Jim Connel, president of the Thompson Point area, said, "Naturally I was disappointed. I believe the area did not win any awards and if they knew of any reason why the area was just a 'liar under par'."

Jack Taylor, president of No. 4, said, "I'm not trying to make excuses for the area, but I believe size should be taken into consideration only about 20 minutes," said Taylor. "I made the trip not driving short because of the Homecoming"

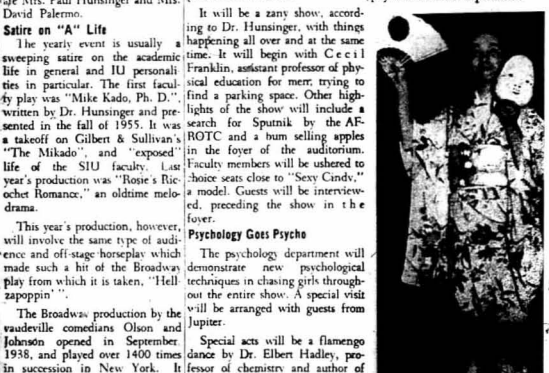

"I think the reason the Point fell behind was the lack of organization in the individual dorms. Once we get that organization and a little more spirit, we should do better," Georgine Steidel, president of No. 1 said. "We were a little size appointed because the girls worked so hard but there were no more other girls' floats and bus decorations that we can't too discuss."

Three teams of seasoned veterans will be sent to Edmond, Okla., Nov. 15 when the SIU opens its 1957-58 debate campaign in the 40-school Broncho Tournament at Central State College.

Representing SIU in the tournament will be teams of Peter Morris and Ted Foster, Ray Cammer and Robert Holton, the two Varsity women's teams, Regina Miller and Marsha Wiethorn.

The meet is the first of 16 on the Walter schedule this year. Coach Walter Murray's squad will be attempting to duplicate last year's record-breaking 210 victories and winning of six tournaments.

The Editors' Opinions

King Weather

While the students fall into the routine of everyday classes, studies and coffee, Old Man Weather takes his cue and steals the limelight. Evidently Mr. Weather knows just how routine campus life can be, for he certainly tries hard enough throughout the year to add a little life to the situation. But what can you do?

It was last spring when everyone thought SIU would be known as the leveled school of the South. Tornado warnings rang out for two days while families at Chautauque spent the night in the library. Point men stood on top of Mt. Pitt watching for the curly cue, and in general the students spent a week of never being able to say, "My clothes are dry." But this time the lights didn't remain dark for two days and the telephone service didn't go completely out. This apparently had been partially remedied from the year before. It was very before last after the Crew Gals' Concert in Shryock that students walked in to the white night—a night fit for the best of Christmas Eves. Large white flakes fell on already white earth. Spirit picked up two-fors to what was a pre-camp period. But students by returned to their homes to find the lights completely out.

Dirty Ol' Street

There is only one entrance to the Life Science. Library service entrance and the 100-odd street entrances of the Chautauque Street Housing project. That entrance is off Grand Avenue.

The closest entrance from Grand Avenue is Lake Street. Logically enough it is the most used. And it shows it. It is now in the worst condition motorists can remember for some years.

The road is a thoroughfare, as busy as any street in this community. The dust never settles when it is dry and the mud never stops splashing when it is wet.

Aside from the above mentioned streets, there are others. The Agriculture service entrance, the Wildlife research center and the Greenhouses depend on Lake Street. There there are the immovable taxis, cleaning and grocery trucks, to name a few, who bring services to those living in the Project.

The Vocational-Technical Institute was established as a Day School program and offers one and two year curricula in vocational and technical fields. The Institute was established at the opening of the fall term of 1952. The two-year programs lead to degrees of Associate in Art, Associate in Business, or Associate in Technology.

Homecoming: Here, There --Next Year

Has everyone recovered from the Homecoming festivities of last weekend? By now that tired feeling everyone got from the innumerable activities should be gone. Only those pleasant memories of the parade, the stage show, and the dance should remain.

Looking back, some of Southern's more sheltered students might think Homecoming is an event peculiar to SIU. Since Southern does such a bang-up job of celebrating Homecoming it would seem that only SIU could have Homecoming.

This is not the case. Be it known to all, other colleges and universities have this great monument to sentimental alumni, Homecoming.

Les Elgart, Benny Goodman

The Homecoming dance is always a highlight of the festivities. Everywhere the name bands, orchestras and singers flock to the campuses. Eastern Illinois University students this year had Les Elgart and his orchestra to provide a musical carpet for their dancing feet.

Way out in the wide open spaces of Texas, Benny Goodman's band was the featured attraction at the University of Texas.

A little closer to home, Don Cherry was featured attraction at Washington University in St. Louis.

Another of the best features of Homecoming is choosing the Queen. A lot of the various college newspapers make one wish he could be the Homecoming queen escort at every college. One thing is sure, the colleges everywhere are blessed with bevy of beautiful girls. It is only too bad that about five girls couldn't be named queen at each school.

No matter that college a student attends, next year's Homecoming will be eagerly awaited. It doesn't matter where, let it be in Texas, in Missouri, or in Southern Illinois, Homecoming is glorious.

You and I attend SIU and like any other campus in this country things went on that not everyone heard. Here at SIU there are a couple of fraternities who didn't finish their floats in time for the parade and thought of parading them at halftime this Saturday.

Shoe Lost—Not Found

An alumnaus felt red bad as he walked to the game when a glass bottle slid from its lodging place (under his coat) and broke.

A very petite little freshman Miss lost a shoe while attending the stage show Saturday. At last report she hadn't found it.

Another freshman who helped out Bery Johnson in the stage show is reported to have had his stomach pumped the next morning after swallowing his gum.

Regardless of where we were this year or where we'll be next year, SIU along with the rest of the ivy-clad campuses across the American expanse will be having Homecoming 1958—bigger and better than this year's... just wait and see.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Why weren't all candidates' names on the voting ballots instead of just a few? This refers to the class elections. Who selected this group and left the opposition blank? Member of Jr. Class.

CUTTING UP the GOOD and the BAD

By DON HECKE

Recently I went to a combination family reunion and birthday celebration. This one was held for more than the regular purpose of enjoying several tons of food and gaining firsthand knowledge about letter and telephone gossip.

Every family has an elder statesman and ours happens to be just like yours. The most lovable and wonderful person in the whole wide world.

In our case it is a she. And she is all woman, all 80 years of her. And that is a lot of woman in anyone's language!

When I say she is all woman I mean she is humble and honest and carries herself with the pride of a queen. I mean she has worked in her day and knows the price of a freshly ironed dress and homemade loaf of bread. She is soft spoken, but firm in her convictions. She knows how to get her way without ever hurting anyone to get it. She is full of love, and her presence brings tears to those of us who cannot quite comprehend someone so unselfish in this selfish world.

When you have such a woman in your family who reaches such a grand age you have no choice but to call a reunion. Especially when each member of the widely scattered family knows they will have the time of their lives all over again.

And so we had a reunion. Grandmother, in her own quiet little way, said she would like us to get together. She said we got together little enough anyway, and it was a good thing for blood relatives to see each other once in awhile.

Basically, a reunion is simply this: getting together all the elements that at one time were found under one roof. But it seems this is becoming more difficult to do.

Today the family is split from coast to coast, and some beyond. They are involved in all sorts of jobs and circumstances. Getting together is a real problem.

Yesterday this was not so. I remember reunions where two dozen chickens, half a dozen hams and barrels of beer were required to fill 'the relatives' stomachs. I remember too, every-one present was not a relative.

Reunion were such great events that I used to go to them when the closest relative was a third cousin twice removed. Today people do't even know their second cousins. But then, they don't have reunions any more.

It's perfectly fascinating, seeing all the relatives together. There are all sizes and ages, from the one still on the bottle to the one just about ready for his first date. (Not quite, but it will be sooner than Mama hopes).

There are several who have gained a few pounds (few is the term I used in conversation). There are some boyfriends and girlfriends or cousins to meet at reunions (and you nod approval).

Then there are the newly-weds, whose goings-on are the envy and reminiscences of the oldesters.

Philosophy, if to be developed anywhere, evolves from family reunions. There is the traveler telling about the country beautiful, and the merits of seeing it all and not being a stay-at-home forever.

The farmer (whose hospitality we enjoyed), had much first hand and sound evidence for staying home! The commuter had dollars-and-cents proof for being a commuter (even if he was a little more tired than the rest).

The real philosophy is the results of the day's activities. As you drive home you know you are a little closer to belonging to something than ever before. You remember the laughter, the jokes and cigars after dinner. You remember the games and the drive around old haunts.

You remember a dozen fast "hello's" and hurried handshakes. And as each member leaves, he leaves amid sincere and regretfully necessary farewells. And each knows the preservation of this basic community depends on him.

Age Of Space World News In Brief

By R.E. Parter
A little more than 40 days have passed since Sputnik came into existence and the Age of Space became a reality rather than science fiction.

For the Russians this has been propaganda of tremendous value. Russia has proclaimed herself a world power above and beyond all others in missiles and power research.

Kruschchev was quoted as saying last week: "These achievements of the land of socialism, which marks a new epoch in the development of science and technology, have literally conquered the world."

President Eisenhower answered this with: "What the world needs today even more than a giant leap into space is a giant step toward peace."

Truly wise words from the President, but equally meaningful when attempted to be put into practice. From the examples we have in Hungary, Poland and the other Red-infected countries, there can be no giant steps to peace unless they are taken by the Soviet powers.

Politically Russia is weak and primitive. This fact was recently revealed again by the dismissal of Marshal Georgi Zhukov as Defense minister. In Russia there must be one top power, and anyone who threatens this power must go out. Keeping this in mind you will remember that Russia's greatest progress has been made under a succession of dictators — Ivan the Terrible, Peter the Great, Katherine the Great and Stalin — autocrats all. Each held power by any means. None was a stranger to murder. Each brought Russia to a new pinnacle of achievement and power.

Nikita S. Krushchev. He must always keep on his toes against the old Salinists, against the friends of Vyacheslav M. Molotov, George M. Malenkov and Lazar M. Kaganovich, against the friends of Marshal Zhukov, and against the men who helped him to oust Marshal Zhukov.

Emerging Elite
These men, and others like them, constitute the emerging elite of the Soviet state. Whether they will come to political power in time to save the world from inadvertent catastrophe no one can predict.

There is no more patient and enduring mass of humanity anywhere in the world than the Russians. But one thing the Russians are united in opposing — this is a new war.

The only war that the Russians would support would be a war for their own survival, a defensive war against an aggressive attack. If the Russians can be convinced that no other power threatens them with aggression, no Kremlin politician will be able to utilize war or the threat of war for his gains.

Southern encourages a broad student activity program with opportunities for all students to participate in some group. Organizations are encouraged in order to meet the needs of each student and to round out the student's educational experiences by assisting him in learning how to plan and to carry out responsibilities, how to work with others, how to make wise use of leisure time, and to aid in developing general leadership traits.

SIU vs. Northern

Northern Illinois University has done a lot of losing, with little winning on the football field this season, and just recently the plight of the Huskies has been to lose late and with lightheadedness. Their last victory was in the pre-Sputnik era, and unless somebody shoots the missile down soon, Northern may go on into next season looking for a triumph.

One reason why the Northern situation has reached a crisis stage is because its season will be over after tomorrow's Interstate Conference game with Southern's Salukis in McAndrew Stadium. It is the end of the SIU home schedule, and although Coach Al Kaval's club has another game on its schedule Nov. 23 at Great Lakes, the Salukis have lost the pleasant feeling of gridiron success to go.

Northern will take a five-game losing streak into tomorrow's 1:30 o'clock Parents Day kickoff and Southern will be trying to rid itself of a two-game defeat spin. About the only consolation for the Salukis in their losing ways is that they haven't been as late about them as Northern.

Northern three weeks ago, had a 7-6 victory over Illinois Normal all counted on the right side of the ledger. The Huskies got carried away with their victory thoughts in the last minute and 10 seconds of the game, and Normal carried itself to a touchdown and an extra point that turned impending defeat into immediate victory, 13-7.

Then last week, Northern played the University of Omaha, and Omaha had had none the fun of it in losing all its games before that. The Huskies were letting them play to a 7-7 tie up to the last 16 seconds, and then Omaha used ambition and ingenuity to go two yards for a touchdown and a 14-7 victory.

So, that is the story as Howard Fletcher's Huskies bring themselves to McAndrew Stadium tomorrow. They have not won since Oct. 5, and their overall record is 2-6 and their Interstate Conference record is 1-4.

Southern, on the other hand, hasn't won since Oct. 26, a 28-21 find over Illinois Normal. The Salukis, in their home swan song, will take a 3-4 won-lost record into the battle, and a 2-4 IIAAC mark. It is apparent that a Northern victory would drop Southern to a new low this season, a tie for fifth and sixth in the IIAAC standings.

There have been 25 games in the series between Northern and Southern, and Northern has had the pleasure of winning 16 of them. That leaves Southern with eight victories, because one of the results ended in a tie. Last season was Southern's year, 28-18.

There will be no major lineup changes in SIU's starting lineup. The Saluki offense functioned well in last Saturday's 21-12 loss at Homecoming to Central Michigan. Carver Shannon, SIU's junior halfback ace, just missed an Interstate Conference single-game rushing mark. Shannon carried the ball 16 times for 196 yards, missing by four the IIAAC record.

Shannon will team with Banette Lewis at halfback, and Quarterback Bill Norwood and Fullback Paul Restivo are expected to round out the front-line SIU backfield, which was bothered by an inability to grasp the football within the shadows of the goal last week.

Northern's lineup will be at full strength, with the exception of Tackle Tom Seaman, who broke a hand in a practice scrimmage before the Omaha and is sidelined, relegated for the season.

The Huskies and Salukis are

Two IIAAC Games

Western Visits Central

Four games that involve Interstate Conference schools are on tomorrow afternoon's football agenda, and two of them will be counted in the IIAAC standings.

In addition to the Southern Salukis' Parents Day appearance against Northern Illinois at McAndrew Stadium, Western Illinois is booked to appear at Central Michigan in the other IIAAC battle.

Non-league games send Eastern Michigan to Collegeville, Ind., where St. Joseph College will provide the opposition, and Illinois Normal will entertain Illinois Wesleyan.

Eastern Michigan, of course, has fairly even from a beef stand point. They each will have seven players on the line, and Southern's average 201 pounds each, while Northern's are 203 each, give or take a tentative starter. In the backfield, Northern has an average of 176, Southern, 177.

A glance at the Northern record shows that the Huskies have lost two heart-breakers in recent weeks, but they also have been the victims of two routs. Northern lost to Central Michigan 12-52, a d-IIAAC champion Eastern Michigan, 20-54. Southern, to repeat a fact and emphasize a point, lost to Central by only 21-12. It should be ignored. The fellow who invented comparative scores didn't mean many years ago and there wasn't one football coach at his funeral.

already wrapped up the IIAAC title, with six successive victories in the circuit. Western's jaunt to Mt. Pleasant and Central Michigan will find the Leathernecks bidding for their fifth loop victory in six outings.

Central, after bowing in its first appearance this year, has come on strong by taking three of its last four starts. The Chipewas, who were dethroned from the championship perch they reached in the IIAAC in 1956, now are 3-2 in loop play, good for a third-place position behind Eastern Michigan and Western.

Four Gridders

Four SIU gridders—Willie Brown, John Abramovich, Carver Shannon and Paul Restivo—shared individual honors in the Egyptian's Saluki Lineman and Back of the Week Contest last week.

Brown find Abramovich, for their sterling defensive play especially, shared the Lineman of the Week laurels. Brown, 194-pound sophomore guard, gave Central Michigan ball-carriers plenty of trouble in a 21-12 SIU defeat, and also pulled from his guard position well to take out the end on the Salukis' success of the corners.

Abramovich's defensive play and his plugging the middle of the Southern yardage checking line earned his honor spot next to Brown. Abramovich, 207-pound junior, is in the process of earning his third varsity grid letter at SIU.

In addition to ralling up 194 yards in 15 carries and reeling off a 62-yard touchdown run, Shannon also played the best

Fourth Straight Homecoming Loss

Homecoming hasn't exactly been a boon for Southern's football teams, and this year's event was pretty much the same for the Salukis. They lost to Central Michigan, 21-12, last Saturday in McAndrew Stadium before 9,500 patrons, and it was the fourth straight Homecoming setback for the Maroon and White gridlers.

Southern hasn't won a Homecoming game since 1953, when the Salukis beat Eastern Illinois, 6-0. Since then defeats to Michigan Normal, Washington U. of St. Louis, Western Illinois and now Central Michigan have followed. Southern's composite Homecoming game record is 17-16-2.

Tumbles played havoc with the defense of Coach Al Kaval's gladiators. Southern backs bobbled the ball five times, and two of the recoveries by the invading Chippewas halted SIU scoring threats within the Central 30-yard line.

Scoreless First Period

After a scoreless first period, a pass interception by Roger McIntosh set up the game's first tally at the outset of the second stanza. Central drove 69 yards for the six-point after McIntosh's steal, and the payoff hit went to Thelvious

Former athletes and their wives reminisced at a reception following the Saluki-Central Michigan Homecoming football game last Saturday.

Winiecki, 205-pound freshman from the covered line. Winiecki also added the conversion.

Southern realized to pull to within 7-6 at the intermission. It was Carver Shannon, on a 62-yard burst around left end, who scored the touchdown six minutes before the half. Shannon's placement was not good.

The Salukis took the lead on a pair of defensive gems in the third canto. Marion Rushing dashed in to block a Central punt, and Dick Nelson hopped on the ball in the end zone, for a 12-7 advantage. The lead was short-lived. Central came right back on a 38-yard TD pass from Herb Kipke to Jim Lickman, and Winiecki converted.

The final score of the day went to hard-running Walt Beath of Central, on a six-yard sprint around right end with 445 minutes remaining in the struggle. Winiecki converted again.

Southern encourages a broad student activity program with opportunities for all students to participate in some group. Organizations are encouraged in order to meet the needs of each student and to regard the student's educational experiences by assisting him in learning how to plan and to carry out responsibilities, how to work with others, how to make use of leisure time, and to aid in developing general leadership traits.

Newmans No. 2 Eye Indee Kegling Title

Newman Club No. 2, idle from activity last week, can move closer to the first-half SIU Independent Students Bowling League championship Monday night at the Congress Lanes in Carbondale.

The Newmans, in compiling a 13-2 won-lost mark, hold a three-point lead over the Egyptians and Newman Club No. 1, which are in a two-way deadlock for second place with twin 11-7 won-lost records.

Newman No. 2 tackles Newman No. 1 on alleys 1 and 2 Monday night, with the first game starting at 9:15 o'clock. Other action finds Doyle Dorn squaring off against the Scutebute Hut on 3 and 4; Steve Stearns last week, and Chautauqua Co-op against the Chemistry Department on 7 and 8. The Egyptians have a bye.

McPherson on Beam
The Egyptians, with Roy McPherson contributing a 200 game in the third match, took three of four points from Stearns last week, to move into a second-place draw with Newman No. 1, which was felled by the Scutebute Hut, 3-1. In other matches, the Brown Jug took a 3-1 verdict from the Chemistry Department and Doyle Dorn blanked Chautauqua, 4 to 0.

Darwin Wiess shot 482 in a losing effort for Stearns. Joe Weidling of the Brown Jug capped the night individual honors, however, with a sparkling 529 series and a 222 single. John Turnball had a 515 effort for Doyle Dorn.

The Nov. 4 results saw Newman No. 2 whitewash Stearns, 4-0; the Brown Jug trim Scutebute, 3-1; the Egyptians take a 3-1 nod from the Chemistry Department; and Newman No. 1 overwhelm Chautauqua, 4-0. Five-hundred series were turned in by Dave Boudreau and Joe Ducey (both 562); Carl Przada (541), Bob Gubatz (518), Joe Cronin (515) and Ben Cyril (515). Ducey's 234 was the best single-game performance.

Time. The Homecoming Steering Committee should do something about the problem.

We humbly offer this suggestion:

Why not build a large, warm bonfire on Crab Orchard Lake, pipe in some soft music, sell mixed drinks (also mums), provide some kind of diverting activity (similar to 22 football players knocking heads together), . . . and sell reserved seat tickets to those students who couldn't quite get their kicks from the game last Saturday.

It has been written . . . we rest in peace.

KAWAL, LYNN HOLDER ATTEND COACHES MEET

Lynn-Holder, SIU's best basketball coach, and Al Kawal, head football mentor, attended a re-organizational meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Coaches Assn. last week in East St. Louis.

Joe Jacco, the Edwardsville High School basketball coach, was elected president of the organization, which was disbanded several years ago. The East St. Louis Journal tendered the banquet, which was attended by Eddie Hickey, St. Louis U. basketball coach, Blair Gallion, Washington U. cap director and Frank Lane, former general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and now of the Cleveland Indians.

3 IM Grid Champs Crowned

By Jim Wieg

Glenn "Abie" Martin, head of SIU Intramurals can wipe the perspiration from his brow and look forward to basketball season since intramural football is almost completed.

After weeks of rain and other delays, winners in three of the intramural football leagues have been decided. The fraternity champ is still hanging in the balance.

The Men's Residence Hall League is divided into three divisions. The winner of the West Division is the Sleepy Hollow Wolfpack with an undefeated record.

Thompson Point's tigers won the East Division after a late start because of the rains. The Tigers does were in second place in this division with one defeat, to the Tigers.

The Skytoppers won the Southern Acres Division of the Men's Residence Hall League. The managers of the league met last week and decided to have a playoff to determine which team would represent the Men's Residence Hall League in the all-school playoffs.

The Thompson Point Tigers and the Sleepy Hollow Wolfpack played the first game with the Wolfpack winning, 12-0.

Sleepy Hollow On Safety

A first-period safety gave the Sleepy Hollow boys a 2-0 victory over the Skytoppers in a defensive minded game Tuesday. A bad pass from center, on an attempted punt resulted in a Skytopper ball carrier being trapped behind his own goal-line in the opening quarter.

UD's Plaza was the winner of the Organized House League. The athletes from the Plaza had an undefeated record, and will go in to the all-school playoffs as defending champs of 1956.

The Seldom Fere Seven went undefeated like most of the other league winners and will represent the Independent League in the playoffs.

In intramural play last week, the House of Southern Comfort forfeited to the Sleepy Hollow Wolfpack. Delta Chi was trounced by Sigma Tau Gamma, 25-0, after defeating Theta Xi only the day before.

The Thompson Point Tigers won two games. They mauld Thompson Point 11, floor 3, 12-0 and then Thompson Point 11,

Need Fraternity Champ

The fraternity champ is still undecided. In games last week, Sigma Tau Gamma beat Sigma Phi, 13-0 and Delta Chi lost on first downs to Phi Kappa Tau, 3-2.

Intramural basketball play will blast off this Wednesday. Rosters must be in the Intramural Office by Monday and all teams should have a representative at the manager's meeting at 7:30 p.m. the same day.

The Intramural Office reported that it will need 30 basketball officials to work during the intramural basketball season.

There were over 860 basketball games played last year with 1,111 players participating. The Eagles were the schoolwide winners among 70 teams.

The Student Council is the major student governing body and is made up of four representatives from each class.

Thursday, Friday

Intramural Mat Tourney

"The Illinois High School wrestling rules will be followed in the wrestling tournament," says Loel Verble from the Intramural Office.

The intramural wrestling tournament will be held next Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. The event will take place in the Quanser Hut.

"There won't be a meeting of team managers, but participants should check the intramural bulletin board daily," Verble continued. "Team rosters or individual entries are due Nov. 19 (next Wednesday)."

"All men who plan to participate should have a permit from the University Health Service on file at the Intramural Office. Participants must weigh in between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Nov. 20."

The weights are: 128 pounds, 136 pounds, 145 pounds, 155 pounds, 165 pounds, 175 pounds, and heavyweight. A three-pound weight allowance will be given.

The first, second and third rounds will be one minute each, while the first round in the finals will be two minutes. The second and third rounds in the finals will be one minute in length.

JAYVEES LOSE FINALE TO EVANSVILLE, 20-13

Southern's Junior Varsity football team journeyed to Evansville, Ind., last Friday and dropped a 20-13 verdict to the host Evansville State JV's.

It was the final game of a 2-2 season for Coach Gerry Han's SIU underclassmen.

The color films of the Homecoming football game of Southern vs. Central Michigan will be shown tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Library Auditorium.

Football Coach Al Kawal is supposed to be on hand to narrate the 30-minute movie.

Each year more than 1,000 school children participate in outdoor programs at the SIU camp sites. The work comes under the Department of Recreation and Outdoor Education.

STRAY MISSILE?

It wasn't a Sputnik (Nos. 1 or 2, take your pick) flying low, but just the football in this action of the Southern - Central Michigan Homecoming game last Saturday in McAndrew Stadium. The ball went over the outstretched hands of an unidentified Saluki lineman. Southern's Leonard Taylor is at the right, and No. 65 in the white uniform is Central's Bill Smith. Central spoiled the Southern Homecoming with a 21-12 victory.

THREE QUARTERS OF FUN

Homecoming weekend was a happy occasion for the class dismissed.

Returning alumni enjoyed the weekend for various reasons. Some revelled in putting their old buddies on the back and comparing notes on who was making the most money nowadays.

Others came back and marvelled at the changes being wrought by construction, legislature and President Delyte W. Morris.

Most of all, however, we believe the SIU student body received the biggest bang out of the gala week-end.

Take the football game, for instance. The highlight of any college Homecoming across the nation. The stage show, parade, decorations, dance, etc. were all fine, but we think the game was best of all.

After all, where else could the co-eds show off their new dresses, coats, hair-styles and sport the traditional mums?

Where else could the living groups band together in their isolated sections and cheer for good of SIU, with banners waving high?

Where else could the dapper gentlemen, dressed to the toes, with topcoat, flask and an ample supply of his preferred mix, hustle under a blanket with his favorite date?

Even as cold and windy as it was, . . . and it was, the day was obviously an enjoyable one for Southern's students.

That is, . . . for three quarters. It was then, 15 minutes before the game was to end, that the fun was over for hundreds of Southern's so-called supporters.

We really shouldn't blame them for leaving. . . because after all, it was very cold. . . and it would have been a shame to catch a cold before the forthcoming Saturday night events.

And surely the new clothes had been shown off enough by now. . .

Northern Harriers First

Northern Illinois University's cross country team added another honor to its season's activity last week. The Huskies edged Central Michigan for the Interstate Conference cross country championship Saturday at Macomb.

For Northern, which the week before won the IAC championship, it was the Huskies' first IAC Harrier title since 1950, when the sport was first started at the school.

Coach Carl Appell's club thus capped a brilliant season, during which it was unbeaten. Northern finished with 66 team points, while runner-up Central Michigan had 68.

the season finale for Leland (Doc) Ling's runners.

Northern didn't have a finisher among the top five, but the Huskies made team balance pay off in the victory. Dick Townsend finished sixth, and Northern also nabbed the 11th, 15th, 16th, 18th, 20th and 30th places.

Fred Sandow of Western Illinois finished first in the meet. His time over the three and three-quarter mile course at Macomb was 19:32.9.

After Northern and Central Michigan, here's how the other teams fared: Illinois Normal, 70 points; Eastern Michigan, 84; East Illinois, 89; Western Illinois 138; and Southern, 164.
