Subsidization Methods Revealed By Athletes

By Harry Thiel, Egyptian Staff Writer

Giving aid to athletes, but within bounds prescribed by the NCAA, is common practice in the Big 10, the Southeastern Conference and the College Conference of Illinois.

So far three former recipients of such help: Bob Franz, assistant wrestling coach and football line coach, a graduate of Tulane University; James Wilkinson, wrestling coach, and Indiana graduate; and Steve Zebos, senior basketball player who transferred here from Illinois Wesleyan.

Said Franz, who played football at Tulane:

"My Scholarship was a Grant and Aid scholarship. It included tuition — worth about $800 a year — books, laundry service, medical fees and a $150 a month expense money.

"This scholarship was approved by the Southeastern Conference, of which Tulane is a member. The NCAA hadn't been created by that time.

"Athletes lived in an athletic dormitory where a supervised training table was available for all boys on athletic scholarships.

"Everyone had to maintain a 'C' average to remain eligible to play. If a player didn't maintain a 'C' average, he was automatically ineligible. Tuition was furnished to help with subjects like English, mathematics and physics."

Wilkinson: "The athletic scholarships at Indiana covered tuition, books, laundry service and health expense."

"A job was found for the scholarship holder that took care of room and board expense. Most boys had jobs in the Athletic Department under the supervision of an athletic supervisor. We repaired bleachers, swept gym floors, cleaned the shower room and did other jobs around the physical plant.

"Expense money was given athletic squads away from home. Each football player was given two tickets for his parents for each game. For extra expense money, the players would sometimes sell the tickets.

"An attractive feature of the Indiana scholarship is the 'fifth-year' scholarship. Football players especially were too busy to maintain a full academic schedule during the season, and this scholarship covered a fifth year in school which would enable the athlete to obtain his degree."

Zebos: "I was given a scholarship which included tuition, room and board expense, books, laundry service and health expense."

"During the school year, jobs were provided by the athletic department — giving out towels at the swimming pool, sweeping the field house and ushering at variety games in other sports.

"An athlete had to maintain a 'C' average and this was a conference ruling. And there was no distinction made between an athlete and another student.

"The athletic scholarship is good for the first four years at Wesleyan even if an athlete is incapacitated after his first year of competition and can't play again.

"In my sophomore year, a carilage in my knee was operated on at the Mayo Clinic and a specialist from Chicago was my doctor.

"The bill totaled something like $6000 and I couldn't play the entire season, but the scholarship remained in full effect."

On what Southern might do in the future, Zebos said:

"To entice athletes from various area high schools, one desirable thing would be establishing a dormitory for athletes, where a supervised year-round training table would be provided.

"If all varsity athletes on campus couldn't be fed at this table, the table could be open only for football and cross-country men in the fall; basketball, wrestling and swimming men in the winter, and baseball, track, golf and tennis men in the spring."

Board Of Trustees Passes Vending Machine Issue

By Sue Alice Martin, Egyptian Staff Writer

Campus vending machine income will go into a fund for a new Student Union, the SIU Board of Trustees voted Friday. A proposal for this action had come from the Student Council despite protests of several organizations that depend on vending machine receipts for income.

All net profits will go into the fund except receipts from machines at Vocational Institute and the University School which will help finance Student Union functions at those places.

The Vending Machine Service is to be a student enterprise, supervised by the Office of the Director of Auxiliary and Service Enterprises.

Other action of the trustees included the naming of Ralph O. Gallington, a professor at Pennsylvania State University, as chairman of the industrial education department. Robert F. Smith has been acting chairman since the death of W. C. Bicknell last spring.

Dr. Gallington, who has been at Penn State since 1948, will assume his duties at Southern June 20. He received his bachelor's degree from Indiana State Teacher's College, a master's from Columbia University and a Doctor of Education degree from George Washington University.

Russell D. Merrick, assistant dean of the College of Education, was named acting chairman of the health education department to replace Ralph Bowman, who has resigned. Willard Gerschberg, chairman of the department of zoology, was reassigned to full-time teaching and research duties.

The board also added two new faculty members — William L. Crane, lecturer in chemistry, who will fill in for Dr. J. W. Neckers who is on leave, and Mrs. Nina M. Morton, temporary research associate in the Central Library. Mrs. Morton fills the vacancy left by Stephen Ford who recently resigned.

The afternoon session was devoted to discussion on SIU student housing. No definite action was taken and it was decided to investigate the matter further.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 17. On Feb. 18 a special meeting will be called to have a hearing with SIU Juniors.

Enrollment Drops To 4,274 For Winter Term

Enrollment for the winter term at Southern Illinois University has dropped to 4,274, according to figures released today by the Registrar's Office.

The drop is the result of a combination of factors, including the departure of students for the winter holidays and the completion of the semester by many students.

The Registrar's Office reported that the enrollment for the fall term was 4,500, and for the spring term is expected to be 4,300.

1,525 students. Liberal Arts and Sciences, 914; Vocations and Professions, 774. Among the Divisions, Rural Studies with 150 students, with 69 and Fine Arts with 60. The Vocational-Technical Institute now has 392 students enrolled.

Men on campus outnumber women by more than two to one. For winter term, 2,902 are enrolled, while only 1,372 women were registered. The ratio is even more unequal now that during fall term, McGrath said, for 123 women and only 50 men have left school.

Foreign students on campus — 32 in all — have come from 18 different countries. Jordan is represented by the largest delegation — nine students. Four come from 10 from each from Chile, Korea and Puerto Rico. Countries represented by one student each are Germany, Argentina, China, France, Germany, Iraq, Lebanon, Mexico, Scotland, Syria, Switzerland, Israel and Jamaica.

Students from states other than Illinois number 141. Neighboring states Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky respectively have 96, 17 and six students at Southern. Four come from New York, eight from Massachusetts, three from Ohio and two each from Iowa and Michigan. Represented by one student each are California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, New Hampshire,

North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, West Virginia and Washington, D. C.

Within Illinois, 18 counties have 50 or more students enrolled. The largest enrollment is from Jackson County, which has 616 students at SIU, Williamson, with 430, is followed by Franklin, 387; Madison and St. Clair, 257 each; Saline, 199; Union, 153; Jefferson, 145; Cook, 129; Perry, 128; Marion, 105, and Randolph, 103.

Counties with more than 50 but fewer than 100 students on campus are Alexander, Hamilton, Macoupin, Washington, Wayne and White.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Biber

Our Opinions

Winter Dog Days

The student "write-to-your-legislator" campaign started last week has been a miserable flop so far.

The usual lethargy of the inauguration, and it appears that Dr. Morris' two speeches to the student body have failed to motivate very many who should be concerned about the future of the university and what they can do about it.

There were rumors about last week that members of the State Legislature were highly interested in our budget request and where they could CUT it. This kind of talk is anything but encouraging.

Although it is a well-known fact that any budget asked of the legislature is usually cut to some extent, perhaps the amount of mail received from the SIU students will influence the legislators in determining how well SIU is doing its job.

There is plenty of paper and space in the Student Union to write a few lines to your legislators. Make use of it.

Mysterious Disappearances

The recent theft of a bronze candlestick holder concerns just one of several valuable articles which have "mysteriously disappeared" from the Allyn Art building this year.

Although petty thievery is existent in buildings which are open to the public, the condition has become serious, according to Earnest Shroyck, head of the Division of Fine Arts.

Since the Allyn building is devoted in a large part to the art department, it must be open during many hours of the day in order to enable art students to do work on projects which take a long period of time.

Thefts such as have occurred in the Allyn building may result in the unfair penalization of art students having to do all their work during daylight hours.

Placement Service Says

Ben A. Shuppert, 1954 SIU graduate, has accepted a position as production engineer with McDonnell Aircraft Corporation, St. Louis, according to the Placement Service.

An industrial education major in Vocations and Professions, Shuppert now works in McDonnell's physical testing laboratories.

5-State Field Trip On Calendar For Geology Club

The Geology Club will take a field trip through Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Arkansas during spring vacation.

Trip highlights will include a visit to an offshore oil well and a tour through a micropaleontologic laboratory, where the analysis of rocks is carried on.

Mississippi Southern College has offered to conduct the club on a tour of the state's geologic interest points.

Formal Installation Of Sigma Pi Saturday

Eight national Sigma Pi officers, including the Grand Sage and Executive Secretary, will be on campus Friday and Saturday to assist in the formal installation of the local Sigma Pi colony as full chapter, Beta Nu, of the national fraternity.

Representatives from Sigma Pi chapters at the U. of L., Holla and Eastern are expected to attend the installation Saturday night at Giant City.

Howe Directs Retarded Children

Buck Rogers Stuff For Real, Says Expert

By Dan Halloran
Egyptian Staff Writer

Willy Ley, German-born rocket expert on campus Thursday to outline prospects for space travel before the freshmen assembly, hasn't stars in his eyes, but he does have some rather radical ideas about moons.

Speaking informally with ROTC and physics department faculty members after the lecture, Ley said that a man-made satellite could circle the earth within ten years if it were possible to convince the government its expense would be justified.

However, he chuckled at the idea that such a platform could provide a base from which to launch atomic weapons toward earth targets.

"It would be a mistake in logistics to use a satellite for anything except missile guidance," he said.

Cast Picked For 'Ernest' Winter Play

The cast for "The Importance of Being Earnest", a play by Oscar Wilde to be presented in the Southern Playhouse Feb. 23-26, is: Jack Stevens as John Worthing; Jerry Miriam as Algernon Moncreiff; Dick Hunsaker — Rev. # Students Victors In Basketball Burlesque

After a long, tough battle the ISA's Young Butts nosed out the SIU Gray Beards in Friday night's annual Student-Faculty basketball game.

Featured along with the fast-breaking instructors and pace-killing students was watergirl Betty Greenleaf, clad in black bloomers and dashing intermits into the scrimmage lugging buckets of water.

The Gray Beards earned hits from the audience by continually washing off the ball — an attempt to keep the game clean they said. Their strategy was carried out with the aid of a rule book which they consulted at every possible opportunity.

The fast-breaker's tactics paid off temporarily by making the score 40-40 with ten minutes to play. Then they tried to add depth

SIU Instructors Bring Education To Area Persons

Courses are now available to Southern Illinoisans who have a full daytime schedule but wish to augment their education without leaving their hometown areas.

SIU instructors now travel more than 100,000 miles in a 125-mile radius of Carbondale each year to meet off-campus classes, according to Dean of the Division of Extension Raymond H. DeY.

Forty-two credit courses will be offered in the second semester. Classes will be open in 36 areas with registration at the first class meeting, beginning Wednesday.

Each 16-week course, both graduate and undergraduate, offer four credit hours and meet on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

Most of the courses are in teacher education and are designed to benefit students majoring in educational administration, supervision, elementary education, clinical psychology or guidance and counseling. However, high school teachers majoring in any fields with minors in education may profit by these courses says DeY.

Salukis Move Up To First In IAC

Hurons Fall First To Revived Salukis, 80-57

By Jack Thatcher
Egyptian Sports Editor

Playing one of their better games finally to find the victory again, the Salukis downed the Michigan Newman Hurons, 80-57, Thursday night on the home floor.

The Hurons were obviously out-gunned and a cold second half spell defeated them in the rough and tumble affair.

In a surprise move, Joe Johnson, junior guard, started for the Salukis in place of Capt. G. H. Kurtz. Kurtz entered the game 13 minutes later to replace Larry Whitlock at forward. This put the rebounding abilities of Kurtz into a better position while Johnson turned in a fine defensive job along with his ball handling.

The tricky maneuvers of Normal's driving guard, Kirksey, and the hookshots of Shepard combined for most of the Huron's points. The pair got 14 and 18 respectively.

Kurtz was high with 21 for the Salukis.

The clubs kept even until Southern jumped to a quick 9-point lead at the 9 point mark. The Mt. Pleasant, Mich., boys fought the uphill grind to go ahead at 14 minutes, 26-24. This was to be the last time they would lead, as Jack Morgan and Kurtz carried the lead in building a 45-34 halftime margin.

In the second half the Salukis took up where they had left off, increasing their lead to 20 points while the Hurons had difficulty finding the basket. For a cold 18 minutes the Hurons fired away, only to be outscored on field

Swimmers Bow To Redbirds

The SIU swim team was no match for Illinois Normal in the first swimming meet in SIU history, losing, 58-26 Friday afternoon.

Don Olson of Normal took individual honors for the day as he won the 150 yd. individual medley, 200 yd. backstroke and 200 yd. breaststroke events.

The only bright spots on the Southern side of the ledger were the performances turned in by Capt. Roger Council and Bob Montgomery. Council took top honors in the diving events, while Montgomery barely missed out in the 440 yd. freestyle event.

Because it was the first meet held in the school's history, each winning time is a new school record.

Dick Blythe, Southern guard, and an unidentified Central Michigan player fight for control of the ball in Saturday night's contest which the Salukis won, 88-72.

Doss Leads Salukis To 88-72 Win Over Central

By Jack Barban

The Salukis, resembling their pre-season predictions, won their second consecutive game by defeating Central Michigan, 88-72, Saturday on Southern's court.

Big Gus Doss, playing his best game of the season, led the Southern attack with 22 points, while All Conference football player Kackmeister scored 27 for the losers.

Central Michigan scored first, but after that Southern took over, playing good defensive ball and finally breaking away midway in the first half for a ten point lead. Southern's Morgan was the pace setter getting 12 points until he was removed from the game with six minutes remaining in the half. The first half ended with Southern ahead 55-45.

The second half started with Central applying pressure and their center Ellis rousing out of the game. In the first two minutes Central scored six points while Southern went scoreless.

Holding a four point lead, Southern tightened and began to score with quick baskets by Doss and Whitlock. The Salukis again began to pull away, this time for good. The remainder of the game saw Doss scoring 14 more points and Southern winning easily.

Southern's guard, Joe Johnson, in the final minutes of the game put on a stall act which pleased the crowd.

The win gave Southern a 3-1 record in the IAC and a four way tie for first place.

Matter of fact, college smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest and greatest of all college surveys. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother.
