14 Freshman Acts Will Entertain Tonight In Annual New Student Week Talent Show

The annual Freshman Talent Show, one of the highlights of New Student Week, takes place at 7:30 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Admission is free.

Cochairmen for the event, Brenda S. Loverkamp and Charles R. Edelhofer, said the show will consist of 14 acts.

They were selected from 38 acts at the tryouts.

They include David C.

Beckett, singer; Gloria J. Sylvester, folk dancer; Fred W. Walker, singer; Charlotte C. Owens, monologist.

Marilyn L. Nix, singer; folk group consisting of Mark F. Beck, Elizabeth Ruskin and Fred W. Walker.

Miss Ruskin also performs a solo later in the show.

Roberta K. Rodin, singer; Sandra J. Thomas, singer; Ellen F. Haderly, dancer;

Linda A. Sparks, singer; Thomas M. Riely, guitarist; Denise A. Myers, dancer; and Sharon A. McKenzie, singer.

The accompanist will be Peggy J. Wimberly, also a freshman.

The talent show will wind up New Student Week activities until Wheels Night, Oct. 8.

A number of dances and other activities are slated for this weekend on campus.

SIU Acquires Prints for Exhibit, Loan

Hundreds of original prints by American and international artists are being acquired by SIU for lending for three-month periods to students and faculty so that they may "live with" art.

A phase of the University Architectural Arts Program, which is also installing major works of art in buildings and on the grounds of both the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses, the prints have been selected by Mrs. Katharine Kuh of New York, consultant for the program. Mrs. Kuh is art editor of the Saturday Review.

An exhibit of 190 of the prints will be shown in the University Center Ballroom Gallery Oct. 4-10, according to Ferris S. Randall, head librarian of the Carbondale campus. Thereafter the prints will be available for loan through the library. A charge of a dollar a print will be made to cover handling costs and purchase of additional prints.

A like number of prints is being acquired for the Edwardsville Campus, Randall said.

German, French, Latin-American, Japanese and other international artists, including Picasso, Villon, Leger, Calder and Bonnard, are represented in the collection. Emphasis is on the 20th century, but the 16th century German Barthel Beham and 17th century Frenchman Jacques Callot are also included.

Original etchings, lithographs, woodcuts and aquatints in color and in black-and-white are embraced in the collection. All are matted, framed and glazed.

Coed's Quest for Learning Leads to Male Sanctuary

A pretty young coed approached an officious, elderly-looking man seated in the Wham Education Building.

"Sir! Perhaps you can help me?" she asked appealingly.

"I'd like to," the man replied.

The student held out a No. 3 card with her class schedule. "I'm supposed to go to Room 214," she said, "but I think it's the wrong room."

HIGHEST IN AREA—In the early autumn sky, white billowy clouds provide a background for the modern architecture of Neely Dormitory. In the future, SIU's skyline will be marked by three of the 17-story domes. Work is not yet completed on the huge dormitory, and workmen are in and out of the rooms each day. Most of the work that's left is the final touches such as carpeting, completing wall furnishings and moving in furniture.

Deadline Nears

Many Scholarships, National Defense Loans Available This Year; Requirements Listed

More than 130 Upperclass Illinois State Scholarship Awards are still available for the present year.

Fred Dakak, of the Financial Assistance Center, said they are full scholarships and include tuition, fees and book rental.

Students who hold teacher scholarships are eligible this year. They had not been eligible in the past.

The requirements for eligibility are that the student:

1. Must be in good academic standing at the beginning of this academic year.
2. Be a citizen of the United States.
3. Be a resident of Illinois.
4. Have graduated from high school since May, 1960.
5. Have been enrolled as a college undergraduate for no less than one and no more than three years.
6. Have attended SIU for a minimum of one term.
7. Be enrolled as a full-time student during the fall term, 1965.

Applications for these scholarships should be picked up immediately. The deadline for their return will be Oct. 5.

Several other scholarships and grants are available for students who are at least juniors and have a four-point.

These are available in various fields, and should be applied for at the Financial Assistance Center.

Funds are also still available for National Defense Loans. Applications must be made by the fourth week of this quarter for funds for the remainder of the quarter. After the fourth week applications can be made for future terms.

Freshman applicants for National Defense Loans must be in the upper third of their graduating classes.

Undergraduates must carry a minimum of eight hours, and graduate students must carry at least six.

Some SIU scholarships are still open for qualified full-time students with at least a "C" average. Freshmen should be in the upper half of their graduating class to qualify for an SIU scholarship.

President Speaks To Convocations

President Delyte W. Morris charged the 1965's freshman class with the responsibility of evaluating themselves, asking the questions — "Why am I here and where am I heading?" — in order to regiment themselves to achieve their goals.

Morris gave a 50-minute welcoming address to new students at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Thursday as a part of New Student Week program and the first Freshman Convocation of the school year.

Morris opened his talk with congratulations to student leaders for their performance in the orientation program. He said student leaders and student affairs personnel rated this year's incoming students as the finest and most cooperative group despite their record-breaking number.

He urged support for student government and asked students to take an interest in what he called the "official voice of the student body."

He said the University works to retain the individuality of its students. He added that University counselors would be available at all times to discuss student problems both academic and personal, and this interest would include himself and the vice presidents if necessary.

Morris discussed the growth of SIU and the resultant problems. He reminded students that the problems they face are not new in the University setting and that others have survived the ordeal of adjusting to college life.

He expressed regret that not all of the new students would be able to make it through the four-year curriculum, but that the University will strive to maintain the "open door policy" to give educational opportunity to all who qualify.

Students Stalk Homecoming Tickets; Two Groups Face 28 Hours in Line

Standing in line is something of an institution at SIU, as it is at many other colleges and universities.

Men from Brown Hall and girls from Steagall Hall are making an early bid to become the champion standers-in-line for fall term.

At 6 a.m. Thursday, Gregory Johnson, a freshman from Mount Prospect, started the line in a bid to be the first to buy tickets to the 1965 Homecoming stage show, which stars Nancy Wilson, Jay and the Americans, and Henry Youngman.

Students from the two residence halls have been standing beside the information desk ever since. Most of them stay for an hour and then are relieved by the next volunteer.

The schedule called for a dozen students to stand in line until 11 p.m., when the University Center closes. One or two planned to "keep the line" Thursday night by sleeping by the front doors of the Center.

At present, the line standers are not sure how many tickets they will buy. It all depends on how many paid orders they receive before the tickets go on sale.

Plans call for the purchases of both $2 and $3 tickets for the show.

Other students and faculty members, even the less hardy ones who do not feel up to keeping a 28-hour vigil, may buy tickets to the stage show and dance starting at 10 a.m. today at the information desk.

No matter where you look these days, you come across some solution to our problems in Viet Nam. The beatnik on the "demonstration beat," the newsman on the "Washington beat" and the presidential aide on the "White House Beat" all have their answers to the puzzle.

We have an answer. The first thing to do is withdraw all the U.S. Marines, Air Force, army personnel, etc. This will clear the way for what we call the "American Youth Gangs for the Liberation of Viet Nam Program."

The plan is relatively simple. Once the U.S. regulars are evacuated at least 10 gangs from each metropolitan center of the U.S., would be rounded up and shipped intact to the jungle outposts in Viet Nam.

Once there each gangmember will be issued a zip-gun, a stiletto and a length of chain and assigned to remain with his fellow gangmembers at a prearranged location, better known as "a turf."

Each outpost would be constructed as an exact replica of the gangmember's neighborhood, his turf.

Any Viet Cong entering the established "turf" of the Fordham Baldies or the South-Side Sultans couldn't stand a chance against one of these concrete jungle-trained fighters.

The ultimate weapons to be used in Viet Nam would be a far cry from the sophisticated nuclear arsenal now in readiness. The most effective (and cheapest) weapons are those which the street fighter knows and uses best—paving bricks and broken bottles.

Any military strategist knows that a casualty to the enemy is more expensive than a fatality. Our boys, inflicting various serious injuries with their primitive weapons, would cost the Viet Cong more time and equipment than the "sophisticated" weapons that are so deadly that they eliminate the need for evacuation and hospitalization of wounded troops.

Thus after a few months of harrying by the "concrete-jungle forces" the length of Viet Cong's disabled list would preclude any attempts to build up a major striking force.

YOU NEED TO BE A LITTLE MORE AGGRESSIVE, JOHNSON

NASA - Serendipity With a Flair

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

The serious business of putting a human being on that most sterile and worthless piece of real estate, the moon, and snatching him back to rejoin the earth is dreamstuff to the average man. But here at the Douglas Missile and Space Systems test center the first S-IVB, prototype of the top stage of the Saturn V, has completed its tests.

Compared to the lower stages, the S-IVB is sort of a Volkswagen. The prime booster, the Saturn I C, will have five engines of 1,500,000 lbs. thrust each. If that blows up on the pad, goodbye Brevard County, Florida. The Saturn second stage will have five 200,000 lb. thrust engines. The little S-IVB (it's only 58 feet long and weighs a mere 175 tons loaded) boasts a single 200,000 lb. engine.

But the S-IVB has the job of directing the fly to the mouth of the trout. It must carry its moonwalkers into orbit around the earth, shut down its engines until it positions itself perfectly, fire itself up again and travel more than a quarter of a million miles to a moon orbit, release its lunar excursion module, pick it up again, and zoom back to re-enter the earth's gravitational field.

The fact that there are all sorts of intelligent people, covered with doctoral hoods, who not only think this can be done but are sure of it, is astonishing. It will cost 30 billion dollars—maybe more. To bring back a handful of moon rocks will be nice. And it will be interesting to listen to eyewitness confirmation that as a home for men the moon makes the top of Mt. Everest look like Palm Beach. But the stunt of going to the moon probably isn't worth 30 billion or anything like it.

So you have to consider "serendipity." A couple of centuries ago Horatio Walpole wrote a fable about The Three Princes of Serendip who, in their travels, were always happening across wonders they weren't looking for. So serendipity means the accidental discovery of valuable things. If we had boosters as powerful as those of the Russians we could have put cruder hardware into orbit. But because our early boosters were comparatively weak we sought to match Russian space achievements by a frantic program of miniaturization. This proved to be a disguised blessing, for the sophistication of our space vehicles led us into world leadership in electronics.

The argument in favor of the 30 billion is that if we can pull off the man-in-the-moon act we can master space platforms that may have defense ramifications as staggering as the atom bomb was two decades ago.

Not the least fascinating thing about the Douglas-Rocketdyne S-IVB program is that it will have the first fully-automated check-out system. This means a computer. The computer has a brain that can produce 200,000 actions a second. But the brain is limited, more limited than that of a snail. To check out the missile it needs 799 pages of instructions and it knows only two things—on and off. So the computer must be talked to in binary mathematical terms.

Binary mathematics, which is Swahili to most of us, is all written in ones and zeros, or ons and offs, if you please. The computer digs it. Fourteen is 1110 in binary. Thirty-two is 10000. Fifty-three is 110101. While a human check-out would take many hours, the computer will check everything on a complicated missile dozens of times in the second before firing. One trouble with a computer is that it's too darned fast. You tell it to throw a switch and it immediately complains that the switch is malfunctioning because it checks its action before the action has time to take place. So you must ask it to loaf for a few microseconds.

All this makes one wish he could take a swig from the Fountain of Lethe and forget a lot. Ordinary citizens could decide pretty well whether the Kentucky rifle was an improvement on the Brown Bess, whether vaccination really stopped smallpox, and whether to dig the Erie Canal.

But now you can't even understand the men who must make the big decisions. It's a Brave New World, sure enough. And pretty scary.

'Meet Mah Ol' Buddy, Hubert Whatsisname!'

By Arthur Hoppe
San Francisco Chronicle

Howdy there, folks. How y'all? Time for another teevee visit with the rootin'-tootin' Jay Family — starring ol' Elbie Jay, who always deals from the top of the deck. If'n it's his deck.

As we join up with ol' Elbie tonight he and his pretty wife, Birdie-Bird, are just a-settin' down to a hand of bridge with the man he loves and trusts above all others, the man he elevated to the second highest office in the land, the unforgettable fighting moderate,

HOPPE

Hubert Horatio Whatsisname. Making a fourth Mrs. Whatsername.

HUBERT (holding Elbie's chair): Well, well, and how are you feeling tonight, sir?

ELBIE: Always thinking of yourself. Don't forget that I gave you your job. I gave you fame and power. I made your name a household word. And don't you forget it, Homer.

HUBERT: It's Hubert, sir.

ELBIE: There you go, always trying to get your name mentioned. And speaking of that, didn't I see your name in the paper this morning. That's twice in six months, Herbert.

HUBERT (blanching): Honest, sir, it was an accident. A traffic accident. I ran over a little old lady and a reporter with an encyclopedic memory recognized my name.

ELBIE: Well, don't let it happen again. There's no room for publicity seekers around here. The papers only got so much space. Now, let's see. You shuffle there, Birdie-Bird. That's it, shuffle them good. And you cut, Higbert. That's right, cut them a couple of times. And I'll deal. Hmmm.

I reckon I'll take these 13 cards here and you folks can divvy up the rest, fair and square.

HUBERT: Gee, that's a fine deal, sir. Would you like to bid now?

ELBIE: Seven no-trump.

HUBERT: Gosh, that's a brilliant bid, sir. And I haven't even seen your hand.

MRS. WHATSHERNAME: I'm afraid I'll have to doubt . . . Ouch!

HUBERT: She passes too, sir.

ELBIE: A fine woman. You may all be seated now. And I'll just lead this little ol' king of hearts here . . .

HUBERT: A marvelous lead, sir. I'll just have to play my little old three of hearts . . . Whoops!

ELBIE (thunderstruck): You played the ace!

HUBERT (pale and trembling): Honest, sir, it was an accident. I strategically planned to eat the ace later when you weren't looking. I reached for the three, but my hands were all sweaty and . . .

ELBIE: Another accident? Hmmm. I always said Hirschel, that your eyes were set mighty close together.

HUBERT (pleading): Oh, please don't say you don't trust me, sir. I'll kill myself.

ELBIE: What! And get your name in the papers? You wouldn't dare.

Can Hubert Find Happiness in Humble Obscurity? If He Knows What's Good for Him? Tune in to our next episode, folks. And meantime, as you mosey on down the trail of life, remember what Elbie's ol' granddaddy used to say: "Happy is the humble man who don't expect a great deal. But he ain't near as happy as the dealer."

Enrollment, Funds, Draft Made Summer News

An attempt to set a "phonathon" record, a temporary halt in admissions, approval of a record budget, and the draft scare were among headline stories appearing in the summer edition of The Daily Egyptian.

This is the second of three articles on the highlights of the summer term on the SIU campus at Carbondale, as compiled from summer issues of the campus newspaper.

SIU's attempt to set a record "phonathon" ended after almost six days of uninterrupted phone conversations between residents of Felts and Woody halls. The purpose of the stunt, residents said, was to help get students acquainted.

Priscilla Henshaw, Miss Southern, failed in her bid for Miss Illinois.

University officials announced that the possibility of discontinuing high school classes at University School is under study because of the cost and the fact that area schools are being used to train student teachers.

Dean Joseph Zaleski reported that discipline problems were down considerably from the regular school year.

"You are less likely to find the guy that's here for country-club living in the summertime," Zaleski explained.

Carbondale adopted a motorcycle tax of $3.50, effective Aug. 1, affecting only out-in-town students who maintain legal residence in the city.

Officials announced that approximately $52 a student was spent during the 1964-65 school year to maintain library facilities on campus.

JOSEPH ZALESKI

SIU adopted an insurance plan that gives students enrolled during summer term optional coverage during the break between summer and fall terms. Officials also considered adopting a new group life insurance plan for the University.

The Board of Trustees approved a record budget of $52 million for the first half of the current biennium, an increase of almost $13 million over the previous budget.

Buckminster Fuller patented a new model geodesic dome, called the "monohex," and was named to design the arena on the Edwardsville campus.

Carbondale approved annexation of a portion of the SIU campus to the city, including Thompson Point Small Group Housing, and the Communications and Technology buildings.

The annexation qualified SIU to seek federal aid to build 400 low-rent homes for married students and qualified the city for an additional motor fuel tax allotment totaling $10,000 a year.

Lake-on-the-Campus was closed for one day for repair of the chlorinating system. SIU officials were requested, for the first time, to send a student's transcript to the draft board, as the Viet Nam crisis required more man power.

A 42-year-old grandfather was among 1,000 degree candidates at summer graduation. He had a 4.75 average, had been taking classes since 1958 and working in the coal mines at night. Charles D. Tenney, SIU vice president, was commencement speaker.

STUDENT RIGHTS COMMISSION

E. Claude Coleman, named in June as recipient of SIU's Great Teacher Award, was named chairman of the student-faculty commission to study the role of the University affairs.

Three Carbondale campus students named to the committee were John Paul Davis, John Huck and John Henry. Coleman attended an institute at Berkeley and upon his return announced that the group would actively seek the views of all interested people.

At the commission's first meeting, President Morris told students of student-administration cooperation in the past. After the second meeting, plans were announced to hold hearings on campus to get student opinions and ideas.

The commission also decided to put student rights and responsibilities at the top of its list.

STUDENT COUNCIL

John Paul Davis, vice president of the student body, headed SIU's first summer Student Council.

In addition, he was named temporary chairman of the two-campus University Student Council at its first meeting late spring term. He also headed a 10-member executive committee of the University Student Council.

The council also resolved that the state flag should be flown at Old Main and that the various councils should exchange minutes.

The council set up a $300 non-interest loan fund for Mississippi students who will enter SIU this fall, decided to investigate the seating policy in the Arena.

Emmy Film Credit Shared by Simon

John Y. Simon, associate professor of history and executive director of the Ulysses S. Grant Association, served as the consultant for an award-winning television program shown on eight Ohio educational TV stations.

The three-hour program, entitled "Ohio Has Saved the Nation," inaugurated network programming.

An "Emmy" award, television's tribute to excellence, was given the program by the Columbus chapter of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

The program recounted Ohio's role in the Civil War. Its title was taken from a telegram said to have been sent by President Lincoln after the people of Ohio elected a Republican governor, David Todd, in 1863.

SIU Pays $49,788 For 3 Properties

The purchase of three Carbondale properties for $49,788 was approved by the SIU Board of Trustees Monday.

The acquisitions were previously approved by the Board for campus expansion.

The three are 809 W. Mill St., from Ward M. and Nina Morton, for $25,890; 706 Burhison St., from William J. and Barbara J. Hecht for $16,499; and 800-802 S. Elizabeth St. from Elizabeth Apartment Trust, Bernard H. Ross, trustee, for $7,399.

Drawing Instruments

The choice and pride of engineers the world over. Few purchases ever deserve such careful selection as a set of drawing instruments. First, such instruments become a lifetime possession, a constant companion throughout the career for which the young man is in training. But of even greater importance, when the student uses fine instruments, their precision inspires precision. Pride of ownership inspires pride in accomplishment. It must be more than mere coincidence that so many successful engineers use and recommend Dietzgen Drawing Instruments.

Dietzgen Lifetime Service Policy

Many "bargain" sets of drawing instruments are either orphans or soon become orphans; their makers out of business, repair parts and replacements impossible to obtain. The Dietzgen Lifetime Service Policy enclosed in each set of Dietzgen Drawing Instruments provides that Dietzgen will maintain master stocks of all instrument parts for the full lifetime of the set's original purchaser.

Dietzgen Drawing Sets are offered in a wide range of sizes and prices to meet every need... featured by the better dealers everywhere.

Carbondale Concert Association Accepting Season Memberships

The Carbondale Community Concert Association will accept 1965-66 memberships of new faculty and staff members until Oct. 10.

These memberships are available now only to new faculty and staff members or returning faculty and staff members; these who were here in the spring are not now eligible. Single concert tickets will not be sold.

Attractions during this year will include the Netherlands Chamber Orchestra, with Szymon Goldberg, violinist, as soloist and conductor, on Nov. 3. John Alexander, Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, will perform on Jan. 5.

Whitemore and Lowe, two-piano team, will be featured on March 28, and in the final program, on April 24, Phyllis Curtin, Metropolitan Opera Company soprano, will sing. Membership fees are $7.50 for adults and $3 for children through high school age. They may be obtained through Robert D. Faner, chairman of the Department of English.

Tryouts Scheduled For 'Madwoman'

Tryouts for "The Madwoman of Chaillot" will be held at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in the Southern Players Playhouse.

The play, a comedy directed by Mrs. Eelin S. Harrison, instructor of theater, is open to tryouts by any student. The play will open Oct. 28.

WILLIAM DOPPMANN

Pianist William Doppmann Will Open Concert Series

J. S. Bach's "Aria with Thirty Variations" will be performed by William Doppmann, guest artist, who will open the 1965-66 concert series at 4 p.m. Sunday in Shryock Auditorium.

Doppmann, pianist and teacher at the University of Iowa, will devote the entire post-intermission section of his concert to this lengthy composition. As an opening number he will play Luigi Dallapiccola's "Quadern Musicale di Annalibera," following that with Chopin's Sonata No. 2 in B flat minor, Op. 35.

The Sunday afternoon concerts at SIU are presented by the Department of Music without charge and are open to the public.

Dibden Will Head Higher Education

Arthur J. Dibden has been named acting head of the Department of Higher Education, succeeding George Hand, chairman since the department was formed in 1959.

Hand, who was named vice president of business affairs after his arrival at Southern in 1952, has transferred to the Department of Economics.

Dibden, a Michigan native, came to Southern in 1964 from Blackburn College at Carlinville, where he was dean of the college. He has a Ph. D. from Columbia University.

Language Classes Offered to Faculty

Faculty and staff members interested in organizing intensive-study language classes will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Ballroom A of the University Center.

Guerrilla Forces Threatening Kashmir Peace

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A threat of sustained guerrilla operations within the Indian-ruled segment of Kashmir cast a shadow Thursday over the U. N.-sponsored cease-fire that stopped the shooting war between India and Pakistan.

Both nation, though silencing their guns, opened a battle of words.

In the north, Red China was reported setting up a Himalayan version of the Berlin wall near Jelep Pass. This would be a new phase of the frontier military buildup that accompanied the battle action of India and its Moslem neighbor.

An Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said the Chinese were building the wall with cement and stone. Jelep Pass, at an altitude of 12,000 feet, is one of the contested mountain routes linking the Indian protectorate of Sikkim with Chinese-ruled Tibet.

The ministry said Chinese troop units are also setting up posts on the shoulders of Nathu Pass and at another point, near Dongchui Pass, have installed themselves at least 300 yards within Indian territory.

The threat of further trouble within Kashmir was broadcast by the Voice of Kashmir Radio, speaking for a revolutionary council that promoted a series of attacks against Indian authorities in the disputed border state last month.

"It is for us to make the decision and that decision is to continue the fight," the broadcast said.

Indian Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan charged that Pakistan is still infiltrating guerrillas into Indian Kashmir. He told Parliament the Indian army has been given strict instructions to deal with infiltrators. Pakistan has denied sending in the guerrillas, whose operations reportedly touched off the war three weeks ago.

The shooting stopped on Security Council orders at 3:30 a.m. Indian time and Indian authorities said Thursday night not so much as a rifle shot was heard throughout the day along the thousand-mile front.

Neither was there any air activity, a tribute to the effectiveness of the orders of Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and President Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

From both sides, however, came bitterly worded recriminations which reflected the long-standing mutual distrust.

The Indians were particularly enraged about what they called a Pakistan air raid at Amritsar Wednesday afternoon, several hours after the cease-fire had been agreed upon though not activated. Pakistani officials denied their planes made such a raid.

The Indians charged three B57 Canberra bombers and three F86 Sabre jets jettisoned a dozen 1,000-pound bombs in a civilian quarter on the outskirts of the city, killing 50 villagers and wounding 100.

GIs Blast Through Heavy Viet Bunkers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. and Vietnamese troops fought sharp battles with the Viet Cong hundreds of miles apart Thursday and a U.S. military spokesman reported at least 18 of the enemy killed.

In the air way, U.S. planes kept up the attack on targets in North and South Viet Nam and showered the area north of the Communist city of Vinh with 300,000 leaflets saying the air strikes were necessary so long as the Viet Cong continues the war in South Viet Nam.

Although no major ground activity was reported, the smaller engagements were bitterly contested, spokesmen said.

A company of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division reported it encountered the heaviest fighting since its arrival in July as it launched a wave of assaults on a seemingly impregnable Viet Cong bunker system 40 miles northwest of Saigon northwest of Saigon near Bien Hoa.

The Americans mounted five assaults against the bunkers and a sergeant declared: "I saw some bunkers in Korea, but I've never seen anything like these."

The foot soldiers, after blasting the bunkers with recoilless rifle fire, cannon, grenades and flames throwers, called for air support. Air Force Skyraiders hit the bunkers with 750-pound bombs, napalm and machine gun fire and infantrymen resumed the attack.

Vietnamese troops, hit by four Viet Cong attacks in the Mekong River delta Wednesday struck back far to the north Thursday and killed 15 Viet Cong, a U.S. spokesman said.

The head of the Viet Cong delegation to Hungary, Dang Kuang Minh, told newsmen in Budapest Wednesday the massive landings by U.S. forces in Viet Nam have caused the guerrillas certain difficulties.

'Challenge Must Be Met'

Ambassador Goldberg Attacks Red China in Speech to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg accused Communist China of launching a campaign to change the world by force and violence. He said the United States was trying to prevent South Viet Nam from being Peking's first victim.

In a major policy speech Thursday to the 117-nation General Assembly Goldberg delivered a vigorous defense of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, saying it was intended to oppose moves by Peking which "can lead to the most disastrous consequences for the entire world."

Goldberg also unveiled a new proposal under which the Soviet Union and the United States would destroy nuclear weapons of their own choice following agreement to divert specified amounts of fissionable materials to strictly peaceful purposes.

He expressed hope also that the underlying aims of Johnson's program for a "Great Society" could be applied to the United Nations to build "a Great Society of and for all men."

Delegates from the Soviet Union withheld comment on the speech. Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, will deliver his main policy speech to the assembly Friday.

On Viet Nam, Goldberg said the Chinese Communists had issued "a call to change the world order by force and violence in a period when force and violence can lead to the most disastrous consequences for the entire world."

He said Peking was attempting "to transfer the country of South Viet Nam into a proving ground for their theories."

"This challenge must be met, not in the interest of any particular nation, but in the interests of the members of this organization. We are helping to meet this challenge because we feel it must be met."

He described the U.S. goals in South Viet Nam as "plain and simple. We seek only to insure the independence of Viet Nam, its freedom from

Illinois Draft Quota 2,632 for November

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Selective Service headquarters announced Thursday Illinois' induction quota for November is 2,632 men.

This compares to 2,306 in October and 2,026 in September.

A Selective Service spokesman said the November call will be filled largely with 19-year-olds because the 20-year-old group is nearly exhausted.

United States Purchases Own Viet Battlefield

By Peter Arnett

AN KHE, South Viet Nam (AP)—When the first Americans moved into the An Khe Valley a month ago, the signs read: "Viet Cong controlled land. No admittance."

There are new signs up. These read: "U.S. property. Keep out."

The United States bought the valley, 30 square miles of tangled jungle hummocks, right out from under the Viet Cong, for cash.

"This is the first time I can remember that we have actually bought a battlefield," commented an officer from the U.S. Army's 1st Cavalry Division (airmobile).

The cavalry's 17,000 men are the current inhabitants.

The Viet Cong, who had occupied the valley since 1954 when the last French units left, so far have not contested seriously the cavalry's occupation. And the Americans have not yet occupied all their domain in the misty An Khe Valley between the coastal city of Quin Nhon and the central plateau capital of Pleiku.

The An Khe base is the first that the United States has bought outright in Viet Nam. The price was about $500,000, according to informed sources.

U.S. Marine units along the coast are renting their base areas from the Vietnamese government.

The cavalry intends to keep all Vietnamese off its base, unless they are specifically authorized.

Separate Negro Clubs Considered by Eagles

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The international president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which limits its membership to Caucasians, said Thursday the organization was considering establishment of separate Eagles clubs for Negroes.

"We might be able to work out something like the colored Elks and colored Shrine," Max F. Schroeder of Dover, N.J., said in an interview.

A slide rule is a lifetime possession... few purchases ever deserve such careful selection

This year, as every year, thousands of students will reach the point in their training where the purchase of a slide rule is required. This is not only a new experience, but one of much greater importance than most realize. A slide rule is not purchased like a text book for a few months' use and then sold or shelved when the classwork is over. A slide rule is a lifetime possession, a constant companion throughout the career for which the young man is training. If cheap and shoddy, it cannot possibly serve him properly... or inspire the respect for precision and fine craftsmanship which is so essential to success.

It is most difficult for anyone to judge the merits or claims of any slide rule by mere inspection of the rule in a few hurried moments before its purchase. That is why so many say, "Buy a Dietzgen Slide Rule and be sure." The Dietzgen name on a slide rule not only safeguards the purchase, it makes sure the owner will always be proud of his lifetime possession. Dietzgen Slide Rules are sold by the better dealers everywhere.

Rational for Irrational

Scientific-Artistic Stage Approach Espoused by Visiting Professor

By Roland Gill

"What I hope to accomplish with my students," Herbert Marshall, visiting professor of theater, explained, "is to give them a rational basis for what is an irrational product."

The gray-haired, congenial dramatist was dressed casually, and laughed when he commented on being frequently confused with Herbert Marshall, the Hollywood actor.

"The other Herbert Marshall," he explained, "is strictly an actor, whereas I have done just about everything for the stage and screen besides act."

The distinguished writer-producer — director — educator, who will spend the fall term at SIU, said his aim is to relate his knowledge of the European theater to members of the Department of Theater.

Marshall studied during the early 1930s under Sergei M. Eisenstein, Russian theater director and motion-picture producer, at the Higher Institute of Cinematography in Moscow.

He said his first job is to analyze the students with whom he will be working, study their approach to the theater and then to give them a slant to the European method of theatrical production.

He praised the Department of Theater at SIU, saying that the joint study of the academic and the professional tends to form a more ideal theater artist.

"This study makes the dramatist more serious about his job," he explained, "and he is more than a 'library professional.'"

He also said that without New Faculty Club's Grand Opening Set

The grand opening of the new faculty center will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the center, located on the northwest corner of Grand Avenue and Elizabeth Street. New faculty members interested in joining are invited to attend.

the connection with the professional aspects of the theater, the aspiring artist tends to appear "amateurish."

"I understand that my duties with my students will be to 'polish them off,'" Marshall said, "for they are, for the most part, seniors and graduate students."

"I have an intimate knowledge of the European theater," Marshall said, "and also have extensive knowledge of the arts of the East." In 1951, Marshall was invited to India by the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to produce the official Mahatma Gandhi biographical documentary and other films.

Marshall, who has directed such well-known actors as Sir Alec Guinness, Peter Ustinov, Herbert Lom and Sir Michael Redgrave, said that there is no universal standard in producing a work of art.

"I hope to give the students a yardstick to work by, a method of production which, other things bring home, will make them better directors," he said.

He went on to explain he will relate the approach to the theater that he learned from his work with Eisenstein, and from his own practice. "The aim is to attempt to make a scientific approach to artistic production," he said.

This scientific-artistic approach to the theater, according to Marshall, stems from the Stanislavsky school of theater. He explained that the Stanislavsky method in America deals with the actor as an individual whereas the Europeans concentrate on the "ensemble in production." He added that the method strives to give a scientific explanation for the artistic product.

The visiting professor said he will not be concentrating his efforts on a single production during the term, but will teach mostly in the classroom.

Prusok Receives Appointment As Student Affairs Assistant

Ralph E. Prusok has been appointed chief assistant in the office of Student Affairs for the Carbondale campus, according to Jack W. Graham, dean of students.

Thomas Hansmeier has been named assistant for the Edwardsville campus. Graham also announced that Richard Rammell has been named coordinator of student activities at Carbondale for a one-year term.

Prusok, who has his Ph.D. from the State University of Iowa, was associate dean of men students at Kansas State University from 1962 until he came to Southern. From 1960-62 he was fraternity adviser at State University of Iowa.

Hansmeier goes to the Edwardsville campus from the post of assistant executive dean of student affairs at Kent, Ohio, State University. An alumnus of State College of Iowa, Hansmeier has his doctor's degree from Michigan State University.

Rammell, from Logansport, Ind., has his bachelor's and master's degrees from Indiana University and will work on his doctorate in education at Southern. Before coming to SIU he was employed by Agricultural Chemical Enterprise of Valparaiso, Ind.

He went to the firm as a consultant and remained to install a new program in office procedures and systems, and to do supervisory and personnel work. A past president of the Indiana Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rammell was named one of the five outstanding young men of Indiana in 1964. He received the top scouting award, the Silver Beaver, in 1961.

How To Be Tardy Without Half Trying

Scratch one broken-down bus, then another. Then wait an hour for another.

It shouldn't happen to a student. But it did. A bus carrying 25 VTI students to class Thursday morning broke down about three miles east of Carbondale on Illinois 13.

The largest bus SIU operates happened along, on its way back to Carbondale. It was turned around, loaded the stranded students aboard and the driver stepped on the gas.

Nothing. The massive vehicle was bogged down in the mud on the shoulder of the highway.

Finally a third bus came by, the students transferred again and arrived safely at VTI—only an hour and a half late.

Wreckers were called to move the other two buses.

Student Teaching Forms Due Soon

The Student Teaching Office has announced that students planning to student teach during spring quarter should complete applications by Thursday.

Applications are available in the Student Teaching Office, Room 135 in the Wham Education Building.

SIU-Based Editors' Group Will Travel to British Isles

The International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors, originated in 1955 on the campus of SIU, will celebrate its tenth anniversary with special sessions in England and Ireland.

Editors from 12 states and Canada and an SIU delegation will represent North America.

Conference President Don J. Pease, editor of the Oberlin, Ohio, News Tribune, said the conference was organized on the campus of SIU in 1955 when Howard R. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism, held a seminar on editorial writing that attracted weekly newspaper editors from the United States and Canada. Later the ranks were swelled by members from Ireland and England through the efforts of Long and his associates. At present the organization has members in 20 lands. Long is the founder and executive secretary of the organization.

The SIU delegation will be made up of President Delyte W. Morris, William J. McKeefery, dean of academic affairs, C. Horton Talley, dean of the School of Communications, and Long.

While in England and Ireland conference members will meet with governmental officials and newsmen to discuss news problems. The North American group, numbering about 35, is composed of weekly newspaper editors and their guests, the University officials.

The first session is scheduled for Oct. 1, a meeting with the Guild of British Newspaper Editors. The first two weeks in October will be spent in England and then the group will travel to Dublin, returning home on Oct. 19. Its host in Dublin will be the Provincial Editors Association of Ireland.

Speakers at the meetings will be President Morris, McKeefery and Long.

Friseo Manager Denies Being Worried, Despite Second Consecutive Giant Defeat

CINCINNATI (AP)—“What do you want me to do, cry?” This was Manager Herman Franks’ booming retort when asked for his reaction to the San Francisco Giants’ second straight loss—a resounding 7-1 trouncing at the hands of the third-place Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night.

“Shucks, if the man upstairs wants to tighten it up,” growled the florid-faced Franks, “why it’s all right with me.”

The National League pennant race, reaching the final 10 days of the campaign, could hardly be any tighter. The second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, overcoming an early 6-1 deficit, battled back to defeat the Braves at Milwaukee 7-6 in 11 innings.

The victory narrowed the Giants’ first place margin to two games. The Reds, still refusing to be counted out, were 3 1/2 games off the pace.

The Giants and Dodgers each have 10 games left and the Reds nine.

The news of the Dodgers’ comeback victory, coming about 45 minutes after the Giants’ defeat, failed to disturb Franks’ outward calm.

“I think we go better when it’s tight,” he barked, loud enough for his players to hear. “We’ve fallen back 10 times before and we always regrouped. This is the last time we’re falling back. That’s a promise. We will retrench and dig in and start to go again Friday.”

It was the 21st victory for the 24-year-old Sammy Ellis, who has lost only nine games.

“We’re definitely in it now,” said Dick Sisler, the Reds’ manager.

Line Changes Made For Louisville Game

Coach Don Shroyer has made two switches in his offensive starting line and three in the defensive unit for Saturday’s game with Louisville.

The changes came after Shroyer saw films of the first game showing weaknesses in blocking by interior linemen.

To fill the large hole in the defensive line vacated by the 265-pound Jenkins, Shroyer will go with Chuck Koressel at middle guard, Koressel is a 191-pound junior.

The other defensive changes will have Gene Miller, a 206-pound senior, at right end and

This defensive unit was one of the main reasons for the opening victory over State College of Iowa. The Iowans netted only 28 yards on the ground and eight through the air in the game’s second half. Meanwhile, the Salukis came from behind.

But the Saluki offense picked up 168 yards rushing, which was higher than any single game total last year. Also, quarterback Hart connected on 10 of 18 passes for 119 yards and a Southern touchdown.

This starting lineup gives Shroyer eight sophomores and three seniors in the starting offensive unit and two sophomores, eight juniors and a senior in the defensive lineup.

Veterans Abound on Coed Gymnastics Team

Coaching gymnastics can't be all bad, especially when your team is eight pretty and talented coeds.

Coach Herb Vogel's senior women's team, composed of girls from four states and Canada, won the national collegiate championship in March in St. Louis.

This year Vogel has 18 new freshmen from eight states, each of whom will be trying to earn a starting spot on the team.

They won't have an easy time because everyone from last year's championship team is back and all bring back impressive credentials.

The big three all-around performers, Donna Schaezner, Gail Daley and Irene Haworth, accounted for many of the team's awards.

Miss Schaezner, last year's team captain, won the national collegiate all-around championship.

Miss Daley, one of the two Canadians on the team, won the Canadian AAU all-around championship in July for the fourth straight year and, in addition, won the United States Gymnastics Federation national all-around championship in April.

Miss Haworth, also from Canada, finished second to Miss Daley at the Canadian AAU championships and was the USGF uneven parallel bars champion.

Janis Dunham, another all-around performer, was the national collegiate balance beam champion.

Two other team members, Judy Wills and Nancy Smith, competed for the team while still in high school.

Miss Wills was the world's woman tumbling and trampolining champion and the USGF tumbling and trampoline champion.

Miss Smith, a trampoline specialist, finished third behind Miss Wills at the world's trampoline championship and second to her at the USGF championships.

Mary Ellen Toth and Judy Dunham round out the starting team of a year ago.

Miss Toth was sidelined most of the season with a broken leg, and Miss Dunham, a junior at Carbondale Community High School, saw limited action.

Although the team's first meet won't be until the intra-squad meet scheduled in November, the members have already started working out.

There will be at least four home meets this season, all scheduled for Friday nights.
