Annual Greek Week To Take Place May 16-20

May 16-20 has been officially declared as Greek Week this year. The purpose of Greek Week is to: (1) Evaluate Greeks with respect to campus and community activities. (2) Promote cooperation between Greeks. (3) Improve public relations, and (4) Give social activities.

Mentalist To Be Here Thursday

Harlan Trabell, world famous magician and psychologist, will present his lecture "Dreams for Sale," at the freshman assembly Thursday at 10 a. m. in Shroyok Auditorium.

In his featured act, "Eyeless Vision," Dr. Trabell, with his eyes securely sealed with layers of adhesive tape and then heavily blindfolded, not only recognizes instantly the shapes, colors and textures of various objects but he can describe them in detail. He merely passes his fingers tips within a few inches of the printed page, and then actually reads newspapers, magazine, cards or letters with the reading side turned away from him.

Trabell's act is not a so-called "Mind-Reading" act. He has no assistants. He is an amazing psychologist who plays with human minds as though they were toys.

James B. Pond, in Program magazine, wrote: "The Amazing thing in 'Miracles of the Mind' is that people called up from the audience do things with their super-conscious minds that a magician would do with magic. It is weird. It is uncanny! It is Terbell!"

Variety Of Jobs Available In Summer Camps

Summer camp job openings for both men and women are available at many camps in the New England states, New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, according to the New York State Employment Service. The range from all-around general counselors and water sports counselors to dietitians and athletic directors. There are also jobs for specialists in drama, dance, arts, and crafts, music, nature study, photography and athletics.

Applications are to be had at least one month in advance of college and be in good health. Some camps ask for students majoring in social sciences, social work, or teacher training courses.

Jobs start the first part of July and last until the end of August. Certificates are to be awarded to the successful candidates and to receive additional information from Camp Unit, Professional Office, New York State Employment Service, 40 East 59th Street, New York, N. Y.

Salaries start at $100 for beginners and range through the positions of experienced counselors and specialists, which pay $200 to $400 a season, head counselors, which take in $400 to $1,000, and dietitians which get up to $500. In addition, full room and board is furnished and transportation is offered.

SIU Contract Bridge Champions Announced

Jim Aiken, Philip Eigenmann, George Evanoff and Tom Schwartz have been named the 1954 campus Contract Bridge champions at SIU by Louis D. Day Jr., chairman of the National Inter-collegiate Bridge Tournament Committee.

Teams representing Purdue University and Dartmouth College won the national championship.

More than 3,000 students at 173 colleges and universities in 44 states took part in the tournament. At SIU, a total of 16 students participated in the contest. William Rogge directed the tournament. Certificates are to be awarded each of the four winners here in the near future, and a plaque bearing the names of the winners will be placed in the Student Union.

First Sassafras Program Planned For Tomorrow

CAROLE POOS and Dr. Paul Hunsinger go over modern poems to be read in tomorrow's first in a series of assemblies, SASSAFRAS, which will have the added attraction of the serving of sassafras tea brewed from an old recipe handed down by Wyona Smith by her great-grandmother.

Sassafras anyone? Tomorrow at 10 a. m. SASSAFRAS—Special Assembly of Speech Students Also Friends Relatives and Spectators—will meet in the new SIU Playhouse.

The actual sassafras tea will be served. The brew will be mixed from a special recipe passed down by Wyona Smith's great-grandmother. All students are invited. The assembly, first of a monthly series will be presented to give speakers the opportunity to talk before larger audience than is possible in the classroom. Readings of modern poetry will be featured in tomorrow's meeting. Events scheduled for future assemblies include debates, extemporaneous speaking contests, orations, one act plays, dramatic sketches, discussions, and interpretation.

Officers To Inspect Southern ROTC Unit

The AFROTC unit at Southern will be visited by three officers from AFROTC headquarters April 20 and 21. The visiting officers will perform the annual Federal inspection of the local unit as required by Air Force regulations. Colonel Franklin G. Pruett will head the inspection team. He will be assisted by Lt. Col. John H. Thompson and Lt. Col. Robert L. Cox.

The inspectors will be concerned with all operations of the ROTC and are expected to pay particular attention to the cadets themselves.

SCHEDULE OF GUIDANCE TEST BATTERIES LISTED

All new students and students who have not yet taken the Guidance Test Battery are to take the tests at 10 a. m. on the following dates in the University School auditorium: Mathematics, April 2; General Aptitude, April 9; and Reading, April 23.

The results of these tests are used by academic advisers and the counselors in the Office of Student Affairs in order to assist students plan their educational and vocational careers. Attendance will be checked at all examinations.

Debate Tourney Draws Entries From 38 Schools

College students from 38 schools and four states will be on campus April 8, 9, and 10 for the biennial Pi Kappa Delta provincial forensic tournament sponsored jointly by the Illinois and Missouri provinces.

Eight contests will be held during the three-day tourney. There will be a contest in both the men and women's debating, men and women's oratory, men and women's extemporaneous speaking, a discussion contest, and a poetry reading contest.

Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity, holds a biennial national tournament. On the officers, individual provinces hold their own tourneys. Illinois and Missouri Provinces sponsor their jointly to avoid repeating state tournament competition. There are four southern Wisconsin schools in the Illinois Province, and four southern Iowa schools in the Missouri Province.

Dr. A. J. Croft, SIU's debate coach, is tournament chairman. Serving with his committee are Dr. Clayton Ford, governor of the Illinois Province; Dr. Ralph Mickler, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Province; Harold C. Swanow, governor of the Missouri Province; and Gilbert Rau, secretary-treasurer of the Missouri Province.

The visiting students will be housed in the University dormitories and the VTI dorms at Southern Acres. They will be fed in the cafeteria.

This is the first year Southern has ever been host school to the tourney. Two years ago Cape Girardeau Teachers' College was host school. Last year Southern debaters attended the PKD national tourney in Kalamazoo, Mich.

State FTA Convention Here This Weekend

Future Teachers of America, Egyptian Chapter No. 1, will be host at the annual state convention on Saturday morning. Group discussions will be held followed by a business session at 11:30 a. m. State officers will be elected at this meeting. Duke Mueller, a junior, has been nominated as the local officer in charge for the office of first vice-president of the state organization.

Miss Teena Overpeck, president of the Indiana State FTA, and secretary of the National Association of FTA, will be the principal speaker at the Saturday night banquet. President D. W. Morris will also address the group, and Professor Ford Warren, the original charter sponsor of the Southern chapter, will be among the special guests at the banquet. Entertainment will be by the SIU Madrigal Singers.

Committee chairmen who have planned the convention on Southern's campus are: program, Donald Darnell; refreshments, Josephine Deussen; theme and decorations, Charles Ireland and Denver Dunn; registration, Juanita Boes, display, Robert Sulzer; favors, Sandra McMurdo; housing and transportation, Bill Bauer and Duke Mueller; publicity, Norma Jean Followell and Barbara Graham.

Alpha Phi Alpha To Hold Formal Saturday

Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity will hold its first annual Sweetheart Dance Saturday, general chairman to Dick Gregory, chairman of the event.

The dance, to be held in the Men's gymnasium, will be an informal affair, beginning at 9 p. m. The fraternity sweetheart will be crowned at 10:30.

The girl who is chosen fraternity sweetheart will receive an expense-paid trip to Indianapolis, Ind., May 15-16, and will be a candidate for Regional Alpha Phi Alpha Queen. Mary Ann Bass and Dorothy Beck won debates from Northern, Normal, and Bradley. They lost to Wheaton, Augustana, and another team from Normal.

Spring Festival Midway Set-Up Altered This Year

A new incentive system will be used in regard to proceeds from stands along the Spring Festival midway this year, according to Joe Prediger, midway committee chairman.

Instead of splitting profits on a that fifty-fifty basis, groups are going to be given a more liberal commission on profits over $8. Under the new system, groups who have stands on the midway will be permitted to keep 50 per cent of their profits.

On this basis, Prediger figures that a group which netted $8.50 last year for example, would make a profit of $10.50 this year.

Theme of this year's midway, in keeping with the "Foreign Frolics" theme for Spring Festival, will be keeping with the "Foreign Frolics" "Crossroads of the World." A trophy will be awarded to the group which has the "best booth on the basis of attractiveness, originality, construction, compliance with the theme of the midway and 'appeal to people.' The trophy for the winning booth will be awarded at the intermission of the Miss Southern contest Saturday afternoon, May 1.

Applications for space along the midway, to be located between Old Main and the Men's gymnasium, must be submitted to the midway committee by 4 p. m. April 23. Chairs and tables will be furnished for booths if they are needed; however, groups will be required to furnish their own lights and building materials.

Typical entries in past years have been basketball throw, side shows, snowball wands and games of skill involving throwing darts at balloons and shooting water guns at predators. No games of chance will be permitted along the midway, Prediger says.

Other events scheduled for the Spring Festival weekend are the Vaudeville Show, "Paris After Dark," Friday evening April 30 in Shroyok auditorium; the Miss Southern contest, Saturday afternoon; and the concert and dance Saturday evening.

Wilson Chosen Gold Digger King

JOYCE BORELLA plans the coronation on Leo Wilson shortly after he was chosen 'King of the Gold Diggers' at the Pan-Hellenic sponsored dance Saturday night. Note the vegetable corsage on Wilson's lapel, a novelty feature of the dance.

SIU Pan-American Festival Set For Week Of April 12

A motion picture, two visiting speakers, and exhibits will feature a Pan-American Festival at Southern Illinois University during the week of April 12. Joseph B. Baxter, festival committee chairman and SIU assistant professor of history, announced today.

The festival activities will coincide with a nationwide observance of Pan-American Week.

A Mexican film with English subtitles, "Subida al Cielo" (Mexican Hayride) will be shown in the SIU University School auditorium April 12, one of a series of films sponsored by the SIU Audio-Visual Aids department. The first showing will begin at 6 p. m.

Dr. Pablo Max Vinasram, former Paraguayan Counsel-General in the United States and currently a professor in the Institute of Latin American Studies at the University of Texas, will be the speaker at a 7:30 p. m. public meeting in the Little Theater of Algezdal Hall April 13.

Don P. Bolt, Brazil, Ind., traveler and nuclear on Latin America, will deliver a Pan-American Day address at a 10 a. m. convention in Shroyok auditorium April 14. He will join a panel of faculty members and Latin American students during an afternoon campus meeting.

Pan-American Festival exhibits will be open to the public throughout the week in the Museum Annex, Algezdal Hall. These will include the Pan-American Union art exhibit of 12 original paintings by contemporary Latin American artists; museum exhibits of artifacts representing ancient Mexican, Mexican, and Peruvian cultures; photographs and exhibits of SIU archeological field sessions and language study tours in Mexico; and SIU University School display.

Becker Heads Arnold Air Society

NEWLY ELECTED officers of the Arnold Air Society and Major Willis Blum, sponsor, go over plans for the society for the coming year. Standing are Maj. Blum, Jim Aiken, historian; Paul Fehrenbach, adjutant and recorder; James Prowell, treasurer. Seated are Joe Racine, executive officer; Ralph Becker, president; Robert Davis, operations officer. In his acceptance speech to the 90 member squad, Becker said he had plans to "make the Society better known on the SIU campus during the year."

All of the new officers are juniors in the Air Science course and will begin their years reign at the next regularly scheduled meeting. The Arnold Air Society sponsors the highlights of the winter season at SIU. It is a national honorary organization for outstanding advanced cadets in AF ROTC.

English Prof Directs Story Hour

MRS. MAE TROVILLION, left, area children's "story hour lady," records a script for her radio program heard Saturdays at 9:15 a. m. over radio station WCIL. Mrs. Smith, a member of SIU's English department, presents the programs under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Women. Children reading the scripts are Mary Sue Hiskey and Stephen Dracewell.

More goes into a children's radio program than meets a mope's eye, says Mrs. Smith. She has written, cast, tape recorded, and edited more than 50 adventures for small fry consumption. She builds the scripts, enacted by local school children, around the desires and interests of youngsters.

Staging the plays is "a simple and enjoyable experience," says Mrs. Smith. She invites children to her home and allows each child to select the part he would like to read. After several on-the-spot rehearsals she tapes the skit, then after the "actors" have gone, she spends grueling hours editing the material and putting it into shape.

Book Reviews

By Sue Alice Martin

For three-fourths of a century a battle has been on as to the true facts about the battle of Little Big Horn. The Custer Myth was published as a source book of Custeriana to end all source books. The book was written and compiled by Colonel W. A. Graham, United States Army, retired. Part four of the book is a series of articles and a bibliography by Fred Dustin.

Part one deals with Indian accounts of the battle and reveals a person's interview with Sitting Bull. Parts two and three present among other things, a copy of Bentler's account of the battle written in a letter to his wife on July 4, 1876, five days after the battle and before all the controversy over what actually had happened began.

Many new photographs, maps, and other illustrations are in this book. The origin of the Kellogg-Brand Pact is recorded in Peace In Their Time by Robert H. Ferrell published by Yale University Press in 1952.

The book is the history of guilt and innocence and of man's hope when on Aug. 27, 1928, the foreign ministers of the nations of the world solemnly signed a treaty denouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

Right now Mrs. Smith is concocting a story about the parrot that rode on the foot of Padgett'ski as he worked the piano pedals. Believe it or not, she says, one time that parrot was so overcome with a musical rendition of the great war, he exclaimed, "My, how beautiful."

Company Representatives To Interview Graduating Seniors

Representatives from several companies and schools will interview graduating seniors during this week for job placement next year. E. L. Alexander, superintendent of schools of Edwardsville, Ill., is interviewing for teachers for the 1954-55 school year in the Placement office today. Edwardsville has openings in speech correction, second, third, fifth and sixth grades, junior high language arts, industrial education plus coaching, social counseling, junior high instrumental music, and cafeteria management. Edwardsville salary schedule begins at $3000 for a bachelor's and $3300 for a master's degree. If you are interested and qualified, they may schedule appointments with interviewers at the Placement office.

TOMORROW L. Die Kroeger, director of education of the St. Louis, Mo. public schools will interview anyone interested in the St. Louis system. Talbot Honey, personnel manager of the Kroger Co. will also conduct interviews at the Placement office on Wednesday. He is interested in talking with graduating men interested in careers in merchandise management (buying, sales promotion, district management, merchandising), personnel management, warehousing and transportation, financial management (accounting, auditing, budgeting, controlling), real estate management, and food processing. Salaries start at $335 a month.

JAMES MOON, superintendent of schools of Western Springs, Ill. (Cook County) will interview candidates for grades two through seventh and elementary art all day Thursday. On Thursday afternoon, W. R. Eberhart, assistant superintendent of the Cook County Schools will hold a group interview to answer questions about that school system. W. A. Nielsen, training director of the A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co., is also interviewing Thursday. This firm is looking for qualified men for work in paper chemistry, technical sales, management, general sales and formula feed sales.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Illinois Farm Supply Co. from Chicago will be on campus next Tuesday, April 6 to interview graduating men for positions in sales, office work, warehousing, and elevator operators. Contact the Placement office for appointments if you wish to see any of these persons.

That Crazy College Flavor

With Greek Week and Spring Festival rearing their heads and headaches, another chaotic spring term is at last underway in the true style. Dances, parties, committee meetings, and informal outings will soon be going full force, and any hope of getting some studying done is completely out of the question—unless one happens to be a nobody or half-way normal.

Spring Festival, next to Homecoming, is the greatest grade-reducer, sleep preventer and nervous agent of all campus events. It seems at times that it's not worth all the ballhoop and work. But we love it!

The Greek organizations soon will begin practicing for the high of competitive Greek Week, and the midnight oil will burn brightly. Sweaty shirts and wet blouses will be cast aside before retiring as if they were layers of skin.

The professors are so uncooperative about these social events. They even insist that students attend classes on the days of the big dances and other space jammers.

One of the purposes of going to college is to become socially adjusted. In addition to the adjustment, comes an overhaul job and a cleaning if one keeps up with the social whirl. One member commented that her son must have a corsege diet after checking his budget.

Spring term books become instruments to hide spots of dirt on one's trousers and to keep up with class, if one goes. Term papers become instruments of torture; assignments seem to be the instructor's way of getting even with students for their spring stupor.

Friend could have explained the phenomena in terms of sex: the half-baked romatics would call it "spring fever," but I call it a form of insanity—the form of insanity which gives college life the wonderful flavor of half-madness which we can look back on and wish we still had when we reach 40. J. A.

Students Are Afraid To Think For Themselves

Our colleges are being invaded by an atmosphere of fear and suppression created by irresponsible leaders, hysterical community leaders, and other self-appointed "thought police" who have succeeded in intimidating both our students and faculties.

This is the startling and frightening conclusion of a survey made by reporter Andre Fontaine of our colleges and universities which serves as the basis for the article "Fear On The Campus," appearing in the April issue of Redbook Magazine.

After many personal interviews with students, Mr. Fontaine found that they are becoming afraid to ask questions on controversial subjects; afraid to join or support unpopular causes even when they believe them to be right; afraid to criticize our political and economic ways or try to improve them. These are a few.

Jack Cookson, a law student at Ohio State University: "It seems to me that you go to college to think. If people are afraid to think until they get the word from some Government committee that it's okay, and many are today—you might as well close up the colleges."

Ed Figel, editor of the student newspaper at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology: "Students today don't feel that they're free to sample every idea, as they used to be."

Howard Willens, past president of the University of Michigan's student legislature: "Today a student goes out of college with a textbook adherence to the U. S. systems and found ours best. In a healthy democracy, everybody ought to be politically active. But I think today's students will avoid any political activity when they get out. Why shouldn't they? They're taught to be obedient in educational administration from Jackson, Mo., has accepted a position in speech and guidance in the Millville High School, St. Louis County.

withdraw from it in college." Barbara Jettinghoff, editor of "The Lantern" at Ohio State University: "Communism is a touch-not subject for both professors and students. As a result, students don't know enough about it—and it's very important for our generation to know all about communism so that we can combat it intelligently."

Students are frightened to speak their minds because they know that upon graduation some of their predecessors have been denied jobs and commissions in the armed services because they joined or contributed to some organization or attended some meeting. On campus right now, they are being "bribe" without their knowledge and without an opportunity of explaining their records.

at the University of Michigan.

Honorary Music Sorority Installs New Officers
Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary professional music sorority at Southern, installed new officers for the new term following the regular business meeting of the chapter held in the Music Annex last Thursday night.

The new officers installed were: Phyllis Foster, president, Betsy Williams, vice-president, Peggy Fullerton, corresponding and reading secretary, Margie Parker, treasurer, Shirley Olson, historian and, the chorister is Loretta Milligan, with Marlene Rann serving as alumni secretary.

an investigator of the State Police takes down the names of those attending meetings of "liberal" or "leftist" groups, even the license numbers of cars parked in the vicinity of the meeting place. At Contra Costa Junior College in California, the Great Books Course discussions are put on tape as a record of the students' reactions and opinions of Karl Marx's "Communist Manifesto." Such actions on campus will undoubtedly inhibit a student's self-expression and thinking and is an offense against their freedom.

Ernest Rubenstein, a Princeton graduate and later editor of the Yale Law School Journal states: "It's a sort of pervasive fear that you have—that you have to watch your step. It's hard to list the direct effects."

These appalling conditions, reporter Fontaine finds, are unnecessary in most cases as a poll of the students revealed that they are politically conservative and unlikely to accept Communism on any terms.

They have also proven themselves capable of handling free and open discussions of the subject of communism. As Robert Neary, a member of the student legislature at Michigan, said: "We can beat the radicals—in the sunlight."

As We See It

By Bob Poos and George Evanoff

ANOTHER example of the usual attitude of a stir up a lot of action and then forget about the outcome, which quite often is the rule around here has been brought to our attention recently. Those of you who were around these hallowed halls last year will remember an "eight man" contest. It was held to raise money for something or other. Now the idea was a good one, the guys participating didn't mind. They entered into the spirit of the thing in good faith. What irks them, and us by the way, is the fact that the winners were promised a spitoon as a prize. They never did receive their so-called reward.

How To Pamper The Prof And Stay In College

(ACP) Following are 10 suggestions from Robert Tyson, of Hunter College, department of psychology, on how to stay in college:

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrates interesting interest and gives him timely items to mention in class. It is believing and shaking it, dealing with his subject, bring in any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.
2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't say "I'm believing and shaking it."
3. Nod frequently and murmur. "How true!" To you this seems exaggerated; to him, it's quite objective.
4. Sit in front near him. (Applies only if you intend to ask a question.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.
5. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.
6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.
7. If you must nap, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.
8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do much in psychology class and psychology in math class, match books for size and color.
9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your brother's second grade reader at that.
10. Call attention to his writing. Proceed an exquisite clear competence connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it. As to whether or not you want to do some work in addition to all this, well, it's controversial and up to the individual.

PAT BRUCE chats with Rep. S. O. Dale on his way here Thursday for the freshman assembly, which featured a mock debate. Pat was crowned ISA Sweetheart not so long ago. Both are from Fairfield.

Mock Session Of Legislature Held In Assembly

At a stormy mock session of the Illinois legislature, convened in the Southern Illinois University auditorium last Thursday, Rep. Clyde Choate, Ann. declared that his bill to provide students with salaries and automobiles had been so crippled by amendments that he no longer recognized it.

It doesn't mean anything anymore Choate said and received a unanimous vote on his proposal that the measure be dropped.

As originally submitted, the bill would have allotted each SIU student $50 a week and free use of any of 500 passenger cars which would have been purchased with a $750,000 appropriation. The bill would also double the salary of SIU President D. W. Morris and grant him two vacations a year, each for 26 weeks.

The first amendment came from Rep. S. O. Dale, Fairfield, specifying that salaries be paid only to students maintaining a grade average of "A plus" for 12 consecutive semesters. Rep. Gordon Kerr, Brookport, then won acceptance for his amendment that students of opposite sexes be forbidden to ride together in the cars to be made available to them.

Other amendments would require that tuition costs be raised to compensate for the additional expenditure on the students; that students would have to be 65 years old or more to drive University cars, and that Dr. Morris spend at least one hour each day in his office.

DELTA ZETA SPONSORS CARD PARTY WEDNESDAY
The Delta Zeta sorority will hold its annual all-school card party Wednesday evening, March 31, in the Student Union. The party, which will start at 7:30, will feature all types of card games.

Tickets are being sold by members of the sorority and in front of Old Main.

COMMERCE CLUB TO HOLD PARTY THURSDAY NIGHT
The Commerce Club will have a party in the Student Union Thursday night, April 1, from 7 to 10 p.m. based upon a depression theme. All business administration students are invited to attend and if they wish, may attend in costume appropriate to the over-all theme.

FORMER VILLAGE attorney Reuben Levin of Bennington, Vt., is not feeling too badly about a court ruling against his parking ordinance four months ago. The law drawn up by Levin called for a $50 fine for illegal parking. The other day, Levin parked in a restricted zone. He got off with a one-dollar fine — thanks to repeal of the Levin ordinance.

The first list of merits and demerits was placed on the AFROTC bulletin board at the end of the winter quarter and it was an interesting list statistically. There were 75 cadets who were caught and given demerits in the first go-round. The most popular error committed by these cadets was for failure to read the bulletin board.

More than 50 cadets were given demerits for this error. The other discrepancies were: failure to wear proper uniform or no uniform at all; poor attitude and insubordination; failure to salute; unmilitary like manner at drill displayed by a cadet officer (this error was worth 20 demerits to the offender); and cheating gun in ranks.

There were 360 demerits handed out to the 7 cadets for an average of 4.8 demerits per man. The largest single total of demerits was for the "unmilitarylike manner" offense.

On the other side of the fence there were 24 merits awarded to cadets for various outstanding points. Naturally the average merit award was 3 per man but the number of cadets who received the merits was entirely too small. With almost 1000 cadets in the program there should be more display of outstanding personal merit.

There is an eye catching sign on the AFROTC bulletin board which reads "Southern 1909; Nore Dame, 1897." For the benefit of those laymen who are not familiar with report of victories by the AFROTC rifle team as posted by T-Sgt. G. Hansen, that sign means the rifle team is proud to announce a victory over the Irish rifle team. The victory is especially sweet since Notre Dame was the fourth ranked team in the recent Heate rifle match.

Besides being ranked fourth nationally in that match, ND also won the trophy in our area.

These recent wins are very encouraging for a team which has now won more games in a row than they won all last year. Their record now is 13 (including 5 straight) wins and 5 losses.

These matches are, for the most part, paper matches. This means a challenge is sent out and accepted by two schools. Each school agrees to fire a supervised match during a certain day. The scores of these schools are certified by a responsible officer and interchanged; thus the results are known. One school can fire the same score against more than one opponent providing they fire during the time specified in the challenge.

SIU SENDS DELEGATES TO UN CONFERENCE
The eighth annual Student United Nations Conference will be held at the University of Wisconsin in Madison this week. The SIU delegation consisted of Khalid Rishani, Curtis Hamilton, Sujata Kesarcodi, Robert Jackson and John Zeigler, will be representatives from Lebanon and be seated on the Security Council. Rishani is actually an exchange student from Lebanon. The keynote speaker of the mock United Nations conference will be the chief U. N. representative from Israel.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

It's not surprising Luckies lead in college circulation—these better-tasting cigarettes are tops across the nation!
Roger Meadors, Southern Illinois Univ.

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER LUCKIES
A comprehensive survey—based on 31,000 student interviews and supervised by college professors—shows that smokers in colleges from coast to coast prefer Luckies to all other brands! The No. 1 reason: Luckies' better taste!

Baseball Team Splits In Season's Opener

By Bill Young

The Salukis split a double-header with Arkansas State's Indians to initiate the 1954 baseball season.

Cleon West and Gene Tabacchi paced the two game 19-hit Saluki attack with 4 of 8 each. Verlan Zapotocky accounted for 3 hits in 6 trips to the plate.

Arkansas wasted little time in jumping on Grandcolas in the first game. With two out, Rapert drove a hard bouncer to Gene Ernest at third who couldn't find the handle.

Arkansas allied for three runs on three hits off Grandcolas in the eighth and ninth innings. Gordon Lambert came in in the ninth to finish the game.

In the wind-up, Southern jumped to an early lead with three runs in the first off starter Cerdes. They scored two more in the fifth and another in the seventh.

C'dale Vets Tackle Ritz In Benefit

SIU sports fans will be able to see some very good independent basketball tomorrow night when the Carbondale Vets play the Ritz Cafe in a grudge match at the Southern gym.

The Ritzers formerly dominated Southern Illinois independent basketball. Vets, showing no respect for reputation, thumped them soundly in Murphysboro invitational tournament last Thursday.

Both squads are dominated by former Southern players. Ex. SIU men for Ritz are John and Charlie Goss and Jack Morgan who is still an SIU student.

Partington has the distinction of once dumping in the winning points for St. Louis U. in the Sugar Bowl game of a couple of years ago against Kentucky.

The game, which is being played as a benefit for the newly formed Carbondale baseball league, will start at 7:30 p. m. Tickets will be sold at the door. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for kids.

The Eastern Panthers will open their season Apr. 13 with a non-conference match against DePauw. The match will precede and give some indication of the outcome of their next match, a conference tilt against the Salukis.

Partington, 1b	4	2	0

Eastern, like the Southern squad, has a dearth of tennis lettermen. The Panthers have three lettermen whereas SIU has only two.

Returning for coach Rex Darling on the Panther squad are Tom Schreck, Mattoon senior and district 20 N.A.I.A. champ last year; Dick McDonald of Mattoon; and Berl Pulliam of Effingham.

Conference foes include Southern, two matches, Normal, two matches, and Western, one match.

Jack Renfro should be one of the fastest first basemen in the conference this year. Renfro has won two track letters, specializing in the sprints. This will be his first season (and his last, since he's a senior) as a first string baseball player.

Sigma Pi, Delta Zeta Capture Hellenic Bowling

Champions were crowned in both Men's and Women's divisions of the S. I. U. Hellenic bowling league at Carbondale Wednesday night when Sigma Pi of the former bracket and Delta Zeta of the latter clinched their respective titles.

Both teams did the trick in highly appropriate fashion. The Sigma Pi crew cut their championship on ice with a triple shelling of the defending champions, Phi Kappa Tau, while the Women captured their crown by virtue of a two-ply victory over runner-up Pi Kappa Sigma.

Members of the champion Sigma Pi Team are Andy Marzec, Chet Donarski, Bill Church, Gene Graves, Gay McCullough and Bill Wallin. Gay McCullough took the individual average honors with a respectable 171.33.

Members of the championship Delta Zeta crew are Jeanette Harris, Peggy Farrell, Eleanor Miller, Delores Feldkamp and JoAnn Still. Individual average honors for the ladies went to Mary Ann Klingenberg with a 151.21.

REPTILE IN SOUTHERN COLLECTION RARE FIND
A snake specimen in Southern's museum research collection has been identified as a scarier snake, the first recorded find of this snake in Illinois, reports Miss Esther Bennett, SIU museum curator of biology, in Herpetologica, journal of the Herpetologists League, Escalado, Cal.
The reptile, which has been preserved in the SIU collection since it was taken in the Wolf Lake swampy area of Union county by a member of the SIU zoology staff on July 26, 1942, has been identified as the scarier snake by Philip W. Smith of the Illinois Natural History Survey.
Previously, it has been identified as a milk snake. The specimen is only 18 inches long.

Sport Spiel

By Bob Pous

The most active season for sports at SIU—spring—is about to get underway with a vengeance. Fall has its football, winter boasts the hard-work aspirations of basketball men, but only spring has four active varsity sports. Golf and tennis are minor sports, and in the major athletic interests, baseball and track come into the fore.

A search for new blood and capable performers seems to be the watchword this year for the Salukis. Golf has three returning lettermen, tennis only two, and the baseball squad is a little better off with more than enough regulars for each position. Many of these regulars will have to be shifted to different positions, however, if the Salukis are to field an entirely veteran team. For the tracksters, we have seven returning lettermen. These seven may make up for any track deficits, though. Three of them hold records, and the other four are all top men in their event.

Speaking of spring practice, Southern has started theirs. Some transfers and ex-GIs may make this 1954 season better than last year's cellar dwelling struggle. Three transfers who show promise are Joe Yusk, Jerry Hart, and Jim Littlefield. Yusko was a West Florida star who went to Illinois last year. He got peeved, though, when they transferred him from the backfield to the navy old line. Hart transferred from Iowa State, and Littlefield also came from Illinois. Littlefield is a brother of Warren Littlefield, one of the all-time Saluki great linemen. Let's hope some of it rubbed off.

Three of the other lettermen—Moore, Blythe, and Marke—are sophs and can probably be expected to show more than last year when they were good enough to letter. The baseball squad has a chance to put on one of their best shows in years. A more clean competent pitching staff is backed up by a veteran squad which is again backed up by some promising youngsters. This should be one of the big baseball years for SIU.

In track and golf, the prospects are not so bright. With only two men on back from last year's racketeers, Coach Jim Wilkinson is going to have a pretty tough way to go in bringing tennis honors to Southern. Tennis practice has been underway for over three weeks but Wilkinson hasn't been able to devote as much time to it as he would have liked, due to the fact that he has been working hard with wrestler Bob Whelen for his participation in the NCAA tournament.

In golf, Lynn Holder is one better than tennis as far as lettermen are concerned. He has back three linksters. They held their first practice yesterday and the future will show how the many freshman contenders are shaping up. The golf team has only five positions so, the officially at least, two good men shouldn't be too hard to find.

Talk about over-confidence! The Central Michigan Chips aren't even going to hold spring football practice this year. According to them it's the lack of coaches—they are all coaching some different sport. The head coach, Bill Kelly, is the tennis coach. Well, with their last year's record—they were conference champs, maybe they won't need any spring practice. The coaching situation there reminds us somewhat of Southern where most of the coaches also have their hands full. Wilkinson, for instance, coaches both wrestling and tennis; he also takes over as assistant football coach in the fall. As if this wasn't enough, he was thinking about turning a rifle team. Some guys must like work.
