CARBONDALE, ILLINOIS, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1954

SIU Fourth Largest College In Illinois

SIU now is the fourth largest institution of higher learning in the state, SIU President D. W. Morris said last week in presenting an analysis of Southern's budget request for $16,500,000 for educational operation during the 1955-56 biennium.

Citing day-school enrollment of 70 colleges and universities in Illinois, president Morris said Southern, with 4,619 resident students, ranks fourth after the University of Illinois at Urbana, 16,897; Northwestern University, 8,822; and the University of Chicago, 4,688.

In accounting for the request for $8,117,600 in addition to the amount appropriated for the current biennium, Morris observed that Southern's present enrollment is unique in that it already is some 12 years in advance of the best "outside" predictions, having jumped more than 52 percent within the biennium. Evidence indicates now, he said, that the full-time total for 1955 will be 5,300, and in 1956, 6,500.

"Large enrollment for its own sake has not been and is not one of our objectives," said President Morris, "but our program is geared to providing quality education and practical area service in an area classified economically as 'depressed.' We hope education is one of the answers. If unprecedented numbers of young people are flocking to Southern, we cannot turn them away unless a lack of funds offers no alternative. With an exceptionally high enrollment we are in this biennium greatly handicapped by lack of funds."

Number one item in the budget request is $1,669,195, including funds for salary increases, converting to continuing appointments some of the emergency staff members employed at the beginning of the present term to provide classes for the enrollment increase of more than 1,000 and to provide additional staff for the expected increase in the next biennium.

Skit Featured In Education Week Assembly

A skit entitled "Good Schools are Your Responsibility" set the theme for the American Education Week Assembly sponsored by the FEA, Egyptian Chapter No. 1, in SIU's Auditorium Friday.

The skit centered around a Dick Simpson, foreman in a local factory, who believed the local schools weren't doing an adequate job of educating workers in his factory and went to the superintendent of schools with his gripe.

The superintendent said "Everone expects the school to help him in some way, but nobody wants to help the school in its program."

The superintendent cited examples of good teachers' resigning their positions to take better-paying jobs elsewhere.

And while Simpson overheard the superintendent's complaint about her daughter's low grades and placing the blame on the girl's young teacher, a recent college graduate, actually, numerous outside activities were keeping her daughter from studying.

The skit's cast was composed of Arthur Carle, James Coleman, Mary DeBernardi, Edith Lench, Gerald Miriani and Ann Bagdale.

A short speech by Barbara Graham, FEA president, on the purpose, history and objectives of the American Education Week concluded the program.

Fifteen SIU members of FEA attended a Leadership Members meeting at Bradley University, Peoria, Nov. 10.

The next FEA meeting will be in the University School Auditorium tonight.

High School Principals Talk With SIU Fresh Today

Thirty-five high school principals are visiting SIU's campus today to have conferences with freshmen who graduated from their schools last year; and to talk with academic advisers, ac flemic deans, members of the student affairs office and the registrar's office.

The principals, all from high schools with a considerable number of freshmen this year, expect to learn from former seniors short comings and strong points in their high school training programs as well as in the University freshman program; (2) give key SIU officials their opinions on the college program based on freshman interviews as well as any pre-molded opinions; (3) take back to faculty members any suggestions of improving high school programs; and (4) hear University officials' opinions on shortcoming and strong points of high school preparation.

In a reciprocal way the University officials expect to gain much from the conference that will strengthen the freshman class program.

Abe's Romance Is Fable, Says Lincoln Expert

Abraham Lincoln's romance with Ann Rutledge is one of the "biggest myths in the U. S. A. field," Dr. Harry E. Pratt, State Historian and Lincoln authority, told members of the Illinois Follies Society at a dinner meeting in the SIU cafeteria Friday night.

Pratt, in his talk, "Legends of Sleepy Hollow Illinois," blamed newspaper reports written in 1862 for the story.

He recalled stories concerning the Illinois visit of Lafayette in 1825 and debunked a number of tales dealing with reports that Jerry Lind visited and sang throughout the state.

Dr. Herbert Halpern, Murray State Teachers College spoke on midwest proverbials relating to ignorance or stupidity in his talk, "How Dumb Can You Get?"

"He doesn't know straight up from popcorn," Dr. Halpern said. "He hasn't got the brains God gave a left-handed screw driver," are examples of material presented.

Before talks members, excepted unanimously a nomination-committee state officers: President Edith Kaeppe, secretary-treasurer, William Simeon, and Vice-president, Harold Brazgs.

Painter To Lecture Friday

Ben Shahn, called by some, "the Carl Sandburg of American painting," will be on deck Friday at 10 a. m. for the freshman lecture series. Shahn is purportedly an outstanding art lecturer as well as a painter.

He has paintings in the Modern Museum of Art in New York, Whitney Museum of American Art, City Art Museum of St. Louis, Wadsworth Atheneum of Hartford and other leading museums and galleries throughout the world.

Shahn has been the subject of a book, "Ben Shahn, Portrait of the Artist as an American."

He was born in Russia and arrived in America in 1906. He grew up in the poor sections of Brooklyn and was often bullied as a child by local toughs into making sidewalk sketches of their sporting idols. From 1913 to 1917 he attended high school at night.

During the day he was employed as a lithographer's apprentice. He supported himself at lithography until 1930.

Shahn attended both NYU and CCNY, leaving the latter in 1925 to study at the National Academy of Design. In 1927 and 1952 he was abroad in France, Italy, Spain and North Africa.

In 1938 Shahn and his wife began work on thirteen fresco panels for the lobby of the Bronx post office in New York and finished the task in August 1939.

He recalled stories concerning the Illinois visit of Lafayette in 1825 and debunked a number of tales dealing with reports that Jerry Lind visited and sang throughout the state.

Dr. Herbert Halpern, Murray State Teachers College spoke on midwest proverbials relating to ignorance or stupidity in his talk, "How Dumb Can You Get?"

Retirement Plan Studied By Faculty Welfare Committee

The proposed retirement plan for SIU faculty and non-academic personnel will be studied at a meeting of the Faculty Welfare and Service Committee at 7 p. m. today in the Conference Room at 909 S. University, according to W. C. McDaniel, chairman.

Members of the committee are Milton Edelman, Bonnie Lockwood, Gus Trump, Davis S. McIntosh and Albert Falkner.

AF ROTC CADETS put on a card display exhibition at the football game Saturday which drew a lot of favorable comment. Here the boys make a large "Q" to accompany Southern's pep song. Other combinations were a Blok "SI" the American flag and "Hi Mom and Dad" and "Hi"

Reading Clinic Established At Juniata College

Huntingdon, Pa. — (IP) — There is no brake on reading speed for students at Juniata College. A new reading clinic emphasizes on accelerating the reading rate. But the pressure is not all on speed.

Consideration is given to improving concentration and increasing retention of what is read. In fact, as speed increases, comprehension is tested so that it is not sacrificed to speed.

The clinic was set up originally by the dean of men last year. Participating is voluntary, but freshmen who have low test scores this fall, particularly in English, will be "invited to join."

The clinic's course of study is built around a series of 24 plan lessons designed to give each student who enrolls an opportunity to explore and work on virtually every phase of reading. Examples of topics considered are drill on skimming, taking notes, summarizing and increasing vocabulary.

No Sacrifice For MRH

The reluctance of the Mens' Residence Halls to donate the income from their vending machines is a perfect example of unwillingness to make a sacrifice for what most of the students would gladly for SIU — a decent Student Union.

Vending machines in the Residence Halls bring in $800 per year. This sum is just a drop to the bucket when one thinks in terms of a permanent Student Union, but the total revenue from these machines at SIU is approximately $10,000 per year.

There are 340 men living in Anthony Hall, the barracks and Chautauque co-op housing. They pay $8 per year for recreational equipment and social activities. One student commented that $3 was high enough for dues.

If the Residence Halls would donate vending profits, the extra cost per man for one year would be $2.40. The dues could be raised to $5.50 to cover the donation.

No doubt some boys would consider $5.50 an exorbitant fee to pay for dues, but many other groups charge more.

However, the boys point out that virtually all money put in their vending machines comes from the group, while this is not so in the Student Union or G.M.

It is just simple a question of values in this controversy — self-fish interest or a willingness to help build a new Student Union by making some sacrifices. J. A.

Spanish Scientist Visits SIU

A Spanish scientist, touring the United States to study plant breeding methods, made an uncheduled trip to SIU to visit work in genetic conservation being done by Dr. Carl Lindelger, chairman of the microbiology department.

Dr. Enrique Sanchez-Monge, who was sent to the United States as part of a training program under the Spanish department of agriculture, said SIU was not on his itinerary, "but I could not come to this country without visiting Dr. Lindelger's laboratory. There are few microbiologists in Spain, but among these few Dr. Lindelger is a byword. I first heard of his work in 1947 at a meeting in Copenhagen."

On a tour through SIU's new Life Science building and especially the biological research laboratory, Dr. Sanchez-Monge expressed enthusiasm over the new facilities. "In Spain this equipment would need to be imported and would be very expensive," he said.

Dr. Sanchez-Monge described his organization as "extremely interested in scientific development and doing much to promote more scientific methods of plant breeding."

MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

I am moved to make a comment on the note printed in the Egyptian of Nov. 5 regarding the freshman assembly lecture on the "World We Live In."

Without question, Life's series has been excellent. The illustrations, both photographs and paintings were superb; the text was interestingly and clearly written, backed up by the criticism and recommendations of top-notch scientists. The lecture by Mr. Hardy presented the same high quality of illustrations in a skilled fashion. However, the speaker did not attain the high quality of scientific accuracy and clarity which generally characterized the written papers. 1. Through the years, two groups have found a place in our hearts and for these groups, the students and athletics of Southern. I have great fondness and pride.

2. Saturday a new group took its place with me-The AF ROTC. As cheer after cheer boomed its force across the field to our side, I felt my spine tingle—I know that the Varsity felt the uplift even in defeat. As the game progressed and our chances for a victory dimmed, your support increased—that is the real test. You know how proud I was of you that day.

3. You were magnificent. I know of no other word. I believe a tradition has been started and in the winning years to come, many a Southern rally will commence with the roar of the cadets. I can predict now that Southern's opponents of the future will be stumped by the force of the team backing which you displayed Saturday.

4. Thank you sincerely on behalf of the football team and the coaching staff.

P-D Forgets Facts

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has had a great many righteous sounding phrases in its masthead but it stands out as the only national rules of journalism in its Sunday story about the Washington Bears-SIU football game. It totally forgot about objective reporting and complete coverage.

An "analysis" of a "highlight" carried only a report of Washington scores and play. The fourth quarter, in which SIU scored twice, is entirely ignored. It plus is complete coverage, I wonder what would have been printed had SIU won. Probably nothing, if the Sunday story is any indication.

The crowning insult, however, was in the story subtitle. Each quarter was boldfaced above a description of play in that quarter. The last subtitle was "Third Quarter." Have the Post sports writers forgotten there are four quarters in a football game? Maybe they can't count as three. Or, more likely, they are more interested in slanting their stories toward praising of the home team than complete objective reports of games. B.P.

Korean Vets Taking 'Skill' Courses

The trend is to high-skill jobs and away from "snap" courses for veterans training under the Korean GI Bill, according to a Veterans Administration study.

The largest single group is enrolled for high-skilled craft trade vocations, including mechanic, radio and television, metalworking and construction trades.

Many vets took advantage of the two-year-old law to receive on-the-job training, while some returned to high schools and grad' schools.

Half a million post-Korean veterans began training during the first two years of the program.

Eastern News Versus Tribune

Editor's Note: The following is an excerpt from an editorial appearing in a recent edition on the Eastern State News. We are inclined to uphold Eastern's criticism.

"Thursday, Oct. 28 the didactic Chicago Daily Tribune saw fit to editorialize on Eastern's selection of a 'highlight' from 'Abe's Irish Rose'."

"If the Tribune means the play does not have the cultural and aesthetic standards to suit them, then it behooves us to wonder why they do not elevate the standards of their newspaper. Their futuristic diction and occasional gutter language used when assailing an enemy is not in accordance with anyone's standards but their own."

"Of course 'Abe's Irish Rose' is not on par with Euripides or 'Hamlet,' but does that mean the college is off base in using a play with such popular appeal?"

"We doubt vehemently whether anyone attending the play thought they were short-changed. We are not so sure the same attitude prevails when they buy the Tribune."

In case more than one class meets in a room, the one meeting first or last of a week should have priority on the room for the final examination. Any instructor without a room for a particular class is requested to check with the Registrar's Office for assignment.

A student who for some reason must miss the final examination may not take an examination before the one scheduled for the class. In this case "W", followed by the tentative grade with a "12" indicating the number of weeks at SIU, are of this opinion after finding several rare kinds of fishes in the swampy area.

Found were the spring cave-fish which reaches maturity at three inches in length and spends much of its time in the subterranean passages from which spring water flows into the swamp, the pigmy sunfish, smallest of the spiny-rayed fishes which reach maturity at about one inch in length and as "small sunfish," which grows to three inches in length.

DRAFT FORMS FURNISHED FOR THOSE INTERESTED

Male students finishing their academic year at the end of fall term and need a selective service form 109 in order to continue in school on a 11-S deferment must come to the registrar's office and complete a request form asking that the 109 form be sent at the end of fall term, according to Registrar Robert S. McGrath.

Such requests should be made prior to end of fall term.

The registrar's office cannot send such a form unless the student or his draft board request it.

Eldorado People Tell About Development Plan

The people of Eldorado, Ill., told some of the nation's top educators recently what an SIU sponsored community development program has accomplished in their town.

The convention session was one of three arranged by Richard W. Poston, director of the SIU department of community development. Some 1200 persons attended the convention sessions in the Morrison Hotel in Chicago.

Eight Eldoradians, including housewives, educators and a retail merchant, explained to the Adult Education Association of the U.S. how they conducted an "Operation Bootstrap" with SIU's help.

The project required plenty of hard work on the part of many citizens for "only a hen can produce dividends by just sitting around one of the speakers on a community development panel said.

T. Leo Dodd, chairman of "Operation Bootstrap" during its six month study and research phase and now president of the permanent Eldorado Community Development Association, moderated the panel. Alfred "Bozo" Adams, high school athletic director who talked about the city hall renovation, said the old courtroom floor had once dropped four inches during a trial, and "the only reason it didn't drop more was because the termites were holding hands."

Dr. Douglas E. Lawson, just retired dean of the College of Education, heard the story of his 17 years at SIU retold on topic Friday evening in the Elks Banquet Room.

The tape, called "This Is Your Life," was written and produced by Mrs. Mae T. Smith of the English department, who was in charge of the program.

Dr. Lawson was also presented a Hamilton wristwatch by faculty members of the College of Education, who, with their husbands and wives, gave the dinner.

Guests included Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Morris, Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Tenney and Dr. and Mrs. George H. Hand. Dr. Ted Lawson was master of ceremonies.

Save Swamp Say SIU Zoologists

The Pine Hills swamp near Wolf Lake, Ill., is one of the state's biological wonderlands and ought to be preserved, two SIU zoologists said recently.

Gerald E. Gunning, research biologist, and William M. Lewis, assistant professor of zoology at SIU, are of this opinion after finding several rare kinds of fishes in the swampy area.

Found were the spring cave-fish which reaches maturity at three inches in length and spends much of its time in the subterranean passages from which spring water flows into the swamp, the pigmy sunfish, smallest of the spiny-rayed fishes which reach maturity at about one inch in length and as "small sunfish," which grows to three inches in length.

Top Seniors Cut At Will In New York

New York (IP)—High-Ranking seniors at the University College of Arts and Science at New York University are free to skip classes without penalty, according to a new ruling announced by the faculty. They voted to allow unlimited absence from classes for seniors on the dean's list. The list is comprised of students with a scholastic average of 85 per cent or more.

Honor seniors will still be required to take examinations and fulfill such obligations as class speeches, papers and other assignments. Otherwise, "They will be allowed to attend classes, both laboratories and lectures, at their own discretion."

Scholarship superior students, it was stated, will not squander time off from formal classes. In most cases, a student will elect not to attend a certain class because he feels he can better advance himself by independent study, some members of the faculty believe.

Bridges Writes Article For Health Journal

Dr. Frank Bridges of Southern Illinois University's health education department describes in an article in the current Journal of School Health a new health-knowledge test for college freshmen which he originated.

The test and the manual of directions for administering the test is scheduled for publication in February by the Acorn Publishing Company, Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Dr. Bridges carried out research for the test in six tax-supported universities and colleges of Illinois. The test is designed to determine the needs of college students in health education and hygiene courses and to test the basic health information that college students bring with them upon entering college.

Class Rings Now On Sale

The 1955 class ring is now on sale at the bookstore until Nov. 24. Each ring will be ready in six to eight weeks from ordering, according to Joe Kalla, class president.

The ring, which students voted on last spring will emphasize "newness." It was designed by the SIU art department and is made of rolled gold with a choice of three stones, ruby, blue sapphire and black onyx.

It will have Old Main engraved on one side and the Saluki on the other.

Special Ed Majors Asked To Student Teach Soon

On-campus students majoring in special education are asked to do their student teaching during one of the terms of the academic year in order to give in-service teachers an opportunity to enroll for practice teaching during the summer.

In-service teachers will be given preference for student teaching assignment during the summer term.

Students and in-service teachers who are planning to do their student teaching at the educable mentally handicapped either during winter, spring or summer term should contact the chairman of the department of guidance and special education immediately since only a limited number can be accommodated in a term.

Parents Day Crowd See Salukis Lose To Washington, 25-14

The highly publicized and highly touted Washington University Bears rolled down their Hill top to impress Southern Illinois fans with a 25-14 conquest of the Salukis on Parents Day Saturday.

The changes of famous exhibition time coach Carl Snavely tallied three times in the first half, capitalizing on two fumbles and two long, twisting runs — one by perennial Ted Dunn.

Gene Tabacchi and Gerry Hart were charged with the costly fumbles that set up the first Washington scores. Bear end Jean Deball dropped on both fumbles to become the left-handed hero of the afternoon.

With the contest only four minutes old, Dubail pounced on his first fumble recovery of the afternoon. On the first play from scrimmage Dunn, who wrecked Salukis hopes two seasons ago with three scoring blasts, ripped a 35-yard run for the first tally. Mel Siegel's attempted conversion missed and the Bears led 6-0.

A few minutes Hart and a ball carrier missed connections and the frisky pigskin fluttered to earth and Dubail again dropped his Green and White clogs bag of muscle on the recovery.

This error set the stage for a 42-yard scamper to the Southern seven by Freshman Halfback Don Buercklin, subbing for the injured Jim Burst. From there All-everything Mel Siegel hauled his way for the second score. His placement missed.

In the second period a wobbly Saluki punt gave the Bears the ball on the Southern 44. Don Polkinghorne was smashed for a one-yard loss. But on the next play Polkinghorne pounded his precarious path for six more Bear points. The third placement missed and the 18-0 stood at halftime.

The fire-breathing Bruins liked this scoring idea and took it up again in the third period. A 47-yard move was climaxed with a 1-yard dive by — guess — Dunn, Siegel, not wishing to be dishonored by a horse collar at the point after-touchdown stand, split the uprights for Washington's 25th and final point.

Coach Snavely made like Be Blik and started substituting a no to embarrass his obviously outclassed opponents and let his regulars rest from the thrilling, exciting Joe Kalla, Cliff Johnson, Dave Stroup, Ed Hayes, Wayne Williams, John Gelch and Marion Rushing were dishing out.

To show that he was also good-natured and appreciated the kindness of his opponent, Saluki Men to Bill O'Brien gave Hank Warfield the goal-kick sign, and the Big halfback took it. He tucked the handoff under his arm and butted and raced his adversary 24 yards to the goal which he crossed standing up for Southern's first score. Tabacchi connected for the placement.

Snavely began to wonder if his big heartedness was not a mistake in came the regulars at the four-minute horn. But O'Brien had been given an inch, so he took a mile.

After some maneuvering, Hart hit Williams with a 37-yard scoring pass that completely faked the veteran halfback defender out of his low-cut football shoes. Bob Ferns scored his first point on the Big halfback's pass. The game, meaning 30 seconds of playing time just elapsed and Southern lost its sixth football contest in eight out of ten. The Bears could now claim a 6-2 record for the season.

The Salukis will close the 1954 season, Saturday (Nov. 20) by an IAC tussle with Western Illinois' Leathernecks.

Southern blocks one of Washington University's conversion attempts. The Bears also missed two more placements before finding the uprights in Saturday's Parents' Day football game. The final score was 25-14.

Rifle Team Racks Up Wins 3, 4, 5 Last Week

The Southern Illinois University Air Force ROTC rifle team posted its third, fourth and fifth wins this week by defeating Cactusburg College, East Carolina College and Tennessee A & I State University.

The Southern sharpshooters defeated Gettysburg College 1901 to 17-47, East Carolina College 1913 to 1701 and Tenn. A & I State U. 1913 to 1432.

After dropping their first match to North Texas State Teachers College, the SIU riflemen have won five in a row.

Out of a possible 400 points in each of the last three matches, Joe Racine, Benton, has scored 358, 390, and 390 to become top man on the SIU team. Carl House, Benton, put himself in the number two spot with scores of 382, 386 and 386. Other team members' scores were: Jim House, Benton, 382, 382 and 382; Dren Coleman, Shawneetown, 375, 375, and 375 and Gerald Sanner, Bunker Hill, 374, 380, and 380.

VHP Holds Bowling Lead

The titular aims of the runner-up Anthony Hall crew in the SIU Independent bowling league, were set back a good deal by the Bloopers by virtue of a three-game upset. Raymond Trogolo and James Winning contributed some timely pin-toppling for the Bloopers' pile of pins. The Anthony Hall crew, led by Wally Reese's 502 and Paul Petersen's 473 were futile for Anthony Hall.

Brown Jug did the best scoring for the night with a 2446 series, easily capturing all games from La-Coterie. Foremost in Brown Jug's scintillating shooting was John Meckles' 487 set.

The five Aces and Woody Hall had sort of a diting-dong scrape, the latter eked out a opening win by 13 pins but was overwhelmed in the second and dropped the nightcap by 12 sticks. Chuck Luce's 465 and Bob Spillman's 455 supplied the fireworks for the Five Aces in tussling away a 3-1 victory. Sandra Stein corralled +11 for the vanquished.

In the Dove Dormitory HOHN encounter the former won the opening game and that was that as Jim Widicus and Eldred Mueller found the range for HOHN with 471 and 460 respective efforts.

In the most heated session of the current season, second-place Tau Kappa Epsilon came from behind, losing the opener by 774 to 797 to defeat Phi Kappa Tau three times with a sagger total of 2440 to 2424 for Phi Tau's. Stalwarts Ron Wilson, Don Cross and Don Kilan teamed up together to supply the fireworks with series of 480, 479, and 477, respectively. The victims had the assistance of Norm Bowlers' 484 and Tom Werhele's 478 for their lone win.

Time Out

After reading quite a few articles written by the St. Louis papers both before and after the Washington U.-Southern game, concerning the game, I must admit I was a little riled.

I am glad that the Bears brought their first team with them. However, stating the fact that substitutes could easily handle the situation here was a bit presumptuous and certainly hurt the feelings of at least of this party and I believe of a few more.

We know that the Bears weren't at full strength Saturday but we also know that no team of substitutes started. On the other side of the fence the facts are that the Southern has had a few injuries this season also. (This is for St. Louis' papers information.) Washington U. started its first year and the Salukis started theirs. Score doesn't always show which team put forth the most effort. IIT
