States delay use of anti-drug funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A year and a one-half after President Reagan signed a historic bill he tabbed a "major victory" in the war on drugs, local governments have spent only 42 percent of the $547 million aimed at curbing narcotics use, new federal data shows.

The "block grants" provided under the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of October 1986 were given to states, with no strings attached, to distribute to local governments for use in drug prevention, treatment and law enforcement.

But many states have only recently gotten around to disbursing the money because state and local officials have been locking horns for many months over the size and use of the grants.

"The most heralded drug legislation in the last decade has been a mess to administer," Mark Bencivengo, Philadelphia's drug and alcohol abuse chief, said in an interview.

The president signed the drug bill on Oct. 27, 1986, shortly before Election Day, amid intense national concerns about a crack epidemic highlighted by the cocaine-related deaths of basketball star Len Bias and pro football player Don Rogers.

Reagan, in signing it, said there must be "no sanctuary for the drug criminals who are pilfering human dignity and pandering despair."

But only $228 million of the fiscal 1987 grants have actually been spent, according to the latest figures from the three departments — Justice, Education and Health and Human Services — that administer the funds.

A two-month inquiry by United Press International has found that most of the remaining money has been awarded recently by the states. However, Charles P. Smith, the Justice Department's grant administrator, says he does not expect localities to spend it all until October 1990.

Several large cities have experienced unusually long funding delays. City officials, who argue that their problems are unusually complex and require special treatment, have been bogged down in protracted disputes with state agencies over spending priorities.

Teaching services aid area

Without state aid, many Southern Illinois teachers will not be able to take courses in the University's teaching service, Billy Dixon, chairman of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction, said.

Project TEACH, an exclusive service of the University, was created by Dixon four years ago. It offers five courses dealing with motivating students, coaching and classroom management among others, Dixon said.

Partial funding of the project comes from the Illinois Department of Education, he said. The school districts that teachers are from fund half the costs.

"If a school district can flip the bill and if we agree we can provide what the district needs in staff development, we're there," Dixon said. "There are no specific requirements that a district has to meet."

The project is coordinated through education agencies in the 34 southern counties of Illinois from Effingham to Cairo including the State Board of Education and education service centers in Marion and Olney, Dixon said.

The project is beginning to move into central Illinois, he said.

The project now is working with only 12 school districts, he

Safe water depleted after rains

DHAKA, Bangladesh (UPI) — Rains worsened the misery Monday of millions of people driven from their homes by the worst flood disaster in the history of Bangladesh, and officials said the most urgent task was the distribution of safe drinking water.

Surface transportation between Dhaka and the rest of Bangladesh remained virtually suspended as new areas in the southern parts of the capital were flooded, and panic buying sprees to secure dwindling food supplies were reported in several areas.

Unofficial estimates and news reports of the death toll rose to more than 1,200. The government put the number of fatalities at 444, but conceded the figure was probably too low.

Officials said water spread to cover more than three-fourths of the 55,590-square-mile nation with more than half of the population of 110 million affected by the disaster, and revised from 25 million to 28.5 million the number of people without homes and seeking shelter as best they could or in limited state-run camps.

Life for flood victims was made more miserable by daylong rains and more were forecast.

But there were no reports of new rains in the main river catchment areas in the Himalayan foothills in neighboring northeastern India, where monsoon downpours triggered the floods two weeks ago.

SIU-C offers free scholarship services

By Kathleen DeBo
Staff Writer

Scholarship search services can be helpful, but most require a fee for services the University offers free, Janet Finnerty of Student Work and Financial Assistance, said.

Every year the aid office receives calls from concerned families about whether they should purchase a scholarship search service, Finnerty said.

If a search service is desired, Finnerty recommends contacting a high school guidance counselor to see if other families have purchased the service or contacting the service directly and asking for names of customers.

Students should ask families that have used the service whether it was worth the investment. Finnerty said she has seen ads for the search services asking from $49.95 to $125 for scholarship information.

The office has a listing of more than 15 publications in Morris Library's reserve room that list scholarships, Finnerty said.

Some universities have scholarship information in their computer databases. That information is usually free, she said.

It is against office policy to post ads for scholarship search services, she said.

Feedback from many families has been that the money spent on scholarship search services would be better spent on college expenses, Finnerty said.

The services sometimes try to sell books. A lot of the books are expensive, Finnerty said.

"A student who needs financial aid won't be able to buy a $40 book," she said.

Blaze triggers shutdown at Lithuanian nuclear plant

MOSCOW (UPI) — A flash fire Monday at a controversial nuclear power station in Lithuania damaged cables used to control and monitor the Chernobyl-style reactor, triggering an automatic shutdown, a senior Soviet official said. The official, quoted by the Tass news agency, said there were no injuries and there was no radiation leak from the 5-year-old reactor at Ignalina.

Hurricane, tropical storms slam Pacific coast

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Torrential rains from a hurricane and tropical storms hitting the Caribbean and Pacific coasts simultaneously caused heavy flooding across Mexico, killing at least 48 people and leaving 100,000 homeless, officials said Monday. Hurricane Debby slammed into the Caribbean coast in the state of Veracruz during the weekend with 75 mph winds and moved into the mountains over central Mexico, where the storm lost its force but dumped large amounts of rain over wide areas.

Red Army terrorists head toward Olympics

PARIS (UPI) — Japanese Red Army terrorists have fanned out from the Middle East after training beside Palestinian commandos and already may be in South Korea for the Olympics, security officials report. At least three operatives of the Red Army, whose members number only about 30 but include some of the world's most ruthless terrorists, are believed to have made their way since last year toward Seoul, South Korea, traveling on Japanese passports stolen in Spain in 1986.

Iran: Iraqi rocket attacks violated cease-fire

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iran accused Iraq Monday of violating a U.N.-arranged cease-fire with weekend rocket attacks on border villages in northern Iran during its push to crush Kurdish rebels in the area. Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency quoted an Iranian military source who said Iraqi jets attacked Kurdish and Iranian villages in northern Iran over the weekend.

Probe of jet crash moves to Washington, D.C.

GRAPEVINE, Texas (UPI) — The National Transportation Safety Board Monday started moving its probe of the crash of Delta Flight 1141 back to Washington, D.C., though a number of investigators remained near the charred wreckage of the jetliner. The jetliner, carrying 108 people, crashed on takeoff Wednesday morning at D-FW, killing 13 people.

Duke attacks Bush on major tax cut for rich

DETROIT (UPI)—Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis, trying to regain the edge as he opened his final drive for the White House, attacked George Bush on the economy Monday and charged the Republican vice president wanted a major tax cut for the rich at the expense of the middle class.

Bush pledges to make new jobs a top priority

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Republican Vice President George Bush launched his final drive for the White House Monday with a Labor Day push through critical California, where he pledged to make new jobs his "singular purpose" and mocked Michael Dukakis's commitment to national defense. Before heading to Disneyland to participate in a flashy send-off for America's Olympic athletes, Bush promised to carry on the economic recovery begun by President Reagan, but "to do better."

Illinois, Texas tied in race for federal atom smasher

CHICAGO (UPI) — Texas and Illinois are running neck and neck in the race for the site of the federal government's $4.4 billion atom smasher, U.S. News and World Report magazine reported Monday. A total of 25 states started out in the contest to become the home for the Superconducting Super Collider, a proposed underground ring 53 miles in circumference.

Couple to be debated again

City's staff report, options on agenda for public hearing

By Richard Goldstein
Staff Writer

A show-down is looming tonight over the east-west couple as the City Council prepares to review a staff report that disagrees with citizen groups opposing the couple.

A public hearing on the couple will follow discussion of the report.

The couple would make Main Street one-way west-bound and Walnut Street one-way eastbound. To complete the couple, a street from the intersection of Brook Lane and Main Street to the intersection of Walnut Street and Oakland Avenue would be built.

The Central Carbondale Historic Area Association and the West Central Carbondale Neighborhood Association urged options to the couple proposition in a special City Council meeting Aug. 23.

The groups suggested a "northern connector" route that would skirt the northern edge of town, running from Giant City Black Top on the east and New Era Road on the West. They also suggested widening Main Street to let traffic flow more smoothly through town.

A report by Donald D. Monty, community development director, cites the Illinois Department of Transportation as opposing the connector route: "The route does not seem suitable for a state highway bypass," the report says.

The groups argued that a connector would allow the City to abandon the railroad relocation plan because of the decrease in traffic that would result if the connector were constructed.

Monty's report says the connector's construction would have a "negligible" effect on a decision whether to relocate the railroad.

"Even if the connector is constructed," the report claims, "something will have to be done with the large number of vehicles remaining on Walnut and Main streets as they cross the railroad."

Monty wrote that traffic levels will decrease on Brook Lane because it is now used as a short cut to avoid the corner of Main Street and Oakland Street. Monty said noise will increase on Brook Lane because Route 13 traffic will be moved closer to the street, but the number of vehicles passing directly in front of the homes on Brook Lane would decrease.

Monty disagreed with the citizen groups on the need for less traffic in the downtown area and a "pedestrian mall" concept.

He cited Danville, Rockford, Champaign, and Decatur as cities where pedestrian malls had been built and later removed because they denied "vehicular access to businesses."

Red Cross scheduling appointments for drive

The American Red Cross has established an appointment hotline for the upcoming blood drive.

The blood drive is scheduled from 10:30 to 4:30 Wednesday and Thursday in Student Center Ballroom D.

Appointments can be made by calling the Jackson County chapter of the Red Cross at 529-2151 or by calling Vivian Ugent, coordinator of Southern Illinois blood drives, at 457-5258. People with appointments will be given express service when donating, Ugent said.

Appointments also can be made at tables in the main area on the first floor of the Student Center.

FURTHER REASONS TO KICK YOUR INDECISION

Last week we made an appeal to the undecided voter to recognize that collective bargaining was in the interests of faculty and A/P staff, if not in the interests of the chancellor. "Very well," comes a frequent answer, "I think we need a change, a union probably, but I don't think I want to join the union, and I don't want to have to pay dues to a union in which I choose not to participate."

We regret that people do not want to get involved, but we want their support, nevertheless, in achieving collective bargaining. Therefore, the University Professionals makes the following pledge: WE WILL NOT SEEK TO NEGOTIATE AN AGENCY OR FAIR SHARE FEE IN THIS OR SUBSEQUENT CONTRACTS.

The Illinois Labor Relations Act provides for a negotiation of a "fair share" provision in labor contracts. What that means is that the employees and management can agree to the levying of a fee (something approaching but probably not equal to the regular membership dues) that all members of the bargaining unit must pay. The rationale for this fee is that all members of the unit, whether members of the bargaining union or not, are served by the union and receive the benefits of the union contract. For example, if the union, at its expense, did a comprehensive audit of the university budget and turned up information that led to increased benefits to employees, all would receive those benefits although only dues payers would have paid for that research.

"Fair Share" recognizes that the recipients of the benefits will bear the cost. However, we understand the reluctance of many to support collective bargaining if "fair share" (i.e., agency fee) may possibly be imposed.

Our position not to seek a fair share provision is one taken by the Illinois Federation of Teachers at EVERY OTHER university campus in Illinois--six of them--where bargaining is taking place. Our pledge is not made lightly. It is the same pledge made eleven years ago by the University Professionals of Illinois (UPI) (IFT/AFT) when they began bargaining for the faculties of Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois, Governor's State, Northeastern Illinois, and Chicago State Universities. (This year Sangamon State University has joined the list.)

Like UPI, we will become a majority union, i.e., with a membership of at least fifty percent of the unit. We believe that we can provide first-rate service with membership dues alone. Again, we repeat our pledge: NO AGENCY FEE.

In a day or two, you will be receiving in the mail a statement describing our policy on agency fee. Please save it for reference.

Finally, we hope that our articulation of this position will help persuade many of you to support collective bargaining. In time, when we earn your trust and commitment, as we are confident we will, you may decide to join as a participating member. We look forward to that time.

Sounding the depths of student ignorance

FROM RECENT studies of American children, the public has been getting small glimpses into the future, and it is frightening.

A study on the teaching methods of mathematics reported that students are lacking in the essential math skills. According to the study, almost half of the 17-year-olds tested were unable to solve math problems at the junior high school level.

Another study revealed that Americans ranked among the bottom third in a nine-nation survey on geographic knowledge. The study reported that 75 percent of the people tested were unable to locate the Persian Gulf and one-fourth failed to find the Pacific Ocean on a map.

NOW, WE discover from a study done in Washington, D.C., that 180 children between the ages of 8 and 12 could name 5.2 alcoholic beverages, but only 4.8 U.S. presidents. According to the report, an 11-year-old boy spelled Matilda Bay, King Cobra and Bud Light correctly, but listed two presidents as "Nickson" and "Rosselvet." Another 11-year old boy, who listed eight brands of beer and wine, thought there were 16 inches in a foot.

It doesn't take an intelligent person to notice that something disastrously wrong is happening to education in the United States.

THESE ARE the children that one day will run the nation, but can we trust leaders who do not know on which coast the Pacific Ocean borders? Do they even know where the United States is on a map?

A lot has been said about the sorry state of education in Illinois, but nothing is being done to alleviate the problem. Scientific studies, reports by education officials and postcards and demonstrations by students seem to fall on the deaf ears of legislators.

HOUSE SPEAKER Michael Madigan, who killed Gov. James Thompson's recent tax increase proposal that would have given SIU $18 million, claimed the people of Illinois did not want a tax increase.

Could it be that many of the students who participated in last June's postcard drive supporting the tax increase misspelled Madigan's name and a "Michael Maddigunn" in Springfield was besieged with postcards?

Or could it be that there was a lack of student participation at last April's Day of Action rally because many students could not find Springfield on a map?

WHATEVER THE reason, the failure of the tax increase proposal has meant that school administrators have had to raise tuition to meet educational costs. But this only makes education less accessible to many Americans. Students depending on loans and grants will find it harder to meet eligibility requirements as funding for grants and scholarships diminish.

When our leaders are setting a bad example by ignoring the problems of education, why should school children care where the Pacific Ocean is, or who the first president of the United States was?

Opinions from elsewhere

Slap warning labels on liquor

Scripps Howard News Service

WHEN THE federal government requires health warnings on products ranging from cigarettes to aspirin to saccharin, it's hard to justify leaving them off of alcoholic beverages. Indeed, a growing number in Congress think there is no justification at all.

Bills have been introduced in the Senate and House that would require warning labels be placed on containers of hard liquors, wine and beer. Two more diverse sponsors of the bills could hardly be found: white, conservative, Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, and black, liberal, Democratic Rep. John Conyers of Michigan.

WARNING LABELS would cost about one cent per container. Most reasonable people surely would agree that's a small price for preventing even one traffic death, saving even one person from cirrhosis, or keeping even one baby from suffering mental retardation.

Viewpoint

The bottom line of love in the '80s; tattoos a sign of lifelong commitment

EVERY SO often, a real-life love story comes along that really strums the heartstrings.

I've been avidly following one such story as it has unfolded in the gossip columns, People magazine and other lofty journals.

It's the romance between Brigitte Nielsen, a tall blond actress, and Mark Gastneau, a football player employed by the New York Jets.

The romance has been tempestuous. One day their publicists say it's on and they will soon marry. But before the newspaper ink is even dry, the romance is off and they will part with sad regrets. Currently it is on.

And there are obstacles, as any temper'ous romance requires. Such as the football player getting rid of his present wife, who is being stubborn.

But the most intriguing part of this love story — actually two parts — is how they affirmed their engagement.

AS A SYMBOL of their lifelong commitment, each had the other's name, within a heart, tattooed on their buttocks.

They decided on buttock tattoos, rather than the more mundane engagement ring, because a tattoo is permanent. You can always pawn a ring. But you can't pawn a buttock.

In trying to keep up with this romance, we called Joel Brokaw, who is Ms. Nielsen's publicist in New York. We asked if he had ever seen the tattoos.

"No, I don't get that personal," Mr. Brokaw said. "The sportswriters can go in the locker room and see Mr. Gastneau's. But I don't know my client, Ms. Nielsen, well enough."

A pity. It would be a fine professional perk.

Nor did the publicist know who applied the tattoos, and if the loving couple had them done simultaneously, possibly while holding hands.

"IT'S NOT an area I have any information on," he said.

So we called a few tattoo parlors to see if this sort of thing is common.

I was surprised to learn that it is. Especially among women.

Mike Royko

Tribune Media Services

Pete Collurafici, who owns the Tattoo Factory in Chicago, said: "In the last 10 years, I think I've done a couple of thousand buttocks."

Matching? For couples who are in love?

"The man usually has his on his arm. The woman gets hers on her buttocks. Maybe it's because women don't want anyone to see it."

Yes, modesty is a feminine virtue.

They decided on buttock tattoos, rather than the more mundane engagement ring, because a tattoo is permanent. You can always pawn a ring. But you can't pawn a buttock.

"Or," he said, "a woman gets it on a part of her body that she wants to draw attention to. Maybe she thinks she has a great a—."

And have the ones you've worked on been great a—es?

"Not all. Sometimes they have real big a—es. Of course, that's my personal opinion. Some guys might like real big a—es."

I WOULD think that would be helpful if one of them has a real long name. For example, if a lady wanted a heart and the words "I love Chester P. Gershenweiler Jr.," a bit of garth would be useful.

Another tattooist, Bob Oslen, of Custom Tattooing in Chicago, has also decorated many a bottom. But he described an even more unusual symbol of love.

"I had a couple of punkers come in. She wanted a tattoo of his teeth marks on her arm. So he bit on her forearm really hard. The impression stayed there for quite a while, and I outlined the teeth marks in red ink."

An interesting social insight was made by a Hollywood tattooist.

While tattoos are popular among southern Californians, they seldom leave names put on their bodies.

"We have a lot of people who want a heart or a flower in a private spot, but not names," said Greg James of the Sunset Strip Tattoo Studio.

"WOULD YOU want someone's name tattooed on you? Of course not. Just because they love somebody, people don't want a name branded to them."

This attitude could mean that Californians aren't into lifetime commitments the way others are. And maybe that's wise. If, for example, Mark and Brigitte break up for good, perish the thought, how will she explain her tattoo to someone she might meet in the future? She can't just say: "Oh, Mark was just a friend."

A solution was suggested by Greg Lamont, who runs the Lake Geneva (Wis.) Tattooing Co.

"I had a couple come in. She had his name on her shoulder blade. And he had her name on his back."

"BUT THEN they got into divorce proceedings. They asked me to tattoo the word 'void' through each one's name."

"When I finished with her, she turned to him and said: 'Now I'm really through with you, you S.O.B.'"

So I suppose that's something Brigitte and Mark could consider, if they ever part for good, heaven forbid.

And if some other fellow asks Brigitte: "I hate to get personal, but why do you have the word 'void' on your bottom?" she can say:

"Oh, my bank did it."

said. Participants are charged a delivery fee for the courses. A three-hour course average of $235 pays for books and learning resources as well as the instructor's salary.

The project offers one one-hour course, one two-hour course and three three-hour courses. The courses are taught by 43 to 47 percent practicing teachers, not University faculty. Instruction takes place at night in the district's schools, Dixon said. "Participants do receive University credit for these courses, and can apply six hours to a graduate degree," Dixon said. Enrollment in the program slipped last year because of a lack of state funding to grade schools for such projects, he said.

Success of the project depends upon state aid, Dixon said. "Some teachers need the assistance from the state to be able to take these courses," Dixon said.

Funding for such projects is not likely, he said. Davidson said he would like to see the state "put its money where its mouth is."

DRUGS, from Page 1

For example: ■ Los Angeles, trying to cope with youth gangs involved in drug-trafficking and deadly turf wars, has been able to spend only $200,000 of $1.3 million in enforcement funds, according to city data.

■ New York, trying to fight increasingly active Colombian cocaine cartels, has spent only $700,000 of its $4 million in enforcement funds, city data shows.

■ Philadelphia had no treatment funds available until March. The result, in one case, was that an overcrowded treatment program for pregnant, drug-addicted women had to postpone patients' care for weeks or even months.

Dianne Regan, a supervisor at this program in Philadelphia's Thomas Jefferson University Hospital, said the facility had to turn away Pamela C., an unmarried 27-year-old cocaine addict who was 30 weeks pregnant, for two months because it did not have staff members available to treat her.

"She was very frantic and very depressed," Regan said. "Pregnant women need treatment instantly because they're so impulsive. I was afraid she wouldn't return."

Regan said Pamela C. finally received treatment and gave birth to a healthy baby last March. But Regan said treatment delays for other pregnant women have jeopardized the health of their fetuses and infants.

Under the new law, $1.7 billion was appropriated for the nation's first comprehensive effort to fight drug use. In addition to the $547 million for no-strings grants to states, funds were provided for overseas drug eradication, interdiction and research.

The program's provision for block grants reflected a conservative victory in a long-standing ideological dispute over use of federal funds. Many Republicans argued for years that federal aid disbursed directly to cities overlooked state priorities and represented a trend toward centralized government by Washington bureaucrats.

Despite the president's air of urgency in signing the bill, some congressmen have said the administration has contributed to the delays by failing to monitor the program once federal grants were disbursed. They argued that many state-local conflicts could have been eased with closer federal oversight.

"The program has been frustrated by an administration that does not truly believe in the package it signed into law," said Chairman Charles Rangel, D-N.Y.

For mile after mile, water lay like a moving carpet on the flat delta land, rushing swiftly south towards the Bay of Bengal over nearly invisible fields, roads, embankments, through villages and towns, across railway lines and river banks.

People apparently fearing the theft of their meager possessions were seen standing outside their homes in chest-deep water or sitting in row boats or on banana tree rafts on which they also cook and sleep.

Others clustered on the remains of embankments, bridges, train tracks and raised roads beside their livestock and ramshackle shelters of plastic, corrugated iron or bamboo, while more travelled from sanctuary to sanctuary on boats and rafts.

Silent telephone wires, powerless electricity lines, towers and domes of empty mosques and swaths of broad-leaved trees poked above the surging waters.

Officials reported a slight fall in water levels north of Dhaka due to reductions in two of the three main rivers — the Brahmaputra and Ganges — but said the Meghna and its tributaries continued to rise after taking in rain water from upstream in India, threatening to worsen areas south of Dhaka.

The Bangladesh Jute Association said the jute crop, the country's main export earner, had been nearly destroyed by the floods and predicted a world shortage of the rope-making material. Bangladesh exports about $500 million in jute, accounting for about 80 percent of the world's quality jute.

Road traffic had virtually come to a standstill. The railway between the capital and the rest of Bangladesh remained off since Sunday night following the collapse of a second bridge over the river Turag, and railway officials said it would take some time before the link could be restored.

Officials in Dhaka said the most serious problem was to provide potable water to the affected areas, where drinking waters systems have been contaminated and wells flooded.

Health Secretary Takimur Rahman said the tainted supplies were causing increases in diarrhea cases, with at least 92,000 people now being treated for the ailment. He put fatalities from the illness at 73.

Homesickness help offered

Feeling homesick is real and normal, psychologist says

By Chris Labyk
Of The Wellness Center

Leaving home for the first time or relocating to a new place with unfamiliar faces can stir up emotions of fear, excitement and loneliness — homesickness.

A junior in psychology remembers feeling excited about embarking on his journey of independence, but also remembers feeling overwhelmed by the responsibility that goes along with new-found freedom. Decisions had to be made — "Should I study or party tonight?" Carolyn, in University Studies, described homesickness as "feeling all knotted up, often teary-eyed, and big phis bills."

To Your Health

Lisa, misses the security of knowing that someone would be there for her should something go wrong.

Feeling homesick is real, normal, and nothing to be ashamed of, Elwyn Zimmerman, senior counseling psychologist at the Counseling Center, said.

Zimmerman describes homesickness as having aspects of depression and loneliness that everyone feels. It is temporary and usually is most strong 2 to 3 weeks after arriving in a new place.

"We often become panic-stricken feeling our support system not as available," Zimmerman said.

Zimmerman recommends students throw themselves into whatever they are doing. Don't be afraid to talk to a friend or roommate about your feelings.

People are scattered all over campus to help. If you are a freshman signed up with the Maximizing Academic Growth in College program, call your MAGIC friend. The Early Warning System has faculty and staff volunteers who contact students who may be experiencing problems.

To Your Health is produced in conjunction with the Wellness Center.

59-year-old man duplicates Lewis and Clark expedition

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A 59-year-old Illinois carpenter who said he wanted to experience the historic journey of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, Monday completed a 2,450-mile, 68-day canoe trip down the Missouri River.

"It just gives you a real small idea of what they went through," said Carroll Lanahan, of Troy, Ill., who pulled into St. Louis at 11 a.m. "You can read a book and visualize what they went through, but when you get out there and go through the easy parts, you admire the raw guts they had."

Lanahan, and Gene Moss of Boss, Mo., began the trip June 30 on the Madison River near Norris, Mont., about 35 miles south of the headwaters of the Missouri River at Three Forks, Mont.

A problem at home forced Moss to give up the trip at Omaha, Neb. Lanahan went alone until he reached Hermann, Mo., where a friend, Tom Wallace, joined him for the rest of the trip.

Makin' it great!

Keaton plays different role

"Clean and Sober" character serious alcoholic, addict

By Kathleen DeBo
Staff Writer

"Clean and Sober" presents Michael Keaton with a different kind of role — a serious one. Keaton, better known for lovable screwball characters like "Mr. Mom," plays an alcoholic and drug addict who embezzled $50,000 from his employers.

Keaton's character, Daryl Poynter, is not a very sympathetic character at first. He looks like death warmed over. He tells his mother to mortegage her house because he needs the money.

When a woman dies in his bed, he checks himself into a chemical dependency hospital to avoid the police. The film revolves around his interactions with the other patients and his attempt to find quick solutions to his problems.

One of the patients is a woman named Charlie who does drugs with her abusive boyfriend. Daryl is attracted to Charlie and tries to convince her to move in with him, but she is torn between him and her old boyfriend.

The most realistic scenes deal with the group therapy sessions. Couples yell at each other. People tell tired jokes. Daryl tries to deny to himself that he has a problem. He thinks he is just there to avoid the police.

Daryl meets a recovering addict named Richard who cuts through his game-playing and makes him slowly realize he cannot deceive others or himself about his drug problems.

Toward the end of the film, he admits he has a problem with drugs. He starts to get his life together. All his problems are not over, though. He is still $50,000 in debt and does not have a job.

The film also stars Kathy Baker, Morgan Freeman and M. Emmet Walsh.

Journalism professor recognized

By Beth Clavin
Entertainment Editor

A roast Thursday in Woody Hall honored 32 years of University service by journalism faculty member George C. Brown.

Brown, who is retiring, was honored by past and present colleagues who told stories about their experiences with him.

Among the amusing stories were Brown's tennis game and his involvement with Gus Boce. Another colleague dubbed him "the best reporter on campus" because of his frequent visits to other University departments.

After enduring the humorous stories, Brown had "nothing to say" when it came his turn to speak.

Brown served as director of the School of Journalism, assistant dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts and director of the University's Honors Opportunities, in which he headed the University-wide honors program.

He also worked to change the Daily Egyptian from a weekly to a daily newspaper. He was its business manager from 1961 to 1965.

Brown said he enjoyed all his positions at the University, but he especially liked teaching.

"You have to be a little bit of a ham to do it," Brown said. "...it's better if you know what you're talking about."

Strikers may stall travelers

CHICAGO (UPI) — An estimated 41,000 area commuters could be stranded for at least two workdays when the cooling off period between Chicago & Northwestern Transportation Co. and its union expires on Sept. 9, it was reported Monday.

Sixteen months of contract talks between C&NW and the United Transportation Union broke down on Aug. 4 and a strike was called.

The two sides, however, agreed to maintain rush hour service and gave Congress time to extend the cooling off period that had initially been ordered by President Reagan earlier in the summer. The extension expires on Friday.

Sen. Paul Simon and Rep. Terry Bruce, both Illinois Democrats, are preparing legislation to mandate a settlement in the dispute between C&NW and the United Transportation Union, Simon announced last week.

However, Crain's Chicago Business reported Monday, that unless the Illinois Democrats can move a bill on Friday, it would be at least Tuesday, Sept. 13, before the bill can be passed.

CN&W officials have refused to comment on the status of negotiations over its plan to eliminate 1,150 brakemen jobs.

In most cases, the railroad would be cutting its four-man freight crews in half — a move the railroad says is warranted due to advances in technology.

Craft fair organizers expect a large crowd

The 12th annual Cedarhurst Craft Fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 10 and 11 at the Mitchell Museum, Mt. Vernon.

Fair officials are expecting a record attendance of more than 40,000 this year.

Over 150 craftsmen from throughout the nation will sell crafts at the fair. Food booths from 17 local civic organizations, crafts demonstrations and continuous entertainment also will be featured. Cash awards ranging from $100 to $1,000 will be awarded based on quality, medium or subject matter. Edward H. Shay, professor of art at SIU-C, will judge the various crafts and determine who receives these awards.

Children can participate in make buttons, paper masks, and puppets in the Children's Creative Area. Children also can enjoy face painting and poster art.

Ag professor still puzzled over fumes

The cause of the fumes that made a big stink in the Agriculture Building on Aug. 26 is still unsolved, Bob Arthur, assistant professor in the College of Agriculture, said.

"We have no idea what it was," Arthur said. It is assumed that someone poured a chemical down a drain or urinal, which caused fumes to drift into the north wing hallway.

Arthur said that he's not sure if an investigation will take place.

He said that now people will be more aware of this kind of thing happening again. "This has never happened before in my eleven years here," Arthur said.

Lisa Cummins

Former player makes jump to coaching

By Lisa Warns
Staff Writer

Lisa Cummins, a 24-year old SIU-C volleyball alumnus, now has a different view of the volleyball.

Cummins, a former GTE Academic All-American, now coaches high school volleyball for Belleville Althoff, which played in the championship finals of the Southern Illinois Volleyball Preview Tournament Saturday in Davies Gym.

Belleville West defeated Althoff 15-10, 17-15 in the final.

The next day, Cummins was back on the court, not as a high school coach, but as a player in SIU-C's annual alumnae match.

Cummins, who was setter on SIU-C's team said, "You have to stay healthy, avoid injuries and have leadership qualities (to be a good setter)."

"College volleyball is much more intense and the practices are harder," Cummins said. "I see the other side of the game though, as a coach."

Althoff has very high academic standards, which goes along with Cummins' philosophy that stresses an academic first attitude.

chances are we can win the war."

The Saluki offensive line needs to come up with a reputation right now, Sherrill said. "Eastern's is built on finesse, Indiana State's is just strong," he said.

"If we had a reputation last season it would be inconsistency, and we want to get rid of that. We will get a lot more physical as the year goes on. I think we realized on Saturday just how physical we can be."

His 5-yard run with 3:36 left in the fourth quarter made the score 17-13.

Coin toss will decide volleyball team's starters

By Lisa Warns
and Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The volleyball team's starting lineup for Tuesday's match against Murray State will be determined by a coin flip.

Before the 7 p.m. match at Davies Gymnasium, a coin flip by the official determines which team serves first. Should the Salukis gain the first serve, sophomore Margaret Conney will start at middle blocker.

But if Murray State gets the ball, sophomore Amy Johnson will be in that position.

Cochs Debbie Hunter said each player has different strengths, and beginning the match on offense or defense makes a difference.

"Amy has the backcourt ability which will help the passing game," Hunter said.

"Margaret puts up a huge block. She is also starting to serve better."

Other starters for the Salukis are Nina Brackins and Beth Winsett at middle blocker, Lori Simpson and Teri Noble at outside hitter and Sue Sinclair at setter.

"We have to keep our players challenged about consistency and transition," Hunter said. "We have to get back into our offense quicker."

Murray State, which has not played the Salukis since a loss in 1986, was 14-18 and third in the Ohio Valley Conference last season. Oscar Segovia is the team's second-year coach. "He exudes enthusiasm for the sport," Hunter said. "He works hard for the program. We'll be playing an enthusiastic team."

Top starters for Murray State will be Kim Koehler, who had 436 digs and 46 aces last season, and Jill McCoy, who had 29 block assists.

Other starters will be Kim Anslinger, Connie Ballard, Lea Ann Allen and Jodi Price.

Offensive line is biggest in Gateway

'Inconsistent' label doesn't sit well with team's linemen

If bigger means better, then the Salukis' offensive line is set for a great year. As far as words go, bigger may be an understatement.

A comparison of the starting five linemen's average size shows the Salukis at 273.2 pounds, the largest in the Gateway.

Their lead is not a large one though. Eastern Illinois boasts a line average of 273 pounds.

Following Eastern are Western Illinois at 263 pounds, Northern Iowa at 261.8 pounds, Illinois State at 261 pounds, Southwest Missouri at 257.4 pounds and Indiana State at 254.2 pounds.

The starting offensive linemen for the Salukis are:

Junior Bob Grammer, a 6-3, 270-pound center.

Senior Pete Jansons, a 6-7, 300-pound right guard.

Senior Rob Mason, a 6-3, 264-pound right tackle.

Offensive line coach Rod Sherrill, who is in his eighth year on the Saluki staff, said as far as linemen go, bigger does not necessarily mean better.

"If you have a kid who can move his feet and explode off the ball it's better than a kid who can't move his feet well," he said.

Asked if the Salukis line can move well, Sherrill said they have some work to do. "We're not as mobile as we should or could be, but that is partly because we are inexperienced with the new offense," he said.

Sherrill said with the "wishbone" offense, the linemen's stance changes. They now take a step forward and attack the defense, unlike last year's veer offense, where the linemen stayed back to defend the oncoming assault.

Sherrill said a big part to being a good offensive lineman is being able to adjust.

"The first thing we don't want is to get into a situation where we're foaming at the mouth and can't make adjustments," Sherrill said. "We want to be very physical but able to adjust on each play."

One thing the offensive line must look for is the set-up by the defense, Sherrill said. "The running play might be the same, but we may have to block two or three different guys," he said.

Sherrill said the offensive line is a good indicator of overall success. "The offensive line is a pretty good barometer on how the team will do," he said. "If they win the battle up front then

Gibson named top conference player

Saluki sophomore quarterback Fred Gibson was named the Gateway Conference Offensive Player of the Week Monday by Gateway officials.

Defensive Player of the Week honors went to Western Illinois' Armie Gasbarro, a junior linebacker who had 14 tackles against the Salukis Saturday.

Gibson said he didn't know anything about winning the award until he was approached by a cameraman from WFSD Channel 6.

"He asked me how I felt about winning the award and my mouth dropped open," Gibson said. "I wish they would have given it to (Western quarterback) Paul Singer and we would have gotten the win."

"I'm also surprised that I got it when we didn't win, but I'm still honored," he said.

Head coach Rick Rhoades said it was great that Gibson received the honor, but that wouldn't have been his first pick. "My choice would have been one of our defensive linemen," Rhoades said. "Fred did play a reasonably good game though."

Gibson connected on nine of 18 passes for 93 yards in Saturday's season opening loss to Western Illinois, 17-13.

Although he did not have a passing touchdown, Gibson ran for both of the Salukis' scores. He had a 71-yard run with 11:22 left in the third quarter to then cut Western's lead to 10-7.
