Astronaut White Frolics in Space

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) -- Astronaut Edward H. White II eased himself out of a Gem-ini capsule 135 miles above the earth Thursday and floated 20 eerie minutes in the for chilling void of space, chatting nonchalantly and darting about with a space gun.

The dramatic excursion clearly was the high point of a bold celestial adventure scheduled to last four days. Another cosmic feat, a proed rendezvous with another orbiting satellite, had to be scratched from the flight plan

Council Votes To Hold New Election June 8

The Carbondale campus Student Council voted Thursday to conduct a student election June 8 for a student government as outlined in Alternative A of the recent ternative A of the recent referendum. However, the Council, which passed the bill with only one dissenting voter, made sev-eral alterations to the plan. The alterations specified that:

 The two executive of-ficers elected at large be designated as the president and vice president of the student body.

2.) The present constitution of the Carbondale campus student government remain as it present until changes are approved by the Council. 3.) The present constitution of the University Student Council remain as it is and Council remain as it is and serve as the constitution of the new University Student Council composed of local Councils with appropriate modifications to avoid con-flicts with Alternative A.

Alternative A calls for 22 senators and the executive 22 senators and the executive officers from Carbondale to meet with the Edwardsville Council as one body. However, since under the present sys-tem the total number of senators is determined by the total votes cast by a district. the number of scats to be filled cannot be determined before the election.

Therefore, if the number is greater or fewer than 22, the Carbondale Council will de-termine which 22 will meet as members of the University Student Council.

The only Council member voting against the bill was Stephen E. Wilson, off-cam-pus organized men's senator.

"These people (the admin-istration) are still playing games," Wilson said.

Raymond V. Vaughn, Wil-liam D. Smith and Farouk Umar may very well be the three most envied men on campus. They share a unique position in that they are resident counselors at three of the five women's residence halls at Thompson Point. What's it like to be fatherconfessor to some 120 girls from different cities, states and several foreign countries? We asked one of the "lucky three," Vaughn, resident counselor of Smith Hall, how he felt about his position. The heavy-set, jovial coun-selor said that it was "kind of a kick," a new and exciting experience for himself and his wife. The Vaughns have all the attention they get from coeds. We're like one big family here. The kids are al-ways upstairs somewhere talking with the girls," Vaughn said smiling. How does Mrs. Vaughn feel about having to share her husband's time with 120 single girls (70 per cent of them are freshmen). Most wives might be jealous but Vaughn admits his wife Doris does almost as

$125 Cakes Make Wedding Costly; Forget the Trimmings if You're Poor

By Pam Gleaton (Fourth in a Series)

How much does a wedding ceremony cost? Well, that all depends-on the number of people you have, the formality of the wedding, the kind of invitations, the number of pictures taken, and on and on.

A wedding ceremony takes a very few minutes, but if a couple spends more money than they can afford, it may take several years of their lives or their parents' lives to pay for it.

printed invitations. They use hand-written invitations in-stead. Engraved invitations can cost as little as $10.50 per hundred or as much as $22.50 per hundred.

The magic phrase in this case is "per hundred." For 100 people or less, the cost isn't much, but after two or three hundred, invitations can be a major cost. Many brides economize by having invita-tions printed or embossed instead of engraved. If going to the expense of having engraved invitations, most brides also have napkins (about $3 per hundred), guest book (about $3.50), a gift book ($3.50 and up) and a bridal

Some brides do not have book for gifts and pictures ($8 and up). If only 100 people are invited to the wedding, the expense for printing alone is almost $50.

A wedding can be held in a private home, a country club, a garden, a hotel or, most often, in a church. If the wedding is held in a church a number of arrangements must be made.

The minister and organist must be paid, the hall must be rented, arrangements must be made with the custodian and the reception must be planned. Usually the minister and organist are settled with personally.

The groom decides how much to pay the minister and the bride selects a gift for the organist.

Most churches milke no charge to their members for use of the sanctuary. Costs for non-members are about $10 for the sanctuary and $10 for the church custodian. In some churches, women's organizations of the church will set up and clean up after receptions. The couple must provide any food that they might want to serve at a reception, breakfast, lunch or dinner.

The price of a dining hall in a church will range from $15 for 50 people to $25 for 100 people. Some local restaurants will serve wedding parties if the party can come to the restaurant for the meal.

I read a few more pages of my book and went down the hall to the shower room, My hall to the shower rount, my shower was interrupted by the presence of the Resident Counselor of "C" section. She stood holding my painting and demanded to see me as soon as I got out of the shower ...She asked if I painted that nude which, of course, I had. She wanted to know if it was a class assignment. I'd like to know what difference that makes. Then she said that the nude isn't subject matter for painting. I would like to know when and by whose au-thority artists no longer find the nude an object to paint. The human figure has been of interest to artists through time and will continue to be so, draped or undraped! I almost expected to be told to place a few fig leaves in the painting as artists have been told to do in the past by blue-nosed critics who tried to impose their petty views of morals and propriety upon the artist. I was then told that I may never have any of my paint-ings on the outside of my door

The note was merely a "no trespassing" sign and a statement of rights. The Counselor ripped it from the door and der anded to see me in her apartment on Thursday at three o'clock in the afternoon. I went to her apartment and was told she had a three o'clock class which she had forgotten about. In the United States today, "public opinion" amounts to "public opinion amounts to vociferous defense of the status quo; critics of the John-son Administration are either dismissed as "egghead intel-lectuals" or labeled as "com-mie dupes". But in the midst mie dupes", But in the midst of all the rabid anti-critical vituperation, an exceedingly interesting and important phenomenon is also ob-servable; the instructional Teach-in on the War in Viet Num The teach is a ra-Nam. The teach-in is a re-affirmation of democracy, an attempt to provide, in many cases, an articulate opposition to an increasingly monolithic Congress. The members of the Academic community are at last beginning to exercise their social responsibility. The most viable sign of the Professors' success in providing crucial criticism is found in the writings of their detractors; people are begin-ning to discover that "By God, professors do wear pants!" Joseph Alsop, the Egyptian, and other important sources of support for the Johnson Administration, have it a point to oppose the made teach-in. And why?-because they know that when the scholars enter the fray-men who have studied political events and historical movements for the greater part of their lives—they (Alsop, et al.) will no longer be able to impose simplistic, jingonents of the teach-in tacitly admit their fear of the facts being taught in the teach-in through their continued use of invective; not once have they successfully countered the facts.

Proponents of "peace through invasion and war", for example, are being re-minded of the historical ante-cedente of such activity. cedents of such a policy: Hitler tested new weapons against the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War, and the Spanish people have now lived under a fascist dictator-one of our stanch allies-'or almost thirty years. And how did Hitler justify his action? He was defending peace and order and preventing the Godless and preventing the Gooless communists from enslaving the Spanish people. I would certainly not extend the historical parallel any further; the U,S, is not fascist, and Johnson is not Hitler But and Johnson is not Hitler. But the kinds of policy decision justification given by both are, at times, quite similar, and all are antithetical to the American polity. I would like to urge, then, the organization of a teach-in at SIU to inform the students of the situation in Viet Nam within that country's histori-cal-cultural framework. It is difficult to discuss the war with someone who has never has never heard of Nguyen Hu Tho, or who knows nothing of Vietwho knows nothing of namese history prior to Diem. # Guys and Dolls Big, but Good

Proscenium One is the Burrows-Frank Loe Loesser musical. musical, Guys and Dolls, based on the stories and characters of Damon Runyon. The musical is a big one, and the chief problem with Proscenium's production is its bigness. The forcing of the play into the confines of a small stage and a low-budget production prevents Guys and Dolls from being a complete success. The gags are written for a large audience who have paid several dollars for tick-ets and had damned well better laugh. They are short and snappy to the sacrifice of a well-developed plot. But the music and the memorable characterizations are the show, and it is in these areas that Proscenium's version that

Peter Martinez provides musical direction and leads a weird (piano, flute, oboe, vi-olin, and drums) but satisfying combo in accompaniment to the singers. Some of the cast are surprisingly good, some only mediocre. Daniel Zalenka, who plays Nathan Detroit, is the most Runyonesque in his role and thus the most satisfying. Nathan, the proprietor of a Broadwayproprietor of a bloadway-area floating crap game, has been engaged for ourteen years to Adelaide, a "goil" with adenoid trouble who is the reigning star of the ret Hotbox. Anyway, when Nathan stops the Anyway, when Nathan stops the crap game and Sky stops gambling, Broadway has lost two of its most memorable characters. This reviewer doesn't think the women are worth the sacrifice.

There are plenty of "guys" left running the streets though-Nicely Nicely Johnson, Henry the Horse, Big Jule, and (best of all) Benny Southstreet. Bruce Miller as Benny almost walks away with the show several times. Robert Beardsley's Nicely Nicely needs more work. By the time he has his big num-ber. Other satisfying perform-ances are turned in by Adele Kajeckas (General Cart-Kajeckas (General Cart-wright) and Richard Dozier as Sarah's Uncle Arvide. Dozier acts well, but his song is poorly staged, one of the many evidences of faulty direction that pervade the evening's entertainment.

Prof Rewriting Bible to Reach Man in Street

By Jesus S. Carlos

When you read Shakespeare you may be reading a work of the bard rewritten by Charles and Mary Lamb or Robert Graves or Samuel Johnson. Unless you're familiar with Elizabethan English of the original Shakespeare, you will, no doubt, find the contemporary language into which it is recast easier to read and understand.

If you go over the present Christian Bible it's likely you'll slow down in your reading and do double takes to absorb the meaning of those verses and parables. Pa-tience, brethren. Your suffer-ance shall find relief not too ance shall this court in long from now. An assistant professor of education, Lawrence E. Haf-ner, is engaged in a labor of love, a sort of Biblical language "aggiornamento," so that you and I and the man on the street may read and understand the New Testament with ease. He is rewording and reconstructing the text of everything from Matthew to Revelations. Hafner is rewriting the New Testament primarily to reach the man on the street, "I surmised that the

"I surmised that the average adult has difficulty in reading the Bible, es-pecially the Revelations," he said. "I inferred that most people would find the Epistles of Paul quite difficult. I thought I could express these ideas less complex sentences using easier words." "It would still sound adult,

Elimination of the tricky rendezvous maneuver was a disappointment to America's space planners.

Such an operation will be necessary when future as-tronauts hook up with orbiting fuel supplies on flights to the moon and officials had the hoped at least to get a start in that direction Thursday,

But late in the first orbit ground controllers advised McDivitt had used up half his fuel trying to steer closer to the big white rocket boost-er which was orbiting along behind and below the capsule like a crazily tumbling tank car.

"I think we should knock it off." McDivitt said to Gris-McDivitt said to Grissom.

Federal, state and local of-ficers launched a massive in-vestigation into the killing. From the number of bullet holes in the car, they theorized several persons participated in the shooting. Moore, the father of four daughters and a church choir singer, died instantly with a bullet through the head. Rogers was hit in the shoulder.

Washington Parish-county -Sheriff Dorman Crowe, who hired the two Negro deputies last June over objections of the Ku Klux Klan, said the squad car's rear window. Then he said the pickup truck pulled past, raking the car with more shots.

Every window in the car was smashed by the bullets, the sheriff said. Although wounded, Rogers got off a radio alarm.

In Tylertown, 40 miles to the northwest, the town marshal, Vern Brunfield, heard the alarm and spotted McElveen's pickup truck with a Confederate flag tag on its front bumper. Walthall County Sheriff J,C, Knippers said Mc-Elveen was armed with a .45caliber pistol and a .22-cali-ber pistol.

SIU wasted little time in letting little Ohio Wesleyan know who was boss Thursday. The Salukis picked up two quick runs in the first on an infield hit by John Siebel and consecutive doubles by Kent Collins and Al Peludat.

They came back with three more runs in the third before Wesleyan knew what was hap-pening. Collins, the Salukis' leading hitter, started with a single. Peludat, who lead the Salukis' hitting attack with 4-5, then dropped a line drive just out of reach of the Ohio centerfielder.

It went for a triple and Collins scampered home. Third baseman Bob Bernstein then sacrificed Peludat from third. Vincent ended the scoring, blasting a line drive home run to left field, his third of the year.

The little Rockport, Ind. junior then went back to his ob on the mound and limited job on the mount and allow Wesleyan to only one base runner until the eighth. Then the Battling Bishops finally spoiled his no-hit bid with their only run on two singles, one an infield hit to deep short and the other a bloop line drive just over the head of Saluki second baseman

Larry Schaake. SIU countered with a run in the ninth on a double by Schaake and Collins' third hit of the afternoon. The win was Salukis the two defeats, victories. This afternoon the Salukis will send tournament veteran John Hotz (8-1) to the mound against the Western Illinois Leathernecks (22-6). Coach Guy Ricci will put his hopes on a right-hander also, in junior Jim Johnson (7-3).

GENE VINCENT

leyan's fifth loss against 12

Western Illinois Enters Final After Bombing Foe 8-0 Here

Western Illinois University moved into the final round of the Mid-East College Division Regional Baseball Tourna-ment by surprising Union Uni-versity of Jackson, Tenn., 8-0, in the opening game of the tournament at the SIU base-ball field ball field.

The loss was the first of the year for the Union's Bulldogs who came to the tourna-ment with a 23-0 record.

Both teams were locked in scoreless duel until Western a scoreress uter until western broke through with its first run in the sixth inning. Pitcher Dick Howard start-ed the inning with a double to left center field. He moved to left center rield. He moved to third on a bloop single to left by shortstop Terry Brecher and scored when center fielder Ed Brooks hit into a fielder's choice play. Brooks drove in the second run for the Leathernecks in the eighth. Second baseman Angie Valleio led off with a walk, was sacrificed to second by Brecher and scored on Brook's hit to left. Gary Hoskins replaced the starting pitcher, Ron Hardin and got the side out without further damage.

Western broke the game open in the ninth inning thanks mainly to the sloppy fielding on Union's part.

Western scored six runs with the help of four errors, a walk and two hits, one a two-run homerun over the left field fence by their leading hitter, right fielder Dave hitter, Ford.

Meanwhile, Howard was invincible to the team that came into the tournament with .348 team batting average and boasting four of the nation's top individual hitters. and

Howard gave the Bulldogs five hits, three of them on the infield, and walked but one batter.

Carbondale Committee Submits Downtown Traffic Relief Plan

A temporary program for relieving the traffic problems in downtown Carbondale was recommended by the Street and Traffic Committee of the Carbondale Planning Com-mission Wednesday.

Main Street and expanding both Main and Walnut Streets to improve the flow of traffic. The construction of a one-way couple between the two streets was discussed.

The comnittee, during the lengthy meeting, also recom-mended that an ordinance be passed to ban parking on Main Street after the resurfacing is completed.

To replace the 58 on-street parking spaces that will be lost when parking is removed, the committee proposed the extension of off-street parking facilities to meet the needs of the downtown area. This temporar

This temporary relief method would affect the flow of method would affect the flow of traffic in downtown Car-bondale as well as to and from SIU. But, after dis-cussing the matter with SIU officials, the committee felt there would be no adverse affects on traffic to and from the commut the campus.

The program entails the ex-pansion of Main Street to include two-lane traffic in both east and west directions of the city, with additional lanes for left and right turns on certain left and right turns on certain streets. For example, a one-way couple on Illinois Avenue will permit vehicles moving in either direction to make left and right turns on to Main street without any blocking. The widening of Main Street then will be growth enhanced

The widening of Main Street then will be greatly enhanced by the Illinois Central Rail-road's plans to have its depot, division office and freight station moved to a location on the north edge of town. The railroad has also agreed to leave two tracks through to leave two tracks through town, leaving the regulation of speed to the discretion of the city. People

Some of its clients, The committee presented projection figures from the Greater Egypt Planning Com-mission showing that the number of vchicles, 19,000, has already exceeded the 1970 projection figure. It also stressed the fact that in 10 to 15 wears the population of 15 years the population of Carbondale will more than double its present figure.

The cost of the project is estimated at $210,000. After the four-year period, the State Highway Department would then come up with a plan for a permanent widening project.

The Commission voted to have the report brought up for action before its meeting June 16.

In other action, the com-mission heard a report from the Zoning Committee on a request by the proprietors of the Lincoln Avenue Dormitory Complex on the construction of a three-structure complex on Lincoln Avenue.

The committee moved to deny the proprietors's request to include kitchen units in the buildings on the grounds that it felt the buildings as a planning development did not meet the requirements for such build-ings under the ordinance pertaining to the zoning code.

The committee's motion as tabled until the comwas mission's next meeting. Additional studies will be made between this period to determine the feasibility of the project as well as ordinance it will come under.
