Homecoming Queen And Class Officers Election Today

POLLS WILL BE OPEN UNTIL 3 O'CLOCK
ACTIVITY TICKETS NECESSARY FOR IDENTIFICATION

Vote today! The polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. and the ballot boxes will be placed between Old Main and the Library. Activity tickets will be necessary for identification.

M. J. Gingrich who last week was considered ineligible for the sophomore presidency has been announced as eligible for the office. Also, Tommy Williams has voluntarily withdrawn from the contest for sophomore president.

YOUR VOTE, PLEASE!!

No government, student or otherwise, can be called a democracy unless the individuals who make up that government exercise their individual rights to express their choice of candidates for various offices. No person has the right to expect his desires to be put into practice unless he takes advantage of the opportunity to choose those officers who will carry out these principles.

Southern students are urged to vote so that the elections today will be truly democratic. The voice of the majority is a democratic one, and only through democracy can a just government be obtained. Be sure that YOU vote in the elections today.

NEW BAND UNIFORMS ON DISPLAY FIRST TIME IN HOMECOMING PARADE
New 65 Piece Marching Band Will Use Both Men and Women

The S. I. N. U. band's striking new uniforms will be on display at the Homecoming football game. This year for the first time the 65-piece marching band will consist of both boys and girls. Their uniforms will be military style, maroon single-breasted coats with gold buttons and white leather belts, and maroon trousers and skirts. The four pockets on the coat are trimmed in gold braid. On the sleeve is "Southern" embroidered in gold. From the shoulder will drape white cotton cord. Around the end of the sleeve down the trouser leg, and down the sides of the skirts is a narrow light gray band with a gold braid. The caps are banded with a gold band also bound in gold.

Leaders Uniforms

Mr. Bone, director of the band, and George Pfeiffer, drum major, will wear less-military uniforms of white woolen khaki with full gold braid. The band's drum major will wear a maroon velvet dress made with a full short skirt which is lined with white satin. The other eight drum majors will be attired in white uniforms trimmed with maroon-military jackets, short flared skirts, and white boots. They will wear maroon and white flags.

These new $250 uniforms have been partially paid for by the enthusiastic cooperation of the students, each paying a 30 cent imposed fee. However, there is still a deficit of several hundred dollars. The band hopes to raise part of this money by presenting a concert sometime during the second week of December.

GAMMA DELTA INITIATES SEVEN MEMBERS SUNDAY

Gamma Delta, the Lutheran student organization on our campus, initiated seven new members at the Chapter meeting last Sunday evening. Those who were initiated and taken into memberships were: Mary Matthes of Hartsville, Miss Ruth of Centralia, Mae Rose Fisher of Salem, Esther Brunstaud of Mazonville, Dorothy Glahn of Evansville, Arnold Wendt of Red Bud, and Leonard Fisk of Murphysboro.

After the initiation a business meeting was held. The following officers were elected for the school year: president Walter Menke, vice-president Emer Ziegler, recording secretary Verma Degener, treasurer Arnold Wendt, and corresponding secretary Mae Rose Fisher.

A delegation of five Southern Illinois Normal University students, headed by Dr. Orville Alexander, this week extended a personal invitation to Governor Dwight Green to attend the 1941 S.I.N.U. Homecoming festivities. The students who talked with Governor Green in Springfield Tuesday were Grace Twitty, Mary Lou Hampton, and Mrs. Mary E. Ball, Horrell, and Wesley Reynolds.

Extend invitation

Governor Green, described as being extremely handsome with slightly graying hair, welcomed the delegation most cordially and graciously stated that he was very pleased that the students from S.I.N.U. had come to him personally and expressed his sincere desire to attend Homecoming if his calendar would make it possible for him to do so. Upon being introduced to the students, he was introduced to each member of the committee and expressed his pleasure at having met student representatives from Southern Illinois Normal University.

The delegation left Carbondale Tuesday morning at 7:30 and arrived in Springfield by 11:00. When admitted to the chief state secretary's office, the group extended to him a written invitation to Homecoming festivities on the campus.

The entire Homecoming committee is quite enthusiastic about the possibility of entertaining Governor Green. Some of the guests at this year's celebration.

Homecoming

Homecoming is the greatest tradition of S.I.N.U. Every year since its establishment, the Homecoming committees have worked to make Homecoming a bigger and better event for Southern Illinois. The festivities providing the two days of celebration is not to be found at any other time during the year at Southern and is eagerly anticipated by students, alumni, and citizens of Southern Illinois alike. Every student is urged and expected to be present for the celebration, in part only those who do not know what Homecoming is all about would ever miss this festive period. The invitation to Governor Green is indicative of the expectation of the college to make this Homecoming the greatest and best ever held on Southern's campus.

PLANS NOW UNDER CONSIDERATION FOR ART COLLECTION

Shryock Leads Committee In Cataloging Original Paintings And Life Sketches of Artists

The faculty committee cooperating with the Illinois Art Project, W. P. A., has recommended to President Pullman that a fund of at least $500 be set aside annually for the purchase of paintings, sculpture, crafts, and other works of art to constitute a permanent S.I.N.U. collection.

The committee is planning for the eventual establishment of a suitably furnished gallery for the display of the campus collection and traveling exhibits.

Mr. Burnett Shryock, chairman of the committee, is preparing a catalogue of all the original paintings now being displayed on the campus including a biographical sketch of each artist and a brief critical estimate of the work.

Lansing Hatfield, Young American Baritone, Will Open Cooperative Concert Series At S.I.N.U. Tonight

Lansing Hatfield, young baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, will open the cooperative concert series tonight, at 8 o'clock when he appears in Shryock Auditorium under the auspices of the Cooperative Concert Association.

For the next four years Hatfield climbed steadily, averaging finally some fifty concert engagements a season. For the American Lyric Theatre he took leads in The Devil and Daniel Webster and Susanna and played in Showboat at Randall's Island.

He flew over 5,000 miles last year in order to keep his concert engagements and yet appear for the New York preliminaries, semi-finals, and finals of the Metropolitan contest.

Truly a product of this country, Hatfield has been described as "a typically young American" . . . of a typically American family . . . who has never been outside of the United States.

- His program for tomorrow evening will consist of the following selections:
- I. Thanks Be To Thee . . . Handel
  - How Deep The Sorrow of the Floods . . . Loeve
  - The Sailor's Life (Old English) . . . H. Lane Wilson
  - Der Wanderer . . . Schubert
  - Pesereise . . . Wolf
  - The Omnipotence . . . Schubert
  - Ora: Quand la flamme de l'Amour, from "La Joie" . . . Bizet
  - Etie de Perth . . . Blot
  - Piano solo by Mr. Allen, accompanist:
    - Prelude in A minor . . . Debussy
    - Two Preludes . . . Gershwinn
    - Pilgrim's Song . . . Tschakowsky
    - Silence the Cellarer . . . Hatton
    - Silent Noon, Vaughan Williams
    - A Song of Liberty . . . J. Bertram Fox
    - American Folk Songs:
      - He's jes' de same today (Negro Spiritual) . . . Burleigh
      - Stee! Away (Negro Spiritual) . . . J. Burleigh
      - Mr. Hall Johnson
      - The Little Marcher (North Carolina mountain song) . . . Marshall Bartholomew
      - The Cleudy Durk . . . Stephen Foster

Lansing Hatfield has been widely acclaimed for his concert, opera, and radio performances. In 1939, he sang in our Municipal Opera productions and then returned the following summer to star in "Rio Rita" and "Apple Blossoms." He has sung stellar roles in several Broadway productions in recent years. In May, 1938, he was guest artist with Grace Moore on the Chesterfield Hour after having made several previous appearances on the "Hammerstein Music Hall" program. Radio listeners heard him several times last season on the Chase & Sanborn hour.

At the present time Mr. Hatfield is being groomed for the movies. The artist first began earning his living by music when he quit a job as salesman for a knitting company and began singing at a cocktail bar at night and in a church on Sundays.

From there he went to Edna Dunchin's radio program and thought nothing of it when the Metropolitan Auditions refused even to put him on the air in 1936.

CHILD GUIDANCE CLINIC TO MEET HERE WEDNESDAY

Local Staff To Be Assisted During Session By Johnson, Jameson, and Kendrick

The Southern Illinois Normal University Bureau of Child Guidance will conduct its quarterly Child Guidance Clinic on the Southern Campus next week, October 22, 23, and 24. Miss Augusta Jameson, Dr. Adelaide Johnson, and Miss Mary Alice Kendrick from the Chicago Institute for Juvenile Research will participate in the clinic.

Service Agency

The Bureau of Child Guidance is one of the service agencies of the college. It was introduced about six years by President Roscoe Pullman and represents a cooperative enterprise between the college and the Chicago Institute for Juvenile Research which provides for the public schools and to preserve and in-service teachers. Ever since its origin the Bureau of Child Guidance has been increasing its responsibilities to teacher-preparation.

To find additional ways of relating activities of the Bureau to teacher-education is one of the problems about which the Bureau is concerning itself at the present time. Any one interested may secure a copy of these plans from the Bureau.

Only those children for whom previous arrangements have been made will be brought to the October clinic. Teachers or parents having children whom they would recommend for study may send their requests to the director of the Bureau who will make the necessary arrangements at a later time.

New Records

A new record booklet for the purpose of collecting data regarding the child who is brought to the clinic has been introduced. It is also used as a record by the staff and in-service teachers who are trying to improve their understanding of children.

College Staff

The college staff consists of several psychologists, two physicians, a clinician, a personnel worker, two social workers, a college nurse, an orthopedic field nurse, a nurse, or representatives from the training school. The staff from the Chicago Institute for Juvenile Research, consists of Dr. Adelaide Johnson, psychiatrist; Mrs. Augusta Jameson, psychologist; Miss Mary Alice Kendrick, psychiatric social worker.

The plans for this clinic offer various opportunities for child study, to supervisors of the training school, to student-teachers, to other college students, and to faculty members who may be interested.

The following is a copy of the program for the October clinic:

If any campus organization has some Homecoming activity that they would like to have published in the Homecoming Calendar which will appear in the November issue of the Southern Alumnus magazine, please notify Alice Di Giovanni before noon Monday, October 20.

COLLEGE FILM SERVICE

The Film Library has received this last week a complimentary copy of the film KNOW YOUR MONEY, a 20 minute sound film, which was produced by the U. S. Treasury Department. This film is now permanent property of the Library and is available for showing on the campus.

The film first tells how the Treasury building came to be built while Andrew Jackson was president of the United States, and we are shown the building from several angles.

A map of the U. S. shows how the country is divided into districts by the Secret Service. We learn that 2 of the duties of this service are to protect the president of the U. S. and to suppress counterfeiters.

The film goes on to show how to detect counterfeit bills, coins and checks, shows how money is made and shows how the Secret Service goes about the capture of counterfeiters.

Technical Staff Begins Work On Homecoming Play Set

With only three weeks left before the performance of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," this year's Little Theatre Homecoming play, the technical staff is already well underway with the preparation of the set. Practising passing the southwest side of the campus last Saturday found a large number of technicians busily washing flats and removing wall paper from sets used on previous occasions. The work proceeding under the direction of Robert Link, head technician, who will be remembered by his striking pictorialization of the fantastic mountain scene in "High Tor."

Anyone attending the performance of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," cannot help but be impressed by the vast amount of work required of the technical staff. Such properties as a highly trimmed Christmas tree, wound in themselves take the ingenuity and energy of a trained staff.

The organization of the technical staff for the Homecoming play is as follows:

- Point crew: Bob Link, chairman, Esther Mary Ayers, Clifford Sperry, Wanda Carter, Geneva Galavaya, Kenneth Carroll, Vesta Corzine, John Crichton, Sandy Peat, John Ellis, Dorothy Vaupel.
- Construction: Norma Morion, chairman, Millicent Payne, Carl Batson, Hannah Jose, Marshall Plyland, Ed Lu-Pere, William Tatum.
- Electricians: Ted Sanders, chairman, Bob Kermack, George Senley.
- Sound: Norma Morion, chairman, Pat McSherry, George North, Marshall Plyland.

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF
By MORRIS POLAR

MR. HUTCHINS AND THE WAR

There are still to be found in our midst, cynical or blindly naive people who pose that persistent query: "What are we fighting for?" Unfortunately, the answers such people get are often more prone to bewilder and disgust than to enlighten and inspire. On the one hand, they are told that "this is another chapter of the same old "European War"; on the other, they are blindly assured that the chief war aim is the establishment of an altogether perfect world order. The basic fallacies in these two extreme points of view prompt the observation that they are, in the words of the famous Mr. Dooley, as far apart as the poles and as much alike. Neither of these concepts as to the nature of the present conflict are the outgrowth of disclosed, realistic thinking.

For what, then, are we fighting? I submit that a simple and eloquent answer to this question may be given in one word of nine letters. The word is FREEDOM. We may speak of war aims in terms of a world federation of nations, the Atlantic Charter, or even the "four freedoms," but freedom is the essence of them all. For life, with freedom is what ever man cares to make it; without it, life is nothing. Recently, for the first time since the war's outbreak, I saw an article containing a wholly satisfying statement as to "what we are fighting for." The writer of the article was Marjorie Samuels, author of the recent best-selling book, The Great Hatred. Mr. Samuels' words are:

"What we must understand in that we are not fighting an impossible messianic struggle; we are fighting for the opportunity to resume the solution of human problems; what totalitarianism seeks is to harden the world into a mold in which no problems exist; what we seek is to prevent the thrusting of the world into such a mold." There it is, simple, free from cant and worthy of adoption as the official war aim of the democracies. For, patently, the "opportunity to resume the solution of human problems" is one which only free men can be

President Hutchins of the University of Chicago, a man, be it noted, of the highest intellectual and moral integrity, believes that the United States will be able to carry on the solution of human problems regardless of the war's outcome. For this reason he would oppose American intervention in the event that direct new world assistance becomes necessary to defeat Hitler. Although Mr. Hutchins regard totalitarianism "wrong in practice, evil in theory, and incompatible with the rights of man," he has convinced his disciplined mind that American democracy can thrive and can save humanity, even in an almost wholly Hitlerized world. Mr. Hutchins is wrong. The idea that democracy can thrive in a vacuum is, of course, fallacious. The Hutchins vision of a magnificent "museum of American Democracy"—a kind of oasis in the midst of great spiritual wastes of desert—is not in keeping with the broader Hutchins philosophy of the "good life" of the "white" and the "talent" of the "highest powers of man." Certainly Mr. Hutchins, of all people, does not believe that man can or ought to live in a museum. Man's habit is the earth, not mere "the Western Hemisphere" and, then, does Mr. Hutchins propose to secure the "talent" possible development of the highest powers of man if free men are perforce isolated in one section of the planet?

However, since freedom is the keynote of this article, let us use it as our criterion. We must realize that a victorious Hitler would automatically enslave us, that slavery has forged other than physical servitude. When man loses freedom of action, freedom of decision, he may be said to be enslaved. Precisely these losses would follow for us in the event of a Hitler triumph. Our whole society's structure would, of necessity, be converted into a defense mechanism. Our every act and deed would be dictated and influenced by considerations of their effect on Hitler's world. We would have to "get tough" (how does that sound to Mr. Hutchins' ears) and dispense with such non-essentials as spiritual and moral development. We would, in short, become fascist ourselves.

As an educator, as the head of a liberal arts university, Dr. Hutchins has always been something of an anomaly for the simple reason that he, himself, is educated and a believer in the great tradition of the liberal arts. By his own stand Robert M. Hutchins has placed himself in another anomalous situation. For the liberal arts, literally speaking, are the arts which make free the minds of men. Mr. Hutchins has played the "liberal" card false by using them to render himself "morally impotent" and potentially antithetical.

This includes the University of Illinois, the University of Minnesota, the Illinois Branch and Rural training schools. Members of the Bureau and of the Department of Education are also invited to take part. The program is to be of a rather spontaneous nature, briefly problems which have arisen in the school room. This will be followed by comments from the staff. The discussion will not be for the purpose of diagnosis nor necessarily for the giving of an immediate solution of the problem but for the aspect of aiding all of us in developing a clearer insight with respect to the ways in which we might get at the problem. What further understandings should we have in order to get at the diagnosis and solution of the problem, this will be a major point of consideration.

SOCRATIC NEWS

Never let it be said that a little wet weather can dampen the spirits of the great thinkers on the campus. Last Wednesday night approximately 100 brave souls ventured forth to Giant City park for the annual fall outing of the Socratic Literary Society. They were amply rewarded for their bravery by an abundance of food, with perhaps the exception of marshmallows. Spontaneous group singing followed, in which all enthusiastically took part.

A hearty welcome is extended to all to attend the regular meeting next Wednesday night in the Little Theatre. A Socratic song will be chosen at that time.
