Elect Void; Reschedule for Tuesday

Same Candidates Eligible In Tuesday All-Campus Election

Candidates who ran for campus offices in Tuesday's election will get a second chance next week. After ruling the all-campus election held this week illegal, the Election Commission called for a new election to be held Tuesday.

All candidates have been notified that they are still eligible, according to Student Body President Bob Hardwick.

In ruling on the election Wednesday night, the Election Commission issued a new set of regulations for the coming election. The new rules are aimed at preventing the discrepancies of the first vote.

Four polling places have been named for the new election. Students may vote in front of Woody Hall, in front of Lantz Hall, in front of the campus Student Union, or at the south door of the Southern Area Student Union.

Rules covering the new vote are as follows:

1. Freshmen may vote only at the campus Student Union or Union.
2. Fee statement cards will be the only valid authorization for voting. This is the Number 3 card. Students who do not have their Number 3 card may secure written authorization from the student body president at the Student Government Office no later than 5 p. m. Monday.

Eligibility

3. Any registered student carrying 12 or more quarter hours is eligible to vote in this election.
4. Freshman are students with 48 or fewer quarter hours of credit, and are entitled to vote for freshmen class officers.
5. Posters and campaign literature will not be allowed within 30 feet of polling places.
6. No campaign posters or literature may be placed within classrooms.
7. All publicity must be down.

Union Has Weekend Variety

"Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" is the feature at University School's Furr Auditorium tonight. Students may see either the 6:30 or 8:30 show.

Approximately 50 students will leave from the Student Union tonight for Little Grassy Camp, site of Fall Leadership Camp. Camp will end at 5 p. m. Saturday.

From 1-5 p. m. tomorrow and Sunday, the Campus Lake will open for canoeing. Canoes may be obtained free at the boat house.

A bus sponsored by the Southern Spirit Council will leave tomorrow for the football game at Macomb, where the Salukis will meet Western Illinois. For students not attending, the game will be broadcast in the Union starting at 1:30 p. m.

Saturday night will find students on a hayride, leaving from the Union at 7:30 and returning about 10. All students are welcome to attend this free trip.

Sunday from 2-3 p. m. the Union will host a free music listening coffee hour. From 4-5 p. m. a free concert will be held in Shryock Auditorium.

Campus recreation will be offered Friday night and Saturday and Sunday afternoon in the Men's Gym. The University Pool is open from 1-5 p. m. Saturday and Sunday, and the museum will be open on Saturday from 2:30-5 p. m. and from 1-5 p. m. Sunday.

Performing on Western's football field, the Saluki Band will wear a new look of company front formation, four rows of marchers deep and 24 men wide, plus majorettes.

Sporting new white shakos with feathered plumes, the band will introduce "The Two O'clock Jump", a fresh precision number which they will play also at the SIU homecoming game Oct. 17.

The visiting Salukis will enjoy a one-day program planned by their Western hosts, consisting of a guided tour of the campus, a student mixer and a dinner in their honor.

Registration for business and applied science seniors will be held at 10 a. m. in the Morris Library Auditorium. Liberal arts and education seniors will be held at 10 a. m. in the Morris Library Auditorium.

In addition to an explanation of registration and placement procedures, the meetings will feature representatives from Illinois industries who will be present to give insight into industrial recruiting procedures and the way they work through placement offices.

Seniors and graduate students who plan to receive a degree during the academic year should register early with the Placement Service, so files will be complete when the interviewing session begins.

Students' ability to attend either the Tuesday morning meeting should contact the Placement Service in Barracks "H" for placement materials and instructions.

Election Commission Throws Out Tuesday Vote Completely; Cancels All Victories

By Bob Hays
Egyptian News Editor

By a vote of 6-3 the Student Council Election Commission Wednesday night threw out the Tuesday version of the 1959 all-campus election and called for a re-vote.

Climaxing one of the most controversial elections in Southern history, the vote by the Commission called for a new election with regulations to prevent repetition of the mistakes in Tuesday's vote.

A formal protest was lodged with the Commission by Chick Ronkek. The protest charged: (1) that there was a possibility of student cheating; (2) that notification of voting booth locations was not soon enough; and (3) that the Election Commission did not meet before the election, "therefore resulting in confusion among the students."

Another protest, though not a formal one, was placed before the Commission. This one signed by Tom Tafel, stated many of the same complaints, and called for "another 1959 fall election. The Commission said the same vote, 6-3 in favor of each protest."

The vote included that of Student Body President Bob Hardwick. Hardwick, who acts as chairman of the Commission, refused permission to vote on the issue. "To express my opinion," he said, "the vote, the count was six in favor of the protest and two against."

This is the second time in two years that election mix-ups have occurred. In the 1958 fall election, a Homecoming queen candidate petition which was circulated and signed after the deadline was allowed to stand.

The 1958 Election Commission admitted knowledge of the irregularities but declined to take action, because the violation was only "10 or 15 minutes."

In opening discussion Wednesday night, Hardwick said 800 students on campus had not received identification cards by Tuesday. These students, he said, had ID stubs which allowed them to vote in the election.

Students were allowed to vote by showing ID stubs, ID cards and fee statement cards, Hardwick said. Other members of the Commission then pointed out that it would be possible for a student with all three of these authorizations to vote at three different polling places.

In his protest, Tafel stated that he had received ballots in two polling places in this manner. He produced two ballots, each initiated by a poll clerk, as proof.

"I kept these ballots to show how easily it could be done," Tafel said. "I could just as easily have cast both of them."

Hardwick admitted he knew of two such incidences, but said he did not feel that a significant number of illegal votes were cast. "I can't be proved," he said, "but we have to deal with the probability. If one person figured it out, word would quickly spread."

Other Commission members also said they knew of instances of students voting more than once. One member said there was open solicitation in the Thompson Point area for students to vote as many times as possible.

Hardwick said there were 1,972 votes cast for Homecoming queen. All votes were counted, he said, in the absence of strict rules for making the ballot.

"We counted all ballots, as long as they had them shaded in, marked with an X, or checked," he said.

"Miss Mullins and I tried to draw up election procedures at 3:30 p. m. Monday," Hardwick said. He said organization presidents had not made appointments to the Election Commission in time for it to meet prior to the election.

The student body president said another error had been committed in the printing of the ballots, by having them all the same color. Ballots should be printed on different color paper in order to make it plain which ballot the student was voting on, he said.

In calling for a vote, Hardwick said the question was "whether there is enough proof of illegal voting to warrant another election."

Those opposing the approval of the protest held their stand on a moral basis. "The election was held on a moral basis," John Baker said he considered it a moral issue. He said he refused to believe a significant number of students would vote dishonestly, Hardwick expressed the same opinion.

After the final vote was taken, Hardwick called for the complete cooperation of the Commission.

"You've just worked yourselves into a wonderful job," he said. "I have no intention of doing the work on this election all by myself."

Last fall the Student Council and the Election Commission passed procedures for student elections. Changing of these rules were at the discretion of the persons conducting this year's election, Hardwick said.

According to the previous rules a primary election should be held for all offices for which four or more candidates were running. There were five candidates running for freshman class president in Tuesday's election.

Swiss Cellist Sunday Guest For Concert

Rams Jucker, a young Swiss cellist, will be featured guest at the Sunday music concert in Shryock Auditorium.

Jucker was among the winners at the Second International Pablo Casals Competition in Veracruz, Mex., in January. The competition was entered by young cellists from all over the world. The international jury, which judged the contestants, was headed by Casals himself.

Eric Dalheim will accompany Jucker at the piano. Selections will include Locatelli Sonata in D, J. S. Bach's Suite VI in D Major for Cello Solo, Schubert's Sonata Arragonese in A, and Saverini's Suite Italiane.

The concert, beginning at 4 p. m., is the second of the 1959-60 concert series presented by the department of music, School of Fine Arts.

Chinese Fete National Day Here Tomorrow

Southern's 70 Chinese students will observe Nationalist China's 48th National Day tomorrow.

A huge lantern to be erected in the hall will bear the Chinese character for Double Ten because the event occurs on tenth month and the tenth day.

Missionary Talks At SFC Retreat

Robert Rahn, who has served five years as a missionary to Japan will speak at the Student Christian Foundation Retreat at Little Grassy Lake this weekend.

Rahn will interpret the 18th Ecumenical Student Conference on the Christian World Mission which will bring together 3,000 students from 100 different countries at Ohio University in December.

Rahn is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and received BD and STM degrees from Yale University Divinity School. He was a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy for three years and has been assistant pastor of Methodist Churches in Hamden, Conn., and in Elgin.

Now traveling for the Commission on World Mission of the National Student Christian Federation, Rahn spent five years cooperating with the Kvodan, the United Church of Christ in Japan. Working in the field of urban evangelism in the Osaka District, he was particularly interested in the industrial workers of the area. He worked with a number of local Japanese pastors, helping to strengthen old and establish new churches.

The SIU Student Christian Foundation plans to send 15 students to the 18th Ecumenical Student Conference, to be held in Athens, Ohio.

Robert Rahn, missionary, will speak at the Student Christian Foundation Retreat this weekend at Little Grassy Lake. The Rev. Rahn has been on mission duty in Japan for several years.

Editors' Opinions

On The Elections

At 5:30 on Monday afternoon before campus elections on Tuesday, two people met to try to draw up election procedures. . . they did. . . and the results were not a shade under disastrous.

With the election procedures passed by the Student Council last fall meaning only rules to be broken at will, Student Body President Hardwick and Student Coordinator Mullins set up their own rules for student elections. The fault, of course, does not fall on these individuals alone. An Election Commission should have been appointed and on the job. Maybe the changes in the voting procedures could have been drawn up and passed by the Commission and the Council in time that the election would have been valid.

But Tuesday's election procedures were not passed by the Commission or the Council. In fact, they were not officially known until after the election was held.

With students being able to vote by showing ID stubs, ID cards and fee statement cards, it is no wonder that several students could have voted up to three times. Also, no names were checked off on voting lists at the polls. . . because there were no voting lists. This has been changed for the coming election, however, with only the printed cards valid as voting passes. The only catch which still remains is that a written authorization can be obtained which could still leave room for discrepancies.

Another infraction of the previous election rules was the fact that ballots were counted valid if they were shaded, marked with an X or checked. This sort of procedure seems to take us back to the first elections of our country when voting was a new idea and all the errors had not been ironed out. But elections have progressed to the point that a valid ballot is marked with an X.

The ballots were all one color, white, in violation of election procedures of last year calling for different colored ballots.

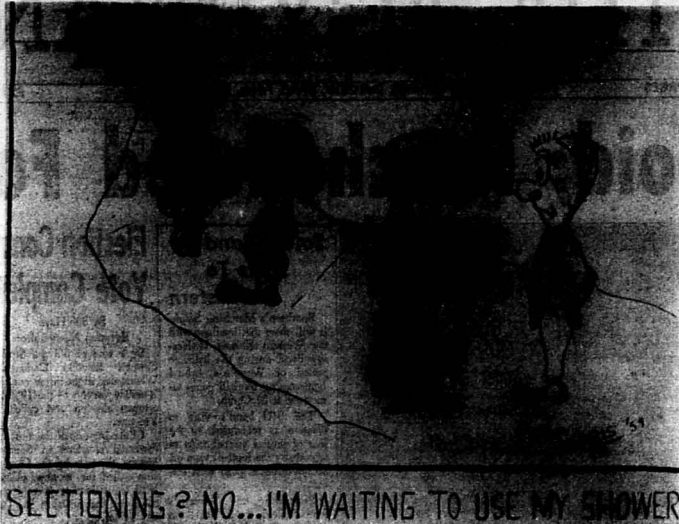

Tuesday's election broke almost every rule in Southern's book of election rules. The whole messy business seems to boil down to the fact that everything was too rushed and previous rules which were to govern elections were not consulted.

It seems that the election procedure passed last fall proved fairly accurate and legal. If this were followed, with changes being recommended and passed by the proper authorities another throw-out election might not happen.

The students at Southern are understanding, however, and know that people can make mistakes. The people who brought to light these errors in Tuesday's elections should be commended on their alertness and honesty. The people who voted in the election should be commended on their alertness and honesty. The people who brought to light these errors in Tuesday's elections should be commended on their alertness and honesty. The people who voted in the election should be commended on their alertness and honesty.

Stratton Calls For 'Southern Illinois Day'

Gov. William C. Stratton has proclaimed Saturday, Oct. 17—Homecoming day at SIU—as "Southern Illinois Day."

The proclamation, citing SIU as "one of the most important institutions of higher learning in the state" urges proper observance of the annual "Southern Illinois Day" on Southern's Homecoming.

Stratton has been a frequent visitor to the SIU campus in recent years. He dedicated the University Center and Small Group and Family Housing units last May.

Speaking of the University's rapid growth, the Governor noted that he had dedicated 13 buildings at Southern in the past seven years prior to that time.

The School of Fine Arts includes the departments of art, design, and music.

Gus sez it is as hard to have a full-proof legal election around here as it is in Russia.

Gus sez the housing shortage doesn't bother him anymore his dog has trouble though keeping students out of his house.

Gus sez he knew someone would kill his vote in the elections. . . but what a killing-off it was!

Gus sez he doesn't mind people riding bicycles. . . as long as they don't race over him.

Gus sez that maybe what the polling places need on campus is James Bell and his talents. Kind of like "I have gun. . . you'd better vote right"

Voice Box Cause For Complaint

Dear Editor: The vending machines at this campus are becoming a charity organization.

The adage, "it is better to give than to receive," certainly applies to the soft drink, chewing gum, and candy bar machines here.

The only machines that seem to be in operation are the cigarette machines.

The persons who are supposed to service these machines must be taking a long summer vacation. Some of the machines have been out of order for sometime. However, no "Out of Order" sign

Little change was seen in the fall enrollment at EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY. This is the first term for the institution as a full-fledged university.

The first stages of CENTRAL MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY'S reorganization program have been completed. Five schools have been created and sociology and journalism have been added as separate departments.

The five new schools are the School of Arts and Sciences, School of Fine and Applied Arts, School of Education, School of Health and Physical Education and the School of Graduate Studies.

Several new fees and additions to existing fees are in effect this term at TEXAS A&M COLLEGE. A new compulsory $18 fee per semester will cover hospital, Memorial Student Center and intramurals.

The new $18 fee was brought about when the Legislature decreed that no state-appropriated money could be used for medical, student center, student activities or intramural expenses.

Liberty And Freedom

On Oct. 10, 1912, Dr. Sun Yat-sen's Revolution in China overthrew the centuries-old imperial form of government. For the first time a Republic was born on the Chinese continent.

Tomorrow, 70 Chinese students on campus will gather to celebrate the Chinese equivalent of the American July Fourth, Nationalist China's 48th National Day, also called the Double Tenth, is observed by the majority of the 13 million Chinese population overseas and the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa despite the 10-year-old existence of Communist China on the mainland.

It is a credit to these students and their fellow countrymen that they can still hold their ideals of liberties and freedom high, while the Communists have a foothold in their mother country.

Remembering our own fight for freedom and what the Fourth of July means to Americans, we say congratulations to the Chinese students on campus.

May this day never lose its great importance to them and may they always uphold the ideals of all free men. May their blue-sky, white-sun flag, always fly as a symbol of freedom and liberty.

Japan's Place In World Told By Wilson

In an Asian Studies Lecture Monday night in Morris Library Auditorium, E. Raymond Wilson, a member of the Friends Committee on National Legislation, used colored slides to illustrate "Japan's Place in the World Today."

The series of slides, made while Wilson was traveling in eastern Asia from June, 1956, to the countries of Japan, Formosa and Korea.

Shown in the picture were the farming methods, schools and the market. Wilson gave a general impression of the way these people live today as in contrast to the American people with a discussion of each slide.

Wilson showed the same slides at the University of Wisconsin last week. He left Wednesday for the University of Illinois to do a similar lecture.

FOOTBALL: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Next Saturday at the football game while you are sitting in your choice student's seat behind the end zone, won't you give a thought to Alarie Sigfoos?

Alarie Sigfoos (1868-1934) started life humbly on a farm near Thud, Kansas. His mother and father, both named Ralph, were bean-gleaners, and Alarie became a bean-gleaner too. Later he moved to Oregon and found work with a logging firm as a stump-chumpier. Then he went to North Dakota where he tended the furnace in a granary (what-beater). Then he drifted to Texas where he tried out oil fields (fop-riper). Then to Kentucky where he strung dried up fish (fig-rigger). Then he went to Long Island where he dressed poultry (duck-poller). Then to Alaska where he drove a delivery van for a bakery (bread-slicer). Then to Minnesota where he cut up frozen lakes (ice-chopper). Then to Nevada where he computed odds in a gambling house (dice-priest). Then to Milwaukee where he pasted camera lenses together (Zeiss-splicer).

Finally he went to Omaha where he got a job in a tannery beating pig hides until they were soft and supple (hog-flogger.) Here he found happiness at last.

Mr. Doubleday had invented baseball the day before.

Why, you ask, did he find happiness at last? Light's firm and fragrant Marlboro, taste those better makin's, enjoy that filter that filters like no other filter filters, possess your souls in sweet content, cross your little fat legs, and read on.

Next door to Alarie's hog-floggery was an almond grove owned by a girl named Chimera Emrick. Chimera was pink and white and marvellously binged, and Alarie was instantly in love. Each day he came to the almond grove to woo Chimera, but she, alas, stayed cool.

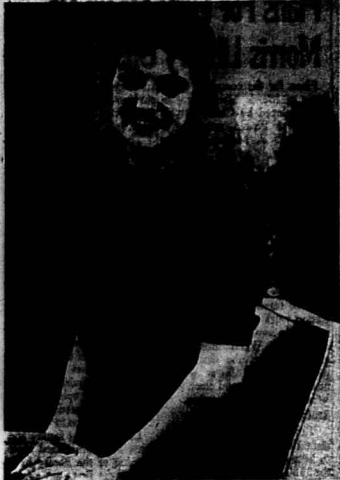

Then one day Alarie got a brilliant idea. It was the day before the annual Omaha Almond Festival. On this day, as everyone knows, all the almond grovers in Omaha enter floats in the big parade. These floats always consist of large cardboard almonds hanging from large cardboard almond trees.

Alarie's inspiration was to stitch pieces of pigskin together and inflate them until they looked like big, plump almonds. "These sure beat skinny old cardboard almonds," said Alarie to himself. "Tomorrow they will surely take first prize for Chimera and she will be mine!"

Early the next morning Alarie carried his lovely inflated pigskin almonds over to Chimera's grove, but she, alas, had run off during the night with Walter T. Scowright, her broker. Alarie flew into such a rage that he started kicking his pigskin almonds all over the place. And who should be walking by that very instant but Abner Doubleday!

Mr. Doubleday had invented baseball the day before, and he was now trying to invent football, but he was stymied because he couldn't figure out what kind of football to invent. Now, seeing Alarie kick the pigskin spheroids, his problem was solved. "Eureka!" he cried and ran to his drawing board and invented football, which was such a big success that he was inspired to go on and invent lacrosse, Monopoly, run sheep run, and nylon.

When you go to next Saturday's game, take along the perfect football companion—Marlboro cigarettes. Philip Morris Cigarettes or new Alpine Cigarettes—all a delight—all supports of this column.

Homecoming Play A First For College Theatre Group

By Len Etkin

When the Southern Players open the 1959 playbill next Friday with "The Diary of Anne Frank," it will mark one of the few times the prize-winning drama has been presented by a university theatre group.

The probable cast for the Homecoming play has been announced by Director, Sherwin Abrams.

The play, winner of Pulitzer Prize and the Drama Critics Circle award in 1956, ran some 800 performances and more than a year on Broadway.

Coy McGowan, senior from LaGrange, is scheduled to play the lead role of Anne Frank. Miss McGowan previously appeared in the Southern Players' productions of Romeo and Juliet and Major Barbara.

Miss McGowan, appearing in her first lead role, will portray the young German girl who wrote the diary from which the book and stage production is taken.

Paul Brady of Downers Grove will play Anne's father, Mr. Frank. Mrs. Frank will be portrayed by Jennifer West of Annapolis.

Other members of the cast as announced by Abrams are Gay Foster of Sikeston, Mo., Miep; Nedra Clay of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Van Dann; Donald Nomako of Chicago, Mr. Van Dann; Thomas Lynch of Altona, Pa., Peter Van Dann, and Cheryl Ganby of Mazon, Margot Frank.

The cast also includes Neil Newton as Mr. Keeler and Ben Jackson of Mt. Vernon as Mr. Dussel. A cast, Domino, will portray the Franks' feline Mouschi in the play.

Four of the 10 parts are played by freshmen in their debut with the Southern Players.

After opening night Oct. 16, the play will run to Oct. 24 with no show slated for Oct. 19. Susan Strasberg, an Actors Studio product, played the part of Anne Frank during its successful run on Broadway. The movie version of the hit, now released with prize reviews, stars Millie Perkins.

The story of Anne Frank and her diary is a tender, touching drama built around the events during the war.

The dramatization of the best-selling book was first produced in 1955. It is written by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett.

The play takes place in a single setting of one room above Mr. Frank's spice factory in Amsterdam, Holland. In the play, the Frank family and their friends hide in an upstairs room to escape deportation when Jews were being sent to prison camps.

The authentic story of the two families' battle to survive the will of the Nazi invaders is the key part of the play. The story of the families' ordeal was learned after the discovery of Anne Frank's diary at the end of the war.

Actual entries from the diary of Anne Frank are featured in the first five Southern Players' productions of the 1959-60 bill.

"This is probably the greatest indictment, Abrams said, "of man's inhumanity to man of our time."

25 Foreign Teachers Here

As part of the International Teacher Development Program, 25 teachers from 18 widely-scattered nations have recently been brought to Southern's campus for a three-month visit.

The purpose of this visit, arranged by the U.S. Office of Education, is to create good will among the countries of the world and at the same time acquaint in-fluential teachers in various countries with our educational system.

The visitors, who are vocational teachers in their own countries, are particularly interested in the fields of home economics, industrial education, commercial guidance and school administration.

Their plans include auditing courses and participating in seminars at SIU. Also, in order to attain a broader understanding of home and community life, the foreign teachers plan to visit factories, private homes, farms and political meetings.

Southern is one of 11 universities in the nation chosen to help conduct this program. Other universities selected for the program in this area are the University of Wisconsin, the University of Michigan, Northwestern University and Ohio State University.

Dean John E. Grinnell of the College of Education has been named as official coordinator of the program. With the coordination of the other universities, he has been briefed in Washington D. C., on what the government would like accomplished.

Mrs. Alberta Humble will serve fulltime with Dean Grinnell as associate coordinator in charge of all planning and programming. Mrs. Floyd Wakeland will assist.

Marc Karson Has Weekly TV Program

Dr. Marc Karson, associate professor of government, has his own weekly television program entitled "People and Politics."

The program, shown each Saturday afternoon from 2 to 2:30, is televised over KMOX, Channel 4, St. Louis. It is sponsored by the station's department of public affairs.

The program which began Sept. 26, will run for a 40-week series.

The purpose of the program is to educate people politically and to particularly arouse their interest in the coming 1960 campaigns and elections, Karson explained.

The first programs are designed to present theories of politics or the psychology and economics of politics, according to Karson. Future programs will discuss the different systems of government in the world. Attention will be given to political issues and minority rights, foreign policy, pressure groups and social welfare legislation.

As the 1960 campaign draws nearer, Karson will discuss the mechanics of voting, party platforms, candidates and conventions.

"The program is designed to produce familiarity between myself, as the speaker, and the audience," Karson said.

Chinese Professor Talks Of Communism, Of Khrushchev

By Larry Mayer Staff Reporter

"If John Foster Dulles were still living, Premier Khrushchev would not have come to America. Dulles was the United States' greatest foreign policy maker—in fact, the only one who perceived the true nature of Communism," remarked Dr. Milton Shiue Shieh, a Chinese visiting government and journalism professor at SIU, during an interview recently in the Journalism Barracks.

(Pronounced "Shay") Shieh believes that the present Red Bog is even tougher than the late Soviet dictator, Joseph Stalin. "Stalin was more honest and more straightforward than Khrushchev. One couldn't be misled by Stalin's statements, but Khrushchev is an actor. He came here with a smiling mask of selfing peace. People would be cheated if they took everything he said at face value.

The Red Leader's disarmament talks, according to Shieh, are merely a plot to confuse the masses. The professor pointed out that if Khrushchev really wanted peace, he would stop communist aggression in the Far East.

Born in Yu Yao, Chekiang, China, in 1913, Shieh studied at Showan University in China, Chuo University in Japan, the University of Missouri, and the University of Minnesota. He holds B.A., B.J., and master's degrees. A member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, Shieh served in the Chinese Army as press secretary to General Chen Cheng, now China's vice president, during the first years of the Sino-Japanese War.

Shieh, who has known Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek since boyhood, reported that the Chinese leader is a great patriot. "Without him, Formosa could have fallen to the communists in 1927 when China was divided," the professor commented.

Shieh's criticism of American journalism is that "most newspapers and magazines overplay sensational news and do not give enough space to world events."

Taipei, the capital city of Formosa, has a population of 750,000 and has 14 newspapers. "This many papers brings about such keen competition that it is a waste of time, energy and materials to publish all of them. Three newspapers would be an ideal number for Taipei," Shieh stated.

"American education is largely successful because of free education. The modern world trends toward specialization because of industrial development, but many fields are not so specialized.

"In China, many youngsters think that certain required courses are a waste of time like some students think here, but to the deans and professors, these courses provide the necessary background for a good education."

"Foreign language is very important in China. I think that greater emphasis should be placed upon it here. American schools also do not have enough courses in geography and world affairs," Shieh concluded.

many. "The communist leaders are really afraid of the West's military strength, industrial potentiality and their scientific advancements. All their talk that Russia will catch up with the United States and communism will bury capitalism is only internal propaganda to satisfy the Russian people."

The United Nations is an instrument which can be used successfully by one side and then equally effective by the other, Shieh explained. He said that Russia made a grave mistake in boycotting the United Nations Security Council, which was able to take action in Korea. "Russia underestimated the American determination to stop communist aggression," he said.

Red China Problem Shieh believes that admitting Red China to the United Nations would be a very serious problem, "particularly to free world prestige." He stated that the morale of the free States would be damaged and that Russia would have more voice, strength and courage in the organization.

"The Western Big Four powers can fight communism successfully if they are unified, but nothing can be done if they consider their own personal interests," Shieh replied in his decisive and unhesitating manner of answering questions.

U. S. Secretary of State Christian Herter is like Dulles, but his personality is not as strong as that of the late Secretary. Herter is unlike Dulles in degree that he does not make the foreign policy by himself. Herter follows the foreign policy made by his advisers."

George R. Glenn Receives Award

George R. Glenn, assistant professor of applied science at Southern, has been selected for membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The Society, which was founded in 1852 and is the parent society of the other engineering groups in the United States, recognizes professional achievements in engineering practices and teaching.

Glenn's specialization areas entitle him to participate in the society's structural engineering and construction sections. He is a former resident of Anderson, S. C., and is in his second year on the SIU faculty.

A complete supplementary list has been given to freshmen, including all Convocation credit lectures and concerts. Students are reminded that they must be on time to receive credit for attendance at the Convocations. If any student has questions concerning the program, he should go to the Freshman Convocation office in the Office of Student Affairs.

A series of lectures, which began yesterday, will also count toward Convocation credit. "John Dewey's Rise and Fall in Russia" was given by William W. Brickman in Morris Library Auditorium, while a sociology lecture, "A Sociologist Looks at Alcoholism", was given by Charles R. Snyder in the Family Living Center.

Plans For Eight Floors Of Morris Library Under Way

Plans for the complete eight floors of Morris Library are being developed by Chicago architect Joseph Boonen, according to Dr. Ralph E. McCoy, Director of Libraries.

The library staff and the university architect working with Boonen. Existing funds amounting to $350,000 will permit only about half of the interior of the existing second floor to be completed. However, these funds are at present part of the building funds which are frozen by Gov. William G. Stratton.

If the funds are released, completion work on the second floor will begin sometime after the first of the year. When this project gets underway, the design department, which is at present housed on the second floor, will be moved to another location.

Ready For 1960 "The floor plans for the complete eight floors are being drawn up to be ready for action following the 1960 bond election.

Plans call for one additional full-size floor and four upper floors of reduced size. There will be five passenger elevators, a rare book room, a map library and adjoining cartographic laboratory, special facilities for faculty and graduate study, seminar rooms and a music listening room.

Other facilities to be included are a special study area for blind students and an outdoor reading terrace on the roof of the third floor.

The eight-story building will provide seating for some 2,500 students and capacity for one million books. At the present rate of growth in books and reading capacity of the eight-story building will be reached within 10 years.

Collection Doubled This fall the library will add its 350,000th volume. This is nearly double the collection of the last four years and is possible because of the higher level book budget in 1957-58.

Problems have arisen from the large volume of un-cataloged material which has piled up. All new books required for class use are processed upon arrival, but for books not needed right away, the cataloging has to wait.

Library use by faculty and students has mushroomed since the opening of the library in 1956. During the first year, usage tripled over the previous year. Circulation of books for home use increased 32 per cent in 1957-58 and 15 per cent in 1958-59.

During the past year more than 600,000 volumes were used by faculty and students at home or in the library building. This is almost twice the number of books in the library collection.

Space-age thinking and communications

Reach for the stars.

That's what a company like Gen Tel - America's second largest telephone system - must do to find new and better ways to build tomorrow's communications services.

And that's what our large and highly trained staff of scientists and engineers continuously aim at. These are the men and women who are engaged in the development of new and promising techniques in fields such as memory systems, advanced electronics, high-speed switching, and data transmission.

Gen Tel has been research-minded ever since its small beginning. That's one of the reasons we have grown into a system that has 1,745 exchanges in 30 states, providing modern services for over 3,700,000 telephones. Our lines carry 119 million conversations each week, and we're adding 3,760 new phones every week.

To keep up with our country's growth, we continue to think ahead, plan ahead, invest ahead. In fact, this year, alone, we're investing almost $200 million in new facilities required to meet the ever-increasing demand for more and better telephone service.

These are typical examples of how we strive—not only to meet today's communications needs but to answer tomorrow's.

Salukis Clash With Unbeaten Leathernecks

Hoping that it does not rain and hoping he can find a fullback to replace powerful Amos Bullocks, Carmen Piccone and his battle weary Salukis tackle Western Illinois tomorrow afternoon at Macomb.

Western Illinois' Leathernecks are undefeated for the season. They have won their first three games and are ranked in the top ten in the nation in small college ranks.

Last weekend's football loss to the Huskies of Northern Illinois was a costly one for Southwestern.

Besides the 20-15 setback, Southern lost the services of first-string fullback Bullocks. The sophomore back suffered a partial separation of the shoulder and will be out for the rest of the season.

The injury was the third serious one suffered by the Saluki squad in two weeks. Earlier, quarterback Duke Sutton broke a leg in practice session and was lost for the season and guard Paul Brostrom was put out of action in the same practice session with a torn cartilage in his knee.

Gained 111 Yards
Bullocks, mainstay of Coach Piccone's offense, was the leading ground-gainer, on the team. In 17 carries he has gained 111 yards an average of 3.0 yards per try. He was also the leading scorer with 12 points.

The only bright spot in the loss to the Huskies was the running of freshman halfback Clarence Walker. The speedy back gained 91 yards on 28 carries against Northern to run his season total to 139 yards on 35 trips for a 3.9 average tops on the club. The performance may have won him a starting role in the Saluki backfield.

Top passer after three games is quarterback Ron Winter junior from Carmi. He has completed eight of 21 for 62 yards and one touchdown. Leading receiver is end Jim Battle. Jim has four catches good for 28 yards.

The dogs stand at 1-2 for the season and 0-1 in the IIAAC. Western is the defending IIAAC champs. The leathernecks now appear as slight favorites to retain the conference crown after a brilliant 26-20 victory over a tough Central Michigan club Saturday.

Western will have several things going for it in tomorrow's game. It will be out to revenge a 32-31 upset by Southern last fall in McAndrew Stadium on a last-ditch touchdown pass from Bill Norwood to "Night Train" Lane Jenkins. The Leathernecks will also be celebrating Homecoming.

Eastern Meet
Next weekend the Salukis will host Eastern Illinois in the annual Homecoming tilt.

Western was the top offensive club in the IIAAC last fall. The Leathernecks gained 2001 yards in 369 plays to average 533.4 yards per game—45 yards a game more than the second place team Illinois Normal. Western finished in third place on total yards per game.

Southern was second on team defense but was fifth on team offense.

Game time is 1:30 p. m. The game will be carried over most area stations including WSRV-FM Southern's radio voice by Bill Moore will do the play-by-play.

Fairfield Is New Coach

New junior varsity football coach this fall is Herb Fairfield, graduate student from Miami (O) University. He replaces the graduated Dwayne Marten.

Fairfield, 27, lettered in football and wrestling at Miami, winning a spot on the 1958 scholastic All-American team at tackle. He also was honorable all conference mention two seasons in the Mid-America Conference.

A four-year veteran of the Navy, Fairfield played ball for the Middies while an electrician at the Little Creek, Va., naval station. He is taking a graduate course in physical education at SIU.

In addition to Jayve duties, Fairfield also will assist Bob Franz with the Saluki line.

Cross Country

Harriers Run After 2nd Win

"Doc" Lingle's Cross Country squad will be vying for their second straight victory of the season tomorrow as they meet

Western Illinois University at Macomb.

WAA In Full Swing

The Women's Athletic Association's fall season got under way this week with a full slate of activities.

Hockey is a popular sport with the coeds. It is an activity which is open to any woman student interested in playing the activity for fun. This group meets every weekday at 4 p. m. It is open to beginner, intermediate or advanced players.

The modern Dance Club is also open to any woman student. The club meets every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:30.

The WAA All School Women's Tennis Tournament began Wednesday. Practices at the present time are at 4 p. m. Monday and Friday.

The Salukis have been paced by John Flamer, who ran the three-mile course in 17:02 last week. Other varsity performers: counted on by Lingle are Lee King, Carl Meier and Dale Glogston.

The next home meet for Southern will be against Eastern Illinois Oct. 17 during the homecoming football game.

JV Cage Slate Announced

An 18-game schedule has been approved for Southern Illinois University's junior varsity basketball team.

The junior Salukis for the first time will participate in the Farmington, Mo., Jayvee tourney Feb. 3-6. The first of eight home games is Jan. 4 against Evansville College, and the season opens in Dec. 3 at Murray State.

Coach Harry Gallatin's varsity begins a 26-game slate Dec. at Quincy.

Intramural Rosters Due

Intramural Chairman Ken Monschien has announced the deadline dates for team rosters to be submitted for the fall intramural athletic program.

The fall program consists of flag football, tennis, badminton and hole-in-one golf. Football rosters will be due Monday and a manager's meeting will be held the same day at 5 p. m. in the Men's Gym. Tennis entries were due yesterday and play starts Monday. Those interested in participating in the badminton tournament must be registered by Thursday. Play will start Monday October 19.

This Saturday will feature the hole-in-one golf tourney at Chanaqua Field. Those interested are asked to report to the field at 2 p. m. No advance notice will be necessary.

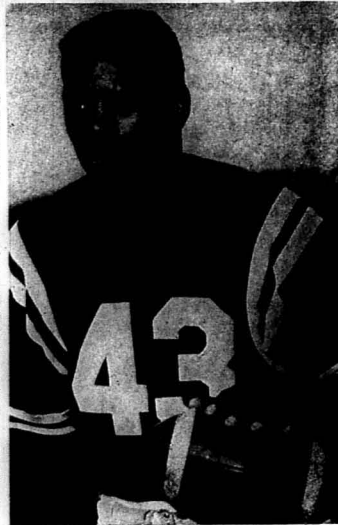

All rosters are to be submitted at the Intramural Office in the Farmington, Mo., Jayvee Gym.

Monschien said the University Pool will be open from 1:30 to 5 p. m. on Saturdays and Sundays throughout the remainder of the term except when the varsity Salukis' play football on Saturday afternoon.

Another Shannon?

Walker Thrills Fans With Brilliant Running

One of the most phenomenal high school football players in the country, Clarence Walker, from DeQuincy, La., has the SIU football camp gasping with enthusiasm.

Walker stands 6-2 and tips the scales at 205 pounds. He gained an almost unbelievable total of 9,000 yards rushing in high school. In four years (32 games) he scored 106 touchdowns. Walker averaged 28 yards per carry.

According to head coach Carmen Piccone, Walker is now better than the fabled Carver Shannon at his peak.

"Shannon's records (he holds all rushing and scoring marks in the SIU book) will be in danger when Walker gets the feel of our system," Piccone predicts. "I'll say without qualification he's the best looking back I ever saw." The limb is now saved off.

Clarence played all sports in De Quincy where he astounded sports fans with his all-around ability.

"The Bull", a name tagged him by the DeQuincy fans, was All-American (high school) for three years and All-State for two years.

During his brilliant high school career, he ran the 100-yard dash in 10-flat and the 220 in 22. He also played guard on the high school basketball squad.

Clarence plans to major in physical education at Southern. He likes to read and is also an avid rock-'n-roll fan.

The powerful back gave Saluki fans a glimpse of what it may be in store for the future Saturday night as he showed flashes of being one of the finest running backs SIU has seen in a long time.

Walker saw only limited action in Southern's first two games of the season, but in three games has compiled a total of 139 yards in 25 carries. If Walker lives up to his advanced billing and continues to run with the authority and power he demonstrated Saturday night Southern's football Salukis may have found a successor to the greatest back in SIU history Carver Shannon. Shannon graduated last spring after setting every scoring and yardage record in SIU's record book.

'THE BULL'

Clarence Walker, freshmen halfback, has SIU fans buzzing about his brilliant running ability. Walker, who stands 6-1 and weighs 210, runs the 100-yard dash in around 10-flat. (Information Service Photo)
