The requirement for membership is a $2.00 fee which makes one an active member of the local F.T.A. chapter, a junior member of the N.E.A. from which you receive the Journal, and a Junior member of the I.E.A. from which you also receive the Illinois Journal. ## Special Assembly Broadcast Honors Team

SPECIAL TRAIN TO GAME PLANNED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

A special assembly was called last Monday by University president, Chester F. Lay, at which coaches congratulated the football team on their victory, November 14, and commemoation was given to Southern's acceptance of the Corn Bowl invitation for Thanksgiving Day.

At the end of the program, Dr. Lay announced that all faculty and students were dismissed for the remainder of the day.

The 11:30 portion of the program was broadcast over WCIL, Dr. Lay, Bill Price, Bill Price, Coaches Glen Martin, Leland Linglie, Harlan Hodges, and William Freeburg were introduced to give information concerning the team.

Master-of-ceremonies, Bill Price, introduced Dr. Lay who gave a rousing on the proceedings of the team. He announced that Southern had been accepted in the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Can Charter Special Train Dale Little reported that the University could charter a special train to make the trip to the Corn Bowl where Southern will play North Central College at Bloomington on Thanksgiving Day. Little stated that "it would be disappointing if only 125 students out of 2800 could make the trip."

Tickets will be sold for $1.20 and a train fare will be $5.30. It would take from $12 to $15 for the all-day affair.

Plan Large Parade The Corn Bowl is jointly sponsored by the American League and the 40 Hybrid Seed Corn companies of Illinois, and they are planning one of the largest parades in the state's history. It is to be seven miles long, with floats carrying a net $3000. The parade will be broadcast over NBC, which has an estimated 200 homes and 20 bands. The complete cost is an estimated one and a quarter million dollars.

Southern, undisputed champions in the I.A.C. will meet an equally tough team from North Central College, N.C.C., up until last week, was one of the nation's few undefeated teams, until Carthage College defeated them 12-6.

NEW ADDITION TO LIBRARY IS PAINTED

The new addition to the library has been painted and it is expected that the tables will be moved very soon, according to Miss Opal Stone, director of the University Library.

To make the library lighter and easier on the eyes it is being painted in a soft, light gray with the ceiling an off white, and the floors a light gray. The room where the periodicals are has been completed.

The librarians are now trying to get the periodicals in order after the disruption of the painting. The painters are painting on the third floor and finishing up the books on the first floor. Services in the library will be as usual although it will be very difficult at times, because of the painting.

FORMER CARTER'S SITE TO OPEN NEXT TERM

It was announced this week by Martin Chaney, co-manager of the former Carter's Cafe, that the establishment will open at the beginning of the winter term. Messrs. Martin Chaney and Gene Crawshaw, the new leasees are preparing to open the establishment to cater the establishment as a restaurant. Their lease has been in effect since November 6, 1947, but the chief obstacle to their reopening has been difficulties encountered in their attempts to install adequate heating facilities.

No Dancing Facilities to be available at the new enterprise will greatly resemble those of the former Carter's Cafe. The new operators intend to offer soda fountain as well as food service. All students, with no exceptions, will be welcomed as patrons of the new concern. It was also learned that dancing will not be permitted under the arrangement.

The new project will be subject to the health standards and regulations imposed by the University Health Department, here on campus; while maintenance will come under the jurisdiction of Dr. Phelps, director of the University physical plant. Matters of conduct will become the responsibility of the personnel deans here on campus; namely, deans Shuman and Hickey.

One of the stipulations of the lease is that in the event the University deems it necessary to reallocate this property to other uses it must notify the leasees at least nine months prior to the actual date of requisition.

The information was released by Edward V. Miles, Jr., of the University business office.

Ernest Wolfe Is Guest Speaker At Luncheon

Ernest Wolfe, chief of the Veterans' Guidance Center, was guest speaker at a Rotary luncheon held in Herrin on November 17.

Mrs. Chester F. Lay and Helen Shuman Attend Meeting

Mrs. Chester F. Lay and Helen Shuman attended a meeting of the Association of College Admission Councils at Highland Park on November 12, 13, and 14.

On the way home they stopped at Normal to attend the annual inventory of the Young Women's Christian Association.

At the noon luncheon, Mrs. Lay responded to the toast, "The Challenge Still Sounds Today."

North Central's Red Birds have lost but one game this year and are 1947 champions of the College Conference of Illinois. Their only defeat of the year was a 13-0 drubbing by Carthage last Saturday. The Red Bird riders are ably coached by Herb Hellman.

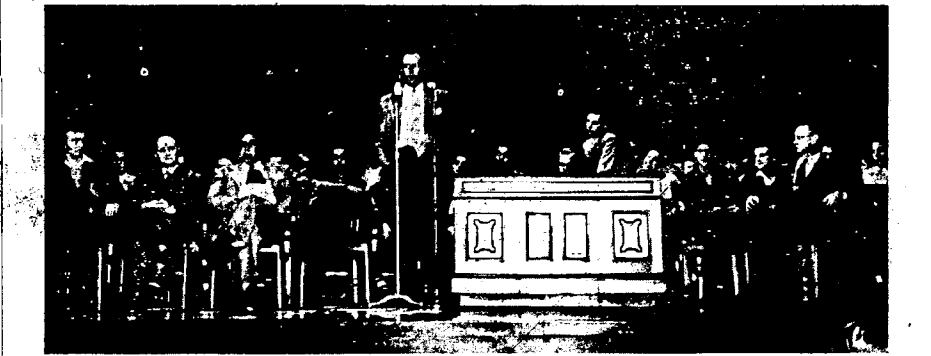

Although the Maroons do not have a record comparable to that of North Central they have a team that has shown great ability to rise to the occasion. Southern's line has been touted to be the best of all the opposition they have met this year and the backfield has grown stronger as the season has gone along until at this time they are able to play two backfields capable of exploding with lightning swiftness given the least opportunity. They have the versatile type of offense which operates with the characteristic surprise movement of the "I" formation.

Coach Glenn "Abie" Martin in a statement to students and the radio audience of WCIL last Monday said he believed his team to be better championship eleven than last Maroon champions of 1930. As evidence of the strength of the team coach Martin also said that at least two players of the team should be considered for little All-American recognition.

The bid to the bowl game came as a result of their decisive 33-13 victory over Eastern at McArdle stadium last Saturday. The invitation was received before the Eastern encounter and stated it would be effective if the Maroons won the game. After the victory had been posted the players were asked to vote their preference and the result showed they favored to play the post season game.

Due to the short school week (November 24 through 26), Thanksgiving week, and the following week of final examinations, this will be the last Egyptian issued this term.

That Turkey Day Train

Much has been said the past week about filling a special student train to journey to the Corn Bowl game at Bloomington on Thanksgiving Day. Also this week the question has been raised as to whether we will be able to sign up the minimum number of 126 students to warrant this train.

Here is one way to look at it. This year is the first year that such an event has ever been staged in the state of Illinois, and it might be well to add here that this is the first Bowl game to be established in the North Central States. From this point on, the eyes of Illinois and neighboring states are upon us—because Southern is going to be a part of this initial event, and we the students are Southern!

A challenge to our school spirit is now initiated. When Southern's team marches out on that Bloomington field, a stadium crowd of 20,000 persons and a radio audience of thousands more will be judging US! When before have we as a University had such an opportunity to display to so many what we are made of.

Southern's Maroons may be the first to be criticized for better or for worse, but our school spirit is not going to be a minor detail, and on this score we, as a University, cannot afford to be judged adversely.

There is only one way we can avoid this possibility of adverse criticism on our school spirit, and the answer lies in representation!

Three hundred tickets have been made available to us—can it be possible that less than one-tenth of our total enrollment will present themselves for a few hours out of a four-day vacation, to be entertained, to see a good football game, and to represent Southern in one of the biggest sports events the school has ever experienced? OUR TEAM IS GOING! OUR BAND IS GOING!—ARE YOU GOING?—D. G.

Writers' Column

Edited by Franklin Hamilton

Song the Peace
I watch the night come
I cry in my hands like a baby.
God, do not forget,
men have cried long.

I have seen men beaten down by hate, crushed, bitter, dragged with counterparts,
I have seen a ray of human kindness
they will rise . . .
(Christ, He is risen.)
Men have been telling me tales of defeat,
they say I am a dreamer
without sight,
yet I will not admit defeat.

They have made men afraid,
I'm fighting through the darkness.
I sob into your hair,
you cannot shake me out,
I have left the Christ-mark there,
come!

Poet of the Week
The stars sought refuge in the night,
naked they lay against the frameless sky
like the unclothed souls of men on your canvas.
—Robert Brooks, Washington U., St. Louis.

Diamonds are made
Down the stream beyond the shade
Where beneath the tree, the water runs clear,
Bearing off fugitive leaves whose beauty stops
at the mingling of sunshine and drops of cold creek water.
These jewels are had by seeing.
—Wayman Jones

Lets Ignore Your Mind

My intelligent roommate burst through the door, which was broken anyway, and bounded across the room knocking over an ash tray and a small stack of notices from the dean.

Meekly I put away my plastic bubble set, and faced my friend who was panting happily at my side and waving a piece of dirty paper in front of my finely chisled nose.

"Listen, youse," he said, and read in his very best broken English, an article he had found in a magazine while looking for a coke machine in a building that he thought was the woman's gym but had turned out to be the local library.

The article was a small news story about a newly discovered drug that was capable of raising the I. Q. of us humans.

"Think of dat," said my roommate chinning himself on the clothes rack, "Now I can be as intelligent & Barney Ross."

I thought about dat. In fact, I thought about dat so much I dreamed about dat. It was a horrible sort of dream that began with my roommate waking me up in Russian, telling me where his toothpaste was in Dutch, and telling me that my eyes were bloodshot in Chinese, and then it got worse. We were living in a world of sharpies. The equivalent of the knowledge usually picked up in four years of college could be purchased in a small bottle at the Corner drug store and retailed at seventy-five cents. Everyone knew everything, and darn it was dull. In a few years everyone had absorbed all existing knowledge and there was nothing left for them to do except stand in line to jump off high buildings.

As a local example of what was happening throughout the nation, a small freckled face kid about the size of a fire hydrant who lived in the north side of town has bought a chemistry set and blown up the south end of town and was currently casting dirty looks at Russia.

Finally the whole unpleasant thing ended, but I'm convinced something should be done about this menace to society so I have written a letter to the inventors suggesting that they send a small shot of this stuff to all those people who aren't one hundred per cent behind Southern's proposed plan for a Student Union building, and convert the rest of it into something practical like shaving lotion.

Outside and Inside

By Bill Pfister

There will be no news in this column this week. It is said that "No news is good news," and for once we want this column to be good.

Informality is the keynote in college men's styles now. Informality—that is when you wear a $30 sport coat, $20 slacks, a $10 shirt, $20 shoes, and you still look like a bum.

Southern college men are becoming so etiquette conscious that they tip their hat when they whistle at girls anyone.

Strange Facts: Did you know that—if all the packages of cigarettes, sold in Carbondale in one day, were placed on top of one another they would probably fall off. If all the plastic bubble fans in Carbondale were laid end to end, what difference would it make how far they would reach?

Inflation Note: An announcement made before dinner at a recent fraternity banquet—"We have no napkins at this dinner due to the high cost of living, but from time to time a woolly dog will pass among you."

Fashion Note: No girl should expect more out of a sweater than it puts into it.

Papers Signed For Release of New Buildings

Five temporary buildings last week were accepted by Southern Illinois University from the Federal Works Agency to be used as additional classroom, library and office space, says University President Chester P. Lay, has announced.

Papers relating the buildings to the University were signed by President Lay and E. A. Ashton of Chicago, district engineer for the Federal Works Agency, Bureau of Community Facilities, on Thursday of this week.

These buildings are all barracks located on the University after a survey made by the U. S. Office of Education showed an emergency need for 17,000 square feet of additional space in the area that the institution must adequately care for student veterans.

Awaiting Housing
The barracks have been converted into the buildings, one at addition to the Wheeler Library, one an office building on Harwood Street, and the other three, located on Chautauqua Street, to be used as classroom structures.

Groups of the classroom buildings must be deferred until heating and utility facilities can be installed. Specifications for this work is being authorized by the State Department of Architecture and Engineering, and bids are now being assembled for the construction of a boiler room, additional heating, steam, and utility facilities, according to Edward V. Miles, Jr., University business manager.

The library addition will be the first to be occupied, President Lay said, and added that students will probably get to study there for their final examinations this term. The office building will also be ready for occupancy soon, he added. Both of these structures are to be serviced by heating and utility facilities from the main campus lines, so can be utilized immediately.

Tau Delta Rho To Sponsor Speech Festival

For the second consecutive year, Southern Illinois University on December 6 will be host to Southern Illinois high school orators for the annual Speech Festival. Dr. P. M. Deville Larson, chairman of the speech department, has announced.

The festival will be sponsored by Tau Delta Rho, Southern district chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorific fraternities department, and the Southern speech department.

Events on the calendar for the festival will include oratorical, dramatic and humorous declamation, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, poetry reading, and group discussion.

Ben F. Watkins, acting chairman of the art department at Southern Illinois University, has been invited to become a member of the American Artists Professional League.

NOTES IN PASSING

Bill Price

Our appetites somewhat sated by one half peck of Jonathans and two dispanns of popcorn; the fire having been replenished with some hickory logs from the south forty, 21.20 for ten years. With respect upon the altruism inherent in the human animal. We have chosen as our second biographical sketch, a man with whom we must come to grips, and we shall do so with our usual gusto. We don't deny that our hero of today has done much to contribute to our present high standard of living. Doubtless his altruism in the early days of our material improvements of the 20th century, . . . none the less . . . here he is . . . THE BUSINESSMAN.

This altruist—in our line of biographical sketches . . . best personifies our age of gluttony . . . He ranges from that small time operator who dispenses bread and butter to the very best of the grocery, to that philanthropic organization who controls the organization of the largest corporations in the world. His is truly an altruistic motive. In a short of material gain enters his head. He is always thinking of you and I to the disadvantage of himself—his advertisements prove it for example.

Isn't he always aiming these ads at YOU? Won't his product make YOU more comfortable, happier and prosperous? Isn't he looking out for the best interests of himself? Doesn't he give you many items free of charge, if you will just try his product? Doesn't he give you many hours of entertainment and fun, if you will just try his product? Doesn't he give you many items free of charge, if you will just try his product? Doesn't he give you many hours of entertainment and fun, if you will just try his product? Doesn't he give you many items free of charge, if you will just try his product?

He would no more think of diluting his product to make more money in the sale of each unit, than he would think of putting a hand upon the scale to make more weight at the meat counter. He would no more think of false advertising than he would of getting into the drug laws, unfair profit, or asking exorbitant prices for his product—whether it be automobiles, clothing, refrigerators, or anything else. He would not ask for prohibitive tariffs to protect the senile and outmoded industries who can't stand the gaff of laissez faire . . . He doesn't try to get into the drug laws, unfair profit, or asking exorbitant prices for his product—whether it be automobiles, clothing, refrigerators, or anything else. He would not ask for prohibitive tariffs to protect the senile and outmoded industries who can't stand the gaff of laissez faire . . . He doesn't try to get into the drug laws, unfair profit, or asking exorbitant prices for his product—whether it be automobiles, clothing, refrigerators, or anything else.

Isn't this also the man who constantly preaches a governmental hand-off policy and returns of state control in government? His motive is not that his own corporation or functional group is stronger than any isolated State law might be, but that it would be more efficient to have a small group act on geographical sections of the nation—less expense and less cumbersome, you see—than all the state laws, and the way to force manipulation of stock markets—could it just possibly be that our altruist would take unfair advantage of the small farmer?

We wish we had the answer to this . . .

Isn't this also the man who constantly preaches a governmental hand-off policy and returns of state control in government? His motive is not that his own corporation or functional group is stronger than any isolated State law might be, but that it would be more efficient to have a small group act on geographical sections of the nation—less expense and less cumbersome, you see—than all the state laws, and the way to force manipulation of stock markets—could it just possibly be that our altruist would take unfair advantage of the small farmer?

There he is . . . number two of the group that is always looking out for the interest of the majority, rather than himself . . .

The arrangement of school grounds, play grounds, parks, streets, etc., are considered. Farmstead and farm arrangements are studied by those who are interested. Economy, efficiency and attractiveness are planned into a growing picture that should be useful and of interest to all. There are no prerequisites.

Bowl Bound Maroons Win IIAC Crown From Eastern

Southern Gridders Favored To Defeat Cape Girardeau In Saturdays Football Tussel

Southern's 1947 football season, exclusive of the post season Corn Bowl game, will draw to a close this coming Saturday afternoon. The Maroons will journey to the Missouri side of the Mississippi to meet the Cape Girardeau Indians in what may well develop into much more of a battle than many believe.

Cape's record this year is mediocre to say the least, but the Indians have been steadily improving. Last week the boys from the river city knocked off Springfield, Missouri, touted as the best in the MIAA conference, by a 13-0 score. Comparatively, Cape was badly mauled by Arkansas State 25-0, while SLL handed the same team a 12-7 setback. These figures plus the fact that Southern clinched the IIAC title only last week will undoubtedly make Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin's charges' top heavy favorites.

The Indians use the "T" formation with Bill Abernathy in the quarter back slot. Bill, although quite small is the spark plug of Cape's attack. Last week Abernathy accounted for both touch downs in the Indiana victory over Springfield, one of which was a 95 yard gallop following a pass interception. He is a fine ball handler and is also quite deft at tossing the pigskin whenever the situation presents itself. Operating at the left half position will be another fine back by the name of Galbreath. Galbreath is a fast shifty ball carrier who can get up and go once he reaches the open field.

The hardhitting Indian line will be weakened by the loss of their little American center, Ditz Anderson, who will be out of action as the result of a leg injury. At the end positions Cape has two fine players in Kimbro and Klesnerman, both of whom are big and rugged. These players bring the middle of the forward wall make up a formidable front line.

In all probability the Indians will be aiming for a replica of last week's upset victory; while Southern will be shooting for its sixth consecutive triumph and a sparkling semi-windup to a great season.

Basketball Squad Cut To Sixteen

The number of candidates for the varsity basketball team has been reduced to 16 due to the week end cut by coach Lynn Holder.

The remaining candidates are: Sheriff, J. Goss, C. Goss, Long, Beatty, Oxford, Belatti, Pasiah, Grater, McKay, Towers, Pasiah, Kimmel, McFarland, Hill and Cargal. Shoaf and C. Goss are letter winners from last year.

The basketball candidates of the football squad will report at the close of the gridiron season.

CHAMPIONS IN ACTION

On The Trail Of Sports

by Fenton Harris

Another all-conference candidate has appeared in the last few games Southern has played in the personage of Joe Hughes, a Southern end. Hughes has developed into a really outstanding player in the conference. He started slow this year but at this time is one of the Maroon's most valuable cogs in their championship style of play.

Last Saturday against Eastern Hughes exhibited his versatility by performing with outstanding success on both offense and defense. According to assistant football coach Harlan Hodges the play of halfback George Sawyer was as good as any All-American he has seen. Certainly the passing of Bill Malinsky was great. It was a very fitting way for Malinsky to bow out of conference play for Southern.

Judging from the smile worn by tackle and team captain William Mathison he gets more of a kick from scoring than keeping the opposition from scoring. If we remember correctly Mathieu also scored a touchdown last year.

Joe McLafferty of the cross-country team won five straight firsts in the meets this year. McLafferty is a freshman and this is his first experience as a cross-country runner. Last year he took second in the Illinois State mile run. He didn't finish his last race because of a "charlie horse."

On a basis of play so far this year we think the boys, Heli Callahan and Jim Lovin are material for the little All-American. Also to be considered for this coveted team would be guard Heli Elluldrige, Colton and Edwards. Lovin has been consistently outstanding all year while Hughes started slowly but has developed into one of the best ends we have seen in the little All-American game. The other three plus Bill Malinsky in our estimation should undoubtedly be on the All-Conference eleven.

In last week's issue of the Egyptian there appeared in this column the names of three players who were unjustly punished and that the action of the Murphysboro player should be considered in regard to his selection on the All-State team. This paragraph has been in print in the Murphysboro Independent and was followed by the remark that they were glad we didn't take sides or the Murphysboro player would have been in jail. What they evidently forgot is we stated we weren't PREVIOUSLY prejudiced. Maybe we should look at it this way—there is no difference in rendering any kind of judgment in regard to players or anyone else taking part in the game. The nervous strain affects the participants and the difference that it does the bystanders. Maybe all the writers should consider this—However as long as the majority do not do this the rest will also express their opinion in regard to such matters. Considering this maybe we should all be in jail but we still can't change our opinion.

'B' Team Plays Washington To 6-6 Tie

A fourth quarter touchdown pass from Pat Kelly, quarterback of Murphysboro, to Don Cross-fallback of Christopher, enabled the Southern Maroon "B" squad to tie the Washington U. "B" team 6-6 at McAndrew stadium, Monday afternoon before about 500 chilled fans.

The Bears scored on the initial play of the second quarter, when they blocked a punt on the Southern two and fell on the loose ball in the end zone.

Both teams took to the air of ten despite the cold weather making fingers aching but nimble. This game closes the "B" squad schedule with a win, two losses, and a tie.

ISU To Sponsor All-School Christmas Dance

Independent Student Union is sponsoring an all-school Christmas dance, according to Jim Cannon, publicity chairman. The dance will be held December 12. Final arrangements as to orchestra and price are being made.

Southern Elected To NCAA Membership

Southern has been elected to membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association, President Lat announced at the special assembly last Monday. President Lat pointed out that the NCAA membership did not come as the result of the winning of the IIAC football championship, but merely because Southern's athletic program has met the standards of the association.

Sawyer Stars In Decisive 33-13 Victory; Conference Win Is First Since 1930

A four-year dream came true Saturday afternoon at McAndrew Stadium as the Southern Illinois University Maroons won their first Illinois Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference crown in the seventeen year old history of the conference by winning from Eastern State, College of Charleston by a score of 33-13.

The Maroons had been beaten out of the first place honors the past three years by narrow margins, but this year, the first under the supervision of a university status, they defeated all comers in the conference with the exception of a tie with Normal. The win was a climax of Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin's ten year service as head mentor in football. He had been striving to win since he became football coach in '38 but until this year he had to take a second place rating or less.

The entire Southern Squad played their best game of the season. They could run, block, kick, and their defense was superb. Except for a few times early in the first quarter, they played truly like a championship team.

Eastern Scores First
A long run from a pass four minutes after the game started surprised the fans and the Maroons when it gave the Eastern Panthers their first score of the contest. Russell Green caught the pass from Chuck Boyle on the 4th and raced, broken field, 60 yards through Maroon tacklers for the alley. The extra point kick was good and Eastern led 7-0.

Southern struck back in the same quarter on their turn at the ball. George Beltz of Marion, caught the kickoff on his five and ran to the 29 before he was brought down. Bill Malinsky of Florida heaved a long pass to George Sawyer of Woodriver which Sawyer caught with outstretched arms and stumbled to the 15 yard line. The play was good for 56 yards. Three plays later, Joe Hughes of West Frankfort scored on an end around play. Evie McGinnis of Carbondale kicked the extra point and the ball game was tied. From that time on, Southern's superiority was never questioned for they had complete charge of the afternoon's proceedings.

Sawyer Scores Twice
In the same first quarter, Sawyer intercepted an Eastern pass on the Southern 25 and raced to Eastern's 38 but the Maroons could not score. In the second frame, a Malinsky Sawyer pass was good for 30 yards to the Eastern 15 and two plays later, Sawyer crossed the angle stripes for Southern's second first half touchdown. Sawyer scored again before the first half ended after Malinsky passed to Hughes from the 40 to the 4 and from there Sawyer scored on a line back. At the half, Southern led 19-7.

Hughes scored on another end around in the third period. Sawyer received a lateral from Malinsky and trotted 41 yards to the 3 and Hughes scored from there. On the attempt for the extra point, Bay-singer holding for McGinnis, faked the hold and passed to Hughes for the point. Southern 27; Eastern 7. That was all the scoring for either team in the 3rd quarter. Fifteen seconds after the final period started, Charles Mathieu of Eldorado and captain of the Maroons, recovered an Eastern fumble behind the goal and Southern had their last td of the game. McGinnis' kick was good. Southern led 33-7.

Mathieu passed their way deep in Southern territory and Smithie scored on a double lateral from Habb to Adam to Smith for the final tally of the game.

Looking At High School Sports

The football schedules are about all played out. The only remaining games are being played this Friday night and Thanksgiving Day. Last week's results found Central whipping Wheaton 13 to 6. A surprised Harrisburg team walked away tied by a previously upstart St. Carmel eleven. It was a high scoring game in which 19 points came was the final total. At Zeigler, one of the sloppiest teams ever witnessed by the Franklin county audience (200 shivering) in two inches of mud (at the shallowest) found the Purple Tornadoes squashing the Johnson Indians in the quarter nine 20 to 0. Bob Neal, a 260 pound senior, played his final high school game, but it undoubtedly won't be the last football for him as he was named to the varsity on Friday night's performance. The triple threat kicked an average of twenty-six yards in the mud, completed an exceptional number of passes considering the weather, and averaged almost five yards per rush.

Outstanding Players
It would be a difficult task for us to name all the many talented and outstanding players throughout this area. Do not feel that we have left out some because of prejudice or we feel authorized to name such, however, we were unable to attend all the games played, although we would have been pleased to do so. As we were able to see a limited number this is who we believe outstanding:
