Students Can Now Apply For Long-Term Loans

Applications are now available at the Financial Assistance Office for long-term loans for SIU students.

Policies approved by the University Scholarship and Loans Committee last week provide that $15,639 will be used for student loans.

The National Defense Student Loan Fund was established under Title II of the National Defense Education Act of 1958. Southern is one of 1,227 colleges and universities sharing $6 million in the first distribution of funds by the United States Office of Education since Congress passed the NDEA last year.

The money has been received at SIU and is on deposit.

Students who borrow under the program will be charged 3 per cent interest on the unpaid balance beginning one year after graduation. Borrowers will have 11 years to pay off the loans.

In order to be eligible for the loans, which can be as much as $600 per year, students must be enrolled for at least 12 quarter hours for undergraduate work, and 10 quarter hours for graduate work.

Students must be in good standing with the University and must continue to meet the standards while receiving assistance from the fund.

High School seniors in their last semester can apply if they have been admitted to the University. Students attending only during summer quarters are not eligible.

Special Consideration

"Special consideration" will be given applicants with a superior academic background who express a desire to teach in the elementary or secondary schools and to students whose academic capacity or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering, or modern foreign language, according to the policy.

The University considers "superior academic background" as those students who ranked in the upper 25 per cent of their high school graduating class, and who have a minimum University average of 3.5.

Ronald Green, director of the Financial Assistance Office, said applicants will probably have to meet the above standards at least during the first year, though it is not a "hard and fast rule." The eligibility is subject to revision.

In addition to the former criteria, all recipients will be determined by the basis of their need, and the need will determine the amount of the loan granted during a given period.

Loans will be granted only for "normal and current educational expenses." The act states that a borrower may receive a maximum of $1,000 per academic year, and no more than $5,000 during his total educational program.

Maximum at SIU

However, in view of the estimated expenses at SIU, the opportunity for part-time employment and scholarship aid, the normal maximum which will be loaned one student during the academic year is $600.

Repayment of the principal of the loan, plus 3 per cent interest per annum, will be accomplished at the rate of 10 per cent each year, beginning one year after completion of the student's education. The repayment schedule may be deferred up to three years if the borrower enters military service.

Co-signers will be required for all borrowers under 21 years of age.

The loan and interest of any borrower who teaches fulltime in a public elementary or secondary school will be cancelled at the rate of 10 per cent each academic year of teaching, up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the total student.

Students must also be United States nationals.

Survey Shows 1,047 Students Own Weapons

From the 1,047 questionnaires returned regarding a central storage building for firearms, the Office of Student Affairs discovered 1,350 weapons owned by students.

Dr. Joseph F. Zaleski, assistant director of housing, said the survey indicates that a central storage point is definitely needed for the weapons.

The questionnaire was circulated to determine how many students were interested in keeping guns on campus. A University regulation prohibits the storing of firearms in University housing.

Zaleski said the most common complaints of the proposal were that students feared the guns might be stolen, and that the hours of operation of the proposed storage center would not be conducive to early morning hunting.

According to Zaleski, both problems could be worked out, after all the questionnaires have been evaluated. He said the center could be open at all times, and for a "small fee", insurance could be arranged.

Of the 1,047 returned questionnaires, 43 said they would use of such a storage center, 370 said they would not, and 244 had no comment.

Zaleski was surprised at the excessive number of weapons owned by students. He said that one girl has seven rifles.

Several "jokers" were included in the returned questionnaires, which Zaleski called "the question group".

James Amess, who plays the part of bad Matt Dillon in a "Gunsnake", even sent in a comment.

"My name is James Amess, and I think I can handle a gun."

Another comment was: "I have no guns, bows or arrows; I am not a dangerous person. I think you for your kind interest in my safety."

Psychologists Receive Grant

Two SIU psychologists have been awarded a $45,490 grant to study the learning behavior of bright, normal and retarded school children.

Most of the funds for the two-year project which will start April 1 came from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The remainder is from SIU research funds.

The researchers—Dr. Malpas and Dr. Neil Carrier of the SIU psychology department faculty—said the study's aims will be to discover a relation between emotional tension and motivation and the intelligence level of the three different groups.

Although psychologists have long assumed that emotion and motivation plays a key role in education, very little experimental data exists to support the thesis.

Bright, normal and retarded children—some 30 to 40 in each of the three groups—will be subjected to five categories of learning tasks during which their emotional behavior will be recorded by observers on clinical apparatus and test scales. Most of the children will be selected from area grade schools and will be tested in a special mobile research trailer outlined from grant funds. The retarded group will come from educable mentally handicapped classes in the same schools.

Denker Heads Piano Concert

A performance of Beethoven's Empress Piano Concerto will be given by pianist Fred Denker who will light a Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra concert Sunday afternoon at Shryock Auditorium.

The free performance will begin at 5:30 p. m.

The program will also include the overture to "The Beautiful Galathea" by Franz von Suppe; and Theron Kirk's "Vignettes," an American composer living in Texas.

Denker, professor of piano at SIU, is a former chairman of State University and the University of Richmond. He has played professionally both as an organist and pianist.

The concert will be the third in the orchestra's annual Carnegie Series. Guest soloist for an afternoon concert April 12 will be violinist Joseph Szegist.

The Music Educators National Conference of SIU is holding a public reception in honor of Denker. Director Carmine Frizello and the Orchestra in the Woody Hall formal lounge immediately following Sunday's concert.

Ad Workshop Held Today

An exhibit of "Advertising Ideas That Worked" is the feature attraction of a fourth annual Advertising Workshop here today.

Radio and newspaper advertising representatives and retailers from Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri are attending the all-day meeting, sponsored by the SIU Journalism department and the Illinois Advertising Club.

Donald G. Hileman, SIU associate professor of journalism, is workshop director.

Topics to be discussed are "Using Local Media for Effective Promotion," "Problems of Retail Advertising Management" and "How To Tell The Story."

Among the speakers are three Missourians: George K. Morgan, advertising manager for the Press and Jefferson Republic; De Soto; Stan Hopkins, advertising manager for the Gideon-Anderson Company, Gideon; and Richard Wiehman, manager of Radio Station KTCB, Malden.

All Textbooks Due No Later Than March 23

All textbooks must be turned in by noon Monday, March 23, the Textbook Service has announced.

Hours of the Service will be posted next week on the bulletin board at the north entrance to Morris Library.

There will be a charge of $1. per book for all texts returned after the Monday deadline.

Students returning books should use the stairwell near the circulation desk, the Service said.

Spend Tonight In Florida At Union

The Student Union is holding a dance in the Union tonight from 8-12.

The theme for the dance is Florida Night. The dance is especially for the students who are not going to Florida over the spring vacation.

Students are asked to wear clothing that would be appropriate in Florida, such as Bermuda shorts.

Arrangements have been made for a four piece band to play from 8-12.

Admission to the dance and refreshments are free.

Harper Heads Geography

Dr. Robert A. Harper, associate professor, will succeed Dr. Floyd F. Cunningham as chairman of the SIU geography department at the beginning of the 1959 spring term.

Dr. Cunningham, who has been geography chairman at SIU since 1947, will remain in the department as a professor. He has been named head of a new climatology laboratory and will do teaching and research.

Harper, 34, has been a geography faculty member since 1950. He came to SIU after receiving his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Harper is a member of the American Geographers Association, the Illinois Geographical Association, the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences and other organizations.

He was co-author of two geography textbooks, "Economic Geography" and "Geography of Europe and North America." Both texts have been translated for use in the schools of Karachi, Pakistan.

Dr. Cunningham, who received his doctorate at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., taught at the American University, Biarritz, France, in 1945-46. He was previously head of the Alabama State College, Florence, for 18 years.

In 1953, Dr. Cunningham received the Fulbright Award. He is a member of the Association of American Geographers, the National Geographic Society, the American Geographical Society, Gamma Theta Upsilon and other organizations.

Dr. Cunningham has taught and lectured in France, Egypt, Germany and other countries. He has traveled widely in Europe, the Americas and the Middle East. During the summer of 1958 Cunningham made a world tour with a student group from SIU.

Registration, Fee Payment Ends Today

All SIU students attending the spring term, except those taking only night or Saturday classes, must be registered today or wait until April 1 to be registered and charge a late fee.

Fees must be paid by 4 p. m. March 20, or advance registration will be cancelled. All fees are paid at the Bursar's Office.

March 30 is the last day of regular registration. Students attending the winter quarter who failed to advance register or who allowed their advance registration to be cancelled by failing to pay their fees will not be allowed to register between March 13 and March 30.

The late registration fee is $3.

Spring term classes begin Tuesday, March 31, except for Monday night classes. These classes will meet on March 30.

Annual J-Day For Journalism Set April 2

Journalism students at SIU will celebrate the annual Journalism Day on Thursday, April 2. All journalism students and faculty members will participate in the event.

Table N. Reese will be on campus as the Elijah P. Lovejoy lecturer. She was the first woman to be awarded the Lovejoy Award for Courage in Journalism.

This Award is given each year by SIU to a journalist who shows outstanding courage in the face of opposition.

The lecturer will be on campus for 3 days to visit classes and to talk with journalism students. She is editor of the Mount Dora (Florida) Topix.

Concluding the day will be the annual J-Day dinner which will be held at Engel's Restaurant at 6:30 p. m.

Hove V. Morgan, editor and publisher of the Sparta News-Pain Dealer, will be the guest speaker. Morgan is noted for his column, "Here's Hove", and is expected to speak with some of the same wit that appears in his column.

Awards will be made to students who have done outstanding work in journalism, and who have contributed to the activities of the Journalism Students Association throughout the year.

The Egyptian Faculty Award will also be presented at the dinner.

Alumni and parents of journalism students are invited to attend the J-Day activities. Tickets to the dinner may be secured

Banquet April 8

Six finalists were chosen in the Miss Southern Acres contest at the Southern Acres Student Union Tuesday night. They are Mary Lou Biggs, Helen French, Carol Heilenbach, Connie McGinnis, Helen Smith and Barry Jo Wood.

One of these six candidates will be chosen Miss Southern Acres for 1959 at a dinner in the LyMar Hotel, in Herrin, on April 8.

The new Queen will be announced at the Coronation Dance at the LyMar's Gold Room April 11, and will be presented the crown by Barbara Larkin, last year's Miss Southern Acres.

The first judging in the contest was held on Jan. 2, when twenty semi-finalists were chosen from the original forty-three.

Tuesday's judging was supposed to narrow the candidates to five finalists, but the judges were unable to eliminate one of the six that were finally chosen.

Miss Biggs is a freshman from Benton and was sponsored by the Southern Acres Women's Co-ops. She was a high school homecoming attendant and received first place in the Voice of America district contest. She is a cosmology major.

Miss French is a SIU cheerleader. The junior elementary education major is from Carbondale. She was sponsored by Southern Acres Hangover Haven.

Miss Heilenbach is a sophomore from Granite City, and was sponsored by the Men's Residence Halls Council.

Alpha Gamma Delta sponsored Miss Wood, a freshman from Granite City. Miss Wood is majoring in home economics. She moved to Granite City from Texas.

The first Miss Southern Acres Contest was held in 1956. The contest has since become one of SIU's major competitions.

Bowyer Hall, first floor, sponsored Miss Heilenbach, a sophomore from Berwyn, Miss Heilenbach is a member of Tri Sigma, was in the Court of the Miss Berywn contest; and was in the Miss Morton High School contest. She is undecided as to a major.

Miss McGinnis was a finalist in the 1958 Miss Freshman competition. The marketing major from Pittsfield was sponsored by Steagall Hall second floor. In high school she won the Girl's Citizenship Award; was a member of the Student Council and the National Honor Society; and was also the 1957 Pike County Fall Festival Queen.

A member of the Angel Flight, Miss Smith is a junior elementary education major from Chester. She was Miss Thompson Point of 1957; Dolphin Contest Attendant for 1957; and Military Ball Queen finalist this year. She is Vice President of Steagall Hall first floor, and was sponsored by the Men's Residence Halls Council.

This issue marks the end of the year for the staff of 58-59. It has been a fast-moving year, filled with many events.

The staff has tried to keep pace with these events. All year has not been a "happy nature"; nor has all reflected good for the University.

We have tried to give the student body good coverage of ALL the news breaking on the campus. In every phase of the newspaper we worked toward being an accurate mirror of the campus, its happenings, its moods and trends.

The task of covering the campus news adequately is a fast growing one. It will be even greater during the coming year.

With each new feature instituted by the staff we asked ourselves one question: Will this make a better, more interesting newspaper for the ENTIRE student body? Changes were made when it was deemed necessary.

We put out the type of newspaper which we believed would best serve the student body and the University. Not just what small individual groups would have liked.

Complaints were raised; many would like to be able to tell a newspaper what to print. Many of the complaints were contradictions; one wanted more of one type of news, another less.

Other critics centered around particular groups. This particular group urged we print only the "good news"; the type that would not reflect upon anyone. This isn't the way progress is made.

In editorials we called our shots as we saw them, regardless of whose toes were stepped upon. Editorials were written to bring about things we believed best for the University in the long run.

Our degree of success in the things we worked for cannot be determined at present. We witnessed some achievements made which the previous staff had advocated and we continued to fight for. Others will undoubtedly occur long after the staff of 58-59 is gone.

To a large degree the real success of this year's staff will depend upon the staff of 59-60.

Tax Debates

Many students are affected by the Personal Property Tax law if they own homes, furniture or automobiles. The State administration often catches "hacks" for this revenue getter, but now the Legislature is also concerned about this particular tax.

A subcommittee of the Illinois Commission to Study the Personal Property Tax is touring the state seeking testimony from the people on their views of the law. The committee is mainly concerned with the possibility of abolishing the tax and then what form of replacement to recommend for getting the necessary funds. After these hearings the committee will be better prepared to make recommendations to the Legislature.

The present Personal Property Tax revenue amounts to behind the news

 By JOE BLEWETT

This is the last column of behind the news. For me it has been an enjoyable experience. I hope it has for you.

The year brought many experiences; some good and some bad—but none dull.

If our efforts could be summed up in one sentence it would be this—we tried to give the students the best paper we possibly could.

We printed the news as we saw it. And this news was mostly student news or something pertaining to students. Howls of indignation rose from faculty members who couldn't understand why their material wasn't printed.

We could have been extremely popular with a few, but we preferred to consider the many. We could have been popular—but there would have been important news which would have never reached you. We could have been popular—but we didn't think you would want a propaganda sheet.

A college campus is a strange mixture of many types. And on a newspaper you meet them all.

I remember the wishy-washy, those too weak to withstand criticism; the pressure groups which found their tactics got them nowhere. I remember the phonies; those who tried to use the paper as a means of building themselves up. I remember the gladhanders; those who smile to your face and then try to stab you in the back.

To the staff I give my thanks. You did a good job of putting out a paper which is in reality a full-time job.

Time and effort spent on each edition was prodigious. Few realize just how much time must be spent in putting out a twice-weekly. Staff members often forgot about the luxuries of leisure-time.

The staff actually wound up the year stronger in respect to work and effort. More news was being printed at the last.

Special editions. The staff, besides averaging a six page edition week in and week out, published several large issues. The Spring Festival edition was a first for the staff. Time and work tripled for these issues. Classes were forgotten.

Advertising registered an increase of 20 per cent. This meant less student money was needed to publish the paper.

Contributing much to the makup and general appearance of the paper were the printers. From the pressmen to the backshop men their

Side Glances at SIU
 By RICHARD DARBY

Hey, teacher, tell me what it's all about.

Southern told me when I started to school that I would leave four years later and still not understand everything.

I didn't expect to be graduated knowing all about the world; but I did expect to understand most of Southern especially after writing about almost every group and department on campus.

I can't understand certain situations, however.

I don't know why that when the United States constitution says that no law shall be made restricting freedom of the press, the "brains" of SIU's student government are permitted to choose Egyptian Editors.

In America, press and government are separate. At Southern, the president of the student body is the president of the Campus Journalism Council, which elects editors for the Egyptian.

Other members of the Student Council are also included on the Journalism Council to help make the "right" decision.

Fortunately, there are two journalists on the council.

Most of the student members of the Journalism Council look only at the thing about student government and the same about newspaper work.

The Journalism Council devotes most of its "interview" time to attacking editor applicants for "bad" journalism.

What is their complaint?

Some of the applicants have been exposing the Council's ignorance and lack of attendance at meetings. They don't think this should be done.

A complete discussion of the Student Council would take pages, but here's a quick look at the Council:

It was a key figure in getting trash cans—those rocket launchers—on campus, and it has made a few other contributions.

Elected on the basis of personal popularity, the Council—

Resolved that Mr. Crews, the policeman who shot beside the jawwalker, should have his wrist slapped (not knowing that days before the meeting the University had already done same).

—Provided for unfair election of Homecoming Queen until the Egyptian explained the facts of the matter to it.

—Changed election procedures with voting only four days away.

—Kept students from knowing who was running in the

Qualification Tests Begin

Applications for the April 30 Qualification Test are now available at the Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Instructions for filling out the application and the address to which it is to be mailed are contained in the bulletin. Applications for the April 30 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 9.

According to the Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the college qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once.

election until the ballots were marked.

—Changed poll places so many times that students did not know where to vote.

—Almost approved Social Senate by laws which would have made that group more powerful than it. (Again the Egyptian saved the day).

I believe that students should help select student editors, but I believe the students who do the selecting should know a little about journalism.

Besides, the National Students Association, a student government organization, to which SIU's Student government belongs, says that student government should in no way try to influence or control student newspapers. Student Government here should read that constitution again.

Some other points:

versity officials that it is all right to park in an illegal area. In all fairness: I saw this happen only once.

Just a quick look at my four years here:

I have watched SIU grow to the extent that growth studies have almost lost news value. But the growth has convinced me that Southern will become one of the greatest universities in the nation in almost all respects.

It's easy to say nice things about a school and not give reasons, but again, this would take pages. However, I sincerely mean what I say, and I am proud to be a student of SIU.

Everything I, and other Egyptian staff members, have said has been for one purpose——to contribute our small part in making SIU a greater university. We feel that expression of thoughts from everyone is important.

I would like to say thanks to the staff of the Egyptian and the students of Southern for cooperation and efforts to make publication of the paper possible.

MARCH 23 DEADLINE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Monday will be the final deadline for applications for financial assistance in scholarships and awards. Students who are eligible to apply for assistance will be given one extra week to March 23, however.

Students who now hold scholarship and activity awards must reapply for the 1959-60 year. Ronald Green, head of the Financial Assistance Office, said the awards are given one year at a time.

Fire Damages Fraternity Row

Fire Monday night caused an estimated $2,000 damage to one of the units under construction on fraternity row. The cause of the fire was given by firemen as being a heater used to keep freshly-poured concrete from freezing.

The unit is one of the nine new dormitories under construction near Thompson Point Lake.

Construction workers said that some of the concrete would have to be replaced. The blaze broke out in the basement of the unit.

He wanted more than "just an engineering job"

William G. Burns majored in Civil Engineering at Utah College. But he had his own ideas about his engineering future. "I wanted a job with a growth company," he says, "where I could develop and move ahead as a member of management."

Bill found his "growth company"—and his management opportunity. On graduation in June, 1954, he started work with the New York Telephone Company.

Six months of training and job assignments in Albany familiarized him with the Plant, Commercial, Accounting and Traffic functions of the telephone business. Then came a month as engineer in the Long Range Planning Group. In October, 1956, he was promoted to Supervising Engineer.

Bill was transferred to Syracuse in August, 1958, as Supervising Engineer—Fundamental Plans—with a staff of four engineers and two clerks. In this job, he studies and forecasts the future telephone needs of customers in a 4800-square-mile area, planning from three to 20 years ahead. He then co-ordinates the development of plans to meet future needs with the various engineering groups involved. Bill calls it "management engineering."

Bill is married, has three youngsters and owns his own home. "A man has to build his own security," he says, "and finding the right place to do it can be mighty important. Choosing a Bell Telephone career was the best decision I ever made. I don't know where an ambitious young fellow can find more or better chances to move ahead in management."

Many young men, with degrees in the sciences, arts, engineering or business, are finding interesting and rewarding careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. Look into career opportunities for you. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus. And read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

Ground-Breaking Today

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new Student Center will be held this afternoon at 2:40 on the construction site on South Thompson Street.

SIU President Delyte W. Morris, the Student Council, and the Student Union Board will be present at this assembly, and as many as possible of the student body are urged to attend.

Construction of the $4,000,000 structure is scheduled to begin immediately after the ceremony.

Completion date for the Center is set at May 1, 1961, according to contractor's estimates.

The new Center will replace the present barracks-type Student Union on Hartwood Ave., and will be large enough to completely cover the present Union.

Four major decks, a small basement and a penthouse will constitute the new building. It will contain bowling alleys, several different lounges, conference rooms, a ballroom and metal units complete with kitchens.

Also included in the plans are private lockers, a snack bar,

State Immigrant Article Printed

"Immigrants in Illinois" is the theme of the March issue of Illinois History, a periodical printed monthly during the school year at the SIU Printing Service for the Illinois State Historical Library.

Ten thousand copies of this history publication will be distributed to schools and libraries by the Illinois State Historical Society.

In the current issue's lead article, Dr. Donald F. Tingley, Eastern Illinois University historian, points out that more than 777,000 foreign-born persons lived in Illinois in 1950, more than 60 per cent of them residing in Chicago. The biggest influx of immigrants came between 1870 and 1910. English and Germans were the predominant group before 1890 but after that southern and eastern Europeans came in increasing numbers, a situation that gave rise to conflict and assimilation problems.

Cochrum was commissioned in the Field Artillery in 1935. He was called to active duty with the Air Force in 1941, only six months before Pearl Harbor.

May Tour South America

Low-Cost Trip Offered

"We are offering students the opportunity to tour five South American countries for $0 to $33 days at a cost of $400 less than the normal cost," said Dr. A. W. Bork, director of the Latin American Institute at SIU.

The tour will be escorted by Dr. C. Carl Wiegand, professor of Economics at SIU. All tour members will be provided with a detailed syllabus and reading list prepared by the Latin American Institute.

Arrangements have been made with six South American institutions of higher learning in Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, and Brazil to provide a series of 20 to 25 lectures and seminars in English on those topics which are of special interest in each country.

Aside from the formal lectures, tour members will have opportunity to meet with South American students, professors, businessmen, and government officials.

The group will travel by scheduled airlines, trains, and buses. All extended flights will be by DC-6s. The price of $1195 includes lodging, regular tips, lightening, excursions, and lunches.

It does not include transportation between home town and Miami, tuition for those who wish to take the tour for credit, and strictly personal expenses.

Qualified students may earn up to eight quarter-hours of senior or graduate credit in one of the cooperating departments, and a combination of two or more departments. All programs must be approved in advance by the respective departments.

The educational program is under the supervision of SIU's Latin American Institute, which is composed of the Departments of Anthropology, Economics, Foreign Languages, Geography, Government, and History.

The number of participants is limited to 25. Applications will be accepted on the basis of priority.

"There should also be tougher requirements for entering Southern, and then the enrollment wouldn't be so large and the caliber of students would be better."

"Actually, only people graduating in the upper one-half of their high school class should be able to enter college here."

Judy was tense throughout the interview, but relaxed when she began talking about the hours girls are required to keep at school.

No Hours For Seniors

"Although I do believe underclassmen should have to keep hours, I don't see why senior girls should be required to. If a girl isn't old enough to know what she's doing and what time she should be home by the time she is a senior, she'll never know," the Benton sophomore said.

Judy is majoring in elementary education, and came to Southern because it was close to her home and because SIU offered

A Student At SIU ... Judy Cristenson

A Student At SIU

Girls Should Have Hours: Cristenson

"Undergraduate girls really should have hours," said Judy Cristenson, a student at SIU.

"I know that I should stay home on weekends, but I go home anyway," Judy grinned.

Judy, who said she has "thought of pledging a sorority, but just never got around to it," says there is plenty to do at Southern on a date.

She listed dancing and movies as her favorite pastimes.

"The Greeks are accepted very well here," she said, "and they are just as friendly as anybody else. On a lot of campuses, the Greeks are concealed, but here they are just fine."

Greeks Accepted

"They're accepted very well here by everybody," Judy, who says the first day of college was her most exciting moment, prefers semesters to the quarter system, because "it seems like we're always having exams."

"The quarters start too early and end too late," the 20-year-old Thompson Point resident

Spring Vacation Brings Men To Woody

Woody Hall won't be peaceful and quiet this spring vacation.

Between 200 and 250 young men will be living there March 22-26.

The men, who will range in age from 10 to 30, single and married, will be attending a conference sponsored by the Illinois Officially, it is a Young People's Training Conference.

Residents getting to live in a girl's dorm, these gentlemen will attend meetings at Woody and University School.

Residents at Woody are being asked to empty one desk drawer and put their clothes in one of the two closets in each room. The one holding the girls' clothes will be topped off.

Officers are also urging girls to leave pictures and welcoming notes for the men. In past years, the visitors have left notes and even candy for the girls.

Gardiner Gets Books, Articles Published

C. Harvey Gardiner, SIU Department of History, has recently published two books and four articles concerning the American historical, William Hickling Prescott.

In Feb. the SIU Press released Gardiner's volume entitled "Prescott and His Publishers." Duke University Press has just published "William Hickling Prescott: A Memorial," of which Gardiner is co-editor as well as a contributor.

Gardiner's articles appeared early in the year.

The Americas published "William Hickling Prescott: Launching a Bark" as its lead article in Jan. Similar distinction was accorded the Spanish language article "Prescott Obtuvo sus Libros" by the editor of Historia Mexicana, the leading historical journal of Mexico.

In Feb., the Hispanic American Historical Review published "Prescott's Most Independent Aide: Pascual de Gayango."

Students Report On Holiday

"Sylvester" is the name by which New Year's Eve is known in Germany and this year is almost as important as "Heiligabend." On this evening our family invited friends and we played records and danced until nearly midnight; then we turned on the radio and listened to the counting-off of the seconds remaining until 1959.

My greatest surprise was to learn that it is so simple to travel between the two parts of the city. The same subway and streetcar lines serve both parts of the city and only occasionally is a person checked or questioned. This not only makes a visit into East Berlin simple, but also permits easy passage of refugees into the West. I saw a man come over one week. These persons try to avoid carrying luggage with them for this arouses political suspicion and search. I have talked with a great many students and young workers who have come over to the Western Zone who said that if they ever appeared in the Eastern Zone again, they would be imprisoned for three to four years—their flight being their crime.

The historical symbol of the city of Berlin is the bear. The politicians of East Berlin may take advantage of this symbol for some very amusing propaganda. On a board, friend I saw a large sign showing the Berlin bear in a militant attitude and the words "The Bear liner Bear is setting up a great howl, for he wants to kick the Amis (Americans) out of Berlin." Nearby was a smaller placard showing West German Chancellor Adenauer sitting in a broken-down roadster with the flames of Hell rising around him. I was reminded of the signs we put up at the time of inter-collegiate football competition.

My thoughts throughout my visit in Berlin were: if only East Berlin had rebuilt and modernized as West Berlin has, the combined parts would constitute one of the world's great capitals, but the West is already filling this role. With two million inhabitants, it presents several paradoxes: the people are proud of their modern home town, but many would be prepared to pull up stakes and go to the East; the West German press is proud of their modern home town, but many would be prepared to pull up stakes and go to the East; the West German press is proud of their modern home town, but many would be prepared to pull up stakes and go to the East.

When you first meet a Berliner, you might think that he never knew necessity, but a deep rooted heritage and constant uncertainty of what developments might arise eastward.

Additional memories linger with me: on the last night on my stay, as I conversed at the Ullich, Herr Ullich remarked to me, "Joe, we will always remember your visit with us over these holidays; and in the future, whenever we read anything in the papers about America, we will be reminded of an American in Berlin, who for ten days was a part of our family." Then on the next day, January third, as I set out to hitchhike back to the University of Hamburg, a young man picked me up and drove me to the edge of the city. As I got out of his car, he handed me a box of choice Marzipan chocolate, saying "Take these along; you'll get hungry on the way and always keep good memories of Berlin." But I still cannot say whether, as I felt like an American in Berlin or like a son of Berlin.

West Speaks At Akron Wednesday

Dr. Leonard J. West, SIU Associate Professor of Business Education, will be the main speaker at the spring meeting of the Akron, Ohio, area Business Teachers Association Wednesday.

Dr. West will speak on the topic "The Science of Learning and the Art of Teaching." In his address he will indicate some of the presumably current practices in instruction which seem to run counter to the best available research evidence.

After receiving his doctorate from Columbia in 1953, Dr. West served as a research psychologist with the Air Force Personnel and Training Research Center, Chanute Air Base. He returned to business education in 1957 when he joined the staff of the SIU School of Business.

AREA HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER HEADS IEA

Miss Alice Grant, English teacher at West Frankfort High School, has been elected president of the Illinois Education Association's Southern Division.

Miss Grant, who will begin her one-year term July 1, succeeds Dr. Roye Bryant, Placement Service director at Southern Illinois University.

Nearly 3,000 teachers and school administrators in the state's 14 southern counties are division members.

Modern Design Answers Critics

Officials of the National Council on Schoolhouse Construction will answer critics of the "modern" design of new school buildings at SIU's annual School Administrators Workshop March 23-27 at Giant City State Park Lodge.

On March 25, the public will be invited to hear Dr. W. D. McClurkin, NCSC secretary, speak on "Are Our Children Living in Palaces?" The address is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. in the park lodge, according to Dr. Victor R. Randolph, SIU professor of elementary education and workshop director.

George Englehardt, NCSC president, will speak March 26-27 on "School Housing and the State Department of Education."

McClurkin is professor of educational administration and supervision at George Peabody College and Englehardt is director of school building services for the Missouri State Department of Education.

The Workshop also will feature a panel discussion by southern Illinois school administrators who have recently completed building programs, Randolph said.

Four, three, two, and one-hour classes which meet during the fourth period (7:35-9:00 or 9:15 p. m.) on Monday and/or Wednesday 6:00. A special note needs to be made relative to examinations for evening sections for those classes which have been granted a special time for examining all sections. As some students attending at night may not be able to attend the special examination period scheduled for the daytime, each department involved will have to arrange special examination periods for such students.

This problem involves those night students who are fully employed during the day and who are taking night courses because it is the only time they are able to do so.

General Information

(1) Examinations for three, four, and five-credit hour classes will begin at the hours scheduled and will run for two hours. Examinations for one and two-credit hour classes will begin two hours and ten minutes later and will run for one hour. For example, an 11 o'clock class carrying four hours of credit will have its examination from 7:50 to 9:50 a. m. on Wednesday, March 18. An 11 o'clock class carrying two hours of credit will have its examinations from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m.

(2) A student who finds he has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled at one time should petition, his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student may decide to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period.

Cagers Top IAC With 90.1 Attack; Vaughn, Bryson High

Southern's basketball Salukis, paced by the two greatest scorers in the school's history, finished atop the IAC conference in team average with a mark of 90.1 points per game.

The fast-moving Salukis scored 1,081 points in the 12 conference tilt for the lofty average.

One-Two Punch
Charlie Vaughn and Seymour Bryson also provided the top one two punch in the conference as they finished first and second in individual scoring. Vaughn tallied 183 points in the 12 conference for a 23.6 mark per game. Bryson was right on his tail with 200 points for a 23.3 mark. Jack Milam, last season's leading scorer, was a distant third with 228 points for an 19.0 average. McCollum was next with 18.6, B.J. Smith hit for 18.4, Larry Gentry 18.3, Larry Wylie with 17.4, Gary Lee with 16.6 and Dave Shertz and Bill McAfee rounded out the top 10 with 16.1 and 15.6 respectively.

Fell's, Studs In Cage Finals

Studs moved into the intramural tournament final Tuesday night by beating Sigma Pi, 50-41. Studs and Fell's Hall 3rd Floor dashed for the championship last night.

A scoring spree in the final minutes by the Studs broke the game wide open and sewed up the victory over Sig Pi. The game was even closer than the 50-41 final score indicates.

Studs led, 12-9, at the end of the first quarter. Jim Woods opened the second quarter by sinking a couple of 20-foot jump shots to give Sig Pi the lead. The score at half-time was 24-20, in favor of Sig Pi.

The Studs caught up early in the third period and the lead jockeyed back and forth between the teams. At the end of the third quarter, Sig Pi led, 32-31. Walt Westbrook scored with a tip-in to start the final period to give Studs a one-point lead. The game continued tight until the last minutes.

Then Studs gradually pulled away and were never headed. Walt Westbrook made four free throws and Fred Losekam hit a field goal in the last minute to give Studs a 50-39 lead. Jim Woods made the last basket of the game to bring Sig Pi's point total to 41.

Walt Westbrook was high man for Studs, with 23 points. Compiling the rest of the Studs' points were Fred Losekam, 11, Cecil Hart, 6, Carl Henson, 6, and Ron Ayers, 4.

Jim Woods, pored in 21 markers to end the Sig Pi scoring. Ken Monschein scored 9 points.

Studs advanced to the all-school tourney by beating Road Runners, 60-49, Monday night to cop the Off-Campus League title.

Fred Losekam and Cecil Hart led the Stud scoring Monday night, with 22 and 13 points respectively. Archie Bradford had 17, and Lowell Lartig scored 13 for the Road Runners. Studs led 33-31 at the half.

Magicians Thrill Crowd, Pound Boston Shamrocks

Besides their clowning, the Harlem Magicians put on quite an exhibition of basketball, and the crowd enjoyed it.

The Magicians worked some clever tricks into a keen network of ball handling and shooting to triumph over the Boston Shamrocks Wednesday night in Men's Gym.

There was no doubt that the Shamrocks were fooled by many of the Harlem team's antics, which included bounce shots, a dropkick shot, and off-the-beat freethrow, football and baseball plays, rolling the ball down the court instead of dribbling, and the fabulous Marques Haynes' one-handed, behind-the-back, over-the-head back shot.

Boston took a lead late in the first quarter and was ahead of the Magicians by a 27-21 count at the end of the period.

Hands for the final time, the Magicians had little trouble in keeping the game under control during the final half.

The team kept passing of the Harlem team paid off big dividends for them. They set themselves up with numerous drive-in hook - goal, mostly on shots close to the basket, to account for nearly half of his team's total score of 53 points. Wheeler sank 16 field goals, mostly on shots close to the basket, to account for nearly half of his team's total score of 53 points.

So dog which wandered onto the floor, and hiding the ball, only to take it and score when his man would turn his head.

Two of the Magicians, Eugene Johnson and Norris Sharp, played on the Chamrock team during the game.

Haynes Attributes Success To Determination To Play

By Larry Mayer
"My determination to play better basketball is one of the main reasons for my success in sport," explained Marques Haynes, the originator and president of the Harlem Magicians. He was in the dressing room before he and his team took the floor against the Boston Shamrocks at Men's Gym Wednesday night. "I've always liked basketball," the star dribbler added.

Volleyball Rosters Due

The deadline for entering teams in the intramural volleyball tournament is nearing.

Last chance to submit a roster is 4 p.m., April 2. The roster must contain a list of at least eight eligible players. Team entry blanks can be obtained at the Intramural Office.

Tournament play will begin Monday, April 6, at 7:15 p.m. A meeting of the team managers will be held at 7:30 p.m., April 2, to go over rules for the round-robin tournament.

Any student interested in officiating intramural volleyball games should sign up at the Intramural Office. Games will be played Monday through Thursday, 7 and 8 p.m. Officials will receive $1.50 per game.

What does Haynes think about the change from college ball to professional ball?

"The jump from college ball to pro ball is somewhat similar as from going into college ball from high school. A college ball has quite a bit to learn. Pro ball is tougher. There is lot of contact. Pro player must learn to protect himself. The college referee protects the player more than the pro referee does."

Haynes holds free basketball clinics during the off-season at Central YMCA in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He has coached for thirty minutes to get inside

Bird Dogs Wrap Up 2nd In Indie

By Bill Christine
Dave Imber rolled the fifth 600 series of the season as the Bird Dogs won their fourth points from the 49ers to finish in second place in the second half of the SIU Independent Students League Last Monday night at the Congress Lanes.

The final round of the season activity couldn't help but be anticlimactic, however, because Newman Club No. 2, title with a bye, had already taken care of the second-half title and its third straight overall loop championship the previous week.

Nevertheless, Imber's pin-topping still was impressive. He fired games of 190, 206 and 221 for a grand 617 total, his 600 series of the year. He had registered a 620 earlier.

Another 600
The 600's during the season were scored by Jack Hagreep, Imber's teammate, who had a 618, and two by Joe Cronin of the champion Newman 600s, 603 and 645. Cronin went up as the league's high average legler with a 184 mark.

The Bird Dogs' season-ending success gave them a final record of 13-8, the same as the 49ers, but the Dogs had a slight edge in points, 18 to 17.

In another swarming action last Monday, Newman Club No. 4, 40, Doyle Dorm No. 2 swamped Doyle No. 1, 4-0, and the Atoms stood off the Ions, 3-1, but still failed to emerge from the league basement.

Students Sing On Television

Hints On Spring Wear

By Baby Shadle

While Jack Frost is getting in his last few coats of the year, the fashion-minded coeds of SIU have an eye out for spring.

Flower decked hats, tiny checks and shirswest dress are the order of the season. Easter bonnets not only come covered with posies but are larger, softer and worn further back on the head than last year, eliminating the mushroom look.

Checks are replacing the traditional plaids, and don't underestimate the ever popular polka-dot being shown especially in black and white this spring.

Miss Mathews, a hit in the Freshmen Talent Show last fall, sang "Imagination" and "Old Cold Taters". She is a freshman from Herrin majoring in home economics.

Miss Grain was accompanied for the three singers. She is senior education major from Centralia.

The appearance of SIU students on the Cape Girardeau TV station is in cooperation with the SIU Broadcasting Service and Director Richard Uray.

Alpha Gamma Delta SEND EASTER SEALS

Annual Teenage Road-e-o At Airport May 9 Ceremony At Woody Hall

Candlelight Ceremony At Woody Hall

All the lights in the hall were out and everything was a quiet. In the lounge were gathered residents of the floor, forming a circle that almost filled the room.

This is a ceremony which is used by Woody Hallers to tell their friends they are pinned or engaged. The president of the floor and the girl are the only people to know who has received the object of affection.

As the residents gather, the president lights a small candle and it passes from hand to hand around the circle. One around means going steady, twice means pinned, and three times means the girl is engaged. As she blows out the candle, everyone screams with delight, and then she walks around the circle to show her ring or pin off.

Several Woody residents have thus been honored this year. Latest of the select group was Sherry Stokes of C2. She became

PHI SIGS ELECT SPECIAL CHAIRMEN

Phi Sigma Kappa held elections recently for officers and special activities.

Rodney Reid was elected secretary of the fraternity. Bob Anderson and John Causey are co-chairmen of the Phi Sig Midway Booth, Reid and Ron Karacker are co-chairmen of the fraternity parents' day to be held on April 19, and Larry Long was chosen chairman of the Spring formal.

Last Monday the fraternity pledged Gordon Chadwick, and John Causey was chosen as outstanding pledge of last fall's pledge class.

Mike Anderson is a pledge of Phi Mu Alpha Symphonia, and Sam Cagle is pledge class president of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity.

WOODY HALL CHOOSES FESTIVAL CHAIRMEN

Chautauqua Has Model Home

Chautauqua Apt. 20-A is to be rebuilt as a model home for the future Southern Hills Apartments.

Occupants of the apartment, Al and Shirley Cohen, have been transferred to another building in the project. Their new apartment was redecorated in the color scheme of their choice.

Plans are for the model apartment to be nearly like the proposed family housing as possible. It will serve as a show place for potential occupants and other interested groups.

Construction will begin in the near future.

The ceremony, although used by other groups on campus for several years, was first introduced to Woody residents this year. Many women have expressed their delight in the ritual and hope the practice is continued next year.

Another "firs" for Woody this year will be an installation dinner for the newly elected officers of Woody. The dinner is planned for next term in the cafeteria, but the date has not yet been set.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Impala Sport Coupe—like every Chevy—has Safety Plate Glass all around.

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 65 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you. There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!
