SIU Festival To Have Gala Circus 'Big Top'

"One of the main attractions of the 'Greatest Show on Earth' this year will be the 'Big Top' show. This year's Spring Festival will carry out the theme of a circus throughout all events. The 'Big Top' spoken of in the above sentence is the Vaudeville Show which is one of the highlights of the festivities.

Overseas Jobs Announced By Army Engineers

Salaries ranging as high as $42,000 are being paid by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers to qualified engineers, architects, geologists, and draftsmen being currently recruited for overseas employment by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Mr. D. L. Wampler, a representative of the Corps of Engineers, will interview applicants at the Illinois Employment Office, 1105 Chestnut street, Springfield, tomorrow and Thursday. He will be at the employment office from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. tomorrow, and from 8 p. m. to noon on Thursday.

Applications are also being accepted for construction inspectors, accountants, auditors, and stenographers.

A choice of living in eight different types of residences and foreign countries is given to qualified engineers, architects, and draftsmen. Employees travel by air or first class railroad accommodations to the point of embarkation and may choose between air or ship transportation to the project where they are to be employed. All fares and most traveling expenses are paid by the Corps of Engineers. In some cases, employees' families may later join them.

Emphasizing the power of the American dollar overseas, the Corps of Engineers reports that gasoline is currently selling in Casablanca at 12 cents per gallon; that Corps of Engineers employees in Tokyo are permitted to shop in a modern semi-stylish post exchange; and that modern hotel accommodations in Alaska rent to $13 per month.

An acute shortage of qualified engineers, architects, and draftsmen is hampering construction work outside the United States which is considered vital to this country's defense, according to Col. F. E. Resseguie, St. Louis District Engineer.

Blanks Due April 27 For Tournament Week

Students May Tour Europe This Summer Under AIRC Plan

The Association of International Relations Clubs will again conduct its European Study Tour which is open to all college students with an interest in international relations.

The tour is a planned tour with seminars scheduled for Sheffield, London, Paris, and Geneva, but allows ample free time for individual or group sight-seeing and independent travel.

On June 9 a group of 25 students, together with their manager, will sail for Europe from Quebec. Arriving June 19 it will spend approximately a month in Britain studying its politics, history, political problems, and social system.

In addition to the scheduled seminars in Sheffield and London, side trips are planned to Stratford-on-Avon, Windsor Castle, Oxford, and the Houses of Parliament. One weekend will be spent with British and Continental students, and there will be one week of free time to satisfy small group interests.

The group will proceed to Paris during the second week of July for a seminar on European-American relations, visits to Versailles and Rheims, plus a weekend with French students. In Geneva, tour members will attend a seminar conducted by the World Federation of United Nations Associations from July 28 to August 5 at the Palace of Nations.

The United Nations Economic and Social Council will be meeting at the same time, and many of the discussions will be led by members of the Council. The group will also attend meetings of the Council.

The remainder of August is spent in free time travel. Italy, Germany, Scandinavia, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Yugoslavia are the favorite destinations. The group sails for home early in September and will arrive in Quebec on Sept. 12. Deferral which is based on a student's class standing or the score he made on the Selective Service Classification Test. Class I-S-C deferrals are granted at the discretion of the local boards.

Colonel Armstrong said he expects a considerable tightening up in the requirements for college student deferments prior to the beginning of the 1953 fall term. This will be necessary to make men available to Selective Service with which to meet the needs of the nation's defense forces.

Two Departments To Sponsor Public Forum

"Problems of the Adolescents" will be discussed in a public forum for high school students at 8 p. m. in the University school three-day University of Illinois Press auditorium, April 23. One of the speakers will be a teenager, and short talks will be made by a father, a mother, and a teacher of adolescents. Southern's psychology department and the Division of Extension will sponsor the forum.

More than 200 high school delegates from 65 Illinois high schools will visit SIU April 16, 17, and 18 for the annual Hospitality Week.

end. This is approximately one-third more delegates than appeared at the several previous years. Guests will begin arriving Thursday evening and no organized activities have been planned until the following day.

FTA Chapters Meet On Campus For Rally

Southern Illinois University's Egyptian chapter, Future Teachers of America, were hosts Saturday for the third annual Spring rally of FTA clubs in the area high schools, according to Jack Sinker, Harvey, president of the SIU group. Nearly 75 FTA members representing six clubs in Southern Illinois high schools at Anna-Jonesboro, Vienna, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Carmel, East St. Louis, and Belleville attended the meeting.

Registration For VTI Night Courses Begins Tomorrow

Registration for the VTI evening courses will be in the VTI classroom building at 7 p. m. April 15. The schedule of courses, which will last for eight weeks, are: Beginning Typewriting, Intermediate Short Hand, Shorthand Review and Transcription, Calculating Machines, and Elements of Bookkeeping—Accounting II.

Eugene Vaughn of the VTI staff will teach the Beginning Typing class which meets from 7 to 9:30 p. m. each Monday, beginning April 20.

Intermediate Shorthand, a course designed for persons who have the basic fundamentals of Gregg shorthand theory and who desire to complete their training in order to take office-type dictation, will meet each Monday and Wednesday, beginning April 15.

Shorthand Review and Transcription, a class for stenographers, secretaries and office workers desiring to gain speed and accuracy in their work, will meet from 7 to 9:30 p. m. each Tuesday, beginning April 21.

Registration in the elementary calculating machines course will be limited to ten students. The course will furnish basic operating instruction for adding subtracting, multiplying, and dividing by machine. The class will meet from 7 to 9:30 p. m. each Tuesday and Thursday, beginning April 16.

Elements of Bookkeeping—Accounting II, offered from 7 to 9:30 p. m. each Wednesday, is for persons who have completed the beginning course or who have had some bookkeeping experience and desire to continue their studies.

FTA Chapters Meet On Campus For Rally

The visiting students will register at a mixer to be held in the Student Union building from 8 until 10 a. m. on Friday.

At 10:30 the group will gather in Shroyck auditorium to attend a program in charge of Pat Randle, instructor in the Vocational-Technical Institute. They will be introduced to the chairman of Hospitality weekend, officers of the Social Senate, officers of the Student Council, and the staff of the Office of Student Affairs. A picture of the group will be taken upon the steps of Shroyck auditorium after the program.

After lunch, which will be served to the group at 1:15, they will meet again at Shroyck and go from there to visit various university classes.

At 2 p. m. they will go on a tour of the campus and see the Michigan Normal-Saski baseball game.

After attending an open house at President Hertz's home and receiving their housing assignments they will attend a banquet at the University cafeteria, Jerry F. S. will be master of ceremonies and the speaker will be Dr. Bischoff of the Illinois State and Special Education department.

At 9 p. m. on Saturday the visitors will meet the Big Wheels of the Faculty. At 9:15 they will listen to a talk "How to Reach Your Goals at Southern." Those who wish may remain and attend the Herrin relays at McAndrew stadium Saturday evening.

Southern Illinois Newspaper Men To Meet At SIU

Highlighting the annual two-day spring meeting of the Southern Illinois Editors' Association, A.W. Beardsley, editor of the Journal at the University school, will preside at the evening dinner session which will be held at the University school.

The program will include evening, Saturday and dinner courses for a total of 45 quarter hours of credit. Prerequisites will include a master's degree and two years experience in the field of education. Students who complete the program will be granted specialist's certificates or diplomas.

Danny Swartz of the graduate school explained that the specialists' program will include such fields as Educational Administration, Instructional Supervision, and Guidance and Counseling.

Swartz pointed out that the program will help lift the Southern Illinois educators' years of graduate work to the two year level that prevails over the nation.

Students will be assigned projects in their field which will be presented for discussion and criticism at seminars. Visiting consultants and lecturers will participate in a seminar on educational needs.

Registration will be held this spring and summer for the opening term of the program next fall.

Prior to the introduction of this program, courses on the fifth year level had been the most advanced offered by the University.

Child Guidance Clinic To Visit Harrisburg

The Child Guidance Clinic of SIU will hold an all-day session in Harrisburg Friday working with children and adolescents for the second time within three months.

This clinic will be conducted in cooperation with Superintendent Maier, Principal Armstrong, and the parents and teachers of the children who are to be studied.

After all cases have been diagnosed, then each case will be staffed with the parents, the teacher, the school nurse, and one of the advisors in a small advisory committee. The findings will be presented, and recommendations made.

Arvin Writes Article For Physics Journal

An article by Martin J. Arvin, associate professor of physics at Southern Illinois University, will be published in the April issue of the Journal of Applied Physics.

The article is titled "Thermoelectric Properties of Molybdenum Disulfide."

Dr. Arvin's "Latent Heat of Vaporization" experiment was published in the American Journal of Physics last September.

Minckler Chosen Miss Carbondale

Christine Minckler, freshman from Carbondale, was chosen "Miss Carbondale" in a contest held at the Carbondale Armory Saturday night. Finishing second in the contest was Lois Buzzell, freshman from Murphysboro. Dixie Buran, sophomore from Duvell, received third place.

A member of Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority, Christine was sponsored by her sorority sister, Marita Craley, last year's winner.

After the contest, the crowd danced to the music of the Southern All-Stars.

Last year Christine took second place in the Fall Apple Festival held in Murphysboro.

CHRISTINE MINCKLER is crowned "Miss Carbondale" by Marita Craley, last year's "Miss Carbondale" winner, Christine.

VTI Offers Night Class On Fibers

An eight-weeks, adult night course, "Modern Fibers in Apparel and Yarnage," will be offered by the Southern Illinois University Vocational-Technical Institute at its Southern Acres campus near Carbondale beginning at 7 p. m. tonight.

The class will meet from 7 to 9 p. m. each Tuesday.

The Institute announces that the course is designed to give persons in a small advisory committee the characteristics, advantages, and limitations of many new fibers and fiber blends that are on the market today in apparel and yard goods.

Our Opinions

Week-end Guests

This weekend we are going to have guests. There will be more than 200 high school delegates on campus with us. These students are going to be our guests in our annual Hospitality Weekend.

It is not just by the dignitaries, but by the students as a whole. A friendly greeting, or a bit of direction-giving, if necessary, may make them feel more at home, and it won't hurt any of us a bit.

Patient's Progress

A few weeks ago we described the condition of a patient, known as Mr. Egyptian. At that time an appeal was made to his friends for assistance in speeding his recovery from acute malnutrition.

Another very important deterrent to complete news coverage is the matter of conflicting reports. Occasionally we find that two people have written accounts of the same meeting. Upon checking, we sometimes find that their accounts differ in regard to facts about dates, times or names.

Education Council Names New Head

Mrs. E. H. Schaller, former vice-president of the Educational Council of 1949, was recently named head of that body to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Melvin Lockard. Golden, Mrs. Schaller will serve as president until next fall. Lockard will remain on the Council's board of directors until that time.

World News in Brief

INTERNATIONAL CAPTAIN HAROLD FISHER failed to return from his 70th mission last week, and Red China's Peiping radio said that he was shot down and captured in Manchuria. The radio said that Fischer bailed out of his Sabre jet. He belongs to the 59th Squadron, 51st Group, 51st Wing, U. S. air force.

They are very serious minded, though. I want very much to help North Americans to have the same opportunities to establish warm relationships in my country as I have had in your land. Moya-Mendez has an American wife; the former Jeanette Kinard of Charlotte, N. C., and four young sons. As family bid Marcel goodbye — they will return to Lima in June — Moya-Mendez warned her about South American men.

AF ROTC

On April 9, at 4:15 p. m. the AF ROTC "Queen's Guard," a precision drill team, composed of 43 members, assembled at the Elks Club in Carbondale and marched down Main St. and Illinois Ave. in the Varsity Theater, where the movie "Above and Beyond" was being shown. All ROTC cadets were admitted at a reduced rate, if they wore their ROTC uniforms.

The drill team, led by John Keller, could easily be recognized in their Air Force Blues, white gloves, white leggings, and white helmets.

Leading the parade were 20 men of the ROTC marching band, playing rhythmic tunes to help develop the marching cadence for the Queen's Guard.

The production "Above and Beyond," starring Robert Taylor and Eleanor Parker is a heart-warming story of air force life. The story is based on the first atomic bombing of Hiroshima on August 5, 1945. The movie was produced through the direction and coaching of many air force personnel. The ROTC personnel staff at SIU agree that "Above and Beyond" shows the real life portrayal of the U.S.A.F.

Actually, this has been the first public appearance of the "Queen's Guard" since they first organized in October of 1952. The 32 man chorus has appeared for several exhibitions the past few months with pleasing reaction from the audience.

With the summer months around the corner, both chorus and drill team are anticipating many more exhibitions.

The Queen's Guard is organized as a membership club, and is supervised by an AF ROTC staff member, Sergeant Snyder, a Board of Directors, composed of advanced ROTC students act as the legislative and judicial body for the team.

Southern To Offer Therapy
Facilities Need Not Be Expanded For The Work
The professional courses for students interested in the under-staffed fields of occupational and physical therapy are now offered at SIU.

Dr. W. M. Abbott of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences pointed out that there are about 1,000 current openings for occupational therapists alone, and an estimated 25,000 more will be needed in the next 10 years. It has been said that the Veterans' Administration alone as many new graduates of therapeutic training as professional schools can turn out.

Most students following the program at Southern are expected to enter professional schools after they have received two years of college credit. However, those who complete the four years necessary for a bachelor's degree will be able to obtain their professional certificates in 18 to 18 months.

Dr. Abbott explained that students entering the curriculum at Southern physical therapy is concerned with treatment by physical means, such as heat, light, water, electricity, massage, and their college graduates are prepared to various entrance requirements. The program at SIU is flexible enough, he said, that the student may take a number of courses in the field where his interests lie.

Dry Times Color Campus Life

Back in the good old days of the moon skin coat and the hip flask, the Hupper, and the Surrus Beards, the bright horizon was marred by one monster—Prohibition. The well-meaning elders of our country, along with Carrie Nation and the Anti-Saloon League, had decided that "ole debble alchoh" had to go and straightaway decreed that the sale of alcoholic beverages be expressly prohibited.

Now, this left an enormous hole in extra-curricular activities around the college campus. Joe College had to have something to fill his hood, even if it were lemon extract. Bar rum, vanilla extract, and occasionally imported rum, and Scotch whiskeys constituted most of the manufactured beverage.

However, the American youth rose to meet the crisis. Some of the things they concocted were so powerful that if they were exposed to excessive sunlight they would have exploded glass jars. One of the favorites was made from potato peelings, cactus tops and other starchy foods, which were put in a crockery jar with some water, which an amount of carbide had been added to induce fermentation.

Another little jewel was concocted from the "cider boom" and consisted of three to five drops of ether, measured from a medicine dropper, mixed with lemon juice, and served cold. Speaking of cold, that's what happened to cars which were parked in the lot; the alcohol was to induce fermentation.

Salukis Drop Meet During Down-Pour

Wilson-Sprehe Slog Out Wins In Rainstorm

Western's Leathernecks splashed, slogged, and mile-relayed their way to a 66-65 victory over Southern.

In the home opener at McAndrew stadium Saturday. The Salukis had managed to pull ahead with a sweep of the low hurdles, and first and second places in the javelin throw. Going into the mile relay Southern led 65-61 as the balance of the meet swayed on the race. Southern lost the relay and the meet.

Eight of the 15 first places went to the Salukis, but Western placed in all the events except in the 220-yard low hurdle.

Leo Wilson and Vernon Sprehe were again high point men winning both of their races. Wilson won the high and low hurdles and Sprehe puddle-jumped home first in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Both had good times considering the condition of the track — two inches under water.

Sprehe went the 100 in 10.2 and the 220 in 22.7. Wilson ran the high and low hurdles in 16.0 and 26.4 respectively.

Southern will travel to Rolla, Mo., April 18 for a dual meet with Missouri School of Mines. The next home meet is April 28 with Cape — a night meet.

High jumper Bob Nickolas. Nickolas who has leaped as high as 6 feet 2 inches in the past, tied for second in Southern's recent meet with the Western Leathernecks with a bound of 6 and 1/4.

Sport Spiel

Looks like Southern trackmen will like some thoroughbred race-horses — not as good as a mud Sunday. Even though SIU took eight first out of 15 we still lost by far. One good thing about the meet was that no one drowned, although Bill Young, who was covered the meet said that his water wings were all that saved him. Rumor has it that the javelin thrower lost the Australian crawl the last 50 yards, and that the javelin throwers spaced several large catfish.

BAD NEWS for the track team is that handle Dan Barts, a face-man from Belleville, fractured his left ankle in a practice session recently and will be out for at least four weeks. Coach Jingle said Barts was attempting to pole vault when the accident occurred. Guess Dave better stick to hurdling.

A SIDELIGHT on the Cape Girardeau meet was that Leo Wilson won two bird races while slaying most blind hurdle in the day his eyes had been dilated for an eye exam. Wilson said he "just counted his straws very carefully."

Another loss to the track team is Earl Edwards, a sophomore discus thrower, who has been declared ineligible for the season. "Doc" Jingle said that Edwards didn't have the required average for the winter quarter.

SOUTHERN ISN'T the only school in the conference with an out-of-the-country athlete on the track team. Northern has a freshman from the Panama Canal Zone. He is Fred Raybourne, quarter miler. Raybourne was a high school champion in the Canal Zone. Northern has only three returning track-letters. They are Fred Bon, senior, who runs the 880; Dick Sletton, junior, a mile; and Harry Reinken, who is a pole vaulter.

A UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN athlete performed a rather remarkable feat the other day. He pitched a no-hit, no-run baseball game. The pitcher was Ron Unke, a 20-year-old right hander. He pitched the game against Bryn Mawr of Ohio. Unke won 5-0. He stood up to 30 batters, struck out eight, walked one and hit one man. One of the Bradley Braves got on base on an error.

I'm going to end this column with the usual plea for some suggestions from readers. Did get a couple this week. One was that the paper as a whole wasn't funny enough. This must have been a hangover from the April fool edition. Well, while we don't intend to make a joke book out of the thing we do try to run a few cartoons and feature stories. Remember the chief reason for a newspaper's existence is coverage of the news.

THE OTHER complaint was that sometimes the sport page had articles about sports contests that didn't take place at Southern. This is a situation that I would like to remedy myself. But when nothing happens you have to write about something, to fill space if nothing else. Then too I think that some might be interested in what goes on elsewhere. I promise one thing: we'll give you the best possible coverage on what does happen here. There are the first of the comments. If you have one let me know.

LEARNED IN THE BRONX Miami The "bonus baby" of the 11-hole jockeys has been 17-year-old apprentice Charlie O'Brien who learned his horsebacking at a riding academy in the Bronx. O'Brien became one of the highest priced riders sold in years when his contract was purchased for $12,000 by the Tico Stable from Eddie Hamilton, the lad's mentor for the last 18 months. The deal placed O'Brien under the tutelage of former jockey Merrin Buxton, quite an artist judging his active days in the saddle.

BUSY MAN Philadelphia Ken Loeffler, coach of the LaSalle College basketball squad, is a very busy man. In addition to his coaching, Loeffler teaches business law at Temple University and is also prominent in labor relations work in this city.

The Sport Of Kings

By Larry Conner

The so-called "sport of kings" probably originated shortly after man started riding horses. Man's competitive urge was carried over to his mount, and he decided that his steed could out run his fellow's; so the first race was on. Whether or not there was a hokie on the spot taking and giving odds is lost in the dim mist of unrecorded time. The Romans were rather fond of chariot racing, and their circuses were highlighted by gay young blades dishing mudly about the Colosseum, standing upon the backs of a brace of horses and waving their laurel wreaths to the fair young maidens in the bleachers. The Romans wagered heavily on such races and the penalty for a favorite who dared to lose was sometimes rather harsh.

MONGOLS HAD MASS RACES The mongols were great horsemasters and gamblers; so it's only natural that they would be horse racing fans. All their feasts and celebrations were marked with mass horse races, often over great distances. The Arabs were probably the first to breed horses expressly for speed. They were also avid gamblers. At this point it can be assumed that everyone who was wise in his generation was either a gambler or a jockey, or both.

Woman Golf-Star May Have Cancer

Golfing fans will be sorry to hear that the great woman golf-star Babe Zaharias was recently found to have a malignant condition that may be cancer. The condition calls for a major operation. This will probably mean an end to her athletic career. Examining physicians gave out a statement Sunday that the condition was malignant. They didn't say it was cancer but it is believed possible. It was estimated that there would be about a five-day delay before Mrs. Zaharias could be prepared for the operation.

Spots fans across the nation have been awaiting the decision on her illness since she had to leave in the midst of a golf tour. Recently she had won the Babe Zaharias open, a tournament held annually in her honor.

HOW SPRING TRAINING WAS ORIGINATED

Although there are some purists who may not admit it, a lot of professional players consume a rather commensurate quantity of brew during the off-season. Brew-drinking will lead to a net gain in weight; and even back in the 1880's it was a recognized fact that excess weight caused sluggishness. So Pop Anson, the legendary manager of the Chicago Cubs, ordered his men, in the spring of 1886, to report before the season opened to a training camp at Hot Springs, Ark., to work off their "beers" and get into playing shape.

This new idea proved to be so successful that it is now a part of big league baseball.

Coaches are nice guys, for the most part. The majority of them would fall into the "happy-go-lucky" category if you'd care to classify them under a good, better, best typed person. But the populace if one thing happens — and that is, if their teams fail to win.

It's always been the case. If a man can't produce in business, he's no good. If a salesman's sales drop off noticeably, he's fired. If a clothing man can't sell the new rayon drapes, he gets his waiting papers. The spirit of competition triumphs, and as the saying goes, "the best man always wins."

But with coaches it's worse. There are so many little things that can happen to a coach that will make his life miserable. Look at them: 1. Poor material. 2. Lack of funds to get the good men. 3. Lack of support from the home town. 4. Lack of support from powers that be. 5. Lose a couple of close ones. 6. Become the recipient of unfair criticism.

The last-mentioned cause is probably the most noticeable one. Take Horve Odell of the University of Washington, for instance. Everyone used to say that Horvovian was one of the really great football coaches of all times. A great and some standard other than just winning mentor, they said. "That thing, Other things are important may could win with 10 men and a toad.

If a coach is a good man, if he makes his boys stay in shape, if he works hard to get a winner, if he studies to learn new methods, if he constantly strives to develop good players, we say he should stay.

But in these days of the complicated, of the high-pressure tactics, and the "win" complex, such is everyone used to say that Horvovian was one of the really great football coaches of all times. A great and some standard other than just winning mentor, they said. "That thing, Other things are important may could win with 10 men and a toad.
