Sectioning to Continue At Arena Till Saturday

Most Enrollment Units Back at Offices

Undergraduate advisement, the sectioning center and fee payment facilities will be maintained through Saturday noon in the SIU Arena.

Graduate advisement will continue in the individual departmental offices. However, graduate students will have to go to the Arena to be sectioned and to pay their fees.

Other facilities connected with the registration and enrollment process have been moved back to their regular offices.

The Activities Office is now issuing student trip permits in its office in the University Center, and it is giving out activity cards in the recess in the main hall of the Center.

Colombian Students Seek Discussions With Collegians

Students who would like to discuss American life with a group of visiting Colombian students are invited by the Office of International Programs to a meeting Tuesday night with 15 visitors from the Colombian Liberal Youth League.

The discussion session, which will begin at 7:30 in the River Rooms of the University Center, will be open to interested students, Frank H. Sehnert, supervisor of National Programs, said. "Students need give no advance notice of their coming," he added.

Except for the leader of the group, Jacobo Perez, who is on the Faculty of Law of the National University of Colombia, the group consists of student leaders who are in their final years of law study, or in one case economics, at Colombian universities. All are members of the Liberal Youth League of the Liberal Party, one of two major parties constituting the present government coalition.

They are interested in learning of student government at American universities and how the students and faculty work together, Sehnert said. "I hope it will be possible for them to have some really substantial discussions with student leaders," Robert L. Abbey of the Council on Leaders and Specialists, in Washington, said. Abbey's agency is arranging the visit.

Library cards are being given out at the circulation desk of Morris Library. Robert L. Keel, circulation librarian, says that the cards will be moved to the textbook service at a later date.

Fee statement cards, which were available in the University Center until Wednesday, are now being issued at the Bursar's Office.

Officials appeared pleased with the results of the new registration system.

"As far as I'm concerned, we're all tickled to death with the whole thing," commented Herbert W. Wohlwend, assistant registrar. Everyone seemed to like it, he said.

"In terms of actual registration things went much better," Robert A. McGrath, registrar, said. "We seemed to move students through faster. There were some bugs. For instance, the signs could be improved, but when you first plan something like this you expect a few."

This was the first time for central registration since 1952 at the University.

Since Thursday there have been slow-ups on program changes because of some tight classes, McGrath said. Even so he estimated that they were moving more than 50 program changes through every hour.

This was one of the first times, he said, when program changes weren't hampered by a heavy run-over of registrations into the day set aside primarily for changes.

Some students have complained about being kept out in the rain waiting to get into the 10,000-seat Arena. McGrath said most of these students were mistakenly waiting with large new student groups.

"If we continue with central registration winter term, a prime consideration will be moving the students inside," he said.

Whether or not the same system will be used in the winter term has not been decided, he said. "We are thinking about it but won't know for sure until we have time to sit down with all those connected with it and fully assess how the system has worked."

Campus-Church Bus Service Is Scheduled

A free bus service to Carbondale churches will be sponsored again this year by the Ministerial Association in cooperation with the local churches.

Buses will leave the Small Group Housing - Thompson Point area at 9, 9:30, 10 and 10:30 Sunday mornings and will return at 10:30, 11, 11:30 and 12 noon.

The route will be from Thompson Point-Small Group Housing to Woody Hall to Mill and Oakland, to Chatauqua and Skyline, to old Route 13, and on to Orchard Drive and Schwartz, then to Main and Poplar.

From Main and Poplar the bus will continue to Walnut and University, to University and Monroe, to University and Main, to Main and Marion, and on to Marion and Hester, then back to SIU.

Churches helping to bring this free service to students include Bethel A.M.E., Church of Christ, Scientist, Church of the Good Shepherd, Epiphany Lutheran, First Baptist, First Christian, First Methodist, First Presbyterian and Grace Methodist.

Also Hopewell Baptist, Our Savior Lutheran, Rock Hill Baptist, St. Andrew's Episcopal, University Baptist, Walnut Street Baptist and Western Heights Christian.

Students are asked to inform the driver which church they are attending so he can keep a correct record.

Deadline for Addresses

The Registrar's Office again reminded students who preregistered that they must turn in their address cards by Saturday if they have moved since signing up for the fall term. If they fail to do so, they will be listed incorrectly in the University Directory.

Alarming Situation Brings Police to Bursar's Office

A short in the alarm system at the Bursar's Office brought armed guards on the run from the Security Office Wednesday.

General Telephone Company, which services the alarm system, had set the bell off several times in the previous few days while working on it.

However, Wednesday the alarm rang longer than usual and the security officers were dispatched to the scene to investigate.

Armed guards rushing into the office created a brief excitement among the workers, most of whom presumably are used to a less distracting routine.

805 New Phone Bells Ring In School Year in SIU Dorms

By Ric Cox

The sound of 805 additional bells in University residence halls is greeting many returning students this fall.

The bells represent the number of room telephones installed in Thompson Point halls (594) and Woody Hall (211) during the summer months.

Although work in making the hangeover began last June, the task of installing the new phones was performed during the six weeks before the start of school, according to Neil Dillard, supervisor in the department of Auxiliary and Service Enterprises. The hangeover was completed Sept. 10.

Abandoning the old system of two phones on each floor--with an average of 20 residents per phone--the University now provides a phone for each two residents.

The room phones are connected on four-party lines, however, with eight, or in some cases ten, residents are on each line.

One of the most welcome changes, at least for suitors, is elimination of the ever-busy switchboard at Woody Hall.

In a matter of time, the number "2241" will fade from the pages of "little black books" of campus Romeos. Instead of providing access to some 400 girls, the number will merely connect the caller with the business office at Woody.

The number 3-2241 will serve, for the time being, as the number to dial to obtain information at Woody. To secrete new numbers of Thompson Point residents, one may dial 3-2744.

The university operator is also available to assist callers. The number is "O."

Other changes in the University phone system, according to Dillard, are the installation of lobby phones in Woody Hall and a change from party to private lines in resident fellows' rooms.

To aid students and faculty in adapting to the new system, the University's telephone service has distributed various information sheets and reminders to residence halls and offices.

Following is a summation of the telephone instructions: To call someone on his own party-line, a student must dial but one thing is certain: There are many good things on the SIU campus that are free.

The Student Activity Office offers the greatest number of free services to students. Items that may be checked out include blazers, punch bowl and cups, phonograph, public address system, flood lights, Santa Claus suits, FM radios, robes and candles for honorary initiations, typewriters with large type, typewriters with small type, card tables and chairs, staplers, voting booths, ballot boxes, cash boxes and a piano.

Playing cards and a variety of games are available at the Student Center. The games include a wide variety from chess to riddly winks.

The Student Activity Office provides duplicating service. The student must furnish the paper, but the service is free.

The Activity Center maintains files containing a variety of information. One is a file of catalogues of everything from films to trophies. There is a file of information on foreign travel and a file on study abroad.

There are books of works of art, a set of foreign travel slides with accompanying record, and various records, all of which can be checked out of the Student Activity Office. There are also newspapers and magazines from all over the world.

A series of lectures deals with a variety of topics. Included are On the Green, Kulture Korner, Savant, Creative Insights, Sunday Seminar, Horizons, and Probe. The Philosophic Picnic includes a free lunch.

A number of annual events cost the student nothing. In connection with Homecoming are a concert, parade and coronation. A few of the other events include Mother's Day on Campus, Fishing Derby, Season of Holiday and International Night.

The Student Center has a television lounge and the Mag-may advertise and place notices.

Free counseling and guidance are provided for students. The necessary tests are administered, scored and interpreted for the student free of charge.

The library has about half a million books and periodicals from which students may choose. There are also files of clippings and pamphlets. Students may borrow from a collection of 300 paintings and it is being enlarged. There a library in Lantz Hall, a service desk, television and late movies in the cafeteria. One air-conditioned cafeteria is used as a study hall.

The Music Department provides a wide range of free entertainment. In the summer, this includes patio concerts on Friday nights.

There are many works of art on display at the Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Mitchell Gallery and the Allyn Gallery. The Mitchell Gallery, located in Room 110 of the Home Economics Building, is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Fridays, 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. It is open from 2 to 4 p.m. on the first Sunday of every month. Allyn Gallery, in Allyn Hall, is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays and 7 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. Student works are on display in Allyn Gallery from time to time.

The museum is also free to students. Harry Segedy, curator of exhibits, says, "We are proud of our archaeological exhibit of Southern Illinois. Our dioramas portraying pioneer life are historically accurate. They were made by WPA craftsmen during the depression. We have a rattlesnake and a copperhead and are hoping to obtain a cottonmouth. These snakes will be on display." The museum has permanent exhibits that are displayed a year or two and others that are changed every week or two.

The Health Service has a staff of six doctors and eight nurses to keep SIU students ticking.

The Central Publications Office has free general information bulletins, bulletins on various schools at SIU and class schedules.

The Rehabilitation Institute provides students with physical therapy, speech therapy, reading help, hearing evaluations, special counseling and guidance for rehabilitation, and psychological counseling.

are recordings of classical music, and phonographs equipped with earphones. Likewise, there is micro-filmed material and viewing equipment.

More phonographs and viewing equipment will be added to the library facilities. One of the microfilm viewers may be checked out.

The Housing Office maintains a list of available living quarters. In the case of supervised housing, the facilities and supervision must be approved by the housing office, and the management must agree to abide by University regulations. When an unmarried undergraduate is given permission to live in unsupervised housing, the University checks the fire protection and sanitation.

At the boat dock a student may check out the equipment for table tennis, horseshoes, croquet, baseball, badminton, tennis and volleyball. Also available are basketballs, footballs, picnic baskets, and rods and reels. Students must make a dollar deposit which is refunded if the equipment is returned in satisfactory condition.

A similar assortment of athletic equipment is available to residents of Thompson Point. Thompson Point also provides mail service, nolia Lounge. There is also an information desk which also serves as a lost-and-found department. During final examinations, the Roman Room is kept open late for students who wish to study. There are art or photography displays in the Magnolia Lounge. There is also a bulletin board where students

Cycle Registration Delayed by Autos

Registration of all motor-ized cycles will begin after the rush of registering auto-mobiles has been completed, a spokesman for the Student Affairs Office said.

Earlier it had been reported that registration of motorized cycles was underway.

"The time, date and proce-dure for registering motor-ized cycles will be announced in the near future," the spokesman said.

Students and faculty mem-bers who own bicycles may register them now at the SIU Security Office. Bicycle registration is voluntary but school officials urge all bicycle owners to register their vehicles.

Senate Compromise Ends Remap Fight

WASHINGTON--The Senate approved Thursday a mild, compromise solution to its prolonged controversy over state legislative reapportionment.

It adopted 44 to 38 a non-binding "sense of Congress" proposal offered by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana as a substitute for a stronger one he previously sponsored with Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen gave up a plan to try to table--and thus kill--the compromise proposal.

Hopes for quick adjournment of Congress rode on the outcome.

Both Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a supporter, and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., an opponent, had forecast adoption of the compromise in the long dispute over re-districting of state legislatures under federal court decisions.

The compromise will merely record "the sense of Congress"--rather than attempt to order as Dirksen had proposed--a reasonable time for carrying out reshuffling of the legislatures on the basis of population.

Goldwater Scores Democrats On Farm Policy at Iowa Stop

MASON CITY, Iowa--Sen. Barry Goldwater told a farm country crowd Thursday the Billie Sol Estes scandal still casts its reflections on the White House and brands the way the Democrats handle agricultural problems.

The Republican presidential nominee hopped from Wichita, Kan., to Mason City and then moved on to Madison, Wis., with a call for GOP unity.

"We can win this election and we're going to win this election, but the important ingredient is unity," he told about 5,000 Iowans at the wind-swept Mason City Airport.

Goldwater said he knows any candidate coming into a farm area is expected to make a farm speech, but added he was handed on his arrival "the biggest ear of corn I have ever seen--so it is obvious I can't tell you anything about farming."

"But I'm going to tell you something about vote farming that's been going on in the Department of Agriculture for too long," he said. "Suspicion... mistrust of those in government is a campaign issue and the fault of the Democrats," Goldwater said.

Khanh Rushes to Mountains To Quell Viet Tribe Revolt

BAN ME THUOT, Viet--Nam--Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh flew to this mountain town Thursday in a personal attempt to quell a still-simmering rebellion by American-trained mountain tribesmen.

About 4,000 government troops and 12 artillery pieces were set up at the perimeter of the town to head off a possible onslaught by the heavily-armed tribesmen as the caretaker premier arrived from Saigon.

The tribesmen revolted against his government last weekend and slaughtered lowland Vietnamese officers and soldiers at their camps. The death count still is not known, but may be as high as 50. About 50 other Vietnamese, including a provincial district chief, were seized as hostages.

The rebels, of a tribe called Rhade, temporarily seized the town radio station, then withdrew.

Wearing camouflaged uniforms and equipped with advanced weapons issued to them for fighting Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, the tribesmen maintained barricades around four of their camps in the Ban Me Thuot area and kept control over a key highway and bridge.

Tax Records Sought In Baker Probe

WASHINGTON--The Senate Rules Committee agreed Thursday to ask President Johnson for access to the income tax returns of Philadelphia contractor Matthew McCloskey and others figuring in the reopened Bobby Baker investigation.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., also disclosed that the committee's chief investigator, former FBI agent William E. Meehan, has interviewed McCloskey and said that McCloskey gave assurance that he would cooperate in the inquiry.

The reopening of the politically explosive Baker case was ordered by the Senate two weeks ago after Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., charged McCloskey made a $35,000 kickback on the District of Columbia Stadium contract.

Williams quoted Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, as telling him that $25,000 of this was channeled into the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund through Baker who since has resigned a secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Johnson Acts to Avert National Rail Strike

WASHINGTON -- The threat of a nationwide rail strike by firemen and engineers was postponed for 60 days Thursday as President Johnson created an emergency board to look into the labor dispute.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers had threatened a strike against many of the nation's major rail lines this morning in support of wage demands that include a proposed 25 per cent across-the-board increase.

Johnson's action in creating an emergency board automatically defers the strike threat for 60 days while the board, to be appointed later, studies the situation.

The President's action was recommended by the National Railway Mediation Board which said that the threatened strike "would interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive much of the country of essential transportation service."

The board told Johnson the wage dispute had been "intensively mediated and that a proffer of arbitration was declined by the labor organization."

H.E. Gilbert, union president, said Wednesday that more than 99 per cent of the membership had voted to strike if the union's wage demands are not met. Current wage demands were served on the carriers Dec. 2, 1963.

"We have had our fill of negotiations and management favoritism," Gilbert said in a statement. "It is unfortunate for the public that railroad negotiators only understand strike language and never negotiate until there is a crisis."

Strong Winds Fan Santa Barbara Fire

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.-- Frightened people scurried from their homes Thursday as fingers of flame from a raging brushfire moved into the outskirts of this besieged town.

Pushed by 40-mile-an-hour winds, one front on the fire line extended below the foothill road boundary and was moving into the city.

Observers said firemen were making a stand at each house threatened, but that the winds keep pushing the fire onward.

U.S. Forest Service officials also reported that a second fire broke out Thursday in the nearby San Marcos Pass area.

The blaze had charred more than 16,500 acres of valuable watershed.

Typhoon Wilda Batters Japan

TOKYO -- One hundred mile-an-hour winds battered Kagoshima in southern Japan as typhoon Wilda slammed ashore late Thursday. National police listed 3 persons dead, 1 missing, 26 injured, more than 450 homes destroyed and 2 ships sunk.

The typhoon was heading north-northwest, in the general direction of Shikoku, the smallest of Japan's four major islands.

Weathermen predicted 50-mile winds and rain for the next 24 hours in the Tokyo area.

Improved Minuteman Missile Hits Target on First Test Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla.-- Minuteman 2, first new U.S. strategic missile to begin testing in more than two years, scored a "textbook" success on its maiden flight Thursday, hurling a new hardened warhead to a target 5,000 miles away.

The three-stage missile, being developed to strike deeper into potential enemy territory with extreme accuracy and pushbutton reaction time, darted out of a 90-foot underground silo.

Trailling a thick plume of white smoke, the rocket pitched sharply onto a south-east heading and sped toward the South Atlantic bullseye off Ascension Island.

The Air Force reported the sleek missile met all test objectives on the initial flight, the first of 36 planned in a program to develop Minuteman 2 as a major deterrent weapon expected to be useful until the mid-1970s. An official said "it flew according to the book."

Like its predecessor, Minuteman 1, the improved missile will be capable of being fired within 30 seconds after the signal is given.

Minuteman 2 is designed for a range of nearly 8,000 miles, which will bring targets in Red China and southern Russia within its reach. These areas are beyond the maximum 6,000-mile range of Minuteman 1.

A total of 650 Minuteman 1 missiles now are stationed in blastproof underground silos at bases in the northern United States, with the number scheduled to reach 800 in a few months.

CHARLES DE GAULLE

President Gets Warren Report

WASHINGTON -- Chief Justice Earl Warren presented to President Johnson Thursday the report of his special commission on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The commission members filed into the Cabinet Room at the White House and Warren handed Johnson the four-inch-thick volume.

Johnson appointed the special commission a week after Kennedy's slaying last November and told it to unearth the truth of the tragic event "as far as it can be discovered, and to report its findings and conclusions to him, to the American people and to the world."

In addition to the assassination itself, the commission was directed to study the "subsequent violent death of the man charged with the assassination"--Lee Harvey Oswald.

The presentation volume, printed on special heavy paper, was much thicker than the volume which will be released Sunday night.

When the presentation and picture-taking were over, Johnson and the chief justice spoke a few words, Johnson shook hands with the seven commission members and their general counsel, former Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin, and the group filed out of the White House.

With the presentation, the commission went out of existence automatically. Warren has told newsmen the terms of the presidential order creating the group called for its dissolution immediately upon the filing of its report.

DeGaulle Ends Colombia Visit, Does Not Offer Aid for Canal

BOGOTA, Colombia -- President Charles de Gaulle ended his visit to Colombia Thursday, leaving unanswered the question of French aid for an interocean canal across the Colombia isthmus.

The French chief of state ignored feelers for the canal project during his 40-hour visit here, the second stop on his 10-nation tour of South America. Ecuador is his next stop.

Government officials hoped De Gaulle's visit might result in noteworthy trade and technical agreements. The idea of a modern canal spanning the narrow isthmus of northwest Colombia was high on the list of possibilities.

President Guillermo Leon Valencia broached the subject Tuesday night at a state dinner in honor of De Gaulle. He raised the possibility of France taking the lead in forming an international construction organization with U.S. help.

De Gaulle did not mention the subject then or Wednesday during his address to a joint session of the Congress.

A communique issued by De Gaulle and Valencia reaffirmed their desire to support stabilized prices for basic products. To Colombia this means coffee, cotton, bananas and petroleum.

France also promised increased assistance in limited technical fields.

An estimated one million persons got a glimpse of De Gaulle during his motor trips about the city. Many others saw him over government television outlets. The national radio network gave detailed accounts of his activities.

Police, fearful of an attempt on his life, arrested 210 persons and were holding them until De Gaulle's departure.

New Administrative Setup To Ease Two-Campus Problems

SIU's new administrative organization will help solve the problems arising from operation of two major campuses more than 100 miles apart, according to Charles D. Tenney, staff vice president for planning and review.

"For the past two or three years," Tenney said, "many of our problems have been a result of geographic separation of administration. This separation made it difficult to relate programs on the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses."

Tenney is one of four new SIU vice presidents whose posts are arranged functionally rather than on geographic lines. Revision of the University's statutes approved by the Board of Trustees earlier this year abolished positions of separate vice presidents for each campus.

Instead, the new officers will divide their time between Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses and will maintain offices and assistants on each campus. The new plan was designed to make possible more efficient planning and operation, save both money and effort and to enable the University to use full resources of all campuses in important programs.

"There will be problems under the new system, of course," Tenney said, "but they will be of a different nature. I think we've got the geographical problem licked."

Tenney was shifted to his present job from a former post of vice president for instruction. The other new vice presidents are Robert W. MacVicar, academic affairs; Ralph W. Ruffner, area and student services, and John S. Rendleman, business affairs.

Rendleman was formerly the University's general coun-

Microbiology Department Receives Grant For Training in Research Techniques

Continuation of a program for training selected undergraduate students in research methods and techniques has been assured the SIU Microbiology Department by a grant of $7,280 from the National Science Foundation. The grant will finance the project for 1965-66.

search Participation Program is under the direction of Isaac L. Shechmeister, professor of microbiology.

Similar grants for 1963-64 and 1964-65 have supported the program and made it possible for undergraduate students, four at a time, to participate as "junior" colleagues in scientific studies.

Counselor-Arbitrators

More Than 100 Appointed To Resident Fellow Posts

Appointments of more than a hundred upperclassmen to serve as resident fellows during 1964-65 have been announced.

Resident fellows, who receive free room and board for their services, serve in both University residence halls and University-approved off-campus housing units. They serve as counselor-arbitrators for certain units—usually a floor of the residence hall for one.

Each year resident fellowships are awarded to juniors and seniors who have successfully completed a series of tests and interviews and have high scholastic standing and leadership qualifications. Besides serving as counselors, friends and coordinators of activities, they interpret University policy, carry a full academic load and sponsor hall social activities.

Resident fellows for 1964-65 are:

Jim Shute, Lawrence Jauch, Shirley Brolemann, Robert Kaiser, David Nielsen, Nancy Seibert, Arthur Sejnost and Nancy Lewis.

John Adams, David Kelch, Eldon Sewell, Thomas Spreitler, Dave Freund, David Brewer, Lynn Sweet, Janet Marchildon, Earl E. Allen Jr. and Toni Antoine.

Russell Blais, Nancy Brestin, John A. Cummins, Inge Gatz, Lawrence Hennelly, Monte N. Mahlke, Toni Miles, Francis Stankiewicz, Mike

Kriston and Margaret Bode.

Ray Moseley, Shirley Williams, Jill Stwicki, Joan Stwicki, Dona Beard, Charles Beacham, Vivian Bening, John Rodman, Thomas Larsbach and Thomas J. Glenn.

Troy Zimmer, Trudy Gidcumb, Howard Kumlun, Donald Dawson, Kent Lannert, Roger Hanson, Gene V. Knapp, Larry Baldwin, Jack Schiltz and Barbara Goerke.

Anita Fairfield, Sheryllyn Bodfrey, John Lambakis, Becky Sheeler, John F. Wilhelm, Beth Barrier, Pat Conway, Gary E. Kigos, Mary Kiby and Karen Tumbleson.

Donald Bald, Pat Thompson, Warren Kepp, John Riles, Mary Ann Jones, Sherry Bohlen, Dave Smith, Jacqueline Rausch, Ilene James, Marilyn Koch and Neal Loth.

Martha Boswell, Glen E. Miller, Lewis Stahl, John Harrington, Donald Downing, Larry Brickman, Jim Duggan, Nancy J. Stanley, Alan Kramer and Cheryl Schnitzmeyer.

Two Families of SIU Students Take Over Pastry Business

Two families of SIU students have taken over a Carbondale business in what amounts to "learn and earn" careers.

They are Barrett Rochman and his wife Marilyn, and Jon Wick and his wife Kay. They have acquired Superior Pastry at 946 W. Main St. and plan to operate it while continuing their studies at SIU.

Rochman said they plan to reopen the shop Oct. 1, after a remodeling program is completed. In addition to pastry, they will sell old-fashioned candy, and the walls of the shop will display oil paintings for sale.

Rochman has been associated with Student Pastry for about two years. This will be continued as a separate business, he said.

He plans to carry 16 academic hours as a graduate student in sociology. His wife is a junior at SIU and has been majoring in math.

Wick, a junior, plans to take liberal arts courses. His wife, also a junior, plans to be out of school during the fall quarter to await the birth of their second child. She plans to return to SIU in the winter to continue studies in interior design.

The Rochmans also have one child and are expecting another.

Publication Asking For Student Poetry

Students have been invited to submit poetry for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry, published by National Poetry Press.

Manuscripts will be accepted until Nov. 5 by the publisher at 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

The student's name, home address and college must be typed or printed on each entry submitted. Failure to follow these rules will disqualify the entrants. Since space is limited, more favorable consideration will be given to shorter poems, according to the publisher.

Campus Buildings Tell SIU History

The names of individuals who made distinguished contributions to SIU, the state or nation are commemorated in buildings on campus.

They represent a governor, a board president, a famous fighter for women's rights, and noted members of the SIU faculty or administration.

"Although the University is not operated for the sake of the buildings, and although the buildings are not administrative problems on a footing with the curriculum, it is still true that they are of major import in the establishing the unity of a college."

So writes George K. Plochmann in "The Ordeal of Southern Illinois University."

The names and dates of major SIU buildings help trace the continuity of those who contributed to the development of the University.

However, the first major building on campus has a name which reflects rootless beginnings--Old Main. It stands on the site of the first structure at Southern, a building called Old Normal. Its cornerstone was laid May 17, 1870, and after its loss by fire, it was replaced by Old Main.

It was dedicated Feb. 24, 1887, and for a decade, Old Main housed all of Southern's academic activities.

The second main structure on campus was the Altgeld Building. It was formerly the Old Science Building, but renamed in honor of Gov. John P. Altgeld.

Wheeler Hall, once the library, was completed in 1903 and was named in honor of Judge S.P. Wheeler of Springfield. The selection of the name was in recognition of the contribution of the board president in obtaining the necessary appropriations for its construction.

The first president of Southern Illinois Normal University was Robert Allyn, and his name is perpetuated in a building completed in 1908. The University was originally a training school.

Two major events occurred at SIU in 1913; one was the inauguration of Henry William Shryock as president for a span of service that extended to 1935. The other was the dedication of Anthony Hall.

The building was designed as a residence for women, and it was named in honor of a crusader for women's rights, Susan B. Anthony.

Shryock Auditorium was completed in 1916, the third year of President Shryock's administration. Its capacity was 2,000, and this was sufficient at that time for the entire student body.

In 1928 Parkinson Laboratory was completed. It was the last building of the old quadrangle, and was named for Daniel B. Parkinson. He was Southern's president from 1897 to 1913.

Woody Hall was opened in 1953 and its name came from a long-time faculty member, Lucy K. Woody.

The man who was in charge of athletics at Southern from 1913 to 1943 was honored in naming the University's football stadium. He was William McAndrew; the field was opened in 1938.

Morris Library was opened in 1956 and it bears the name of the incumbent president of SIU, Delyte W. Morris.

The University Center was opened in 1961 and is one of the major attractions of the campus. It and two other major SIU buildings have names which indicate their function. The others are Life Science, and Home Economics.

The newest major building on campus is the Wham Building. It is named for George D. Wham, a member of the SIU faculty and administration from 1906 to 1938. He retired as chairman of the Department of Education in 1938. During his years at SIU, he served as acting president, and was the only dean of the faculty at SIU.

SIU'S OLD CAMPUS - This photo shows the major part of the Old Campus at SIU. This was the site in which the University was concentrated in its earlier years when it was still Southern Illinois Normal. As the accompanying story points out, the names of persons who have made distinguished records are commemorated in many of the names of SIU buildings.

Fuel Tax Allocated For Road District

Townships and road districts in Jackson County have been allotted $11,931 as their share of the motor fuel tax paid into the State Treasury during August, the Illinois Department of Finance reported this week.

Cheerleader Role Winded Players in 1869 Grid Strategy Failure

The kind of football that will be played here Saturday night when Southern meets the Louisville Cardinals will be a lot different from the game played in 1869 when football was introduced to this country.

In that era football resembled both English rugby and soccer.

The turn of the century brought a revolution to the game. For the first time running and passing were stressed. Well-known colleges such as Yale, Princeton, Rutgers and Notre Dame began playing in the new style.

Southern took up the game in 1898 when the popularity of football throughout the country forced the faculty to recognize it as a legitimate school activity.

Scholarships were not given to athletes. A player had to be in the Physical Education Department, a bona fide student of the University, and doing satisfactory class work.

Southern's football program was expanded and the late President H.V. Shryock appointed Gen. William McAndrew to head the Athletic and Physical Education Department. McAndrew held this position until his death in 1943.

Under McAndrew's leadership Southern had two championship football teams. The first was in 1930, when the team won nine-straight games and led the "Little Nineteen Conference."

In 1948, under Coach Abe Martin, Southern won its second conference championship and went on to take the Illinois State College and University Football Championship by defeating North Central College in the first "Corn Bowl" championship game at Bloomington.

Southern won three more championships as the team finished first in the IAC Conference for three straight years (1959-1961).

Southern became an athletic independent after the 1961 season and still remains so.

Cheering at football games also has undergone a revolutionary change.

The first recorded yelling at football games started on Nov. 13, 1869, when Princeton played Rutgers. Princeton went into the game making full use of a blood-chilling cry that resembled a rebel yell, which the Confederate army had made famous in the Civil War.

The Princeton players figured it might frighten the Rutgers' athletes, if properly vocalized at psychological moments, and perhaps it did.

When a play was about to begin, or had gone into motion, Princeton called on its yell, which had been classified as a "Scarer," Princeton won, 8-0.

Princeton, it appears, had used the yell the week before, but without much success. It interfered with their play since it required a lot of breath, and left the athletes short-winded. The wily players schooled some of their fellow students in the rebel call and when the players ran out of wind, the Princeton students on the sidelines let loose.

This yelling was the beginning of the custom of cheering at football games. The practice of urging on the team developed into the fancy yells we have today and the singing intended to arouse the favored team to greater effort.

ROYCE A. LORENTZ BUYS A SEASON ATHLETIC TICKET

Funds for Salukis

$3 Student Season Tickets Now on Sale at 3 Places

Tickets to fall athletic events—including Saturday's football game with Louisville—are still on sale at three campus locations.

They are the SIU Arena, Textbook Service in Morris Library and the University Center.

The student season tickets cost $3. To purchase, a student must present his fee statement or fall activity card.

In the past a student needed only to present his activity card for admission to athletic events. However, the Student Council voted last spring to start selling tickets in order to raise additional funds to support varsity sports.

The fall season ticket entitles the owner to attend the six Saluki home football games, four fall basketball games, two wrestling matches and two gymnastic meets.

Tickets for the winter quarter will cover all remaining basketball games, gymnastics and wrestling meets and will be sold only during the fall quarter. They will cost $3.50 or can be purchased along with the fall quarter ticket at a combined cost of $6.

Students who purchase the season ticket need only present the ticket at the gate for admission to the student section—the east stands—at McAndrew Stadium. The ticket will be punched at the gate.

However, since all seats to basketball games in the SIU Arena will be reserved, students holding season tickets will have to exchange them for a reserved seat ticket the day before the game.

Students without season tickets may purchase individual admission tickets for 75 cents until 4 p.m. today if they show they have paid the activity fee.

The regular $2.25 admission will be charged students who do not meet the deadline.

VTI May Lease Army Building for Classroom Space

Vocational-Technical Institute is planning to lease a 7,048-square-foot building at Ordill, an Army ordnance area, to expand its classroom facilities for its $2.2 million retraining program.

Ordill, where a great deal of secret Army work is done, is located in the Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge on Route 148.

According to William E. Nagel, training coordinator, the two-story block structure was formerly used by workers as a wash house.

There are seven training programs vying for space in the building, Nagel said, but he indicated that there will be room for only four.

Auto mechanics and probably power sewing will be two training groups likely to be housed in the facilities as soon as the lease is negotiated.

PASS DEFENSE - These three players will hold the key to the Saluki pass defense when SIU meets Louisville in McAndrew Stadium Saturday. They are Den Gieske, Mike McGinnis and Rudy Phillips.

Passes Are Threat

Coach Expects Better Defense In This Week's Home Opener

By Richard La Susa

SIU's leaky pass defense will receive perhaps its stiffest test of the season Saturday when the Salukis meet Tom La Framboise and his Louisville Cardinals in McAndrew Stadium.

The Saluki pass defense, which was less than spectacular in allowing 177 passing yards in Southern's 35-12 loss to Bowling Green last Saturday, will have its hands full with the crafty La Framboise.

The 6-2, 195-pound Louisville passing ace was seventh nationally in passing last year (104 of 204 passes for 1,205 yards) and completed 28 of 45 passes for 332 yards in right 10-7 loss to Western Michigan last week. La Framboise's performance a week ago broke a Louisville passing record set by Johnny Unitas of the professional Baltimore Colts when the latter was quarterbacking the Cardinals in the early 1950's.

Despite the Salukis' poor showing against Bowling Green, head coach Don Shroyer is not expected to make any major changes in the defensive lineup of last week.

Dennis Gieske, Mike McGinnis, Rudy Phillips and Don Deck probably will make up the starting defensive backfield for the Louisville contest. McGinnis, a junior from Pittsfield, is the only one of the four starters with varsity experience. Phillips was used mainly as an offensive halfback in his rookie year with the Salukis last season. Gieske and Deck both are playing in their first season with Southern.

While La Framboise's passing prowess is Louisville's chief threat, the Cardinals will also sport a trio of veteran runners in its offensive backfield and a number of hefty and experienced linemen.

The key man in Camp's running attack appears to be speedster McFarland. A 5-11, 190-pound junior from Chicago's Taft High School, McFarland averaged 3.2 yards per carry in 1963 and, as a kicker, 37.6 yards for 54 punts. McFarland tallied the only touchdown in Louisville's 13-7 loss to Southern last season when he fielded a third-quarter kickoff and raced 90 yards for a score.

Hail, a 219-pound junior, is expected to give the Cardinals sufficient power running and blocking from his fullback position.

The Louisville line, which lost All-America Ken Kortas by graduation, features five brawny giants who will attempt to contain Southern's offensive attack in the Salukis' home opener.

Veteran Doug Buffone will anchor the Louisville forward wall from his center spot. Buffone, a 221-pounder has been tabbed as one of the top centers in the Missouri Valley Conference, and is also a standout linebacker on Louisville's rugged defensive unit.

Size appears to be the biggest commodity in the Cardinal front line. Louisville lost 285-pound Kortas but returns with starting tackles Charlie Johnson (288) and Gary Guertin (278) who is called Kortas' successor.

Also expected to see considerable line action here Saturday are sizable sophomores Tom Holzer (240), Don Brinley (240) and Bill Downs (230) and returning guards Dave Hackaden (225) and Joe Scherma (230).

The end position appears to be the weak spot in Louisville's offensive. The graduation of leading pass receivers, Tanny Phelps and Bob Bagley, left the Cardinals with an inexperienced pass-catching crew.

Likely starters at end are Bill Dobbs, a 6-4, 205-pound senior, and Dick Boarman, 6-3, 199-pound senior. Both were La Framboise's favorite targets in the Western Michigan contest and showed considerable pass-catching poise.

The Salukis have been working hard on pass defensive and tackling in every practice session this week. Shroyer feels his charges will be sharp in both departments for the Louisville contest.

"Saturday night," said Shroyer, "we're going to try to play the caliber of defense we were supposed to play against Bowling Green and didn't."

Duck Season Set Oct. 31 to Dec. 9

A 40-day duck season, opening at sunrise Oct. 31 and closing at sunset Dec. 9, has been announced by William T. Lodge, Illinois Conservation Department director.

In the counties of Union, Jackson, Williamson and Alexander the season for taking geese will begin at sunrise Nov. 16, be closed Dec. 24, 25, 26 and reopen Dec. 27, extending through 3 p.m., Jan. 15, 1965. However, the season may be closed before Jan. 15 if the established harvest quota of 15,000 Canada geese is reached.

Intramural Flag Football Managers to Meet Oct. 5

A managers meeting of the intramural football league will be held at 5 p.m. Oct. 5, at a place to be announced by the Intramural Office.

Teams officially to be entered must be represented at the managers meeting, and rosters along with a $2 entry fee must be turned in at that time.

Rosters may be obtained from the Intramural Office in Room 128 of the Arena. The Intramural Office asked that rosters be turned in earlier than Oct. 5, if possible.

Regular flag football will begin at 4:15 p.m. Oct. 6 on the playing field west of the new baseball field and south of the beach house.

10 Months for Birds

Fisher May Solve Problem for Navy

The coming year is going to be strictly for the birds as far as Harvey I. Fisher is concerned.

But that doesn't mean that Fisher, chairman of the SIU Zoology Department, is taking a pessimistic view of the next 10 months. On the contrary he expects them to be fruitful. He leaves Oct. 5 for Midway Island to continue a study of the Laysan albatross—the famed "gooney bird" of the Pacific.

Fisher, acknowledged as the foremost authority on the birds, is interested in gathering as much scientific information as possible about them before they become extinct.

But the U.S. Navy is supporting his research for another reason. The birds have a habit of nesting near airfield runways on Midway, their only known breeding grounds. They return year after year, becoming a hazard to planes approaching and leaving the island. All the Navy's efforts to re-settle them have failed.

On sabbatical leave from SIU and sponsored by the Office of Navy Research, Fisher will spend 10 months on the Pacific island. Accompanying him will be his wife, Mildred, and a third-year doctoral student, Earl Meseth of Chicago.

Fisher first visited Midway in 1945, returned to the island in 1947 and 1959 and has made the trip at least once and often twice a year since. A major part of his study has been sponsored by the Navy.

This year, for the first time, he will arrive before the "gooney birds" and be there until they leave. He hopes to gather additional information about their mating and nesting habits which will help answer many questions.

"We're just trying to find out all we can about them before they're wiped out," Fisher explained. "I have no doubt that eventually the albatross will be a rare thing on Midway. And of course, the more we learn about them, the greater the possibilities we can successfully move them to another island."

Twice a year, 50,000 to 100,000 of the birds descend on Midway to nest. Nests of marked birds have been staked out over several nesting seasons and found to vary in location sometimes by less than a foot, one reason they are such a headache for the Navy.

Periodically, the Navy exterminates great numbers for safety reasons, and hundreds more are killed accidentally. In one week, Fisher said, 200 of the birds died from crashing into a single communications antenna.

One of the most promising efforts at re-settling the birds is a project undertaken by Fisher in December, 1962. Since the Laysan always return to the place of their birth when they reach mating age, Fisher tried moving the birth place.

By switching eggs between nests of the Laysan and black-footed albatross on other islands, he was successful in getting the black-footed birds to hatch "gooney bird" eggs. Results of this project remain to be seen, however, as it takes five to seven years for a Laysan to reach mating age.

Among other things, Fisher and his assistants have banded for identification nearly 50,000 "gooney birds" over the years. Sightings of the marked birds have been reported all over the Pacific, the latest from the east Siberian coast of Russia. Many reports have been received from Japan and the Aleutian Islands and still others from the Seattle area.

Fisher admits it may not be possible for him to complete the "gooney bird" life cycle study he would like to make because of the relatively long life span of the birds. Some birds marked in the early 1930's are still around, and nobody knows how old they were when they were marked.

Folk Arts Meeting Set

The Folk Arts Society will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday in Activities Room D of the University Center. The meeting will be open to the public.

805 New Phone Bells Ring In New Year in SIU Dormitories

693, plus the four-digit number.

To secure a party on the University extension, the prefix, 3, must be dialed and then the four-digit number. For calls to Southern Acres (VTI), a student should dial 68, then the VTI extension number.

To secure a party not on the University extension, (calls off campus), a caller must dial 9 (to secure an outside line), then five digits of the number if calling Carbondale, or all seven digits if calling Murphysboro or DeSoto.

For example, if a Carbondale number is listed as 437-6382, the caller on campus would dial 9-7-6382. All 433-prefixed numbers are considered on the university extension.

Telephones in the residence halls are "toll-restricted," meaning it is mechanically impossible to make long-distance calls from room phones.

Former Faculty Member

Edits Speech Manual

William E. Buys, formerly of the SIU faculty, is the senior author and editor of "The Contest Speaking Manual" to be published Sept. 25. He was one of five men in the field of public speaking who prepared the book.

Buys was an associate professor at the University School before joining the speech department faculty at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, this year.

Pay phones are provided in each of the halls for out-of-town calls.

If a student is found guilty of accepting a collect long-distance call, he will be fined $5, plus the cost of the call accepted.

Mrs. Virginia W. Smith, chief operator for the University, said students are not allowed to place collect calls because of the chance of human error in billing the call.

Should the operator neglect to record the call as collect, the University would be billed. The time and effort to trace the student who placed the call would be too costly, Mrs. Smith said.

Shorthand Classes To Start Oct. 13

Students will find it easier to take notes if they complete an evening class in Stenographic ABC Shorthand, says Glenn Wills of the Technical and Adult Education Division.

The system, which Wills describes as "the best of the ABC shorthand methods," will be taught in a 10-week adult education course by Ray Cohee.

"This is an excellent course for anyone who must take many notes," Wills says.

Some persons have been able to take 80 words per minute after completing the 10-week course, he says.

Classes will meet each Tuesday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 13. Students may pre-register at the Technical and Adult Education office at 403 West Mill until Oct. 1.
