Guyon approves 1995 smoking ban

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

A "Clean Air Policy" that will curtail smoking in campus buildings next year and ban all indoor smoking by 1995 has been approved by President John C. Guyon.

Guyon signed the policy Friday. It will go into effect July 1, 1988. Under the policy, smoking will be permitted indoors only in areas marked with prominently displayed "Smoking Permitted Here" signs.

The policy, established by an 11-member task force, also requires Guyon to appoint a clean air advisory committee to study ways of implementing a ban on all indoor smoking by 1995.

In approving the policy, Guyon said he was considering the health of both smokers and non-smokers. In the early 1970s, the U.S. Surgeon General identified smoking as a leading cause of lung cancer. More recently, Surgeon General C. Everett Koop has stressed the danger cigarette smoke poses to non-smokers.

Many health experts believe sidestream smoke — the smoke that wafts off the end of a lighted cigarette — increases the likelihood of non-smokers contracting cancer, heart disease and other ailments commonly associated with smoking.

After July 1, smoking will be allowed only in the following areas:

—Private dormitory rooms in which all occupants agree to allow smoking;

—Private residences on campus;

—Single-employee offices that are either physically separated from other areas or have separate ventilation systems. However, smoking would be permitted only if office doors are closed;

—Common office or work areas where all employees unanimously agree to allow smoking;

—Up to one-third of a cafeteria or dining hall;

—Up to one-third of a study hall or lounge;

—University vehicles in which all occupants agree to allow smoking.

Smoking would be banned from classrooms, lecture and conference halls, gymnasiums, museums, theaters, laboratories, instructional shops, storage areas, smoke-sensitive equipment rooms, hallways, elevators, reception areas, client service areas, libraries, kitchens and public meeting rooms.

Welch gets vice president post

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

Harvey Welch Jr. has been appointed vice president for student affairs.

President John C. Guyon recommended Welch's appointment to Chancellor Lawrence Pettit on Friday. The Board of Trustees is expected to approve the appointment at its Nov. 12 meeting.

Welch, 55, said he was "relieved and glad to have a chance to respond to the challenge" of being vice president.

"As quickly as I can, I plan on getting the key staff people to sit down and talk about how we interpret our mission and how we can go about getting this accomplished," Welch said.

The terms of the appointment, including salary, are still being discussed, Welch said. Welch turned down a raise when he agreed to serve as acting vice president during an in-house search to fill the position.

However, Welch said he expects a raise and would not turn one down.

Welch has been dean of Student Life since 1975. He graduated from the University in 1951 with a bachelor's degree in education.

Welch earned a master's in education in 1955 while serving in the U.S. Air Force.

Small business to get self-help program

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

Carbondale has been picked by the state to receive help from an advisory firm in developing a self-help small business program, which will include ideas from members of the community.

The selection of Carbondale as one of five communities in the state to participate in a program called "Community Support for Entrepreneurial Development" will be announced at the City Council meeting at 7 tonight in the City Council chambers.

The council also will discuss Crystal Development Corp's failure to get financing for the construction of the proposed downtown hotel-convention center and the council's options for the use of the city-owned land downtown.

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community

Affairs development program is good news for Carbondale, William C. Dixon, city manager, said.

"The community will have outside expertise available to work with us to examine things Carbondale as a community can do to make this a more attractive setting for investment," Dixon said.

Franklyn H. Moreno, director of economic development, said the city will not receive state or federal grant money for the program, but the state Department of Commerce will pay SRI International, a national consulting firm based in California, to work with Carbondale in developing the program.

SRI was formerly known as Stanford Research Institute and was associated with Full Tilt loses playoff bid

Full Tilt finished fourth out of a 16-team field after an 18-10 loss to Chicago-based Czech at the Illinois-Indiana Ultimate Frisbee sectionals tournament behind Abe Martin Field Sunday.

In the two-day tournament, reigning national champion Windy City dominated playoff action for the third-straight year. The Indianapolis Eagles finished second.

Windy City, the Eagles and Czech now advance to regional playoffs, to be held later this month in Columbus Ohio.

Gridders miss win by a hair, early lead lost after fumble

By Dave Miller

The Salukis let the big one get away for the third time in as many years.

Turnovers, penalties and some questionable calls contributed to the Salukis' 16-15 loss to Kansas Saturday in Lawrence.

The Salukis let leads of 7-3 at halftime and 15-10 in the fourth quarter evaporate to drop their record to 2-3. Kansas, 1-3, broke a 10-game losing streak, winning for the first time since they beat SIU-C last season.

The game was typical of the problems plaguing the Salukis this season. A great effort by the SIU-C defense could not overcome a sluggish offense and a struggling kicking game.

The Salukis held a 15-10 lead in the game when Paul Patterson fumbled on the Saluki 32-yard line. The turnover resulted in KU's game-winning touchdown after corner back Willie Davis was called for pass interference in the SIU-C end zone. The controversial call gave KU a first down at the two-yard line.

"It looked like the guy caught the ball and dropped it," Saluki coach Ray Dorr said. "Willie got his hands in there and ripped it out from him."

It was the second disputed pass interference call against Davis that led to a KU score. The first one occurred on KU's first possession during a fake punt attempt. Davis was penalized when he knocked the ball down from the intended receiver. Kansas came away from the drive with three points.

"Willie definitely did not play the receiver," Dorr said. "He went up and tried to bat the ball down. I will not criticize Willie for it. If Willie did the same thing over again

"I'll put it this way, if they were pass interference calls then maybe we need to change our coaching."

Dorr second guessed himself for not trying a 47-yard field goal in the fourth quarter with a 15-10 lead. John Brda had already made a 45-yard field goal against the wind in the third quarter. Dorr elected to punt the ball, hoping to pin KU deep in their territory and let the strong Saluki defense go to work. The plan backfired when David Peters' nine-yard punt went out of bounds at the KU 22-yard line.

On SIU's next possession, Brda got a chance to extend the Saluki lead but missed a 41-yard field goal.

Cross country teams nab seconds at invite

The SIU-C men's and women's cross country teams finished second in their respective races Saturday at the Saluki Invitational.

Senior Vivian Sinou won the women's 5,000-meter race in 17:03 and junior Lisa Judisak took fourth in 17:46 to lead the women Salukis.

Purdue's Sally Smith led her squad to the team title, finishing second in 17:20. Murray State's Jackie Murzynowski was third in 17:25.

Fifty-four runners from six teams competed in the race.

Coach Don DeNoon was pleased with what he saw. "Overall, I think we showed some improvement over our last meet," he said. "I'm pleased with the way Vivian and Lisa ran."

However, he said that "we need a much improved third runner" in order for the team to be successful.

Junior Jane Schumacher ran a strong race to finish third on the Saluki team, 18th overall, in 18:57. Sophomore Amber Wiencek was 21st overall in 19:04 and freshman Danielle Sciano rounded out the Salukis' top five in 23rd with a time of 19:17.

Purdue finished with 28 points, SIU-C had 61 and Murray State was third with 70.

In the men's 8,000-meter race, senior Kent Leek led the way for the Salukis with a fourth-place finish in 24:39, one second ahead of teammate Andy Pettigrew in fifth.

Matt Wegenka of Southwest Missouri State won the race in 24:25. Art Waddle led Southeast Missouri State to the team title with a second-place finish in 24:32.

Illinois State's Jack Park, running unattached, finished third in 24:37 and the Redbirds' Daniel, also running unattached, was sixth in 24:41.

Israel rejects Soviet offer to renew diplomatic ties

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel has turned down an offer by the Soviet Union to re-establish low-level diplomatic ties, severed 20 years ago by the Kremlin over the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, the Foreign Ministry said Sunday. During a meeting in New York last week, Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze suggested to Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres that the two countries exchange interest sections as a first step toward restoring relations, a ministry spokesman said.

Iran bombs Iraqi city to retaliate for oil raids

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian forces pounded the southern Iraqi city of Basra with heavy artillery fire Sunday in retaliation for a wave of Iraqi raids on Iranian oil targets. Iraq said many people, mostly women and children, were killed. Iran claimed several other attacks on Iraqi cities. Tehran radio said Iranian Revolutionary Guards shelled several areas of Iraq Sunday, inflicting "heavy damage" in Basra and two other district centers in flood-prone land at the northernmost end of the Persian Gulf.

Indian troops withdraw from Sri Lankan city

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — President Junius Jayewardene said Sunday he would withdraw Indian peace-keeping troops from the port town of Trincomalee if the forces do not establish law and order in eastern Sri Lanka. Indian foreign ministry officials in New Delhi, however, denied the Sri Lankan leader had issued the ultimatum, saying "the government press release is at variance with what actually transpired."

Suriname to hold elections, end military rule

PARAMARIBO, Suriname (UPI) — Suriname, its new constitution overwhelmingly approved by voters, will hold elections next month to end 7½ years of army rule with one-time political rivals joining forces and the role of military leader Desi Bouterse a major question. Political observers agree that any government to emerge from the Nov. 25 elections in the former Dutch colony on the continent's remote northeastern coast would face staggering economic, political and military problems.

U.S., Canada reach historic trade agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Canada early Sunday announced an historic trade agreement that would slash tariffs and cut restrictions on commerce crossing the border of the two North American neighbors. President Reagan hailed the agreement and said it "will provide enormous benefits for the United States" and "over time create thousands of jobs."

Aftershock rattles S. California, injures 80

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A powerful aftershock to last week's deadly earthquake jolted Southern California Sunday, causing at least one fatal heart attack, injuring about 80 people and damaging already weakened homes and historic buildings. Seismologists at the California Institute of Technology said the tremor that awoke an already jittery population at 3:59 a.m. in an area of 16 million residents measured 5.5 on the Richter scale — the strongest of the more than 100 aftershocks recorded since Thursday's 6.1 temblor.

Southern voters undecided about candidates

ATLANTA (UPI) — Jesse Jackson has a shaky lead among Democrats and Vice President George Bush a strong lead among Republicans in a Southwide poll conducted five months before the Super Tuesday presidential primaries. But the big factor, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution said in a copyright story Sunday, is voter dissatisfaction with the Democratic field that has nearly 30 percent of the voters undecided.

Gore admits exaggerating investigative story

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., whose presidential campaign has so far avoided a major controversy, said in an interview published Sunday he exaggerated his record as an investigative reporter. In an interview published last Sunday by the Des Moines Register, Gore was quoted as saying he "got a bunch of people indicted and sent to jail" while working as a reporter for The Tennessean in Nashville in the 1970s. But while campaigning Saturday night in North Carolina, Gore acknowledged no one had gone to prison as a result of his reporting.

Committee protests U.S.-backed support of Nicaraguan rebels

By Tom Trotter
Staff Writer

Their banners unfurled and newsletters in hand, more than 20 demonstrators protesting U.S. aid to Nicaraguan Contra rebels gathered Saturday afternoon on Route 13 near the University Mall.

The demonstration, sponsored by Southern Illinois Latin American Solidarity Committee and the local chapter of Pledge of Resistance, was staged in cooperation with a nationwide "Days of Decision" campaign to spotlight Central American peace efforts.

"We should just let Central America alone," said Georgeann Hartzog, a member of the solidarity committee and a key organizer of the demonstration. "If we would let them alone, they would work it out."

Besides showing support for the Central American peace agreement recently signed in Guatemala, the "Days of Decision" campaign protested Reagan's proposed request to Congress for $270 million in military aid for the Contras. According to a New York Times report Sunday, Reagan has made the conditions Nicaragua must meet stricter before he will accept the peace agreement.

"I think there's been enough killing - enough is enough," said Jason Vandermeer, a freshman in classics.

A large banner looming behind him read: "Stop the lies, stop the war." Next to the banner were several grave markers staked into the ground representing people killed in the fighting in Central America.

One grave marker read, "Eden Molina Ramos, killed May 17, 1985, age 2."

"The Reagan administration is running a big disinformation campaign about Nicaragua," said Amy Clark, a sophomore in law and member of the solidarity committee.

Hartzog said she was active in last year's demonstration.

If the U.S. government passes more legislation for Contra aid, she said, "We'll be out here again."

Reagan sets Nicaragua talk

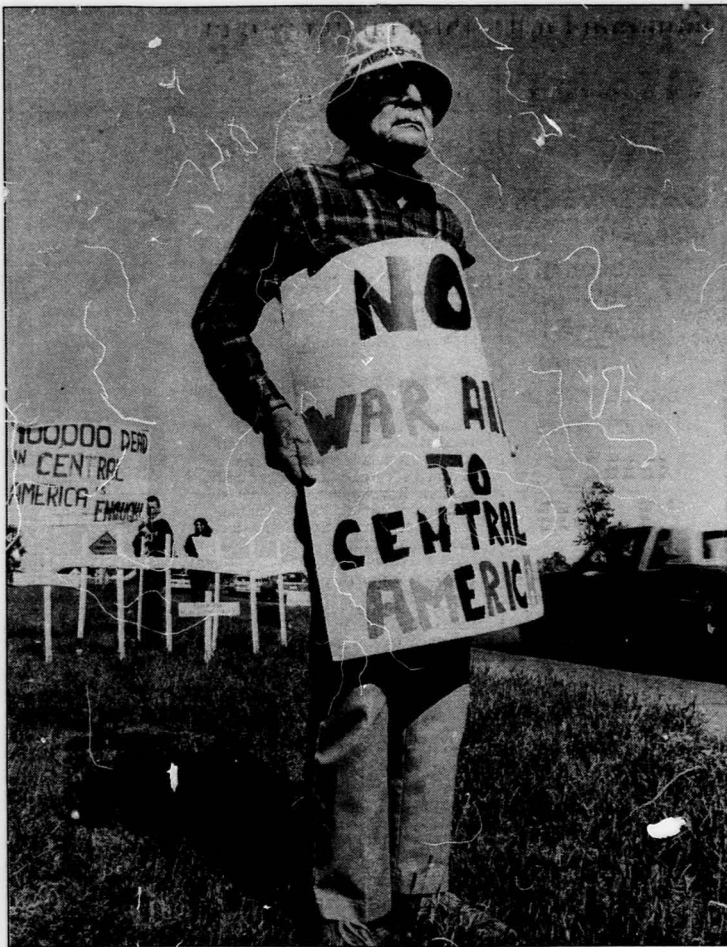

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, reported to be hardening demands on Nicaragua, will deliver a major address on Central America this week.

"The president will discuss Central American policy on Wednesday" before the Organization of American States, a White House aide said, and plans to lay down the terms on which a Nicaraguan peace settlement can be achieved.

The aide said Reagan will repeat that the negotiations must protect U.S. long-term security interests.

To a reporter's question on whether he is hardening his demands on Nicaragua, the president said: "I'm not ready to comment on that now."

University pension bodes ill for future

WITH STATE FUNDING of the pension system for Illinois university employees at an all-time low, word has been sent to this state's future generations that they will be forced to bear the brunt of a inevitable and ugly fall.

In July, Gov. James R. Thompson cut $1.07 million from the State University's Retirement System's 1988 budget, a 13 percent reduction from last year's budget. Because it is highly unlikely the General Assembly will overturn the cut in its October veto session, the pension system will be further sucked into a fiscal sand trap laid out for it by a state government operating on borrowed time.

About 50,000 state university employees — including 8,000 at SIU-C — contribute a part of their paychecks to the pension system. By law, the state is required to match the amount contributed by the employees. However, the state is not coming even remotely close to matching its end of the bargain, with only 44 percent of its obligations now covered for 1988.

AND WHILE THIS percentage is adequate to meet the system's present obligations, demographic trends indicate that this will not be the case in years to come. As more employees retire, more strain will be put on the state's financial resources. People are living longer and thus drawing pensions for longer periods of time, pensions they contributed to throughout their careers but which the state neglected.

Just as the federal government has threatened to bankrupt America's future generations in its half-witted pillage of the social security system, it would appear that Illinois possesses the same blueprints for financial disaster. Sooner or later, the money needed for the retirement pension plan is not going to exist.

Instead of banking an adequate amount of money to finance its obligations to the future retired university employees of the state, Illinois is taking the frighteningly stupid attitude of "We'll worry about it later."

OF COURSE THE "we'll" refers to those poor souls who are now just old enough to realize the inadequacies of minimum wage in maintaining a bearable lifestyle.

And in this era of ever-increasing budget deficits, it is only fitting that today's 18-year-olds will be saddled with yet another monster debt created by a government they weren't old enough to vote for.

Kamikaze cyclists peddling to disaster

Three times last week, idiot cyclists came charging off sidewalks on and near campus, daring me to help them commit suicide. The most frightening of these episodes was at Poplar and Mill. I stopped for the stop sign and started through the intersection when it was my turn. After I had started moving forward, a cyclist raced off the sidewalk in front of me. Fortunately, I was able to stop.

This young man apparently thinks he has the right of way in all circumstances. Apparently he was ignorant that he was breaking at least four laws: (1) riding on the sidewalk, (2) not stopping before entering a thoroughfare, (3) not stopping for a stop sign, and (4) not yielding legal right of way.

Cyclists are subject to the same laws as drivers of motor vehicles. Apparently many cyclists are ignorant of this and believe that cyclists always have the right of way, especially in a crosswalk. Such ignorance is going to cause death or serious injury to some cyclists.

Also, I hope the parents of these cyclists have large insurance policies, because the person who inadvertently helps a cyclist commit suicide is going to sue the cyclist and parents for a huge sum of money for the agony experienced in having to scrape human hamburger off the underside of the vehicle that grinds up that cyclist. — James E. Redden, professor of linguistics.

University budget not tightened wisely

Most members of the University community realize that this summer's budget cuts are cause for some belt tightening, but the University administration and Board of Trustees do not seem to have a realistic set of priorities.

It has always been my understanding that the primary goal of this university was education. It then would follow that the most important areas of the budget would be faculty salaries, equipment purchases and new periodicals and books for the library. I was shocked to learn that the "belt" was actually pulled tightest in these areas, while it seemed to be loosened in others, such as in the new budgets for Stone House, McAndrew Stadium, the Recreation Center, and administration salaries (the six-digit ones). These do not seem, at least to me, as important academically.

Members of the faculty are becoming disillusioned, and will probably start looking for positions at other universities. Prospective students will see a University that is falling apart at the seams and look elsewhere. Current students, especially graduate students, may well follow faculty to other institutions. I doubt that this will occur overnight, but it is starting to happen.

The administration and Board of Trustees had better re-examine their priorities while they still have the chance to turn things around. — Mike Phillips, geology.

Story missed Quotation

I do not want to appear to criticize the very fine feature article by Mary Wisniewski on the Middle East (Sept. 30) because I thought it was a valuable contribution. But, please, a small footnote.

I discussed cultural parallels of the Semitic Jews and Arabs, and the influence on non-Semitic peoples of the Middle East, such as the Persians (Iranians), with Ms. Wisniewski as a part of our interview. Then somehow in the writing or editorial process that quotation was elided.

I would hate to be found complaining about lack of knowledge of the Middle East among Americans and then have your readers confused as to whether I do or do not know that the majority population of Iran is not Semitic. Thank you for your very good article. — Donald L. Brehm, assistant professor, history

About 145 people celebrated the 27th anniversary of Nigeria's independence at the Nigerian National Day Buffet held Saturday in Quigley Hall.

The Nigerian Student Association, which has 60 members, sponsored the event. Valentine A. Aalo, president of the group, said the luncheon was held to "celebrate the anniversary of Nigeria's independence and to expose our culture and our lifestyle to the people in the community, students and faculty. Let them know Nigeria exists."

On Oct. 1, 1960, Nigeria gained its independence from the United Kingdom. "In Nigeria, it is a really big celebration, like the Fourth of July in the United States," Aalo said. "It is a work-free day."

The featured entertainment was the Black Fire Dancers, a student group whose dances include a mixture of modern, jazz and ballet. During its uplifting dance routine, the dancers leaped and twirled to the pulsing sound of the music. The group held tryouts last week and now has 28 members. It is a non-profit organization that performs on campus and around the community.

Benjamin Shepherd, acting vice president for academic affairs, gave an opening address. He said Nigeria is the most populated, richest, black country in the world and the most dominant black nation in Africa. He also said the Nigerian National Day Buffet was a good way of sharing outside culture with the University.

During the buffet, 20 Nigerian dishes were served to give people a taste of authentic meals. Some of the dishes served included meat pie; pepper soup; okra soup; poff poff, which is a solid ball of fried dough; fu fu, which is a staple food made of yams; bean soup; white rice; fried fish and chicken and moi moi, which is made from black-eyed peas.

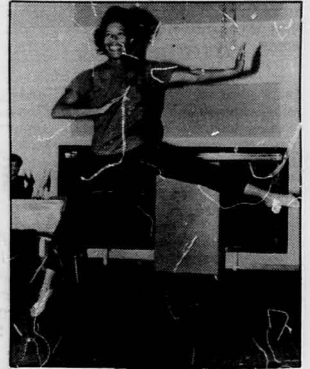

Beatrice Awoniyi, head of the food committee and secretary of the Nigerian Student Association, said seven people helped cook the food for the event. "Some food was started three days ago, the kinds that would keep, but most was cooked last night and this morning. Most of us haven't had any sleep."

The Nigerian Student Association's executives from last year received awards. The recipients were Ayoola Ogubiyi, Alpha Tense, Pius Eroraha, Eniola Ojigble, Sanjo Omoniyi, Wole Oslaja. They were given awards for the successful work they completed last year, Aalo said. Awards also were given to David Ugwu, Chris Ogbondah, Oke Ugweje, Ike Ehie, and Hamidu Dauda, members who have left or are going to leave.

Jerry Lacey, the association's faculty adviser, gave the closing remarks, saying the celebration was an important contact with Nigerian culture.

"It was successful," Aalo said. "This is the most important function the group holds. It is when the largest number of people come and share our culture with us."

Cheers are sounded as the cardboard boat that set a new world's record for carrying the most people docks safely. The boat, designed and built by art student Patty Mullen, held 34 people and two dogs.

Records kept, broken at boat regatta

By Curtis Winston
Entertainment Editor

A cardboard barge holding 34 people and two dogs broke a world's record and past winners of the "Annual International Cardboard Cup Challenge" repeated trophy-winning performances Saturday afternoon at the Du Quoin State Fair Grounds.

Roger Brummett and Du Quoin High School held on to the golden cardboard cup trophies which they earned at the first challenge last year.

Brummett, from Centralia, paddled his way to victory in a close race for the Class I title. In his unadorned, yet highly functional cardboard kayak, Brummett edged out a slick-looking cardboard rowing shell from Crystal Lake, which came in third, and barely beat second place winner Charles Keehn of Broadview.

Du Quoin High School's physics class dominated the Class II competition for boats powered by paddle wheels, propellers or sails. Trent Hill came in first with his classmate Vince Knapp coming in second. James Fritz, a graduate student in art, was third.

Class I is for boats that are powered by canoe paddles, kayak paddles or oars. Class II is for boats powered by all other forms of muscle powered propulsion devices and sails.

Class III is the "instant" boat class where for $5, spectators could buy the cardboard, plastic and other materials needed to create a cardboard racing boat "on the spot" within a two-hour time period.

First place in class III was Dee Cole of Centralia followed by Charled Keehn, a second place winner in Class I, and Thor Lindquist from Marion High School.

Lindquist's older brother Lars was the recipient of a $900 scholarship to SIU-C given to the winner of a high school grudge race for class I boats. Marion High School won the race by default because their boat was the only one left intact after the class I heats.

The highlight of the day was the "cardboard boat stuff" event in which the world record for most people in a cardboard boat was broken.

In a huge cardboard barge sponsored by Murphysboro Supply, 34 people with a German shepherd and a beagle on board, paddled their way around the race course while singing "Do Wah Diddy."

Barge-designer Patty Mullen, a sophomore in art at SIU-C from Murphysboro seemed surprised that her creation made it around the course. "It (the boat) didn't quite turn out as planned," Mullen said, adding that she had been up all night putting on finishing touches.

The old record was set last year at Lake Saint Louis in which 26 people and one dog completed the course in a cardboard boat.

An impressive design was a cardboard sea-plane designed by aviation senior Joe Taylor and sponsored by the Alpha Eta Rho aviation fraternity and the Experimental Aircraft Association. It won the "Pride of the Regatta" trophy for most creative use of cardboard.

Although the sea-plane looked great, it didn't perform as expected. The two people "flying" the plane didn't pedal fast enough to get the propellers to move the craft around the course.

The "Titanic Award" for most spectacular sinking went to a floating swastika piloted by four SIU-C students. A person sat in each arm of the swastika and paddled, however the team gained no forward motion. They paddled around and around until the boat disintegrated right on the starting line.

Debate set for Bork nomination

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

An SIU School of Law professor will support Robert Bork's confirmation to the U.S. Supreme Court at a debate titled "Robert Bork's America: The Debate" sponsored by the SIU School of Law Federalist Society at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the law school auditorium.

"Bork is well-qualified for the Supreme Court and has adhered to the philosophy of judicial restraint," said Patrick Kelley, law school professor.

"He is consistent with the role of the Supreme Court in our system," he said.

The opposing side will be taken by Robert Schofield, legislative and chapter director for the American Civil Liberties Union of Illinois.

Kelley said his opponent is qualified and the debate should be interesting.

Robert Bork, 60, a conservative member of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, was nominated by President Reagan on July 1 to replace retiring Justice Lewis Powell on the Supreme Court.

Each side will be given about 30 minutes and time for rebuttal and written questions from the audience.

The Federalist Society has a reputation of providing a fair forum for principle debates of issues, Timothy Capps, an SIU law student and organizer of the society, said.

Women Voters to have luncheon

The Carbondale Chapter of the League of Women Voters will be having a luncheon at noon Saturday at the Epiphany Lutheran Church on Chautauqua Street.

Jane Shapin, a state board member of the league, will be speaking about the relationship between local, state and national leagues.

Reservations for the luncheon will be accepted from current members, former members and their guests. For reservations, call Anne Philippi at 536-3314 or Clare Mitchell at 549-1473.

However, the policy allows requests for exceptions to the rules. Exceptions can be made at the discretion of department heads and college deans. Requests for exceptions or complaints that cannot be resolved at the department or college level would be referred to the Office of Personnel Services.

Enforcing the policy would be the responsibility of Guyon and his advisory committee vice presidents, deans department chairpersons administrative officials and employee supervisors. However, the policy does not specify penalties for violators.

Guyon said he doesn't anticipate any problems with enforcing the 1988 policy. "We're basically just changing the philosophy from having 'No Smoking' signs to 'Smoking Permitted Here' signs," he said.

However, enforcing the total ban on indoor smoking may prove more difficult, Guyon said. "To implement a totally smoke-free environment, there certainly are some people who will have some concerns," he said.

Some opponents already are voicing concerns over the total prohibition clause. Task force member Rodney Jones, who cast the only vote against the policy, said the clause "strikes me as going beyond the initial mandate of the committee."

While calling the 1988 policy "very admirable," Jones said the total ban on indoor smoking goes beyond protecting the rights of non-smokers by dictating a moral standard to smokers.

"I'm not sure how much more prohibition we should tolerate," he added. "I hope that the committee that is taking the policy beyond the immediate steps in July will consider the whole community and not just the ideal of the scientific professionals who developed the policy."

Police Blotter

Two auto burglaries at the Egyptian Sports Center, 1215 E. Walnut, were reported to the Carbondale Police Department at 8:37 p.m. Friday.

Radar detectors were reported missing from the vehicles of David Lingle of Carbondale and Travis Weis of Carterville, police said.

The burglar smashed the passenger door window of Weis' vehicle to enter, police reported.

Police said no fingerprints were found.

Kathi E. Erkin of 1005 N. Bridge St. was arrested and charged Friday with writing checks on a closed account.

Police said Erkin was arrested and charged with writing a check for $78.78 to Westown Mall and several additional checks on a closed account.

Police went to Erkin's residence and recovered some of the goods.

Police reported that she was taken to the Jackson County Jail.

The Jackson County Sheriff's Department would not comment Sunday on whether Erkin had posted bond and been released.

Correction

An art display in a photo on Page 8 of Friday's Daily Egyptian was incorrectly labeled a Nigerian art display.

Task force chairman Donald Paige, a professor of curriculum, instruction and media, said he while understands Jones' concerns, he also believes it is too costly to move toward a smoke-free environment. Smoke-related illnesses account for a large amount of missed work days and are a drain on the University's disability funds, he said.

"I respect that stand for individual rights," Paige said. "But the statistics that come from the other side show that it (smoking) is a national tragedy that we waste so many resources on."

Stanford University, but it is now a private firm.

Mayor Neil Dillard said the program will help Carbondale develop new small entrepreneurial or one-owner businesses.

Moreno said the program, which has three phases, will run for 30 months, from November until June of 1990.

The first 12 months will be spent looking over Carbondale and determining its advantages and disadvantages to businesses, he said. The second phase will involve the development and implementation of a plan to help small businesses.

The last six months of the program will be spent evaluating the plan, Moreno said.

Moreno said he hopes the program will create new jobs, attract new business and industry and expand or keep the businesses and industry that are already in the city.

Results of the program may include better use of the city's loan program for business development and expansion, better use of existing commercial business space in the community, an update of the city's publication on "How to Start a Business in Carbondale" and a waiting list for the SIU small business incubator.

The incubator will offer low-cost space in a building, services and University resources to new small companies.

Moreno said he believes representatives of SRI and the department will meet with city and community groups the first week of November.

The city submitted its proposal for the program to the Department of Commerce Sept. 4, Dixon said. Dixon, Moreno, Dillard and James Prowell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, participated in an interview two weeks ago.

About 20 community groups backed the proposal.

"The proposal showed evidence of broad-based community support," Dixon said. "It's important in an endeavor like this."

Moreno said SIU-C, the chamber, the Carbondale Convention and Tourism Bureau, the Citizens Advisory Committee, educational groups and utility companies are some of the groups that lent their support to the proposal.

The DCCA and SRI chose Carbondale, Chicago, the Quad Cities, Decatur and Monmouth as participants in the program.

As for the convention center, Wallace Palmer, president of Crystal Development Corp., had said that he expected to have a financial commitment for the proposed hotel-convention center by Oct. 2, but the commitment fell through.

The preliminary memo of intent to build the project that Palmer had with the city expired Sept. 30.

Chamber asks for short-term liquor license

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

A temporary liquor license for a fund-raiser will be considered by the Liquor Control Commission in a special meeting at 6:45 tonight.

During a meeting at the City Council chambers, the commission will discuss issuing a Class C liquor license, a temporary license for the sale of all alcohol by the drink, to the Chamber of Commerce for its Arts in Celebration Benefit Soiree.

The Commerce will hold the soiree, a black-tie fund-raiser, Saturday from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the National Guard Armory, 900 W. Sycamore St.

never done anything like this before," said Shank, a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Shank entered the sweepstakes contest in the summer. Using the redial button on his phone, he rang the 800 number advertised in a liquor store "about 20 minutes until I got through," he said.

"I got an operator and she told me, 'This is your lucky day,'" Shank said.

Though he knew he had won the money July 26, it took until Thursday for the red tape to clear and the check to arrive at his home in Danville, he said.

The grand prize for the sweepstakes was a red Porsche Coup worth $44,000. The $35,500 was offered as an alternative grand prize.

Shank says he is investing most of the money in long term securities. But he's keeping $4,000 "to get some things I've really wanted," he said.

Art exhibit to be shown at Logan

The John A. Logan College Museum is featuring artwork from the permanent collection of the college in a display Monday through Friday in the college's west entrance reception lounge.

General John A. Logan is the feature exhibit, which includes historical pictures, souvenirs, historical texts, campaign documents and background information about the items displayed.

A model of Logan's Murphysboro birthplace will be displayed, along with pictures of the Logan family.

Works by artist Salvador Dali, including a lithograph of the "Sacrament of the Last Supper" and two sculptures also will be on display at the exhibit.

Also included are William Boyesen's handblown glass bowl, a handwoven wool scarf from Upper Pradish, India, and Harris Deller's ceramic "Thumbprint."

The museum is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Admission is free. For details, call Priscilla Winkler at 549-7335.

Feminist group to discuss sexual harassment policy

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

An informal discussion on sexual harassment and SIU-C's policy towards it will be hosted by the Feminist Action Coalition on Tuesday. The discussion, which will be held at 7 p.m. at the Women's Studies House, 806 Chautauqua, is intended to provide the University community with a chance to share its experiences and bring out advantages and disadvantages of the current policy.

Linda Gannon, director of Women's Studies, said people who have dealt with the current policy, as a victim or through case work, will be in attendance offering insight as to how we'll do it.

Cynthia Clabough, coordinator of the event, said in a news release, "We're interested in having people with different backgrounds at the speak-out so that we can develop a well balanced picture of this problem and create solutions that take into consideration as many perspectives as possible."

The group hopes to offer ideas for revisions on the current policy. "We are trying to get an idea for what direction those revisions should take," she said.

President John C. Guyon announced last week that a task force has been assigned to examine whether the current sexual harassment policy at SIU-C is adequate and to revise the policy if necessary. Guyon said the present policy is cumbersome.

The group has been approached by several women on the issue, and it seems time to develop a plan of action, Clabough said.

Museum adds 20 new displays

More than 20 new acquisitions to SIU-C's permanent museum collection of art and artifacts are on display through Dec. 15 in the University Museum.

A collection of campaign buttons, 1960s and '70s-erapolitical curios and a rare 1942 photo portrait assembly of Carbondale's Good Luck Glove Factory employees and officers will be among the displays.

The exhibition will also include artist Ke Francis' mixed-media sculpture, "Spirit Boat," done in cardboard, wire and metals.

Leonard Earl Johnson, a Cairo resident who attended SIU-C in the 1960s, donated about 200 political campaign buttons to the museum over the summer.

SIU-C anthropologist Carroll L. Riley will exhibit a group of historical articles of clothing he collected from Tepehuan, Mexico, which display the beaded and embroidered ornamentation of the area's costumery.

Also on exhibit are black-on-black pottery made by San Idelfonso Pueblo Indians in New Mexico, beaded waistbands from Zaire, Africa, color lithographs by Will Peterson and Cynthia Archer and a silkscreen print by Frederick A. Jones.

Women's tennis 6-2 after weekend wins

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

The women's tennis team exceeded Saluki coach Judy Auld's expectations and finished second out of five teams in the Northern Illinois Invitational over the weekend in Normal.

The Salukis won three out of four matches, losing only to tournament champion Eastern Michigan, improving their record to 6-2. Going into the tournament Auld said she would be happy to win two.

Eastern Michigan was 4-0. Marquette finished third at 2-2. Northern Illinois finished fourth at 1-3. Cincinnati finished last at 0-4.

Friday's matches were forced indoors at a local YMCA by cold and windy conditions in Normal. Only the top four singles players and the top doubles team played due to limited court space. SIU-C beat NIU 4-1 and Marquette 3-2.

The Salukis lost to Eastern Michigan 7-2 Saturday. "They were definitely a beatable team," Auld said. "Mentally we just let the matches slip away."

SIU-C then came back to beat Cincinnati 7-2 later in the day.

Ellen Moellering was 0-4 in No. 1 singles. Beth Boardman, in No. 2 singles, and Dana Cherebetiu, in No. 3 singles, were 3-1. Missy Jeffrey was 1-3 in No. 4 singles. Sue Steuby was 1-1 in No. 5 singles. In No. 6 singles, Maria Coch was 1-0 and Michele Toye was 0-1.

In doubles play, Moellering-Boardman were 4-0. Cherebetiu-Jeffrey and Steuby-Toye were 1-0. Coch-Julie Burgess were 1-1.

a 16-15 lead. Brda's 50-yard field goal attempt with 0:15 left was long enough but missed wide left.

The Saluki defense, led by linebackers Mike Carbonaro and Ezell Shelton, gave another outstanding effort. Carbonaro had 14 tackles and Shelton had 15 tackles. The defense was forced to work overtime due to the offense's turnovers and short drives. KU had the ball for 36:08 compared to 23:52 for SIU-C.

"We played with them snap for snap, down for down," Dorr said. "We probably played harder than they did. We probably wanted the game more than they did."

BACK TO HEALTH
NO-HEADACHES ARE NOT NORMAL
NO-EVERYBODY DOESN'T HAVE HEADACHES
NO-YOU DON'T JUST HAVE TO LIVE WITH HEADACHES

One of the most frequent problems we treat in our office is recurring headaches. Remember the pain from your headache is there for a reason. It's your body's way of telling your brain that something is wrong. Oddly enough, the pain should be thought of as your friend, a warning signal.

If your home smoke alarm goes off in the middle of the night, you don't get up and just shut it off. You find the cause. Likewise don't just take medication to cover up your headache. Find the cause.

In many instances, headaches are caused by abnormal function of the nerves from your upper neck. Without proper functioning of the neck vertebrae (bones), the nerves become irritated causing headaches.

All the medication in the world is not going to restore this area to the proper state of function.

Through careful analysis and gentle Chiropractic treatments, proper mobility and function can usually be restored, thus eliminating your headache.

We have patient after patient with headaches that thought there was no hope. Now they are living active painfree lives without headaches.

Remember two points:
(1) Treat the cause and the symptom (pain) will go away.
(2) Only a Doctor of Chiropractic can tell you if yours is a Chiropractic case.

Don't suffer any longer! Call our office today!
Restoring and Preserving Your Health is our Highest Priority.

Field hockey team downs NIU for its first victory this season

Staff Writer

The Saluki field hockey team's 2-1 victory over Northern Illinois Friday was its first win of the season and snapped a nine-game losing streak.

After NIU had taken a 1-0 lead, sophomore Klaudia Gorman scored at the 28-minute mark of the first half to tie the game.

Foreign exchange student Marianne Wulkop put the Salukis ahead to stay when she scored the game-winning goal about six minutes into the second half.

Both teams had 16 shots on goal and Saluki goalie Chris James had five saves.

The next game for coach Julee Illner's 1-9-1 squad is against Southwest Missouri at 11 a.m. Saturday at Stehr Field.

knees from the Redbirds' last meet.

Senior Jack Shepherd turned in a strong performance, finishing 13th in 25:27. Junior Dave Beauchem and senior Joe Taylor finished together in 15th and 16th in 25:42.

Shepherd was pleased with his run. "I ran a lot better than I have in the past," he said.

Junior Jobie Kelly ran well in his first top-seven finish on the Saluki squad this year. Kelly finished 19th overall in 26:20. Junior Brian Stewart filled out the Salukis' top seven in 21st with a time of 26:26.

SEMO won the five-team meet with 34 points, SIU-C had 45 and SWMS was third with 46.
