Tuition hike would hurt students with big loans

By Christine Leninger
Administration Writer

University student Larry Allsup is stuck in a catch-22—he has no job and he must get an education.

The junior in social work from Carterville lost his bus driving job because of a problem with his vision and had to go back to school.

Allsup is funding his studies at SIUC with student loans because he has no income.

"Paying for school is hard enough as it is without the increase, but I can't drop out of school because I don't have the education to get a job to pay back the loans," he said.

Allsup said he would be devastated financially by a tuition increase.

Financial Aid Director Pamela

Britton said students who do not receive financial aid may have to seek higher loan amounts, but this may present a problem.

"Most students already are getting the highest amount available in loans, so a tuition increase could mean they will have to look toward other forms of income such as a second job, private loans, or further burdening family," Britton said.

The last significant tuition increase was after spring 1991 when undergraduate and graduate tuition rose from $780 to $819 for full-time.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended a statewide tuition increase of 4 percent. This would raise the current tuition price by $66 a semester.

But Albert Melone, chairman of the budget advisory committee, said a 20-percent increase in tuition is what the University needs. This would add more than $300 to a student's bursar bill.

With a 7.47-percent increase students would pay an additional $122.40 each semester. With a 10.01-percent increase students would pay $164 additional each semester.

Even if students receive financial aid, their financial aid package may not cover the increased cost of tuition, Britton said.

"Whether the Student Monetary Award Program would cover increased tuition or not would depend on if legislation appropriates more money," she said.

A tuition increase may allow a

Proposed tuition rates for FY 1993

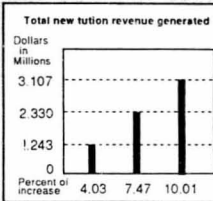

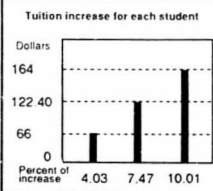

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended a 4-percent tuition increase for universities statewide to combat rising costs and depleting funds.

SIUC officials have not indicated tuition will increase. A proposal by a budget advisory board to President John C. Guyon, however, calls for a 6-percent tuition increase or an increase of an undetermined amount as two options to deal with the fiscal crisis. Guyon is expected to present his proposal to the Board of Trustees in March.

With the ISHE tuition increase proposal, students would pay $66 more dollars a semester for tuition. The University would bring in about $1.243 million in revenue with this size of an increase.

With a 10-percent tuition increase for all students, the University could bring in about $3.107 million in total new revenue generated.

IDOT presents two proposals for construction on U.S. 51

By Todd Welvaert
Politics Writer

The Illinois Department of Transportation received mixed views from residents living in or along two construction proposals on U.S. Route 51 Wednesday night.

The two proposals are designed to make the route safer for motorists, but both proposals are under fire by residents who will be up-rooted by the construction.

Both the eastern route and the western route would tentatively displace 4 to 6 residents each.

The eastern option, which would cost $5.3 million, involves constructing a route that would require widening about two-thirds of the highway from Grand Avenue, south to Heritage Hills subdivision and the building of a new route east of U.S. 51 that would rejoin it at a three-way intersection south of Unity Point School.

The meeting was the first of two slated to allow residents to ask questions and voice concerns over the proposals.

The western option, which would cost $6.6 million, involves building a length of highway starting just south of Pleasant Hill/Reservoir Road and running southwest and south until it rejoins U.S. 51.

The alternative would allow vehicles access to SIUC campus without turning on to Reservoir Road, but would cut through wetlands behind the Carbondale City reservoir. The western alternative, however, would dispose of a dangerous s-curve in the existing route.

"It's considered a high accident section," said IDOT project manager Greg Smothers. "That's one of the big reasons we would

Bush to ask for more aid to republics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Bush told an international conference Wednesday he will ask Congress to approve $645 million in new aid to the former Soviet Union, a figure that would boost American help to more than $5 billion.

Opening the two-day conference on coordinating assistance to the Commonwealth of Independent States, Bush termed it a "global challenge" to provide humanitarian assistance and help the forces of Democracy in the new republics.

Michael Parker is caught in the cross-fire of two SIUC student body presidents.

Parker is the SIUC representative to the Illinois Student Association, a non-profit organization SIUC joined in spring 1990. ISA stands as the students' voice in Springfield.

Each University student pays a refundable $1 fee toward membership.

Last summer the presidents of the Undergraduate Student Government and Graduate and Professional Student Council jointly appointed Parker as SIUC's director to the ISA

Board of Directors.

Parker, also chairman of the ISA Board of Directors, said he gave both student bodies excellent representation.

McEnroe's run ends in Aussie Open

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — After battling the odds and beating two seeded players, John McEnroe fell victim to an upset himself, his improbable dream of another Grand Slam title brushed aside by Wayne Ferreira.

Ferreira, an unseeded South African who is ranked 46th in the world, disappointed a sellout crowd at Flinders Park Wednesday night when he used a single service break in each set to dispose of McEnroe 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 and earn a berth in the semifinals of the $4.7 million Australian Open.

"I kept telling myself hang in there, but never got over the hump to break him," said McEnroe, who at 32 is 12 years older than Ferreira. "I couldn't kick it up to another gear."

In another upset, Dutchman Richard Krajicek delivered 22 aces to eliminate No. 4 Michael Stich of Germany 5-7, 7-6 (7-2), 6-7 (1-7), 6-4, 6-4 in a 3-hour, 36-minute thriller. Krajicek is ranked 45th in the world.

Joining the two unseeded players in Friday's semifinals are the top two seeds, Stefan Edberg and Jim Courier.

Edberg edged No. 5 Ivan Lendl 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, 6-7 (5-7), 6-1, and Courier continued his impressive run by routing unseeded Amos Mansdorf of Israel 3-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Courier, with a No. 2 world ranking, now meets Krajicek, and is in position to claim the No. 1 spot by winning the tournament if Edberg loses his semifinal against Ferreira.

In the women's semifinals Thursday, No. 1 Monica Seles meets No. 4 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario, and No. 3 Gabriela Sabatini plays No. 7 Mary Joe Fernandez.

In his previous two matches, McEnroe had beaten defending champion Boris Becker and Emilio Sanchez, but apparently had little lift against a man he was supposed to beat.

The decision was rendered in 2 hours, 8 minutes.

Ferreira, enjoying the biggest victory of his career, stunned McEnroe with 15 aces, including seven to clinch games, in a match played under the closed roof.

"I started out really strong. I didn't get nervous, and I managed to keep it going," said Ferreira, who had watched all McEnroe's earlier matches as a fan.

Ferreira conceded two break points in his opening service game, but McEnroe was

Senior jumper sets individual goal of competing at NCAA Nationals

By James T. Rendulich
Sports Writer

Senior Michele Williams is one member of the women's track team who has her aims set high for the 1992 season.

For three years the NCAA Nationals have eluded Williams, but this year she said she hopes it will be different.

"I have been putting in a great deal of work recently and I think that I can qualify for the nationals this year," Williams said.

In the first meet of the year at Normal, Williams got off to a good start by leaping 19-2 in the long jump, which gave her first place honors in the event.

In addition, the score gave her the No. 2 place in the event in SIUC's record book. Williams held the previous No. 2 spot with a jump of 18-11 1/2, which she scored last year.

At the Normal meet, Williams took over the No. 3 spot in the SIUC record book in the triple jump, as she scored a 37-9.

Despite the record, Williams doesn't feel confident in the triple jump.

"Physically, my body is just not suited for the triple jump and I would prefer not to compete in it," Williams said. "But, I will compete in the event when the team needs me to."

Student coach Leonard Vance, who coaches the team's jumpers and spends a great deal of time working with Williams, said she wasn't an easy person to work with in the beginning.

"At first I didn't want to work with her because she seemed to have an attitude. But since then, we have come to an understanding that she will let me coach her and now there isn't anyone I would rather coach," Vance said. "Anything I will schedule for her to do she will do."

This is Vance's first year coaching Williams, but he used to jump for SIUC, and he has been around her since her freshman year and always has admired her talent.

"Michele has always been an athlete who has had a lot of raw ability and during her time here she has really become an outstanding athlete," Vance said. "If she continues to work hard I think she has a legitimate shot at making it to nationals."

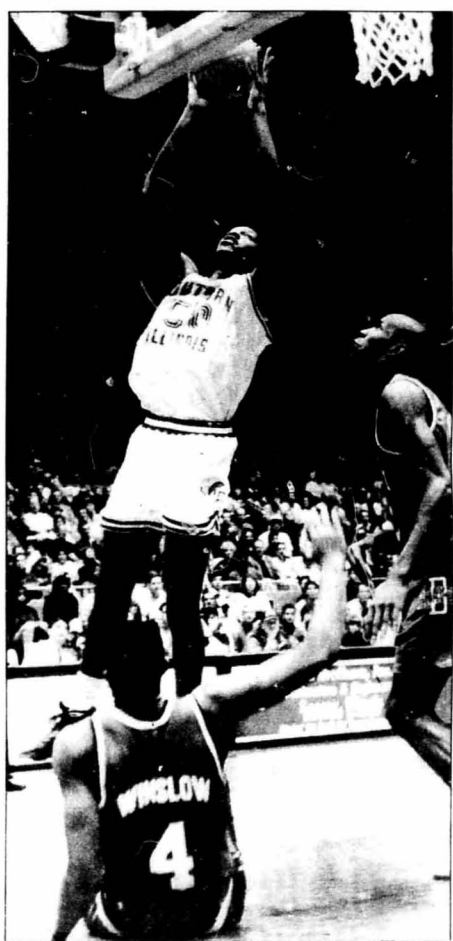

Senior Jamie Dashner also has known Williams since her freshman year and believes she has national caliber ability. But she is more of an individual player, which may hinder the team, Dashner said.

"Michele is not a team player and can be stubborn at times," Dashner said. "Like if someone tells her to take a step back (on one of her jumps) she won't do it. But that stubbornness is what makes her so good. She knows what is best for her."

Williams agrees that she is concerned with her own performance because of the nature of her events.

"Unlike some of the athletes, if the team does well and I don't I won't earn a trip to the championships or

THE BASKETBALL Salukis stand alone atop the Missouri Valley Conference standings and statistical charts.

SIUC leads the MVC at 6-0 (13-2 overall). The Dawgs lead the Valley in eight statistical categories including scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage.

Head coach Rich Herrin said rebounding has been the Salukis' bread and butter. The Salukis have been outrebounding just three times this season, twice resulting in a loss. But the Dawgs have proved their dominance under the boards averaging 42.1 rebounds a game. "Our rebounding and defense has given us a chance to get into the transition game and that's been good to us," Herrin said.

Toughest road trip ahead for women

By Norma Wilke
Sports Writer

The SIUC women's basketball team will embark on its most crucial road trip of the season. If the Salukis win the two games, the Gateway title could be in their hands, coach Cindy Scott said.

Four teams in the Gateway—Southwest Missouri State, Illinois State, Indiana State and SIUC—currently have one loss. SIUC is 4-1, and the other three teams are 5-1. The Salukis, who are 9-4 overall, take on Illinois State tonight and Indiana State Saturday.

SIUC has won four of its last five matchups with Illinois State. The Salukis lost to both teams late last season on the road, but SIUC is currently on a three-game winning streak in Gateway play. Both opponents also are on a rampage winning six of their last eight outings.

Scott said the weekend will be a measure of the Salukis' strength.

"The two games are crucial to our season," Scott said. "Illinois State has been up and down. They don't have large numbers, but they're good on the perimeter. Their Arena is a tough place to win at. We have lost the last two years at Indiana State."

The Redbirds, who are 8-7 overall, recently topped 20th-ranked SMSU 79-73 in Normal. The loss was SMSU's only loss in its last 14 games. The Bears are 13-2. SIUC's only loss in the Gateway was 90-63 to SMSU Jan. 4.

Illinois State coach Jill Hutchison said the game against SIUC should go down to the wire.

"Southern and ISU have traditionally been very competitive against each other," Hutchison said. "SIUC has a lot of good athletes right now. Before you could key in on Amy Rakers, but SIUC is playing much more team ball. We also have historically struggled against SIUC's defense. That could have some factor with the outcome."

Scott said to beat Illinois State the Salukis will have to stop the Redbirds' equally tough transition game, play great on defense and shoot well.

The Sycamores, the Gateway's No. 6 preseason pick, are currently 8-5 overall. SIUC will face tough play from Indiana State's Angie Eichhorst, the Gateway's Player of the Week, who leads the Gateway in scoring.

Game time for Illinois State is at 7:30 tonight, and it will be broadcast on 103.5 WUEZ-FM.

Super QBs took awhile to grow up

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Two of the men who helped develop this year's Super Bowl quarterbacks agreed Wednesday that to reach the highest level of pro football, a quarterback needs time.

Buffalo's Jim Kelly and Washington's Mark Rypien have put in that time and one of them will win his first Super Bowl Sunday.

"Jim Kelly used to just hear things," Bills Coach Marv Levy said Wednesday. "Now he hears them and understands them."

"A quarterback has to learn how to take hold of a job and keep it," Redskins Coach Joe Gibbs said a few minutes later. "Mark Rypien has learned how to do that."

As always at the Super Bowl, quarterbacks receive the most attention leading to Sunday's kickoff. Wednesday was no exception.

USG president lists achievements in first State of the Student speech

By Casey Hampton
General Assignment Writer

In his first State of the Student address, Undergraduate Student Government President Jack Sullivan bombarded senators with many accomplishments and goals.

But the debate of problems concerning funding to the Illinois Student Association, of which each student pays a $1-membership fee toward, controlled the floor.

Sullivan said he felt this was the least important issue facing USG, but consumed most of the time because of disputes among the senators.

"I'm not telling you not to send our funds to ISA," he said. "But I will say that our first and foremost priority is to the undergraduates of this campus—not ISA."

Although USG senators spoke out on both sides of the issue, the general consensus leaned toward sending the collected funds.

"We passed the motion to send the money last semester and have utilized (ISA's) services for a semester," Brush Towers Senator Penny Felton said. "It is our obligation to send the money."

Sullivan said after listening to the debate he saw no glaring opposition to sending the money. But the organization will be scrutinized further and placed on a referendum in the USG spring elections, he said.

Sullivan also announced the primary goals of his administration—teacher evaluations and mass voter registration—in the address to the Senate.

Sullivan said USG would organize an effort to register 2,000 to 3,000 students to vote in the November general elections.

"Students can make a massive difference in the election results of local state representatives and senators," he said.

"We can do just that if we look ahead and get organized," Sullivan said.

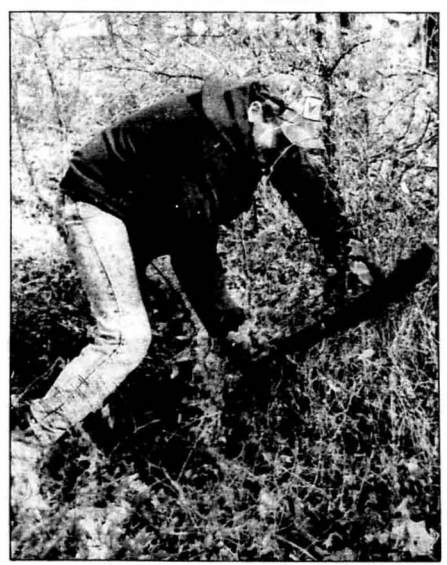

Another primary goal on Sullivan's agenda was comprehensive teacher evaluations formed by the students and for the students' benefit in scheduling classes.

Students do not have access to current evaluations they complete.

Aside from updating other issues from last semester, Sullivan included a proclamation of victory.

"We proclaim the abolition of fall break a major student victory," he said. "The fight was initiated last fall by USG and we gained the support of the faculty senate."

"As of 1993, there will be no more fall break," Sullivan said.

SIUC students to get sentence for LSD distribution

By Scott Wuerz
Police Writer

Two SIUC students will be sentenced to federal prison Monday in federal district court in Benton for their involvement in an LSD distribution ring in Carbondale.

Mark Besser, 27, and Steven

Ralph Sassi, 24, both seniors from Chicago, were convicted for conspiracy to sell LSD.

Besser and Sassi were arrested Aug. 28 in Jackson County by a joint operation of the DEA, the Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation and the U.S. Postal Inspection Service.

U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency

Officer John Yacup declined to comment on the circumstances of the arrests but said Sassi and his co-conspirators had brought 3,412 dosage units—more than 15 grams—of LSD into Southern Illinois.

At the time of the commission of the federal offense, Sassi was on probation in Iroquois County for a state LSD violation.

Besser pleaded guilty Oct. 24 to the charge of conspiracy to possess LSD with the intent to distribute. Sassi was convicted by a jury Nov. 14 on the same charge.

Assistant U.S. District Attorney Randy Massey said Besser and Sassi face a penalty of not less than 10 years or more than life in prison and a fine of not more than $4 million as a result of their convictions.

Neither Besser or Sassi are enrolled for the spring semester at SIUC.

Also named as co-conspirators were sophomores Eric Diamond, 21, of Chicago, and Jeffrey Best, 20, of Sullivan.

Simon's new IDEA speeds student aid

ANY BUSINESSMAN KNOWS that a deal can be much shorter and sweeter if you cut out the middleman. If the Senate vote on a new amendment to the federal Higher Education Act goes as it should, the banks that have acted as middlemen for federal student loans will soon be out of the loop.

THE BILL, SPONSORED BY SENS. PAUL SIMON, D-Ill., and David Durenberger, R-Minn., reworks the antiquated and paperwork-heavy Guaranteed Student Loan Program into a streamlined money-saver.

THE INCOME DEPENDENT EDUCATION Assistance program will reduce Department of Education costs by as much as $1.4 billion annually and channel that savings straight to students in the form of larger Pell Grants and lower interest rates.

RATHER THAN BEING INDEBTED TO A BANK for the repayment of loans, a student in IDEA would receive money straight from the federal government and repay the loan through the Internal Revenue Service, in installments automatically adjusted to his or her income.

BUT THERE WILL ALWAYS BE ONE GROUP searching for the flaw in any plan, no matter how perfect, if its interests are threatened. The Student Loan Marketing Association, or Sallie Mae, has taken its lobby to Washington to prevent the bill's passage. GSL is Sallie Mae's bread and butter, and the association's stock took a nosedive in October 1991 when the bill was announced.

ON ANOTHER FRONT, the Bush administration sees the Simon-Durenberger bill as a threat to the economy. Education Secretary Lamar Alexander predicted in 1991 that a direct-loan program "would increase the current federal debt by more than $10 billion per year."

BUT THAT FIGURE SOUNDS EXAGGERATED, and the self-declared "education president" has never truly lived up to his title. Education, along with most other domestic policy, has always taken a back seat to the globetrotting diplomacy Bush has made famous in his dealings with other countries.

WHEN IDEA COMES TO THE FLOOR early this year, it deserves immediate passage. In these recession-plagued times, a proposal that generates wealth where there once was only waste is nothing to sneeze at. And the wealth IDEA creates is education-oriented. By promoting this bill rather than stepping on it, the Bush administration could prove its commitment to education instead of just paying it lip service.

STUDENTS DESERVE EASY ACCESS TO education, and the present system produces only nail-biting and gnashing of teeth. The check, it seems, is always in the mail. With Simon's IDEA plan, the check could finally land where it belongs—in the student's hands

Bats in attic, chicken in toilet: results of nice-guy landlording

If you were to make a list of the most unpopular professions, you'd have to include landlord, which ranks, in public-opinion polls, down with attorney, journalist and salmonella.

I had some unpleasant experiences with landlords, most notably back in the early 1970s when I shared an apartment with Randall Shantz. One Saturday night we hosted a party (theme: "Many People In A Small Loud Room") that was a major social success as measured by the number of National Guard units ultimately involved.

The next day, Randall and I received a snippy note from our landlord suggesting that we would probably be happier renting a more appropriate habitat, such as the Gobi Desert. This was typical of my youthful experiences as a tenant, the result being that, like many people, I had a negative opinion of landlords.

Until I became one. This happened about 15 years ago, when some friends and I, in an effort to become wealthy real-estate investors—very much similar to Donald Trump, but warm-blooded—obtained a loan and purchased two small apartment buildings in West Chester, Pa.

We set out to be Nice Guy landlords. We listened to the tenants' complaints and fixed up their apartments and went over immediately whenever they called with problems.

I was the Plumbing Specialist, which was unfortunate because our apartments were equipped with highly complex toilets containing millions of parts that were constantly decaying due to some kind of deadly toilet leprosy.

Also, inappropriate items kept mysteriously getting lodged in them. I'd respond to a toilet alarm in the middle of the night, and, using techniques that are too disgusting to reveal here, I'd determine that the toilet had been clogged by, say, a frozen chicken, or a bowling shoe. I'd show the item to the tenants, who always appeared to be amazed.

Dave Barry

Tribune Media Services

"How did THAT get in there?" they'd say. It was as though that jolly old elf, Toilet Claus, had been going around leaving little surprises.

So we found that it wasn't easy being Nice Guys, and it didn't help that about half our tenants viewed paying the rent as an optional part of the deal, like leaving a tip. The rent would be overdue, and we'd come around to collect it, and our tenants, who operated on a strictly cash basis, would say things like, "I had it Tuesday night, but you weren't here," in an accusing tone of voice strongly suggesting that it was our fault for not showing up when they had the money, thereby leaving them no viable option but to buy 17 cases of beer.

At one point I took one tenant, Julius, to the bank and helped him open a checking account. Unfortunately, he didn't grasp the concept: He thought that all he had to do was correctly fill out the blank spaces in the checks, and the bank would provide money in infinite quantities. Julius thought this was a swell system. He couldn't believe it took him so long to find out about it. He's probably in Congress today.

Our tenants were full of surprises. One time a tenant who went by the name of "Fud" called to complain that there were holes in his ceiling. So my partner Buzz and I went over, and sure enough, there were holes in his ceiling. They were put there when Fud, after a few beers purchased with rent money, decided the apartment was a good place to shoot his gun. So Buzz and I rushed up to the apartment above, which was occupied by Julius. Julius was very comfortable with the fact that he had bullet holes in his floor.

"Oh yes," he said cheerfully. "Fud was shooting his gun."

Another time Fud's wife called Buzz at 2 a.m. and mumbled something.

"What?" said Buzz, trying to wake up. "What?" Finally he figured out that she was saying: "The fireman wants to know the name of the landlord."

Fortunately it was a smallish fire. It wasn't nearly as bad as the bats. We found out about the bats one night while watching the local TV news out of Philadelphia.

"Coming up next," the anchor person said, "bats in West Chester."

This was followed by a story about how tenants in a West Chester apartment complex had been terrified when a huge colony of bats—literally thousands of them—had come swarming out of the attic and dropped to the ground, dead.

Of course we recognized the tenants and the building. If mystery suicide bats were going to live in an apartment building, it naturally had to be ours. We never did find out what caused them to die.

But I'm glad they're gone. They never paid their rent.

like to get rid of it. The intersections of Grand Avenue, Pleasant Hill and Highlander Road are all in that section. In the last three years we have recorded 256 accidents with an average around 80 a year."

Greg Brown U.S. 51 resident was in favor of the proposals.

"It's a 50-year old highway made for people going 30 miles an hour," Brown said. As it is now people go too fast on that road."

Joyce Fligor, who has lived for 8 years in a house IDOT would have to tear down, said it would not bother her to move.

"We have lived there for a number of years and we have had a lot of drivers try to straighten that road and end up in our front yard."

Other residents who would be forced to move had different views of the proposals.

Roxanne Conley lives at the intersection of the two proposals and opposes both.

"The western route would cut through my back yard and the eastern route would half my front yard," Conley said. "Both of these proposals would change my life for a very long time."

Many residents who would not be directly affected by the proposals voiced concerns of falling property values for house and property lots too close to the highway.

Illinois wetlands law states construction must avoid wetland areas and if it cannot be avoided it must minimize impact on the area and builders must replace lost or damaged wetland areas.

"I have gone out of my way to make sure each of their goals and opinions on all issues were made clear," he said. "And because of my duo roles, I have gotten trapped in the middle."

The USG Senate voted last fall to send its collected funds to ISA, but GPSC withheld its funds until matters concerning representation could be resolved. GPSC wants its own vote in ISA.

USG represents 86 percent of the student population and GPSC represents 14 percent.

GPSC President Susan Hall said GPSC is not getting an adequate voice from Parker in ISA, so she proposed legislation Jan. 18 at an ISA conference calling for a split in the three weighted votes given to SIUC.

"It was an understanding between Jack and I when we appointed Michael that he would speak on behalf of both student bodies and one vote would be given to GPSC and two votes to USG," Hall said. "I realized that wasn't the case; he would cast votes on GPSC's behalf, but not speak on our behalf."

Both student bodies need their own representative because one director was answering to two different people with sometimes two different ideas, Hall said. So she introduced legislation to split the vote.

"We knew that if a decision ever came to a vote, Michael would have to decide between the two groups," Hall said. "Naturally, he would go with the undergraduates because there are more of them."

Parker said the differences between him and GPSC stem from a dispute over disclosure of information regarding ISA and its former executive director.

"The corporate council advised us as directors that we could not divulge some information because of attorney-client privileges," he said. "Susan Hall, on the side of GPSC, wanted complete and total access to it, even though I explained to her why I could not disclose the information."

"But GPSC just had to have what it wanted and that became the narrow focus," he said. "And that's where we are today."

The ISA legislation calling for the split unanimously was passed Saturday, with two votes from SIUC against it. GPSC now is ready to send its payment to ISA, but Jack Sullivan, USG president, is holding out until the new split-vote decision car - introduced to the USG Senate.

"USG is paying 86 percent of the bill to ISA and now getting only 66 percent of the vote," Sullivan said. "With GPSC increasing its voice at USG's expense, I could not in good faith give money to ISA without informing the senate."

Instead of meeting with USG and getting the matter resolved on campus, GPSC took the matter to ISA meetings, he said.

"In my opinion, the matter is an embarrassment to our campus," he said. "They took our problem, which should be resolved on campus, to the rest of the state's student-body presidents."

Legislation to restructure the voting process was submitted by University of Illinois representatives. It would give more votes to larger schools. In effect, SIUC would get four votes, instead of its current three, Sullivan said.

In an effort to resolve conflict between the two student bodies, USG planned to support the split-vote if the restructuring plan was approved. It failed, so USG voted against GPSC's proposal in order to protect undergraduates' interests.

"We are not hostile," Sullivan said. "As a result of what happened, USG is being adversely affected. GPSC is interpreting that as hostility."

The entire matter of splitting the vote was a policy question and GPSC set out to change the structure of ISA, Parker said.

"This is going to create more problems by encouraging factionalism," he said. "The precedent we set here is going to spread to other campuses, and all I see is fighting amongst ourselves instead of centering on the important issues like the upcoming tuition increases."

Brad Cole, USG chief-of-staff, said SIUC joined ISA to have a lobbyist voice in educational matters brought up in the executive branch, and undergraduates are being shortchanged with the new legislation.

America was founded to foster and preserve," Bush said.

"As a further U.S. contribution to this urgent world-wide effort, I'm proposing that the Congress approve over $600 suggestion by Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland that goods produced in their countries such as agricultural products and medicine be purchased for distribution.

Additional assistance would be $645 million.

Southern Illinois businesses gain exposure at show

By Christy Gutowski
General Assignment Writer

University Mall in conjunction with radio station WTOA-FM is sponsoring the third annual "We Have it Made in Southern Illinois" showcase this weekend to feature 34 businesses from around the region.

The showcase gives the businesses an opportunity to show the community that though the nation is in an economic slump, Southern Illinois has a lot to offer the business sector, said Robi Sapp, WTOA sales manager.

"We're still doing business and have confidence in our community," she said.

Debbie Mack, marketing director for University Mall, said the event is a way of instilling pride within the southern regions.

"We have a lot of smaller industries in this area that do business throughout the state producing a vast amount of materials," she said. "Many people don't realize this."

Two areas of industry vulnerable to a weak economy are real estate and automobile dealers.

"We've withstood some hard times in real estate," said Jan Mandias, closing secretary for Cherry Hill Realty.

But Mandias said the event may offer their companies the exposure needed to increase business.

The show takes place Saturday, Jan 25 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, from noon until 5 p.m.

Sororities invite applications for 1992 rush

By Sherri L. Wilcox
General Assignment Writer

Formal rush for SIUC Panhellenic sororities begins today as the first and last rush of 1992.

The sororities will not have rush in the fall.

Harriet Wilson Barlow, associate director of Student Development, said the sororities switched from two rushes a year to just one in the spring to cut down on expenses.

"Formal rush costs the sororities a lot," she said. "Not to mention the time it takes."

"Holding rush in the spring allows sorority members more time to prepare," she said.

Restrictions on freshman involvement in sorority rush also were instituted this year, making women with less than 12 completed credit hours ineligible to participate. This rule was designed to give new students a chance to adjust to campus life before becoming involved in the Greek system.

The new restrictions should not result in a decrease of the number of rushees as a whole, Barlow said.

"Rush applications are coming in steadily and we anticipate no decline," she said.

Sororities involved in Panhellenic formal rush include Alpha Gamma Delta, Delta Zeta, Sigma Kappa and Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Interested students must sign up by 5 p.m. today in Student Development, third floor Student Center.

Rushees must have minimum grade point averages of 2.2, have completed 12 or more credit hours and be full-time, undergraduate students.

Rush begins tonight and runs through Sunday. For more information, contact Student Development at 453-5714.

Cost and environmental concerns prompt DE to use recycled paper

By Kara Grover
General Assignment Writer

The Daily Egyptian will publish for a week on recycled newsprint starting today.

The switch is a combined effort to reduce production costs and protect the environment.

Although the decision to replace the DE's current newsprint with the recycled paper has been made for a while, availability of recycled newsprint was limited, said Gary Buckles, DE press superintendent.

"We've made many attempts in the past to purchase recyclable newsprint but we weren't able to," he said.

"As the different states are passing the laws to encourage people to use it, the availability is increasing," he said.

Because sources for recycled newsprint are limited, Buckles said the DE was only allowed to order a small amount on a trial basis.

The recycled newsprint is the same quality as regular newsprint, unlike some of the recyclable newsprint in the past, Buckles said.

"By looking at it, you can't tell if it's recycled or regular virgin newsprint. This recycled newsprint doesn't have a yellowish content, web breaks or other problems like that," he said.

The cost of the recycled newsprint is another advantage, Buckles said.

"So far it has been less expensive. The cost is a plus that we didn't initially count on."

There has been a lot of demand from the students at SIUC to convert to recycled newsprint, said SIUC Purchasing buyer, Mary Ann Osberg, who is responsible for the purchase of all newsprint.

"The cost is comparable or even less than regular newsprint," she said. "We've also satisfied a lot of the questions that we get from environmentalists."

"This is something that the DE and SIUC have wanted us to do for a long time," she said.

Patrick Glisson, recycling program manager at Pollution Control, said the DE's conversion to recycled newsprint is a step in the right direction.

"What this is going to do is create a market for the post consumer waste," she said.

"By creating the market, more people can recycle paper and as you recycle more, less goes into a landfill," she added.

The Recycled Newsprint Use Act, which went into effect Nov. 29, 1990, has a 28 percent annual recycled fiber voluntary goal to be met by the state on Jan. 1, 1993.

Video games bring big score

SIUC student turns playtime to paytime at Nintendo nationals

By Kristi Rominger
Entertainment Editor

SIUC student Steve Lucas said it is all in the way you hold the joystick—that is exclusive advice.

Lucas is the best Nintendo player in the nation.

The sophomore in computer information processing from Jacksonville won a 1991 Geo Storm GSI sports car after the national Nintendo championships Jan. 3 to 5 in Orlando, Fla.

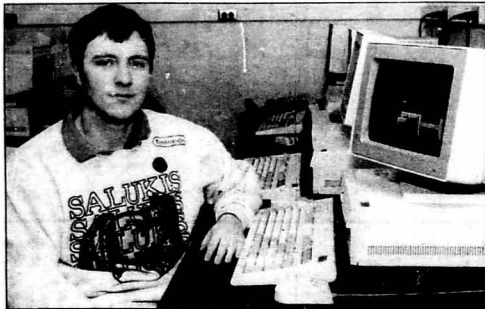

"The arcade game 'Space Invaders' is what got me hooked to playing video games," said Lucas, who spends one to five hours a day at the arcade or on campus computers. "That was 11 years ago."

Lucas won the Nintendo preliminary title at SIUC in October.

He and 57 other college-age finalists participated in the national championships in Orlando, Fla. All were allowed to play four rounds of "Pinbot," "Dr. Mario" and "Super Mario 3."

Lucas, who predicted he would be sixth in the tournament, did not pull into the lead until the second-to-last round, he said.

In the final round, Lucas and Steve Lucas, a sophomore in computer information processing from Jacksonville, sets up an IBM computer game called "Duke Nukem" in the Faner Computer Lab. Lucas recently won first prize in the National Nintendo Championships in Orlando, Florida.

Matt Sekelsky of Central Michigan University had six minutes, 47 seconds to collect 25 gold coins in "Super Mario 3," earn 100,000 points on a pinball machine in "Pinbot" and use vitamins to kill viruses in "Dr. Mario."

Lucas earned two million points alone in "Super Mario 3" which made all the difference, he said. He won the last round with a final score of 2,394,130. Sekelsky scored only 2,246,510.

For winning the national title, Lucas won the car, a large trophy, a trip to Walt Disney World, a pen and pencil set, some sweatshirts and a plaque.

Craft shop offers students alternate form of recreation

By Ronn Byrd
Entertainment Writer

Students in the SIUC Craft Shop can sell their homework at the end of the semester—and people actually buy it.

The Craft Shop offers more than 40 different classes, including basic wood, where hands-on experience with power tools is offered, and silkscreen classes on making t-shirt designs with basic silkscreening techniques.

Debra Johnson-Jones, the arts and crafts coordinator at the Craft Shop, said the classes give students another kind of resource.

"It's another form of recreation," Johnson-Jones said. "They are able to produce jewelry or learn how to make bookshelves to decorate their room at a low price. It's another kind of leisure activity."

The workshops, which are open to the public and SIUC students, are instructed by both graduate and undergraduate SIUC students.

About 800 people use the Craft Shop each semester.

Ronda Zummo, an undergraduate student in product design, teaches stained glass jewelry making. She said her students always enjoy themselves even when their projects do not turn out just right.

"Some of them pick it up really quick and some of them don't," she said. "But either way, they still have fun."

The classes cost anywhere from $10 to $40, but Zummo said the price is worth it.

"Not only are you getting the use of the shop and the materials, but the instruction as well," she said.

"It's a chance to play with the different mediums we have. Most of our students aren't even art majors," she said.

The Craft Shop has a new resale area in the Student Center, where students sell what they have created in class. Profits are put back into the shop.

The classes have an average length of four weeks. The shop also offers special one-day classes such as beadmaking and sweatshirt painting. It also has classes available for children.

New classes offered this semester are clay whistle making, introduction to acrylic painting and introduction to metal.

The Craft Shop is located on the lower level of the Student Center adjacent to the Big Muddy Room.

It is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Section closed? Course cancelled?

We might have the class you need.

Space is still available in the following courses through the Individualized Learning Program. In ILP courses students use a study guide instead of attending lectures. Each course carries full SIUC residential credit. Students can register throughout the semester.

student who previously could not get financial aid to enter a financial aid program, said Britton.

USG President Jack Sullivan said a tuition increase actually would benefit the students by reventing educators and support staff from leaving SIUC.

"It is hard to support a tuition increase, but an increase would keep present faculty and staff from leaving and would attract new educators," said the Undergraduate Student Government leader.

But an SIUC professor of economics said a tuition increase deters students from matriculating at SIUC.

"If tuition is increased, some students may not consider SIUC as a college choice while it may prevent a student who already studies here from being able to return," Paul Trescott said.

Students paying more tuition would have a larger input into what is done within the university, he said.

"When more tuition is pushed upon the students, they demand a higher quality of education," Trescott said.

A 4-percent increase would generate $1.243 million new revenue for the University.

A 7.4-percent increase would generate $2.33 million, and a 1.0-percent increase would generate $3.107 million.

Junior forward Ashraf Amaya is the Valley rebounding leader with an 11 boards a game average. The 6-8 super star also ranks 14th in the country in the country in that category.

Freshman Marcus Timmons and sophomore center Marcelo da Silva also rank in the top five in the Valley in rebounding. Timmons is second averaging seven a game and da Silva is fifth with a 6.1 average.

HERRIN ALSO attributes much of his team's success to its ability to pass the ball.

In fact, Herrin says the Salukis may be a little too generous with dishing off the ball.

"We've proved that we are very unselfish on the break. If anything, a few times I think we have made one too many passes," Herrin said. "But you have to feel good about the unselfishness on this ball club. That's important."

Three Salukis rank in the MVC top 10 with assists. Sophomore guard Chris Lowery is fourth with 4.5 assists a game, junior guard Tyrone Bell is ninth with 3.5, and Timmons is tenth with a 2.9 average.

KELVAN LAWRENCE is on the fast road to recovery after sitting out seven weeks with a broken ankle.

The 6-4 senior forward broke the ankle in the Salukis' Nov. 30 game with Murray State. Herrin said he expected Lawrence to play a key role in the Dawgs' lineup before suffering the fracture.

But the break has mended and Lawrence has seen at least 11 minutes of action in each of SIUC's last two games.

"I felt a little better (in Monday's game) than I did Saturday," Lawrence said. "It was very hard sitting on the bench watching my team win games and knowing I should be out there."

Herrin said the return of Lawrence will be a boost to the team, but the strategically speaking it will be business as usual.

"With Kelvan back, we'll have a little more depth and that will be a boost for us," Herrin said. "Regardless, we will not change a thing. We will try to do what we do best—apply a little pressure on defense, balance the floor and try to play with a lot of intensity."

THE LAST TIME the Salukis went 13-2 was in 1967.

Led by Walt Frazier, the '67 edition of Saluki basketball went on to post a 24-2 record and captured the National Invitational Tournament championship.

The Dawgs will try to keep their hot streak alive Saturday when they travel to Normal to take on Illinois State. The Redbirds are in second place in the Valley with a 6-1 record (8-7 overall) and could take a share of first with a win over the Salukis.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: "I don't think a basketball coach has a lot to do with his team's success. I've told my players all along that the team belongs to them. They deserve the credit when they have success and the blame when they don't." — Rich Herrin said of his coaching philosophy.

the Nationals. So I really have to do well for myself," Williams said.

Women's track head coach Don DeNoon said he is looking for Williams to help his squad on the track as well as off this year.

"Being one of our only five seniors I am hoping that Michele can step forward and be a leader on this team and help our younger athletes," DeNoon said. "As for on the track, Michele seems to have set some high goals for herself this year, and if she attains them she will help the team."

Williams came to SIUC on an academic scholarship that she earned at East Moline Township High School.

"I chose SIU because I wanted to get as far from home as possible and still stay in the state. SIU was perfect," Williams said.

Although she is trying to get the most out of her last year at SIUC, Williams said she is looking forward to getting her degree in management and pursuing an MBA.

"I have enjoyed my time here at SIU but am looking forward to graduation and moving on in my life," Williams said.

preparation for football's showcase game, and the Bills and Redskins appeared to have a handle on the rush of activity.

"Actually," said Washington running back Earnest Byner, "I don't think anybody is ready to play the game yet. And that's good. I'm just now coming to the realization we are in the Super Bowl."

"I never get ready to play before Wednesday ar whow. During the regular season, I've found that once Wednesday is over, Sunday is here before you know it."

Although the weather will not be a factor all week, either for the practices (indoors) or during the game (at the Metrodome), visitors to the city found unseasonably mild conditions.

Temperatures hovered around the freezing mark under murky skies as fans began to stream into the area not only the game, but for the annual St. Paul Winter Carnival.

The team went through workouts with the day's chief news still focusing on the infected knee of Buffalo safety Leonard Smith.

"If the game were today, Smith wouldn't be able to play," Levy said. "He's officially questionable. We'll just have to see how things go."

unable to take advantage.

"If I had converted those, it could have been a different story," said McEnroe.

The crowd roared for the American left-hander, displaying such banners as: "Mac for U.S. President," "Stay Cool John," and "Go For It John."

Try though the New Yorker did, Ferreira picked off his drop shots, belted clean winners from both sides of the court and remained composed. So solid was the South African's game, McEnroe won just six points at the net all night as Ferreira displayed the form that enabled him to beat David Wheaton and Karel Novacek earlier on.

After losing the first two sets, McEnroe put himself into deeper trouble when he dropped his first service game of the third set.
