About 100 Parents Attend Activities At SIU Sept. 22

Approximately 100 parents of SIU students were guests of the university at the second annual Parents Day, Saturday, Sept. 22.

After a tour of the campus, the guests attended a convocation in Shryock auditorium at 4 p. m., where they were welcomed by President Delyte W. Morris, who spoke of the recently completed Student Center and its facilities.

Following an introduction of the academic and personnel deans, Dr. C. Horton Talley, chairman of the speech department, gave the main address, in which he stressed the role of parents and teachers in education.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. Morris and the office of student affairs staff were hosts at an open house at the Student Center at 5 p. m.

Another feature of Parents Day, which was combined with Scouts Day, was the Saluki-Central Michigan football game at McAndrew stadium Saturday night. Pre-game activities included a flag-raising ceremony by the Boy Scouts and the SIU band.

At the half, the band executed several formations, and the Scouts presented Indian dances and rituals. Dr. Morris climaxed the activities with a brief welcoming speech.

Set Student Teacher Application Deadline

Formal application for winter term student teaching must be made by Sept. 28, according to an announcement by Dr. Charles D. Neal. Failure to do this will mean the student may not receive an assignment for winter term. Application blanks may be obtained from the teacher training office University Training school.

STUDENTS WISHING to teach must also have fulfilled prerequisites as listed in the university bulletin. These requirements include a physical examination which will be given by the health service during November. Each student must have completed this physical examination before he will be given a student teaching assignment.

Assignments of student teachers will be made one week prior to the pre-registration week for winter term.

Dr. Noble Kelley Psychology Head

The psychology department at SIU was authorized two years ago, but has just been activated this year with the coming of Dr. Noble H. Kelley, who has been named chairman of this department.

While psychology, as a science and as a profession, is relatively young, its importance in education has come to be increasingly recognized.

PREVIOUS TO THE activation of the psychology department, the department of guidance and special education has been offering courses in psychology. This new department is to be an all-university department, which will attempt, as soon as possible, to provide a program of instruction and of psychological services to meet the needs of the various schools of the university and the community of Southern Illinois.

At present, Dr. Kelley is the only member of this department, but addition of members is planned during the coming year. As the staff is increased, new courses will be offered.

DR. KELLEY CAME to SIU from the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky., where he had been chairman of the department of psy-

President Morris Talks to Freshmen

More than 900 freshmen attended the address by President Delyte W. Morris at the convocation which was given for their benefit last Thursday.

Using as his theme "the marks of an educated man," Dr. Morris advised students to "set their sense of values, accept the certainty of change, and develop a better understanding of themselves, other people, and the world."

"It is our hope that the university can help you to develop your scale of values and make self-appraisal possible," Dr. Morris continued.

Dean of Men I Clark Davis opened the convocation by introducing the deans of the undergraduate colleges and graduate school, and Jerry Nordberg, president of the Student Council, to the freshmen assembly.

chology and director of the Psychological association, a member of the Mid-Western Psychological Association of Mid-Western colleges.

The executive offices of the Board, which are now located at the University of Minnesota, will be moved to SIU by Oct. 1. Miss Mary Boston, a June graduate of SIU, is the administrative assistant in the executive offices.

1951 SIU Homecoming Plans Get Underway

Plans for the annual fall Homecoming are beginning to roll faster as the traditional week-end draws near. The date for this year's Homecoming is Oct. 25-27. A tentative schedule of events has been set by Glen Bean, Homecoming chairman, and members of the Steering committee.

Chaplain at Nazi Trials To Speak At SIHSPA Meet

The Rev. Henry F. Gereke, Lutheran chaplain at Menard penitentiary, and assistant to the pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Chester, will be guest speaker at the Southern Illinois High School Press association luncheon Saturday, Sept. 29.

THE REV. GEREKE was chief chaplain at Nuremberg prison in Germany during the trials of the Nazi leaders by the International Military Tribunal, and spiritual adviser to the 15 Protestant defendants. His story of his experiences was released for the first time in the Sept. 1, 1951 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Such well-known Nazi high officials as Julius Streicher, Rudolph Hess, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, and Hermann Goering were numbered among the prisoners for whose spiritual guidance he was responsible.

CHAPLAIN GEREKE'S job was extremely difficult, considering the background of the defendants. Nevertheless, they were to such an extent dependent upon his presence that when they heard a rumor that he might be sent back to the States to his wife, who was in poor health, all 21 Nazis signed a letter which they sent to Mrs. Gereke, begging her to allow her husband to remain with them until they were sentenced.

Said the Rev. Gereke: "Hitler's strong boys, who had scoured Christianity and broken the 10 Commandments more than any scoundrels in history, were beseeching an American housewife for the spiritual counsel of a pastor of the Lutheran church, Missouri Synod."

Various problems are still present, but these are diminishing as the program picks up speed. Bean stated that it is doubtful that this year's event will have any definite over-all theme. Thus far, no theme has proved itself acceptable to the committee. The Homecoming dance theme is now being planned, and will probably be decided upon this next week. As yet, the name of this year's dance band has not been announced.

BEAN ALSO stated that positions are open on various committees. Bean urged students to contact him if they are interested in serving on this year's program.

Oct. 4 has been set as the beginning date for acceptance of nominations for Homecoming Queen. Candidates will be introduced to the student body at a special assembly to be held at 9 a. m. Thursday, Oct. 18. The election of the queen will be held the same day.

AN INFORMAL DANCE is being planned for Thursday night, Oct. 25, at the Student Center as beginning of Homecoming week-end. Friday will bring a special assembly at 11 a. m. in the men's gymnasium. This will be followed by a pep rally and bonfire to be held at the Practice Field at 7 p. m. Friday.

The Homecoming play, "Good-bye My Fancy," will be presented at 8:30 Friday.

The Saturday afternoon football game will be preceded by a Homecoming parade scheduled for 11 a. m. Saturday. Following the game various groups on campus are holding Open House for alumnae.

The Homecoming festivities will officially end Saturday night with the Homecoming dance in the men's gymnasium, and the crowning of the 1951 Homecoming Queen.

Dey, director of extension and adult education; E. J. Simon, director of the Vocational-Technical Institute; and a secretary of the university faculty yet to be appointed.

DR. KELLY RECEIVES NATIONAL APPOINTMENT

Dr. Charles J. Kelley, director of the SIU museum, has been appointed as one of two representatives to the Council of the American Association for the Advancement of Science for 1952 and 1953. Dr. Kelley was selected by the executive board of the American Anthropological association, a national organization of qualified anthropologists.

Lawrence Voss, of the Southern Illinois University speech department, designer of a portable theatrical switchboard, shows Miss Carole Krusen of Clayton, Mo., how the board is operated. Miss Krusen helped construct the board in a University stagecraft class. The panel can be moved by one man, is capable of lighting almost any theatrical production, and cost $1,000, about $1,500 less than the commercial price.

Radio and Public Opinion

For the next month now, SIU students and faculty will be asked for their contributions to the "Crusade for Freedom" drive, which begins today, and will last till Oct. 25.

Last spring so many drives were conducted, (all of them, however, for worthwhile causes,) that we were literally "driven" to distraction.

But this is a new term—we all have a fresh outlook (supposedly) and a fresh bankroll (unlikely).

THIS CAUSE TO WHICH we are being asked to contribute is unusual, in that the proceeds from it will be used, not for food or clothing, or medicine for the starving, but for the building of radio station in Europe.

How many of us listen to the radio? Purely a rhetorical question for this era. The radio plays a very important part in shaping public opinion, and this applies to other countries besides the United States.

The $3,500,000 goal set for the crusade will be used to supplement the "Voice of America" with other radio stations all over Europe to undermine actions by communist elements. Give as much as you can. V. M.

An SIU Special

This year, for the first time that we can remember, the university cafeteria is going to be open on week-ends as a special service to students.

It sounds like a fine idea. If you buy a cafeteria meal ticket for $5, you can get $7.50 in food—quite a saving. And, the food isn't bad at all. This week-end plan will allow students who eat there every school day to use their meal tickets during the week-end, and, in addition, will give students who live at organized houses not serving week-end meals a chance to save a little on food expenses—a welcome thought to many. One meal ticket used only on week-ends would last for several weeks.

Then, too, different campus social or educational groups, whose members might not have time to meet during the week, might get together at the "caf" for a luncheon meeting on Saturday or Sunday.

Long Live the King

Well, with the new school year just beginning, Southern has officially "gone to the dogs." Or rather, we should say, the dog has come to Southern, in the form of King Tut, the pedigreed Saluki, who arrived recently to take up his duties with the athletic department. (Perhaps if we had taken the name "Rebel" we might have gotten a real, live Rebel, imported straight from the South.)

WE WANT TO WELCOME "King" to the campus and assure him all possible measures will be taken to insure his comfort. Since he's a stranger in the area, some of you students might make him feel more at home by bringing him a nice fat pork chop or a steak bone to gnaw on (or are Salukis too pedigreed for such common fare?).

The change-over from Maroons seems to be catching on pretty fast. After all, it's just as easy to explain to an outsider what a Saluki is, as what a Maroon is. V. M.

Faculty members, non-academic employees, and students who submitted their applications by Sept. 19 will be given first consideration. Then, if any room in the parking lots remain, those applying after that date will be considered.

Parking application blanks are available at the Office of Student Affairs.

Dean Davis said that those in the first group whose applications are approved by the parking committee will receive their approved application if at all possible today by mail.

This will make it possible for them to secure their sticker in the near future, at the business office.

The parking committee has adopted the following set of rules and regulations governing parking on the campus for 1951-52:

1. REGISTRATION OF AUTOMOBILES.

All automobiles operated by faculty members, non-academic employees, and students of Southern Illinois University shall be registered at the fall and spring registration periods.

Speech, Hearing Clinic Expands Area Services

The speech and hearing clinic of SIU is expanding its services to the entire Southern Illinois area. Diagnosis and therapy is available to persons of all ages who have speech defects or are hard of hearing.

Such defects as stuttering, delayed speech, cleft palate, cerebral palsy, and aphasia are special problems treated in the clinic.

The expansion in services is in part due to the appointment of an additional speech correctionist, Dr. J. P. Brackett, who joins Dr. C. W. Garbutt in directing the work of the clinic. Dr. Brackett has been teaching in the speech and hearing clinic at Northwestern university for the past 12 years. He is a professional member of the American Speech and Hearing Association and joined the SIU faculty as an associate professor.

Specially equipped speech and hearing rooms in the recently completed University Training school have been made available to the speech clinic for handling this expanded service.

Klingberg of the government department is the faculty sponsor.

Central Michigan Whips Southern in Grid Opener

by DON DUFFY

A veteran Central Michigan line, a couple of hard running backs, plus the precision passing of Andy MacDonald combined to hand the Salukis a 34-13 defeat Saturday night. Central did all their scoring in the first half against a defenseless Southern defense and an offense that continually bogged down.

The second half, however, was a different story. It was then that the Saluki defense tightened, and the offense began to move. Two touchdowns were scored in two successive series of downs. Johnny Vanderplum's run climaxed a 76 yard drive for Southern's first score. The second touchdown came on a 48 yard pass from Joe Huske to end Leo Wilson.

Central Michigan scored the first time they took the offensive. They took the ball on a punt on their 41 yard line, and moved down field until Dave Clark found a hole between right guard and tackle to score from Southern's 13. After the ball exchanged hands twice, Clark breezed through the middle of Southern's defense for a 70 yard touchdown gallop. MacDonald again converted to put his team ahead 14-0. The third score came by way of a MacDonald aerial maneuver which was ruled complete because of interference to the intended receiver. MacDonald's kick was good, too, and the score became 21-0.

The Saluki offense was stymied again after taking the kick-off. Charlie Neiry's punt to the Southern 46 was called back because of an off-side penalty against Michigan. The Salukis took the five yards and chose to kick again. A wild center eluded Neiry, who finally picked up the ball and was dumped in his tracks on Southern's 30 yard line. After calling three ground plays that failed to work, MacDonald pitched a 26 yard touchdown toss to end Al Drath. MacDonald kicked the point, but a holding penalty nullified it. Partenio tried the second time, but missed the mark. A Saluki fumble set up the sixth Central score, which came on a 27 yard toss by Bob Kerr. MacDonald came in to kick the point, making the score 34-0. Then half-time brought relief.

The second half brought about a change in the Salukis. They began to play good football. The defense held, forcing Central to punt. Quarterback Joe Huske took over the offense on his own 24. A series of twenty-three plays brought the ball to within the Michigan 10 yard line. From there Johnny Vanderplum, who showed flashes of some great running, crossed for the first Southern touchdown. Neiry's try for the point carried low and to the right.

Herb Cummins, who played a sharp defensive game, intercepted a Central pass after the kick-off and ran it back to mid-field. Southern took over on offense. Joe Huske then took advantage of the opportunity when Southern's line held long enough to get off a good pass. He hit Leo Wilson along the eastern side-line. With a fine showing of speed, Wilson outdistanced the Central Michigan secondary and safety man for a 50 yard touchdown pass. Neiry kicked the point to make the score 34-13. Neither team could put together a strong offensive drive after that

Graduates

Interns Learn by Actual Experience

One of the most advanced projects of its kind in the nation is the Southern Illinois University graduate internship program, beginning its third year this month. It provides opportunity for graduate students in education to apply classroom theory in actual situations and to gain practical experience in specialized fields.

According to Charles D. Neal, director of teacher training, the project was originated through recommendations of public school administrators in the lower 31 counties of Illinois. Following acceptance by the College of Education and the Graduate school, the first experimental program was set up in the Cisne high school in 1949.

OBJECTIVES OF the program are: to thoroughly acquaint the master educator with actual school situations, to guide the intern in evaluating theory in terms of practice, and to put the theory of "learning by doing" into effect on the college level.

Three types of internships practiced in the graduate program are those for the teacher, for the supervisor, and for the administrator. The teacher internship is offered graduate students desiring to become superior or "master" teachers, the supervisor internship for master supervisors, and the administrative internship, most flexible of the three, is for interns who qualify for assignment to work directly with master administrators in public schools.

BECAUSE OF the marked advance of the internship program at Southern, Dr. Neal was invited to appear last week on a program for professors of educational administration, and the game ended with no further scoring.

Next Saturday the Salukis travel to Bloomington for their second I.I.A.C. game. Last season, the Maroons battled the Illinois Normal Redbirds to a 13-13 tie in a game which came close to becoming an upset.

Wonder how long it will be before Bill Waller and his boys will be able to bend an ear to "Old MacDonald Had A Farm" without frothing at the mouth?

But then, a couple of backs named Clark and Dombroski did all right for themselves, too. With a back-field like that, plus a forward wall that's hard to crumble, it's no wonder that Central Michigan is picked as the team to watch in the I.I.A.C.

When the band formed a formation spelling "WIN" in reminiscence of the 1947 Corn Bowl team, it brought a lot of laughs from some fans who got up and left. We wonder if they would have laughed as hard had they seen the second half? Southern took the field at the start of the game with little chance of a victory. They took the field at the start of the second half with even less. Yet when a team can make a complete reversal of form like they did when trailing by 34 points—that's showing more than just promise . . .

This year's Salukis are a young bunch—only two juniors and two seniors. There's talk about building for the future. But with schools like Illinois, Notre Dame, Iowa, and Northwestern flashing the green stuff around, we wonder how long any potential grid stars will stick around to spend their futures at Southern.

THE CHAUTAUQUA FOREST

Fall baseball practice started last week. That's the time when "Abe" Martin tries to keep 60 or more candidates busy—all on one diamond! Left field, which is bordered by the Veterans' Housing, slopes down into center, a valley bordered by tall weeds and brush. In right field, about 250 ft. from home plate, and beyond the foul line, vegetation ranging from poison ivy to an oak tree or two is flourishing. Not that the baseball facilities are inadequate—it's just that so many promising freshman candidates get lost in that jungle!

JERRY BOYD, freshman end, eludes Leo Wilson and an unidentified pass defender in an attempt to snare a pass from Joe Huske in last week's intra-squad game. The game, played under McAndrew Stadium's new lighting system, was won by Huske's "B" squad by a score of 19-13.
