Civil Service Council blasts Brandt

By Gary Jagod
After heated discussion, the SIU Civil Service Employees Council voted 6-3 Wednesday to send a resolution to President Warren W. Brandt expressing their dissatisfaction with administrative policies concerning pay scales for Civil Service employees.

The resolution is in letter form accompanied with argumentative material. The letter concludes that the council "holds the administration in complete and total contempt" of its policies toward the welfare of Civil Service employees.

The council discussed for more than an hour the inequity and practicality of the present program for determining salaries.

David Reed, chairman of the council, said the present system of determining salaries for SIU Civil Service workers is in a state of change. As the administration attempts to cope with budget cuts, cost of living and merit raises and minimum wage hikes, inequities in the pay scales are developing, Reed said.

"A promised 3.99 percent across-the-board raise from the administration has been received by some employees, but as little as 3.29 percent was received by others," Reed said. He said this discrepancy was due to reallocation of funds at the departmental level.

The matter of salary adjustments was brought up by several members of the council. In the past year salary minimums and maximums for many Civil Service jobs have been increased, but employees already in a given pay bracket received no increase, they said.

Geraldine Kelley, council representative for secretarial jobs, pointed out that this arrangement left the 10-year employee earning little more than the 6-month employee.

Lee Hinder, general representative, introduced the anti-administration resolution to the council, but William Nelson, administrative jobs representative, was its chief supporter.

Secretary-of-state council members were in agreement with the spirit of the resolution, but balked at approving it in its final form.

Kelley moved for the resolution to be tabled, the motion died without a second. During the discussion Reed, Kelley and Council Secretary JoAnn Marks argued against the resolution.

"I think the president did the best job possible with the money available," Reed said. He cautioned the council against being too hard on the president, "if the resolution was sent to Brandt." Reed argued that more time should be spent trying to work out any inequities and said he felt discussions of pay scales would be corrected by next year.

Nelson countered, saying, "By that time, we could have a new president," and held his position that the resolution should be sent to Brandt immediately.

Fallen arches are the design of the day as Architecture 111 students make do without chairs in the Blue Barracks. The teacher has shortened the class' 12-hour meeting time per week to three hours because of the lack of chairs. (Staff photo by Chuck Fishman)

Police toughen stance on bicycle violations

By Laura Coleman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Carbondale police are beginning a crackdown on bicycle drivers who ignore traffic regulations, said Phil Gilbert, city prosecuting attorney, Wednesday.

Gilbert said he got the tough policy is a result of the increased number of bicycle-related accidents recently. He estimated that about 10,000 bikes are on Carbondale's streets this year which he said is an increase of 3,000 from last year.

"We are going to be an inconvenience and the bike riders are going to be upset," Gilbert said. "But if we save lives it's going to be worth it."

Gilbert said the police will be concentrating on stop signs and one-way street violations. He emphasized that the law will be enforced on all city streets and not just the heavily traveled ones.

Gilbert said only one car to hit him and off to the promised land goes the guy on the bike," Gilbert said.

Gilbert also applies to motorists who are sacrificial to bicyclists, Gilbert said.

"I don't want to give the impression that anything is the bike rider's fault. If three cars and one bike come to a four-way intersection and the bike gets the right of way as a car would," Gilbert continued. "Everybody's going to have to abide the rules."

A 12-hour meeting time per week to three hours because of the lack of chairs. (Staff photo by Chuck Fishman)
Tennis-crazy crowds cramrapea courts

By Charles Giametta

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Fluid backhands and floating lobs, once hallmarks of tennis courts across the land, have given way to 30-minute-a-set tournaments. As a result, tennis courts of the wealthy, now smash-sublimely or ricochet wild off the racket of 21 minute-a-set tours, have been abandoned by the rich for the sake of the tennis courts of the middle class.

"There's a large participation by faculty and staff as well as students, particularly during the regular season," said Malone.

"The courts are fully booked, and we have a waiting list of about 10 people," said Malone. "We have a variety of players, from beginners to those who play recreationally."

News Roundup

Soviet crewman shoots self on jetliner

LONDON (AP) - A crewman shot and killed himself aboard a Soviet jetliner flying from New York to London on Wednesday and touched off a five-hour diplomatic wrangle about who should investigate the death, Scotland Yard said.

"The man was satisfied, the report said. "That there is no evidence of a criminal act and that the wound was self-inflicted." The plane was allowed to continue on to Moscow.

The plane's 102 passengers, most believed to be American tourists headed for the Soviet Union, were herded into an air-conditioned building for questioning by police. The investigation for a time turned into a hassle over whether Soviet or British authorities were responsible for probing the case.

Also on Wednesday, four London-bound passengers tells newsmen after she was released by police that the plane had "suddenly wobbled and went much faster" during the flight, indicating the shooting may have occurred in the air.

"Police declined to give any details of the suicide, but the Evening News of London reported the dead man was the plane's navigator, aged between 40 and 50.

Israeli approves interim Sinai accord

JERUSALEM (AP) - The Israeli parliament approved a new treaty with Egypt which ended the 1967 war and established a joint security force in Sinai, the cabinet said.

"The treaty, signed Tuesday, provides for a joint military force in Sinai, the cabinet said. "The force will be composed of 12,000 Israeli and Egyptian soldiers, and will be under the command of a joint command post in Egypt and Israel."

Democrats balk on energy compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Democratic leaders decided Wednesday not to compromise with President Ford until he provides the House with at least one clear outline of his energy plan by next week whether they can keep up his promised veto of a bill extending price controls.

"The string has to be played out," said Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., one of nine Democrats who met in Speaker Carl Albert's office. "We are committed to taking a vote on the override before we leave Washington."

Albert told reporters there is no point in trying to compromise with Ford until the override vote indicates Congress' bargaining strength.

Israeli commandoes storm Lebanon city

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Israeli commandoes stormed a beachfront apartment building in Beirut on Wednesday, according to police and witnesses.

The police said four Israeli commandoes entered the building in the Ashrafieh section of Beirut, and killed four people.

Hoffa's foster son refuses to testify

DETROIT (AP) - Jimmy Hoffa's foster son refused to answer questions Wednesday about the disapperance of Hoffa's former associates, federal officials said, after refusind to say whether he took the Fifth Amendment during his brief appearance before a federal grand jury.

O'Brien's attorney, James Burdick, charged the government with using the Hoffa case to "sweep in" members of the Teamster Union and "sweep in" other union officials "at the cost of a significant investigation into the disappearance of James R. Hoffa."

O'Brien was one of six Teamsters arrested for allegedly threatening to use violence to keep a young man away from Hoffa.

Tennis in Carbondale, southern Illinois

By Charles Giametta

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois Racquet Club opened in 1974 and is testimony to the popularity of tennis in the Southern Illinois area.

Members pay up to $10 an hour to practice their skills in temperature-controlled courts.

"We've had little slow over the summer," Rose Kennedy, assistant manager of the Racquet Club, said. "But we don't have any problems filling our courts in winter.

The courts are rented only to members. Membership fees range from $125 per year for an entire family to a $30 rate for students. There are currently 500 members.

"We get new members now without any promotion, so I expect it to keep rising. There's just great interest in tennis in this area. A lot of it is due to this facility," Kennedy said.

For those who can't afford the Racquet Club or have trouble finding space on SU courts, the Carbondale Park District offers six courts without lights. Even Dan Crunk, program director for the Park District, however, must make allowances because of the booming ranks of area participants.

"When I'm looking for a court in prime time, (3 p.m. to midnight) I just cannot find one in Carbondale," Crunk said.

"Tennis is just catching on in Carbondale and we look for it to pick up in the next few years," Crunk said.

"It's a game you can play until you're 85. It offers exercise and companionship and it's valuable as something a person can do all his life," he said.

"We have found a pretty even distribution of players according to population," Crunk said. "But the participation among women has definitely been our biggest increase over the past years."

Brother-bearing buggy

Eric Peterson, 6, with brother Arman and Arman's bear, stroll the campus to ease the heat of the day. Students joined the trio Wednesday in seeking relief from early September temperatures which ranged in to the humid 90's. (Staff photo by Bob Ringham)

---

Town property appraisal expected in two months

By Laura Coleman

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

City Manager Carolyn Frey said recently that he expects the appraisal being taken of downtown property to be completed within 60 days.

"I'm not sure exactly when the appraisals will begin," Frey said. "But we're making every effort to have them done in the next two months.

Frey said that the appraisal process involves determining the value of properties in the downtown area for the purpose of assessing taxes.

Frey said that the appraisal process involves determining the value of properties in the downtown area for the purpose of assessing taxes.
Inquest jury rules homicide in Hood death

By Pat Corcoran

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Jackson County Coroner's Jury Wednesday night ruled homicide in the death of Mark Thomas Hood.

The coroner brought the body into the Aug. 14 death of Hood, 27, formerly of 233 N. 13 St., Murphysboro, at the home of James and Mary Sitzinger, 309 N. 9 St., Murphysboro.

Mr. Hood was the cousin of Jackson County States Attorney Howard Hood.

It was reported earlier that police, after an investigation, classified the shooting as an accident. The jury ruled Hood was fatally injured by a single shot from a 30-20 caliber single shot rifle that was present in the house at the time of the killing, testified he heard the gunshot and saw Sitzinger holding the rifle.

The shooting occurred at approximately midnight in Sitzinger's kitchen. Amos, a Murphysboro High School senior testified that Hood had been drinking that evening and that Sitzinger had ordered him "more than five times.

"He told Tommey to come back tomarrow and we would talk about it," Amos said. Mr. Hood had come to the house about an hour before his personal problems, Amos said.

Both the Sitzingers declined to testify at the inquest. State's Attorney Hood said his office would not be involved in the investigation of the Jackson County Grand Jury.

William Meehan, Union County assistant states' attorney, will serve the state.

Jackson County Coroner Dan Ragdale said the bullet struck Hood in the right side of the neck just below the ear. It exited near the spinal cord and lodged in a stainless steel oven door.

Larry Tinscher, Murphysboro assistant police chief, testified that a spent, 30-20 shell case lay on the floor. A live round had been levered into the rifle's chamber, he said.

In testimony, Tinscher told the jury that the lever on the rifle must be worked each time for the gun to fire. "Unless the gun were malfunctioning there is no way it could have fired without a finger on the trigger," Tinscher said.

Amos testified that Sitzinger was standing to his "extreme left" when the shot was fired. Amos said when he looked at Sitzinger, he was pointing the gun in the air.

Sitzinger and Mr. Hood had discussed making an appointment about a gun. He said he did not know what prompted Sitzinger to bring the gun from the house.

"He (Seitzinger) was standing close enough to hand the gun to Tommey," Amos said.

Ragdale said death was caused by massive hemorrhaging.

"A lot of blood was all over the kitchen," Ragdale said.

Police officers who investigated the shooting said Seitzinger declined to make a statement of his own.

The autopsy performed on Mr. Hood showed a .105 per cent concentration of alcohol in his blood.

Amos said Mr. Hood was speaking in a "loud and obnoxious" manner to Seitzinger about action guidelines, however, that Seitzinger did not raise his voice to Mr. Hood.

Consumer group faces hazy future

By Laura Coleman

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The future of a once vibrant local consumer advocacy group is uncertain, as Gov. Dan Walker's office awaits someone to take charge of it.

The group is the consumer Council, which served several areas counties, was started in July, 1974 as part of Walker's Consumer Advocacy.

It was one of 19 regional councils formed by Walker's office to pass over a passage of consumer-oriented legislation, according to Judy Sullivan, a member of the Chicago office.

The Carbondale area group was started by James Thorne, who said Wednesday that he doesn't have enough time to devote to the council.

"My main function was to get it started," Tarr said. "The most response we got was from teenagers." The teenagers were from a consumer affairs class at Carbondale Community High School where he teaches.

Tarr cited the diversity of populations in the county as one of the major problems facing the group. "Our council serves both Carbondale and Jackson county, which have a widely dispersed population," he said.

Another problem for Tarr cited was that the local council had no budget, and volunteers had to spend their money on day-to-day items.

Tarr said about 40 to 50 persons attended group meetings, which lasted through September, 1974. "The response just went off. We really didn't have anything going down there." He said the group talked of preparing a price comparison survey in the local grocery stores but "the governor's office was so busy we just got into legal trouble if we did that."

Tarr said he and another member of the council were considering a formalization of a similar group among CCHS students, which might include to take a consumer-oriented course.

Meanwhile, Sullivan said Tuesday that Shirley Knight of Tamma, Ill., has been contacted about taking over the Carbondale area group by the Daily Egyptian, said she has been considering taking over Walker's office. Knight will be enrolling at SIU in January.

Fountain facelift

The Student Center fountain flows again after being idle for over four years. Bill Karger, sophomore in psychology, and Lisa Smith, sophomore in commercial graphics, pause to catch the mist. The fountain was destroyed when a construction crane dropped a load of bricks on it. The destroyed items had to be custom made and the marble was imported from Italy. Student Center Staff did the restoration work.

(Staff photo by Carl Wagner)

Committee to search for Center head

By Ray Urelch

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A nationwide search will be conducted to find the next director of the SIU Student Center, Bruce R. Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said Wednesday.

A search committee consisting of the Student Center Advisory Board and appointments by student government will review all applicants for the position, he said.

Clarence G. Dougherty, director of the Student Center, was appointed director of University Services by SIU President Warren W. Brandt at the June meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Swinburne said he will serve as chairman of the committee with Dougherty serving as an advisory capacity. Swinburne said that neither he nor Dougherty will be voting members.

Swinburne said a job description and guidelines for the position of the Student Center director have been written.

"What we've attempted to do is write in a positive statement about our af- fairs policy," Swinburne said. "This type of documentation that will produce a fair search," he said.

Advertisements will be placed in several higher education journals seeking applicants for the position.

Swinburne said he is waiting for two appointments to the committee by the student government before scheduling a meeting.

Student President Doug Diggles said Wednesday afternoon that he hoped to announce the two appointments within several days.

Swinburne said that he hopes the committee will select "about seven" finalists for the position.

The panel will determine the "best of the applicants," and what the interview will consist of, Swinburne explained.

Swinburne said the panel should finish the search by the end of fall semester.

Advisory Board reports that the director of the Student Center, when appointed, might assume the duties of Jack Bailer, assistant director of Student Activities Office. Swinburne said, "We're still studying that."

Swinburne said that he did not think the Student Center director would assume Bailer's job. "But I'm not locked in on that," he added. "I think we can make it work better than it has in the past by providing better cooperation between the Student Life Office and the Student Activities Office," he said. He added that "there has been cooperation before" between the two offices.

Swinburne explained that many universities have a group responsible for student center programming. "But this has been a Student Life function."

"I think that it makes some sense to have a coordinating council," he said, noting that for major events, such as Homecoming, "we see a need for coordinating activities."

Swinburne said he hopes to meet with Harvey Welch Jr., dean of student life, and Dougherty within a few days to discuss "how we can best organize both the Student Center (programming) and Student Activities so we can provide the best programming for our students."
Fire Colby

By Wendy Kearns
Daily Egyptian Student Writer

William E. Colby, CIA director, has been involved in intelligence operations for most of his adult life. He has held several high positions in the Central Intelligence Agency, including Director of Strategic Services, forerunner of the CIA. He became head of the agency in 1973 after years as a "dirty tricks" operative in Stockholm, Rome and Saigon.

A Rockefeller commission staff report, which has not been made public, recommends that Colby be fired.

The commission concluded, after investigating charges of CIA assassination attempts and domestic bugging, break-ins and wiretapping, that the agency had committed "plainly unlawful" acts. Rather than including a proposal to dismiss Colby in the staff report, the commission suggested that in choosing a CIA director for a maximum 10-year term, consideration should be given to individuals from outside the career service. "In an interview on June 30," President Ford said that there were no plans to replace Colby, but the thought of picking a director from outside the career service "is not there to plans to replace Colby now.

Supporters of Colby argue that he should not be blamed for improper activities that took place before he became director. What about the improper activities that took place while he has been director? Colby has admitted ordering the destruction of records in 1971, saying it was a request from the inspector general of the CIA stating that the agency had engaged in illegal and improper activities. Colby justified this action by saying that he was "attempting to change the procedures of the agency...to eliminate any holdings we had that we should not have had." He added, "I thought it best to let the misdeeds of the past sit quietly. I did not see that there was anything serious enough in there to warrant prosecution against any individual."

If there wasn't anything in the records that would be serious enough to warrant prosecution, why did Colby destroy them? Destruction of CIA records is serious enough to warrant the dismissal of Colby, if not warrant his own prosecution.

The Rockefeller commission staff report did not say so much criticize Colby for what he has done as director, but for his activities as head of a highly controversial South Vietnam public relations program.

The program, "Operation Phoenix," was designed only to neutralize the Viet Cong. Colby countered. But he said that 20,000 persons were killed. Colby insists that most of the deaths took place under combat conditions and could not be considered executions. But the Rockefeller commission staff report contends that Colby condoned murder and is not fit to head the agency.

If Colby is unfit to be the director of the CIA, why did the commission's report only recommend his dismissal and why did Ford say that there are no plans to replace him?

The Rockefeller commission report should have demanded the dismissal of Colby, and Ford should have conceded Colby's misdeeds cannot be overlooked...

Short Shots

Professors at SIU say students have been suffering from necrophobias for years.

Mike Springfield
Student Writer

In the new movie "Exorcist 2," Linda Blair gets renamed. I always thought fire companies had something in common with the devil.

Mike Springfield
Student Writer

I was happy to learn that Merlin's will soon be erecting an iron fence around its beer garden. After all, who ever heard of a zoo without tigers?

Scott Allen
Student Writer

The County Problems Commission spent $46,000 to issue an 18-page report. I hope they listed themselves as a problem.

Bill Federman
Student Writer

The sex-pot controversy shows that maybe science isn't what it's cracked up to be. After all, sex polls have all the questions and religious leaders have all the answers.

Jim Sastori
Student Writer

Stadium renovation ready for fumbling football season

By Jerie Jane

The $2.65 million steel blander, affectionately referred to some as the new McAndrew Stadium, is finished and will be ready for the football Salukis to tumble their way through this Fall's losing season.

The appearance of the overbearing monster might lend unfamiliar faces at SIU to believe our football team actually knows how to win games. The record shows quite the opposite. For the past three years the "Dogs" have had nothing but horrendous losing seasons.

Why then a new stadium? It's a typical example of ignorant athletic funding by the bureaucracy, affectionately referred to by some as 'jockeucracy'.

As Charlotte West, director of Women's P.E. said, "Men have first priority in using the stadium. We can't play field hockey there because there are conflicting lines. We can only use the track when the men are away, but we have worked out some concurrent practices for next spring."

"Yes, girls, you can use it when the boys, whom it was meant for in the first place, have flown away to some other state to lose a football game."

The metal mass' renovation history is as full of blunders as the football team's history. The first blunder made in the name of renovation took place in November, 1971, when the Board of Trustees approved phase one.

The original plan was to cost an estimated $1.8 million, which came from students' $10 quarterly athletic fees. For this minimal price, beloved McAndrew Stadium would get a new seating arrangement, public address system and a plush communications center to enable SIU to attract press coverage from "Evansville, St. Louis and other surrounding cities." Now, two years past the original date of completion and almost $1 million over the original budget, we can hope sports writers from far and wide will come to see the Salukis play just because we ave a plush com. Who cares if they're good enough to cover?"

Donald Boydston, then athletic director, was upset when inevitable delays set in during May, 1972. He said the renovation delays could hurt the team's chances of gaining major college status for the 1972 season.

The team, not the stadium was preventing SIU from obtaining major college status. The Salukis won but a single game in 1972, yet Boydston argued. We had hoped to put in a bid to the NCAA this year. If there is a delay, we would not even attempt to make an application. The NCAA would never recognize us with what we've been calling a stadium.

What he must have meant was the NCAA would never recognize us with what we've been calling a football team.

In 1973, SIU received a new athletic director and head football coach, Doug Weaver. He attempted to justify how stadium quality and team quality were connected.

In October, 1973, when the Salukis were in the middle of a 3-7-1 season, he said, "The reason we don't have a good team is because we don't have a good stadium. Football has the biggest potential for attracting students and players if the funding and coaching is good."

The improvements in the stadium were made for the crowd, with the exception of the astroturf. It's questionable whether even that made my any difference. The Salukis lost games no matter where they played.

Weaver also contended that the stadium was "the only weak link in a strong athletic program at SIU."

Strange in this instance could only refer to male athletes.
Louisiana still fighting 1954 ruling

AP — When the Supreme Court in 1954 ruled that "separate but equal" education was unequal and unlawful, Louisiana Governor Robert Kennon said the state would get around the ruling. Louisiana would find a way to "provide segregation in a free and public school system," Kennon vowed.

Twenty-one years later, as about 150,000 students return to campus for a new school year, the state is fighting a U.S. Justice Department suit charging that it is operating separate and unequal state universities.

A hearing on the suit, filed 18 months ago, is scheduled Sept. 5. It is the first such action brought against an entire state-supported higher education system.

The suit charges that Southern University's three campuses and Grambling University are 96 per cent black. Louisiana State University's four-campus system and the other state schools are listed as ranging from 89 to 97 per cent white.

The legal tug of war worries some educators, who fear that students will wind up the real losers in the whole case.

"When the elephants fight, the grass gets trampled," warned Dr. Paul Murrill, chancellor of Southern.

"We ought to get together sometime and have a few laughs," said the action.

The regal tug of war comes to an end.

Justices Department attorneys have visited every campus in the state, collecting evidence to be used when the case comes to trial in U.S. District Court at Baton Rouge.

The amount of material collected so far is voluminous and both sides are now haggling over what will be admitted evidence and how much more material will be necessary to fulfill federal inforcement.

No trial date has been set and the actual start of trial proceedings is probably several months away.

The Sept. 5th hearing is to consider motions to quash subpoenas used by the Justice Department to examine accreditation reports of Southern and the Atlanta offices of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The association says the records are confidential and wants to keep them out of court. It's not known what aspects of the reports have caught the eye of federal investigators.

Southern is one of the parties in the case are the Southern and Grambling alumni associations, as well as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The alumni associations are siding with the state, hoping to fight off any move to merge their black schools with predominantly white universities.

The NAACP is taking the side of the federal government, confiding that separate education is inherently unequal.

The state has refused to admit the groups as intervenors; a hearing on that issue is pending before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Letters

Pot law enforcement cost more than study

To the Daily Egyptian:

The recent controversy over Dr. Harris Rubin and his proposed marijuana-sex study is sad to anyone familiar with the enforcement of marijuana laws in this country. Sad because people seem more concerned with the morality of showing sexually stimulating films than with the money being spent on marijuana law enforcement and the moral question of wrecking a person's life for behavior that harms no one.

Over $20 million was spent last year, just in the state of Illinois, to prosecute the marijuana user. More money will be spent this year. Which is the greater waste of money and law enforcement manpower? Southern Illinois University pays over $25,000 a year to fund its share in MEG (Metropolitan Enforcement Group), this after David Fogel, head of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, told the 18 MEG units to stop making minor marijuana arrests as their charter demands. More than half of all MEG marijuana arrests in Illinois are for marijuana. Our twenty million dollars bought us a record breaking 22,000 marijuana arrests last year, with over 96 per cent of the arrests for simple possession, not sale. Is that worth $20 million a year?

"Marijuana is, for instance, far more innocuous in terms of physiological and social damage than alcohol or tobacco," according to the Supreme Court of Alaska, May 27, 1975.

The above statement is becoming more commonly heard as states such as Oregon, Alaska, Maine, California, Colorado, and Ohio have removed criminal penalties for personal possession of marijuana.

What happened to the moral feelings in Illinois? The Illinois House had House Bill 1681, drafted by the Illinois Bar Association, that would have eliminated all penalties for private possession of any amount of marijuana. After one hour of hearings, the House Judiciary II Committee amended and sent the bill to the floor of the House. H.B. 1681 was endorsed by every Chicago daily newspaper except the Tribune, which took no stand either way. During the second reading of the bill, Rep. Gale Schisler (D., London Mills) said, using a parliamentary trick that hasn't been employed since 1967, moved to strike the enacting clause of the bill. This clause is required by the Illinois Constitution and removing it kills the bill. By killing the bill during the second reading, Schisler prevented a full debate from taking place during the customary third reading. The bill died not after an open and full hearing, but as the result of a play that House Majority Leader Rep. Gerald Shea (D., Riverside) said was grossly unfair. Rep. Harold Katz (D., Glencoe), Chairman of the Judiciary-II Committee, labeled the action, "a gross insult to the intelligence of the House and the people of Illinois." Here is where moral outrage should be cast.

NORML, the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, supports the ideology that it is government's role to study and keep the consumer public informed as to any danger involved in the use of a product or drug. This has been done with tobacco. The government finds and informs the public on the danger of cancer in the use of tobacco. Is it not then absurd to place a person in prison for the use of marijuana, when for the third straight year the Health, Education and Welfare department has stated: "...no study to date has been...able to confirm the harm or benefits of marijuana..." Let's get Dr. Rubin do his research, and learn from it. Most importantly, let's stop wasting money, manpower, and people's lives on marijuana laws. Marijuana should be decriminalized now, with a moratorium on all such arrests. It's 2 years for marijuana in Illinois. Think of that next time you pay for a pack of cigarettes.

Buz Talbot Regional Coordinator Illinois NORML Graduate, Administration of Justice Daily Egyptian, September 4, 1975 Page 8

SIU's master plan needs help

To the Daily Egyptian:

The year 2,000 master plan for the SIU-C campus shows a new 50,000 seat football stadium? Mr. Hart, surely you joke. It is unacceptable to have one, five and twenty-five year plans to accommodate the students, faculty and public at large during the next quarter century and beyond. And, I cannot quarrel with the fact that priorities come from where the pressure is, where the students are and from what we need most.

However, little did I realize that the factors of additional seating in McAndrew Stadium, or expanding the facilities in the rec or collegewide educational system, were in the foreground of the world of football season, would place enough demands on the remaining facility as to warrant a new stadium, even by the year 2,000. Moreover, little did I realize that the university's current facility, the third stadium is one of those "what we need most.

To propose a 50,000 seat monolith in the face of a 25,000 enrollment limit, near zero population growth, nationally, and the need for a more distinguished and better paid facility, causes us to look askance on such folly.

It is further interesting to note that the women's
Korean karate, tae kwon-do now available for GSE course

Tae Kwon Do (TKD), one of the world's newest entrants into the martial arts, is now available for study on the SIU campus.

Class sessions will be held in the basement of Glen Dell Hall at 12 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. To be eligible to register for the course, the student must pass an admission test held at the end of class.

TKD is usually referred to as a "Korean style karate." Special emphasis is given to kicking. TKD incorporates a diverse collection of techniques including linear and circular movement, joint twisting techniques, and sweeping throws.

General Choi Hong Hi, founder of TKD, defines the art as "a creative consciousness being internal and a physical activity being external can best be put to the optimum if they are coordinated into the perfect harmony of thought and motion."

TKD advocates claim the scientific use of the mind and body has achieved the ultimate in methods of self defense.

Auditions for one-acts to open

The Theater Department will hold auditions for its upcoming season of student directed one-act plays on Thursday, Sept. 4, at 7 p.m. in the Green Room, Communications Building. Auditions are open to any interested persons. No acting experience is necessary.

The plays will be presented in directing classes throughout the semester, and the more successful productions may be re-staged toward the end of the term for showing in the Director's Showcase.

In the past students have produced one-acts and excerpts from the work of Orsey, Rosen and other well known playwrights.

The great British-American-male-female-old-new-blues-rock-ballad band: THE REAL FLEETWOOD MAC featuring Stevie Nicks, Mike Fleetwood, Christine McVie, Lindsey Buckingham, and John McVie.

TICKETS GO ON SALE, THURSDAY, SEPT. 4, 7:30 a.m.

Student Center Central Ticket Office
Friday, Sept. 19, 1975

8:00 p.m.

General Public $4.50
SIU Students $4.50
No block applications but block sales will be permitted

SUNDAY LATE SHOW
11:00 P.M. $1.25

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MUSICAL LOVE STORY EVER!

CAMELOT

FRI-SAT LATE SHOW
11:00 P.M. $1.50

NO ONE UNDER 18 ADMITTED.

SUN DI S S A.

SEX CLINIC GIRLS

Peter Sellers & Ringo Starr in "The Magic Christian"

The Magic Christian is a miraculous conception.

Who knows what evil lurks in the heart of man?

THE MOST

BEAUTIFUL

ER

FRIDAY AFTERNOON ONLY
3:30 P.M. $1.25

THE MOST

BEAUTIFUL

LOVE STORY

EVER!

FRIDAY EVENING ONLY
7:30 P.M. $2.00

THE MOST

BEAUTIFUL

LOVE STORY

EVER!

FRIDAY AFTERNOON ONLY
3:30 P.M. $1.25

WHO KNOWS WHAT EVIL LURKS IN THE HEART OF MAN?

The Magic Christian.

Peter Sellers & Ringo Starr in "The Magic Christian"
Law School concerned by lack of minorities

Five minority students have enrolled in the SU School of Law, bringing the total number of minority law students at SU to seven since 1970.

Enrollment of minorities has been of concern to the School, according to its associate dean, Thomas T. Brown, who said that the School claims to be a lack of recognition for the SU School of Law, getting higher than a third of minority students.

Another problem has been limited resources for financial aid. "We had one student for whom we had assembled a package of $2,000 and another school from out of state came in with an offer of $5,000," Brown said.

Only two black students were admitted to the School during its first two years, prompting Brown to begin a recruiting program. Taylor Mathis, an associate professor, and Carl Bohn, an assistant professor, and Vincent Whittle, a black law student, assist Brown with the recruiting.

The School of Law participates in the Council for Legal Education Opportunities (CLEO), a federal funded program designed to help minority students get legal training.

Two of the five minority students were recruited through CLEO. Brown said, and the other three came in because of campus efforts. "Hopefully," Brown said, "the law school will continue to emphasize recruitment through its own efforts, because that's the only thing that's really paying off.

Police investigate rape of student, $560 burglary

Carbondale police said a 21-year-old SU student reported that she was raped early Saturday morning at the Lewis Park Apartments, 800 E. Grand Ave.

The woman told police that a man broke into her apartment at 3 a.m. Saturday and, after threatening her with a knife, raped her.

The woman was taken to Doctors Hospital and a sample was collected by a tampon. Police said detectives are following up on the case.

Police said Morris McGill, 248 Grand Ave., a man who had been arrested on a burglary charge in Carbondale, was released from the county jail on Sunday.

He also said the woman had been entered into a citizen-bait radio tape. The woman's name was Janae.

Hair Shaping SPECIAL
(Shampoo, Shaping & Blow Dry) $6.50
PLUS Hair Painting $16.50 (Incl. Shaping & Conditioner)
ONE WEEK ONLY
9/8 to 9/12
HAIR STYLES BY KATHY AT
ADAMS RIB
FOR APPORT 540-5222

Task force on rape tests new 'Whistlestop Program'

By Mary L. Herren
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Champaign-Urbana Task Force on Rape in Champaign has chosen Lewis Park Apartments on East Grand Avenue as the pilot area for a proposed "Whistlestop Program".

The task force is made up of representatives from the University of Illinois, Carbondale Police, Community Development Services, Student Government, Student Services, Civil Service, SU Police and Preventive Programs.

The program was introduced last fall, it is being expanded this spring, and the majority of the people organizing the program left town, said Van Der Meer.

The Whistlestop Program is a "crime prevention" program, said Van Der Meer to make Carbondale the safest city in Southern Illinois.

The Lewis Park area was chosen because of the "number of rapes reported there recently and the student population," Van Der Meer said.

Carbondale Police Corporal Larry Hill said that there have been two confirmed rapes within the past two months in that area.

The program's introductory meeting was held Sept. 29 at the noon seminar sponsored by Women's Programs, Van Der Meer said, and informational leaflets will be distributed the following week.

An organizational meeting will be tentatively set for Sept. 30. "We will ask for volunteers from the Lewis Park area to help in the program," she said.

A general meeting for all Lewis Park residents is also planned, Van Der Meer said. Guest speakers, including lawyers and policemen, have been invited.

"We will be telling women what kind of crimes have taken place in Lewis Park, how to prevent these crimes and how to take care of themselves," Van Der Meer said. The Whistlestop Program had been planned to begin last spring, but "many of the people organizing the program left town," she said.

Van Der Meer said that the Whistlestop Program will be "hopefully an ongoing program for at least a year, and then be picked up by Lewis Park.

The rape task force is comprised of all the organizations in Carbondale interested in rape, she said. Participating organizations are Women's Center, Women's Programs, Human Sexuality Services, Feminist Action Coalition, Carbondale Police, Community Development Services, Student Government, Student Services, Civil Service, SU Police and Preventive Programs.

Law School concerned by lack of minorities

Five minority students have enrolled in the SU School of Law, bringing the total number of minority law students at SU to seven since 1970.

Enrollment of minorities has been of concern to the School, according to its associate dean, Thomas T. Brown, who said that the School claims to be a lack of recognition for the SU School of Law, getting higher than a third of minority students.

Another problem has been limited resources for financial aid. "We had one student for whom we had assembled a package of $2,000 and another school from out of state came in with an offer of $5,000," Brown said.

Only two black students were admitted to the School during its first two years, prompting Brown to begin a recruiting program. Taylor Mathis, an associate professor, and Carl Bohn, an assistant professor, and Vincent Whittle, a black law student, assist Brown with the recruiting.

The School of Law participates in the Council on Legal Education Opportunities (CLEO), a federal funded program designed to help minority students get legal training.

Two of the five minority students were recruited through CLEO. Brown said, and the other three came in because of campus efforts. "Hopefully," Brown said, "the law school will continue to emphasize recruitment through its own efforts, because that's the only thing that's really paying off.

Police investigate rape of student, $560 burglary

Carbondale police said a 21-year-old SU student reported that she was raped early Saturday morning at the Lewis Park Apartments, 800 E. Grand Ave.

The woman told police that a man broke into her apartment at 3 a.m. Saturday and, after threatening her with a knife, raped her.

The woman was taken to Doctors Hospital and a sample was collected by a tampon. Police said detectives are following up on the case.

Police said Morris McGill, 248 Grand Ave., a man who had been arrested on a burglary charge in Carbondale, was released from the county jail on Sunday.

He also said the woman had been entered into a citizen-bait radio tape. The woman's name was Janae.

Hair Shaping SPECIAL
(Shampoo, Shaping & Blow Dry) $6.50
PLUS Hair Painting $16.50 (Incl. Shaping & Conditioner)
ONE WEEK ONLY
9/8 to 9/12
HAIR STYLES BY KATHY AT
ADAMS RIB
FOR APPORT 540-5222

Task force on rape tests new 'Whistlestop Program'

By Mary L. Herren
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Champaign-Urbana Task Force on Rape in Champaign has chosen Lewis Park Apartments on East Grand Avenue as the pilot area for a proposed "Whistlestop Program".

The task force is made up of representatives from the University of Illinois, Carbondale Police, Community Development Services, Student Government, Student Services, Civil Service, SU Police and Preventive Programs.

The program was introduced last fall, it is being expanded this spring, and the majority of the people organizing the program left town, said Van Der Meer.

The Whistlestop Program is a "crime prevention" program, said Van Der Meer to make Carbondale the safest city in Southern Illinois.

The Lewis Park area was chosen because of the "number of rapes reported there recently and the student population," Van Der Meer said.

Carbondale Police Corporal Larry Hill said that there have been two confirmed rapes within the past two months in that area.

The program's introductory meeting was held Sept. 29 at the noon seminar sponsored by Women's Programs, Van Der Meer said, and informational leaflets will be distributed the following week.

An organizational meeting will be tentatively set for Sept. 30. "We will ask for volunteers from the Lewis Park area to help in the program," she said.

A general meeting for all Lewis Park residents is also planned, Van Der Meer said. Guest speakers, including lawyers and policemen, have been invited.

"We will be telling women what kind of crimes have taken place in Lewis Park, how to prevent these crimes and how to take care of themselves," Van Der Meer said. The Whistlestop Program had been planned to begin last spring, but "many of the people organizing the program left town," she said.

Van Der Meer said that the Whistlestop Program will be "hopefully an ongoing program for at least a year, and then be picked up by Lewis Park.

The rape task force is comprised of all the organizations in Carbondale interested in rape, she said. Participating organizations are Women's Center, Women's Programs, Human Sexuality Services, Feminist Action Coalition, Carbondale Police, Community Development Services, Student Government, Student Services, Civil Service, SU Police and Preventive Programs.

Law School concerned by lack of minorities

Five minority students have enrolled in the SU School of Law, bringing the total number of minority law students at SU to seven since 1970.

Enrollment of minorities has been of concern to the School, according to its associate dean, Thomas T. Brown, who said that the School claims to be a lack of recognition for the SU School of Law, getting higher than a third of minority students.

Another problem has been limited resources for financial aid. "We had one student for whom we had assembled a package of $2,000 and another school from out of state came in with an offer of $5,000," Brown said.

Only two black students were admitted to the School during its first two years, prompting Brown to begin a recruiting program. Taylor Mathis, an associate professor, and Carl Bohn, an assistant professor, and Vincent Whittle, a black law student, assist Brown with the recruiting.

The School of Law participates in the Council on Legal Education Opportunities (CLEO), a federal funded program designed to help minority students get legal training.

Two of the five minority students were recruited through CLEO. Brown said, and the other three came in because of campus efforts. "Hopefully," Brown said, "the law school will continue to emphasize recruitment through its own efforts, because that's the only thing that's really paying off.

Police investigate rape of student, $560 burglary

Carbondale police said a 21-year-old SU student reported that she was raped early Saturday morning at the Lewis Park Apartments, 800 E. Grand Ave.

The woman told police that a man broke into her apartment at 3 a.m. Saturday and, after threatening her with a knife, raped her.

The woman was taken to Doctors Hospital and a sample was collected by a tampon. Police said detectives are following up on the case.

Police said Morris McGill, 248 Grand Ave., a man who had been arrested on a burglary charge in Carbondale, was released from the county jail on Sunday.

He also said the woman had been entered into a citizen-bait radio tape. The woman's name was Janae.
Council rejects motion
to form search committee

By Mike Springton
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Senate and Professional Staff Council (APSC) rejected a motion Monday night to form a committee to find a new university legal counsel in a meeting held Wednesday.

After a 9-3 vote, the council suggested that the university go through other channels to find a replacement for John Huffman, the present legal counsel.

In other business, a motion was set out that recommending the Administrative and Professional Staff handbook rank its members in terms of responsibilities handled rather than years served.

The date for the Fall General Conference Meeting was set for Nov. 12 from 3 to 5 p.m. Tentatively on the agenda will be discussion on civil service exemptions, the APSC equity model, and APSC handbook revisions.

A committee was also formed to review the status of the APSC on the Committee to Name Permanent Facilities. The APSC currently holds four positions on the committee, more than any other university body.

Doris Turner, Larry Oli, and A.B. MIlIl were selected to review the council's position on the board.

The committee has not met in two years.

Barbara Kirkkin, APSC chairwoman, revealed that the council's cutback was still unknown pending the completion of the university's budget.

The council approved a recommendation by Kirkkin that small repairs for the university be handled by general contractors rather than keeping a staff on campus to handle them.

The committee also agreed to change the date of its monthly meeting from the first Wednesday of every month to the fourth Wednesday.

The next council meeting is set for 11 a.m., Sept. 24.

Book-checking device thwarted
theft of materials from library

Book thefts at Morris Library have decreased in recent months, according to library officials.

Sidney Matthews, assistant library director, said that materials on library shelves have stabilized since an automatic book-checking device was installed at library exits last year.

The device scans books and materials as patrons leave the library and sounds an alarm when material is not scanned properly.

"Every day book checkers stop students politely, but firmly, and remind them if they have not properly checked their materials," Matthews said. He added that if offenders go back into the library and return the materials or check them out properly.

Matthews said that an under-graduate library inventory will be taken later this year to determine what materials have been stolen.

"We're talking about 1,800 volumes. I don't know where I'd get on the agenda will be discussion on civil service exemptions, the APSC equity model, and APSC handbook revisions.

A committee was also formed to review the status of the APSC on the Committee to Name Permanent Facilities. The APSC currently holds four positions on the committee, more than any other university body.

Doris Turner, Larry Oli, and A.B. MIlIl were selected to review the council's position on the board.

The committee has not met in two years.

Barbara Kirkkin, APSC chairwoman, revealed that the council's cutback was still unknown pending the completion of the university's budget.

The council approved a recommendation by Kirkkin that small repairs for the university be handled by general contractors rather than keeping a staff on campus to handle them.

The committee also agreed to change the date of its monthly meeting from the first Wednesday of every month to the fourth Wednesday.

The next council meeting is set for 11 a.m., Sept. 24.

Book-checking device thwarted
theft of materials from library

Book thefts at Morris Library have decreased in recent months, according to library officials.

Sidney Matthews, assistant library director, said that materials on library shelves have stabilized since an automatic book-checking device was installed at library exits last year.

The device scans books and materials as patrons leave the library and sounds an alarm when material is not scanned properly.

"Every day book checkers stop students politely, but firmly, and remind them if they have not properly checked their materials," Matthews said. He added that if offenders go back into the library and return the materials or check them out properly.

Matthews said that an under-graduate library inventory will be taken later this year to determine what materials have been stolen.

"We're talking about 1,800 volumes. I don't know where I'd get

Marching Salukis to honor Jim Hart

The SIU Marching Salukis will play a benefit for the St. Louis Football Club, who will lead the Saluki football stadium band at Hart in St. Louis.

Hart, a native Illinoisan, grew up in St. Louis and later went on to become the Big Red's fifth string quarterback during his rookie year in 1966. After a few trades and injuries to the other four quarterback contenders, the position of starting quarterback was left wide open for him. Hart later went on to lead the Cardinals to a first place finish in the Eastern Conference in 1971.

Supporting the band is being held at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel, are The Knights of the Cauliflower Ear, a local St. Louis sports organization, who honor top athletes in their respective sports by throwing a benefit in their names.

In addition to their regular schedule, the Marching Salukis, led by head drum Mike James, have accepted their 11th invitation from the Cardinals to "do their thing" during halftime ceremonies on Nov. 2 at Busch Memorial Stadium. The game will be telecast on NBC nationwide.

Women's Center plans fall programs

The Women's Center, 408 W. Freeman, will host an Open House Sept. 21, 10 a.m., for persons interested in learning more about resources and services available at the center.

Program Coordinator Marcie Davis said that many new programs are being formulated to make the Women's Center a wider range of socio-economic groups.

Definite activities include a general clean-up every Saturday at 9 a.m., pot luck supper the first Sunday of every month at 3:30 p.m. and board meetings to be held weekly on Monday at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons may attend.

Other scheduled events are Volunteer Training sessions which begin Sept. 16 and an Information Day on Oct. 12, featuring speakers from various area service organizations.

An auto clinic, consciousness raising groups, writer's workshop and other cultural and service programs have been planned but meeting times have not yet been established.

All regular Women's Center services such as pregnancy testing, counseling, and the Rape Crisis line are still available.

THE BENCH Is Back

1917 Chestnut
Across from Courthouse
Murphysboro, Illinois

GOOD FOOD
GREAT ATMOSPHERE

REASONABLE PRICES

"Come on down!"

Serving:
Mon. thru Sat. 11:00-1:00
Sunday 4:00-12:00

THE BENCH is a full service Restaurant
TV influences behavior, psychologist discovers

CHICAGO (AP) — Television has the potential for influencing adults in positive as well as negative ways, a California researcher has found.

His study "seems to refute the notion, both comforting to the industry and supported by previous research, that television entertainment has no appreciable effects on adults except to amuse and divert," he reports.

The researcher, Dr. David Loye, a social psychologist at the University of California Medical School at Los Angeles, presented his findings at the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association, which ended Wednesday.

Modern television "has presented us the opportunity either to dramatically advance or to degrade and possibly annihilate ourselves," Loye said.

"In mass entertainment we have on hand what appears to be a powerful tool for driving us one way or the other," he observed.

A great many claims have been made about the effects of television, but little "hard-nosed research" has been done to support those claims, said Loye, formerly a television writer, film producer, newswoman and TV Guide editor.

He and his colleagues set out to determine, through tests, the effects of television on the psychological and social functioning of adults.

They selected 260 married couples in the Los Angeles area to watch several categories of programs, including those that seemed helpful and others deemed hurtful, or violent.

Episodes of The Waltons, Mary Tyler Moore, Friends and Lovers and MASH produced the most positive effects leaving viewers feeling affectionate, kindly, warm-hearted and forgiving.

During the week of viewing, those who watched these programs also reported a decline in aggressive feelings.

On the other hand, those who watched violent programs, such as Hawaii Five-O, Cannon and Mannix, maintained an aggressive mood throughout the week.

Previous research has shown that emotionally arousing films of many types will increase aggressive moods, Loye said.

But his research group found that viewers watching prosocial, or positive, dramas had a decrease in feelings of aggression as their emotional arousal increased.

Those watching violent programs had a slight increase in aggressive mood as they were aroused.

"Violence on television is a serious and increasing factor for those concerned about adult behavior just as it is for those concerned about child behavior," Loye asserted.

The findings on the potential of television to effect positive change led Loye to conclude that they "support the hopes of those who would like to see television put to far, far better social uses."

Bicycle registration deadline set for Sept. 15

Approximately 180 bicycles have been licensed after two days of registration in front of the SIU Security Office, said Lt. Marvin Braswell of the SIU Security Police Wednesday.

Registration will continue from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Security Office until Saturday when it will be moved to the Washington Square parking section, Building D.

If a bicycle was registered either with the city or the University last school year it does not have to be registered again.

Groups host golf tournament

The Jackson County SIU Alumni and the Saluki Athletic Club will sponsor a golf tournament and fish fry on Friday, Sept. 12. Tournament play-off will begin at 8 a.m. at the Crab Orchard Golf Course. Entry fee is $2 for members and $3 for non-members.

Golf prizes will be awarded at the fish fry at 4 p.m. at Everett Green Park. Admission is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Members are invited to bring friends to both events, according to Jay King, assistant director, SIU alumni office.

SIU alumni in the Washington, D.C. area will sponsor a picnic from 7 p.m. at the Surface Weapons Center, White Oak Laboratory, White Oak, Md. A nine-hole golf course, baseball, badminton, horse show and volleyball equipment will be available.

Out here you'll be glad you've got a boot this good.

Vasque
the mountain boots

Thirty miles down the trail with a 45-pound pack on your back, you'll appreciate the care that goes into the construction of Vasque Boots. Take this Hiker II boot, for example. It features 1. Full-grain leather upper. 2. Padded leather lined tongue. 3. Stretchy scree top and padded reinforced ankle. 4. Goodyear welted. 5. Leather insole. 6. Firm 3-layer leather and rubber midsole for solid support. 7. Tempered steel Shank. 8. Vibram® lug sole and heel. Why do we insist on building a boot this good? Because the professional climbers who helped design it said this is the way it should be. They say that out here second-best isn't good enough, and we believe it. So insist on Vasque — the mountain boots — at your outfitter, backpacking or specialty store.
Food prices climb in August, dairy goods biggest gainer

By the Associated Press

Supermarket prices climbed again in August, with the increase hitting hardest at the dairy counter, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The latest data says random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 11 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey held no surprises. Most of the increases had been predicted and they generally followed recent trends toward higher prices at the producer and wholesale levels. The findings did not fully reflect the impact of recent grain sales to the Soviet Union which, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, will add about 1.5 per cent to the family food bill this year.

Also ahead are increases in the price of coffee. Frosts in Brazil destroyed much of the crop that would have been harvested next year and coffee traders, anticipating shortages ahead, bought up existing supplies.

Manufacturers already have announced increases in the price they charge grocery stores for coffee, but the boosts have not yet shown up at the retail level, partly because of continued promotions of the beverage.

The latest AP survey showed the price of coffee was unchanged at the checkout store in eight of the cities covered; the price increased in two cities and decreased in two more. The required size of coffee was not available at the checkout store in the 11th city.

Here are some of the highlights of the AP survey:

- The marketbasket bill increased during August at the checkout stores in seven cities, rising an average of just under 1 per cent. The bills declined in three cities, down an average of eight-tenths of 1 per cent. More than a third of the total number of items surveyed increased in price during August, with most of the increases affecting coffee rather than the nonfood products.
- The price of a pound of butter, cut in quarters, went up at the checkout store in 11 cities. Increases ranged from 1 per cent in Salt Lake City, where the price went from 92 to 94 cents, to 42 per cent in Dallas, where the price went from 67 to 95 cents.

---

TROPICAL FISH SPECIAL

ZEBRA DANIO

15c

MIS. VARIATIUS

29c

---

Oster

Pet grooming products for the professional

- Eggs went up in price at the checkout store in 11 cities and sugar was up in 10 cities.
- Chopped chuck declined in seven cities, reflecting an expected decline in the price of some beef as Pork prices, however, remain high.
Scientists doubt validity of astrological influences

By Allen Blakely
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A statement endorsed by 18 prominent scientists challenges "the pretensions of astrology and other religious claims of astrologers that have no scientific basis for astrology, which deals with predictions of events or the actions of the sun, planets and other heavenly bodies on human affairs," says the statement in a special issue of the American Mercury.

But "acceptance of astrology perduces modern society," the statement says.

"We are especially disturbed by the uncritical dissemination of astrological forecasts, forecasts by horoscopes by the media and by otherwise reputable newspapers, magazines and book publishers. We can only contribute to the growth of irrationalism and superstition. We believe the time has come to challenge directly and forcefully the pretensions of astrology and the religion it supports."

Eighteen Nobel Prize winners and other scientists signed the statement, which is to be published in the American Mercury and in other newspapers and magazines.

School to offer unique helicopter mechanics class

The SIU School of Technical Careers will offer the nation's only training program for piston-powered helicopter mechanics starting Oct. 6.

The training program for professional mechanics, along with an inventory of equipment, helicopter parts and manuals, came from the University of Fort Worth, Texas, according to TC Dean Arden L. Pratt.

Two courses—conducted in sixth-week cycles—will cover field maintenance and major overhaul, according to Aviation Technologies Chairman E. A. Dallanos.

Dallanos said most students will be from outside the United States, particularly from Central and South America, where piston-powered helicopters are used for agricultural work.

"No, No, Nannette" prelude to '75 Apple Festival

This year's Murphyboro Apple Festival will be held Oct. 10 under the theme "No, No, Nannette," the Apple Festival musical program Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Murphyboro High School Auditorium.

The play, which runs Saturday through Sunday, is being produced by members of the Murphyboro Apple Festival activities which begin Wednesday in Murphyboro.

Deborah Burriss, a senior majoring in music at SIU, is directing the play. Members of the Murphyboro Southern Municipal Band, Inc., are the orchestra. A season of high school students and SIU students are members of the company.

General admission tickets are available for $2.00 and may be purchased at the Murphyboro Chamber of Commerce, the First National Bank and the National Bank of Murphyboro.

Put yourself on the map.

That's another way of saying... become a navigator in the Air Force. It's a responsible job with a challenging future.

Think you're interested? Why not sample the Air Force ways by enrolling in Air Force ROTC in college?

There are scholarships available, 4-year, 3-year, or 2-year. There's also a monthly allowance of $100. And more important... you'll get the feel of the Air Force and an indication of what's to come.

Chart your course to the future... At the end is a rewarding, challenging job as an Air Force navigator. And the requirements leading to that end are "proven benefits"... and "educational opportunities."

Put it all together in Air Force ROTC.
SIU expects small increase for price of this year's coal

By Doug Dieter
Student Writer

Old King Coal should smile on SIU in 1979, according to Eric B. McKee, physics plant chief operating engineer. In 1974, the university encountered a 170 per cent hike in the price of coal and ended the year with a $641,280 deficit in the physical plant budget, said McKee. Besides rising costs, local mining strikes created serious coal shortages, he added.

This year, however, McKee foresees no drastic price increases in coal for which SIU pays $28.75 per ton. "Prices could increase if miners' wages are increased," McKee said, "but the miners recently signed a three-year contract, so no increase is expected. Mining strikes for reasons other than wage demands could hurt the university's coal situation. McKee said SIU receives a daily shipment of 146 to 164 tons of coal from the Freeman Coal Co. at West Frankfort. All of it is consumed in a workday, he noted. An interruption of this flow would be critical because of low reserve, McKee said.

He said that only a few hundred tons of coal are in reserve at the physical plant because most of the reserves were depleted during the recent two-week miners' vacation. Should the daily shipments be cut, said McKee, the university has only enough coal for four days.

SIU's increased enrollment should not affect the amount of coal needed for the year, McKee said, because the coal is converted to steam and used to heat the buildings. Regardless how many persons occupy the buildings.

---

Lost something?
Check first with the
D.E. Classifieds
Portraits go to Mexican museums

Two pencil portrait drawings by Danny D. Wood, oriented of Mexican museums collections in the Republic of Mexico.

The artist spent this summer traveling through the central Mexican states of Zacatecas, Jalisco and San Luis Potosi with his three exhibitions.

The first drawing, "The King of the Moors," was purchased by General Fernando Pamanes Escobedo, Governor of Zacatecas. The Governor bought the picture from Wood's exhibit there, which was held in conjunction with the First National Reunion of Tourism. This drawing was presented as a gift to the National Governor of Tourism, Ing. Julio Hirshfield Almada.

The picture is a portrait study of the ceremonial head of the ancient Zacatecas Feista, "The Battle between the Christians and Moors." Wood completed it during his six-month last year when the king posed for him.

A second drawing, "Man with a Mask," is a frontal portrait of Anthony Nazari, an SIU student. The Department of Fine Arts in Guadalajara purchased it for its permanent museum collection. Wood's works have also been purchased by six other permanent museum collections. They include the Brooklyn Museum, the Philadelphia Museum, the Fort Worth Art Center, the Evansville Museum of Arts and Sciences and the Cedar Rapids Art Center.

25th year begins for Easter Seals

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Southern Illinois began its 25th year of direct service to its people with a physical disability or limitation on September 15.

Maggie Presley, secretary of the board of directors, announced that in commemoration of the society's achievements, clients, volunteers and staff are planning some special events from now until September 15. These events will be climaxd by a 25th anniversary celebration at the Holiday Inn, in Marion, on April 3.

Jack Fletcher of Marion will be planning chairman for the celebration.

Cosmetologists to hold workshop

The third statewide workshop for cosmetology teachers will be held Sept. 14-15 at the Champaign Ramada Inn Convention Center. The workshops are sponsored by the SIU Division of Continuing Education.

The Champaign workshop will center on practical classroom teaching techniques, test construction, and problems in classroom management. SIU faculty members and a professional cosmetologist will conduct the class.

The registration fee for the two-day workshop is $50. Students may take the workshop as a non-credit course or may receive one semester hour or a Continuing Education Unit credit. Interested persons may contact the Division of Continuing Education.

SIU student heads local energy group

Robert Nance, SIU student, has been named as Regional Director of the Federation of Americans Supporting Science and Technology (FASST) Energy Youth Council.

The program is part of a new nationwide student-originated effort covering 50 states. It will include student inputs to local environmental, educational and community activities of the National FASST organization.

General Fernando Pamanes Escobedo, governor of Zacatecas (left) and Julio Hirshfield Almada, national minister of tourism (center), discuss drawings with artist Dan D. Wood, assistant art professor at SIU.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

invites all interested girls to our ice-cream social, rush party.

Thursday, 7-9 p.m.

Call 549-9520 for rides and information

Liquor Store Information

Best prices on beer, liquor and wine in Southern Illinois

"Call and compare our keg prices"—684-4727

Southern Illinois Liquor

We beat any advertised price in Murphysboro

113 N. 12th
Turfgrass specialist advises lawn reseeding

Late summer or early fall—usually September—is a good time to reseede a lawn. However, a new reseeding may need only a slight application of 5 to 10 pounds of high nitrogen type fertilizer, per 1000 square feet.

Portz continued with his instruction on the reseeding of old lawns. In reseeding, the existing nutrients and fertilizer over the entire lawn area, but work up only the bare or weedy parts with a rotary tiller or a hand digging tool. Then rake into a good level seedbed.

"Rake the rest of the lawn very lightly by hand or with a power rake. This will remove the grass clippings to new seed so they come in contact with the soil."

Portz also suggests controlling bare areas with the same kinds of grass as are present at the rest of the lawn.

"However," Portz added, "if the lawn got hard use, the homeowner may want to include Alta or Kentucky 31 or some other variety of coarse grass that grow well on poor soils and stand better abuse from hot, dry weather."

It does not make sense to build a new and unnecessary facility in Chicago while we have plenty of good real estate in the southern part of the state," Barlackman said today at the Mental Health Department's Five-Year Plan.

Barlackman criticized a bill approved by the legislature last spring to construct a new long-term facility for the mentally ill in Cook County for applications of commercial fertilizer with high percentages of nitrogen early in the year. "Then the homeowner may need only a slight application of 5 to 10 pounds of high nitrogen type fertilizer, per 1000 square feet.

We Deliver

4 P.M. to 2 a.m.
"Til Sept 15
"We Deliver

50¢ OFF ON ALL LARGE PIZZAS

COUPON Good Monday thru Thursday 'til Sept. 15 (Not redeemable on deliveries)

Texas Instruments electronic calculators

STANDARDS OF EXCELLENCE AT

AFFORDABLE PRICES

- All critical components designed and manufactured by Texas Instruments with quality controlled to exacting Texas Instruments standards every step of the way
- Fast change batteries can be fully restored in only four hours
- Calculators can be operated while charging
- Every calculator is tested by a computer which checks all functions and key operations
- Every calculator is subjected to joining impact tests to assure that normal buttons and vibrations do not cause errors
- High strength, injection molded plastic cases are designed and tested to withstand rugged use
- Good looks, high contacts and stainless steel key actuators provide long life, positive action
- An ingenious design prevents accidental power loss
- A unique locking key design is used on the TI-1500. This is basically unfair to Southern Illinois.

Take time to relax and enjoy a great meal with us.

Music in the candlelit lounge featuring

Thera Smith Wed. thru Sat.
Tom Shepard Sun. thru Tues.
At the Piano. from 7-11 p.m.
Seven miles north of Carbondale
Rt. 51 867-9363

PIZZA

Steaming Hot
16 Delicious Varieties- Or Any Combination

Jim's Special
Cheese (extra choice)
Green Pepper
Mushroom
Olives
Onion
Vegetarian
Anchovies

CHICKEN PALACE

Bacon
Beef
Ham
Kosher Salami
Pepperoni
Sausage

House Special
Shrimp

WE PROVIDE CATERING SERVICE FOR PIZZA ONLY

HOURS

Sun.-4 p.m. til 1 a.m.
Mon.-Thur.-11 a.m. til 1 a.m.
Fri.-Sat.-11 a.m. til 2 a.m.

459-3324
519 S. Illinois Ave.
Carbondale

FINE FOOD

- Steaks
- Spaghetti
- Salads
- Sandwiches
- Fish
- Hamburgers

FROM OUR PUB

Full Line Of Cocktails- Wines & Beers
Campus Briefs

The Delta Sigma Theta Sorority is sponsoring a rush from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., Friday at the Wesley Foundation.

Alpha Kappa Alpha will host a party at 8 p.m., Sept. 12 at the Student Center. Anyone is welcome to attend. A social life for prospective pledges will be held at 7 p.m., Sept. 15 at Lewis Park 149.

Robert L. Rands, Mayan archaeologist at SIU, will spend fall semester as a visiting scholar to the Dumbarton Oaks Center for Pre-Columbian Studies in Washington D.C. Rands, curator of southern Mesoamerican archaeology at the SIU University Museum, has been studying the ancient Mayan culture for more than 15 years, focusing his attention primarily on the ruins of Palenque in Chiapas, Mexico. His major concern is the study of Mayan ceramics and representations on them.

The SIU Latin American Student Association will hold its first meeting of the year at 7 p.m., Sept. 10, in the Student Center Activities Room. The agenda includes the election of officers for the present year, as well as the final draft of the activities calendar.

Charles Hinderman, SIU dean of business and administration, has been recently reappointed as a member of the Accreditation Council of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. Hinderman will review degree accreditation programs of business administration and management.

The first meeting of the year of the SIU Photo Society will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in the Illinois Room of the Student Center. Anyone interested in attending is welcome.

On Sept. 1, the Southern Illinois chapter of the Easter Seal Society began its 25th year of service to individuals with physical disability or limitation. Members of the society will be planning special events until Sept. 1976, to commemorate the society's achievements.

The first jump course for the SIU Parachute Club is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday in Room 21 at Pulliam Hall.

Rose Mary Carter, SIU assistant professor of home economics education, has received a $2,700 grant from the American Home Economics Association to develop curriculum modules for housing occupations.

The grant, which runs through 1976, is one of six awarded by the organization for the development of career-related housing educational materials. Materials developed will be applicable to senior high and junior college programs.

Jack Casey, professional education professor, and Nancy Quisenberry, assistant professor of early childhood education, will be giving a lecture on "Giftedness in Early Childhood" at the World Organization of Pre-School Educators in London, Sept. 8-12.

Casey and Quisenberry combined their efforts to catalog different researches on giftedness in children up to the age of 8. Quisenberry has been named to speak as a representative during the conference.

The first of twelve dog obedience classes, sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education, will meet this Thursday at 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., in the Agriculture Arena. Interested persons are welcome and asked to leave Fido at home.

Students chosen for pilot program

Two SIU students have been selected to participate in Upward Mobility, a pilot program developed by the Soil Conservation Service. Michael E. Lilly, an employee of the Soil Conservation Service, and James F. Wallace, a Soil Conservation technician, were two of three men chosen statewide to participate in Upward Mobility, according to Dwain Holmes of the Soil Conservation Service, Department of Agriculture, Champaign.

The Upward Mobility program is designed to provide the opportunity for an employee who has completed two years of college to obtain a B.S. degree and enter into a professional position with the Soil Conservation Service.

The program assists participants by paying costs such as tuition, fees and books, plus a salary allowance for time spent in the classroom and away from the job.

Wallace is a graduate of Herrin High School and John A. Logan Junior College. Presently working toward his B.S. degree in general agriculture at SIU, he resides in Hurst with his wife, the former Victor Dryden.

Lilly is majoring in plant and soil science at SIU. He lives at R.R. 2, Murphysboro.

WELCOME STUDENTS!

Step up this semester with quality boots from Carbondale Shoe Service

The Buchanan

Country

Squire

Work Boot

$1.50

$1.00

Fully lined boot

Hypalon sole

Rubber heal

$1.50

Fully lined

Leather sole

Rubber heal

$1.00

Composition sole

Rubber heal

$1.50

Leather heel

Full leather sole

Fully lined boot

Leather welt

We can sell the best quality boot for less because we have the lowest overhead in town! We also offer the best workmanship at the lowest prices on all types of footwear.

TRY NITRO 9

Introducing the NEW, AMAZING

NITRO POWERED FUEL ADDITIVE

Fuel additive that

Better Gas Mileage

NITRO

Nitro9 Distributor • Moco Inc.

710 N. Washington

Springfield, IL

Phone 457-2625

Toyo-View Demonstration

The masters of photography have always needed a photographic system that would allow the full expression of their creativity. Their choice among photograph systems is the Toyo View Camera. Toyo View is a system made possible by the tremendous technological advances made in the field of photography since Alfred Stieglitz started taking pictures of the New York skyline through his apartment window. Toyo View has been developed that can do things a view camera is capable of doing.

The Toyo View is designed to take full advantage of the unique capabilities of large format photography. Its only limitation is your own imagination.

September 5 & 6

O.J. Photo Supply

31 North Meramec Avenue

Clayton, Missouri
University Theater opens year with children’s play
The 1975-76 University Theater season will begin Wednesday, Sept. 17, when the “Saturday Players” will present the children’s play, “Fairy Tales at Pibber-Livers,” in the University Theater. The show will run through Saturday, Sept. 20 with a 1:30 p.m. show on Wednesday and Thursday, a 3:30 p.m. show on Friday, and a 9:00 a.m. show on Saturday.

Carbondale Free School will begin classes soon
Classes at the Carbondale Free School will include history, economics, and Israeli folk dancing, frisbee throwing and harmonica playing, will begin during the week of Sept. 15.

Meeting times and places have presently been arranged for three Free School classes: “Socialism: Problems and Perspectives,” will meet every other Thursday, beginning Sept. 15 at 7:30 p.m., at the Wesley Foundation, B15; “Sunrises and Sunsets” history class begins Sept. 17, from 1 to 3 p.m., at First Presbyterian Church; and “Acting Through Imagination” will meet on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom C.

Other courses offered include exercise, bicycle repair, beginning guitar and meditation. Tentatively scheduled are instructional courses in macramé, bridge and pottery. Times and meeting places for these classes will be announced at a later date.

The Free School Committee will meet Tuesday, Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in Student Center Activities Room B. Anyone wishing further information can call 526-2383.

Programs scheduled Thursday on WSIU-TV & FM

WSIU-TV: Channel 8, all day, 8 a.m. - 11 p.m.

The Evening Report, 5:30 p.m.

The Neighborhod Report, 9:15 p.m.

Biography, “Grace Kelly,” 8 p.m.

Sheppard’s America, 7 p.m.

The Best of Evening at Pops, 8 p.m.

News on the World, 9 p.m.

The Golden Love

These programs are scheduled Thursday on WSIU-FM.

TUNE IN TONIGHT

6:45 - Today’s the Day: 9 a.m.

Take a Movie Break: 11 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Eumenides: 12:30 p.m. - WSUI-Expanded News Report, 1 p.m.

Afternoon Concert: A Program of Symphonies No. 1, 4 by Beethoven, Bruckner, Mahler and Tchaikovsky, 4 p.m.

All Things Considered, 8:00 p.m.

WSIU-Expanded News, 8:15 p.m.

Options, 8 p.m.

BHS-Promenade Concert: Handel’s “Estouche Flammatis” Palestrina; “Stabat Mater,” 9 p.m.

Podium; Brahms; “Symphony No. 1,” 9 p.m.

Schubert and Schumann’s “German Lieder,” 10:30 p.m.

WSIU-Expanded News Report, 11 p.m.

Nightshift: 12 a.m.

THE BICYCLE IS A VEHICLE FOR REVOLUTION

Don’t let the energy shortage dictate to you, bicycles get you where you want to go—healthier and happier. The air bites, the oxygen gets into the blood, ideas start to come to mind. You start to pay attention to your environment. You have more energy and your day seems more enjoyable. So get on your bike, recycle yourself. Create your own revolution, it is the first step to freedom!

All Tires First Quality FULLY GUARANTEED

BUCK MILLER TIRE

1500 N. PARK-HERRIN-942-3416

PAY CASH & SAVE

TUMBLE TOWN GYMNASTICS

Instruction at ALL Levels.
Pre School thru High School
Enroll Now-Starts Sept. 8
Boys & Girls
CALL: Alyce Vogel 457-2365
Gymnastics-Tumbling-Trampoline

TASMANIA "King Ubu," directed by Wagner, is the first adult program of the season and will run Sept. 27 and 28 in the Laboratory Theater. "King Ubu" is a farce about the most dangerous politician in the world," said Wagner. "The actors in "King Ubu" are planning a tour of some small towns in the state." John Volo, senior theater major, will play the part of King Ubu, and Pam Thompson, also a senior theater major, will play the role of Muna Ubu.

The University Theater box office will be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the run of "King Ubu." Students can purchase reserved theater tickets for any of the plays at the University Theater for $1.75.

PENNPEPPERT LOUNGE

Presents The World Famous

AMATUER NITE

Trophies, Cash, Prizes, and More.
Don’t miss it! Anything can happen....

AND ESPECIALLY FOR THE LADIES...

25¢ For All Colas Drinks
All Day Until 9:00 p.m.

Come down and bump your brains out!

Iowa’s Leading Motorcycle Dealer

PHOENIX CYCLES

300 S. ILL CARBONDALE 549-3612

GET SOME SELF-MOTIVATION.
Homosexual psychologists ask support of co-workers

CHICAGO (AP) - The Association of official plans to decide in January whether to lift the controversial ban on the use of cyclamates as an artificial sweetener.

The decision will be an effort to end arguments spanning the last six years on whether there is a link between cyclamates and cancer in rats. If scientists fail to establish a link, Food and Drug Administration (FDA) officials say cyclamates could be used in table soft drinks and food next year.

It will be at least four months after the FDA decision to meet requirements for publication and publication, so cyclamates would not likely appear on grocery shelves before the major election next year.

Meanwhile, as scientists weigh new cyclamate research along with that which generated the ban in 1969, they are studying similar research which suggests a link between cancer in rats and the other major artificial sweetener, saccharin.

The FDA decision on whether to support the ban or propose replacement for cyclamates in diet products, is to be expected by FDA officials before 1975.

The FDA says the artificial sweeteners depend on research with animals fed extremely high doses of the chemicals while people and others eat diet soft drinks for a day or a human being. These studies are being examined under rigorous standards by scientists inside and outside the FDA.

The debate over FDA standards and practices concerns not only whether the chemicals can cause cancer and whether artificial sweeteners are dangerous. But if approved, each chemical would be subject to future possible use of cyclamates, perhaps like the present but little-known one-gram-a-day-a-person limit on the use of saccharine.

If the panel concludes cyclamates cause cancer, the chemical will remain banned. If the panel fails to reach a conclusion, the FDA still will make a decision. FDA sources say.

---

Thru Thursday: Night at Das Fass!

We may be what you are looking for in

Rolls Harshly

10 oz. drafts - $4.50

In the Beer Garden

Rolf's

1975, 3:00 p.m. to 1 a.m.

In The Ratskeller

Enjoy Top-Notch

Entertainment And The Best Mixed Drinks In Town!

The Ratskeller is now open at 3:00 p.m. come down and relax after classes

---

Do you like pancakes?

Mr. Natural has a delicious whole wheat pancake mix, just add 1 cup milk, 1 egg and 1 cup milk or water.

In Sale This Week for 40c a pound at Mr. Natural Food Store 102 E. Jackson Open 10-6 Mon-Sat

---

MISSING EPILEPTIC DISCOVERED AFTER THREE-DAY SEARCH

WOOD RIVER, Ill. (AP) - A 21-year-old Wood River epileptic who was the subject of an intensive search after he disappeared from his home without his medication has been found.

Deputy Pete Baetz, spokesman for the Madison County Sheriff's Department, said Douglas Deters, 21, was spotted about eight miles from his home Wednesday. He had just been seen Monday morning watching television at the rural residence he shares with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Deters.

Police volunteers, Boy Scouts (Civil Defense workers) and a helicopter had been employed in the search.

"He appears to be in fairly good physical condition," the deputy said.

Baetz said Deters was spotted apparently walking two days walking around in the woods.

---

Do you like pancakes?

Mr. Natural has a delicious whole wheat pancake mix, just add 1 cup milk, 1 egg and 1 cup milk or water.

In Sale This Week for 40c a pound at Mr. Natural Food Store 102 E. Jackson Open 10-6 Mon-Sat

---

ROSH HASHONA

Friday, Sept. 5

7:30 p.m. Boulder Student Center

Saturday, Sept. 6

10:00 a.m.-10:30 p.m. Temple Beth Jacob

Sunday, Sept. 7

7:30 p.m. Temple Beth Jacob (rides from Hillel)

---

WEDNESDAY PROGRAMS

WE Hardware RESTAURANT opens Sept. 8, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily

TOP OF THE ISLAND CAFE: Saturdays at 9 p.m.

KOLSHALOM, Free school (Hebrew, Yiddish, Judaism, Israeli Dance), Esperanto: Arabic: speakers, films, ".

7TH & WASHINGTON.

Radio Vokal's Director: Open 5-9 Steve Irish, President
Volleyball coach conducts ‘fair’ tryouts

By Scott Burnside
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer
Women's volleyball coach Debbie Hunter is taking pains to run a fair tryout camp.

Hunter, in her first year coaching at SIU, has even gone so far as to deliberately avoid identifying the eight candidates holding volleyball scholarships.

Coach Hunter feels this procedure will give other individuals trying out for the team more of a chance, although she admits that the scholarship-holders will probably stand out.

Fifty women turned out for the team last week, but about 20 have dropped out, mostly due to Hunter's conditioning program.

“We practice every day for two hours,” explained the coach. “We think some of the girls are sort of surprised at the running and conditioning required.”

Each woman is expected to run a mile a day. They are also timed in one-mile runs each week, so Hunter can check the progress of conditioning.

“We're also doing flexibility exercises this week, as well as practicing some of the more basic skills,” Hunter said. “Next week we'll be doing some diving and rolling drills.”

Hunter expects the squad to be down to 24 players by Friday. However, until then, she won't know which type of offense the team will be using this season, although she wants to implement a 6-2 system, if possible.

The 6-2 system would utilize all six players as attackers, with two of the starting team also being used as primary setters.

"We're looking for some good setters who can call different plays," Hunter explained.

The first game of the season for the team is at Principia College on Sept. 2.

The team will open its home season at 5:30 pm, Sept. 7 in Davies Gymnasium with a four-team meet. SIU will host Western Illinois, Southeast Missouri State and University of Tennessee at Martin in the meet.

---

Quads to play Pinckneyville Booster Club

The Squids, SIU's co-ed wheelchair basketball team, will take on the Pinckneyville Booster Club in a game at 6:20 pm, Sept. 7 at Pinckneyville High School.

Proceeds from the charity event will go to the Perry County Workshop for the Handicapped.

In addition to benefiting the workshop, the game will help show those attending the talent and skills of the handicapped, according to Richard DeAngelo, faculty adviser.

The game is to be played with rules similar to official ones. The wheelchair is taken considered part of the player. A player with the ball can give himself only two pushes without dribbling the ball.

The Squids belong to the Midwest Conference of the National Wheelchair Basketball Association. The team has 16 conference games scheduled this season, with five to be played at SIU. Included on the schedule are teams from the St. Louis area, Champaign and Springfield.

Air ball
Sophomore fullback candidate Hugh Fletcher from Webster Groves, Mo., reaches vainly for a pass thrown far out of his reach in a recent practice session at McKennd Amy Stadium. Fletcher is one of the top picks for the fullback slot in the new wishbone offense.

---

The Law Board Review Seminar Taught by Practicing Attorneys

The Law Board Review Center announces a special weekend Seminar in preparation for the October LSAT. The instructing attorney carefully prepares the aspiring law student to maximize his or her score on the Test. The Seminar, four days thorough analysis of the LSAT, includes extensive replication and review of all major sections of the Test. This intensive weekend review also includes special emphasis in those areas where scores are most likely to be improved, consideration of test-taking techniques, and materials for additional study. The complete fee is $85.

IN ST. LOUIS at the Chase Hotel Plaza Sat. & Sun., Sept. 27th & 28th 9:30AM to 5:30PM
Information and Reservations Call Toll-Free 800-456-2380

LAW BOARD REVIEW CENTER
32 Gramercy Park South
New York, New York 10003
Los Angeles, Calif. 90034

---

Why Isshinryu Karate School?
- Individual instruction in small classes
- Instruction 5 days per week
- Organized classes
- School in existence since 1967
- Member of American Okinawa Karate Association
- Promotions recognized by all major Karate Associations
- Students have won various tournaments throughout the midwest
- Instructor—4th Degree Black Belt, Certified Internationally
- 1964 East Coast Karate Championship 2nd Place Fighting
- 16 years experience
- Trained and promoted by the famous Mr. Don Nogle—8th Degree Black Belt and Mr. Joel Buchholz 7th Degree Black Belt

NOTE: This instructor has proven himself as both a competitor and an instructor

CALL: 549-4808 (between 6:00-10:00 pm)
116 N. Illinois
2nd Floor
Carbondale

---

Why You Need a Weekday Auto Filter System
- 1.20 for AUTO AIR FILTER
- 24 quart cans in each case
- Quality constructed to deliver hi-performance, hury

SAVE 90:
"Spin-On" Oil Filter Reg. 2.19
129

SAVE 99:
Motor Oil with 2-7 Reg. 3.09
19

WESTERN AUTO ASSOC. STORE
415 S. I.L. - Carbondale
1418 Walnut - Murphysboro

---

All rights reserved.
Hopkins to command wishbone attack

Editor's note: This is the last of a six-part series on Saluki football.

By Dave Wiesew freely
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

When a guy goes from No. 5 quarter-to No. 1 in just a few months, you can bet he took a lot of sacrifice, hard work and luck.

Using those three things to the best of his ability, Leo Linton worked his way into the starting quarterback role on the 1975 Saluki football team.

During spring drill this year, Hopkins found himself low man on the junior position in coach Doug Weaver's new wishbone offense.

Throughout his high school and collegiate career, Hopkins, a senior from West Frankfort, was known as a drop-back quarterback. He had limited experience with the wishbone in high school and did not look as if he would be at the controls of the Saluki offense in the fall.

"I always thought it was possible," Hopkins commented in reference to being No. 1. "There was always a rotation of players. Guys were getting hurt so someone different was always in there. Freshman year I got to play a lot because people were hurt."

Hopkins was "lucky" again this year when Gary Mann, the No. 1 quarterback in spring drills broke an ankle and Hopkins added modestly, "I guess it was just a case of my getting better too."

The wishbone quarterback is usually the most versatile athlete on the team because he must do as much running as the other backs, plus handle the ball and pass.

"I had a mental block the first couple of weeks I ran the offense," he admitted. "I was dancing around the holes and not hitting them hard. I'm running better now and not worrying about getting hurt."

Hopkins ran for more than 140 yards in the team's last scrimmage.

Passing admittedly is Hopkins' first love, but he may not get much of a chance to test his arm. The wishbone doesn't call for many passes and Hopkins probably passes about 12 times a game—maybe. I guess it might not even be that much."

Unlike a guy like Jurgenson or Joe Namath, who got crunched only two or three times a game by a defensive lineman, Hopkins will get more than his share of bumps and bruises.

Keglers regrouping

The SIU bowling club will hold a meeting Thursday in Room A of the Student Center starting at 6:30 p.m.

President Phil Baratta, 549-8452, said the meeting will be used to plan the club's yearly activities.

By Scott Burnsidge
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Welcome to a new sports column. Hopkins to command wishbone attack

This column is for the sports-fan. Participation will be sought in writing these columns. In fact, I'm going to ask for help in naming the column.

Such titles as "On My Side", "Slow Burn" and "Burns's Thoughts" were suggested—along with some totally irrelevant recommendations which won't be mentioned here.

So that my readers (stick with me, there will be enough of them) can make valid suggestions, I'll give you some of my sports philosophy, background and a few lines. Football—The game may have reached its peak, especially professionally. What the pro need is a

Search --ideas, thoughts, title desired

Charley Finley to fill the air with orange footballs, plus a healthy dose of respect. A fan might wish, however, to see Saluki games sometime soon at home in front of a television set than brave inclement weather conditions and be seated a few hundred yards from the field, which is visible only through binoculars.

Baseball—This game is still the best bargain in major league sports. This is even more apparent at SIU, where a fan can watch the game while lounging on the hill along the right field line at Abe Martin Field—and for free, too. A dedicated student can even clock some study time while the manager changes pitchers.

Hunting—This will be a problem area. Some of my best shots are bunnies. I've changed my stance on hunting—which is usually crouched behind a tree—to a more conservative viewpoint. More stringent tests should be given to hunters each year to weed out the serious ones from the guys who hunt once a year, and couldn't track a deer for a mile if they tried.

Basketball—Where else can an 18-year-old directly out of high school make $100,000 a year? This is probably my favorite sport. My old hometown (Paris) is basketball crazy. (We won three state tournaments back in the 60s, when our coach was known for smashing folding chairs on the floor, ala Leo Durocher, and chassing referees around the gym.)

Fans—Someone once wrote that most sporting events consist of 20,000 out-of-town people, who need exercise, watching five, eleven or whatever number of supercilious conditioned athletes, who don't need the exercise. Of course, it's the fan who pays the way, suffers through strike and fights for her way through miles of traffic in the worst condition possible to watch a favorite team. And for this, and a few bucks, the fan feels he has a right to yell at every guy on the field—and he does. Last (and probably best) is my sport background. Right now, I am a pitcher for a break-even slow-pitch team. My ERA is dancing around 14.50, but it's been rumored the umpires are suffering from a myopic condition. My bowling record is spotless. All my former teams ended up in last place. Perhaps my best sporting effort was in England, where I helped win a horse-pitching contest on the Fourth of July.

Now that all the secrets are out, what should this column be called? Suggestions can be called in, brought in personally or delivered to the Daily Egyptian sports desk tied to a pidgeon's leg.

A prize will be offered to the winning entry. This prize is still up in the air. It could be an autographed picture of Nellie Fox chewing seven plugs of tobacco. On the other hand, it could be a paid trip to New Burnside, Ill.