Lowell O'Daniell Is Voted 'Ugliest Man'

Lowell O'Daniell, junior from Chicago, is the "Ugliest Man" on campus today. Maybe not by nature, Lowell asserts, but at least voting in the Red Cross ugliest man contest gave that result. O'Daniel received 1,923 votes to receive the first place mug in a special assembly held Thursday morning.

O'Daniel received 413 votes more than his closest competitor, fraternity brother Sam Eubanks. Other men in the top five were Jim Walker with 1,295 votes, Lou Waters with 534, and Augie Schwartz with 436.

Pat Randle acted as master of ceremonies in the assembly. Nu Epsilon Alpha presented their version of a spring style show to open the assembly. Other variety acts featured were Jo Ann Schrodt-Jim Trigg with record pantomimes, Lila Lee Taylor, Chuck White, and a dance routine featuring Cecil Franklin, Libby Mars and Helen Nance.

The entire proceeds of the Ugliest Man contest went to the Red Cross, as did proceeds taken in at the assembly.

BOOKSTORE TO HOLD SALE

According to Carl Trobaugh, manager of the university bookstore, a spring book sale will be held beginning Monday and continuing through April 21.

who will be leaving Southern in June.

'Southern Scandals' To Be Vaudeville Show Title

"Southern Scandals," the monicker given to the Spring Festival Vaudeville Show by the vaudeville committee, is going to be a talent-plus, action-packed affair if early try-outs are any indication.

Faculty Members To Give Recital Tomorrow Night

In conjunction with the Illinois Federated Music clubs convention on campus, three university faculty members will present a recital in the Little Theatre tomorrow night at 8:15.

Participants will include Dr. Eileen Barry, associate professor of foreign languages, cello; Robert S. Resnick, instructor in music, flute and clarinet; and Robert E. Mueller, instructor in music, piano.

First portion of the program will include two selections in the classical tradition—"Trio in G minor, op. 63, for flute, cello, and piano," by Weber, performed by the trio; and Beethoven's "Variations in C minor, for piano," featuring Mueller as soloist.

SECOND portion includes three numbers by modern or contemporary composers—Bartok's "Four Pieces from 'Mikrokosmos,'" Copland's "Second movement, Sonata" and Castro's "Four Pieces from 'Diezas Breves.'" All three will be performed by Mueller.

Concluding the program will be a composition by Mueller, which was written especially for Resnick, another member of the trio. The work is "Trio for Clarinet, Cello, and Piano," and will be performed by the trio.

The recital is open to the public and no admission will be charged.

Delegates Represent SIU At National IRC Meet

SIU is being represented by six delegates this week at the national conference of the American Association of International Relations Clubs at Stillwater, Okla. Bernard Narusis, Doris Alvey Jones, Arthur Miller, Al Loughran, Murrell Jones, and Marian Smith Loughran are the delegates.

Narusis was chosen as an official delegate to the conference to represent the mid-west region at the Mid-West IRC conference held at Milwaukee in February. Doris Alvey Jones was elected as recording secretary of the mid-west region at the Milwaukee meeting.

A study of the issues involved in the current "Great Debate" in American foreign policy will be the main theme of the national conference.

* "The Scandals," which will take place April 27 in Shryock auditorium in conjunction with the 1951 Spring Festival, will include entertainment along the "Gay Nineties" line, and will also stress humorous skits.

CO-CHAIRMEN Jim Trigg and B. J. McConnell have announced that there are still several spots in the show for good individual acts, and the troupe will hold special try-outs on April 17 at the Speech house for the purpose of auditioning individual acts. Anyone on campus who performs, an individual act is welcome to the Speech house next Tuesday. The tryouts will get underway there at 7 p.m.

The World Student Service Fund will benefit from all aspects of the Spring Festival this year. The Festival steering committee previously voted to donate half the proceeds of the 1951 affair to the association. The World Student Service Fund is a globe-wide organization for the benefit of students all over the world.

"With such a purposeful organization receiving proceeds, our receipts this year from the Vaudeville Show should be greater than ever," said Jim Trigg, co-chairman of the vaudeville show committee.

NINE ACTS have already been approved by the committee for the "Southern Scandals." These include skits by Kappa Delta Alpha, Delta Sigma Epsilon, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Pi Kappa Sigma, Chi Delta Chi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Anthony Hall. Johnson Hall and Doyle Dorm have entered instrumental, singing, and dancing acts. The show will also include a dance band to provide music for various acts.

Bill Plater, former editor of the Egyptian, now doing graduate work at SIU, will act as master of ceremonies for the Scandals. Plater will include a few original drawings along with his M.C. work.

Rehearsals for the show have been set for April 22 and 26. But co-chairman Trigg and McConnell added that another rehearsal prior to April 22 will be held if at all possible. All rehearsals will be held in the auditorium, actual setting for the show.

Our Opinions . . .

Pooch Paradise?

Apparently the Carbondale canines have heard the news about Southern becoming a Saluki university and have interpreted it as meaning that the school is open to all mutts. At any rate, various members of the Heinz, or 57 varieties, have invaded the campus.

With the prospect of barking dogs disturbing classes, the problem of what to do arises. If the offending animals were to be carted off to the pound to await destruction or redemption by their owners many of Southern's dog lovers would be highly displeased. But to let the mutts continue to annoy classes and passersby is also beyond the endurance of both students and faculty.

PERHAPS A true-blue Saluki will be ashamed to set paw on a campus where common canines are allowed such freedom.

At any rate, something should be done. Perhaps a special K-9 settlement could be set up in some corner of the campus and a temporary barracks erected to house these homeless wanderers. Or the campus could be forcibly cleared of all mongrels and a 15-foot high steel fence surrounding the campus put up.

If anyone has any other suggestions not out of line with the SPCA (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals), let us know. We're stumped. B. P.

Clean Cups, Please

SIU's Canteen performs a real service to students, and faculty, in that it serves meals at economical prices, and provides a handy place to stop for a coke before, between and sometimes during classes.

We realize that with the constant turnover of customers, it is impossible to keep close check on every little detail, but we do think that a greater effort could be made to see that coffee cups are washed thoroughly after they are used, and that they are presented to customers free of lipstick stains or any other evidences of hasty washing.

We have heard several students comment about this situation, and have noted the same thing ourselves. It isn't very appetizing, or sanitary, to be confronted with someone else's "pink peril" lipstick on the rim of the cup. Perhaps, in return for clean cups, students could retaliate by not littering the Canteen floors with old exam papers, empty cigarette packs, and candy wrappers.

New Feature

Next Friday's issue of The Egyptian will feature the first of a series of caricatures of Southern faculty members and well-known students by artist Bill Plater. No identification of the person sketched will be made in the Friday issue, and the answer will be given in the following Tuesday's Egyptian.

We won't say that any resemblance of the sketches to any persons living or dead, is entirely coincidental, but rather that the opinion of the cartoonist does not necessarily reflect that of the editors.

Dedication

By Bob Coover

Luck may be good, or may be bad,
 Or may be in-between;
 But be wary of the mixture
 Of Friday and Thirteen.

"Ah, there goes a man," the men would say,
 "No luckier man can be seen.
 Ah, I envy the very footsteps
 Of Quincy Cadwallader Bean!"

But little did the populace know
 Of the terrible jinx so mean
 That tormented the life so mercilessly
 Of Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

It all began on a dark, dreary day
 On January, Friday Thirteen,
 When a careless stork accidentally dropped
 Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

Except for that fateful Friday 13th
 Life was extremely serene
 And fortune and fame were poured upon
 Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

But whenever that ominous day rolled around
 Namely, Friday Thirteen,
 Then life became unbearable for
 Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

As a baby he swallowed his teething ring,
 Which had a profound effect upon his spleen,
 This happened, of course, on Friday 13th
 To Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

Once he fell down and lost all his teeth,
 And once he created a scene
 By falling into an open manhole . . . Ahhh!
 Poor Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

He walked into an open elevator shaft
 (This, too, on Friday Thirteen)
 And once down 13 flights of stairs
 Fell Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

Though the rest of his life was quite pleasant,
 On every Friday Thirteen
 Terrible misfortune would befall
 Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

But today his worst blunder he made,
 On Friday, April Thirteen.
 Ahhh, sad indeed was the blow today to
 Quincy Cadwallader Bean.

For today Quincy struck a match in his car
 To see if he had any gasoline . . .
 This obituary is mournfully dedicated
 To Quincy Cadwallader . . . HAS-Bean.

Religious Emphasis Week Ends Today With Chapel Services

Southern's Religious Emphasis Week officially came to a close today. Chapel services held today ended the week which was filled with a variety of talks, lectures, and movies dedicated to the faiths of all denominations.

Beginning the week was a "kick-off" supper held at the First Christian church Sunday night. Rev. Elwood K. Wylie, director of the Student Christian Foundation, spoke on "I Also Do Not See God."

MONDAY'S ACTIVITIES began with a breakfast at the Student Christian Foundation and ended that night at Shryock auditorium with Dorothy Thompson's lecture, although she was not officially scheduled for the Religious Emphasis Week activities.

Intermediate events were talks by Dr. Frank A. Sharp in several classes and a speech by Dr. Bulford Nichols, missionary to China.

Stressing inter-denominational cooperation was a movie entitled "One God." The film was pieced out from strips taken in different churches—Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish.

Tuesday's principal activities

Activities ended today at 12:30 in the Student Christian foundation with Dr. Sharp leading chapel exercises. A continuation committee to plan next year's Religious Emphasis week was selected at a breakfast held this morning.

Resident Students Eligible To Vote In City Election

Only students who plan to reside permanently in Carbondale are eligible to vote in the Carbondale municipal elections, according to Dr. Max W. Turner, associate professor of government here at SIU.

"The student must search his conscience to discover his intentions with regard to establishing bona fide residence in the community," says Dr. Turner. "The eligibility of a student to vote in a Carbondale municipal election is determined on the basis of facts presented in each individual's case."

IF A STUDENT'S vote is challenged on election day, he may vote by filing an affidavit stating that he is at present or is going to become a permanent resident of the community. A student should consult the city clerk if he does not know whether or not he resides within the city boundaries, Dr. Turner added.

Dr. Turner cited the Illinois State Supreme Court ruling of 1924 concerning the students of Eureka College as a basis for deciding student voting cases.

Observation Window Is New Feature Of SIU Training School

Southern's new training school will offer education majors something new in the art of observing classes.

Instead of sitting in the same room with and staring openly at the pupils, observers will now retire to an adjoining room and without the pupils' knowledge, will follow their actions in the classroom.

THIS IS accomplished by using a one-way glass which makes up a large portion of the wall separating the two rooms.

The observers can see and hear everything in the classroom but the students come face to face with their own image when their eyes try to penetrate the glass.

This glass will also be an advantage for the education teacher. Supervised observations will be possible as a result of this modern equipment.

GAMMA DELTA MEETS TO HEAR MISSIONARY

Two Frosh Take Over Top Spots In Tennis

By JIM TURPIN

Veteran tennis observers are beginning to perk up and take notice of the 1951 tennis aspirants at Southern. Years have passed and nothing spectacular has happened with good players coming and going and causing no great excitement, especially in their freshman year.

But this season a pair of twin tornadoes with all the poise and form of vets with many years of experience have been blazing the SIU courts and have risen into the number one and two singles spots, ousting co-captains Bob Barnhart and Jack Norman.

Stan Cooper and Omar Winter, both Carmi freshmen, may not fare too well in college competition at first, but wise heads agree that before they leave Southern, they will be tops.

Many watched as Cooper dropped Winter for the number one crown in three sets last Monday afternoon. "Just luck," Stan said, "he'll probably beat me next time." And if past performances mean anything, he probably will. The duo have exchanged victories so many times that they have lost count.

Fans marvelled at the graceful, yet vicious way that both boys plummeted shots across the net. Winter being the aggressor with a bullet-like serve and Cooper being the defender with expertly placed shots at any spot on the court.

They may not win this year and they may not end up playing the number one and number two spots, but before their four years are over people will be saying, "Watch those Southern boys, Cooper and Winter, they're the best."

The tennis team will travel to St. Louis Saturday, where they will meet highly-rated St. Louis University in their initial match of the season. The team was originally slated to oppose Evansville and Eastern this week, but both matches were postponed.

Extension Course Totals Announced

More than 2800 registrations have been made in SIU off-campus courses this year in a system which allows students part of their college education without so much as setting foot on campus.

They are taking some 84 graduate and undergraduate courses at 37 different centers in such towns as Belleville, Cairo, Harrisburg, Centralia, Fairfield, and Alton. Through this system, organized by Extension Services of SIU, students may complete as much as one-third of the hours necessary for either the bachelor's or master's degree.

CREDIT COURSES are just a part of the wide program of extension directed by Raymond H. Dey. In addition, there are some 53 courses offered under the direction of E. H. Simon, director of the Vocational-Technical Institute.

According to Dey, the number of off-campus credit courses has almost doubled during the past two years. Such courses are of great convenience to the person who wishes to work on a job and a degree at the same time.

Michigan Nine To Play Here This Weekend

Southern's baseball squad will take the field today at 3 p. m. for the first of a two game series against the Central Michigan Chipewas, newest addition to the I. I. A. C. In the starting pitcher for the visitors in today's game will be Leo Rozyk, highly publicized southpaw who boasts a two year record of eight wins and one loss.

Reid Martin, right-handed mainstay of Coach "Abe" Martin's pitching staff, is slated to go today for the Maroons, with Darrell Thompson probably drawing tomorrow's assignment.

The probable starting line-up for Southern is:

Don Campbell CF
Jim Schmulbach LF
Charlie Valier 3B
Joe Jones 1B
Bob Boms RF
Jerry West 2B
Art Menendez SS
Milt Weisbecker C
Reid Martin P

With Campbell, Schmulbach, and Ems Southern has one of the best defensive outfields to be found in the circuit. This trio offers three fine throwing arms with the offensive strength at the plate to go with it.

Reid Martin will be toiling for his third victory in today's game, and the Maroons for their seventh in nine starts.

Golfers Lose Initial Meet To Evansville

Southern's golf team suffered a 12½ to 2½ defeat at the hands of Evansville last Tuesday, here at Jackson Country Club. The point system used awards one point match play for low score on each nine holes, and one point medal play for low total on the eighteen.

A run-down of the meet by individual match play:
Shanks (S) 41-44 85 1 pt
Herrell (E) 42-42 84 2 pts
Wilson (S) 45-43 88 1 pt
Connolly (E) 41-44 85 2 pts.
Nichols (S) 46-47 93 0
Holder (E) 40-41 81 3 pts.
Adams (S) 48-54 102 0.
Shenk (E) 43-45 88 3 pts.
Henley (S) 51-45 96 ½ pt.
James (E) 41-45 86 2½ pts.

Captain Jim Wilson is the only letterman of last season who is competing this year.

Coach Lynn Holder's team will engage Illinois Normal this afternoon at 1:15 in their first conference meet.

Students Want Dorms According to Survey

Students at Southern want dormitories more than any other new buildings, a survey conducted by Wayne Mann, alumni director, revealed here today. A new field house ranked fifth in the tabulations.

Second greatest need is a library, according to the student poll. Tons of books have been removed from the old SIU library to reduce the present structural load. Ranked third in terms of need was a student union building, and a vocational-technical training building, fourth.

Although temporary structures now provide 50 percent of the building space at Southern, 1,014 or 1,488 students who returned questionnaires were "enthusiastic" or "very enthusiastic" about SIU.

MUSIC CLUB FEDERATION TO HOLD BOARD MEETING

The state board meeting of the Illinois Federation of Music Clubs has been scheduled to be held here at Southern Saturday and Sunday, April 14 and 15.

Southern's faculty music club, a member of the federation, is to be the host of the meeting. Highlights of the two day meeting will be a visit to the Junior Music Festival, sponsored by Carbondale clubs, and the presentation of a faculty recital here on campus Saturday night.

It is interesting to note that graduate students may take approximately half the work leading to the degree of Master of Science in Education at the Belleville Residence Center. At least 24 hours must be taken on campus.

The Scarab is the only literary magazine on campus. It is sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta. English fraternity.

Southern Plans Outdoor Education Program Camp This Summer: Freeburg

Between 400 and 500 Southern Illinois high school students are expected to attend the Southern Illinois University Outdoor Education program camp, which is to be held at Little Grassy lake from June 11 to August 3.

Camp Director Dr. William Freeburg, assistant professor of men's physical education, announced today that in addition to wild-life management, fish exploration, and soil conservation, the camp program would include boating, swimming, camp craft, nature lore, archery, hiking, outdoor education exploration, work experience in the care and use of tools, and campfire programs.

THE PURPOSE of the camp is three-fold, according to Freeburg. It will provide training for university students in camping administration, camp counseling, and conservation education. It will provide experience for high school students in camping and outdoor education. It will provide experience in primitive type camping and living which may serve as an orientation to the boys' military service.

A second camp is to be conducted at Giant City state park. This camp will be open to all university students and will offer an opportunity for the student to add 12 hours credit to his total. Botany 102, geography 101, and Physical education 145 will be offered at the Giant City camp. An additional elective, field biology 131, will be offered for those who desire.

THERE WILL BE a limit of 60 students who will attend this camp. They will be quartered in the barracks which were used last year

FOR THOSE interested in softball, there will be a meeting the following day, April 18, at the same time and place. A few practice games will be played prior to the respective tournaments, which will be run as double elimination contests. The winning teams will be awarded either trophies or individual medals, according to choice.
