Taking one last shot

BY LESTER E. MURRAY

During a semester when we have sent SIU students to war and many have prayed for peace, the time I have spent at the DAILY EGYPTIAN has rushed past with very little time to reflect. The University is going through rough times and we hope the new governor will get it right.

As students, we hope to get the best education possible, yet we had to struggle with the threat of a teachers' strike. All these things took place in just a few short months. Now it's time for me to say goodbye. I hope to take the knowledge I have received from both the University and the DAILY EGYPTIAN with me to start my second career.

But one thing is for sure: the memories I've made here will be with me for the rest of my life and I would not trade for any of them. The DAILY EGYPTIAN is like a family and like every family, we've had our rough times. But in the end we all pulled together to produce the best college paper in the country and for this, I am the most proud.

Being twice the age of almost everyone I worked with or for was a challenge in itself, but to see the talent that is springing out of this paper is amazing.

We have made achievements in the use of color on a daily basis and I hope you as readers got as much enjoyment out of the photographs as I did taking them.

As I go forth in search of a new direction in my life, the friends I leave behind and the DAILY EGYPTIAN will always be a part of me.

Cover photo by Lester E. Murray: Carbondale Community High School students took part in a walkout that was held nationwide to protest the war in Iraq. Protests throughout southern Illinois were held both against war and in support of our troops. Many SIU students were called to serve in this time of crisis.

Louise Hayward of Carbondale protests war at the march in Carbondale Feb. 15. Hayward, who said that she started 'Grandparents Against War' as a joke, has had others join her group of grandparents who are concerned about what war will do for future generations. Hayward described this impending war as incredibly stupid and said, 'we are not in danger - this will just unleash violence and then will be in danger.'

Pittman pulled off the road after noticing smoke coming from under the hood. A motorist stopped to assist the driver and called 911. Within moments of pulling over, Pittman's truck burst into flames. Fire departments from both Elkhville and Dowell responded within minutes of the call and extinguished the fire after a brief fight.

On Feb. 18, workers from Hulcher Services Inc. finish sandblasting and cleaning out residue from the inside of the vinyl chloride tanker that ruptured and was the main concern following the train derailment in Tamaroa. The tanker was cut into several pieces the next day and was hauled away. Residents of the town of 800 were initially evacuated within a three-mile radius the afternoon of the derailment, but returned a week later after most of the clean up had taken place and the town was deemed safe.

Former SIU head coach Bruce Weber consoles Saluki senior Jermaine Dearman after removing him from the final two minutes of the 24-point loss to Creighton in the March 10 championship game televised nationally on ESPN.

DENEX ANDERSON - DAILY EGYPTIAN

New Illini head coach Bruce Weber returned to his former office in Carbondale May 2 to take care of unfinished business and begin packing for the move to Champaign. Since being named as the new Illini head coach, Weber has spent the majority of his time conducting interviews with media outlets over the phone.

STEVE JAHNKE - DAILY EGYPTIAN

SIU catcher Tuby Barnett glances into the dugout for instructions from the coaching staff during the Salukis' game against Northern Iowa March 23 at Abe Martin Field. Barnett began the game as the designated hitter for the Salukis while freshman teammate Brendan Lutz started at catcher. However, Lutz strained his hamstring midway through the game on a run to first, which forced Barnett into the catcher position for the remainder of the game. The 2002 Missouri Valley Conference Newcomer of the Year and the rest of the Salukis are currently 25-20 and will play a crucial four-game set to end their regular season against Wichita State this weekend.

Matt Painter talks to the media May 1 at Lingle Hall after being named the new head coach of the SIU men's basketball team. Painter is filling the vacancy left by Bruce Weber, who took the head coaching position at the University of Illinois.

Members of the Saluki baseball team roll up the tarp that covers the infield at the end of practice April 17 at Abe Martin Field. Although rain disturbed most of the practices that the team had that week, it stayed away long enough for the SIU to play a four-game set against Southwest Missouri State over the weekend. Unfortunately, the Salukis lost three of four to the Bears and fell to third place in the Missouri Valley Conference.

JESSICA EDMOND - DAILY EGYPTIAN
SIU's women's rugby team wins 21-0 against Eastern Illinois University April 5 at SIU's rugby field as part of the 13th Annual All Fool's Classic. Both the men and women rugby teams of SIU participated in the tournament, with each bringing home the championship. The women avenged last year's second place finish with a 19-0 thrashing of Illinois State in the championship game to claim the 'Coveted Horns'. The men's team, following an 8-7 double-overtime victory in the semi-finals, defeated the University of Illinois to win their second straight All Fool's Classic championship.

Marlan Appiah-Kubi (left), Korto Dunbar (center) and Kelsey Toussaint (right) have dominated this season in the short-distance races for the SIU women's track and field team. The three, who room together on the road, have a close relationship.
