Publishing Executive To Speak In Assembly

Russell L. Guin, vice-president of Interscience Publishers, Inc., of Knoxville, will be the guest speaker at the freshman assembly Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The assembly is the third of a series which will bring noted speakers to the campus.

and his records show that he has taken an active and vital interest in organizations all over the country.

"I take particular pride in the fact that I had a hand in bringing Dr. Morris to Southern," writes Guin in a letter to Dr. C. Horton Talley, chairman of the freshman assembly program committee.

Guin also mentioned in his letter to Dr. Talley that he is an honor member of the Omega Indian Tribe and an honorary Kentucky Colonel.

Social Senate Elects Three New Officers

Bob Wagner is now vice-president of the Social Senate. He, along with Carol Moore, secretary and Jerry Hawkins, treasurer, were elected to their new positions in the Social Senate meeting Wednesday.

Mary Myers, who was elected last spring, is still president of the group.

Carol Moore, Delta Sigma Epsilon, representing the Pan-Hellenic Council, while Jerry Hawkins, Tau Kappa Epsilon, represents the Inter-Fraternity Council, as does Wagner.

The Social Senate sponsors all social events, and it is the guiding force behind Christmas Week activities.

All new organizations on the SIU campus must have the approval of the Senate to be recognized. Some loans are made to clubs by the Senate.

Dr. Elizabeth Greenleaf, Director of Student Activities, is sponsor of the group.

Other members of the Social Senate are Don Eklund and Dick Jones, Alpha Phi Omega; Sam Floyd and Dorothy Olson, Women's House Council; Jim Gilliland, IGA; Gwen Applegate and Pat Priest, Student Council; Carlene Brown, Pan-Hellenic Council; and Evelyn Schubach and Cynthia Kuehn, Girl's Rally.

Anthony Hall, which housed coeds until this year but has now become part of the Men's Residence Halls system, has adopted its own constitution and set up a government to rule the Hall.

Anthony, which houses 80 men, will be divided into two separate groups, the second and the third floor. Each group has elected its own officers. These officers will also serve on the House Council which will govern the entire Hall.

Advisor for the new Hall Council is Bill Selig, head house resident. Assisting him are acting advisors for each of the floor governments are Wayne Grandcolas and Paul Zollner.

Officers elected to govern the second and third floors are, respectively: Raymon Wanczyk and Jerry Wallace, presidents; Eddie Brown and Richard Lee, vice-presidents; Ronald Rogers and George Walbright, secretary-treasurers; Eugene Aronelli and Dave Harp, athletic chairmen; Herb Anderson and Bill Lewis, management representatives; Wayne Clark and Ronald Brasel, social chairmen; and Bob Francis and Sam Stuckey, Residence Hall Council representatives.

Chi Delts Go National

Group To Become Affiliated With Phi Kappa Tau

Chi Delta Chi, Southern's first national fraternity, will soon go national, according to Harlan Seats, fraternity president. The fraternity will become affiliated with Phi Kappa Tau, in formal ceremonies in November.

The sciences, which led to the fraternity's going national started last spring, when Jack Anson, field representative from Phi Kappa Tau headquarters in Oxford, Ohio, visited the group. Later Anson and Bernie Seate, also from Phi Kappa Tau headquarters, visited the Chi Delta Chi formal initiation.

The local chapter kept in touch with the national organization and the other Chi Delta Chi representatives, Harlan Seats and Dick White attended the Phi Kappa Tau national convention at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana.

At this convention, the Chi Delta Chi petition to become affiliated with Phi Kappa Tau was read and approved unanimously.

Later the local group voted to join the Phi Kappa Tau, a formal written petition to the national organization about November, and will prepare them for their formal initiation in mid-November. They expect Roland Maxwell, national president from Pasadena, California, to be present for the formal installation ceremonies.

Continued active until the war years, when it became inactive for four years. Re-activated in 1945, it has been active in campus life since then.

The chapter has tradition, many of its local traditions, many of its songs and rituals being of local origin. An alumnus, Clarke Morgan, wrote several of the fraternity's songs.

Originating the Spring Sixty-nine, the group has taken top honors in the contest in each succeeding year.

Last year the group won first prize for the best Homecoming float. It has won first place in the men's bowling league and has won house decoration prizes in four of the last eight years.

Charles Wilder, winner of the service to Southern award last year, is a member of Chi Delta Chi. Two other finalists were also members of the fraternity.

Some of the social functions of the group include an open house, an alumni banquet, a father-son banquet, a writer formal and a Christmas party.

Phi Kappa Tau has 69 chapters throughout the United States. Officers of Chi Delta Chi this year are Harlan Seats, president; Primo Angeli, vice-president; Ben Krug, secretary; Tom Whyte, treasurer, and Willis Costney, house manager.

ELLIE MILLER, Pat Lamont, Charles Wildy and Marilyn Wakeland (seated) register a second year load of students who arrived for the leadership conference at Giant City State Park last weekend.

A series of panel discussions, with organized recreational activities, rounded out the program for the group of approximately 100 who attended the outing.

KAPPA DELTA PI TO MEET TOMORROW

Members of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity, will hold their second meeting this year in room 118 at University school tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

programs. But with late registrations the figure was expected to increase to over 3,500. A break-down of this 3,487 figure showed 3,240 registered for on-campus work, 103 for the Belleville Residence Center, and VTI full-time program. This is 15% higher than the 3,036 registered for the same program last fall. In addition there are 422 enrolled in the University School.

For the 3,240 on-campus students men outnumber the women by nearly two to one.

This Fall's freshman class, 1455 strong, is the second-largest freshman class in the University's history. It is 95 less than the Fall, 1946 freshman enrollment. Freshmen men outnumber the women by 401.

Of the 660 sophomores enrolled, 439 are men and 221 are women. The juniors number 498 with 310 men and 188 women, while the senior ratio of men to women is considerably more even with only 187 men as compared to 143 women.

Graduate student enrollment is 247 with almost twice as many men as women—164 to 83. Special students and unclassified graduate students number 21.

The College of Education enrollment out-numbers other college enrollments by far with a 1259 figure. Liberal Arts and Sciences is next with a total enrollment of 889, followed by 755 enrolled in Vocations and Professions. The Graduate School has 256 enrolled.

One thousand are expected to enroll by Oct. 15 in 47 definitely scheduled Adult Education courses, and 1172 are expected in Extension Division. This number will gradually increase as future courses are scheduled, according to McGrath.

Registration ended Saturday, and as soon as the Registrar releases the final totals, the Egyptian will print them.

With these enrollments already on hand and those expected in the near future, the Registrar's SIU is assured of offering an educational opportunity to more students than at any time in its history," says a release from the Registrar's office.

Plans Almost Complete For New Magazine

Plans for the new SIU literary magazines called "Impulse," are almost complete.

The magazine format will be eight and a half by 11 inches and will have a colored cover. The staff plans to print the magazine at least four times during three terms, but if there is a great demand it is expected it will be published monthly, according to Larry Wagley, editor, the date set for the first issue is Oct. 13.

Norman Owens, poet, and Ted Lindhly, cartoonist, were Tuesday night's meeting. Others present were Larry Wagley, editor, Wes Walton, assistant editor, Jane Evans secretary, Bill Brubaker, business manager, Wynona Smith, and Fred de Savanne.

Donald Brown, art editor, is working on the front cover. Floyd Giff is working on the art staff also.

Little Theatre Meets Tonight

Freshmen are invited to attend a social meeting of the SIU Little Theatre group tonight at 7 o'clock, to get acquainted with the club's present members.

The meeting will be held in the special barracks with a social hour (featuring refreshments and entertainment) preceding try-outs for several one-act plays.

Student Jobs Scarce Now

Because of large amount of students who have applied for student employment almost all of the jobs for students have been filled, and there are still students who are seeking employment.

Our Opinions

Honor Or Duty?

The obvious answer to a naive question is that the election to the Student Council entails both an honor and a duty. The honor is apparent. To be elected one of 16 students who represent some 3,000 other students is a distinction which marks the height of the extracurricular activities scene. This group of 16 students has the power to give or withhold approval of requests from many student groups. The decisions which the Student Council makes are supposed to be representative of student thinking as a whole. With this idea of representative student government comes the companion idea of duty to those whom the Student Council members represent. It is the duty of the council members, as representatives, to acquaint themselves with what students are thinking and saying about campus matters. It is the duty of the council members to report what they have learned, and to discuss their ideas fully. From as simple a matter as the way to come to the Student Council members assume when they meet, to the more important matters of the Student Council members assume when they meet, to the more important matters of the Student Council members assume when they meet...

Conclusion

The past four years at Southern Illinois University have brought many changes, tangible and intangible. Perhaps the most conspicuous ones have been outward. The campus, the physical plant of the school, is gradually being altered as more property and land are added, permitting different and more efficient use of housing and space. Two new permanent buildings have been opened for use, and four others have been under construction. Furthermore, to house the increasingly complex activity of the school until additional permanent space can be secured, more than fifty badly needed temporary structures have been put to use. But Southern's development has not been confined to the expansion of its physical equipment. Important as that is, it is merely an outward indication of functional growth. In its program of teaching and research, the University's efforts have been both broadened and deepened. New departments have been added and new courses offered in existing departments. The faculty has been strengthened by the addition of distinguished scholars and promising young teachers. Research and creative work have been actively encouraged, and the faculty have been rewarded for their work. The needs of the students, academically and personally, have been carefully studied by both faculty and administration, and a plan is being implemented to meet the needs of the students. The University continues to exist, properly and primarily, for the students. The mission of the school, however, is not limited. It is to serve the needs of the community, to be a center of leadership and service, to be a part of the life of the region it serves. Much of the growth and change in the activity of Southern must be attributed to the greatly increased opportunities which were made possible by the creation, within the four-year period, of its own separate Board of Trustees. With the sympathetic and untiring aid of the Board, the University finds itself increasingly able to build and carry forward the programs and services peculiar to itself and its area. Furthermore, within the University itself, administrative changes have been greatly changed, always with the full approval of both faculty and Board, to the end that the best thinking of the entire academic community may be put to the service of the school. Finally, there has been a greatly increased legislative support, without which none of the other advances would have been possible. The past four years have indeed witnessed change, growth, and, we all hope, progress. The future is bright, and the road ahead is clear. The University is well on its way to a new era of achievement and service.

Bachelors Protective Association Adopts Southern Student

By Don Hargis Malmen brings the darndest thing! Just the other day I was stumbling through the day's mail when I came across this envelope. It was from the Bachelor's Protective Association, which has headquarters in Newark, N. J., and was imprinted with the Association Seal—a well-dressed wolf rampant. Included in the envelope were a letter informing me that I had been second membership in the BPA, a membership card confirming this fact, and an insurance policy insuring me "against entering into the state of holy matrimony" for one year. Also in the envelope was the current copy of the BPA Bulletin, and on its pages I found such miscellaneous information as the fact that women spend 79 per cent of the money, own 67 per cent of the wealth, and do 90 per cent of the loafing, according to a recent survey by the BPA research department. In a story headlined "Women Must Mend their Ways," the Bulletin states "Long suffering American Males have reached the end of the rope. Women are understanding more and more when we know they never had it so good... The day is sooner than two members of the Student Council were given long-range excursions from attending the sessions. One student had a class conflict, while the other was participating in sports. We feel that since we have a representative student group in theory, that representation should exist in fact also. How can students be represented when their representatives are not present at Student Council sessions? Again, we think the answer is obvious. It is our feeling in this matter that one of two things should be done. Either representatives should be elected to replace those students who must miss all or most of the Student Council sessions during the term, or the meeting time of the Student Council should be changed to a period when there is no class conflict, and no conflict with extra-curricular activities. Since we feel that those who were elected by the students should continue to serve their full term, we would recommend that the meeting time of the Student Council be changed, in order to make it 100 per cent representative. Students May Pick Up Their Activity Tickets

Students may now begin picking up their regular activity tickets at the Bursar's Office, Lucille Eber-ton, Bursar, said today. A previous announcement had been made about the tickets being available at the first of last week, but difficulties arose in sorting and checking the tickets, at a time when student help was short in the Bursar's office, so there was a slight delay in processing them through. FOUR THE PLEDGES GOING THROUGH HELP WEEK Four Tau Kappa Epsilon pledges are going through "Help" Week, which will end tomorrow morning. They are Bob Teague, Don Kiffin, Ren Moran and Chuck Cook. These boys are finishing their pledge training which began in the spring. Loren Clark, a Tele at Southern last year, is now attending Annapolis Naval Academy. "I'll leave you with a few more words of wisdom from the BPA Bulletin. A Bachelor is a happy guy who has a lot of fun. He sizes all the G-utes up. And never Mrs. one."

(Brief letters of general interest to students, faculty, or other readers of the Egyptian will be considered for publication in this column. Letters of invective and anonymous letters will not be considered. Writers' names will be withheld at their request, however.) I would like to know if it is possible to have the Egyptian sent to me here at Hartington. I was a steady reader while I attended SIU, and I would like to keep up on events at the old school. There are two of us here from Southern interested in receiving the Egyptian, Red Feldon, from Alton, and myself. In case you are interested, Mr. Feldon and myself are Observer Cadets who are receiving primary training here at Hartington AFB, near Brownsville, Texas. Sincerely yours, Tom McClintock. (We are interested, Tom, and you may be interested to know that put, or any other saying man who attended Southern before going into service may receive the Egyptian free, simply by sending their address to The Egyptian, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. Please let us know when your address changes, to avoid delay in receiving your paper. Ed.)

Anthony Hall Partially Solves Housing Problem

Moving into Anthony Hall has partially solved the housing problem for 80 men. University housing expansion for Southern men will probably still continue to grow in the near future as Anthony Hall has grown to become a reality for the Southern gals. Dowdell Hall, consisting of nine residence halls, has 204 men placed, compared to the 184 men who were there in the 1952 fall term. At Southern Acres, part of the Men's Residence Halls, houses 34 men. At these Men's Residence Halls are 11 house fellows, one in charge of each house; usually a graduate student or senior is picked for the job. Each house fellow, besides working in the house, must also work on a special project or activity. The house fellows at the Dowdell Hall are: Norman Shelton, Wayne Nash, Jack Renfro, Paul Morris, James Giggins, John Cherry, Bill Halladay, and James Jenkins. Paul Zollner and Wayne Grandcollis are the house fellows at Anthony Hall. Ralph Holmes is house fellow at Southern Acres. The governing body for all men's University housing is the residence Hall Council, composed of 13 men, one member chosen from each house to represent his prospective group.

Johnson Hall Has House Meeting

Johnson Hall had its first regular monthly house meeting last week. Ernestine Watler was elected co-chairman and June Weber was elected keeper of the grades to replace girls who had resigned. Carole Smith was appointed reporter-of-the-scribble. Juanita Peradoto and Betty Mitchell were elected as open house co-chairmen. Sue Lightfoot reported on a fire prevention meeting she attended on campus. She was appointed permanent fire prevention chairman. House representatives elected for the house council are Louis Dillow, Su Jacobs, Jane Barnett, Nina Neal, and Jean Grimes. Ads Ann Dillow was elected chairman of the annual chili supper. Betty Morgan heads a committee to plan either a float or house decorations for Homecoming.

Edoctor: The extremely messy condition of the confectionery section of the Student Union is a bight on the SIU campus. If a sufficient staff is not on payroll to keep the place clean, then I suggest that it be hired. If the budget will not permit additional help, I suggest that a trash hole be put under each table with a garbage disposal unit connecting to it. The other morning I was slipping some fruit, juice which I purchased at Soman. After the first sip, I realized that it was grape juice; my tomato, juice was staying untouched on the table along with a sample of almost every other product sold at the counter. The health of the student body and faculty may be impaired if this condition is not corrected. The Student Union is too fine a place to be so marred with such carelessness to neglect. The old canteen was never this unsightly, even though numerous bridge games had to be interrupted to clean the tables. I believe anyone would rather have his bridge game momentarily interrupted than to have to reach over two feet of rubbish to pull in his tricks. R. A.

The reader has several purposes: 1. To run athletic programs, 2. To buy athletic equipment, 3. To settle house disputes, 4. To sponsor annual events, and 5. To hire a business manager—this was Carl Anderson—to run the Residence Hall enterprises, which consists of taking care of coke machines, automatic washers, and drivers at Dowdell and Anthony Hall. This year the Finance has $9,000 gross to help finance these activities. Activities are highlighted by the new recreation hall in the Dowdell area. This is the first year it will be open for the full school year. In this recreation hall is a small store, a new woodworking shop, opened for the first time last year, a billiard table, and a ping pong table. Faculty members are invited periodically for didactic discussion groups. There is opportunity for everyone to participate in some phase of the recreational activities. In the athletic department, year-round activity consists of softball, basketball and volleyball. Tournaments are held every year. This year Jack Renfro and Wayne Nash are heading the athletic events. William M. Rogge, a graduate of University of Wisconsin, is the supervisor of Men's Residence Halls. Under Rogge are the "Head Residents," Balch Holmes at Southern Acres, William Salig at Anthony Hall. Rogge is in charge of Dowdell Hall, where he also lives. The supervisor of Men's Residence Halls is jointly responsible to the Director of Office of Student Affairs, Dean J. Clark Davis, and the Supervisor of Auxiliary Enterprises, Paul Hehl.

SOUTHERN'S CHEERLEADERS Brief Reviews of Three New Library Books By Larry Conner "I WAS A DRUG ADDICT" Leroy Strick and David Loth Leaky Street is the pseudonym of a man who endured 13 years of drug addiction. "I Was a Drug Addict" is the story of his struggle with "the monkey on his back." Authors Strick and Loth lead the reader from water-front "coke joints" to the laboratories and jails of an unsympathetic world. The reader hobbos with "pushers," "junkies," "cooks," "anon birds," and all the other hapless denizens of the "rose colored world." Strick wrote the book, not in an effort to justify his addiction or to offer remedies, but in order to explain the whole thing. This cat was no piker; he ran the gamut from heroin to morphine and experimented with cocaine, marijuana and opium on the side. However, all ends well and Mr. Strick becomes a success and presumably lives happily ever after. The book will be available tomorrow and should be a reading must for all enterprising young Hoopheads. IT ALL STARTED WITH CO-LUMBUS, Richard Armour—Mr. Armour is the fellow who writes those witty little poems which appear occasionally in the "Saturday Evening Post." In his book, he manages to poke fun at practically everyone and everything in American history from poor old Columbus (who supposedly went to sea because of an unhappy married wife) to Franklin D. Roosevelt (who was born with a silver cigarette holder in his mouth.) Author Armour so effectively tears our history apart and somehow neglects to put it back together again. Samples of his gaw, mis-information: George Washington was widely known in colonial times because his picture appeared on stamps and dollar bills. Also included in the entire text of Coolidge's speech for reelection, "I do not choose to run." "While Mr. Armour's opus probably won't be chosen for the text of History 202, it is still very refreshing reading. AESOP'S FABLES, Aesop—if you happen to have missed Aesop's fables somewhere along the line, don't despair. They've all been collected and put in one book form by Peter Pauper Press with illustrations by Thomas Bewick. In case you don't catch all the subtle morals, they are included at the end of each fable with a gloved hand pointing sternly at the reader. The fables may seem rather elementary and often childish to the casual reader. However, if the reader applies them to everyday living, he is bound to come to the conclusion that this man Aesop was kept to his fellow man's motives. Do You Know That... Southern Symphony Has Sponsor This Year

The Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra will be sponsored by a women's club during its fifth concert season, Dr. Mauris Kesar, conductor of the orchestra, announced recently.

Kesar said the local Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor three concerts here in November, March and May, and announced recently.

The ISA membership cards will go on sale this week, according to Bill Phelps, president. The cards will sell for one dollar and will entitle the holder free admission to all ISA social events plus serving as identification at certain ISA organizational elections.

The ISA will sponsor an all-school square dance, October 2, in the Antione Hall parking lot. Admission will be 35 cents or presentation of ISA membership card.

Over 150 students participated in the Independent Student Association hayride Thursday night. Students were picked up at the flagpole and taken in wagons to the City Recreation Center.

The event was a combination hayride and campfire picnic. Admission was by ticket or temporary membership card. Refreshments were served by Sally Brockman and her friends committee. Dr. and Mrs. Harper were guests of the picnic.

Campfire entertainment was given with Dick Gregory presiding as M.C. David Harp performed The Hopi Indian Hoop Dance. Carl Strickland sang "Hey Joe," and Chelo Ross sang "Swedish American Song." Arnette Rihnehart was chairman of the entertainment committee.

ISA Membership Cards On Sale This Week

Rehearsals will be held on Tuesday evenings, Kesar reported. He invited any Southern Illinois instrumentalists, especially string players, to contact him by phone or mail if they are interested in filling vacancies in orchestra personnel.

Mrs. Louise Morehouse, who is handling arrangements for the women's club sponsorship, said admission to each of these concerts here would be 50 cents. A season ticket will cost $1.

Mrs. Edith Garrison, a soprano from Mt. Vernon, will return this year to be soloist at the first concert, Kesar said. The University Chorus will also participate.

Kesar said the second concert would be "surprise" and the program will not be released until later. The final performance of the orchestra here will be a "pop" concert which will feature the singing of a young brother and sister team.

The 67-piece Southern Illinois Symphony Orchestra was organized by Kesar four years ago. About 40 per cent of its members are students; the others are area musicians who volunteer their services.

Library Now Has 400 Records
 Addition of Listening Machine Expands Department

By Horace Harvey

Like music? Then you can have a heyday listening through the 400 long playing classical and semi-classical records now available at the library.

Up to four records can be checked out by students and faculty members for a period of a week, and in case you might be having a party, reservations can easily be arranged.

A new addition to the record library this year is a ten-place listening machine which allows listeners to play their favorite records without disturbing the students studying in the library. Ten schedules per week have been set up for this purpose, and all students are invited to attend these sessions.

The record library had its start in 1951 when Dr. Mauris Kesar, chairman of the music department, made the rounds of Chicago's music stores and listened to hundreds of recordings to insure that only the finest recordings were selected.

Miss Elizabeth Stone and Miss Grace E. Kite, both of the library staff, were also busy. Together they were studying the many problems of storage and distribution of such a library. As a result of the tireless efforts of these people, the circulation records for the last three months of 1951 were 848 records.

A large majority of the record users in 1951 and 1952 were faculty members, but a sharp increase in the number of student users began early in 1953.

101 Attend Leadership Conference

One hundred and one SIU students attended the 1953 Leadership Conference at Giant City Park last Friday and Saturday.

The conference was being conducted by prospective leaders meeting and discussing mutual problems.

Dr. John Anderson of the SIU speech department, delivered the kick-off address Friday night prior to the first scheduled discussion panel. One student leader and a faculty resource leader led each discussion of the 24-hour conference.

The conference attendees spent the night in the Giant City Park barracks, and meals were served by the university cafeteria.

This is the first year the conference was held off-campus.

The board of trustees sponsored a complete recreational hour for the conference Friday night. Dr. Freewald of the Men's Physical Education department helped plan the complete session and additional recreation throughout the weekend.

The Student Council helped to finance the weekend.

Dr. Beny Granstedt directed the conference with the aid of Bill Phelps, student chairman.

Looking Back

"Way back in 1921, the most in the way of extra-curricular activity around Southern's campus was a brick hike down the IC railroad capped off by a wicker roast and a lusty singing of songs and yelling of yells. One such shindig, as reported by the Egyptian, was thrown by a group of students from Pope and Massie counties.

Many amusing games were played, and prizes were awarded. Exactly what the students absorbed in the course of the games was not disclosed, this being during Prohibition. However, among the prizes awarded were a pair of iron shovels and an aluminum pin cushion.

If the thoughts of walking half-way to Coblen didn't appeal, one would attend the Barh Theater, which was modestly seated as the area's finest moving picture playhouse. Playing at the Barh were such sensations as Cecil B. DeMille's "Forbidden Fruit" and "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," billed as the greatest screen play the world has ever seen.

Another unusual facet of the social season was the annual "Possum Banquet," sponsored by the Zoology Club. The club actually obtained a pack of dogs, opossums does presumably, and captured the animals, then baked them with yams and consumed them with great relish.

Winter-Term Student Teacher Applications Due

Students who plan to do their student teaching during the winter quarter should submit their final applications to student teaching to the office of Dr. Charles D. Neal, director of teacher training, by the end of tomorrow, Nest says.

Those students who fail to submit their applications may have to postpone their student teaching until another term, according to Neal.

Physical examinations are also required of students who do student teaching. Neal urges students to make an appointment with the Health Service to take a physical examination between November 9 and November 21.

The news is out, but all the questions aren't completely answered yet. Sally Vesch is a member of the AF ROTC, and she has some definite ideas and plans for herself as a member of the ROTC and after her college career.

Wednesday when Sally, a freshman from Herrin, asked for permission to enter the Air Science freshman course, many raised a skeptical eyebrow and the questions were too numerous to count. There was, however, a very clear reason for the step.

Sally Vesch is in the College of Liberal Arts and Science and the plans to major in sociology. How does this fit with the AF ROTC? Upon graduation, she hopes to enter the service, probably the WAVES, and with her college education, she hopes to be prepared to take on duties of a Navy career counselor.

Sally also has some ideas for while she is in school. She is very interested in studying the Flying Sponsor Unit here on the campus. She has received the approval of the AF ROTC staff in her ventures and she has also received some inquiries from a number of girls on the campus.

Perhaps some information about the Sponsor will be helpful in future decisions.

Sponsor units are playing an important role in a number of Colleges and Universities throughout the United States. They afford a more thorough knowledge of the Air Force and its work on the campus.

There is always the possibility of some of the coeds entering the service as Sally plans. The girls may become wives of service men, which is very likely today, and through the Sponsors they will have gained an insight as to the work their husbands are doing. Above all, they will very definitely become taxpaying citizens.

In some schools the girls have assessed themselves the cost of materials to make their own uniforms. Other units have given benefit dances to raise their funds.

Sponsors groups have many functions during the school year. They aid the Arnold Air Society in the plans and development of the annual Military Ball. They hold get-togethers with the upcoming freshmen, male and female; they act as service group for the cadets; organize their own marching group and participate in reviews and parades; and in many ways resemble a sorority.

The girls have their own rank and promotion system. They have various awards such as the Outstanding Sponsor ribbon for the outstanding Sponsor member of each school year.

If any further information is desired it may be obtained at the Egyptian Office, the AF ROTC Office, or by contacting Sally Vesch at the 700 Club.

Yeargain Leads Cape To Win Over Salukis Last Half Decisive

Quarterback Larry Yeargain led the Cape Indians to a 32-6 victory over the Salukis Saturday night. Yeargain completed seven of nine passes for 90 yards and one touchdown.

Captain Bill O'Brien's big Marion team put a determined battle for two quarters, but weakened in the second half, giving up seven points in the third quarter and 12 in the final period.

FRITZ SCORES FIRST
Don Fritz, 155-pound halfback, led off the scoring for the Indians scampering 37-yards for the first six points in the first period. Jim Lee, Howard Reed, Don Baker and Ray Vick also traded across the Salukis goal line. Yeargain added two extra points from conversion.

Southern's only score came in the second quarter when Earl Leo Nelson picked up the ball and ran for the Cape 15 and sprinted for the TD. Quarterback Joe Huske's conversion attempt was no good.

Huske led the Salukis in total offense with 77 yards gained as he connected on eight of 19 passes. The only time he carried the ball he was swamped by the tough Indian line for a yard loss. Burly Hank Warfield buffed his way to second in the offense, racking up 22 yards in seven tries, or 3.1 yards per try.

Besides Fritz's long run in the first, Leo also got a 23-yard scoring jaunt to give Cape their 13-point lead going into the second quarter.

LINE LOOKED GOOD
In the second, the Southern line was all that kept the hard-running Indian backs from reaching off more scoring chances. Line coach Bob Fenn had his charges in fine shape and they showed well through the game. Center Tim Bowers, Tackles Joe Kalla, Cliff Johnson, and "Moose" Siville were outstanding on defense.

Cape struck again in the third quarter as Yeargain hit his right end Reed in the end zone with a 30-yard pass to make the score 19-6. Yeargain added the extra point to make it 20-6.

Baker added six more points in the fourth and Halfback Ray Vick led it up with an insurance interception of one of Joe Huske's passes on his own 15 and scooped 85 yards for the Indians fifth and final touchdown. After a conversion attempt was no good, making the final score read: Cape 32, Southern 6.

GOOD KICKING
Southern got exceptional punting from Fullback Warren McCullough and Ray Tabacchi. McCullough kicked off two 45-yard kicks and Quarterback Tabacchi booted two for 45 and 40 yards respectively; one of 50 yards was called back because of an off-side penalty.

Cape's hard running backs backed up the play of their quarterback with fine running. Fullback Leo raked up 65 yards in 13 carries and Fritz took nine tries to go 51 yards. Cape had 273 total yards to 141 for the Salukis. Huske completed eight passes for 78 yards and

Tim Bowers Is Saluki Pivot Man
"Tiny" Tim Bowers, a junior from Murphreeboro, is starting his third year as a first-string Saluki lineman.
Solidly carrying 190 pounds on a 5 ft. 10 in. frame, Bowers will perform at the center position this year. Last year he was used mostly as an offensive guard, and in 1951 he played both offense and defense.
A B. E. major in the college of education, Bowers taught swimming and lifesaving in a special class conducted at Crab Orchard lake this summer.

Tabacchi threw for 10 to give Southern 88 yards passing. Cape's Yeargain tossed for 90 and Vick threw one 16 yard pass for a total of 106 yards passing.

Last weekend Cape had beaten Arkansas State 27-14. It was the first game for Southern. The Salukis travel to Illinois Normal next Saturday to open IAC play with the Redbirds. The Salukis broke a 13-game losing streak last season with a 27-21 win over Normal.

Some Football Fans You Can Do Without

By Don Primas
By the end of the third quarter of the Cape game, I was a complete wreck. It wasn't the score that bothered me; it was the uneducated simpatons that sat around me.

From directly behind me came a shout that was as feminine as a fog horn. But just to prove that truth is stranger than fiction, I discovered it really was a woman. Dirty Ger. She hurried daintily to the obscenities as casually as a sailor or who'd just been on a four year cruise.

Dirty Ger didn't want good football, she wanted blood. She'd had a tough week being her husband around; she came to the game for a little excitement. Her beauty little eyes shone with glee as a ball carrier crashed against the hard earth. As the game became rougher, Dirty Ger became a savage. In her ferocity she thrashed her arms about wildly, giving the people sitting around her a rough time. When the game was finally over, Dirty Ger was a mess—that is to say, a bigger mess than when she bralessly strode into the stadium. As she pulled her way toward the exit, with her went the best wishes of the other spectators—they wished she would get divorced or ran over by a 10 ton truck.

B. O. Plenty
Directly in front of me sat Grim Gus. Gus' claim to fame was not

Backfield Headed By Lettermen and Returning GI's

Three lettermen from last year, a couple of former servicemen, and a huge rabbit's foot are the ingredients that Bill O'Brien is relying on for his 1953 backfield.

The rabbit's foot is to bring him good fortune on defense, especially pass defense. When the two platoon system died its sudden death, it left most coaches in a dither as to teaching their offensive specialists to play defense, and vice versa. If O'Brien's boys have learned their lessons well, the Salukis should have a great season.

O'Brien can also use the rabbit's foot to find him some good break-away runners. While there are several hard drivers on the squad, there aren't very many really swift runners.

Back at the quarterback slot for his third season is Joe Huske. Last year's captain, Huske is a competent passer and smooth ball handler, but hasn't played too much defense. Freshman Kay is a very clever ball-handler, and went in for his inexperience, he'd be pressing Huske. Ray Tabacchi is another good prospect. Ed Johnson and Jack Schneider are back from last year's squad at the halfbacks. Both are hard driving. Freshman Andy Pitts, a stand-out high school athlete, will be in reserve as will Gene Aronoldi, Dan Songer, and Richard Kelley.

The fullback position will be well taken care of by Warren McCullough and Hank Warfield. Both are former servicemen. McCullough runs hard and is a good punter, while Warfield is a good defensive player.

Another level
Good-time Charlie held forth on my right. He was approaching middle-age, with a flushed face, flashy sports clothes, and a bellow like a bull. Charlie spied one of the friends sitting at the other end of the stadium and let loose with a blast of greeting that untied my shoe laces.

Charlie never seemed to have enough patience to wait for the vendors—whenever he wanted a hot dog, he'd jump up and walk for the concession stand. He burned up more energy than the players, and speaking of players, he kept bragging of his personal acquaintances among them. This I doubted, but then he might have shaken the waterboy's hand at one time or another. Charlie was also a grandstand coach. Would he have punted on fourth down, five to go? Heavens, no! Smith, who couldn't outrun an elephant on roller skates, might pick up the first down. Charlie loudly proclaimed this unlikely possibility to everyone within hearing distance, which means that everyone in the whole stadium heard him.

On my left was the aisle. It was down this avenue of escape that I dashed heading to the nearest pub to ease my tortured mind.
Although people with normal vision are aware of objects within a circle of 180 degrees, some people who have a vision defect called "tunnel vision" see only in an arc of about 20 degrees.
