Bar punished

Gatsby's to close for 3 days despite claim of entrapment

By Catherine Edman Staff Writer

The Liquor Control Commission Monday night voted to issue a three-day suspension of Gatsby's liquor license, despite efforts by the bar's representative to prove entrapment of a bartender there.

The commission members, with the exception of John Mills, voted to impose the suspension, which will be served June 18 to 20.

Lawyer George Twomey told the commission a penalty should not be imposed because, even though a "technical violation occured," there was no wrongdoing.

Bar procedures to weed out underage drinkers were followed, he said, and only the Carbondale police officers were aware Jeffrey Wingo was underage.

Detective Michael Osifcin testified that he spoke with 20testined that he spoke with 20-year-old Wingo prior to issuing a liquor code violation to Gatsby's March 6. An agreement was reached, Osifein said, that if Wingo was successful in attempts to purchase alcohol he would not be issued a ticket. About 30 minutes after that

About 30 minutes after that conversation Osifcin and Detective Jon Kluge entered the bar and witnessed Wingo purchase a draft from a Gatsby's bartender.

Gatsby's bartender.
"We went there to see if he would be able to obtain beer without showing identification," Kluge said.

James Lucas, who was working as doorman that night, testified that he had checked Wingo's driver's license and upon reading the birthdate of 1965 gave him a hand stamp that signified him as over 21. Wingo testified Monday night that he was born July 1, 1966, and that he showed one piece of iden-dification to Lucas.

Manager Tom Royals said he also recalled that Wingo who said after the hearing that he had been an assistant manager at Gatsby's from May 1986 to January 1987— was in the bar that night but was unaware that Wingo was only 20 years old only 20 years old.

But Royals added that common measures were used that night to prevent underage purchases including using hand stamps stating either "over" or "under" 21 years of age, spot checks for iden-tification throughout the bar every 30 minutes and another check by the bartender at the time of purchase.

at the time of purchase.
Sue Eileen Thomas, the bartender who allegedly served Wingo the beer, was not called on to testify at the hearing, but both officers identification.

Because the officers knew Wingo was under 21, Twomey said, and did not try to stop him from buying the alcohol, the commission should not punish the bar that had em-ployed protective measures.

"We're not talking about which one of two innocent parties should suffer." he said. "We're talking about only one innocent party here, that's the people who served this not knowing he's (under) 21. All the rest of them, including the officers, did."

Local groups hold service for 3 slain in Contra attack

Three wooden crosses were planted at the Interfaith Center Mon(lay during a memorial service for U.S. citizen Benjamin Linder and two Nicaraguans who were killed by Contra rebels last

The crosses bear the names and date of death,

April 28, of the three.
They were killed during an ambush by six Contras near the northern Nicaraguan town of San Jose de Bocay. Linder was killed by shrappel from a grenade.

Linder was working on a hydroelectric project when he was killed. The two Nicaraguans, Sergio Fer-nandez and Pablo Rosales, were peasants.

Nine people attended the service that was organized by the Southern Illinois Latin American Solidarity Committee

The Rev. Karen Knodt director of University Christian Ministeries, said Linder's death "calls for each of us to look at our lives to see how we contributed to his death."

"Hopefully, Linder's death will be worthwhile in that it causes us to look at the Nicaraguan situation."

Georgeann Hartzog, a Witness for Peace member who spoke at the service, said Linder was honored because "he was an American working for all of

Aquino urges U.S. to send military aid as promised

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) -- President Corazon Aquino Monday urged the United States to deliver promised military aid, including helicopter gunships, saying it cannot expect her troops to fight communist rebels with "our teeth and our hands." Hours after the plea, the rebels killed 16 soldiers and wounded nine in an ambush in Aklan, 220 miles south of Manila in the control Philippines are they were travelled to reinforce travel. central Philippines, as they were traveling to reinforce troops under attack nearby.

South Korea may face constitutional agitation

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — The government warned Monday it will "harshly counter" any violent campaign for reform of the constitution that the opposition claims will allow President Chun Doo Hwan to choose his successor. But a wave of protest continued Monday over Chun's decision to have his successor chosen by the electoral college system ir, the present constitution rather than allow direct elections.

Waldheim favors war crimes commission

VIENNA (UPI) — President Kurt Waldheim believes "it might be a good idea" to have an international commission decide the role he played in a German army unit's deportation of Jews and others to Nazi death camps during World War II, his spokesman said Monday. But the spokesman, Gerold Christian, said the establishment of a seven-nation commission "should be ordered within Austria, by the president, government or Parliament."

Gunman kills reporter at Tokyo newspaper

TOKYO (UPI) — Police in western Japan searched Monday for an assailant who burst into a regional office of a leading Tokyo newspaper and opened fire with a shotgun on reporters, killing one and seriously wounding another. Investigators were baffled about a motive but said Sunday night's shooting did not appear to be random. The case immediately drew nationwide attention in Japan, where virtually all private ownership of guns is forbidden and fatal shootings are rare.

Senator insists Reagan knew of fund-raising

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the Senate panel probing the Iran-Contra scandal renewed his charge Monday that President Reagan knew money was being raised for military aid for the Nicaraguan rebels, but the White House denied he knew anything illegal was going on. At a photo session on the eve of congressional hearings into the affair, Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, said he stood by his statement Sunday that Reagan knew money was being raised to purchase weapons for the Contras.

Nixon administration critiqued news clips

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon White House, obsessed with media portrayals of the president, collected and critiqued voluminous news clips and extensively recorded television programs. National Archives documents showed Monday. Among the newly released Nixon presidential papers were photocopies of newspaper and magazine articles that dealt with the mushrooming Watergate scandal. Some of these articles—from The Washington Post, The New York Times, Life magazine and other publications — drew memos from top White House aides suggesting ways to counter negative information.

Reagan decides to create AIDS commission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, urged to map a national strategy against a growing killer, decided Monday to create a high-level AIDS commission to advise him on sensitive policy aspects of the epidemic and prospects for a cure. Seeking to set an expedited course for decisions on research, testing, education and other issues, Reagan approved formation of the commission during a meeting with the Cabinet-level Domestic Policy Council Policy Council

Flap over condoms puts lives on line

THE FORMATION OF a presidential task force on AIDS, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is being delayed by a philosophical rift in the Reagan administration, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported recently. And while polemical broadsides are being traded, the lives of thousands hang in the balance Dalance.

The flap seems to have been sparked by moral differences among administration officials. On one side is Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, who favors a report that will call for early childhood education on AIDS and other sexually-transmitted diseases and for explicit instruction in the schools on how to use condoms to reduce the risk of transmitting AIDS during intercourse

On the other side are Attorney General Edwin Meese and White House domestic affairs counselor Gary Bauer, who want white House domestic arrains counselor Gary Bauer, who want the panel to stress abstinence outside marriage. Also supporting that view are Education Secretary William Bennett and President Reagan himself. Reagan decided in Februrary that he would support a federal campaign to educate the public about AIDS but only if the campaign stressed "responsible sexual behavior" within marriage and teaches children to avoid sex.

ONCE AGAIN, THE Reagan administration has decided to try to force its morals on the American public. While abstinence is one way to prevent the spread of AIDS, it is doubtful a largely promiscuous population will be swayed by the administration's moralizing.

Despite the inroads AIDS has made into the heterosexual community, most heterosexuals have refused to change their sexual practices. Some Americans still regard the emergence of sexual practices. Some Americans still regard the emergence of AIDS as an act of God against homosexuals and refuse to believe that they too are susceptible to the disease. Even among the homosexual community, where awareness of AIDS is the highest, there has been a reluctance to change sexual patterns. Koop, once the darling of conservatives for his fundamentalist

Christian beliefs, seems to realize that appeals to reason have a better chance of catching on in a secular society than appeals to conscience. He has called for condom ads on television, and even went so far as to ask religious groups to spread the word about safe sex.

Then, too, there is the fact that AIDS can be spread by means ofter than sexual contact. Even people in monogarnous relationships are at risk. What good will stressing sexual contact with only one person do for these people?

KOOP HAS SAID that unless steps are taken very soon to prevent the further spread of AIDS, the disease will reach epidemic proportions. The National Academy of Sciences estimates that there will be no AIDS vaccine for at least five years. And that is an optimistic estimate.

A strong statement by the federal government advising the use

A strong statement by the recertal government advising the use of condoms would be a positive step toward slowing the spread of AIDS. The task force report also could stress the values of abstinence and monogamy, but this should not be the central focus of the report. Further debate on the matter only endangers more lives, and administration officials should stop bickering and start working.

Springfest violence is a disgrace

I am ashamed and bitter toward the individuals that participated in the throwing of beer cans and bottles at a white car that drove through Lewis Park late Saturday night during Springfest weekend.

I do not know the individual in the vehicle, who suffered from a shattered car window and lacerations to the face as a result of a shattered beer bottle. It is true he was quite ignorant to drive through Lewis Park despite warnings. Still no one deserves to have their car trashed by a bunch of idiots who see fun as ruining property and inflicting pain on innocent individuals.

I had several people visiting me from other schools that weekend, some of them for the first time. I was ashamed they had to see such violence from individuals at SIU-C and their guests. It only reaffirms SIU-C's image as a party school. What stories will they be able to tell once they get back to their school

I am also bitter because one of my guests received an in-jury to the ankle bone that resulted from a thrown beer bottle. She is now suffering from a severe bruise and was advised by a doctor to stay off her feet for two days. With finals in the next week and a finals in the next week and a half, she is really (insert word) toward the jerk who threw the bottle. During the accident, I recall someone yelling, "It's O.K. — the car is probably insured." But how does this same person excuse the physical injury suffered by my guest? So come on, SIU-C students, let's learn to party with some class! — Lisa M. Rivera, senior, political science.

Beautiful' U.S ignores black South Africa

I am writing this letter to inform and remind people of South Africa and its injustices that are happening every second and what our "beautiful" country is doing about it.

As you read this, South Africa is still experiencing a "State of Emergency." Police are shooting minorities (mainly black) first and asking questions later. If this is reform, as P.W. Botha has declared, then South Africa is in the midst of a civil war.
What is the Reagan administration doing about South what is the Reagan ad-ministration doing about South Africa's injustice toward minorities? You might say that they are imposing sanc-tions, but these sanctions are a joke with many loopholes in

Secretary of State George Schultz met with the leader of the African National Congress, Oliver Tambo, a few months ago and told him violence wasn't the answer (which I feel is ironic) and that the U.S wouldn't support terrorism. Instead of calling it what it is, a fight for freedom, he charged it was terrorism. If fighting for fair spending on education, freedom to live where you want, and fair distribution of wealth is terrorism, then cur history books should be rewritten.

South Africa has 30 million blacks and five million whites, but the whites earn 64 percent of South Africa's total income. Now that black South Africans are saying enough is enough, the Reagan administration is telling them that it isn't. patience, one day you will have freedom. South Africa doesn't treedom. South Africa doesn't even have a constitution that pertains to the black man, but Reagan is telling them to have patience. This is like strangling a man to death while at the same time telling him to settle down, I'm almost finished

It's up to the human race to emphasize to our governments that every man is created equal. Freedom and justice never was and never will be simply handed over to the oppressed. — Myron Hoskins, junior, advertising and Black American Studies.

SECOND, MAKE A schedule. Use an appointment book or make up your own schedule sheet with the days of the week across the top and the the week across the top and the hours of the day down the side. Then fill in all your fixed commitments, including classes work and meetings. Then, go back and begin filling in the flexible hours with ac-tivities. Be sure to include time to get sleep evergies—even to eat, sleep, exercise — even some social and fun time.

THE MOST important part of this step is to block out study times. Plan two or three hour times. Plan two or three nour study blocks, with at least half hour breaks before continuing. You will be fooling yourself if you expect to sit down for six or eight hours straight.

Use your planned breaks for stretching, relaxing or to reward yourself for having stuck to the plan. You deserve it. But avoid the most common mistake: rewarding yourself before you have accomplished something.

THIRD, CHOOSE AN appropriate placed to study, one where you can really concentrate and won't be distracted by the television, food, friends or lead music.

Fourth, avoid all-nighters, excessive coffee or other stimulants and cigarettes. You may feel like you spent more time on the material, but you'll be in no shape to remember it for the exam.

FINALLY, USE positive imagery while you are studying to displace worry. Imagine yourself calm and confident in the test situation, with the answers coming to with the answers coming to you easily. Picture yourself getting that high grade you know you're capable of. So start now. Put the plan into action. You might be into action. You might be surprised at how much you can accomplish in a short time once you sit down and dig in. By planning, following through, relaxing and staying focused, you can finish the semester performing at your highest potential.

Energies, ecstasies focus of photo student's project

By Ellen Cook

Although most Masters of Although most Masters of Fine Arts thesis shows are one-time presentations in which people discuss an artist's works over punch and cookies, one SIU-C student's show will break the norm. students, are welcome to the show, Chatterley said. But he would prefer that those at-tending the show hold their remarks about the work until after the presentation to maintain the reverence of a church setting.

The idea for the show came after Chatterley noted the physical exertion, and facial and ham gestures of par-ticipants at local fun-damentalist Christian revival meetings. The congregation's repressed sexuality often manifested itself into action at such revivals, he said. For the photo shoot, Chatrot the photo shoot, Chat-terley re-enacted a fun-damental Christian revival that features an actor's and actress' portrayal of an evangelist and a member of his congregation. About 2,000 photos were taken during the five-day shoot, but only 40 were selected for presentation, Chatterley said.

A recording of a preacher's sermon that was taped from the radio prior to the shoot served as an inspiration for the actors, and a soundtrack that was mixed from the recording will accompany the photos at the thesis show.

Although the project has been in the making for a year, recent scandals surrounding television evangelists Oral television evangelists Oral Roberts and Jim and Tammy Bakker make its presentation seem more timely

But Chatterley's presen-tation doesn't make fun of the evangelical movement — it merely notes the sexual energy that is released during revival meetings and allows audience members to make their own readings.

New law brings expectation of millions of illegal aliens

By United Press International

Immigration Immigration and Naturalization Service of-ficials hired extra help Monday, opened special of-fices and warred Border Patrolmen to stay away from the expected flood of illegal aliens seeking amnesty under new immigration laws.

The law that goes into effect.

The law that goes into effect today grants permanent residence to otherwise law-abiding illegal aliens who have been living in the United States since 1981. The INS said it expects almost 4 million ap-plicants eventually to show up at the 100 special offices set up around the country.

Community and private social agencies and church action groups also have been authorized to help applicants fill out the complicated fourpage forms but many congressmen and activists feared the preparation was inadequate.

Church officials and lawmakers decried the heavy fees required — estimated at as much as $1,000 for a family — and Roman Catholic authorities appealed to the president to keep families from being split up or forced back into the shadows by the law

At least a few illegal aliens At least a few lifegal aliens will go through the process early. In the INS office in Santa Ana, Calif., officials set up a ceremony to lead Emilio Torres and his family through the procedure a day ahead of time to demonstrate how it works.

Officials' main fear for today's opening day was that many illegals would hang back with lingering suspicions that the whole thing is a sting operation to identify and deport them.

"We don't know if they will rush forward in large numbers or if they're going to be

Guidelines of the law

The Immigration Control and Reform Act goes into effect today and will grant legal status to a limited number of persons who entered the United States illegally. Following is an explanation of the new law in question-and-answer form.

What does the legalization process involve?
Legalization is a two-step process. An applicant must first apply for an 18-month temporary residence. If that is granted, he or she may apply for permanent residence.

Who is eligible to apply for legalization?
Anyone who can prove they have lived unlawfully and continuously in the United States, with no more than one single 45-day absence or a cumulative absence of 180 days, since before Jan. 1, 1982. Also, people who have lived illegally in the United States and have worked for at least 90 days in qualifying agricultural employment, to be determined by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, also may apply.

How long will the application period extend?

Applications will be accepted for one year beginning today and ending May 4, 1988, at 107 Immigration and Naturalization Centers nationwide. Applicates who qualify under the agricultural provision will be given 18 months to apply beginning June 1, 1987.

What must an applicant submit to prove the required residency? The Immigration and Naturalization Service will accept documents, including rent receipts, bank statements, pay stubs, medical and insurance documents and sworn affidavits been ordered to stay away from offices set up to handle the applicants.

"If a green and white car comes within a mile of here, the driver will be in big the driver will trouble," he said.

Nearly a third of the estimated four million people expected to qualify for amnesty live in a seven-county area of Southern California, where 18 legalization offices open at 8 a.m. today.

In an effort to avoid massive lines, officials have instituted a mail-in program. The legalization centers will accept

Sex allegations hurt Hart's campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gary Hart's campaign for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination reeled Monday from allegations that the 50-year-old former Coloredo senator spent most of the weekend in his townhouse with a bit-part actress from Miami.

The allegation, made by The Miami Herald and based on a stakeout of Hart's home on Capitol Hill, said the front-runner for the nomination and the actress, Donna Rice, were not seen leaving the house from late Friday night until Saturday evening.

Hart said no one spent the night in his townhouse and said he had no "improper relationship" with Rice.

The issue of "womanizing" has hounded Hart since he began his first race for the presidential nomination in 1983 and has become a key part of the so-called "character" problem that has followed him. The other aspects, revealed in 1984, were his change in name from Hartpence to Hart and cutting his age by a year. There was little immediate speculation of the impact of the disclosure or, Hart's campaign, which also is struggling with the problem of paying off a $1.3 million debt from the 1984 campaign.

At the least, the discloure was certain to set back Hart's plan to make the race for the nomination a campaign of ideas and not personalities and will leave him responding to the allegation repeatedly during news conferences

"We have to see how it bounces," a veteran Democratic strategist said. "If the story is discredited, he has insulated himself against greater prying. If it is not discredited, the campaign is over."

The strategist estimated it would not take long to gauge the impact, saying, "The question on this one is what happens

High court rules Rotary must open doors to women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, in a decision that could reach all the way to the Boy Scouts, Manday upheld a California law requiring all-male Rotary clubs to open their doors to women.

The 7-0 ruling was the second in less than three years to give states the right to apply antidiscrimination laws to private service groups and could extend to single-sex organizations ranging from the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to Kiwanis International and the Junior League.

THE DECISION affirmed a ruling by the Court of Appeals of California, which had ordered Rotary International to reinstate a club that lost its charter when it admitted female

Writing for the court, Justice Lewis Powell said the state's right to combat sex discrimination outweighed Rotary's right to

"The evidence in this case indicates that the relationship among Rotary Club members is not the kind of intimate or private relation that warrants constitutional protection," Powell

EVEN IF THE anti-discrimination law "does work some slight infringement on Rotary members' right of expressive association," he said, "that infringement is justified because it serves the state's compelling interest in eliminating discrimination against women." Justices Sandra Day O'Connor and Harry Blackmun did not take part in the case.

Blackmun and O'Connor's husband, John, are honorary members of the Rotary.

MONDAY'S DECISION was similar to a landmark ruling in 1984 in which the Supreme Court ruled that a Minnesota antidiscrimination law required the all-male Jaycees to accept women as members. More than 35 states have similar laws forbidding discrimination in "business establishments."

Rotery, International as worldwide discrimination in "business establishments."

Rotary International, a worldwide organization of businessmen, contended it was different from the Jaycees because it had a more selective membership policy and did not engage in any commercial activities. In 1982, there were 19,788 local clubs in 157 countries with a total membership of about 907,750.

ROTARY OFFICIALS declined immediate comment, but scheduled a news conference later in the day to react to the court's ruling. Bill Brooks, president of the Rotary Club of Duarte, Calif., which prompted the court case by admitting women, praised the ruling and said, 'Now we can get on with the business of being a Rotary club in the community.'

He predicted the decision 'will definitely increase the number of women Rotarians in the state of California and probably the rest of the world in time.'

Rotary International revoked the club's charter, prompting a lawsuit by the local club alleging the parent group's all-male policy violated the state's Unruh Act, forbidding sex discrimination in business establishments

The State

AND THIS.

IS A MATTER OF DEGREE

Your college degree is a move up. And now you can move up to a new car with pre-approved credit from Ford Credit and Marion Ford. If you are working on an advanced degree or graduating with a Bachelor's Degree between October 1, 1986 and September 30, 1987, you may qualify for this special college graduate purchase program. If you do, you'll receive a $400 cash allowance from Ford. Make your best deal on any qualifying vehicle and use the money toward your down payment, or Ford will send you a $400 check after the purchase or lease. The money is yours whether you finance or not.

Ford Motor Credit Company

The amount of your credit depends on which of these qualified vehicles you choose:

Mercury cars: Tracer, Lynx, Topaz, Cougar, Sable.

So hurry. If a vehicle is not in dealer stock you must order by June 1, 1987, and you must take delivery of any vehicle by August 31, 1987.

GET ALL THE DETAILS TODAY AT Marion Ford-Mercury Rt. 13 & I-57 993-2161 Marion, Ill.

Dear College Graduates

Vogler Motor Co. is happy to announce the College Graduate Purchase Program.

What does this mean to you? It means a new Ford or Mercury with no down nent, pre-approved financing, AND $400.00 cash !!!

What's the catch you ask?

- You must receive at least a Bachelor's Degree between October 1, 1986
- You have verifiable employment beginning within at least 120 days of your vehicle purchase
- Your salary will be sufficient to cover your usual living expenses and
- 4. Your credit record, if you have one, is in good standing

Vogler Motor Co., and Ford Motor Co. says you earned it. Come in and see us at 301 N. Illinois Ave.

The game marked the end of Erving's 16-year pro basketball care...—one of the finest in NBA history.
"I think the traditional thing to do is salute the winners, and regroup and think about the off-season," Erving said after the Milwaukee Bucks defeated the 75ers, 102-89 in the fifth and deciding again of their first.

the first inces been about the fifth and deciding game of their first-round NBA playoff series.

"For me, this will be a very, very long off-season. The longest one I've ever had."

"Knowing it's my last game, I just feel relieved," Erving added. "I've had a great career, a very productive career. I've made a lot of people happy during the course of my career and people have been absolutely wonderful to me throughout this season and throughout the wonderful to the introgenout the playoffs. I just feel as though I've been blessed in a special way and there's nothing to be sad about

During Erving's final postgame news conference, he was game news conference, he was interrupted by Milwaukee Bucks Coach Don Nelson, who hollered, "Yeah, you're the greatest, Doctor." Erving didn't miss a beat, politely answering, "Thank you, Nellie Congratulations. Good luck along the way."

The accolade from an opposing coach was typical of the way the entire NBA feels about Erving.

"In the history of sports, you any greater than won't get any greater than that," Nelson said of the m'n called 'Dr. J.'"

Going out with a loss was not easy for a player who had led teams to championships in both the NBA and the old ABA.
