Smoke Rings

EVERYONE A SALESMAN

Would you like to be a salesman? No! You say you were never very good at selling and develop a sudden case of the "heebee jeebies" every time you try. Aye, that is just a crock of homogenized malarky. You are a good salesman, and so are practically everybody else. Even the most timid milksteak in school has his share of selling to do.

Take, for instance, that date you had with Betty Co-Ed last week. Didn't you have to "sell" her on the idea that you had the best assortment of good looks, personality, good humor, and all-around fun-making of any other man on campus?

And how about this officer's position you have in one of your clubs. Weren't you elected simply because you sold the club members a bill which read something like this, "I am the most competent person you can get to fill this position at the present time. I have the knowledge of our organization and am well known liked by all the members that I can get work done better than any other candidate for office." Of course you didn't say that in so many words, but that was what you had to make, the club members believe before they would elect you.

POP HAD TROUBLES

Persons on the outside of school have more than their share of selling before their lives run out. For example, let's consider your father. One of the best sales he ever made took place when he sold your mother on the idea that he was the best possible mate she could find. He had to convince her he had adequate capital to feed and clothe her 60 or 70 kids, that his personality would harmonize well with her own temperament, and that he was well worth the pains of child birth and the lifetime of toil she would have to undergo if she married him.

Your mother too had to sell your father on the idea that she would be a pleasant, life-long companion, a good mother, and the best possible partner he could find in this game of life.

So you think you are not a salesman. Pardon us if we seem to be a bit skeptical. We feel that you and all of your fellow students have stacked up an endless number of successful sales merely by climbing as high as the college level in education.

A far-sighted student has suggested that homecoming be held in the middle of summer from now on. This being a usual dry season, the farmers would be assured of getting rain for their crops.

Buy to windshield: I put it all over you that time!

Windshield to Bug: I'll bet you haven't got the guts to do it again.

We heard of a coed who lost her hat and didn't find it until the next day when she combed her hair.

A miser grows rich by seeming poor. An extravagant man grows poor by seeming rich.

Congratulations to Eastern Illinois State College on their Golden Jubilee anniversary. Editors of the Eastern State News are to be commended on a superb homecoming edition, printed on golden tinted paper.

hostess to the group and presided at the meetings.

To open the conference, President D. W. Morris extended greetings to the group of representatives from various high schools and libraries in Southern Illinois.

Following the welcoming address, Clyde Winkler, superintendent of the Carbondale city schools, spoke on "Enriched Curriculum in the Elementary Schools," and Dr. Claude J. Dykhouse, associate professor in education, discussed "Enriched Curriculum in the High School."

Lunch At Cafeteria

After opening remarks by Miss Vera Goessling, librarian at the Centralia Township High School, the meeting was adjourned for lunch at the college cafeteria.

Speakers at the afternoon session were Dr. D. A. Ingle, supervisor of audio-visual aids service; Miss Helena Rogers, assistant physical education instructor; and Miss Zella Conard, assistant reference librarian and instructor in librarianship, who discussed "Training for Librarianship in 1948."

Following Mrs. Cundall's talk, the group divided into secondary and elementary sections, to hold a panel discussion which ended the day's activities.

Foreign Language Instructors Speak

Two members of Southern's foreign language department faculty gave talks to groups outside of Carbondale last week.

Dr. Vera L. Peacock, chairman of the department, spoke Saturday to a meeting in Urbana of the Illinois chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French.

Dr. Peacock was president of the organization in 1937-38 and again from 1942 to 1948. At the present time, she is one of the three members of the advisory committee.

Miss Patricia Stahlheber, French and Spanish teacher here, spoke to the Marion A. L. W. on Oct. 13. For her subject, she chose "Education Today in Guatemala." She spent the past summer attending the University of San Carlos in Guatemala City and stayed with a Guatemalan family while she was there.

Transfer Can Be Made Only After Term Completion

It was inadvertently reported in the October 7 issue of the EGYPTIAN that veterans wishing to transfer to another college or university for the second semester would be able to register for classes at Southern before completion of the first semester. The statement should have read that veterans wishing to transfer for the second semester may not register for completion of a regular term.

MISS SMITH GETS AWARD FOR HIGH SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Madeline Smith, a member of Southern's foreign language department who is now on leave, recently shared the W.P. prize from French with a young Frenchman.

Miss Smith has been working on a doctor's degree at Yale university and received the W.P. award of $100 in books—was awarded to the ranking scholars among the first year graduate students at the university.

HOME COMING

those aptly named individuals who were not on any float or house decoration committee. For those less fortunate individuals who had barely gotten by that evening Carbondale looked like a miniature Mardi Gras. The house decorations this year displayed a great amount of ingenuity and talent.

And as one fellow asked of the floats, the winner of homecoming. Another natural was the Normandy with their two story figures of "Snake Eye, the Gambler" and "Tom, the Honest John."

Friday night almost everyone changed from their working clothes to their "laid up" and went to see the little "Theatre production of 'Kiss and Tell'."

Rain began.

Saturday morning much to everyone's disgust, rain weather turned a dump shower upon Carbondale, and the rain came pouring down. The WAA varsity-alum hockey game turned into a basketball game with the usual winning by three points. At twelve o'clock everyone found himself in a dump street corner and watched and waited for the parade. A few of the floats could not enter because of the weather, but the majority managed to arrive. After the parade, the crowd moved to the stadium to see the football game. About fifteen minutes before game time, the dark and threatening sky poured down more rain. Most timid souls rushed to shelter, but some sat and waited for the rain to cease. At half-time President Morris greeted the spectators and presented the awards to the winners.

Climax

Saturday night was the climax of the entire week end. That night all the girls picked their formalisms to keep them out of the mud and ran to the gym for the big dance. At eleven o'clock the celebration took place. Orrin Tucker supplied the music for the dance.

Now that this year's homecoming is gone, we can all say "Wait until 1949. It will be even bigger and better."

Comics Get Their Face Washed

With the advent of the comic magazine upon the newsstands of the country, there arose a storm of criticism from educators, ministers, parent teacher associations, and other persons who feared that the magazines were going to be the ruin of our younger generation. They each charged that the reading of these magazines by children, suggested crime and various other sorts of waywardness. Advocates of the comic magazines see them as a means of increasing the vocabulary of the child, and as providing mild, inexpensive entertainment, keeping the reader from mischief. Whichever one was right; at last it seems that the question is going to be settled.

Within the next few months, the magazines are to undergo strict censorship and either adhere to a code of ethics or be eliminated. To the delight of every American youngster, they will get to read their comics shamelessly, and the adults can relax without fear that their child is on the road to doom by his drinking in pages of the page of what has now become a juvenile institution. Here in part is the code, established by the Association of Comics Magazine Publishers, which should settle all arguments.

(1) Crime should not be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy against law and justice or to inspire others with the desire for imitation. No comics shall show the details and methods of a crime committed by a youth. Policemen, judges, government officials, and respected institutions should not be portrayed as stupid or ineffective, or represented in such a way as to weaken respect for established authority.

(2) No scenes of sadistic torture shall be shown.

(3) Sexy, wanton comics should not be published. No drawing should show a female indecency or unduly exposed, and in no event more exposed than in a bathing suit commonly worn in the U. S. A.

(4) Vulgar and obscene language should never be used. Slang should be kept to a minimum and used only when essential to the story.

(5) Divorce should not be treated humorously nor represented as glamorous or alluring.

Hiccup of or attack on any religious or racial group is never permissible.

Comic magazine production is scheduled months in advance so the regulatory machinery will have to begin functioning as quickly as possible in order that results may be reflected in the publications at the earliest possible date. The only thing that we can see about a deal like this is that it is going to destroy an old college debate question titled "Are the comics harmful to children?" B. P.

Maroons Drive Deep Into Hoosier Territory

Sycamores from Terre Haute try to keep the Martinmen from scoring from the 5; pictured in the lineup are Galen Davis and Bob Neal.

Maroons Slushed by Western; Neal Shows Great Promise

With their fourth quarter rally falling short, the Southern Maroons dropped their homecoming game to the Western Leathernecks on a rain-drenched field at McAndrews Stadium last Saturday afternoon, 18-7.

After having their offense stopped for three quarters the Martinmen, spiked by Bob Neal, hard running freshman from Zeiger drove 43 yards to pay dirt midway in the final period. The Frosh halfback bucked over, and Bret McGinnis covered. Neal carried the ball 15 out of 16 plays on this march. With five minutes to play, Western began their final threat, which was stopped on the Western's five yard mark.

Come Back Too Late

Late in the first quarter, the Leathernecks woke up the punting duel between Fred Drenzel of Southern and Francis Melnerney of Western, when right end Jim Reis intercepted a lateral from Southern's quarterback Bill Fly and raced 10 yards to score. The try for conversion failed.

The visitors scored again in the second period, when Bob Jones, Western's halfback, broke through the Southern line and sprinted 73 yards for a tally. The Leathernecks' Negro star Ronnie Jackson plunged over for the extra point. After a scoreless third quarter, the Martinmen's attack, which sorely missed George Sawyer, ineligible halfback, began to roll, but the comeback was too late.

Neal accounted for 108 yards of Southern's 224 yards gained by pushing in his 30 tries with the ball.

The wet weather held both teams on the ground as only one pass was tried all afternoon. This being an incomplete toss by South-

McLafferty Again Leads Maroon Pack To Country Tape

Joe McLafferty, of Carbondale, continued his winning ways Saturday as the Maroon cross-country squad splashed out a 20-35 victory over the Western Illinois Leathernecks in a meet that was run off at halftime of the Southern-Western football game. McLafferty, in pacing Leland P. "Doc" Lippie's charges to their initial win, remained undefeated in cross-country competition since his enrollment at S. I. U. last fall. However, freshman Phil Coleman, of Carbondale, finished a strong second and it appears that if McLafferty is to suffer a defeat, it will come from Coleman. Ray Palmer, Belleville and Ed Miller, Carbondale, finished fourth and fifth respectively and either of this duo is capable of upsetting Joe before the conclusion of the harrier season. Placing eighth was a newcomer to the squad, Art Menendez of East St. Louis. This is Menendez's first attempt at cross-country run-ing and he, too, might be a surprise winner before too long. Valdean McFarland of Centralia finished eleventh to round out the scoring for the Maroons. For those that are unfamiliar with the scoring of a cross-country meet, the team with the fewest number of points is the winner, thus, the score of 20 to 35. LOST: a Bulova, round black dial wrist watch at McAndrews stadium during last Saturday's game. Parker "51"

world's most wanted pen

With leaders in government and business, the arts and professions—Parker "51" is the preferred writing instrument. Actually, 83 surveys in 34 countries show Parker to be the world's most-wanted pen. Here is a pen of flawless beauty and balance. Precision-made throughout. The 51's exclusive alloy point starts instantly—paces your swiftest thoughts with ease. What's more, you never need a blotter. For the "51" writes dry with new Superchrome, the ink created for this pen alone. See the famous "51" at your Parker dealer's today. Choice of colors, custom points. Pens, including the new demi-size, $12.50 and up. Sets, $18.75 to $80.00. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis., U.S.A.; Toronto, Can.

IN THE HAND OF DR. GULLESHO BELL—Dr. Bell is Cuba's Ambassador to the United States and her permanent United Nations delegate. Like many other representatives, he used a Parker "51" to sign the new Inter-American Defense Treaty. By this pact the 21 American Republics pledge themselves to mutual defense in case of attack.
