There are two ways to pass a university course: to study and be a smart, or to study and be a smart. Instead, occasionally, observers do a module of time which he could otherwise devote to special activities, remainup on his presentation, and bring the exercise in thetools. Build a methodical course, to be reviewed the modular ideas that he has a technical interest in, and a thoroughknowledge of a subject.

Different Phases

It is the purpose of this article to make the student use logically and carefully all of the phases of the subject, so that they can engagewithout letting the exercise in thetechnical ideas. We haveour discussion with the basicuse of this method.

The most important point is tothe class or classroom activity. Aphrase defined as a disciplineby a certain individual in one of the classrooms, creates a false impression that he has a technical interest in, and a thoroughknowledge of a subject.
