Moore Ends Picketing at Morris's Office

Peace Union Quits Battle Over ROTC

The Committee to Abolish Compulsory ROTC, led by Bill Moore who forced the resignation of Student Peace Union members, will stop picketing the office of President Delyte W. Morris.

Moore, the originator of the movement, said he felt the pacifist connection of some members was hurting the image of CACR.

"I was trying to project the image of the typical American student in the protest," Moore said. "I don't feel the SPU represents the typical student. They were projecting the viewpoint of the student body but did not represent a cross-section of the student body."

Ed Clark, chairman of the SPU and cochairman of CACR, resigned from CACR after a Tuesday night meeting with Moore. Clark advised other SPU members to resign from CACR.

Moore said he was prepared to leave CACR himself if SPU members had not resigned.

"The SPU members were sincere in their desire to abolish compulsory ROTC, but the pacifist label was still there," Moore said.

Moore, sophomore from Carbondale, said he was not sure what the future holds for CACR. He said picketing would definitely stop.

"I prefer to get our point across through the Student Council and then through the administration," Moore said. "There will be no more direct action."

Moore praised the SPU members' efforts in trying to get the ROTC program changed from compulsory to voluntary.

"They did a tremendous job, which I appreciate," Moore said. "They held their personal feelings to this one issue, but the image of their organization was still there. I was afraid CACR was coming too much under their control."

Moore said that the SPU would, as a pacifist organization, like to see the United States disarm.

Dwight Cooke, Debate Team Appear at Convocation Today

Dwight Cooke, journalist, correspondent and former Columbia Broadcasting system news analyst, will appear at Freshman Convocations at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Cooke will discuss aspects and attitudes of United States foreign policy.

Pat Micken, Charles Zoecler, Carl Williams and Ron Hrebenar of the SIU debate team will present a panel discussion after Cooke's comments.

Cooke is author of the book, "There Is No Asia," which was published in 1954.

He is leaving June 1 for an extended fact-finding trip around Western Europe, stopping in Portugal, Spain, Italy, Greece, Yugoslavia, Austria, Germany, Holland, France and England.

Theater Lists Summer Plays In 10th Season

SIU's Summer Stock Company has announced plans for its season June 12 to August 21 at the Carbondale campus.

In its 10th season, the company will be composed of 14 graduate and undergraduate students selected from the applications received. All 14 will be awarded tuition scholarships. A limited number of graduate assistantships are also available. They will receive 12 hours of academic credit.

The company will be cast in all major and minor roles, and each member will participate in all phases of play production. They will present five plays in the air-conditioned Southern Playhouse.

The plays for the summer season are: "The Mouse-trap" by Agatha Christie, "Look Back in Anger" by John Osborne, "Millionairess" by George Bernard Shaw, "The Fantasticks" by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt and "The Night of the Iguana" by Tennessee Williams.

The staff will be directed by Archibald McLeod. Associate directors are Sherwin Abrams, Charles Zoecler and Darwin Payne.

Shapley to Speak On Geological Ages

Harlow Shapley, visiting professor in philosophy at SIU, will speak on "Geological Ages: The Origin of the Earth" at 8 p.m. tonight in Muckelroy Auditorium.

The lecture will deal with the origin of the earth and its development after it was formed.

Shapley will give his last lecture February 27 on "Galaxies and the Expanding Universe: Big Band and No Band Theory."

SIU Delegation to Participate In Model U.N. at St. Louis

Students interested in the United Nations organization may attend the Midwest Model United Nations slated for March 18-27 at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis.

Southern's delegation will represent Morocco, a member of the Security Council.

Donna Day, secretary of the SIU Model United Nations Assembly and the steering committee, said there is no limit to the number of students who could represent SIU.

Delegates to this Midwest Model United Nations program will receive special instruction about Morocco, including its policies, culture and voting habits, along with initiation to the United Nations Procedures.

Students who wish to attend can pick up applications at the University Center Information Desk and turn them in at the Student Government Office, International Affairs Commission, by 12 noon Feb. 10.

All expenses for SIU delegates will be paid. "We want all we can to go," Miss Day commented.

Moslem Students To Observe Feast

The Moslem Students Association is sponsoring a special Mid-Eastern Feast to celebrate Eid-ul-Fitr, the Moslem festival celebrating the end of Ramadan, the month of fasting.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 14 at the Faculty Club.

PRESIDES AT ASSEMBLY—K. Habib Akhter of India will preside at the two-day sixth annual Model United Nations General Assembly opening Friday at SIU. Joseph J. Sisco, deputy assistant secretary of state, will be the featured speaker.

Sixth Model U.N. Assembly Will Convene Friday at SIU

K. Habib Akhter of India will call the sixth annual Model United Nations General Assembly to order at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the University Center Ballroom.

Approximately 250 students will participate in the two-day observance.

Student groups have organizations, each representing a different nation. Delegates of these 62 groups will be assigned to committees to formulate policies on four major issues—race and minorities, the world refugee problem, nuclear disarmament and financing the United Nations. At the final session, members of the General Assembly will vote on these proposed resolutions.

Featured speaker for the Model United Nations will be the deputy assistant secretary of state for International Organization Affairs, Joseph J. Sisco.

Sisco will discuss his duties as political adviser to United Nations General Assembly delegates, a post which he has held since 1951. He will speak at 8 p.m. Friday.

Friday's agenda includes registration from 10 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. at the University Center, the opening meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the Ballroom, committee meetings in the River Rooms from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m., the first plenary session at 8 p.m. in the Ballroom and a reception for Sisco at 9:30 p.m.

Meetings of the four resolution-making committees in the University Center River Rooms will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. During this second session the committee members will complete a final resolution, prepare copies of the resolution for all delegates and select four speakers (both pro and con) to discuss the resolution at the climaxing plenary session.

The General Assembly will convene at 1 p.m. Saturday to consider the four major resolutions drafted by the committees. This session is slated to end at 4 p.m.

Akhter will preside over the General Assembly. Other officers in the Model United Nations structure will be Richard Childers of Carbondale, vice-president; Jerome M. Mileur of Murphysboro, secretary-general; Donna Day of Colorado Springs, Colorado, secretary; and Joseph Peck of Englewood, New Jersey, parliamentarian.

Others who helped arrange the annual event and were on the five-member steering committee included Norma Blackwell, at-large; Linda McTall, committees; Tod Cornell, delegations; Joe Shramovich, properties; and Carol Cebra, receptions.

Heading the four discussion committees will be Abdul Lateef and Farouk Umar, United Nations finance; Dean Kellams, nuclear disarmament; Ed Solowitz, racial discrimination; and William Fenwick, refugee problems.

Students who are not members of the various delegations may sit in the spectator's gallery during the General Assembly sessions.

Speaker Ties Literature To Literacy

John H. Fisher, executive secretary of the Modern Language Association, will present a public lecture at SIU Monday.

In a meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. in the lounge of the Home Economics Building, Fisher will speak on "Why Johnny Can't Read, Reconsidered."

The lecture is one in a series sponsored by the SIU English Department.

Fisher, a medieval scholar now on the faculty of New York University, will give a "popular level" talk concerning curriculum in English, according to Chairman Bruce Harkness of the SIU English Department.

Harkness said Fisher is especially concerned with the English literature taught from the lower grades through college.

"He approaches the study of literature from the standpoint of its contribution to literacy," Harkness said.

Luncheon Series Will Open Today

The first in a series of Student Christian Foundation graduate luncheons begins at noon today.

Sociology Professor Peter Munch will present "A Community in Crisis," a presentation in reference to his continuing study of the Tristen Islanders, a culture that fled their island home to reside in England.

The talk by Munch will reveal their transition from a simple, isolated society to a diffuse, highly-industrialized one.

Lunch will be served and all graduate students interested should make advance registrations by calling the Student Christian Foundation. Luncheon fees will be 75 cents.

Center Has Display Of Student Photos

A display featuring the work of several student photographers is currently in the Magnolia Lounge of the University Center.

The display, cosponsored by Kappa Alpha Mu, honorary photojournalistic fraternity, and the SIU Photographic Society, will conclude Feb. 14.

Persons interested in purchasing the displayed prints should contact the Department of Printing and Photography located in Building T-27.

School Publishes Joint Newsletter

Beginning this quarter, the SIU School of Technology will publish a quarterly newsletter for its faculty members, alumni and others throughout the United States.

Assistant Professor Marvin E. Johnson, who is in charge of the publication, said it will replace a similar newsletter previously published by the Department of Industrial Education. He said faculty members in industrial education, engineering, engineering technology, industrial technology and applied science will contribute information for the newsletter.

The industrial education newsletter, published since 1956, was sponsored jointly by the department, the SIU Industrial Education Club, and Psi Chapter, Iota Lambda Sigma.

Curator to Discuss Art of New Ireland

Phillip H. Lewis will use slides and painted sculptures to illustrate his talk on "The Art of New Ireland" at 8 p.m. Thursday in Morris Library Auditorium.

Lewis is the curator of primitive art at the Chicago Natural History Museum.

During the 1950's Lewis lived in New Ireland, an island northwest of New Guinea, and studied its art in relation to its cultural context.

The departments of anthropology and art are sponsoring his appearance.

Missouri Professor Heads List Of Advertising Week Speakers

The research professor of advertising at the University of Missouri who is also a psychologist and the author of two books will highlight Advertising Recognition Week at SIU.

William Stephenson will discuss "Research in Advertising" in a lecture scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday in Morris Library Auditorium.

The speaker has two doctorates, one in psychology from London University and another in physics from Durham University.

A British citizen until 1956, Stephenson held various governmental advisory posts. Stephenson has held positions in several advertising firms in the United States as director, consultant or supervisor.

Following his lecture, Stephenson will participate in informal discussions at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Library Lounge.

Other events planned for Advertising Recognition Week, which is sponsored by Alpha Delta Sigma, include a talk by Ed Lindsay on "The Contributions and Responsi-ilities of Advertising to the Local Community." Lindsay, the publisher of the Southern Illinoisian, will speak at 7 p.m. Friday.

Students are invited to an informal Alpha Delta Sigma rush scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday. "An Honest Look at Advertising" will be discussed at 2 p.m. Both events will be in the Agriculture Building Seminar Room.

Phil Smith, vice president of the Gardner Advertising Co. of St. Louis, will discuss "Careers in Advertising" at 10 a.m. in the Seminar Room. Coffee and informal discussions with Smith will follow at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Final day of the special week is designated as "Advertising Agency Day." Representatives of the Earle Ludgin Agency of Chicago will present a case study of one of its accounts as a part of the Jobs-in-Journalism series scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Ag Seminar Room.

Informal discussions with the representatives will follow at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Joan Yale, Louisville Senior, Wins Miss Woody Competition

Joan Yale, resident fellow on C-1 of Woody Hall, has been elected Miss Woody after participating in a bathing suit and talent contest. In the talent competition, she delivered a dramatic reading of Ray Bradbury's "The Cistern."

The attractive senior from Louisville, Kentucky, is majoring in English, with a minor in speech. After graduation in June, she wants to work in the television industry or cinematography.

The new Miss Woody is engaged to Dennis Lloyd Immel, an Evansville senior majoring in theater.

Her activities include: working on Plan A for two years; appearing on "Chimney Corner," a WSIU-TV children's program; working on "Literary Review," a WSIU-Radio program; and participating in student productions in the Department of Theater.

Negro Pupils Barred At Alabama School

TUSKEGEE, Ala. -- The mayor of a small Alabama town shouldered aside a federal court order Wednesday and barred six Negro pupils from a white school. A crowd of angry white men watched and cursed as the Negroes arrived.

Mayor James Rea of Notasulga, a town of 1200, was flanked by police as he invoked a new city ordinance empowering him to limit enrollment at Notasulga High to exactly its current figure.

At nearby Shorter, six Negroes entered the only other white public school in Macon County, where Negroes outnumber white persons by about five to one.

A small crowd of angry white men, some carrying walking canes, gathered across the street in front of the Notasulga school, shouted at the Negro pupils when they arrived in a bus, and scuffled with newsmen.

State troopers ringed the school grounds. The Alabama and Confederate flags flew over the school. The U.S. flag was not there.

In Washington, Justice Department officials were studying the Notasulga situation. It seemed likely they would return to federal court for an order including the Notasulga city government among those forbidden to bar the entrance of the Negroes into the school.

Mayor Rea declined to comment on what he would do in such a case.

Rea turned the Negroes back under an ordinance which provides a maximum penalty of $100 fine and 90 days in jail for anyone violating the determined maximum capacity of any public building. The ordinance was dated Jan. 27.

Classes began at the usual time for the white pupils. It was not learned immediately how many attended classes Wednesday.

The two schools were ordered integrated by a federal court order after Tuskegee High School, forced to admit 13 Negroes in September, was shut down by the state school board when all white pupils boycotted it. One of the 13 later withdrew.

Senate Rejects

Excise Tax Repeal

WASHINGTON--The Senate has rejected an effort to repeal present federal excise taxes on jewelry, handbags, cosmetics and furs as part of the pending tax cut bill.

The vote Wednesday was announced as 48-45 with all Republicans voting for the proposed repeal.

It would have added some $450 million or more in revenue losses to the $11.6-billion tax cut measure.

Earlier, the Senate had rejected 71-23 an amendment proposed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., to provide an additional $960 million of tax relief to low-income families by increasing the new minimum standard deduction.

Americans Blame Nkrumah For Anti-U.S. Demonstrations

WASHINGTON -- Administration specialists on Africa said Wednesday they are convinced that anti-American demonstrations in Ghana were organized by the government of President Kwame Nkrumah, and were planned in advance.

It is known that Communist newsmen, including the correspondent of Tass, the Soviet government news agency, were tipped that a "spontaneous" demonstration would occur, and were on the scene well before the mob converged Tuesday on the embassy in Accra.

The Ghanaians had no known reason to demonstrate against the United States, officials said, and the only explanation they can offer is a surmise that Nkrumah has serious internal troubles and decided the United States was the most convenient scapegoat.

The United States immediately protested in strongest terms against the demonstrations.

One unofficial report said demonstrators tore down the U.S. flag outside the embassy but that the assistant attache, in what unofficially was termed an act of courage and bravery, ran it back up.

The attache was identified as Adger E. Player, 31, a Negro from Denver, Colo., who is serving in his first State Department post. He was named to it July 13, 1962.

The demonstrators marched around the embassy and carried placards that read "down with Yankee imperialism" and "Ghana yes, Yankee no."

Union Official Testifies Hoffa Offered Jury Bribe

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.--A Teamsters official testified Wednesday that James R. Hoffa once said "he would pay $15,000 to $20,000 to get to the jury" in the Teamsters president's 1962 conspiracy trial.

Edward Grady Partin, Baton Rouge, La., union official, told of numerous instances in which Hoffa and five other men on trial here discussed attempts to contact the Nashville trial jury. He mentioned a figure -- $15,000-$20,000 -- only once in connection with Hoffa.

This came when a prosecutor asked him about a conversation with Hoffa which he said occurred Oct. 29, 1962-- during the trial.

Hoffa "told me he thought the banker-witness that day had hurt him," Partin said, "and he said he would pay $15,000 to $20,000 to get to the jury."

Partin, testifying over defense objections at the jury-tampering trial, was the first witness to link Hoffa with alleged jury-fixing efforts. The trial is in the middle of its third week.

Accommodation Section Intact As House Acts on Rights Bill

WASHINGTON--The House defeated an attempt Wednesday to narrow the coverage of the public accommodations section of the civil rights bill.

By a 147-116 vote it rejected an amendment by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va.

As proposed in the bill, the ban against racial discrimination would apply to places in which segregation is supported by "custom and usage" community, as well as by actual statutes. Smith sought to eliminate the words "custom and usage."

By leaving them in, he said, Congress would "destroy the policy authority in every city and hamlet of the United States."

Still to come is a fight on a Republican--sponsored amendment that would drastically limit the coverage of the section.

A Small Beginning

Students protesting compulsory ROTC at Southern Illinois University have caused excitement on campus recently.

Their protest efforts have included an all-night vigil Saturday during Military Ball Festivities and picketing on two of the last three consecutive Leadership Laboratory Tuesdays.

As a result of their efforts no one expects to wake up Tuesday to discover there is no more compulsory Leadership Laboratory. Administrative decisions come slowly, and will be delayed until Congress takes action on a current bill to establish a voluntary ROTC program.

The protests of these pickets, however, give added reason for Congress to pass this bill. They also add weight to the plea that the SIU administration move to a voluntary ROTC program here.

As significant as the immediate issue is the fact that some SIU students have shown enough concern to demonstrate for their beliefs—which a sizable portion of the campus also supports, albeit passively.

It is a small beginning, perhaps, but if it signals the birth of a politically alert student body at SIU, a good one.

Nick Pasqual

Guest Editorial

What's the Complaint About?

In editorials Saturday and Tuesday we expressed our belief that ROTC at Southern should be on a voluntary rather than a compulsory basis. Journalism student Jay Soldner presents an opposing view in this guest editorial. NP

Students at SIU have created a storm over ROTC which may come closer to actual combat than they'll ever experience.

The real basis for argument against compulsory ROTC is truly insignificant when compared to its many benefits. We would be surprised if we took time to think about these advantages.

First, the charge is weak that we are victims of a program which is non-existent at other Illinois schools. This attack could just as easily be turned around. What's wrong with feeling unfortunate in being among the few to benefit from this training?

The ROTC program is the easiest means by which a man can ever become an officer. It is faster than any other officer program, while it is less trying to both body and mind because most of the training is completed while going to school.

This training that some charge is unnecessary to those of us who inevitably go through basic training, when we discover that "Things weren't so bad, after all."

Another favorable aspect of compulsory ROTC is that it promotes eventual interest in the advanced stage, interest not otherwise possible. In effect, this familiarization brings about a corresponding increase in the number and quality of potential officers.

The complaint against compulsory ROTC is basically one of being forced to do

What You Can Do for Your Country

Maybe if Mr. Moore and the students who are backing his drive against compulsory ROTC would look back and think about two events, one that took place in January, 1961, and the other on Nov. 22, they might realize how un-American their little escapade really is.

In January, 1961, in his Inaugural address President Kennedy told the country--Mr. Moore's country -- that as Americans we should not ask what our country can do for us, but rather what we can do for our country. Well, so far our country has allowed these picketers to avoid the draft and has given SIU grants so that they can afford to go to college. This is all well and good--but what are Moore and his friends doing for their country? Nothing! On Nov. 22 Kennedy gave his life, his all, for our country; it is too bad that these anti-ROTC people cannot learn a lesson in patriotism from this.

I am sure that one or two days a week given to the ROTC program is not going to hurt anyone, or keep anyone from passing all his other courses. Maybe Mr. Moore is right, but maybe it would be all right to forget about the law deferring college students, too!

We may not realize it now, but this military experience soon may help us more than we can imagine.

Jay R. Soldner

Again I quote Mr. Kennedy, "...ask not what your country can do for you, rather ask what you can do for your country."

Letter to the Editor

Motives of Peace Union

Is ROTC Issue Defended

Members of the Committee to Abolish Compulsory ROTC are aware of the fact that a small minority of SIU students are in favor of a compulsory ROTC program. It was, however, a revelation to most of us that at least one student, Gene E. Nelson, has started a smear campaign (Letter, "Reflections on More Moore," Ka, Jan. 31) against us.

In his letter Mr. Nelson stated that, "it seems that the bulk of the support is coming from SPU." He also asked the question "Is the CACR really representing the majority of the students?... or has it fallen into the hands of a group which would like to see the military discredited in any form?"

CACR now has more than 40 members, four of them members of the Student Peace Union. CACR has collected more than 2,000 names on petitions calling for the abolition of compulsory ROTC. On the SIU campus there are 20 SPU members. It hardly seems possible that "the majority of the support for CACR is coming from SPU."

The four members of CACR who are also SPU members are working for the abolishment of compulsory ROTC and for that reason alone. Mr. Nelson's suggestion that the Student Peace Union is working within CACR as part:

Next to a red-headed woman or, a rampage, a hurricane is the out-doingest thing. --Rolling Fork (Miss.) Deer Creek Pilot

In a great many cases a man's past takes a short cut and heads off his future. --Sparta (Ill.) News-Plaindealer of its effort to discredit the military is wholly irresponsible.

I would suggest to Mr. Nelson that if he is in favor of a compulsory program that he start a movement to keep it here at SIU. If he does I hope he somehow will find it possible to stick to the issues and not resort to a smear campaign.

Ed Clark President Student Peace Union

Since Mr. Clark wrote his letter SPU members have resigned from the committee. NP

Salukis' Silent Fans Perplex Sports Writer

By Alan Goldfarb

We don't want you to think that the purpose of this article is to lambast SIU's Athletic Department or SIU athletics in general.

Some of the opinions expressed will knock some SIU athletics -- but with justification. But some of the opinions expressed will also sing the praises of the program too.

Because I am a student at Southern, I am gung ho for SIU and would like nothing better than to see a championship team in every sport. However, I am sometimes disillusioned and sometimes embarrassed for SIU, to sit back at virtually every sports event and "listen to the pins drop."

Let me clarify what I mean by the above quotation if you haven't already caught on-- which I'm sure most of you have because you're always talking about how quiet it is in the Gym, but alas, never do anything about it.

It's so quiet at those basketball and football games "you can hear a pin drop," save for the sparse high school cheers of some of our prettiest coeds. Now don't get me wrong, I'm not entirely blaming Mary Dills and her lovelies, for they try hard -- but in vain, to try and stir up some spirit in the fans.

Murray State is Foe

Frosh Seek to Square Loss In Home Game Friday

The SIU freshman basketball team will be out for revenge Friday night in a home game with the Thoroughbreds from Murray State.

The Salukis dropped a heartbreaker to Murray earlier this season on the Thoroughbreds' home court, 90-88 in overtime.

The frosh will be handicapped because of the loss of Dave Renn for the rest of the season. The former Belleville prep star dropped out of school for the rest of the term Tuesday after doctors confirmed that he had mononucleosis.

Renn, who was the third leading scorer for the freshmen, was sidelined Friday night by a pre-game diagnosis of the disease. Coach George Tubelt said Renn had lost 23 pounds since reporting for the season and had grown progressively weaker.

The frosh, who are averaging better than 85 points per game, will carry a solid 7-2 record into Friday's contest.

Walt Frazier is far and away

I myself can't cheer; we sports writers are supposed to be non-partisan, but you can bet your life that I'm screaming inside. Sometimes I just want to blare out as loud as I could, "Let's go Salukis!"

Naturally I rationalize all the time and say that they're (SIU students) are a sophisticated group of individuals who think that it would be gauche to yell at the top of their lungs.

Well, hogwash, why do we go to these games? To sit back and eat popcorn or drink booze? Or talk to the pretty little trick next to you? There's the movies for eating popcorn and there's more than enough pubs and if you want to talk shop with your date -- well we won't go into that, we'll just leave that up to you.

There's nothing wrong with giving out with a good hearty rah-rah once in a while. It's good for you, in fact. Ask any Freudian -- it's supposed to relieve some of your frustrations. Besides, it helps those guys out there on the court and on the field. That's what we really want to do, don't we?

I know you can do it. I heard you at the Oklahoma State wrestling match recently. That was the greatest display of school spirit I've seen down here in four years.

RUSTY MITCHELL

Rusty Mitchell Back In Lineup

All-around ace Rusty Mitchell is expected to be back in SIU's lineup this weekend when the Saluki gymnasts bid for their 22nd and 23rd consecutive dual meet victories against Ball State at Muncie, Ind., Friday night and Ohio State at Columbus Saturday afternoon.

The Salukis, idle from intercollegiate action last weekend, were without the services of Mitchell when they posted their most recent victory over Mankato State. The Wolf twins, Bill and Dennis, of Pico Rivera, Calif., picked up the slack, however, and led SIU to a 64 1/2-46 1/2 win over its previously undefeated opponent.

Gymnasts Seek 22nd Victory In Ball State Match Friday

After being idle from intercollegiate competition for two weeks, Southern's undefeated gymnasts should have no trouble extending their win streak to 22 when they face Ball State at Muncie, Ind., tomorrow night.

The last time the Salukis saw action was on Jan. 24 against Mankato State. However, Coach Bill Meade had his squad down in Memphis, Tenn., last weekend for an exhibition and clinic.

Rusty Mitchell, Southern's outstanding performer, hasn't seen any action since Jan. 18 but will be back in the Saluki lineup against the Cardinals.

The Redbirds don't figure to have a tough team because it is a rebuilding year for Coach Bob Weiss. Only five lettermen are back from last year's squad which was blasted by the Salukis, 88-24.

Top returnee is senior Jack Sherrick who was the Card's second leading scorer last year with 88 1/2 points. Sherrick is working the free exercise, parallel bars and tumbling events.

The Cardinals, who took it on the chin from the same Chicago Illini team that got thumped by SIU earlier in the season, sorely miss Chuck Riggie who was lost via graduation. Riggie accumulated 263 1/2 points last year in winning 28 individual first places.

The Cards' other top returnees are Jim Glor, Bob Miller, Fred Welge and Tom Berry. Glor totaled 67 1/2 points on the Cards' 4-9 team of a year ago.

The Salukis have met the Cardinals 10 times with the Salukis winning six meets.

Evansville Trip Buses Changed

A change in the bus schedule for the Evansville basketball game has been announced.

John Boehner, Spirit Council chairman, said the buses will leave from the University Center at 4 p.m. Saturday, instead of 5 p.m. as previously announced.

CHUCKWAGON—Chuck Percy, Republican candidate for Governor of Illinois, urges SIU students to jump aboard the "Chuck wagon" Tuesday in the University Center.

GOP Rivals for Governorship Label Economy as Chief Issue

Illinois' economic growth will be the chief issue in the 1964 race for the governorship, SIU students were told Tuesday by Charles Percy, a candidate for the Republican nomination. Rival William Scott, the present state treasurer, also told the gathering in the Ballroom Lounge at the University Center that the state's fiscal integrity is his main concern.

Percy spoke briefly and answered a few questions before Scott arrived. After Scott's remarks both candidates chatted informally with students.

Both hope to win the Illinois Republican primary April 14 and earn the right to challenge Democratic incumbent Governor Otto Kerner. Percy's speech was slanted largely to Southern Illinois economic conditions.

Farming Careers Will Be Outlined

The herbicide and weed control adviser to the Illinois State Board of Agriculture will describe "Job Opportunities in Agriculture" Thursday.

Juet Hogancamp will speak to members of the Plant Industries Club and interested students in Room 171 of the Agriculture Building at 7 p.m.

"If Illinois fails to grow economically, there's no use talking about such things as education, conservation or highways," he said. "We won't have the money for it."

Faster economic growth would enable the state to cut its public aid bill and use the money elsewhere, perhaps for education, he explained. More money for highways would attract factories because of improved transportation.

"Fiscal reform is not a basic, inherent issue if we can grow economically," he said. "It would be well to work toward it, but it's not the single, crucial issue."

Scott's speech contrasted rising state budgets and payrolls with economies he said he had effected as treasurer. He cited a 30 per cent payroll reduction and an 11 per cent cut in the operating budget of the State Treasurer's office.

"One of the problems we have is preserving the fiscal integrity of the states," he said. "It's essential that we conduct the operations of the state economically. One way is to slash political payrolls."

Both candidates for the GOP gubernatorial nomination expressed concern over what Scott termed "the hoodlum link between crime and politics."
