Carlson will speak on "The role of camping today in the U. S." He has been a naturalist at Yosemite National Park for 15 years and at present is located at Indiana University.

Fireplugs, Water Brought To Campus By New System

Southern soon will have ample water for all purposes as soon as a new water system currently being installed on campus is completed. The new water main system will supply water to every building on campus.

Two improvements will be made by this new system. One is that several more fire hydrants will be put on campus. This will lessen the fire hazards.

Second, the new pipes will supply more pressure which will bring more water to Southern. This will mean that the water fountains in Old Main will work properly.

The antiquated system of mains that the school has been operating on since it was built will be retired from use. The new system will include an eight inch line leading into campus and four inch lines carrying water into all buildings.

Fire plugs will be located around campus in such a manner that every building will be supplied by at least one plug.

Honest Person . . .

Woman Seeks Student Who Found Lost Purse

A modern Diogenes, Mrs. Emma H. Jackson, teacher from Sesser, is looking for the honest person that found her purse and turned it in to the Student Center.

The purse contained drivers license, personal papers, and $65 in cash. The mysterious benefactor left a note but no name and Mrs. Jackson is trying to locate the person in order to express her gratitude.

Although the founder had evidently opened the purse nothing was reported missing by Mrs. Jackson.

Raso Replaces Reiley As Campus Physician

Dr. Anthony Raso will assume duties as associate physician at the university student health service July 2, 1950, according to Dr. Carl Reiley, now physician at the student health service.

Dr. Raso is a graduate of Washington University Medical School and he interned at St. Louis City Hospital.

Dr. Reiley is resigning his position as university physician on July 1, 1950. He will spend the coming year in a radiology residency at the Charity Hospital of Louisiana in New Orleans.

Dr. Reiley is preparing an information booklet for the student health service which will be completed before he leaves. It includes information on the new hospitalization plan and will answer many of the questions that have puzzled students. It will be distributed to all students in a bulletin form at the beginning of the fall term.

SIU Names Bill Waller, Former Pro Grid Star, As Head Football Coach

A Southern Illinois product, Bill Waller, former professional football player and University of Illinois grid star, has been named as head football coach at Southern.

BILL WALLER

Waller, former football coach at Benton high school and present grid coach at Yakima Valley Junior college at Yakima Valley, Wash., will begin his new duties July 17, subject to his approval by the Board of Trustees.

He will replace Glenn (Abe) Martin, Southern's football coach for the past 12 years, who will remain as athletic director, physical education instructor, and head baseball coach.

Another SIU grid coach, Leonard (Doc) Lingle, line coach for the past 23 years, will drop football coaching this fall to concentrate on track and cross-country. Another vacancy will exist as Jim Wilkinson, "B" team coach last year, has accepted a coaching position at Oregon State college.

University officials indicated that Waller may have a hand in the selection of their replacements.

Wilkinson Accepts Oregon Position

James J. Wilkinson, instructor in physical education, has accepted a position at Oregon State college. His duties there will consist of instructing physical education classes and coaching the wrestling team.

Wilkinson while at Southern, has been in charge of the wrestling team and in the organization of the intramural sports program. He was instrumental in setting up a large intramural program and in helping to build up wrestling.

"I have enjoyed my work at Southern immensely," said Wilkinson, "I appreciate the co-operation I have received from the faculty, the students, the departments, and the organizations."

Wilkinson's duties at Oregon State college start Sept. 1.

NOTICE TO FACULTY

According to the Faculty Newsletter, the date of the campfire program at Giant City was July 29. This was a mistake and the Egyptian date of June 29 is correct.

BUILDING FIRES AND preparing meals are two of the topics discussed in the camping education course offered by the women's physical education department at Giant City state park south of Carbondale. For the first time this summer Southern is offering several courses at Giant City. Dr. William Freeburg is in charge of the program.

University officials indicated that Waller may have a hand in the selection of their replacements.

Waller has been coaching in Washington since 1949. Prior to that he was athletic director at a high school at Cody, Wyoming. During the four years at Cody, Waller won two conference championships, and placed second in the conference the other two years.

Played at Benton

Waller played high school football at Benton, later starred at the University of Illinois at the end position, and upon graduation entered the pro football ranks.

He spent two years with the Detroit Lions, two years on the Brooklyn Dodgers, and one year with the Los Angeles Bulldogs.

In the fall of 1939 he returned to his home town of Benton, where he became head football coach. He had a championship football team his first year there and the following year his team tied for the championship.

In the late fall of 1942 Waller joined the American Red Cross and served as field director in the Middle East command in Cairo, Egypt until 1943. From 1943-1944 he served on the physical education staff at the University of Illinois.

Martin, who has known Waller for the past 12 years said, "I feel Bill is exceptionally well-qualified for the job."

Frank G. Kraus, superintendent of Cody public schools, termed Waller as "the best high-school football coach I have ever known."

O'Brien To Remain

Martin resigned as football coach earlier this year. He told the Egyptian that it was too large a task to coach football (including spring football) and be head baseball coach, in addition to handling his duties as athletic director.

Assistant Coach Bill O'Brien will remain as assistant coach.

300 ATTEND OPEN HOUSE AT ANTHONY HALL

Approximately 300 persons attended Open House at Anthony Hall Thursday, June 22. Theme of the evening was Southern Belles.

Girls dressed like Southern Belles greeted guests at the doors, and each guest was presented a name tag with a southern flower on it.

Another Expansion

Movies have served Southern in the education role for several years, but now are serving Southern in the entertainment role.

The series of movies, which began last summer and is being continued this summer, appears to be gaining in popularity.

Foreign movies, which is a relief from the usual Hollywood releases, is an attraction in itself. Otherwise students would have to go to large cities to enjoy most of the better foreign movies.

Also, the attraction of outdoor movies (without cars) is another feature which students seldom have the chance to enjoy. We think Donald Ingle, director of audio-visual aids at Southern, and the lectures and entertainment committee should be commended for the arrangement for the movies.

It is hoped that the program can be continued this fall. However, we do hope those in charge of picking the movies continue to take caution to select only high quality films.—B.H.

Comforting Note

It's comforting to note that in this confused world with cries of crime and war on every hand there still are examples of honesty and unselfishness. The student (or students) who found a purse containing $65 this week and promptly returned it is noteworthy. It is further interesting to note that the finder (or finders) did not stay around for the parise or reward.—B. H.

Guilty

"Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy," said Emerson, but it isn't evident in many campus offices. A greeting such as "Well, what do you want?" from an office worker tabs that office as one to be avoided. It takes a small amount of additional effort to greet a caller pleasantly and make him feel that the secretary sincerely wants to help him. That caller may be just a student, but to him the call is as important as that of a senator. A smile to and from the caller will cause the worker to enjoy his job more, too.—M. B.

Southern has now authorized the purchase of dogs. We wonder how much the dogs on the campus would bring—or are the officials looking for a higher quality?

The old mare ain't what she used to be—at least the Shrine circus mare which gave birth to a colt before a large crowd here Tuesday evening.

Women who swear they've never been kissed, can't be blamed for swearing.

Reinert Finds Reader; Praises Student Council

This column is back to suffer out the heat for the summer. At first, we had all good intentions of going the way of most good columns this summer, but we bumped into a student the other day who said that he read the column once last fall. Seeing that Southern Exposure had such a high reader interest, the author's public spirit prompted him to keep the summer students informed on under-the-table happenings on campus.

There is a possibility that this is the beginning of a new era of campus politics. At least there is more reason to be optimistic than there has been for several years.

We refer to the election of Tom Sloan as Student Council president. Sloan ran on an independent independent basis in the spring balloting, and won a seat on the Council.

When an unaffiliated student is elected to the Council, that's big news, but when that student is elected to the presidency of the Council—that's really some going!

In making arrangements for the three-day holiday and in assisting with the coke hours this summer, the Council is off to a good start.

Warning: This summer the Little Theatre is putting on "The Importance of Being Ernest"—acclaimed by many critics as one of the finest plays of the century. So, start saving your pennies now so you'll have the admission price.

And speaking of shows, it's good to see the summer movies starting up on campus again (known as Famous Flickers last summer). This is a worthwhile program, and it allows students to see the better foreign and older American movies that they miss elsewhere. We have only one suggestion—why not continue the program through the winter?

Fans will also recall that last winter and spring, this column rebelled against the barbaric practice of listing courses in the schedule as being taught by "Staff." Another reason for the abolishment of this practice appeared registration day—several prospective students were going around trying to find out what kind of an instructor was this "Dr. Staff."

Well, pun my word: We hear that in a campus geography class the other day, a student was asked to explain the difference between a tributary and an estuary. The student replied, "I don't know—it's all creek to me."

The Greek Scene

Egyptian Writer Describes Visit To Greek Prison

by John Anastaplo

CORFU, GREECE—We recently paid a visit to one of Greece's largest prisons. It is located on an island of Corfu. This house of detention has 860 prisoners of the Communist variety. Their sentences are for life and execution. They took part in the civil war campaign against the nationalists and had to their dubious credit a long list of gory deaths.

At least 80 per cent of these people are of better-than-average intelligence. Many teachers, lawyers, and doctors were behind the Communist movement in Greece.

These prisoners were murderers of such ruthlessness and abandon that it's difficult to apprehend the seriousness of their position. Their average age is about 25.

Communists' main appeal is to the youth whose desires are limitless and whose refusal to accept the present system makes it necessary for them to find a substitute. Communism is that substitute.

At the moment the prisoners have been granted a stay of execution through the intercession of Vishinsky at Lake Success. Here in Greece it's difficult for the layman to understand Acheson's plea for a moratorium on execution. Acheson, they feel, has no grasp of the picture.

Here in Amalias, we find it quite discouraging for the citizenry. It was occupied by the Germans and Italians, the Germans not withdrawing until Sept. 23, 1944. Still on the streets are the modern-day pillboxes.

The most-talked-about American in this country today is Ambassador Grady who has not endeared himself to the populace at all—principally due to his efforts two months ago in persuading Plastiras to take over the reins of government as Prime Minister and ousting Venezuelos.

American stock with that dictatorial announcement skidded to an alarming point. Threatening discontinuance of any future aid to Greece via ECA unless "their house was put in order" was no better than Russia's tactics, the Greeks said.

Well here it is the third week and most people are only five weeks behind in their lessons. There is a big circus in town. We should be able to think of some circus jokes but about the only one that comes to mind is the one about the fellow who had a date with a set of Siamese twins. # Almost One-Third Commute This Term

Of the 2,044 students enrolled at Southern, 615—about 30 percent—commute, according to figures released from the housing office. Again, the males are in the lead, for 366 of the commuters are men while only 249 women students commute.

Within a 70 mile radius of Carbondale, students travel daily from 82 surrounding towns to Southern. Murphysboro comes out on top with a total of 71 students commuting. Next are Herrin with 51, and Marion with 48.

Other towns with large numbers of commuters are Cartersville with 36; Anna, 35; West Frankfort, 28; Johnston City, 24; and Benton, 22. Seven communities have more than ten commuters. They are Chester, Christopher, Cobden, Du Quoin, Harrisburg, Mt. Vernon, and Pinckneyville.

There are 15 towns with more than five commuters and 54 with one or more.

Plater, SIU Graduate, On Globe-Democrat

Bill Plater, Vienna, a former editor of the Egyptian, and a 1949 graduate of Southern is employed as one of the staff of Tempo magazine, a supplement to the St. Louis Globe Democrat. Recently he received a by-line on a feature article appearing in the daily feature section of that paper.

Plater majored in art at Southern but was also active in journalism. He was a cartoonist for the Egyptian in addition to his position as editor, and he furnished many features for the paper. He was art editor of the Obelisk and a member of Mu Tau Pi, campus journalism honorary fraternity.

A member of Kappa Pi, national art honorary organization, Plater was active in all phases of art. He was much in demand as a chalk talk artist and an amateur magician. He belongs to the NEA chapter here at Southern and in his senior year was chosen for mention in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Free Movie Series Continues July 6

Holiday Election

SOUTHERN'S MADRIGAL SINGERS perform at the Anthony Hall open house held last Thursday night. It was the first open house held by an organized house this summer.—(Photo by Richard Peterman.)

Second in a series of free outdoor movies for the summer months will be shown in McAndrew Stadium Thursday, July 6 at 8 p.m.

Title of the movie will be announced later.

First of the series of free movies was shown last week. It was held in Shryock auditorium because of rain. A fairly large crowd was on hand to enjoy the Swedish film, "Tornefit," a short Canadian subject, "The Loon's Necklace," and colored pictures taken of the Memorial Day celebration in Carbondale May 30.

Tentative dates for the showing of the free movies, which are sponsored by the university lectures and entertainment committee, are July 6, July 11, July 25, and Aug. 1.

Donald A. Ingli, director of audio-visual aids service, is trying to get old Hollywood movies such as "It Happened One Night," as well as some of the better foreign films which include "Ivan and the Terrible," and "The Stone Floor," both Russian films, and "Don Quixote," a Spanish film.

Ingli said he hopes the film program can be continued this fall with about one show a week. Weather permitting, the movies this summer will be shown in the stadium where the acoustics are better and the weather cooler. An arc projector similar to the one used by theatres and a 11'x14' screen will be used.

Dr. Muller Receives Reappointment As Head Of Buildings Committee

Dr. Robert H. Muller, director of libraries at Southern Illinois University, has accepted reappointment to a third term as Chairman of the Committee on College and University Library Buildings of the American Library Association, the President's Office has announced.

Under Dr. Muller's direction, the committee has undertaken a nationwide survey of college and university library building trends.

To Hold Workshop Here During July

Three nationally known leaders in the field of health education will serve as consultants in a curriculum workshop for public school administrators, to be held here at Southern July 10, through July 21.

Dr. W. W. Fishback, associate professor of education and director of the workshop, pointed out that "Every classroom teacher is a potential health educator, if they will only realize it and take advantage of their opportunities."

"The workshop will emphasize," declared Dr. Fishback, "that administrators have a definite responsibility for the growth and development of teachers in terms of new and improved health education techniques and materials."

Consultants for the workshop are W. W. Patty, Director of the School of Health Education, Recreation and Safety at the University of Indiana; Dr. H. F. Kilander, a specialist in health education with the U. S. Office of Education; and Miss M. Virginia Mason, supervisor of human relations classes for the state of Delaware.

Miss Francis Phillips, coordinator of the workshop, visited demonstrations staged by Miss Mason in New York City. Miss Phillips said that "packed houses of 5,000 were held spell bound by Miss Mason's demonstrations in New York."

The workshop was partially made possible by funds from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. The money from the Kellogg Foundation was released to Southern by Mrs. Hazel O'Neal, state health coordinator with the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Industrial education — Special problems in arts and industries, No. 320, 2 hours credit. 12 students enrolled.

Supervisors at the University Elementary School will take approximately 80 grade school students to the camp for a two-week period. This is an experiment in grade school outdoor education.

The program will also include professional training for persons interested in camp counseling and camp administration.

Freeburg In Charge
Dr. William H. Freeburg, who is the only person in the United States to hold a doctor's degree in the field of recreation, is in charge of the program.

He said the courses should develop in the student an appreciation for the out-of-doors. The camp will also provide an opportunity to teach such subjects as geography and botany that can best be taught out-of-doors.

Remodel Barracks

The former CCC camp barracks, located in the park, have been remodeled and converted into men's and women's dormitories to accommodate students who will live at the camp. Miss Caroline Van Mason, instructor in home economics, will supervise the preparation of the food for the students. A registered nurse will be at the camp at all times as a consultant and in case of injury.

Recreational activities will include games, hikes, campfire programs, and other events. Dr. Freeburg at present is exploring the park in an attempt to find a natural outdoor theatre. Three times a week transportation will be provided to take students from the campsite to Crab Orchard lake where swimming facilities are available.

Complete schedules for the camp can be obtained at the Registrar's office.

Results Revealed

Results of the spring holiday election have been released by Dr. Charles Tenney, Administration Assistant to the President.

The three holidays receiving the highest number of votes by a large majority were the Friday following Thanksgiving with 1158 votes, Good Friday with 1034 votes, and Memorial Day with 902 votes.

Dr. Tenney stated that the only difference in schedule between last year and the coming year is the substitution of the Good Friday holiday for Lincoln's Birthday.
