12-4-1987

The Daily Egyptian, December 04, 1987

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_December1987
Volume 74, Issue 69

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1987 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in December 1987 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
College votes to halt prayer at graduation

By Tom Trotter

The College of Liberal Arts Council voted Wednesday to discontinue prayer at the college's graduation ceremony.

The decision comes out of controversy stirred by a Jewish student organization's request that the director's attempt to establish universal prayer at graduation ceremony campuses-wide.

Universal prayer would address God, but would not refer to any particular religion.

At the council's meeting, John S. Jackson III, dean of the college, said, "I think the issue is up to the colleges to do their own thing—I don't want to push our decision off on them."

He said eliminating prayer was the wisest choice because of the difficulty of finding an inclusive prayer.

"It's a difficult area—you have to take into account people's religious beliefs and the possibility of the same thing infringing on a person's rights," he said.

The council agreed to include as an amendment to their graduation policy a statement saying that the council has agreed to discontinue prayer at its graduation ceremony, but "recognizes this does not address (nonreligious) groups from holding their own nondenominational prayer.

A ban on prayer is a religious address or a sermon in a graduating class at commencement.

The discussion of council members leading up to the final vote expressed concern for prayer at graduation.

"I would like to see prayer preserved," said Jack Balkenhol, assistant professor of religious studies, said, "but, if I'm sensitive to campus ministers, I understand their problem because prayer will be taken out all together."

Gorey Nathan, assistant professor of linguistics, said,

See PRAYER, Page 11

Regatta disputers far from settlement

By Toby Eckert

Staff Writer

Negotiators for the SIU Alumni Association and the Crystal Lake Yacht Club will begin meeting before a federal magistrate on Dec. 18 in Rockford to report on the status of negotiations aimed at settling the association's suit against the yacht club.

But recent statements by association and club officials indicate that the two sides are far from reaching an agreement that would avert a court battle.

"The negotiations are nearly done," James Hooker, yacht club co-chairman, said Thursday. "We have been trying to get a settlement on this case for six months and we are no further than when we began."

The Alumni Association filed suit against the suburban Chicago yacht club in June. The suit claims that the club—sponsor of the annual Charlie Crowe Memorial Cup Regatta—illegally used the name to establish rules and trademark of the association's "Great Cardboard Boat Regatta."

However, Hooker and yacht club officials say that the association's suit is an attempt to stop a control of the regatta and proceeds generated by it.

Each side is charging the other with sabotaging the negotiations.

"They (the association) have not been negotiating in good faith," Hooker said. "They continue to deceive the public and they're unfair."

But Tom Busch, executive director of the Alumni

See REGATTA, Page 11

This Morning

900 evacuated in chemical spill — Page 11

Women cagers to open season — Sports 24

Partly cloudy, high in 40s.

Cubans agree to end Atlanta siege

ATLANTA (UPI) - Cubans holding 89 hostages in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary voted Thursday to accept an agreement with the government ending the 11-day-old siege. Pat Korten, a Justice Department spokesman, said.

Korten said detainees called to tell government officials at 5 p.m. that the agreement had been accepted. It was initiated by a delegation of inmate leaders at 1:30 p.m.

"At this hour ... we are waiting for word from them concerning the timing and manner in which they would like to formally sign this agreement and put an end to the incident that began 11 days ago," Korten said.

Roman Catholic Bishop Agustin Roman left Miami for Atlanta aboard a government plane at 7:40 p.m., according to U.S. Customs spokesman Michael Sheehan. Roman was scheduled to land at Atlanta's Hartfield International Airport at 10:20 p.m. The Cuban-born bishop who lives in Miami was instrumental in ending the takeover by Cuban inmates of a federal prison in Oakland, La.

Roman said he hoped to mediate the hostage situation and to review the agreement, which he has not seen. He was not involved in the drafting process.

"I would like to see what they signed," the bishop said. Before announcing they had accepted the accord, prisons crowded on top of the prison hospital and blared a message in Spanish from a loudspeaker.

Cuban exile leader Huber Matos, testifying for reporters outside the prison, quoted the message as saying, "Tomorrow the suffering will be over for everybody. They said tomorrow, but it may be tonight.

See PRISON, Page 3

Shipping delay keeps books on hold in Morris Library

By Dena Schulte

Staff Writer

About 3,500 boxes of books, waiting to be moved to the new library storage building since August, may not be moved until April.

Construction of the $1.6 million dollar, 31,000-squarefoot metal building, west of campus on McLafferty road, was completed in August.

Shipments of the book stacks, expected to arrive in two weeks, will arrive five months later than anticipated, said Allen Haake, physical plant supervising architect and engineer.

Height of the stacks are expected to be 14 to 16 feet tall, holding about 7 to 8 layers of shelving, Peter said.

Shelving, is expected to hold about 600,000 volumes.

Installation of the stacks is expected to take from 7 to 12 weeks, Haake said.

"When we found out about the delay, we couldn't unpack the boxes and put them back on the shelves, we just don't have room," Kenneth Peterson, dean of library affairs, said.

A storage building became necessary because of overcrowding in Morris Library, with book shelves often being taken the place of tables or seats, Peterson said.

Morris library. designed in 1958 to store one million books, now holds about two million volumes.

Aetnas'k, the company SIU-C contracted for the stacks, filed for bankruptcy in September. Montel Corporation of Canada bought the Aetnas'k's materials and is completing their orders, Haake said.

When the book stacks arrive, lights, ducts and a sprinkler system will be installed. Haake said installation of this equipment will take about four weeks. He explained that the work can't be done before they arrive because a lot of the equipment is supported by the stack.

"In some cases they run between the aisles of the stacks," he said. "We won't know where to put them and how it will all fit together until we get the stacks in the aisles."

Most storage will include journals and periodicals, earlier editions of works in which there is a later edition in the library, and archival materials that aren't often used, Peterson said.

Employees in each section of the library are deciding what to store based on the amount of usage, he said.

Until then, boxes of books will continue to sit in the aisles, against the walls and under the windows, sometimes as many as three boxes high, waiting to be moved.

Library staff began packing books in the spring and continued throughout the summer. He said there are many more books to be packed, but the staff slowed down because of the delay.

See LIBRARY, Page 10

Gus Bode

Gus Bode

Gus says somebody over there needs a good book on project planning.

This Morning

900 evacuated in chemical spill — Page 11

Women cagers to open season — Sports 24

Partly cloudy, high in 40s.

Cubans agree to end Atlanta siege

ATLANTA (UPI) - Cubans holding 89 hostages in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary voted Thursday to accept an agreement with the government ending the 11-day-old siege. Pat Korten, a Justice Department spokesman, said.

Korten said detainees called to tell government officials at 5 p.m. that the agreement had been accepted. It was initiated by a delegation of inmate leaders at 1:30 p.m.

"At this hour ... we are waiting for word from them concerning the timing and manner in which they would like to formally sign this agreement and put an end to the incident that began 11 days ago," Korten said.

Roman Catholic Bishop Agustin Roman left Miami for Atlanta aboard a government plane at 7:40 p.m., according to U.S. Customs spokesman Michael Sheehan. Roman was scheduled to land at Atlanta's Hartfield International Airport at 10:20 p.m. The Cuban-born bishop who lives in Miami was instrumental in ending the takeover by Cuban inmates of a federal prison in Oakland, La.

Roman said he hoped to mediate the hostage situation and to review the agreement, which he has not seen. He was not involved in the drafting process.

"I would like to see what they signed," the bishop said. Before announcing they had accepted the accord, prisoners crowded on top of the prison hospital and blared a message in Spanish from a loudspeaker.

Cuban exile leader Huber Matos, testifying for reporters outside the prison, quoted the message as saying, "Tomorrow the suffering will be over for everybody. They said tomorrow, but it may be tonight.

See PRISON, Page 3

College votes to halt prayer at graduation

By Tom Trotter

The College of Liberal Arts Council voted Wednesday to discontinue prayer at the college's graduation ceremony.

The decision comes out of controversy stirred by a Jewish student organization's request that the director's attempt to establish universal prayer at graduation ceremony campuses-wide.

Universal prayer would address God, but would not refer to any particular religion.

At the council's meeting, John S. Jackson III, dean of the college, said, "I think the issue is up to the colleges to do their own thing—I don't want to push our decision off on them."

He said eliminating prayer was the wisest choice because of the difficulty of finding an inclusive prayer.

"It's a difficult area—you have to take into account people's religious beliefs and the possibility of the same thing infringing on a person's rights," he said.

The council agreed to include as an amendment to their graduation policy a statement saying that the council has agreed to discontinue prayer at its graduation ceremony, but "recognizes this does not address (nonreligious) groups from holding their own nondenominational prayer.

A ban on prayer is a religious address or a sermon in a graduating class at commencement.

The discussion of council members leading up to the final vote expressed concern for prayer at graduation.

"I would like to see prayer preserved," said Jack Balkenhol, assistant professor of religious studies, said, "but, if I'm sensitive to campus ministers, I understand their problem because prayer will be taken out all together."

Gorey Nathan, assistant professor of linguistics, said,

See PRAYER, Page 11

Regatta disputers far from settlement

By Toby Eckert

Staff Writer

Negotiators for the SIU Alumni Association and the Crystal Lake Yacht Club will begin meeting before a federal magistrate on Dec. 18 in Rockford to report on the status of negotiations aimed at settling the association's suit against the yacht club.

But recent statements by association and club officials indicate that the two sides are far from reaching an agreement that would avert a court battle.

"The negotiations are nearly done," James Hooker, yacht club co-chairman, said Thursday. "We have been trying to get a settlement on this case for six months and we are no further than when we began."

The Alumni Association filed suit against the suburban Chicago yacht club in June. The suit claims that the club—sponsor of the annual Charlie Crowe Memorial Cup Regatta—illegally used the name to establish rules and trademark of the association's "Great Cardboard Boat Regatta."

However, Hooker and yacht club officials say that the association's suit is an attempt to stop a control of the regatta and proceeds generated by it.

Each side is charging the other with sabotaging the negotiations.

"They (the association) have not been negotiating in good faith," Hooker said. "They continue to deceive the public and they're unfair."

But Tom Busch, executive director of the Alumni

See REGATTA, Page 11

This Morning

900 evacuated in chemical spill — Page 11

Women cagers to open season — Sports 24

Partly cloudy, high in 40s.
Scott: Speed is key against Memphis St.

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The women’s basketball team had better wear lightning fast track shoes when it opens its home season against Memphis State at 7:35 p.m. Saturday.

The Salukis, 1-1 and ranked 14th by both the Associated Press and United Press International, don’t want to be caught plodding next to Memphis State’s run-of-the-mill offense.

“This will be a real test of our defense,” said coach Cindy Scott, whose Salukis lost to No. 10 Georgia and beat Missouri at the Amana-Hawkeye Classic last weekend.

The Lady Tigers spread their offensive pressure around, averaging 12 double-figure scorers. Scott leads 10 senior forwards, with 20 points per game. Rhonda Scott, with 17.0 ppg, and Damita Saxter, 16.0 ppg, will try to rebound from a heart-breaking loss to Evanville when it plays South Carolina in the first game of the Miami Invitational at 7:30 tonight in Coral Gables, Fla.

The winner will play the winner of the Miami-Colgate game. Both teams are tournament championship. At 2:30 p.m. Saturday. The first-game losers will square off in a consolation round at 1 p.m.

“It’s a very tough tournament,” Saluki coach Rich Herrin said. “So coach Cindy will be heavily favored against us. We’ll be heavily favored against us. We need to two big upsets to win the tournament.”

South Carolina, 15-14 last year, is expected to finish in the middle of the pack in the Metro Conference this season. So far, the Gamecocks are 4-0, beating Wofford College, an NAIA school, and George Washington.

The game promises to be a high-scoring affair with the Salukis’ running style and the Gamecocks’ 81 points per game average.

Forward Terry Dozier leads the Gamecock’s scoring attack, hitting 20 points against George Washington. Guards Tony Shaw, Darryl Toliver and center Darryl Martin are returning starters. Martin was the Metro’s leading rebounder last season, averaging 9.3 per game.

“Junior college transfer John Hudson starts at the other guard position next August,” Scott said.

Guard Brent Price, the brother of Cleveland Caviler guard Mark Price, is averaging 12 points off the bench. Forward Perry Dayner, brother of Terry, is averaging 6.5 points.

South Carolina is ineligible for post-season play because of violations during former coach Bill Foster’s reign. Should South Carolina and Memphis State have the same opening round results, the Gamecocks will face Foster’s Miami club in either the consolation or the championship.

See CA. 'ERS, Page 22

Men’s team eager to shine in Miami against S. Carolina

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

The men’s basketball team will try to rebound from a heart-breaking loss to Evanville when it plays South Carolina in the first game of the Miami Invitational at 7:30 tonight in Coral Gables, Fla.

The winner will play the winner of the Miami-Colgate game. Both teams are tournament championship. At 2:30 p.m. Saturday. The first-game losers will square off in a consolation round at 1 p.m.

“The game promises to be a high-scoring affair with the Salukis’ running style and the Gamecocks’ 81 points per game average.”

Forward Terry Dozier leads the Gamecock’s scoring attack, hitting 20 points against George Washington. Guards Tony Shaw, Darryl Toliver and center Darryl Martin are returning starters. Martin was the Metro’s leading rebounder last season, averaging 9.3 per game.

“Junior college transfer John Hudson starts at the other guard position next August,” Scott said.

Guard Brent Price, the brother of Cleveland Caviler guard Mark Price, is averaging 12 points off the bench. Forward Perry Dayner, brother of Terry, is averaging 6.5 points.

South Carolina is ineligible for post-season play because of violations during former coach Bill Foster’s reign. Should South Carolina and Memphis State have the same opening round results, the Gamecocks will face Foster’s Miami club in either the consolation or the championship.

See CA. 'ERS, Page 22

Olympic trials are objective for swim team’s co-captain

By Todd Mounce
Staff Writer

"I’ve got so many new kids, it’ll be fun city."

—Bill Meade

"I’ve got so many new kids, it’ll be fun city."

I’m always on the go, always want to have something to do, if I had the choice of either having 100 things to do at once or nothing to do, I would much rather have 100 things to do, even though it’s hectic," she said.

Despite two swim team practices a day, classes and meetings, she still finds time to enjoy bicycling, dancing and occasional singing.

Last summer, she averaged 300 miles per week on her bike. On a 97-mile ride last week she and a friend took in alien that included Alto Pass and Trail of Tears State Park.

Rea is a member of the local choir in Boise and was a member of SIU-C’s Jazz Ensemble her sophomore year. She also performed in a couple of operas during her college years.

She maintains a 3.8 grade point average and is a three-time academic All American.

In addition to being a swim team co-captain, she is the public relations director for SIU’s chapter of the Public Relations Student Society of America and also the president of the Student Athletics Advisory Board.

She describes herself as energetic, enthusiastic, optimistic, Christian and very goal oriented.

Lori Rea

Staff Photo by Bill West

Sophomore Eileen Richardson, shown shooting a free throw in the win over Missouri, is a reserve guard for the Salukis. The team takes on Memphis State at 7:35 p.m. Saturday in the Arena.

Gymnasts open slate at Big Eight tourney

By Jim Black
Staff Writer

The men’s gymnastics team vaults into action today at the Big Eight Invitational at Lincoln, Neb.

The Saluki men will start their season against national powers Nebraska and Oklahoma later also will compete.

Last year, the Cornhuskers finished second in the NCAA finals and the Sooners placed first in fourth. SIU-C narrowly missed qualifying for the finals and ranked 11th at the season’s end.

Coach Bill Meade said Nebraska is the top team in the nation this season while Oklahoma ranks fourth.

Press and Journal, with only four returning lettermen,

Lauderdale averages 17.0 ppg, Connie Hibbiter 15.5 ppg, Michelle Werner 12.0 ppg and reserve Damita Saxter 10.0 ppg.

Memphis State will kick the ball out and move its offense down the Floor. We’ll have to get back down on defense. We’re not going to change the lineup, but we must have a team defense," Scott said.

Memphis State is 0-2, having lost to Fresno State 82-80 and Santa Clara 98-94 in overtime at the Santa Clara Holiday Classic.

"Memphis State being 0-2 concerns me — they’ll be hungry," Scott said.

Against transition-oriented Memphis State, the Salukis can’t afford to have five poor passing like they exhibited when they committed 30 turnovers against Georgia.

"It’s a matter of being disciplined. We’ll see fullcourt pressure comparable to what we faced against Georgia. Our guards have got to do a better job of handling the ball. But I think our players are smart enough to take care of the turnover problem themselves," Scott said.

Last year, the Salukis committed turnovers in a 66-63 season-opening loss to Memphis State.

Memphis State leads the series 9-1 since 1974.

Scott played for Memphis State and set a school record 25 assists as a senior in 1975. But as the Salukis’ coach, she is 1-5 against her former mentor Mary Lou Johns.

“Our losses are a credit to them. Memphis State has had an outstanding program for many years. There aren’t too many teams that beat them,” Scott said.
GRASSROOTS

MAGAZINE:

Wanted

SUBMISSIONS

Fiction, Poetry and Drama.

Cash Prizes

Deadline: Friday, December 11th

Submit to English Office

Fence 3270

Newswrap

world/nation

Violence in Philippines: kilis 15 rebels, 1 soldier

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Gunmen assassinated two politicians and 15 died in a clash between rebels and army troops in an outburst of violence coinciding with the start of local political campaigns, authorities said Thursday. The political elections scheduled for Jan. 18 are the final step in returning the Philippines to full democracy. The bloody clashes, which ranged routed communist rebels in a 36-minute battle Wednesdays on the central island of Negros, killing 15 is insurgents. One soldier was killed, a military statement said.

Sandanistas, Contras begin cease-fire talks

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaraguan negotiators left for the Dominican Republic Thursday to begin unprecedented cease-fire discussions with the U.S. backed Contra rebels, hours after President Daniel Ortega called the rebels' peace proposal a "provoaction." Although the Sandanistas have said they will meet the Contras face to face, the indirect talks will be the first formal discussions between the two sides since the Contras began their U.S.-supported war in 1981.

Haitian political leader calls for general strike

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — A popular political leader, calling for a general workers strike Thursday to force the ouster of the military-led government, which halted voting in the first national election in 30 years amid unrest. "Silvio Claude, head of the Christian Democratic Party of Haiti, and two splinter political parties called for a 24-hour general strike beginning Friday in force out Li. Get the Haitian government if there is no movement toward democracy, including elections without government intervention.

PLO predicts retaliation for Lebanese attack

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Popular Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat predicted Thursday that Israel will stage a "limited invasion" of Lebanon in retaliation for a hang-gliding attack that killed six Israeli men. Israeli aircrafts and tanks moved closer to the border as the United Nations called for a cease-fire. The U.S. government said one guerrilla killed six soldiers and wounded seven before he was shot to death.

Market begins slow decline toward all-time low

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market's steady retreat to the lows of Black Monday accelerated Thursday in active trading when prices nose-dived, despite a long-awaited move by West Germany to cut a key interest rate. The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 6.63 Wednesday, plunged 72.44 to 1776.33.

Reagan: Actions in Iran scandal 'misconstrued'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, stubbornly refusing to admit wrongdoing or misguided motives, denied Thursday that he ever meant to trade arms for hostages and said his administration's in the Iran-Contra scandal by Congress and the American people. In an interview with the four major television networks, Reagan again bristled at findings by the Tower Commission and its four . Next week to force the ouster of the military-led government, which halted voting in the first national election in 30 years amid unrest. Contras began their U.S.-supported war in 1981.

Refiners pose gas threat to local residents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of Americans living near oil refineries face the risk of exposure to a gas cloud much like the one that killed more than 2,600 people in Bhopal, India, an environmental group said Thursday. The Environmental Policy Institute said from 6 million to 12 million people may be at risk from gas leaks.

White supremacists sentenced to 150 years

DENVER (UPI) — A federal judge sentenced two white supremacist to 150 years in prison for violating the civil rights of Jewish radio talk show host Alan Berg by shouting him outside his home in 1984. U.S. District Judge Richard Matsch also ordered that the prison terms be served consecutively with earlier sentences for sentences given Bruce Pierce and David Lane, members of a neo-Nazi group, that they would never be eligible for parole.

The American Tap

12:00 to 6:00

New Progressive
Happy Hour

& Lite Drafts 15¢

Pitchers of Speedrails
Corona
Myers Rum

SPECIAL OF THE MONTH

Black & White

Russians

1.65

Mix Masters Inc.

SUNDAY NIGHT

After 8:00

SPECIAL OF THE MONTH

Jukebox & Mixer

MIDNIGHT HAPPY HOUR

ALL CALL LIQUOR

ALL IMPORTS

SATURDAY

2 for 1 Long Island Iced Teas

The American Tap

12:00 to 6:00

New Progressive
Happy Hour

& Lite Drafts 15¢

Pitchers of Speedrails
Corona
Myers Rum

SPECIAL OF THE MONTH

Black & White

Russians

1.65

Mix Masters Inc.

SUNDAY NIGHT

After 8:00

SPECIAL OF THE MONTH

Jukebox & Mixer

MIDNIGHT HAPPY HOUR

ALL CALL LIQUOR

ALL IMPORTS

SATURDAY

2 for 1 Long Island Iced Teas

The American Tap

12:00 to 6:00

New Progressive
Happy Hour

& Lite Drafts 15¢

Pitchers of Speedrails
Corona
Myers Rum

SPECIAL OF THE MONTH

Black & White

Russians

1.65

Mix Masters Inc.

SUNDAY NIGHT

After 8:00

SPECIAL OF THE MONTH

Jukebox & Mixer

MIDNIGHT HAPPY HOUR

ALL CALL LIQUOR

ALL IMPORTS

SATURDAY

2 for 1 Long Island Iced Teas
Satellite programs broaden schools’ scope

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

Watch T.V. and earn a degree.

SIU-C participated Thursday in a teleconference on the use of courses taught by a professor and beams to students anywhere in the country via satellite.

The teleconference, brought to the University by satellite, showed University educators how the satellite learning programs work and how colleges and business can work together to develop the programs.

"The satellite courses) broaden who education reaches," Jeanne Bortz, assistant director with the Division of Continuing Education, said. Continuing Education, the College of Communications and Fine Arts, the SIU-C Broadcast Service and the Office of the Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research Service sponsored the teleconference.

In the program, students can take satellite learning courses for college credit, and businesses can offer training or refresher courses to its employees.

SIU-C does not have the satellites necessary to receive or transmit programs.

The University received live broadcasts from Chico and Cupertino, Calif., Stillwater, Okla., and New York City on a large television during the teleconference. A 4-foot satellite dish, rented from Nelard Stereo, enabled the University to pick up transmissions from the teleconference.

Nalder employees had to fix an equipment failure on the dish, which caused some poor reception, Owner Ken Nalder said.

From Chico, Calif., Ralph Meuler, dean of the regional University faculty watch a college course beamed across the country via satellite Thursday to the Student Center.

Korten, said they offer a two-day business writing course for 300 students in 18 company offices around the country.

About five educators from Red Lake College, SIU-E and SIU-C watched the conference.

Lyle Ward, an SIU-E administrator for the University's student center, said SIU-E is planning to set up a satellite system to receive learning programs.

Candis Issenbacter, director of instructional television for SIU-C broadcasting service, said a satellite to transmit college courses elsewhere would cost about $250,000.

A home model satellite dish for receiving learning programs cost about $2,000, she said. One-meter satellite dishes cost $3,300 to $7,500, and 10-meter dishes, which receive more programs, cost more than $7,500, she said.

The College of Communications and Fine Arts and the Office of the Associate Vice-President for Academic Affairs and Research paid $200 to receive the teleconference.

PRISON, from Page 1

"They are so happy," Matos said of the prisoners.

The inmates voted or the proposed pact after a two-page negotiating session that reached the end of the agreement to end the siege signed by six representatives of the company.

"We are very happy that they have come to a happy conclusion and that all of the Cuban detainees will be freed," said Elda Domingues, whose husband is a detainee.

Korten said the government spent much of the meeting clarifying its position on "a number of points and offered new language designed to meet some of the concerns expressed earlier by the negotiators for the detainees."

At the end of the meeting, the six negotiators for the detainees initiated the two-page document, indicating their agreement on all points of a settlement that would end the insurrection.

Earlier in the day, the Cubans broadcast a Spanish message to President Reagan on their public address system.
Mainstreet closure is a bitter social pill

THE CLOSING OF Mainstreet East creates a social void that will not easily, if ever, be filled.

Mainstreet existed as one of the last bastions of resistance to the increasing obnoxiousness of South Illinois Avenue's bars. Mainstreet catered mainly to gays and lesbians, but it also offered social solace to patrons of all sexual preferences, always something of a rarity in Carbondale. Alternative music — generally anything but the bubblegum tunes blared so energetically from the Strip — could be heard, as could the person's voice sitting across the bar. In "happy hours" were among the best in town, and a cigarette could be smoked without the smoker contorting his or her body into the fetid positions to avoid singeing the naked eyelids of the 29 or 30 people hovering nearby.

INTERMINGLING OF HETEROSEXUALS and homosexuals is not easily accomplished or accepted, even in a supposedly enlightened university setting. But just such an intermingling was conducted at Mainstreet, resulting in a positive environment. Doubtful that the Strip's meat markets would welcome or even to create such a radical concept.

Social taboos die hard, and the sight of two men holding hands or two women kissing is still clearly visible. Oppressed Americans may be able to talk Britain into giving up its nuclear warheads, but the baldness of reproductive rights is a bitter pill for many Americans to swallow. Libyans have declared that the small tributary of Mainstreet existed as one of the last bastions of taboos die hard, and the sight of two men holding hands or two women kissing is still clearly visible. Oppressed Americans may be able to talk Britain into giving up its nuclear warheads, but the baldness of reproductive rights is a bitter pill for many Americans to swallow.

Social taboos die hard, and the sight of two men holding hands or two women kissing is still clearly visible. Oppressed Americans may be able to talk Britain into giving up its nuclear warheads, but the baldness of reproductive rights is a bitter pill for many Americans to swallow.

Opinions from elsewhere

Dallas Morning News
Libya's leader, Col. Moammar Gadhafi, may be a villain, but it's impossible to deny that he is an inventive one. His latest innovation in thuggery is an official attempt to shake down the government of Italy.

The colonel has demanded that Italy pay reparations to him for the period when Libya was ruled as a colony by Italy. Since that period ended in '43 with the hasty departure of the Italians' ally, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the demand for payment seems to be based on the idea that all, even imperialism must have a statute of limitations.

Knowing that real estate is forever, the colonel demands that Italy give him five small Adriatic islands, the Tremiti, as compensation.

It is, at any rate, an interesting attempt to punish colonialists posthumously. If Gadhafi's ploy works, who knows, we formerly oppressed Americans may be able to talk Britain into giving up an islet or two to salve the painful memories of Lord North and King George.

On the other hand, the tough lady now in charge; over there might wind up making us pay damages for all that tea our forefathers threw into Boston Harbor. Perhaps it would be best to forgive, forget and let sleeping dogs lie.

Doonesbury

ONE OF the more intriguing pieces of mail I've received came from a man who said he has made an important discovery that he wishes to share with the world.

In his letter he said: "I have written to seven or eight news people and one television network about a discovery I came upon, to get rid of these household pests, cockroaches. "I guess they all think I am out of my mind, because I have not heard from any of them."

"What I want to do is give my discovery to the world. How can I do that when people think I am nuts?"

"I hope that you follow through on this just to show these other people that they missed a good bit."

"Sincerely, Mel Held (Phone me after 3 p.m. for details. All you can lose is a little of your time.)"

Remembering that some people laughed at Edison and Bell, I decided to find out how Mr. Held's discovery worked.

IT IS, after all, a serious problem for many people. My guess is that more Americans are troubled by roaches than by the stock market's constant volatilities.

And, as we know, roaches are among the few little pests that some scientists believe they would be the only survivors of a nuclear war.

So millions of years from now, they could evolve into the dominant intelligent life form on this planet. And they might do archaeological digs and find our fossils and marvel that such weird creatures once roamed the Earth.

Anyway, Mr. Held, the inventor, turned out to be a 74-year-old bachelor and retired Chicago architect.

He said he made his discovery by accident, but it's often the way scientific breakthroughs occur. '

"See, I live in a nice building. But a few months ago, the people downstairs got roaches. So they brought in the exterminators and all the roaches ran up to my apartment."

"I tried a lot of things to get rid of them. I got Raid, but that's too expensive. Then I used a cheese spread container and put a little water in it. The next day I found a few of them drowned."

"I DID THAT for a while, drowning a few of them in the cheese spread container. Then I happened to notice something important. I ate some peanuts and tossed the empty peanut jar in the garbage can. The next day I saw about 50 of them.

"So it came to me — they must really love peanuts. That's when I got some empty jars, coated the inside with peanut butter, and put an inch of water on the bottom. I put out six jars at night."

"And doogone, I got 200 in about six jars the next day. See, they go in there to eat the peanut butter, then they fall in the water and drown."

"I know that this could be a breakthrough of some kind. It's a first. It doesn't cost hardly anything and anyone can do it."

"I wanted to get this out to the world, so I called Public Broadcasting Service, because they are interested in serious stuff."

"And I try to get in touch with Bob Greene, the syndicated columnist."

Good idea. Bob likes to write about new social trends.

"And I called up somebody at People Magazine and told them about it."

Excellent. We've seen enough People covers stories on Brooke Shields. Mel and his jars would be a refreshing change.

"But you know what! None of them were interested. They didn't bother to answer my letters or return my calls. I guess they are fresh out of the big companies that makes bug sprays. They weren't interested, but at least they sent me some free shaving cream."

I CALLED one of the city's leading exterminating companies and asked if they had any tricks up their sleeves. The peanut butter-and-jar trick.

"Is this some kind of joke?"

the professional exterminator said.

No at all. The discoverer claims that it works.

"Let me tell you something. Roaches can swim. And if they can crawl down the side of the jar, they can crawl up the side of the jar. So I think that either he is buggy or you are."

I passed that expert opinion along to Mel. He said: "I don't care what they say, I know it works!"

What is your next step?" I'm trying to get hold of the people who make peanut butter. I'll let you know."

A man and his dream.

Peanut-scented roach trap is nut worth left uncracked

Mike Roylko
Tribune Media Services

One of the most intriguing pieces of mail I've received came from a man who said he has made an important discovery that he wishes to share with the world. In his letter he said: "I have written to seven or eight news people and one television network about a discovery I came upon, to get rid of these household pests, cockroaches. "I guess they all think I am out of my mind, because I have not heard from any of them."

"What I want to do is give my discovery to the world. How can I do that when people think I am nuts?"

"I hope that you follow through on this just to show these other people that they missed a good bit."

"Sincerely, Mel Held (Phone me after 3 p.m. for details. All you can lose is a little of your time.)"

Remembering that some people laughed at Edison and Bell, I decided to find out how Mr. Held's discovery worked.

IT IS, after all, a serious problem for many people. My guess is that more Americans are troubled by roaches than by the stock market's constant volatilities.

And, as we know, roaches are among the few little pests that some scientists believe they would be the only survivors of a nuclear war.

So millions of years from now, they could evolve into the dominant intelligent life form on this planet. And they might do archaeological digs and find our fossils and marvel that such weird creatures once roamed the Earth.

Anyway, Mr. Held, the inventor, turned out to be a 74-year-old bachelor and retired Chicago architect.

He said he made his discovery by accident, but it's often the way scientific breakthroughs occur.

"See, I live in a nice building. But a few months ago, the people downstairs got roaches. So they brought in the exterminators and all the roaches ran up to my apartment."

"I tried a lot of things to get rid of them. I got Raid, but that's too expensive. Then I used a cheese spread container and put a little water in it. The next day I found a few of them drowned."

"I DID THAT for a while, drowning a few of them in the cheese spread container. Then I happened to notice something important. I ate some peanuts and tossed the empty peanut jar in the garbage can. The next day I saw about 50 of them.

"So it came to me — they must really love peanuts. That's when I got some empty jars, coated the inside with peanut butter, and put an inch of water on the bottom. I put out six jars at night."

"And doogone, I got 200 in about six jars the next day. See, they go in there to eat the peanut butter, then they fall in the water and drown."

"I know that this could be a breakthrough of some kind. It's a first. It doesn't cost hardly anything and anyone can do it."

"I wanted to get this out to the world, so I called Public Broadcasting Service, because they are interested in serious stuff."

"And I try to get in touch with Bob Greene, the syndicated columnist."

Good idea. Bob likes to write about new social trends.

"And I called up somebody at People Magazine and told them about it."

Excellent. We've seen enough People covers stories on Brooke Shields. Mel and his jars would be a refreshing change.

"But you know what! None of them were interested. They didn't bother to answer my letters or return my calls. I guess they are fresh out of the big companies that makes bug sprays. They weren't interested, but at least they sent me some free shaving cream."

I CALLED one of the city's leading exterminating companies and asked if they had any tricks up their sleeves. The peanut butter-and-jar trick.

"Is this some kind of joke?"

the professional exterminator said.

No at all. The discoverer claims that it works.

"Let me tell you something. Roaches can swim. And if they can crawl down the side of the jar, they can crawl up the side of the jar. So I think that either he is buggy or you are."

I passed that expert opinion along to Mel. He said: "I don't care what they say, I know it works!"

What is your next step? "I'm trying to get hold of the people who make peanut butter. I'll let you know."

A man and his dream.
Letters

DE headline implicated wrong frat

The brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa would like to address several issues relating to the Daily Egyptian article printed Wednesday, Dec. 2, under the headline "Phi Sigma Kappa defends image amid sex scandal." First, it is our opinion that the Daily Egyptian was extremely careless in the wording of the headline and the false impression it created. The headline implies that Phi Sigma Kappa at SIU-C is involved in a sex scandal, which is untrue.

It also insinuates that Phi Sigma Kappa national fraternity needs to defend its image. Isolated incidents at two campuses should not be considered representative of a national fraternity with over 200 chapters nationwide.

Were this the case, perhaps our cardinal principles would be rape, pillage and plunder, rather than scholarship and character. Associating our national chapter with the actions of a few is not justifiable as stereotyping an ethnic group based on a street gang in an urban area.

Phi Sigma Kappa's charter at Eastern was revoked for the explicit purpose of disassociating our national chapter from their behavior.

No charges were filed against Western's charter, nor is it clear what the allegations were. What is "news" like this doing on the front page of an SIU-C paper? Perhaps it should have been printed on page eight, where articles about the good deeds done by this way, they achieve the purposes.

The list of the philanthropies performed by our chapter this semester reads like this: a clean-up at Lake Kincaid, participation in two blood drives and a United Way project, organization of the Inter-Greek Council food drive and the Safe Halloween Carnival. Hardly the type of men a respectable lady would associate with, right?

Finally, the failure of staff writer Jean Debeaumont to present the facts in an unbiased manner is disappointing. Brent Neas, Phi Sigma Kappa member at SIU-C, was present for approximately 15 minutes on Monday, providing bar enough input for a well-researched story. Apparently, all Ms. Debeaumont was seeking was more mud to sling at the Greeks.

Don't confuse logic with emotion

The Christian versus non-Christian debate has been an intriguing one for weeks. Now it is said statements of logic, and on that I wish to speak.

Logic is an impotent tool, one that can be used to give us truth, but is in a tool we seem to trust answer questions of moral issues.

Indeed, logic can tell us what is right or wrong. But realize that "logic" applies to what is and how we find the word is used. Logic is not the issue.

There are logical premises that truthfully describe our existence and on these premises we can find answers in questions of morality. Each individual knows these premises, yet oftentimes they say or actions are not in agreement. But realize that "logic" applies to what is and how we find the word is used.

We must be able to think critically and reason how our survival, we want more. Each of us has goals, and it is up to each of us to seek the answer to these goals. These are logical conclusions, ones that we all know (the root of knowledge). We do not create these conclusions, they describe human existence as we experience it. Emotions or "feelings" do not describe what is and what we wish to be. They are reactions and usually quite different from knowledge.

Love, hate, faith and fear make human existence diverse and pleasurable but are emotions, not the stuff of knowledge. Acting on emotion can be fun and harmless when it does not contradict with logical conclusions. When emotions require an individual to sacrifice life, reason or purpose in anyway, then they are illogical and immoral. John Gault.

Blind fear of drug use based on ignorance

The recent uproar over Dr. Hines-Ginsburg's marijuana use is just another example of the widespread misunderstanding and fear of drugs in general. Putting aside the issue of Ginsburg's legal violation, we have little reason to worry about his ability to do his job. Yet present marijuana use would threaten his capabilities as a judge.

Yet many people are gripped with fear just at the mention of the word "drug" as if cocaine, heroin, marijuana, amphetamines, LSD, etc., were all one and the same substance. In fact, each of these drugs differs from one another enormously in their effects. Politicians rant about saving the public from drugs, yet few even understand what an addiction is.

Many would be surprised to learn that the majority of heroin addicts voluntarily go through withdrawal (that is, break their physical addiction) after months of use, so that they can begin use again. In this way, they achieve the original high that a habitual user loses in the process of building up a tolerance.

Frequently, people will speak of their addiction to cocaine and marijuana, but the distinction of altered behavior and cognition between these users and drugs are ignored.

It may be a shock to Nancy Reagan, but some illegal drug users have benefited from drug experiences. Drugs such as LSD and marijuana can offer enlightening perspectives on human experience, something many people mindlessly lack.

I'm not advocating mindless use of drugs; I merely wish to point out that drug use is not inherently a problem - although ignorance is. Richard Peterson, freshman, law.

Weekend Special

Friday thru Sunday

Extra Large 1 Item & 2 32oz. Pepsi's $8.50

DELIVERY - PICK-UP - EAT IN

LAROMA'S PIZZA

573 S. Illinois

329-1344

Don't confuse logic with emotion

The Christian versus non-Christian debate has been an intriguing one for weeks. Now it is said statements of logic, and on that I wish to speak.

Logic is an impotent tool, one that can be used to give us truth, but is in a tool we seem to trust answer questions of moral issues.

Indeed, logic can tell us what is right or wrong. But realize that "logic" applies to what is and how we find the word is used. Logic is not the issue.

There are logical premises that truthfully describe our existence and on these premises we can find answers in questions of morality. Each individual knows these premises, yet oftentimes they say or actions are not in agreement. But realize that "logic" applies to what is and how we find the word is used.

We must be able to think critically and reason how our survival, we want more. Each of us has goals, and it is up to each of us to seek the answer to these goals. These are logical conclusions, ones that we all know (the root of knowledge). We do not create these conclusions, they describe human existence as we experience it. Emotions or "feelings" do not describe what is and what we wish to be. They are reactions and usually quite different from knowledge.

Love, hate, faith and fear make human existence diverse and pleasurable but are emotions, not the stuff of knowledge. Acting on emotion can be fun and harmless when it does not contradict with logical conclusions. When emotions require an individual to sacrifice life, reason or purpose in anyway, then they are illogical and immoral. John Gault.

Blind fear of drug use based on ignorance

The recent uproar over Dr. Hines-Ginsburg's marijuana use is just another example of the widespread misunderstanding and fear of drugs in general. Putting aside the issue of Ginsburg's legal violation, we have little reason to worry about his ability to do his job. Yet present marijuana use would threaten his capabilities as a judge.

Yet many people are gripped with fear just at the mention of the word "drug" as if cocaine, heroin, marijuana, amphetamines, LSD, etc., were all one and the same substance. In fact, each of these drugs differs from one another enormously in their effects. Politicians rant about saving the public from drugs, yet few even understand what an addiction is.

Many would be surprised to learn that the majority of heroin addicts voluntarily go through withdrawal (that is, break their physical addiction) after months of use, so that they can begin use again. In this way, they achieve the original high that a habitual user loses in the process of building up a tolerance.

Frequently, people will speak of their addiction to cocaine and marijuana, but the distinction of altered behavior and cognition between these users and drugs are ignored.

It may be a shock to Nancy Reagan, but some illegal drug users have benefited from drug experiences. Drugs such as LSD and marijuana can offer enlightening perspectives on human experience, something many people mindlessly lack.

I'm not advocating mindless use of drugs; I merely wish to point out that drug use is not inherently a problem - although ignorance is. Richard Peterson, freshman, law.

Weekend Special

Friday thru Sunday

Extra Large 1 Item & 2 32oz. Pepsi's $8.50

DELIVERY - PICK-UP - EAT IN

LAROMA'S PIZZA

573 S. Illinois

329-1344

Don't confuse logic with emotion

The Christian versus non-Christian debate has been an intriguing one for weeks. Now it is said statements of logic, and on that I wish to speak.

Logic is an impotent tool, one that can be used to give us truth, but is in a tool we seem to trust answer questions of moral issues.

Indeed, logic can tell us what is right or wrong. But realize that "logic" applies to what is and how we find the word is used. Logic is not the issue.

There are logical premises that truthfully describe our existence and on these premises we can find answers in questions of morality. Each individual knows these premises, yet oftentimes they say or actions are not in agreement. But realize that "logic" applies to what is and how we find the word is used.

We must be able to think critically and reason how our survival, we want more. Each of us has goals, and it is up to each of us to seek the answer to these goals. These are logical conclusions, ones that we all know (the root of knowledge). We do not create these conclusions, they describe human existence as we experience it. Emotions or "feelings" do not describe what is and what we wish to be. They are reactions and usually quite different from knowledge.

Love, hate, faith and fear make human existence diverse and pleasurable but are emotions, not the stuff of knowledge. Acting on emotion can be fun and harmless when it does not contradict with logical conclusions. When emotions require an individual to sacrifice life, reason or purpose in anyway, then they are illogical and immoral. John Gault.
Movie Guide

Baby Boom—(Fox Eastgate, PG) Diane Keaton stars in a comedy about a yuppie who inherits a relative's baby girl. Also stars Steve Martin and Harold Ramis.

Cinderella—(University Place, 8, G) Walt Disney's classic animating of the fairy tale is back in the theaters for the holidays. See it before you turn into a pumpkin.

Desert Bloom—(Student Center Auditorium, 4-30, 7 and 9:15 p.m. Sunday and Monday) The story of a family that lives near a Nevada nuclear bomb testing ground and the danger they unwittingly face.

Dirty Dancing—(University Place, 13) In 1963 at a Catskills resort, an awkward teenager (Jennifer Grey) falls in love with the resort's dance instructor (Patrick Swayze).

Fatal Attractions—(Varsity, R) A woman (Glenn Close) won't let the married man (Michael Douglas) with whom she had a chance encounter forget about her, even if she has to kill him.

Fatal Beauty—(Saluki, R) Whoopi Goldberg stars with Sam Elliott in an action adventure yarn that has Whoopi on the trail of a deadly new drug.

Flowers In The Attic—(Fox Eastgate, PG-13) This psychodrama is an adaptation of the best-selling V.C. Andrews book about our children, born out of an incestuous marriage, whose mother locks them in the attic for years.

Hello Again—(Liberty, PG) Shelley Long and Corbin Bernsen ("L.A. Law") star in a comedy about a woman who dies and comes back to life after her husband has married her best friend.

Hello Mary Lou: Prom Night II—(University Place, R) More gore at the high school prom.

Like Father, Like Son—(Saluki, PG-13) This comedy stars Dudley Moore as a brilliant surgeon and Kirk Cameron ("Growing Pains"). The two are father and son who switch into each other's bodies.

Planes, Trains, and Automobiles—(University Place, R-8) Directed by John Hughes, ("The Breakfast Club," "Sixteen Candles"): this odd-couple comedy stars Steve Martin as an urban ad man who is seated next to an un-loudmouthed John Candy) on a Thanksgiving holiday airplane flight.

The Princess Bride—(Fox Eastgate, PG-13) Rob Reiner directed this comic tale based on William Goldman's book with high adventure, damsels in distress, castles and knights.

Rocky Horror Picture Show—(Town and Country Cinema, Marion). On Halloween Janet, this rock 'n roll spoof of horror films didn't meet critical acclaim when it was first released, but it has a cult following of fans that bring "props" and dress up as favorite characters. Props: a bridal garter for the rain, toast, toilet paper, rice and fruit. Cultists will show the uninitiated viewer when and how to use them.

Running Man—(University Place, R) Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in a story, similar to "Roller Ball," about a fighter in violent sci-fied games of the future.

The Sicilian—(University Place, R) The latest from Martin Scorsese ("The Godfather," and director of "The Deer Hunter" and "Kramer's Game"). Based on the story of mobster Salvatore Guadino.

Stakeout—(University Place, R) Directed by Leonard Nimoy, this comedy, similar to "Baby Boom," stars Tom Selleck, Steve Guttenberg and Ted Danson as three bachelor who get a baby girl on their doorstep.

Wish You Were Here—(Varsity, R) The story of a young woman who lives in her own dream world.

The Rocky Horror Picture Show—(Fox Eastgate, PG-13) The latest from Tim Curry ("ários,"

Baby Boom—(Fox Eastgate, PG) Diane Keaton stars in a comedy about a yuppie who inherits a relative's baby girl. Also stars Steve Martin and Harold Ramis.

Cinderella—(University Place, 8, G) Walt Disney's classic animating of the fairy tale is back in the theaters for the holidays. See it before you turn into a pumpkin.

Desert Bloom—(Student Center Auditorium, 4-30, 7 and 9:15 p.m. Sunday and Monday) The story of a family that lives near a Nevada nuclear bomb testing ground and the danger they unwittingly face.

Dirty Dancing—(University Place, 13) In 1963 at a Catskills resort, an awkward teenager (Jennifer Grey) falls in love with the resort's dance instructor (Patrick Swayze).

Fatal Attractions—(Varsity, R) A woman (Glenn Close) won't let the married man (Michael Douglas) with whom she had a chance encounter forget about her, even if she has to kill him.

Fatal Beauty—(Saluki, R) Whoopi Goldberg stars with Sam Elliott in an action adventure yarn that has Whoopi on the trail of a deadly new drug.

Flowers In The Attic—(Fox Eastgate, PG-13) This psychodrama is an adaptation of the best-selling V.C. Andrews book about our children, born out of an incestuous marriage, whose mother locks them in the attic for years.

Hello Again—(Liberty, PG) Shelley Long and Corbin Bernsen ("L.A. Law") star in a comedy about a woman who dies and comes back to life after her husband has married her best friend.

Hello Mary Lou: Prom Night II—(University Place, R) More gore at the high school prom.

Like Father, Like Son—(Saluki, PG-13) This comedy stars Dudley Moore as a brilliant surgeon and Kirk Cameron ("Growing Pains"). The two are father and son who switch into each other's bodies.

Planes, Trains, and Automobiles—(University Place, R-8) Directed by John Hughes, ("The Breakfast Club," "Sixteen Candles"): this odd-couple comedy stars Steve Martin as an urban ad man who is seated next to an un-loudmouthed John Candy) on a Thanksgiving holiday airplane flight.

The Princess Bride—(Fox Eastgate, PG-13) Rob Reiner directed this comic tale based on William Goldman's book with high adventure, damsels in distress, castles and knights.

Rocky Horror Picture Show—(Town and Country Cinema, Marion). On Halloween Janet, this rock 'n roll spoof of horror films didn't meet critical acclaim when it was first released, but it has a cult following of fans that bring "props" and dress up as favorite characters. Props: a bridal garter for the rain, toast, toilet paper, rice and fruit. Cultists will show the uninitiated viewer when and how to use them.

Running Man—(University Place, R) Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in a story, similar to "Roller Ball," about a fighter in violent sci-fied games of the future.

The Sicilian—(University Place, R) The latest from Martin Scorsese ("The Godfather," and director of "The Deer Hunter" and "Kramer's Game"). Based on the story of mobster Salvatore Guadino.

Stakeout—(University Place, R) Directed by Leonard Nimoy, this comedy, similar to "Baby Boom," stars Tom Selleck, Steve Guttenberg and Ted Danson as three bachelor who get a baby girl on their doorstep.

Wish You Were Here—(Varsity, R) The story of a young woman who lives in her own dream world.
Political satire makes fun of conservatives, liberals

By Curtis Winston
Entertainment Editor

What is a liberal? What is a conservative? These questions are answered in an amusing way in a book titled simply, "A Moderately Amusing Book," by Art Fisher, a 1962 SIU-C graduate in social science. Illustrated entirely with entertaining lettering and cartoon-like drawings by Plano artist and co-author Quen Carpenter, Fisher shows that labeling is not as clear-cut and well-defined as we are led to believe.

In the book, Fisher, a Spanish teacher, championed the cause of moderates or "middle of the roaders." "Moderates are drivable because they say 'it depends,'" Fisher said. The book looks at, in a lightly humorous way, how liberals and conservatives do or do not do things that go against their political principles.

FOR EXAMPLE, a liberal is shown with signs protesting the use of nuclear power as an alternative energy source, yet the next page shows that he is driving a car, a conserve source. Another drawing shows a conservative who respects authority figures saluting a police car, and yet gets upset when the police officer gives him a traffic ticket.

The book is not meant to be humorous way, how liberals and conservatives do or do not do things that go against their political principles.

What is a "Moderate," Fisher said that while he was attending SIU-C, he was in the Navy and has spent his summers as a farmhand, milkman, lift truck driver, factory worker and translator.

"I've associated with rednecks and professors and everything in between," Fisher said. "I saw so many people who professed one thing irrationally and their behavior would contradict that."

After reading "Real Men Don't Eat Quiche," Fisher said that he and Carpenter were invited to a picnic on the president's lawn every summer as a farmhand, milkman, lift truck driver, factory worker and translator.

The book, which is available at 710 Bookstore, should make fine reading during the election year, when many people are professing their political beliefs.

Illustration by Quen Carpenter
Art Fisher
W. Morris' son Mike. "He was always very polite and unassuming ... he didn't make a big deal out of being the president's son," he said. "In those days, students were invited to a picnic on the president's lawn every fall.

Fisher said that while he was a student he worked in the social science department of Morris Library, which at that time was "newly built and contained only a basement and reading room".

FISHER SAI; that while he was attending SIU-C, he was in the Navy and has spent his summers as a farmhand, milkman, lift truck driver, factory worker and translator.

"We (Fisher and Carpenter) did the book so people can look at themselves and smile," Fisher said. "People are too uptight about their opinions."

Book Review

FISHER, WHO is the chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages at West Aurora High School, where he has taught for the past 20 years, said in a phone interview Nov. 12 that talking with a member of the Daily Egyptian staff reminded him of the days when he was a student at SIU-C.

The 49 year old Fisher talked of going to school with former University President Delyte J. Morris' son Mike. "He was always very polite and unassuming ... he didn't make a big deal out of being the president's son," he said. "In those days, students were invited to a picnic on the president's lawn every fall.

Fisher said that while he was a student he worked in the social science department of Morris Library, which at that time was "newly built and contained only a basement and reading room".

FISHER SAI; that while he was attending SIU-C, he was in the Navy and has spent his summers as a farmhand, milkman, lift truck driver, factory worker and translator.

"We (Fisher and Carpenter) did the book so people can look at themselves and smile," Fisher said. "People are too uptight about their opinions."

Book Review

FISHER, WHO is the chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages at West Aurora High School, where he has taught for the past 20 years, said in a phone interview Nov. 12 that talking with a member of the Daily Egyptian staff reminded him of the days when he was a student at SIU-C.

The 49 year old Fisher talked of going to school with former University President Delyte J. Morris' son Mike. "He was always very polite and unassuming ... he didn't make a big deal out of being the president's son," he said. "In those days, students were invited to a picnic on the president's lawn every fall.

Fisher said that while he was a student he worked in the social science department of Morris Library, which at that time was "newly built and contained only a basement and reading room".

FISHER SAI; that while he was attending SIU-C, he was in the Navy and has spent his summers as a farmhand, milkman, lift truck driver, factory worker and translator.

"We (Fisher and Carpenter) did the book so people can look at themselves and smile," Fisher said. "People are too uptight about their opinions."

Book Review

FISHER, WHO is the chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages at West Aurora High School, where he has taught for the past 20 years, said in a phone interview Nov. 12 that talking with a member of the Daily Egyptian staff reminded him of the days when he was a student at SIU-C.

The 49 year old Fisher talked of going to school with former University President Delyte J. Morris' son Mike. "He was always very polite and unassuming ... he didn't make a big deal out of being the president's son," he said. "In those days, students were invited to a picnic on the president's lawn every fall.

Fisher said that while he was a student he worked in the social science department of Morris Library, which at that time was "newly built and contained only a basement and reading room".

FISHER SAI; that while he was attending SIU-C, he was in the Navy and has spent his summers as a farmhand, milkman, lift truck driver, factory worker and translator.

"We (Fisher and Carpenter) did the book so people can look at themselves and smile," Fisher said. "People are too uptight about their opinions."
October’s Child growing up with release of new single

By Curtis Winston
Entertainment Editor

The Carbondale band October’s Child is one step closer to success with the recent release of a single on their own label.

The single, which is being used primarily as a p promotional record, will be sent to management comp\panies, music venues and regional radio. It contains two original October’s Child songs —
"I Can’t Stand It," backed by
"Turn Me To Salt." It also is being sold in local record stores.

A Review

The songs represent just a small part of the band’s vast original song catalog.

"We don’t do any covers," said
David Schultz, bassist for October’s Child, said. "We have enough of our own material to do a two and a half hour show."

THE QUARTET was formed in January by former members of well-known Carbondale bands including Life Without Art, Synthetic Breakfast and the Boppin 885. There are two other members:
Mabel’s in Champaign and the Metro in Chicago.

The band’s music is defined terms as "alternative, a generic term given to a many young college bands.

Schultz said October’s Child is trying to get away from such labeling. "We are trying to present material that stands on its own without an umbrella term to call for support from patrons of that particular genre," he said.

"BUT EVERYTHING in this world has to be named, it’s the nature of man to label and define," Schultz said. "Lately the band has used the term doom rock, because folk gives us the widest base possible."

"I Can’t Stand It" is a fast-paced tune, spurred on by a quick rhythm guitar line.
Written by one of the band’s guitarists and studio engineer
Mike Sharp, a

The Carbondale-based band October’s Child is ready to make its move into the recording industry with the release of the single "I Can’t Stand It" on their own label. Members include:
- Schultz, bass; Phil Levon, drums; and Mike Sharp, guitar.
- Other members of October’s Child are:
  - John Pirruccello, guitar; David Schultz, bass; Phil Levon, drums.
  - Schultz said everyone in the band sings, so the band has a capability for four-part harmony.
  - All members of the band write lyrics separately. Then the band gets together and writes the music to make a song, Schultz said.
  - October’s Child will perform tonight and Saturday at Hangar 9, 311 S. Illinois Ave.
  - Open house to be held

October’s Child are John
Pirruccello, guitar and pedal steel, and Phil Levon, drums.

Schultz said everyone in the band sings, so the band has a capability for four-part harmony.

The other members of October’s Child are:
- Schultz, bass; Phil Levon, drums.
- Schultz said everyone in the band sings, so the band has a capability for four-part
harmony.

The other members of October’s Child are John Pirruccello, guitar and pedal steel, and Phil Levon, drums.

Schultz said everyone in the band sings, so the band has a capability for four-part
harmony.

The other members of October’s Child are:
- Schultz, bass; Phil Levon, drums.
- Schultz said everyone in the band sings, so the band has a capability for four-part harmony.

Don’t miss it.

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.

"Desert Bloom" is a triumph.

DANCE PARTY

Doors Open at 4pm for our Friday

Happy Hour Buffet

- including

Toasted Ravioli

B-B-Q Smokey

Chicken Drumsticks

Mini Ham Sandwiches

Cheese Veggies Chips & Dips ... and much more!

Sunday & Monday 4:30, 7, & 9:15 pm

Come to the 5pm show receive a coupon 10% off H.B. Quick.
Super Saturday
December 5th

8:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m.

Additional 10% off every item in this ad!

8:00 a.m.- 8:00 p.m.
Super specials

6:00 p.m.- 8:00 p.m.

3.15-32.20
10% off
donations

LADIES COATS

Quilt Lined Rain Slicker
$169.99

5 Sweater Coats
$199.99

60% off

Fant Coats, J. Brooks & Stoller
$349.99

80% off

Quilt Lined Felt Coats

Hermantone Machine-embroidered
$199.99

39.99

LADIES DRESSES

Cleanline Dresses

Additional 30% off
$144.99

19.99

39.99

LADIES BETTER SPORTSWEAR

Counterparts Trouser Suits

28.99

Counterparts Holiday Dresses

Doubling-up in season dresses
Sizes 6 to 14, Orig. $85.00

24.99

Even Picnic Coordinates

INCOMING! 25% off dresses

37.99-89.99

Onhe Ritter Blouses

 mocksleeve in selection to

Orig. $10.00 29.99

LADIES SEPARATES & COORDINATES

25% Off Misses Skirts

Walk back through spring styles, Hamptons, Reg. 29.99-

14.99-35.99

Lady Sannabell Pant

Orig. 99.99, Sale 39.99

39.99

Misses Sweaters

Hermantone Machine-embroidered
$199.99

9...

25% OFF! Tubular Blouses/Dresses

Misses tops, available in a variety
Sizes 6 to 14, Orig. $85.00

38.99-37.50

25% OFF Maternity Tops

Sizes 6 to 14, Orig. 99.99

20.99-27.99

Naturally Lacy

Snap-top in chintz, once assured
Sizes 6 to 14, Reg. 39.99

15.99

Selected Long Sleeve Blouses

Colors can change from season to
Reg. 129.99, Sale 49.99

21.99

25% OFF! Tub or Key dresses

"Chic Separates" & design solids
Sizes 6 to 14, Orig. $85.00

32.50-75.99

LADIES SPECIALS

Petite Reg., event Slacks & Skirts beaded or applique panel brunch suits

Sizes 6 to 14, Reg. 129.99

19.99

Women’s World F.C. Slacks

Handed to hand plaid brunch suits
Sizes 6 to 14. Reg. 129.99

19.99

Women’s World Skirts

"Pinstriped" in 9 pocket geometry
Sizes 6 to 14, Reg. 99.99

15.99

YOUNG CIRCLE

Le Co. Le elite, plenty $8

6.99, Orig. 8.99

19.99-29.99

All Junior Holiday Collections

20% off

20.99-71.99

Junior Separations

Gold medallion pants, 12-14, fasteners & others
Sizes 7 to 12, Orig. 79.99

9.99

Novelty Junior Separations

Matching sets to choose from, Boys, Girls, Sizes 7 to 12

29.99

Quantities are limited to shop only. Not all merchandise in all stores.

Use your Meis Charge. We accept Visa & Mastercard.

13.99

Ladies Cardigan

100% acrylic, balls & loops in choice, Sizes S-M-L-XL, Orig. 39.99

John's Eye

18.99

Levi's Mod Fashion Pant

Belted pattern with "Levi's" control, Sizes S-M-L-XL, Orig. 99.99

35.99

16.99

All Lady’s Raincoats

long, long, long, raincoats, pants and shoes

50% off, Sizes 6 to 14, Reg. 39.99

John's Eye

19.99

Glamorous Sweaterblends

Basic crew sweater in assorted prints & solids, Sizes 6 to 14

Reg. 39.99

Young Circle

2.99

50% Off Girls 4-14 Tartan Nickels

8.00-9.00

50% Off Girls Rugby Styles

Girls & Young Teens

2.99

40% Off Wranglers & Ladies Watches

Outstanding selection of styles, real good gift item for that special someone, Reg. $19.99

20.99

40% OFF Men's & Ladies Sweaters

Use your Meis Charge. We accept Visa & Mastercard.

3.99

Famous Brand Sportswear

Entire stock of wearables from London Fog, Berle, Reg. 49.99-

39.99

99.99

Leather Jackets

Warm length, some with warm lining inner
Reg. 59.99

39.99

Famous Brand Suit Jackets

Tweed coat, wool & wool blend
Reg. 29.75

169.99

Jaymar Sensational Slacks

Mandarin pockets, Sizes 6 to 14, Reg. 29.99

29.99

John Alexander Wool Slacks

Perfect pleats, Sizes 6 to 14, Reg. 29.99

39.99

MEY'S FURNISHINGS

35% Off Orbit Crew Socks

lots and lots, random boxes, $19.99-33.99

5.99

35% Off Service Gloves & Mittens

The finest quality, perfect gift idea, Reg. 14.99

7.99

Fitted Long Sleeve Dress Shirts

Men's, pickup in the men's departments, Reg. 19.99

9.99

30% OFF! Terry Robes

Self-picked items, in men's, assorted colors, One size fits all

Reg. 15.99, Sale 10.99

21.99 & 36.99

MEY'S SPORTSWEAR

Further Reductions on Sweaters

Hamparts, Reg. 29.99, Sale 19.99

15.99-19.99

Famous Brand & Sportswear

Long sleeve shirts in assorted colors

Ensemble Men's Casual Slacks

Long, long, long, men's, assorted colors,
Reg. 19.99

29.99

Classic Cotton Suiting Frocks & Shirts

for the ladies, assortment in assorted colors,
Reg. 19.99

9.99

SPORTSCAST

Assorted Men's Slacks

Sweats, ties & lacing, Selection changes
Reg. 29.99

24.99

RED CARPET

Long Sleeve Sportshirts

Solid color, assorted colors,
Reg. 13.99

10.99

Lee Men's Jeans

Ultra-comfortable, sized 30-40W, Reg. 9.99

15.99

Famous Maker Slacks

Close crop slacks, sizes 30-40, Reg. 129.99

14.99

Famous Maker Sweaters

Long, long, long, sweaters, Sizes 30-40, Reg. 19.99

9.99

SHOES

20% OFF Men's Dress Shoes

Formal or casual
Reg. 30.99-

20% OFF Women's Shoes

Formal wear
Reg. 39.99

14.99-76.40

20% Off Entire Stock Cones

Men's, women's, children's,
Reg. 29.99-

22.50-59.00

20% OFF Entire Stock Corelle

Buy, use it today

21.60-35.20

8:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m.

Add ional 10% off
every item in this ad!
USO allocates $2,995 to 8 student organizations

By Dena Schulte

Eight Registered Student Organizations had visions of dollar bills dancing in their heads after the Undergraduate Student Organization meeting Wednesday night. The USO will distribute $2,995 among the eight RSOs, bringing total funding for fall to $12,290. We thought we would have more groups come forth for more money," Basil finance committee member, said. These groups got more than they asked for, but we are careful about how much you give out in the beginning because you don’t know the number of groups that will ask for money. Basil said the committee expected about 30 groups to ask for funding this fall, but only 40 did. About $7,791 remains to be distributed from the committee’s fall budget. Remaining funds will be added to the spring budget, bringing the total budget to about $38,000, Basil said.

Next semester, the committee will make changes in guidelines to increase funding. Changes will include an increase in the maximum amount of funding allowed for registration, lodging and transportation, he said.

Organizations receiving funding include Sphinx Club, with 46 members, $145; Alpha Phi Alpha, with 10 members, $400; Zoology Honor Society, with 22 members, $100; Southern Illinois Repertory Dance, with 21 members, $50; Latin American Student Association, with 122 members, $100; SIU Skydivers, with 43 members, $760; Agriculture Student Advisory Council, with 45 members, $760; and STC Electronic Association with 50 members, $260.

Delta Pi Epsilon receives award

The SIU-C chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon, a professional graduate society in business education, recently has been awarded a certificate of merit by the national organization. Only 91 chapters nationwide have earned the award.

The certificate of merit recognizes chapters that provide quality programs of leadership, scholarship and professionalism in activities and projects, Janice Schoen, the chapter’s national council delegate, said in a press release.

Objectives of the society include encouraging research, developing leadership and providing services to the campus and education profession.

Henry was chief delegate to the national council meeting Nov. 11 to 14 in Indianapolis, where the award was presented.

Library, from Page 1

"It’s frustrating," Peterson said, "not only for the students but also for the staff.

When a student requests a book that is packed, the staff has to find the right box. Although the boxes are coded and marked, a person who is unfamiliar with the codes would be unsuccessful finding it, Peterson said, adding that sometimes the boxes have to be pulled out from under one another.

"It’s a lot of work," he said. The books shouldn’t suffer any damage from being packed for a lengthy time, Peterson said. It will take about 4 to 5 years to fill the storage building. Books will be packed as time allows and a truck will come about five times a year to transport the materials to the building.

"We could fill it in the first year, but we don’t have the resources we need to transport them," Peterson said.

As the books are transported to the storage building, index cards will indicate their new location. Students will have to request the book from the circulation desk and the staff will place an order for it, Peterson said.

Books from storage will be checked out at the circulation desk just like any other book. A reading room will be located in the storage building for faculty and graduate students who are doing research and need a large quantity of materials from storage, he said. A staff member will bring out the volumes they need.

"We’re not going to transport 20 to 30 books for one person back to the library," Peterson said.

Life expectancy of the budget is 10 to 15 years, Haak said, adding that the University choose to construct the separate building rather than expend the library for budget reasons.

"If we added to the library, we would want something of brick or masonry construction," he said. "It would be more expensive and permanent."

October’s Child

HAPPY HOUR 5-10
3 Doors for a Buck
2 for 1 Mixed Drinks
HAPPY HOUR 5-10
3 Doors for a Buck

 Doors open at 8:00pm
Hangar Hotline 549-1233

CULTURED CREAMS

CLOSING FOR EXPANSION
Sunday December 6th

Reopening as Cultured Creams
Gourmet Sandwiches and Desserts

Thank you for your patronage,
Cultured Creams

T.J.'S DISCOUNT LIQUORS
"THE COLDEST BEER IN TOWN"
1224 W. Main

Seagram 7-Crown
$5.99

Andre Champagne
White, Pink

$9.99

Beefeater Gin
750ml.

$38,000.

Michelob

$2.39

Perfect Stock

Corona

$3.99

October’s Child

10 & Less

GIFT IDEAS

Socks
2 for $4

Lambswool Gloves
$4

Ties
$6

Belts
$2.98

of Carbondale

Black Togetherness Organization

Presents

Their 17th Annual Cultural Festival in commemoration of Fred Hampton &
Mark Clark

Young Socialist Alliance
Alliance Meeting
2-6pm

STUDENTS FACING CHALLENGES IN THE FUTURE

When: Saturday, December 6th, 1987
Where: Griffin Hall Basement
Time: 11:00am-8:00pm
A dance afterwards: 11:00pm-8:00am

$1.00 for attend CultureFest
$2.00 at door
Guest Speaker: Ed Jones, Director of Housing
Paralegal: Ron Wright and Don Smith and Much More!
CHARLESTON, Tenn. (UPI) — About 900 people evacuated, as a train carrying toxic chemicals derailed along a highway beginning head back to their homes Thursday and crews worked to remove the tangled heap of railroad cars.

Workers cut through the chemical anhydride leaked from a tank car for about four hours Wednesday after the 31-car train derailed at about 11:20 p.m.

A cloud from the leaking chemical had mostly dissipated by Thursday, but an evacuation order remained in effect for several homes and businesses in the immediate vicinity of the spill as a precaution, Bradley County Sheriff Dan Gilley said.

"We're not sure exactly what they've got to happen when they try to turn that tank up," Gilley said. "But it's a precautionary measure."

Workers complained of no threat of irritation, but no major injury was reported as a result of the derailment or chemical leak.

REGATTA, from Page 1

Association, said the club has not responded to any of the settlement offers made by the association.

Buich refused to give details of the latest settlement offer, made about one month ago. Buich also refused to comment on the offer.

However, Hocier indicated that the association was still pursuing the club to obtain a license for its regatta.

"We don't want a licensing agreement," Hooker said. "We will never agree to one. That's just going to be an agreement to control our regatta."

However, Buich has said that the association is not interested in a licensing agreement for the club's regatta. The association only wants to maintain the integrity of the copyright on the event and ensure that the regattas are not used for profit. Buich said, "We have documentation of having filed for a copyright on that."

They're trying to control a game that is non-copyrightable. It's like trying to control a game of baseball and saying no one else can hold a baseball without a license."

The club also objects to a clause in the association's licensing contract giving the association control of all vender proceeds from the regatta. Buich said the clause is proof the association wants total control of the club's regatta.

"They clearly state in their lawsuit that they want the money," Hooker said. "And yet, they keep saying, 'No, no, that's not what we want at all.'"

However, Buich has said that a rider has always been attached to the clause explaining that profits from regattas must go to local charities.

Despite all the charges and countercharges, Hooker said he was optimistic a settlement would be reached.

"I am hopeful that we can get it settled," he said. "While I guess in hindsight I have made some disparaging statements about the association, I have scot a lot of people who say, 'This is absurd, why don't we just get this thing settled.'"

PRA\YER, from Page 1

"I would be very happy if there were no graduation. I'm very uncomfortable hearing Christian prayer since I'm not a Christian."

John La Pine, an undergraduate student in foreign languages and linguistics who is Jewish, agreed with Nathan.

"I have been subjected to Christian prayer and find it very offensive.

Members of the council expressed the need to include an opening for a baccalaureate service since, as one member stated, "we are considered by the community as a godless group."

Janet Belchev-Shain, director of the Brain Bryth Hillel Foundation, wrote letters to key administrators and the regents, before the start of this semester urging them to have only a universal prayer at each college's graduation ceremony.

Since then, Rev. Robert Gray, president of Campus Ministries, has said that he is not representing the Campus Ministries, but her own personal convictions.

The Episcopal Church of \theological university of the midwest

GAVE TO ME
15% OFF
ALL Blank Books &
Boxed Christmas Cards

December 4th ONLY

402 W. Mill, Carbondale
A Parish of the Worldwide Anglican Communion

COME TO OUR PATRONAL FESTIVAL
Evensong and concert, 7:30 pm
Saturday, December 5

Visititation by the bishop of Springfield
Sunday, December 6

Holy Eucharist, 8am

The Very Rev. Laura A. Payne, Rector and The Poor Ministries
Liz How, Jerry Phillips, and Raymond Danan

SHOPPING OVERSEAS?

Malaysia * Nigeria * Thailand
Kenya * Iraq * Iran * Europe
South America * Middle East
To Over 100 countries Worldwide

CALL NOW FOR HOME PICK-UP and ask about our air service.

ABACO INTERNATIONAL SHIPPERS, INC.
1-800-321-769
4201 W. Wrightwood, Chicago, IL 60639
CHICAGO (UPI) — Acting Mayor Eugene Sawyer Thursday decided not plan any major shakeups in city government in the immediate future, but a transition team is studying areas where changes could be made.

"I am committed to maintaining continuity in government," Sawyer told his first City Hall news conference since being elected acting mayor Wednesday morning by City Council aldermen. "At this point I'm not making any changes."

Sawyer, who was sworn in as acting mayor one week after Mayor Harold Washington died of a massive heart attack also reiterated his pledge to support the late mayor's "reform" agenda.

"The Washington legacy will not be sold out," Sawyer said. "I am committed to Harold Washington reforms. So there is no reason for anybody to believe Mayor Harold Washington's agenda won't move forward."

Sawyer, who was supported for the acting mayor's post by a majority of white aldermen who had been at odds with the Washington administration, also continued to deny that he had made a "deal" with old-guard "machine" Democrats in order to be installed as acting mayor.

"There were no deals at all made by me," he said. "I made no deals and I will make no deals. I will be controlled by the people of the city of Chicago."

Sawyer, the longest serving black alderman, gained 29 votes in Wednesday's special council meeting to elect a successor to Washington. He needed only 25 votes to be elected acting mayor until the next municipal elections in 1989.

Sawyer's only opponent for the job was Ald. man Tim Evans, the late mayor's floor leader and chairman of the powerful Finance Committee.
Weapons pact first priority of Reagan-Gorbachev talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan, self- assured even when facing no problem so far in competing with the charismatic Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. "Good Lord, I coo-stood with Errol Flynn," he told high school students last week, most of whom had heard of the movie swashbuckler.

The president went on to single out Gorbachev and praises Soviet leader. "Gorbachev has been, let us say, quite different than past Soviet leaders. No other Russian leader has ever agreed to sit down and work with them. They already have... He is also a very young man who has never reiterated before the great national communist party that the Soviets are a world community."

Such polite talk about another piercedes may not be unusual in another president, but Ronald Reagan has spent most of his adult life ripping and ridiculing the Soviet Union. In recent weeks, the superpowers are again at the forefront of many policy debates, and the United States and the Soviet Union. As for the Persian Gulf, the United States is still trying to get the Soviets in the United Nations to support sanctions against Iran. Moscow did go along with the U.S.-sponsored resolution calling for a ceasefire in the gulf area.

There appears to be some hope on the international front that the Soviets will withdraw from Afghanistan after a "period" of a year, and set a time limit to Gorbachev's promise. The Kremlin, bogged down in the Afghan situation, is apparently looking for a face saving way out.

It would likely to strike a deal halting the U.S. supply of weapons to the Afghan rebels in exchange for a phased pullout of Russian troops, which have been there for eight years. The Soviets are reportedly growing tired of propping up Managua and there could be a pullout on both sides in view of the Central American peace plan. But on the other hand, Reagan, who calls himself a "Coostra," may refuse to give up his dream of making Sandinista President Daniel Ortega cry "uncle." The United States also would like.

Reagan calls missile treaty foes 'ignorant'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan described Thursday some Republican opponents of the new missile treaty with the Soviet Union as "ignorant" of its terms and prone to believing, "that war is inevitable."

He also said in an interview with four television network anchors that he still believes the Soviet Union is an "evil empire," but he expects to go to Moscow next year to sign a treaty cutting in half the arsenals of intercontinental missiles.

Asked if he would choose "heartbroken" or "unable to recognize Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's visit with a trip to Moscow to sign such a treaty, Reagan said, "I think I'd stop short of that, but I'd be very disappointed. I think we're going to have a meeting in Moscow, and I think we're going to have a reasonably good chance to make a step forward in the elimination of nuclear weapons."

Only hours before the interview was taped in the Oval Office for broadcast Thursday, Reagan promised that human rights would be "on a par" with arms control in his summit next week with Gorbachev.

But he told the anchors he would not refuse an arms treaty simply because his human rights agenda might be rejected.

Later, CBS News spokesman Tom Goodman said the network made an "editorial decision" to air its tape of the interview between 11:30 p.m. EST and 12:30 a.m. NBC, ABC and CNN carried the whole interview at 8 p.m. EST.

Reagan said he hopes the treaty to eliminate ground-based shorter and medium-range missiles, to be signed "Tuesday, 'i s going to sail through the Senate."

Study indicates large gaps in Medicaid help

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Large gaps exist in the nation's Medicaid program with only a third of the nation's people receiving any benefits, according to a new study.

"The Medicaid program, supplemented by Medicaid for the aged, is not serving the vast majority of elderly people with incomes below $5,903, or $106 per week," said Karen Davis, chairman of the Department of Health Policy Management Branch in the School of Public Health at Johns Hopkins University.

Davis made her comments in a recent releasing a new 65-page report, "Medicare's Poor," prepared for the Commonwealth Fund.

According to the report, among the 5.3 million elderly poor, 2.2 million are without Medicaid, although the program is designed to help pay most of their health care costs not covered by Medicare.
Craft show displays gift ideas

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

Visitors to the Student Center today and Saturday can do some affordable Christmas shopping and get a taste of the region's folk art in the bargain. The Center's 11th annual Holiday Craft Sale has a variety of homemade items including Christmas decorations, glass engraving and woodwork.

"I love it," said Christine Cedersky, junior in public relations. "I get nuts here. It's great for Christmas shopping."

Junior Caryn Cieplak agreed.

"It's great for looking around," Cieplak said. "I'll probably spend hours here. I think its definitely affordable for Christmas gifts."

Students and people from the community enjoy the sale, which began Thursday, an organizer said.

"This year there is a really diversified crowd," said Kay Zirkovich, Student Center arts coordinator.

The sale, which will continue until Saturday, is being held in the International Lounge and the Hall of Fame Square in the Student Center.

It features 76 artists from Southern Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky, Zirkovich said. The artists range from longtime returners to the newerer experiencing his first craft sale.

"I've been coming here for six or seven years," said Marie Smith of Carbondale. "It's the best I go to."

Smith sells homemade quilts and stuffed toys.

"We've only been doing this for about a year," said Keith Babin, senior in anthropology. "We've been doing it in other places before this."

Babin and his friends are selling tie-dye-shirts.

Editorial champions poor clients

CHICAGO (UPI) — Doctors and lawyers have "as a matter of ethics and good faith" the professional obligation to donate at least 50 hours of service every year to the poor, editors of the official journals of law and medicine jointly declared Thursday.

"Doctors and lawyers today have tended to become overly concerned with their professional incomes and practice efficiencies, but they must not forget their higher duties," wrote Dr. George Lundberg and lawyer Laurence Bodine in an unprecedented editorial carried in the latest issue of the American Association and American Bar Association Journal.

"Many members of our professions have always cared for the poor who need legal or medical help," they wrote. "But their efforts are not what they should be and there is abundant evidence on unmet needs."

In interviews, the editors emphasized the views were their own, not official statements of their organizations.

"This is just George and Larry, not the AMA and the ABA," Bodine said. "But it is something we feel strongly about, and I imagine most doctors or lawyers will agree."

While charitable service has a strong tradition with both professions, it is hardly universal, Lundberg said.

Craft show displays gift ideas

"It's great for looking around," Cieplak said. "I'll probably spend hours here. I think its definitely affordable for Christmas gifts."

Students and people from the community enjoy the sale, which began Thursday, an organizer said.

"This year there is a really diversified crowd," said Kay Zirkovich, Student Center arts coordinator.

The sale, which will continue until Saturday, is being held in the International Lounge and the Hall of Fame Square in the Student Center.

It features 76 artists from Southern Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky, Zirkovich said. The artists range from longtime returners to the newcomer experiencing his first craft sale.

"I've been coming here for six or seven years," said Marie Smith of Carbondale. "It's the best I go to."

Smith sells homemade quilts and stuffed toys.

"We've only been doing this for about a year," said Keith Babin, senior in anthropology. "We've been doing it in other places before this."

Babin and his friends are selling tie-dye-shirts.
1980 FORD ASCENTIA. Good used cond., $350.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 TOYOTA CELICA. As new, 3-door, 5-speed, sunroof, automatic, $4,500.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 MERCURY COUGAR. As new, 2-door, automatic, 3-speed, $2,900.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS 98. 2-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,900.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS TORONADO. Deal great must sell! Many new parts, full power. Asking around 5 p.m. 269-1302.
1980 DODGE DAKOTA. 3-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 YAMAHA snowmobile, 2-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 DODGE DAKOTA. 3-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 MERCURY COUGAR. 2-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
1980 OLDS WILDCAT. 4-door, automatic, 3-speed, $1,200.00. Call 282-5504.
Sunglasses

uição was wrong, but I was happy that you could give me and my family some sunglasses.

Pets and Supplies

AFGHAN HOUND PUPPIES. AHC in. Male and Female. Excellent temperaments. Excellent health. $1,500.00. 916-242-0310.

Sunglasses

Sporting Goods

SCUBA DIVING EQUIPMENT. Entire setup incl. a piece watch for sale. Underwater. 497-7995.

Furniture

MUST SELL ONE Couch, 4 tables, 2 chairs, wood stove, 3 chairs, 1 end table. 1-3-77.

Gibson Humngummis Acoustic Guitar With case, etc. Good. $300.00. 1217-4617.

Gibson Humngummis Acoustic Guitar With case, etc. Good. $300.00. 1217-4617.

Pilot Stereo System With graph paper equalizer, dual tape player, great sound, good condition. 1-10-77.

Music

Furniture

Large size, MCM furnishing. Includes 2 chairs, dining table and chairs, sofa, 2 long tables, etc. 2-14-77.

New Furniture

UPRIGHT PIANO including stool. 300.00. 1-28-77.

5 Rooms, 2 1/2 baths. Furnished. 1 block from campus. $220 per month. 12-17-77.

Now Leasing For Spring '77

Furnished one bedroom efficiencies

Incl.: Carpet & Air Conditioning, Water, Trash & sewer. Clean & Quiet No Pets. 549-6610

Imperial Mezzo Apartments

For Rent

Apartments

Sunglasses

By Jed Prest

A W! GEZ Z? SAD I WAS SORRY!

Sunglasses

The Key To Success

is buying a car from Wallace, Inc.

If you are graduating, in graduate school or have graduated in the past 12 months, you can take advantage of owning your own car on any Chrysler Plymouth product.

1. 5% down payment
2. 90 days deferred payment
3. Verification of a job offer
4. You don't even have to have previous credit references.
5. We will approve you for credit.

Sunglasses

317 E. Main-Carbondale
549-2255

Efficiencies and 1 Bedroom

• Clean
• Close to campus

Royal Rentals

Apartments Fit For a King
457-4422
Quality Apartments
Low Prices!

Now Taking Spring Semester Leases

Houses

TOP CARPENTERS ESTATES. 2 miles southwest of Carbondale. New homes. 3 Bedroom house, 1/2 mile from Carbondale East High School.

Mornin' Call, 136 9251 days

CRAF ORCHARD ESTATES. 2 miles southwest of Carbondale. 3 Bedroom House, 1/2 mile from Carbondale East High School. New homes.

3 Bedroom house, 1/2 mile from Carbondale East High School. New homes.

JOE R. MANN, 3 BR, 2 BA, $925.00. 2nd floor. 2 Bedroom, 1 Bath, Furnished, Dine-in kitchen. Good location. 3-9-77.

Now Leasing For Spring '77

Efficiencies and 1 Bedroom efficiencies

Incl.: Carpet & Air Conditioning, Water, Trash & sewer. Clean & Quiet No Pets. 549-6610

Imperial Mezzo Apartments

For Rent

Apartments

Sunglasses

By Jed Prest

A W! GEZ Z? SAD I WAS SORRY!

Sunglasses

The Key To Success

is buying a car from Wallace, Inc.

If you are graduating, in graduate school or have graduated in the past 12 months, you can take advantage of owning your own car on any Chrysler Plymouth product.

1. 5% down payment
2. 90 days deferred payment
3. Verification of a job offer
4. You don't even have to have previous credit references.
5. We will approve you for credit.

Sunglasses

317 E. Main-Carbondale
549-2255

Efficiencies and 1 Bedroom

• Clean
• Close to campus

Royal Rentals

Apartments Fit For a King
457-4422
Quality Apartments
Low Prices!

Now Taking Spring Semester Leases

Houses

TOP CARPENTERS ESTATES. 2 miles southwest of Carbondale. New homes. 3 Bedroom house, 1/2 mile from Carbondale East High School.

Mornin' Call, 136 9251 days

CRAF ORCHARD ESTATES. 2 miles southwest of Carbondale. 3 Bedroom House, 1/2 mile from Carbondale East High School. New homes.

3 Bedroom house, 1/2 mile from Carbondale East High School. New homes.

JOE R. MANN, 3 BR, 2 BA, $925.00. 2nd floor. 2 Bedroom, 1 Bath, Furnished, Dine-in kitchen. Good location. 3-9-77.
Mobile Homes

2 BDRM MOBILE HOMES, very nice, furnished, $250, furnished & unfurnished, 437-5264.

2 BDRM, CLEAN, unfurnished, $250, furnished & unfurnished, 437-5293.

3 BDRM, CLEAN, unfurnished, $350, furnished & unfurnished, 437-5292.

2 BDRM CARBONDALE, 2BD, 2BA, 10 months, $375, 12-10-76, 387-3571.

2 BDRM, VANDERBILT, 2BD, 2BA, furnished, $350, $400 unfurnished, E. Park, 387-3530.

2 BDRM AC, furnished, $350, unfurnished, 1200 E. Park, 387-3555.

1 BDRM, WEDGEOHILL, Furnished, $200, unfurnished, 437-4489.

SUGGEST HURRICANE, 3BD, 2BA, furnished, $450, unfurnished, 700 S. Main, 387-3532.

3 BDRM, S. MAIN, Furnished, $330, unfurnished, 700 S. Main, 387-3532.

ONE BEDROOM, Furnished, $250, unfurnished, East side, 387-3595.

DOUGLAS HOUSE, Furnished, 3BD, 2BA, 10 months, $500, 12-10-74, 387-3595.

2 BDRM, CLEAN MOORE, furnished, $325, unfurnished, 1200 E. Park, 387-3530.

SUGGEST HURRICANE, 3BD, 2BA, furnished, $450, unfurnished, 700 S. Main, 387-3532.

ONE BEDROOM, SMALL furnished, gear included, 10 months, $175, 384-8484.

EVA ARBERRY, 1 BDRM, furnished, $200, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

NANCY LEE, 1 BDRM, 1 BD, furnished, $200, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

EVA ARBERRY, 1 BDRM, furnished, $200, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

2 BDRM, EVA ARBERRY, furnished, $250, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

1 BDRM, EVA ARBERRY, furnished, $200, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

1 BDRM, EVA ARBERRY, furnished, $220, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

1 BDRM, EVA ARBERRY, furnished, $200, unfurnished, 550 N. Main, 387-2211.

SUGGEST HURRICANE, 3BD, 2BA, furnished, $450, unfurnished, 700 S. Main, 387-3532.

ONE BEDROOM, small furnished, $175, unfurnished, 550 S. Main, 384-8484.

ROOMS FOR RENT

FURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $150, 384-5200.

UNEQUIPPED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $175, 384-5200.

HELP WANTED

ROOMMATES

HELP WANTED for 3� bedroom furnished house, close to campus. $275, 387-3595.

ROOMS FOR RENT

FURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $150, 384-5200.

UNFURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $175, 384-5200.

ROOM FOR SUBLET for Spring semester, one block from campus. CALL.

ROOMS FOR RENT

FURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $150, 384-5200.

UNFURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $175, 384-5200.

ROOMMATES

HELP WANTED for 3 bedroom furnished house, close to campus. $275, 387-3595.

ROOMS FOR RENT

FURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $150, 384-5200.

UNFURNISHED, PRIVATE ROOM in house, close to campus. All utilities included. $175, 384-5200.

ROOM FOR SUBLET for Spring semester, one block from campus. CALL.
A female student is confused about where to go for her audition, so she calls her friend for help. Her friend provides her with directions to the audition location.
Introduction leads to fame for student in Jet magazine

By Amy Goudzat
Staff Writer

Angela Elliott went to California last summer and was introduced to a photographer by her friend's father. That introduction led to a shot at being "beauty of the week" in Jet, a national weekly magazine. Elliott, 20, was the featured beauty in the Dec. 7 issue of the magazine.

"I was really happy," Elliott said. The photo in the magazine is almost full length and shows Elliott standing in front of a black door in a pool-side swimsuit. For the photo, she said she did her own makeup and hair.

"FEEL better when I do it on my own. I'd much rather do it myself," she said.

Along with the photo, the magazine listed Elliott's name, hometown, and her hobbies which include theater, dance, water skiing, and roller skating. She also likes to go to the beach.

"Being involved in national magazine will help me out because everyone will see it," she said. "It will get me a lot of work in Chicago over the summer."

Elliott, who has an agent in Chicago, said that she has been modeling since she was 13 years old, but that she quit when she came to SIU-C. "It's hard to work when you are down here," she added.

A SOPHOMORE from Danville, Elliott is majoring in radio-television.

"I want to finish school," she said. "I'd feel better if I graduate first. If you finish school and then go out there and model, you can try it and then fall back on your degree. It's best to complete something."

Modeling is new to Elliott though, she has been featured in other national magazines and appeared in a high school Cover Girl contest and appeared in Young Miss later. She was Hair Performers' model winner and appeared in a Houston magazine. In 1985 she was in a Christmas television commercial for Sears.

"It's important," said Elliott, "it was like a sorority atmosphere. We sat and acted like we were opening presents."

IT WAS A one and a half minute commercial that took 10 hours to complete, she added.

According to her future, Elliott said she would like to become involved in television broad-casting, "maybe my own show or a show like Entertainment Tonight."

Elliott, who plans to model for four or five years after graduation, said modeling has taught her a lot. She has "learned to make myself look better, and the traveling has helped me also. I've learned to like it."

Modeling also has taught Elliott to be "independent" and deal with criticism.

"IF THINGS aren't right, they won't last let it go," she said. "They tell you. You learn to accept it. I can deal with constructive criticism now, where before I couldn't."

A modeling career also is not as glamorous as it seems. "The lights are super, super hot and bright," she said. "You have to get in positions that are uncomfortable but you have to look like you are." Elliott explained how she had to jump up and down continuously for 15 minutes during one shoot, which gave her shin splints.

The time it takes for a shoot varies, she said. "Most of the time, you go in at 8 a.m. and might not leave until 5 p.m. It also depends on how many people are in the shot."

DOES ELLIOTT have to watch her weight? "They can put clothing on to make you look heavier," she said. "If the clothes are too tight, they use clothes pins to make the outfits look like they fit. They put them in the back. They have all kinds of ways to fix things."

Elliott said that she lifts weights for an hour and likes to ride a stationary bike 30 minutes to three times a week.

Even a model can have a weakness for certain kinds of food. "I guess you could say Burger King cheeseburgers are my weakness," she said with a laugh. "I do try to eat one good meal a day."

Elliott explained that modeling is a really stressful occupation. "It's hard to deal with a lot of rejection," she said. The competition is fierce. "There's always someone out there who is just as good looking or better than you."

Sleep-learning research sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Certain unconventional methods to boost human performance, such as sleep-learning and hypnosis, may be useful and deserve further study, a national panel of psychologists said Thursday.

But the committee, convened by the National Research Council at the request of the Army, found little or no evidence to support other programs the Army was considering, including parapsychology and biofeedback.

"This report should have implications for industry and other organizations outside the military," said Dr. Daniel Druckman, a social psychologist and director of the study.

"This was not a consumer report. We were not evaluating techniques. We were not saying buy or don't buy anything," he said.

Instead, Druckman said the panel of psychologists examined the psychological processes underlying the techniques to see if the techniques were valid.

The Army Research Institute asked the council in 1984 to study the value of certain techniques proposed to enhance human performance.

The committee suggested the Army give a "second look" to sleep learning. The report said the committee found evidence that learning material presented to people in the lighter stages of sleep seemed to bolster their ability to learn or recall the same material when awake.

The council also said mental practice -- for example, watching champion athletes perform and mentally rehearsing the movements -- "is effective in enhancing the performance of motor skills."
Crash dieting ineffective, study by nutritionists finds

By Stephanie Wood
Staff Writer

Crash diets don't work.

A study conducted by Nancy Lamar, graduate student in Animal Industries; Leila Saldanha, assistant professor in the Department of Animal Science; and the Department of Food and Nutrition, showed that five out of six competitors in last year’s Miss SIU Bodybuilding Competition had gained an average of 19 pounds when tested four weeks after the competition.

Jodie Johnston, 1987 Miss SIU, admitted to gaining a lot of weight after she won the title. "You train for so long, and then all of a sudden you try to eat like a normal person."

The study observed the six competitors and four non-competitors for seven weeks prior to the event and tested them again four weeks after the show.

"You train for so long, and then all of a sudden you try to eat like a normal person."

—Jodie Johnston

“We began testing seven weeks before, when the girls really got serious about the competition,” Saldanha said. “The women follow a strict diet throughout training, but when the competition nears, they reduce their calorie intake and increase exercise to lose weight quickly.”

"In the off season, I don't do a lot of aerobics. When I'm training, I do aerobics, run, swim. It's a combination of the diet and exercise that leads to the weight loss," Johnston, a Spanish communication senior, said.

After the competition, the women are so tired of training that they abandon their eating habits, Saldanha said.

"I said to myself, after the Miss SIU show I'm going to eat what I want for a week and then I'm going to eat healthy again," Johnston said.

Losing and gaining weight in short periods of time results in a cyclical effect that makes weight loss more difficult each successive time, she said. The cyclical effect tends to promote obesity at an older age.

To prevent rapid weight loss or gain, competitors should plan ahead for gradual weight loss prior to competition. "In preparing for the competition, they should start early. Saldanha said. "They should do it in a more gradual manner rather than doing it in such a condensed, stressful manner."

During post-competition, the athletes should try to maintain a desirable weight, she said.

"I really think I learned my lesson," Johnston said. "It's too hard to keep trying to lose weight."

Christmas
Every Monday
549-7712

10% off products
$10 off Perm Waves
$10 off Permanent Waves
$8 off Hair Color
$8 off Haircut
Do Your Holiday Shopping at 127 N. Washington
Gift Certificates Available
Anorexia, bulimia increasing among college students

By University News Service

Some people starve themselves and exercise to become slim, often killing themselves in the process. Others, on eating binges, then vomit or put themselves on dieters to avoid gaining weight.

Why do they do these things? Why isn't it enough to have a slender body? Is there anything that can be done for these victims of anorexia nervosa and bulimia?

DIANE E. TAUB, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and co-founder of a self-help club for anorexics and bulimics, said at a conference held by Alcoholics Anonymous and studied the participants for two years to come up with some answers.

TAUB SAYS many people—mostly young women—are unduly influenced by the emphasis placed on thinness by American society. This attitude has produced an increase in the number of anorexics and bulimics, especially among college students.

And she blames the families of these young people for pressuring them into conformity to unhealthy standards of low weight and slender body proportions.

"In our society, slim bodies are regarded as the most worthy and attractive," she wrote in an article with co-author Penelope A. McLorg, a head nurse official at Saint Joseph's Hospital in a mid-south city. "Overweight is viewed as physically and morally unhealthy." Slimness is featured in magazines and television. Beauty queens, female models and TV stars are uniformly slender.

ANOREXICS and bulimics often are found to have parents who expect them to "slim" down to maintain weight in school, to strive for a college degree and to conform to a certain visual image of the "All American Family," Taub said.

Feeding and exercise to achieve a slim look are rewarded with family approval.

Taub found one mother and two daughters who all strove to wear size 5 clothes, regardless of their physical body frames. The mother and one daughter became anorexic. Young women are made to feel they are unattractive if they are not slim to the point of emaciation.

"WHEN I was fat, boys didn't look at me," one Taub's club member's said. "But when I got thinner, I was suddenly popular." Anorexics often become obsessed with dieting and exercise to achieve an almost skeletal look. In extreme cases, anorexia can be fatal.

Complicating the situation is that young women who are trying desperately to become and remain slim constantly are being bombarded by society's emphasis on eating disorders through the mass media.

Newspapers and magazines—often the same ones that promote the slender look in women—are loaded with articles on food preparation and dining. Food ads are a major portion of newspapers and women's magazine advertising.

BULIMIA OFTEN results from an attempt to resolve these two pressures—to eat and remain slim. Young women sometimes eat huge amounts of food, up to 10,000 calories a day, and then force themselves to vomit.

They may develop a regular and soon uncontrollable pattern of "binging" and "purg ing," Taub said. Awareness of their situation often induces shame and stigmatizes those who worsen their mental and physical health.

Or, accepting their anorexic or bulimic identities, victims may become so wrapped up in their physical images that "their obligations as students, family members and friends become subordinate to their eating and exercising rituals," Taub said.

TAUB'S CLUB, BANISH (Bulimics, Anorexics In Self-Help), was formed at a university in the mid-south. Meetings were scheduled casually, but were still taken seriously.

"Dinging" and "purging" didn't look at each other as different medical conditions, Taub said that a real cure remains a topic for future exploration.

As for what can be done for anorexics and bulimics, Taub said that a real cure remains a topic for future exploration.

She said an anorexic or bulimic is considered recovered when their weight is normal for two years and a bulimic is recovered when free of binging for a year and a half.

Solving the problem of eating disorders is going to be difficult, Taub said, because society's deep-rooted slimness mindset is "an incredibly toxic." However, if the prevalence of eating disorders should decrease.

Married cancer victims live longer, study says

CHICAGO (UPI) — Married people with cancer are discovered to receive better treatment and live longer than their unmarried counterparts, researchers reported Thursday.

The study, based on nearly 38,000 cases, found that single, divorced or widowed patients were 23 percent more likely to die from their cancers than married patients. The reasons are practical as well as psychological.

"There's the old joke that married people don't actually live longer, it just seems that way," said Dr. James Goodwin, of the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. "But they actually do. And it turns out there are some sound medical reasons for it.

Prices Good Only At: ABC LIQUOR MARK 109 N. Washington Carbondale 457-2721

-ANDREW S. HARRIS LOCATED IN CARBONDALE, ILL. NEAR WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

-Ad Good thru 12/6/87
AustraliOan Yacht Designer Calls U.S. Chicken-Hearted
Says Bald Eagle Emblem Should Be 'Spastic Canary'

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) - Citing Americans have become "chicken-hearted," Australia's leading yacht designer Thursday lambasted San Diego authorities for allowing only New Zealand to challenge for the America's Cup next year.

"If they won't let us sail, we will hold our own World Cup next year," said Ben Lexcen, designer of the winning winged keel, which helped Australia and syndicate leader Alan Bond win the America's Cup in 1983.

"The United States, this once great nation and land of the free, is chicken-hearted. The American emblem, the bald eagle, should be changed to a spastic Canary. The decision snatches 300 million people in the most technologically advanced place in the world being dead scared of three million sheep farmers."

"We're not afraid of fighting a battle against thee there are no winners."

The Miami Hurricanes, 15-16 last season, returned to the sun and sand state after going 1-2 in the Alaska Shootout. They lost to Michigan and Alaska Anchorage, but beat Duquesne.

CAGERS, from Page 24

pionage game.

The Miami Hurricanes, 15-16 last season, returned to the sun and sand state after going 1-2 in the Alaska Shootout. They lost to Michigan and Alaska Anchorage, but beat Duquesne.

"It's a shame that San Diego has gone that way," he said. Australian politicians added their voices to the protest. Nick Greiner, opposition leader of the New South Wales State Parliament, called the SDYC's move "outrageous." Ron Mulock, deputy premier and attorney general of New South Wales, said the America's Cup would become tarnished if only two nations compete.

"Up to now the America's Cup has been the ultimate test of 12-meter world-class yachting supremacy," he said. "Responding to a New York Supreme Court decision that a challenge by Fay next year for the America's Cup in 90-foot wasserline boats was legal, the SDYC responded by excluding all challengers other than Fay."

Britain, Japan and France as well as Australia and New Zealand are believed to be setting plans to build 90-foot boats. Before the New York ruling, the SDYC received 21 foreign challenges for the 1991 Cup defense in 12-meter yachts.

Correction

Bill Shannon, an SIU-C powerlifter, said he used steroids for four weeks. This information was incorrectly reported in Thursday's Daily Egyptian.

Puzzle answers

"The Cure for the Common Meal
NEW SOFT TACO SUPREME
'1.19
Look for our Daily Specials
Buy one Soft Taco
Supreme & receive the second at 1/2 price
Expires 12/18/87
Late start does not hamper Bradley’s MVC title hopes

By United Press International

The Bradley Braves, with astronomical expectations, get a late start on the college basketball season Friday against the University of New Orleans in Carver Arena.

The Braves, 17-12 last year, are considered title favorites in the Missouri Valley Conference and hope to make a splash in the NCAA postseason tournament as well.

"We know the anticipation and expectations are high," second-year Bradley coach Stan Albeck said, "but we accept that as a challenge. We know everyone will be shooting for us but that's to be expected. We're happy to be the favorites.

Injuries in the preseason make the pre-game lineup only a guess. Junior point guard Anthony Manuel missed most of the season practices with a stress fracture of the foot while senior guard Len Bertolini and senior forward Bruce Mordini both missed most practices last month. Bertolini has a leg injury and Mordini is recovering from an injured knee.

Manuel could start in the backcourt with Bradley's star, 6-3 senior Hersey Hawkins, who averaged 27.2 points per game last season. Hawkins is the leading returning scorer in college basketball.

Sophomore Luke Jackson, at 6-4, is expected to start at center with seniors Greg Jones and Jerry Thomas possible starters at the forward spot.

Those five averaged a combined 50 points last season, explaining Bradley's high expectations for this season.

New Orleans is the eight-best returning scorer in college basketball in Ledell Ewickles, who averaged 22.6 points as the Privates went 26-4 last season.

In other games involving Illinois schools Friday night, Northern Illinois plays in the Metro Classic Tournament in El Paso, Texas; Chicago State starts play in Brooklyn as part of the Marist Classic; Western Illinois is in a tournament in Akron, Ohio; and the Salukis play at Miami, Fla., in a tournament hosted by the Hurricanes.

On Saturday, DePaul hosts Illinois State, Mississippi Valley State visits Illinois, Northwestern hosts Duke. Loyola is at Oklahoma, and Eastern Illinois visits Indiana State.

REA, from Page 24

high school years.

Rea began swimming competitively at age 12 and vividly remembers her first test, when she failed to obtain 'fish' status at the local YMCA.

"The YMCA has different levels of accomplishment for swimmers. I made a progress from polywog to minnow, fish, flying fish, shark and ending at porpoise. Despite her first failure, Rea continued on, and eventually achieved porpoise level. Afterwards, her instructor said, 'Lori you should join the swim team.'"

The advice was well taken. Rea currently holds Saluki records in the 50-yard freestyle, 100-yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly. She also holds Gateway Conference records in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly.

At 12, Rea was the All American, was a consolation finalist in the 1986 World Championships and competed in the 1986 Olympic Trials, which she described as a learning experience.

Rea came to SIU-C in the fall of 1984. She planned to study computer programming, but took a computer class and decided that it wasn't for her.

Discussion with a friend and enrollment in a lower level PR course sparked her interest in the PR field.

Last summer, she completed a PR internship with Pizza Hut in Wichita, Kan.

Rea says she may continue her schooling at the University of Florida to obtain a master's degree and has looked into the possibility of a teaching assistant or coaching assistant position.

Rea also has written to various businesses in Boise. "I'd like to end up there, because my family is there and I like the area and climate," she said.

Rea's father suffered a stroke last September, prompting her to consider withdrawing from school for a semester.

But Rea struck an agreement with her father. She would stay and do her best, and he would do his best to get well.

Her father plans to observe her performance at the Olympic trials in August and Rea plans to train hard.

HOME OPENER

Saluki Women's Basketball

"A Class Act"

Saturday

7:35 - Arena

SIU

(14th Ranked in Nation)

vs.

MEMPHIS STATE

(Coach Scott's Alma Mater)

Posters Night

Free Women's Basketball Posters

Sponsored by:

First National Bank and Trust Company

IT'S TIME TO RENEW YOUR

LOCKER RENTAL

Student Center
Bowling and Billiards Area

Locker Rentals for Fall 1987 Expiring
December 18, 1987

Renewal Cost

$2.00

Key Rental

$4.00

NEW MONEY-SAVING

DOUBLE DEALS

Frc.m Domino's Pizza

DOUBLE GUARANTEED

If your pizza isn't right, we'll make it right! It hasn't arrived in 30 minutes or less, we'll give you $3.00 OFF your order. Call us, 457-6776.

DOMINO'S PIZZA DELIVERS FREE.

616 E. Walnut

Eastgate Shopping Center-Carbondale

THE DOUBLE DELIGHT

Only $7.95
(Tax not included) A double augmentation of your favorite pizza. Two regular 12" cheese or 12" veggie plus any extra toppings just $1.25 per pizza. Expires 12/31/87

Just ask for THE DOUBLE DELIGHT

THE DOUBLE DAZZLER

Only $9.95
(Tax not included) A sure way to dazzle your taste buds!

One large 16" cheese pizza plus one regular 12" cheese pizza. Extra toppings just $3.00 for both pizzas. Expires 12/31/87

Just ask for THE DOUBLE DAZZLER

THE DOUBLE DARE

Only $11.95
(Tax not included) We double dare you to consume this much delicious pizza in one meal!

Two large 16" cheese pizzas. Extra toppings just $2.25 for both pizzas. Expires 12/31/87

We dare you to ask for THE DOUBLE DARE

One coupon per order. Not valid with any other coupons or offers at participating locations only.

DOMINO'S PIZZA, INC.

19117, Page 23

Daily Egyptian, December 4, 1987,