Editor's Opinions

Spirit But No Cheers

The spirit was there, the crowd was there, the enthusiasm was there, the victory was there and the noise was there.

Another thing that "was there" was the cheerleaders. But in all fairness, that's about the extent of their role in Saturday night's spine-tingling win over a tough Western Illinois football team.

For the first time, we heard a murmur of discontent concerning the cheerleaders. The opinion of students was (1) they led only two different cheers all night; (2) they were completely outdone by the Western cheerleaders; (3) they had the enthusiasm of the crowd plus a big game, yet they didn't lead more than 10 cheers all night; (4) a group of lively students actually pleaded with the cheerleaders to do all things, lead a cheer, but there was no response.

Again we pull out our favorite cliché of "Southern is growing and its facilities must grow with it." The cheerleaders have an open field now in forming new yellies; the big line, the fast backfield, the animal-like fury of the defense open all kinds of avenues. The different yellies could be termed "The Big Red," "The Savage Seven" or other catchy clichés.

It's evident that the football crowd is growing up. Now what the 9,000 voices need is choir directors to lead them. A good time to introduce some new cheers would be Homecoming... to show the alumni that things have happened since their day.

Gus Bode Says

Gus sez the cheerleaders had good seats for the ballgame Saturday night.

Gus sez if the Saluki line gets any tougher visiting teams will need buses instead of ambulances for hospital trips.

Gus sez the Southern coeds might not be a good mate for marriage but they're good date-mates.

Gus sez if many more students go on disciplinary tour there won't be enough left to take part in activities.

Gus sez the saluki's have a more fascinating history than the car ban.

Gus sez clashing of the Western and Southern lines Saturday night reminded him of the good night kisses at Woody Hall.

It has been estimated that it will take 2,377,001 "yes" votes to pass the Universities Bond Issue.

Gonna Sit And Write A Letter?

Several persons have asked the qualifications and stipulations for writing letters to the editor.

"First, students are encouraged to write letters to the Egyptian... on a variety of campus issues, but also other subjects. Letters which meet the qualifications and which are timely will be used.

However, letters must be signed before they can be published... on request, however, all letters must be signed regardless of whether the name appears under the published article.

Letters to the editor will be published under the headline "The Student's View" regularly on the editorial page.

PROF. BEAZLEY ATTENDS FORESTRY CONFERENCE

Prof. Ronald Beazley of the Forestry Department will attend a joint meeting of the Central States Section of the Society of American Foresters and the Illinois Technical Forestry Assn., in Chicago Thursday through Saturday.

Beazley will speak on "Forest Recreational Values: Their Kinds, Measurement Possibilities, Financing, and Opportunities for Maximum Development."

Southern will need 8,500 housing spaces for single students and 1,800 for married students by 1985.

Thought for the day: All I am or ever hope to be, I owe.

A guy walked his girl to her Thompson Point dorm one night last weekend, looked around at the countless cuddling couples and asked,

"Where's the grapes?" "Grapes?" the comely co-ed asked wonderingly.

"Yeah," the guy said, "This looks like a Roman orgy and all that's missing is the grapes."

A popular instructor was telling a group about student responsibility and added this quip: "I don't know what the faculty thinks... if they think at all..."

We asked a girl recently to name the biggest complaint SIU women have against college men here.

"They don't ask girls for dates," the informant said vehemently. "Most of the girls on my floor—and there are some really sharp ones—sit home weekends because nobody asks them out."

"There's no reason why a guy on this campus shouldn't have a date any time he wants one," she pointed out.

Okay men, the green light is burning and Homecoming is only 10 days off.

A female student council senator was shocked practically out of her bed last weekend when a cab driver walked into her room.

The girl was lying in bed clad in pajamas when she heard a timid knock on her door. "Come in," she called gaily,

Letters To Editor

The Students' View

A Note For The Women

Concerning your article in the Egyptian of Oct. 4... to date a girl three of four times and leave her high and dry..." was said of men at SIU.

One must remember that men realize that when he takes a girl out more than three or four times, the relationship ceases to be casual.

"High and dry" does not mean, in most cases, that the man has left forever, never to return.

Not Enough Women Here

The following satirical work was contributed to the Culture Corner by a student who is apparently dismayed by the ratio of men to women... and he has a good point.

AN APPEAL

Now I have no objections To the way this school is run But while I'm down here learning I want to have some fun.

I don't need a date every night Just once a week will do But how does a guy like me get a date

When the ratio is five to two? I hope that it is well understood That man just can't live this way.

He must have a woman by his side To help him through the day. So all I'm asking this school to do

Is just make it easier for me If it is impossible to make the ratio even

Then please try to make it five to three. Pray tell how is a fellow to get to know if a woman is of high dryers: keep the flame of hope alive!

WHAT TO DO TILL THE PSYCHIATRIST COMES

Once upon a time at the University of Virginia there was a coed named, oddly enough, Virginia University who was handsome and kindly and intelligent and ingeniously constructed and majoring in psychology. Virginia went steady with a young man named, oddly enough, Oddy Enough who was svelte and fair and lithe and animated and majoring in physics.

Virginia and Oddy enjoyed a romance that was as idyllic as a summer day, as placid as a millpond. Never did they fight—never, never, never!—because Virginia, who was majoring in psychology, did not believe in fighting. "Fighting," she often said, "settles nothing. The scientific way is to look calmly for the cause of the friction."

So whenever she and Oddy were on the verge of a quarrel, she used to whip out a series of ink blot tests and they would discover the true underlying cause of their dispute and deal with it in an enlightened, dispassionate manner. Then, the irritant removed, their romance would resume its tranquil, serene, untroubled course.

"You'll be bald before you're thirty!"

After six months of this sedate liaison, Oddy was so bored he could spit. He loved Virginia well enough, but he also believed that people in love ought to fight now and then. "It opens the pores," he said. "And besides, it's so much fun making up afterwards."

But Virginia would not be provoked into a quarrel. One night Oddy tried very hard, "Hey," he said to her, "your nose looks like a banana, and your ears look like radar antennas, and your face looks like a pan of worms."

"My goodness, we're hostile tonight!" said Virginia cheerfully and whipped 120 Rorschach cards out of her reticule. "Come," she said, "let us examine your psychic apparatus."

Oddy tried again. "You're fat and dumb and disagreeable," he said, "and you'll be bald before you're thirty."

"Humm," said Virginia thoughtfully and lit a cigarette. "This sounds like an anxiety neurosis with tottemism, anagoric traumas, and a belt in the back."

"I hate you," said Oddy. "I hate your looks and your clothes and your toenails and your relatives and the cigarettes you smoke."

"Now, hold on, buster!" cried Virginia, her eyes crackling, her color mounting, her nostrils aflame. "Just keep a civil tongue in your stupid head when you talk about Marlboro! Nobody's knocking that filter, that flavor, that pack or flip-top box while there's breath in my body! It's a full-flavored smoke, it's a doozy, it's a dilly, it's a gas—and anybody who says a word against it gets this."

By "this" Virginia meant a series of combinations to the head and liver, which she now delivered to Oddy and turned on her heel and stomped away.

Oddy brought her down with a flying tackle. "I love you with all my heart," he said. "And Marlboro even more," said he. "And they kissed and platted love knots in one another's hair and were married at Whitestuff and smoked happily ever after." © 1969 Max Shuman

JACK SAVED HIS COMPANY $10,000 ON HIS FIRST ASSIGNMENT

While Jack Trabert was in college he had some definite career ideas. He knew what he wanted—a job with a payoff for good judgment and hard work.

With a B.S. in Business Administration from the University of Nebraska, Jack knew he could look in many directions. And he did. He talked to 20 companies. And then in August, 1957, joined Northwestern Bell, in Omaha, Nebraska.

His chance to show what he could do was not long in coming. On his first assignment Jack came up with answers that made it possible to handle long distance calls made at night in the Omaha area with less force and equipment than was needed under the old system. This resulted in a $10,000 annual saving.

Next, Jack worked on a training and development program for "mark sensing"—a new method for mechanized processing of long distance charges.

Today, Jack has an important role in planning and developing telephone facilities to keep pace with Omaha's ever-increasing need for long distance services.

Jack puts it this way—"If a guy can keep his average up, there are places to go in this outfit. A man doesn't have to wait around for opportunity to knock—he has all he can handle right from the start."

If you want a job in which you're given a chance to show your stuff, and held strictly accountable for your decisions, right from the start—then you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

More Big Plans

Student Committee Pushes Universities Bond Issue

A three-pronged student plan to boost the $100 million Universities Bond Issue is under way at Southern and the other five state-supported universities.

Jim Sappanfield of Carbondale, SIU's general coordinator, said the committee members have worked through the summer mapping the plan and recruiting help to carry it out.

A key plan is in contact with radio and six television stations for support just before the Nov. 8 election.

Students will visit the studios armed with signs made by themselves, supporting the bond issue. A student from Carbondale, for instance, will visit the radio station there. The sign he carries will be of his own voice pointing out the importance of the bond issue's passage.

"If for some reason the station manager refuses to use the disc, or if he had't for some reason, we've another approach," Sappanfield explained.

The alternative plan is to provide short spot announcements, already written, that may be read by regular announcers, he pointed out.

Another plan under way is distribution of placards through the southwestern 22 counties. Some 150-200 students last summer on weekends visited the area in University buses and placed the cards.

Ten students would be dispatched in, for instance, Anna. They'd be another group in the next town. The bus, making a circular route, would pick them up in the evening for the return to Carbondale.

A third plan still to be fulfilled is enlistment of support from 40 high schools.

Ten teams of four students have been selected to visit the schools Nov. 1 and 2. They'll speak of the bond issue at assemblies and help schools set up any program they might desire.

To supplement their efforts, the student committee is using a vast array of descriptive and colorful bond issue literature. It is available for the asking at the Student Bond Issue Office in the Student Union.

Sappanfield said he has been amazed at Student response to the program.

"Students we've never seen before have come to the office with ideas of their own. In every case we've given them the green light to carry it out, plus all our support," he said.

Mostly students have volunteered to carry bond issue pamphlets and placards to their home towns on weekends.

Students in charge of the "prongs" are Tom Tafel, senior from Oak Park, placard distribution; Brenda Bradley, Murphyboro, junior, high school visitation; and Sue Bellford, St. Louis sophomore, radio and television programs.

Jim Petty, junior of Evanson, is in charge of the inter-institutional phase. He is responsible for coordinating local activities with those of the other five institutions so that timing will be best advantage.

A newspaper campaign is being directed by Ed Hasse of the Information Service.

Democrats Meet This Evening

The Southern Young Democrats met for the first time Thursday evening. Dr. Randall Nelson, faculty advisor, supervised the 20 members in election of temporary officers. The group will meet again this evening at 7:30 in Room 110 of Old Main.

Temporary officers are Ken Burbee, president; Don Irvin, vice president; and Linda Festa, secretary-treasurer.

The Young Democrats plan to work actively in support of the Democratic ticket. Future plans include a film concerning religious issues in the campaign.

Republicans Go To Springfield

A meeting of the Young Republicans will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Morris Library Auditorium to discuss plans for a trip to Springfield. Respective candidates for president, Richard M. Nixon, will speak there Saturday.

The group will also formulate plans for the reception of Gov. William Stratton here Friday.

Wilson Wins Ad Award

Ken Wilson, 25-year-old advertising major, has been named Southern's winner of the St. Louis A.A.A.A. annual student advertising and marketing award.

Wilson will represent Southern at the Annual Central Regional Meeting of the American Association of Advertising Agencies Oct. 13-14 in Chicago.

The award is given annually to an advertising student in recognition of outstanding achievement, industry and participation in academic life by the St. Louis 4-A Council. Last year's winner was John Finch, Carmi, now associated with Darry Advertising Co. in St. Louis.

Wilson, a native of West Frankfort, is an Air Force veteran. He is editor of the Alpha Delta Sigma Newsletter, former Egyptian reporter, member of Alpha Delta Sigma, vice president of Kappa Tau Alpha. He is also a member of the Journalism Students Assn and the Advertising Club.

Four Schools Represented
Members of three other universities - Missouri University, Washington University and St. Louis University - will be represented at the meeting. Wilson will be attending with all expenses paid.

Award winners will spend the two days attending conferences with advertising agency executives from major cities and will have an opportunity to experience and witness the dynamics of advertising marketing and the advertising agency business according to Dr. Donald Hileman SIU advertising instructor.

A "yes" vote on the bond issue is a "yes" vote for better education.

The $100 million Universities Bond Issue is endorsed by both Democrats and Republicans.

'Our Town' Tryouts Completed

Tryouts have been completed and the cast for the Southern Playhouse's first play of the 1969-70 season has been selected. Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" will be presented at the Homecoming play Oct. 21-23 and 25-26 at the Southern Playhouse.

Nedra Clay, Mt. Vernon, heads the cast as Emily Webb. Playing opposite her will be Richard Randis, Arlington Heights, as George Gibbs. The stage manager's role will be handled by Darwin Payne, Ullin.

"Our Town," says Dr. Archibald McLeod, director, "opens one's eyes to the joys and transitoriness of everyday life in a typical American town. It is spiritually uplifting."

Concerns Life, Death

Healed by critics as one of the great masterpieces of our times, it is the story of life and death in a small town and a girl's reaction to living and dying.

Tickets are on sale daily at the Playhouse. Single tickets are $1 and season books for all five plays cost $2.50. Each play begins at 8 p. m.

Also in the cast are Ronald Bowman, Decatur; Joyce Freed, Fairbury; Jeff Gilster, Crest; Louise Gordon, Chicago; Richard Hammett, Germantown; Cosmo Inserra, Roscoe, Pa.; and Denise Jettin, Crete.

Faye Keasler, Belleville; Charles Kohlenberger, Marissa; George Kuehn, Glenview; Gerry LaMarsh, Wood River; James Lash, Dundee; Philip La Peirve, Belleville; Lynn Leonard, Carbondale and Andy Mackenzie, Murphysboro.

John Murphy, Chicago Heights; Allen Stephens, Springfield; Thom as Spivey, East St. Louis; Joe Seward, Anna; Marica Swinney, Mt. Carmel; Linda Weisenberg, Brooklyn, N.Y. and William Danenberg and Eleanor Guterin.

Southern may have to restrict enrollment if the bond issue is defeated when voters go to the polls Nov. 11.

Old Main, oldest building on Southern's campus, was destroyed by fire in 1963 and rebuilt in 1967.

Council Replica Of US Senate - Except For Bonny Chairman

Southern's Student Council is a replica of the United States Senate . . . with one exception. The local council's leader is Suzanne Punney, who sees no logical reason why a woman can't lead a Senate, says the position not only offers her a great challenge, but it gives her an insight to campus events.

The East St. Louis senior is vice-president of the student body, which makes her automatically the council chairman. Suzanne follows in the footsteps of another feminine gavel tender, sorority sister Marsha Van Cleve.

Sue is predicting great things for the 1969-70 council. She says the senators are showing more interest than past council members, and she has outlined a challenging list of objectives for them.

Included in the year's agenda are the human relations program, housing problems, transportation improvements, analysis of the University curriculum and communications difficulties.

Sue is beginning her second year on the council. Last year she was president of the junior class. The 20-year-old education major is a past vice president of Sigma Kappa security and belongs to Cap and Tased and the Sphinx Club.

She was chairman of the Pine Arts Festival last winter, treasurer of the Student Education Assn., and a member of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary education fraternity.

Suzanne was a Miss Thompson Point finalist in 1959, head woman's counselor at Little Grass Camp this summer and attended the NSA conference at the University of Minnesota during the coed collects threats.

As chairman, Suzanne leads the council in discussing pertinent problems and uses her vote in case of a tie.

EDUCATOR AT TEACHER ACCREDITATION MEET

Dr. Roy Brammell was one of 17 educators from throughout the nation who attended a special session on teacher accreditation in Washington, D. C., yesterday.

The meeting was called by the executive director of National Council of Accrediting of Teachers of Education. The key educators will serve college and universities seeking to accredit their education department and also check present operating practices at other institutions.

Southern's 'Team Effort' Snaps WIU Winning Streak

SIU Humbles Western, 21-12; Near First Conference Title

By Joe Gagle
Sports Editor

Western's 16-game winning streak is dead.

An inspired Saluki football team out-toughed and, most importantly, outscored Western Illinois' Leathernecks Saturday night in McAndrew Stadium, 21-12. The game was played before 10,000 cheering fans.

Led by its defensive line, "The Savage Seven," Southern moved closer to its first conference gridiron title by defeating the two-time defending IAC champions from Macomb. Southern extended its season record to 4-0.

Saluki scabbard Amos Bullocks scored twice and Capt. Tom Brunel tallied the third SIU touchdown. Kicking specialist Paul Brostrom converted all three times for the Salukis.

Western's explosive offense was held to lone touchdowns by halfbacks Leroy Jackson and Don Washkevich. Jackson scored from six yards out in the second quarter and Washkevich's TD came late in the fourth period on a two-yard plunge up the middle.

Southern scored late in the first period. Aided by a pass interference penalty, the Salukis hit paydirt with 1:44 left in the first quarter. Bullocks crashed over from the two and Brostrom converted, making it 7-0.

The Leathernecks took the kickoff, after the SIU score, and moved 66 yards in 16 plays. The drive was climaxed with Jackson's sweeping six-yard jump around his own right end.

Hayes Makes Stop
Leatherneck quarterback Mike McFarland attempted to pass for a two-point conversion that would have put Western ahead. Saluki

Jim Hayes "shot the gap" and tackled McFarland before he could throw.

Six minutes and 18 plays later, the Salukis scored with fullback Bruno going into the end zone from the two. The 71-yard drive was sparked by two Ron Winter aerials, one to Dick Nelson for 10 yards and the other to Jim Battle, who made a diving catch of the 23-yard loss.

The Salukis led 14-6 as the first half ended. Neither team scored in the third period.

Two WIU scoring drives in the third quarter were stopped by fumbles, one recovered by SIU's Deany Harman and the other by Saluki Jim Hayes.

Wheelwright Nails Washkevich
Western threatened early in the last quarter but SIU's Ernie Wheelwright threw Western's Washkevich for an eight-yard loss and halted the Leatherneck advance on Southern's 11-yard line. Another Western drive was stopped by a Harmon interception.

Southern took over and moved 89 yards in seven plays, sparked by Bullocks 49-yard burst off back for an eight-yard score. Bruno picked up 22 of the 89 yards to paydirt. A Winter - Bullocks pass accounted for another 19 yards.

The Leathernecks fought back and scored with 3:18 remaining in the ball game. Washkevich crashed into the end zone from the two-yard stripe. Fullback Roger Elliot attempted to run for the extra point but didn't make it. The score was 21-12 with less than four minutes left.

The Salukis moved the ball to Western's 87-yard line but were content to run the clock out and capture their fourth win of the season, and their second conference victory.

ALERT DEFENDER
Southern's Ray Knecht, with ball, has just intercepted Western's Mike McFarland aerial with 6:43 remaining in the fourth quarter. The intended receiver, Leroy Jackson No. 66, is closing in on Ray. Action took place in Saturday night's 21-12 win over the previously unbeaten Leathernecks. (Photo by Joel Cole, Staff Photographer).

SIU Frosh Sparks Harrier Victory

By Tom McNamara
Sports Reporter

Southern's cross-county Salukis scored a surprisingly easy victory over Western Illinois Saturday night in McAndrew Stadium, 17-6.

Saluki freshman Joe Thomas led the Harriers to their second victory in as many outings. Thomas' winning time was 16:40 for the three and a quarter-mile course.

His time would have been faster except he misjudged the finish line. He stopped at the 50-yard line on the west side of the field before continuing on to his first place finish at the south goal line.

Salukis John Flamer and Don Hequemour finished second and third, respectively, and Western's Phil Lorenz placed fourth.

Highly touted Leatherneck runner Bill Kozar finished last as he battled Thomas for the lead for the first mile and a half before tiring. Earlier this year Kozar finished fourth as Southern won handily, 21-0.

Saluki Don Trowbridge surprised everyone by finishing fourth in the race. Since it was a home meet SIU Coach Lew Hartzog allowed his entire squad to run for experience. But he had to submit seven names which would be eligible for points.

In a cross-country meet the first five finishers for each school are totaled to determine the winner of the meet. Therefore, Trowbridge's fine run didn't count in the final standings.

"I was real pleased with the showing of Trowbridge," said Hartzog. "Also, Fred Arnold and Gary Coffman turned in good races." Arnold finished fifth and Coffman sixth. Coffman, a freshman, finished 11th at Western earlier.

Hartzog thought Western would be better than what they showed but still warned, "They will be tough in the conference meet."

The Salukis' next cross-country meet is Saturday against Eastern Illinois in Charleston. The race will be held at halftime of the SIU-EIU football game.

Concerning The Outdoors

By Larry Mayer

Lake-On-The-Campus Fishing Contest
Fishing on campus Saturday certainly was far from being anything to write home about, but a few fish were caught, and two fellows went home with a couple of five-dollar gift certificates.

George Brooke caught 17 sun fish and bass to win the prize on the most fish, while Richard Lutz snagged a 1.6 pound largemouth to get top honors for having the biggest fish. Lutz' favorite combination for Lake-on-the-Campus bass is a black fly-rod-size Arbogast Hula Popper, which he uses on a spinning rod. He took six bass each weighing between two and two and one-half pounds from the lake this summer on the rig.

A fly-rod Hula Popper is a dandy bass lure in any water where bass are surface-feeding. But some might think it is an odd ball to use, because it doesn't conform to every different rod, lure, and leader.

If you don't have a stiff-action fly outfit or a light-action spinning outfit, then don't buy a fly-rod Hula Popper for bass fishing, because you're not likely to get proper distance when you cast it. You'll get better casts and probably more strikes with better balanced equipment including a lighter popper for a light or medium-action fly-rod and a heavier one for a medium or stiff action spinning rod. The Argost Company makes spinning and casting size Hula Poppers, both of which are also good surface lures for bass.

Why So Small
Why wasn't a fish larger than 1.6 pounds caught Saturday at the Lake-on-the-Campus?

The reason could easily involve one or more of the following reasons.

First of all, maybe they moved out and left no forwarding address, as a friend of mine once said when he got blanked after catching a stringer of beautiful crappie the previous day. Fish occasionally move from shallow areas to deeper areas and vice versa. Perhaps the anglers weren't fishing in the areas where the big ones were spending their Saturday.

Secondly, I'm inclined to think that after the rain, Saturday wasn't a good day to fish. From past experiences, I have learned that I nearly always have more fishing success before or soon after the start of a rain, rather than several hours afterward.

The third factor to consider is water has not cooled.

8 More On Pro For ID Fbbing

The probationary scoreboard has lighted up again. Eight more students Friday were placed on disciplinary probation for falsification of identification cards. Forty-six students are now on a one-quarter probation for tampering with ages on ID cards, one has been suspended indefinitely, 12 have received official reprimands and 16 cases are pending, for a total of 75.

EDUCATIONAL COUNCIL MEETS HERE TUESDAY

The annual fall meeting of the Educational Council of 100 will be held here Tuesday, according to Mrs. Jo Ann Boydston, executive director of the council. A "Southern Illinois School Board Member of the Year" will be honored at the meeting. John S. Rendleman, SIU legal adviser, will give the keynote address at a 6 p. m. dinner session in the University Cafeteria.

STUDENT WINS BORDEN ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Billy G. Jackson was named winner of the Borden Freshman Award for the 1959-60 school year. Jackson is the fifth recipient of the annual award here, presented by the Borden Company of New York.

The winner is selected on the basis of leadership and academic achievement during the freshman year at SIU. Jackson achieved the highest possible average last year, a 5.0. He is in the School of Business, majoring in management.

The King, a rust colored, highly excitable aristocrat, is being held by Walter Mazurick, his trainer for a year. Lou Bodka, football captain, is in the middle and on the right is Bill Walker, football coach.

History Of Mascot Students Name Saluki Mascot In Fiery, Weird 1951 Election

By Joe Dill Editor

(This is the third in a series of articles concerning the history of the Southern mascot, the saluki. Today we look back to 1951 and the election for a new mascot.)

One of the most unusual elections in the history of ballot-boxing took place on campus in the spring of 1951. There was about to rid itself of its member, the "Maroons." But what would the new namesake be?

Southern tried one animal in the mid 1920's—a billy goat. But the enamel-intestined bleating billy ate everything in sight, required a huge amount of care and seemed always entangled in some kind of goat grief.

The tin-can eating mascot mysteriously disappeared about two years after his auspicious entry . . . and where he went nobody seems to know.

So the election was planned. The Varsity Club, Student Council and Egyptian demanded a new mascot. Leland "Doc" Lingle had spotted a picture of the saluki in an outdoor sports magazine and immediately began contacting people. He finally found a woman—Mrs. Beulah Travaro—in near Farmer City who owned several salukis.

Then came the battle to pass the election in favor of the dogs—which Egyptian kings used to run down gazelles and chitas. The saluki is known as a sight dog, rather than a scent dog. A falcon would be released from the king's quarters: it would spot a chita or gazelle and lazily hover over it. The saluki then turned loose and would chase and finally run down the exhausted prey. The hunters then took over.

Central registration for the winter quarter was held and students voted for the new mascot. Aside from the saluki, the ballot included the Trojans, the Rebels, the Crusaders and the Knights. Mrs. Travaro brought to Southern election day a saluki named Lady, the mother of what was to become the first Southern saluki. Mrs. Travaro and Lady stood by the polls all day, the rust-colored stately lady an aristocratic picture of poise and personality.

Art Exhibits On Display

An exhibition of paintings and sculptures by Southern alumni is one of two shows currently on display at the Allyn Art Galleries. Featured are two wood sculptures by William Hodge, 1956 graduate, titled "Fruits of Vetch," an abstract, and "Mother and Child," a representational. Thelma Atwood Mathis, a 1957 graduate, is showing two pictures. They are "Nautilus" and "Two Figures." Her work has previously appeared here as a one-man show.

Here is the Story of How Animals are Adapted to Cope With the Environmental Factors Against which They Must Successfully Compete in Order for Their Kind to Survive.

The saluki won, hands down. But a strange thing happened election night.

The ballots were stolen. But the intruder was too late, for the votes had been tallied, and Southern's saluki was born.

Lingle and his wife traveled to Farmer City soon after and picked up a rust-colored runt which "Doc," Glenn "Abe" Martin and the "T" Club named King Tut.

The trip from Farmer City to Carbonale was a tough one for King Tut. Mrs. Lingle had to hold the high-strung saluki in the back seat. Several steps were made to allow the proud dog to get over an extreme case of car-sickness.

But the three arrived at Southern and the saluki had become a part of SIU history.

(Friday King Tut's life at Southern, his care, his tribulations and his death.)

Two $500 Scholarships Available

Two $500 cash scholarships are now available for graduate and undergraduate students of business, economics, marketing, advertising and commerce in the first annual "House of Edgeworth Scholarship Contest."

One will go to the undergraduate student who submits the best advertising slogan with supporting brief of not more than 500 words for House of Edgeworth smoking tobaccos.

Winner of the other award will be the graduate student who writes the best marketing plan for selling tobaccos to the college market.

Further information may be obtained from Larus and Brother Co., Inc., Richmond, Va., sponsors of the contest.

Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 15, 1961.

Says Grinnell:

'Share Good Of The World'

By Sandra Mitchell Staff Reporter

It is everyone's obligation to know, to understand and share the good of the world with others.

Such was the message of Vice President John E. Grinnell Thursday night as he addressed the first meeting of the International Relations Club, held in Morris Library Auditorium.

"We cannot raise our sights high enough in this exploding world," Dr. Grinnell said, and "every country has something educational to offer."

In his talk titled "Education and the New World," the vice president illustrated with his own personal experience that:

People resemble more than they differ; ordinary people are kind and helpful more often than not; youth everywhere are hungry for education; the need for dignity is felt everywhere and everywhere there is a will for peace.

There are no super countries, races or nationalities, Dr. Grinnell pointed out. No country has a monopoly on beauty, truth, goodness and progress.

The vice president invited the international visitors to "get acquainted with us, our activities, our faculty and our students."

STUDENT CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION RETREAT HELD

Conscience on Campus was theme of a two-day retreat of the Student Christian Foundation last weekend at Camp Carew on Little Grassy Lake.

Students of six religious denominations gathered for the two-day session. Speakers were Walter E. Welch of the botany department and the Rev. Willard Foote, pastor of First Baptist Church in Carbonale.

The agenda included Bible study, discussion of student problems, business and installation of the new officers for the current school year.

The bond issue will give Illinois voters a chance to make their best educational "buy" yet.

Dr. Neil Carrier, advisor, announced that the primary concern of the meeting will be introduction of new faculty members.

Plans for the year will be discussed and refreshments will be served in the library lounge.

DR. FANER SPEAKS TO ENGLISH CLUB

Dr. Robert Faner will speak to members of the English Club Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Home Economics Lounge.

Dr. Faner has just returned from France where he taught in a university. A discussion period will follow his talk. Coffee and cookies will be served.

NEWMAN COMMITTEES MEET TOMORROW

Newman Club committee meetings will be held tomorrow instead of the General Newman Assembly. Catholic students are asked to select the committees on which they would like to work and attend the meeting.

The committees and their chairmen are Lorraine Schwartz, social committee; Mary Tretter, public relations; Louis Boscantine, religious; Jim Keiser, education and cultural and Aldona Conguar, ways and means.

The public relations and social committees will meet at Goretz Hall, 707 S. Washington Ave. The religious ways and means and the educational committees will assemble at the Newman Center, 401 W. Walnut St.

WESLEY RETREATS THIS WEEKEND

The Wesley Foundation will hold its fall Spiritual Life Retreat at Giant City State Park this weekend, Friday through Sunday.

Student leaders will lead a discussion of the book "Gods of the Campus." The Rev. Ron Seibert and the Rev. Don Carlton will serve as resource leaders.

A fee of $3.50 will be collected upon registration at the Foundation Friday afternoon. Students with Saturday classes will be brought to campus that morning.

The "Forum of Faith" will be held at the Foundation Thursday at 8 p. m. An introduction to "Gods of the Campus" will be presented at the evening program.

BOTANISTS TO SEE SLIDES ON INDIA

The Botany Club will see colored slides of India Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in Room 222 of the Life Sciences Building.

Dr. Alex Reed, professor of animal industries, will be guest speaker. Dr. Reed took the pictures when he visited India. Refreshments will be served following the meeting. All interested students are invited.

MANAGEMENT CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY

The local chapter of the national Society for Advancement of Management will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday at 10 a. m. in Barracks G, Room 110. Sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students enrolled in the School of Business are eligible to join.

Advance information on speakers and events for the quarter will be discussed as well as plans for the group Obelisk picture.

PI LAMBDA THETA FORMULATES PLANS

The officers of Pi Lambda Theta, women's honorary association for education majors met last week to formulate plans for the year's activities.

Full initiation, one of the biggest events of the year, and the forthcoming visit of a national officer were discussed.

The initiation luncheon will be held Nov. 12. A style show to be held in conjunction with the luncheon was discussed. This year, for the first time, prospective members—juniors with a 4.0 grade average approved by the faculty and club members—will be "tapped" as notification of selection to membership.

The visit from a national officer is scheduled for early November.

LAO MEETS TONIGHT

The Latin American Organization will meet at 8 p. m. in the Home Economics Lounge. Dr. J. Cary Davis of the foreign language department will give an illustrated lecture on the "Life and Works of Diego Rivera, Famous Mexican Artist." Refreshments will be served.

OBELISK STAFF PICNICS AT LAKE

Obelisk staffers gathered at Lake-on-The-Campus for a picnic Sunday. Betty Pinkerton, social chairman, was in charge.

WRA Urges Participation

"We would like to have more girls come out for tennis," commented Vivian Rasmussen, student leader for WRA tennis. "Anyone is welcome to play regardless of whether or not they have played before."

WRA tennis meets Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday after noon at four on the tennis courts west of McAndrew Stadium.

"We hope to start some type of tournament about Oct. 18," Miss Rasmussen continued. Whether it will be a singles or doubles tournament depends on the number of girls interested.

Modern Dancing

"Both men and women are invited to participate," encouraged Pearl Little, student leader of WRA modern dancing. "They meet in the women's gymnasium every Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. and every Thursday at 4 p. m."

SWINGIN' SUNDAY

The Indiana Jazz Festival Trio turned Sunday night at the Theta Xi house into a swingin' affair. The fraternity sponsored the concert by the Trio from Evansville, Ind. as part of the first annual "Open Jazz Concert."

An exchange party, banquet and Dad's Day kept the men of SIGMA PI busy this weekend.

The brothers gave a banquet Saturday in honor of their fathers and took them to the football game against Western that evening.

Sunday evening the sisters of ALPHA GAMMA DELTA were invited to "come as you wish you were." The rather unusual party took place at the Sig Pi fraternity house.

Like the old lady who lived in a shoe, the Sig Pi actives have so many pledges they don't know what to do. There are 42 members in the current pledge class.

The brothers of TAU KAPPA EPSILON now have one of the largest pledge classes on campus. Six men were pledged last week, bringing the total to 39. The new pledges are Frank Smith, Byron Taylor, Jim Ellis, Bill Mulville, Jerry Custus and Bob Stone.

The women of SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA visited the Teke chapter house for an exchange party last week. The Teke pledges sang and the Tri Sig pledges presented a skit.

Buxom actress Jayne Mansfield was born in Bryn Mawr, Pa., famed for its fashionable girls' school.
