the all-too-typical fusion of living and learning at a maximum security dorm such as Woody Hall, a monastic order with no semblance to life or learning.

Although Woody deaconesses don't realize it, there are men in the world. Woody inmates do not learn to live in a community with men. The only fellows in Woody are resident fellows. And how do the "RF's" enrich learning?

Immature Controls

Woody inmates become creative, responsible adults when they learn to sign in and out and abide by hours. What wonderful insights are gleaned from late minutes and "campus." Bed checks and room inspections convince the woman that she is a mature citizen who warrants the right of privacy. Farical dorm governments and judicial boards are instruments of the administration.

Some desire monastic life. Unfortunately—all undergraduates must live in supervised housing (unless given an indulgence by the Housing Office.)

Why does SIU sentence the student to the bland conformity and priggish supervision of dormitory life?

One reason is economic. SIU compels students to live in SIU dorms. Who are the principle bondholders of on and off campus dorms? This question merits rigorous investigation.

Secondly, SIU is a local parent. Administrators piously claim they are interested in student welfare, but their real concern may well be Public Relations. SIU's Manifest Destiny depends upon convincing the townsfolk and legislators that students (hormone-driven sex and drinking machines) are well disciplined.

But assume administrators are interested in student welfare. Administrators envisage SIU as a vast Skinner Box. Claiming they are "behavioral engineers" they force hours upon women, segregate men and women and harass students in unsupervised housing (e.g., members of the opposite sex may only be entertained between the hours of 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. in living areas.)

Privacy a must

A student must have a private life of his own apart from SIU. The administration warns of the horrendous social and psychological consequences of granting the right of privacy. The trouble with the administration is that it knows too many things that aren't so.

The Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry published a study on the emotional problems of college students, and concluded in Sex and the College Student:

The process of personal growth and development requires respect of privacy. The principle of in loco parentis however, appears to be in direct conflict with the principle of privacy... The student's privacy requires respect; sexual activities privately practiced... should not be the direct concern of the administration.

-on bookstores

Dear Editor,

Earlier this quarter, a top administration official started talking about the possibility of curtailing the current textbook rental service. He said that the University was considering selling textbooks because the present system was no longer feasible in view of the expanded enrollment. He said he would like to get student opinions and reactions to such a move.

Sounds good, eh students? The administration is talking to us, trying to get our opinions before making any decisions. They are trying to be fair to us and are not keeping anything from us. This is to be construed as progress. This is a step up from such actions as "Smith Hall" and "final exam experiments," isn't it?

OK students, grab this one. Rumor has it that there is a plan to open a new million-dollar bookstore in one of Carbondale's new shopping centers, owned by a private business.

Do you think maybe this guy knows something the students don't? Oh well, I guess they really do have our best interests at heart. By the way, what was the old adage about the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer?

-on viet nam

In view of the debate on foreign policy, particularly with respect to Viet Nam and the impending acceleration of the draft I should like to appeal to every reasonable human being to carefully consider the evidence for every alternative, to reflect on the consideration rationally and to come to as logical and unbiased a conclusion as is possible.

Let us accept nothing merely because it confirms social usage, nor reject anything merely because it confounds private predilection. If the "gold" coin be dropped in aqua fortis and dissolved we are the better for the discovery; if the coin be true, it can emerge only the brighter.

Slater's not complying with county skin-test regulations

Here is a story which is bound to give any patron of the Oasis or the Roman Room nightmares.

There is a regulation, issued by the health officer for Jackson County as part of the communicable disease prevention program, that all food service workers are supposed to have periodic skin tests for tuberculosis. If the test is positive, an X-ray is required to establish that the worker is not infected with, or a carrier of tuberculosis. Failure of restaurants, etc. to comply with this regulation can result in that restaurant's losing its permit to serve food.

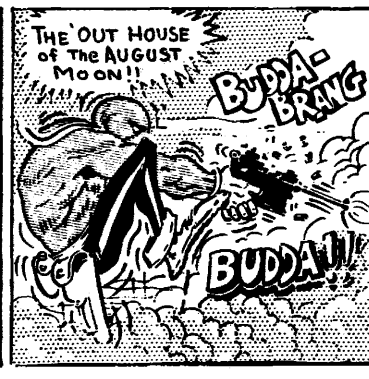

You guessed it. Neither the work office nor Slater's food service requires student workers to take the TB skin test. This is frightening; there is no assurance that some worker is not a TB carrier (cough). The University or Slater's is thus in the position of failing to comply with the county's communicable disease prevention program—a sorry state.

However, this is only a part of the total picture. The county health inspector says that if one walks into any given restaurant in Jackson County, there is about a 2-3% chance that the restaurant's employees have up-to-date skin tests and X-rays. The county has begun a program which they hope will encompass quarterly checks on compliance, but are now undermined. Until that time, or until the health inspector reaches SIU, watch out—the bread you eat may carry TB!

Congress Passes Viet Nam Bill in 1-Sided Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress voted one-sided approval Tuesday night to a $4.8-billion war spending bill to reinforce the American arsenal in South Viet Nam.

As President Johnson aimed a new peace appeal at Communist North Viet Nam, the great congressional debate over his Asian policy exploded into action on both sides of the Capitol.

First came an overwhelming House vote for the spending authority Johnson sought to buy military supplies and weapons.

Within two hours—and after two weeks of argument about the wisdom of Johnson's Asian stand—the Senate, too, had approved the measure.

In the Senate, forum for the bitter debate that began with the start of the new congressional session, only Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, voted against the money measure.

The Senate vote was 93-2. Before the final showdown, the Senate overwhelmingly upheld a resolution supporting Johnson's authority to wage with American forces the war against Communists in South Viet Nam.

Morse and Gruening were joined by three other Democrats in that Senate test.

Johnson's allies said the lopsided vote against repeal of the 19-month-old resolution, which approved the use of armed force against Communist aggression, put the Senate squarely behind administration policy in South Viet Nam.

At the White House, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said in advance of the vote that Johnson did not consider the Aug. 10, 1964, resolution essential to his position on the Asian conflict.

"The President felt in 1964, as he feels now, that he had inherent authority as commander in chief of the armed forces, to resist aggression in Southeast Asia," Moyers said.

Moyers said Johnson sought the 1964 resolution to give Congress "a chance to record its position on that issue."

It did, with only Morse and Gruening opposing the resolution.

"The President has said he intends to fulfill the resolution until the peace and security of the world are reasonably assured," Moyers said.

Some senators who have questioned Johnson's position on the Asian war declared in advance their opposition to repeal of the resolution was not an endorsement of administration policy.

Hours before the congressional showdown, Johnson had aimed at Hanoi a call to "negotiate peace and let war stand aside."

Morse, sharpest Senate critic of Johnson's policy, called for repeal of the resolution in an amendment to the war spending bill. He said both were invitations to escalation of the war.

"This is no time to pull the rug out from under the President," countered Sen. Leverett M. Saltonstall, Mass.

As the Senate argued about presidential authority for the American stand in Viet Nam, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested that the United States seek neutralization of all of Southeast Asia.

Fulbright said the Vietnamese war could be permanently settled only with an understanding between the United States and Communist China.

Indians Have Stormy Session On Aid, Beggars, Self-Respect

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—An angry shouting match erupted in Parliament Tuesday as members heckled Prime Minister Indira Gandhi on matters including India's reliance on foreign aid and her trip later this month to the United States.

Speaker Hukam Singh shouted in vain for restoration of order and one opposition member, Buta Singh of the Akali party, walked out saying he would not watch the speaker be insulted.

The storm burst after Mrs.

Gandhi declared "we are taking foreign aid. We will have to take it for some time. But aid is not charity, we will take it only if we can maintain our principles."

One member of Parliament jumped to his feet shouting "beggars have no self respect."

Mrs. Gandhi said "we want aid and we need aid but we are not going to debase ourselves to get it. Aid will help us with our program. If it does not come, we can and shall manage by ourselves."

Battle Against Loyalty Oaths Flares Again Across Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — The battle against loyalty oaths—spearheaded as usual by public school educators—has flared again in the nation's courts and legislatures.

Oaths required by the laws of Arizona, Massachusetts, Oregon and New York are under fire in state and federal tribunals, including the U.S. Supreme Court.

Legislatures are under pressure to repeal similar laws elsewhere. Some oaths have been watered down or voided, largely as a result of protests by teachers.

An Arizona oath has been challenged in the Supreme Court by Barbara Elfbbrandt, 32, a Tucson teacher, who has worked without pay since 1961 rather than sign it.

The oath forbids membership in the Communist party or any organization advocating the overthrow of the state government of Arizona by force or violence. Mrs. Elfbbrandt's attorney argued before the Supreme Court Feb. 24 that the oath denied her freedom of speech and association.

An attack by the American Civil Liberties Union on a Massachusetts loyalty oath for teachers is due for decision by the State Supreme Court this year.

Gerald A. Berlin, Massachusetts attorney for the ACLU, contended the oath is discriminatory and violates rights of free speech and association. A bill to repeal the oath is before the legislature, but is given little chance of passing. Teachers in Oregon have won a court ruling that a state oath of allegiance is unconstitutional because of vague wording. The decision has been appealed to the Oregon Supreme Court.

In New York there have been a series of court actions by the American Civil Liberties Union, the Communist party and college faculty members against a state law requiring teachers to swear they are not members of any subversive group.

'Jungle of Red Tape'

House Republicans Ask Probe of Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that U.S. forces fighting in Viet Nam would be doubled makes it urgent that a hard look be taken at military draft methods, Rep. Ogden Reid said Tuesday.

The New York Republican made the statement as he and 29 other GOP House members called for a broad congressional investigation to make sure draft laws are "efficient and equitable."

Right now, the Republicans claimed, the draft is haphazard, mired in a "jungle of red tape" and not everybody is convinced selection methods are fair or uniform.

As seven of the Republicans held a news conference, the House Armed Services Committee approved a bill clarifying reemployment rights of those entering military service from civilian life.

And an indirect reply to the Republicans was made by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the Selective Service director, when he was asked at a luncheon of the Young Lawyers Committee of the Federal Bar Association whether the draft system should be reorganized. Hershey replied:

"No. That's the plain and unadulterated answer. You would not do something to something that is working."

To a newsman who asked about the Republican statement, the draft director replied:

"I have always understood that one of the functions of the Congress is to look into how well the laws they pass are being carried out."

Hershey said he is not satisfied with the time it takes to run men through the manpower supply pipeline, but he pointed out that experience has shown it is necessary to have about six times as many men in the draft pipeline at any one time as are expected to be needed to fill the next monthly draft call.

Classification, appeal and armed forces examining procedures all take time, Hershey said, adding that one local board which recently came to his attention had received some 3,000 appeals in about six weeks.

Hershey conceded some inequities exist but contended that absolute equity never has been attained.

Another Anti-Sukarno Demonstration Staged

SINGAPORE (AP) — More than 2,000 anti-Communist students were reported Tuesday to have staged another demonstration in Jakarta to protest Indonesian President Sukarno's ouster of Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution as defense minister.

Police fired into the air Monday to break up a similar demonstration when pro-Communist students attacked the demonstrators.

Russian Craft Hits Venus

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union added to its list of spectacular space firsts Monday by landing a satellite on Venus after a 3 1/2-month flight, the Soviet news agency Tass announced.

A second Venus shot passed by the cloud-shrouded planet at a distance of only 14,900 miles Sunday, sending back scientific data, Tass reported.

The American Mariner 2 passed 21,648 miles from Venus Dec. 14, 1962. Mariner found the surface temperature was 800 degrees, too hot to let anything like human life exist.

The satellite that hit Venus was Venus 3, a 2,116-pound package of instruments launched Nov. 16, Tass said.

The official announcement said that Venus 3 delivered to the surface of Venus a pennant with the coat of arms—hammer and sickle—of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The Soviet space program, after months of comparatively routine projects following the first walk in space last March 18, has been yielding spectacular results.

The Russians made history's first soft landing on the moon Feb. 3.

Britain to Forsake Shillings, Guineas, Pence, Et Cetera

LONDON (AP) — Britain's currency system, dating back to the 12th century and a puzzlement ever since to foreigners, will change to decimals in February 1971.

The chancellor of the exchequer, James Callaghan, told the House of Commons Tuesday that the pound sterling will remain as the nation's major monetary unit, but it will be subdivided into 100 smaller units.

Here is the lineup of Britain's pounds-shillings-pence currency:

A pound — 20 shillings — equal to $2.80, comes only in paper form. Some transactions are carried on in guineas, equal to 21 shillings but nonexistent as a piece of money.

The pound is divided into at least eight sub-units. These are:

A 10-shilling note, or half a pound.

A half-crown—a coin worth one-eighth of a pound, or 2 1/2 shillings.

A florin—worth one-tenth of a pound or 2 shillings.

A shilling—one-twentieth of a pound or 14 cents U.S.

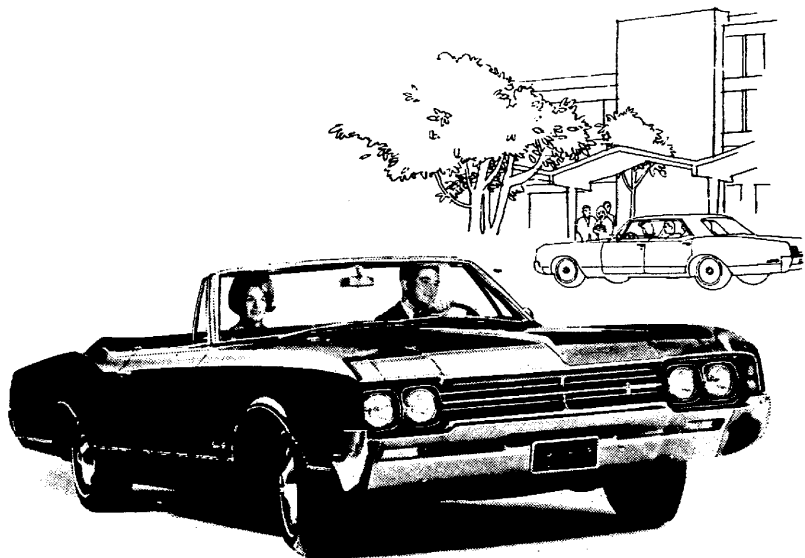

East Germany Applies for U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist East Germany applied Tuesday for membership in the United Nations. West Germany called it a propaganda move and most U.N. diplomats said the Communist regime's chances for gaining admission were virtually nonexistent.

The surprise application set off speculation as to why the Communists wanted to put the German question into the world spotlight at this time. One obvious deduction was that the Communists were saying again that they regard German unification as impossible.

The application was signed by Walter Ulbricht.

Reflects Dual Concern

Board of Trustees Chairman Interested in Both Area, SIU

By John Epperheimer

The chairman of the SIU Board of Trustees is chief director of the largest industry in Southern Illinois.

Kenneth L. Davis of Harrisburg, recently re-elected chairman, is concerned with the area's welfare, as well as the development of SIU.

Sitting in his sporting goods store in Harrisburg, a community of 9,000 situated 38 miles east of Carbondale, Davis reflected that dual concern when asked about Southern's growth.

Asked about some students' feeling that SIU should devote more time to student services than area services, Davis replied: "One of the goals of SIU is to stress benefits to the citizens of Southern Illinois. We try to do as much as possible for the students, but still develop the area."

Asked about programs such as the Small Business Institute, which drew criticism from the Rational Action Movement last spring, Davis said such projects will continue to grow "if they show results."

"There can be no division made" among programs of the University, he said, referring to demands for curtailment of area projects.

Speaking on student rights and responsibilities, Davis pointed out that the administration has been "pretty much in sympathy" with the students.

He said that "their goals can be accomplished as well without demonstrations or movements." However, he noted that last spring's RAM seemed to be more responsible and orderly than other such movements around the country he had read about. "SIU will give students as much academic freedom as possible and as much self-

Workers Needed For Arena Jobs

Temporary jobs between the hours of 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. at the SIU Arena are now open to college men, according to Larry A. Schmalenberger, assistant manager of the Arena.

Extra help is needed because of the basketball tournaments scheduled in the Arena.

Workers are needed for Friday and Saturday, NCAA college regional; March 10 and 11, high school sectional; March 15, high school super sectional. The workers will be paid $1.15 an hour.

Interested men should contact Schmalenberger at his office, Room 117 in the Arena, or call 453-2321.

government as they can assume," Davis added.

Davis said that although the trend in recent years has been toward development of the Graduate School and has been marked by an increase in quality in the junior and senior programs, SIU will always have freshmen and sophomores.

He also believes that the Carbondale campus will always continue as the main campus, although its growth may be paralleled by that of the Edwardsville campus.

Wind Quintet Will Present Recital Tonight

Two SIU students majoring in music education and the Student Wind Quintet will present a recital at 8 p.m. today in Davis Auditorium of the Wham Education Building.

Wanda L. Jones, a junior from Centralia, will be featured in two bassoon solos. She will play "Musik fur Fagott," by Hans Schroder and "Sonata for Bassoon and Piano," by Hindemith. Miss Jones will be assisted by Mrs. Andrea Shields.

Thomas G. Kucharik will present two trombone solos. He will play "Legende for Trombone and Piano," by Ni-verd and "Andante for Tuba and Piano," by Alexander Tcherepnin. Kucharik will be assisted by Mary K. Cornatti.

The Student Wind Quintet will present two numbers. The pieces chosen are Carl Maria von Weber's "Romanza Appassionata" and "Quintet for Wind Instruments" by Paul Hindemith.

Members of the quintet are Phyllis A. Weber, flute; David G. Harris, oboe; C. Robert Rose, clarinet and conductor; Patricia A. Aubuchon, horn; and Wanda L. Jones, bassoon.

One of the pleasing facts in the Carbondale campus growth is that it is still not as impersonal as many multi-versities, Davis said.

"It is somewhat like a small town that has grown to a metropolis but still retains some of the old features," he said.

Probably the greatest changes during the 16 years Davis has served as a trustee have been the increase in the caliber of the faculty and the development of the Graduate School, and Southern's increasing worldwide influence, Davis feels.

Davis began serving on the Board in 1949. At that time the enrollment at Carbondale was 3,000, made up almost entirely of area students.

Davis was a schoolteacher for nine years and Saline County superintendent of schools for eight years. He received a bachelor's degree from SIU and a master's from the University of Tennessee.

The Rev. Leonus Turley, pastor of Rockwell Baptist Church, will speak today through Friday at the 12:30 to 12:50 p.m. chapel service in the Baptist Foundation.

Have astronauts made pilots old hat?

Sure, the boys who go off the "pads" get the big, bold headlines. But if you want to fly, the big opportunities are still with the aircraft that take off and land on several thousand feet of runway.

Who needs pilots? TAC does. And MAC. And SAC. And ADC.

There's a real future in Air Force flying. In years to come aircraft may fly higher, faster, and further than we dare dream of. But they'll be flying, with men who've had Air Force flight training at the controls. Of course the Air Force also has plenty of jobs for those who won't be flying. As one of the world's largest and most advanced research and development organizations, we have a continuing need for scientists and engineers.

Young college graduates in these fields will find that they'll have the opportunity to do work that is both interesting and important. The fact is, nowhere will you have greater latitude or responsibility right from the start than on the Aerospace Team—the U.S. Air Force!

Interested? The place to find out more is at the office of the Professor of Aerospace Studies, if there is an Air Force ROTC unit on your campus. Ask about the new 2-year AFROTC program available at many colleges and universities. If you prefer, mail the coupon below.

Coach Faces Problems

Team Needs Pride, Rainsberger Says

By Bob Reincke

Ellis Rainsberger, new head coach of Southern's football team, said he realizes he has problems to solve here and one of his major tasks will be to build pride in the players and fans.

"Pride is very important to the success of any football team," Rainsberger said. "We'll be hoping also to build the pride of fans in their football team."

The husky coach, who looks fit enough at 33 to strap on the pads for a game, said he is not certain of the offensive formation he'll use.

"We'd like to use the split-end and end-over style like Arkansas and Nebraska, and use these men as pass receivers if we have a quarterback who can throw," he said.

SIU fans may be seeing less passing than in the past three seasons when Jim Hart's passes were the major factor in Southern's offensive attack. Rainsberger says he hopes to develop the running game first and supplement it with passing.

One of the problems Rainsberger faces is recruiting. The new coach was hired late for recruiting and as a result, SIU is now behind in the race for good high school players.

"We're starting late in recruiting and it's going to be tough this year. Many other schools have already started. We need immediate help at some positions so we'll be trying to get some of the junior college boys that we can use next year," he said.

Because of the late start in recruiting, Rainsberger said spring practice probably wouldn't start until early in May.

"By starting spring practice late we will have more time to recruit and also it will give us a chance to get better organized here on the staff. Then too, we'll be able to keep the boys in better shape that way for when they come back in September," Rainsberger said.

The new head coach also has some wit to go along with his serious attitude toward football. A sportswriter asked him what he would do if his team had just scored a touchdown in the last few minutes and was still behind 7-6. Would he kick for the extra point and try to tie it, or would he go for the two-point conversion and try to win?

Rainsberger pondered the question for a minute, then answered, "I think I'd leave that up to the quarterback. He's here on a four-year scholarship; my contract is only for a year."

Open Dates Slated For U-School Gym

The facilities at the University School gymnasium will be open for free play today, Friday, Tuesday, and March 9 and 11, from 7 to 10:30 p.m. On Saturday, the gym will be open from 1 to 5 p.m.

Teachers Exam Deadline Set

Registration for the National Teacher Examination set for March 19 will close Friday. College seniors preparing to teach school may take the NTE on any of the three dates announced by the Educational Testing Service.

The dates are March 19, July 16 and Oct. 8. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States. SIU will be one of the locations for March 19 and July 16.

The results of the NTE are used by many large school districts as a factor in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

Lists of school systems which use the examination results are distributed to colleges by ETS, a nonprofit educational organization which prepares and administers the examinations.

Grace Swofford Wykes Dies; Active Alumna Since 1898

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace (Swofford) Wykes, 87, former member of the Normal School Board who attended SIU in 1898, were held in Benton Tuesday. Burial was in Benton's Masons and Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Mrs. Wykes was born in Benton and lived there all her life. She was the first woman to be appointed to the Normal School Board, serving from 1922 to 1927. The board members at that time served as trustees for all the Normal schools in Illinois, which then included Southern.

Mrs. Wykes was an active participant in alumni affairs. She was vice-president of the Jackson County Alumni Club and class representative to the Alumni Club Legislative Council from 1954 to the present.

She was also a past matron of the Eastern Star and a 50-year member of the organization.

Her husband, Fred H. Wykes, and her brother, John C. Swofford Sr., also attended Southern in 1896 and 1899, respectively. Both preceded her in death.

Through the years Mrs. Wykes contributed a number of historical documents to the University. She was a member of the Historical Society, the Domestic Art Club, the Garden Club, the Women's Mission Society of the Baptist Church, and the Daughters of Union Veterans.

She is survived by her nephew, John C. Swofford Jr. of Springfield, who is a 1938 SIU graduate.

Freshman Honor Society Initiates 39 New Members

Thirty-nine students were initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honor society, at a formal initiation Sunday in the University Center.

Guest speakers for the initiation were Amos Black, acting executive officer of the General Studies program, and Ralph Prusok, associate dean of students.

Shockers Defeat Salukis 87-80

But all in all, it was an outstanding effort for the Salukis in a fieldhouse where Wichita teams have been beaten only four times in 66 games. The Shockers finished a perfect home court record for the current season of 13-0 and have won 16 straight on that court.

The Salukis had held a 40-37 advantage at the intermission on a novel four-point play in the final second. Trailing 37-36, McNeil, who had already taken a couple of hard spills from fouls, dropped in a pair of free throws to put the Salukis on top 38-37. Then when Wichita tried to inbound the ball, Ralph Johnson tipped the ball through the netting after the Shockers had tried to pitch it over the head of the 6-7 junior.

The Salukis held the lead intermittently through the first half as the lead changed 13 times and the score was tied twice. The second half was different, however, as Wichita put together strings of seven and eight straight points to forge into the lead to stay early in the half.

McNeil's 26 points led the Salukis, followed by Lee and Boyd O'Neal with 18 apiece. For the Shockers, little Kelly Pete and forward Jamie Thompson tied with McNeil for the top spot with 26 points each.

The loss leaves the Salukis with a final regular season record of 18-6 heading into the regionals against Indiana State Friday night. Wichita, meanwhile, closed out its season with a record of 15-9.

Those initiated are Steven M. Andes, Raymond S. Baker, Lawrence J. Bassuk, Richard Bauch, Roger E. Bishop, Michael R. Casey, James D. Cobb, Michael E. Diesen, Dennis O. Douglas, Willard J. Duensing.

Jerry G. Finney, James M. Francis, Carl G. Freeman, Dayton L. Howerton, David J. Husted, Denny W. Jahnigen, David A. Jones, David R. Lewis, Jeffrey M. Lezak, Keith C. Love, Kenneth E. Markwell.
