Dance Closes Successful MRH Open Houses, Awards Given

Amid the surroundings of a circus bigtop the students of the Men's Residence Halls climaxed their weekend open house activities Saturday night by dancing to the music of London Branch's orchestra at Anthony Hall.

Colorful posters of carnival characters, trapeze bars, crane paper strung from above and the presence of an imitation Colosseum helped to provide in-the-mood atmosphere. The informal dance lasted from 9:30-12 p. m.

Jack Buckle, head resident of the men's residence halls, capped the evening's array of entertainment by presenting trophies, plaques and other awards to various house winners.

Best single room — room 611 (Sleepy Hollow) to Wilbert Stever.

Best house — barracks 2 (Scout-lehut Hut).

The Robert Bare Memorial Award for superior scholarship in Barracks 4 was presented to Don Beiler who maintained a high 4.02 grade point average for the fall quarter of 1955.

Three athletic trophies were also given by the Men's Residence Council to those champions for participation in fall and winter intramural sports.

Barracks 2 (Scout-lehut Hut) sept top honors for the corksball championship, barracks 5 (Southern) while the corksball trophy went to Barracks 9 (Taj, Mahal).

Head resident Buckle, speaking before some 300 students and their dates, resident fellows, chaperones and faculty and staff members, thanked everyone who contributed to the success of the open house.

Buckle remarked that he was especially pleased with the way that the Illinois Avenue halls "chipped in" and greatly added to the open house success. Formerly titled "Miller's Dorm," the two-story dormitory structure was purchased by the university last fall. James Burgevine is resident counselor at the hall.

Dr. J. M. John LeVet, SIU tennis coach and wife, and Buckle served as chaperones for the evening.

Prior to the dance, public and university viewers visited the Anthony Hall and Illinois Avenue living quarters. The doors were thrown open for public inspection at Dowdell Halls a day before.

Chautauqua Co-ops Friday night.

Best triple room — Section 4, room 1, to Bill Barrett, Bill Joyce, and Gelan Dalou and Wendell Robinson.

Best double room unit 3, room 4, to Dick Armistead and Gene Bridwell.

Plaque honors for the best room at Anthony Hall went to Abd Dagoo and Ali Shukair of room 30.

Best receivers at Chautauqua Co-op for the best apartment were Bob Clayton, Bob Lugen, V. M. Koeh, Jim Winters, Jack Murphy, and Bob Robard — April 11.

Winners at Dowdell Halls included:

Woman's Day Will Honor State Mother Of Year

The presentation of Illinois' "Mother of the Year," awarding of a scholarship, and an address by Frayn Utley will highlight the third annual "Women's Day" April 26, at SIU.

Addie Carroll, 78 year old mother from Greenville, will be presented with a gift during the day. She is the mother of eight children and step-mother of five others.

She will be presented to southern Illinois women by Mrs. A. E. Seymour, state chairman of the Ill. Mothers Association of American Mothers Committee Inc. She was selected by this group for the award and will represent Illinois in the national contest.

Geraldine Pittman, a junior English major, will be presented with a $100 scholarship by SIU Dean of Women Mildred Schroeder. This is the first time that a scholarship has been awarded. It is hoped that it can be an annual event of "Day" by the SIU Women's Club, sponsor.

Mrs. Utley, one of Illinois' most respected community service leaders and well-known radio personality will address the women of southern Illinois on "Human Relations as a World Force."

Mrs. Utley has been cited by the National Conference of Christian and Jews for putting meaning into the title "public servant."

Frayn Utley, a radio commentator for station WJAZ in Chicago, organized the first house-to-house canvass in Chicago to raise money for the Community Fund. Her address is 230 in the University School Auditorium.

Sexy Apache Dancer To Be At Convocation

Who's the sexy Apache dancer from Paris?... Mademoiselle, vivante! at charm and holder of the missing link to the "Red Garters"... Find out at the Freshman Convocation Thursday when she makes her first appearance... and supplies the secret of the garters.

No one will tell who she is. All that is known is that she is a Woody Haller, a freshman and from Central Illinois. She will be wearing a split black skirt, a snug sweater and sandals to fit the theme for Franch-Apache dancer. She will be making other appearances throughout April for an unknown special purpose.

SIU Places 5th In Bridge Tournament

The SIU East-West team of Charles Helley and Tom Schwan finished fifth in the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament conducted by mail last week.

Over 17,000 students from more than 60 colleges and universities participated in the tourney.

Helley and McIlhose won 8 out of 9 games, a score which won the local event and gave them second in the region in addition to the national prize.

The North-South team of George Evansoff and Tom Schwan won the regional tournament in that division. They won 5 of 9 games.

All the winners will receive certificates.

'Love And Marriage' Noted Author To Speak At Panhellenic Clinic

The author of "Men, Women, and Morals" and "Marriage Is What You Make It" will be the featured speaker during the Panhellenic clinic "Love and Marriage" clinic April 28-May 1.

Dr. Sylvanus Davul, author of these and three other books, will speak twice during the clinic. The topic of Dr. Davul's lectures will be "Dating Through Engagement."

Davul currently is professor of religion and social sciences at George Williams College in Chicago. He is also the personal family consultant for the Bryn Mawr Community Church in Chicago.

The final session of the marriage clinic will be held in the Library auditorium where Mrs. Edith Elles, of the Edith St. Sh. of the University of Illinois in Carbondale, will discuss and demonstrate four different types of weddings. The Irene Florist Shop of Carbondale will assist with arrangements.

The purpose of the marriage clinic," said Lee Wilson, chairman of the clinic, "is to help students who are planning marriage in the near future. It will give them a chance to discuss problems which they may have."

The chairman also said that Panhellenic hopes to make the clinic an annual event.

40 Students Attend Wesleyan Retreat

A heavy rain quenched the campfires but failed to dampen the spirit of the more than 40 students attending the Wesleyan Foundation's Spiritual Life Retreat last weekend.

Students from Illinois College, MacMurray College, McKendree College, Southeastern Missouri State Teachers College, Central Junior College, Blackburn College, Shurtleff College, Belleville Junior College, and Greenville College met with SIU Wesleyan Foundation students at Giant City.

The weekend program was made up of discussions, worship services, recreation, private meditation, sermons, and songfests. The Rev. Mr. Boyd Wagner, assistant pastor at a First Methodist Church in Centralia, was the main speaker.

The students enjoyed fair weather until about 7 p. m. Saturday evening when a heavy rain started that continued throughout the remainder of the evening.

Three dollars covered the cost of room rent and meals. The students slept in barracks-type dormitories.

Student Union Board Plans Coming Activities

The first breath of spring gave the Student Union Board an excuse to move outside for their regular monthly meeting.

Greggating on the steps of the Student Union, the group voted to take a number of social functions during the Social Senate beginning next year. The Student Union will sponsor the fall registration dance and all of the Christmas Week functions except the semifinal dance. The Social Senate will continue to sponsor the Christmas dance.

Plans were also made for the annual awards banquet for Student Union Council members which will be held this year on May 25 in the Giant City State Park lodge.

The board invited Mrs. Irene Piensall, social director of the Illinois Union at the University of Illinois, to speak at the banquet. A dance will follow the banquet.

Special activities for the Hospitality Weekend this Friday, Saturday, were scheduled by the group. A mixer from 8:11-30 p. m. Friday in the Student Union will be open to both visitors and SIU students, as will a coke dance from 1-3 p. m. Saturday. A band is being secured for the dance which will be held in the Union.

Dentist, Pan American People Attend President's Tea

Dentists from the Southern Illinois Dental Society met and participants of the Pan American Festival attended a reception at Thursday afternoon at President Morris's home. Approximately 50 persons from the two groups were there.

Guests of honor at the reception were Professor Antonio de la Torre of the University of Oklahoma, and Dr. Mrs. Stuart Anderson, former residents of Peru. The Andersons are from Eastern Illinois State College at Charleston.

Dr. Vera Passoch, chairman of the foreign language department, and Mrs. Joseph R. Baxter poured under some of their former students.

Gus Bode Says—

The Briley Murphy case starts one of the SIU faculty members. They wonder if next time they might have to start all over again under some of their former students.

Representation in Question Reaching Critical Point

By Bill Marik

It is do or die for equal representation in the fall election. That is providing one of three methods due to appear on the May 15 ballot fails to receive two-thirds of the vote required for amending the constitution.

If none of the three proposals selected at Thursday's Student Council meeting captures this majority, the plan enquiring the most votes will refer to the student body for the needed two-thirds plurality in the fall election.

A defeat at the polls will then finish the problem of how to elect Student Council members. The present system would continue to operate.

Dr. David T. Kenney, faculty adviser, believes proportional representation, one of the plans chosen, will stimulate voting and give groups representation in proportion to their vote.

"Proportional representation would work in this manner," he said, "for example, say the council should contain a certain number of the (20). Each living group would put up a slate of candidates. At the polls people from these groups would be given ballots with their nominees listed. They would then vote for their candidates."

"Then in totaling the votes if say the Men's Residence Hall got 10% of all votes they would be entitled to two places on the council."

Also included as possible choice is the plan for arbitrarily assigning seats based on the percentage of the enrollment making a living group represents. If this plan were adopted voting would be unnecessary. Each group simply chooses their own delegate to the Student Council.

Rounding out the proposals is the present one by which anyone can be a candidate for the Student Council who has an overall three-point average and a petition signed by 50 of his or her classmates.

Earlier in the meeting discussion centered around whether the council should present only one method for ratification in the May 15 election.

This met with immediate disapproval. The small turnout at last year's election convinced the members to schedule the fall election for a final vote on the one method surviving the spring election. More people have voted in 1955-54 than in any past years, the autumn elections in past years, the autumn elections in past years, the autumn elections in past years.

An addition to the by-laws occupied the major portion of the time remaining at the two-hour meeting. Dick Cole, sophomore Council member, reworded his plan of last week to have officers on the Student Council stay on for four meetings after their term expires. He indicated to Reynolds that there are several points concerning this issue about which the council does not know.

Another topic to receive attention at the picnic will be what the Student Council can do for SIU. Joe Konial, president of the VTI Student Council, will be invited to address the picnic.

Dr. Douglas E. Lawson, chairman of the education department, notified the council that he had accepted their bid to be the Honors Day speaker.

Dr. Lawson's acceptance of the Honors Day speaker will spread fraternity was approved by the council.

JSA Elects New Officers, Await J-Day

New officers were elected at the Journalism Students Association meeting Wednesday night in the Typographic lab.

The new officers are Larry Quirk, president; Gary Hepp, vice president; and Joyce Brinkley, secretary-treasurer. Quirk presided over the meeting and the committees were appointed for the coming J-Day activities to be held April 19.

The six different committees that were appointed were the stunt, favors, ticket, host and sponsor, dance decoration, and spring dinner and banquet.

On the stunt committee were Wayne Raguse, Si Surowski, Bob Cox and George Bliss. The favors committee was composed of Peggy Morgan, Lise Balzer, Myra Edelmans and Mary Choy. Quirk and Heppie Decker are serving on the ticket committee.

The Host and Hostess at the J-Day banquet will be Charles Biedler and Myra Edelmans. Seven students were appointed to look into the matter of holding a three day banquet.

A committee for the Spring Festival was also appointed. Members include Quirk, Balzer, Sloan and Decker.

A contest was also held for the best designer. Male students at the meeting made dresses of newsprint and the girls modeled them. The winners were George Bliss and Myra Edelmans. Two free tickets were presented the winners for the banquet.

All students present at the meeting were given tickets to sell for the banquet. The tickets are selling for $2.

Audio-Visual Staff Attends State Meeting

Several members from the audio-visual department will attend the Illinois Audio-Visual Association annual meeting at Allerton Park in Monticello, Thursday through Saturday.

Donald A. Inglis, director; Paul R. Wendt, associate professor; and Gordon K. Butts, instructor, are attending the Midwest Economic Engineering design of automation. It will concern the design of audio-visual equipment of the persons who use the equipment.

Over 60 directors, coordinators and teachers in the audio-visual field in Illinois will attend the meeting.

The SIU chapter of Pi Kappa Delta compiled the best composite record at the society's provincial tournament held at William Jewell College Thursday-Saturday.

The SIU women's debate team composed of Joan Selemant and Dorothy Beck was the meet's only undefeated team in the women's division by amassing a record of six victories and no defeats. Schools who fell at the hands of the SIU women were Southeast Missouri, Central College of Iowa, Northern Illinois State Teachers, Drury College and two teams from the host Illinois: Illinois Normal and Southeast Missouri finished in a tie for second place with 4-2 records.

The SIU men's team finished in a three-way tie for third place in their division. The team composed of Richard Riecke and Joe Selman posted wins over Drury College, Drake University, Iowa Central, Northwest Missouri and Simpson College of Iowa. Their only loss came at the hands of Culver Stockton of Missouri.

SIU's composite record of 11 wins and one loss is the best record ever compiled in Pi Kappa Delta competition since SIU became a member in 1942.

The SIU women were also outstanding in individual events in the tournament. Joan Selemant was the only woman to receive a superior rating in extemporaneous speaking. Dorothy Beck received one of the three superior certificates in original oratory.

The provincial tournament included Pi Kappa Delta chapters in Illinois, Missouri and Iowa.

The season's final debate will be April 21 at the University of Illinois. SIU will be represented by Sam Foster, Eugene Knox, Marsha Wieldin, and Robert Holm.

Kitchen Gets Grant To Visit Guatemala

Dr. James D. Kitchen, assistant professor of sociology, will spend the six weeks between the summer and fall terms in Guatemala. He was in Guatemala during 1955-54. He received a grant from the Doherty Foundation.

His study is being made possible by a grant from the Graduate Council. He was in Guatemala during 1955-54. He received a grant from the Doherty Foundation.

Although his primary interest is Guatemala's municipal politics, Kitchen stated that he is very much interested in the new constitution that went into effect there recently.

Representation

Still in the foreground and receding much consideration are the methods of representation for choosing members of the Student Council.

The question has been hashed and rehashed, trying to find a suitable system. The present system is still under consideration along with proposals for new systems.

The present Student Council, in trying to throw light on the subject, held an open forum on the issue which was greatly attended by about 30 people. Some of these were faculty members.

Perhaps the fault lies in that students don't know what the Student Council is. It is the governing body of the students which keeps on the look out for problems which arise. It controls groups which are allowed on campus. It helps determine University policy to a certain extent. In short, it is for the benefit of and represents the students. (This is a mighty brief definition.)

The question which is now up is how to choose the members of this council which represents the entire student body. Some say that the students don't get representation under the present system. Then they are confronted with the fact that not all of the students seem to give a damn whether they are represented or not. This is called apathy.

The few who do seem interested — are they interested because they are the student body's interests at heart — or are they interested in putting themselves into more powerful positions on campus?

Most of them, I believe, have the students' interests at heart. But these are still few in number. The majority of students aren't even aware of the trouble being gone to by the present Student Council.

Therefore, I see nothing wrong with the present system which allows people interested in the Council and its functions to run for membership and be elected by students who will get out and vote.

Now, any student can file a petition for having his or her name placed on the ballot. This petition must be signed by 50 classmates.

This places the name on the ballot and the students elect their choice in an all-school election.

The other systems offered also have some good points which should be considered. They will be discussed in coming issues of the Egyptian.

Any comments?

Faculty Exercises Wednesday Nights

Men faculty and staff members now take full advantage of the Men's Faculty Recreation program being offered on Wednesday nights throughout the spring quarter. Games begin at 7 p. m. in the University School gymnasium.

"This recreation period is a real asset for all faculty members who don't get enough physical activity in their everyday routine," said Dr. William Heuser, assistant professor of physical education, who is in charge of the program.

Basketball, badminton, volleyball, ping pong and paddle tennis are some of the sports offered. Heuser added.

"There is no instruction offered the men," Heuser said. "It's just an informal get-together group for men of all ages which fills the need for exercise."

Heuser mentioned that he hopes to start a "challenge tournament" later on in the spring term. It would be a round-robin type of tournament that would match members of various campus academic departments against each other in various sports.

"We would like to get as many men as possible interested in the program," Heuser stated.

History Meet Starts April 27

A history and social science workshop for teachers or for people who are planning to be teachers will be held Friday, April 27, at 7 p. m. in the auditorium of the University Library.

The theme of the program is "The Present Crisis in Human Affairs." It will deal with current history and will present local historical material for the teachers.

Dr. William A. Pitkin, associate professor of history, will be in charge of the program. Dr. Pitkin will present the four speakers.

William F. Price, a Chicago attorney, will open the speeches with a talk on the "Proper Role of Political History." He will be followed by Craig Alan, a graduate student in history, who will make a talk on the "Spiritual Factor as the Key."

A speech on "The Sins of War and Peace" will be given by Robert G. Russell, a teacher at Depp III. John A. Ziegler, winner of the Rotare prize to St. Lawrence, will finish the program with a talk on "Our Collective Security Policy in Action."

A new course will be offered by the history department this summer dealing with current history.

Negative Aspects Caused Inca Downfall, Says De La Torre

"It has been a trying period for the Inca Indian since the Spaniards' conquest of his land," said Antonio de la Torre, a native of Peru.

Torre, professor of foreign languages at the University of Oklahoma, spoke to the freshman convocation as part of Pan American Week on "The Peruvian Indian: His Inca Heritage and Present Culture."

De la Torre said the Peruvian Indian has both a negative and a positive aspect and to understand this you must go back into his history beginning in the 15th century.

His positive aspect he explained as their incentive for work and the negative aspect as their attitude of "everything for the community" or a collectivistic attitude leaving them with no initiative for themselves.

The Incas' downfall, he said, was caused by their negative aspect. "When the Spaniards captured the Inca emperor, the people were like, as you Americans say, 'chickens with their heads cut off' because they had lost their source of leadership."

"At the end of the 15th century the Inca Empire covered all of Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and a part of Chile, Argentina and Colombia. These countries were the fruit of the center of effort. Their ten million population centered around the capital, Cuzco, the cultural center of the empire."

"People think them stupid," he said. "They may act lazy and stupid when they work for someone else with no pay but when they are working for their own community, they are just the opposite. To be more realistic, they are the only Indians who haven't been exterminated. They were kept because they were such good farmers and builders."

The Inca Indian who was in a high degree of civilization before he was conquered, De la Torre said, had his religion "hand in glove" with his architecture.

The Inca Religion

"They believed man was created by the sun and the moon and in order to populate the world they gave him a wife," he said. "The man they called 'Manco Capac' and the woman 'Mama Ocllo.' They worshipped many things among which were the moon, sun and stars. This is where architecture comes in. They built magnificent temples to worship their gods."

Geology Class Learns Of Coal Processing In Area Mine Visit

When you throw a lump of coal into the furnace, do you realize all the processes that it had to go through before it reached your coal bin?

If five geology majors didn't realize it before, they do now. They are members of the Coal and Oil class, Geology 435, taught by Dr. Stanley E. Harris, acting chairman of the department. They, along with Dr. Harris, visited the coal washing plant at the Trust-Trier coal mine three miles southwest of Ellettsville Wednesday, April 11. They also visited the chemistry laboratory there to observe how coal is sampled to determine its best heat value and the amount of ash it contains.

Number six coal comes from underground mines and number five coal is stripped from surface plants, Dr. Harris said.

"The coal then goes through a complex series of sorting processes," he stated. "It goes over screens and is sorted and then washed to take out the shale and pyrite (sulphur). It is then further sorted and some of it is crushed and sorted again. Then it is dumped directly into the coal cars from the belt."

AFROTC Program Becoming More Selective — Fleming

The quota or number of men accepted for advance AFROTC training is determined in the fall. The number accepted is determined by the number of applicants.

The class of 1952-53 will graduate this year, and its representative of the "advanced" number of men who go through the AFROTC program, according to M. Sgt. John W. Fleming, instructor in air science.

In 1952 some 600 freshmen began their requirements in AFROTC. At the end of their sophomore year, only 300, or one-half of the original group remained. Those who had dropped out represent those who had to leave college for one reason or another.

50 Applicants
Of the 300 who succeeded in completing the sophomore level of AFROTC, 150 did not apply, and the other 150 did apply for advanced work.

Of the 150 who applied, 50 passed the requirements and were accepted. Selection is made by a combination of physical fitness, aptitude and interest, and academic progress.

As a final phase, those men who have passed all the physical examinations, including academic standing, go before a board. The board is composed of a group of officers who spend 15-20 minutes before each applicant in a personal interview.

Students know of their passing or failing after any one of the phases a short time after they complete the requirements.

Pi Omega Pi Pledges 10 Business Students
Almost, but not quite one hundred. That's how many will soon belong to SIU's chapter of Pi Omega Pi, an honorary business-education fraternity.

The last initiation, on Jan. 19, brought the total for the fraternity up to 89. Ten more prospects will be pledged Thursday and initiated May 3.

Pi Omega Pi has been on SIU's campus for about 25 years, according to Dr. Hays C. Hale, faculty sponsor of the fraternity. There are 75 chapters throughout the country. At present there are 12 active members at SIU.

Pledging will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Baracks C-2. The initiation on May 3, also in the baracks, will be followed by a dinner at Engel's.

Editors Of Troy, Bloomington Newspapers To Highlight J-Day

Even a turtle can't get anywhere until it sticks its neck out. That's exactly what Paul Simon did and today he has a seat in the State Legislature. Simon, who will be the main speaker at the annual Journalism Day banquet Thursday in the University Cafeteria, is the editor of the Troy Tribune, a weekly newspaper.

He became nationally known six years ago when he stuck his neck out and ran a series of articles on the vice and gambling in Troy. Although he had threats made on his life, he continued to print his stories and a cleanup was made in the city. When he ran for the State Legislature two years ago, he won by an overwhelming majority.

The strange thing about Simon, it is that he was only 20 years old when he made the clean-up. Being 26 now, he is one of the youngest men in the Legislature.

Simon's talk will highlight a day of journalism activities. At the 10 a. m. Freshman Convocation, H. Clay Tate will speak. Tate, editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph, will also visit classes and talk with the journalism students individually. At 6:30 p. m. the banquet will be held in the cafeteria and President Delvay W. Morris will present the Elijah P. Lovejoy award to Tate.

The president of the Student Council, Clyde Reynolds, will present trophies to the retiring Egyptian and Obelisk editors. Dr. Robert Faneer, professor of English, will receive the Egyptian Service Award for the professor who has done the most for the student at SIU. Simon's talk will then highlight the program.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Here
"Frontiers Behind the Forehead" is the title of a lecture to be given by Peter Viereck in Woody Hall formal lounge tonight at 8 p. m. Viereck, a Pulitzer prize-winning poet, is considered one of the most promising young poets today, according to Daniel J. Schneider, instructor in English who is handling the arrangements for the lecture in cooperation with Dr. Paul Hunsinger, associate professor of speech.

Viereck was born in New York in 1916 and graduated from Harvard University in 1937, where he received the Garrison medal for the best verse and the Bowdoin medal for the best prose upon graduation.

After graduation from Harvard he studied at Oxford University in England and then returned to Harvard for his Ph. D. During World War II Viereck served with the psychological warfare branch of the U. S. Army in Africa and Italy. After the war he taught at Harvard and Smith College, and then joined the staff at Mount Holyoke College in 1948.

His first book of poetry, "Terrors and Decorum," won the Pulitzer prize in 1949. His other books of poetry are "Strike Through The Mask," published in 1950, and "First Morning" published in 1952. His prose books included "Metaphysics from Romanticism to Hitler" and "Conservation Revisited: The Revolt Against Revolt." In the latter book Viereck defends the conservative society that wishes to conserve the values of the past.

40 Attend SCF 'Masquerade Of Magic'
Forty students attended the "Masquerade of Magic," Student Christian Foundation banquet, last Friday night in the basement of the First Christian Church.

On the judging contest, are the nomination of officers and the making of final plans for a picnic which will be held at the Home Economics Club on Friday.

What are these objects doing in the office? According to R. Ralph Bedwell, director, some of them are brought in because their production costs are too high and they cannot meet the market competition.

"If you can't sell an item," Bedwell said, "there is not much point in making them. Sometimes the engineers on our staff may be able to re-design the items for lower production costs."

This is one service which the Small Business Institute offers to businessmen and manufacturers of southern Illinois, Bedwell stated. Another service is testing a newly-designed product to see if it will sell.

"Many times when someone develops an idea for a new product," he said, "he doesn't know whether it will sell or how much he should sell it for. This calls for a certain amount of research which might consist of testing it on the local market or going to St. Louis or Chicago to test it."

Staff members of the institute do quite a bit of traveling for local businessmen, Bedwell said. "We go to St. Louis quite often to secure loans and markets for them," he observed. "We also do a lot of speaking to business associations."

The institute also carries on research to determine the cause of

Young chemical engineer works on new ways to make silicones
Silicones are a new class of man-made chemicals with very unusual properties. Made from sand, they assume the form of rubber, grease, oil and resin. Under extremes of heat and cold, the rubber stays rubbery, the oil oily. Silicones added to fabrics make them exceptionally water-repellent. Silicone makes waxes spread easier... paints almost impervious to weather.
One of the men responsible for finding new ways to produce silicone products is 26-year-old Frank V. Summers.
Summers' Work Interesting, Important
As process engineer of the Silicone Products Department, Frank Summers first compares the results of small-scale, pilot-plant experiments with the production methods in actual use. Then, using his own knowledge of chemical-engineering principles, he designs faster, more efficient and more economical methods of producing silicone products. Frank Summers' excellent training, diversified experience and outstanding personal qualifications make him a valuable contributor to this engineering team.

Normal Takes Twin-Bill From Salukis, 5-2, 6-4

The Saluki baseball team traveled to Bloomington Saturday and dropped a doubleheader to the Normal Redbirds, 5-2, and 6-4.

For the Salukis, it was the second and third losses of the season against one victory, and gave them an 0-2 record in the I-IAC.

In the first game, Southern did all its scoring in the first inning. Ray Tabacchi flied out to start the frame, Roger Wells doubled, and Wayne Williams' single brought him in for the first run of the game. Neely Vogel then hit a grounder, and Williams was out on a fielder's choice. Vogel stole second, and Roger Buyan drew a walk. Charles Schiebel then got a base-on-balls to bring in Vogel, ending Southern's scoring for the game.

Ronnie Ayers worked the full game for the Salukis, allowing eight hits, giving up seven bases on balls, and striking out three. Miller was the winning pitcher for the Redbirds, although he allowed one more hit than did Ayers.

In the second game, the Salukis still came out on the short end, 6-4.

Tom Arwell started for Southern, but was relieved after 1 1/3 innings in favor of Marvin Myers. Myers allowed one hit, but issued three walks and gave up two runs in 1-3 inning. He was relieved by Gordon Latzer, who tossed the rest of the game, which went only seven innings. Lambert allowed two hits, five walks, a n d two runs, both unearned. Arwell gave up two hits and two walks while Normal was scoring two runs.

Southern scored once in the first, once in the fifth, and twice in the sixth. Normal did most of their damage in the second inning, scoring five of their runs in that frame. Two errors by the Salukis aided Normal's cause, for they scored only four earned runs.

Volleyball Starts

Competition among women teams in the volleyball house tourney gets underway tonight in the women's gymnasium at 6 p.m., and will last until around 9:15 p.m.

Ray Tabacchi, Saluki captain, gets set to take a swing in a practice session. The tobacco-chewin' infielder was the most valuable player for the Salukis last year.

Intramurals

By Charles Schlepfer
Fourteen teams clashed against each other last week in the initial week of the volleyball tournament which is sponsored by the Intramural Office.

Monday, April 8
Anthony Hall's "Angels" registered the tourney's first double win by defeating the House of Southern Comfort, two games to none. Barracks 8 by-passed the 2 Saints in the best of two out of three games in the second set. (North Court)

The Wat-Knoss fell at the hands of the Hawks Net, two games to one. Later, the Doyle Deacons whitewashed the Bungalows, 2-0 (South Court)

Tuesday, April 10
Sig Tau Gamma "A" began rolling with two straight wins over Sigma Pi "A" (North Court)

Thursday, April 12
Theta Xi's "B" club took the "rubber game" from Kappa Alpha Psi, 2-1. (North Court)

Sigma Pi "A" evened their league record at 2-1 by dropping Sig Tau Gamma "B" two straight. (South Court)

Vernon Sprehe, co-record holder for the 100-yard dash, crouches as he prepares to take a practice sprint. Sprehe pulled a leg muscle in the meet with Western last week.

Sportsman's Show Starts Thursday
Outdoor fishing, hunting and camping materials will be displayed before the public's eye next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Carbonada Armory.

Firms from Carbonada, Murphysboro, Marion, St. Louis and other towns and cities will also include in their stock fishing tackle, types of boats and fishing tackle.

The three-day program, the first of its kind in the Carbonada area, is sponsored by the Physical Education Majors Club of SIU. Ed Johnson, a senior from Carbonada, is president of the organization.

Eastern, Indiana On Tap For Netsters

After absorbing its first loss of the season, the SIU tennis team tries for its third victory this week, when Eastern is scheduled to host the Salukis on Friday.

Southern opened the season with an 8-1 victory over Albion College, and followed with a 7-2 win over Missouri School of Mines. They lost a close match with Bradley here last Friday, 5-4.

Next Saturday, the Salukis travel to Indiana University to meet the Hoosiers in one of the season's highlights.

Currently leading the tennis parade are Omar Winter, Jim Jarrett, Jack Norman, Jerry Gruen, Jim Shanklin, and Don McEaven.

Horseback Riding Begins Saturday

Anyone for horseback riding? Students who are interested in the sport can apply their own techniques Saturday, April 21, at 9 a.m.

Public hours for inspection of the sporting goods are from 7-10 p.m., Thursday and Friday, and from 2:30 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday night.

Grade and High School students will be admitted free to the exhibition while college students will pay 25 cents. Adults will be charged 50 cents.

Injury-Plagued Tracksters Meet Rolla Saturday

With injuries sidelining seven of its top performers, the SIU track squad faces a rebuilding job before clashing with Missouri School of Mines here next Saturday.

Out for the season is hurdler Warren Wilkinson, who received two broken bones in his wrist in a meet with Western Illinois. Coach Leland P. (Doc) Lingle said it was the first bone fracture on the track squad in several years.

Cold and damp weather has caused a rash of muscle injuries.

Three of those sidelined, Sammie DeNeal, Vernon Sprehe, and James Alexander, are holders of all time SIU records.

Alexander, a hurdler and holder of the SIU broad jump record, is

Jack Norman, No. 2 singles man for the SIU tennis team, goes low for a drive. Norman is one of Coach Dick Lefevre's top players this year.

Sports In Spurts

By Bill Eggstheimer
Egyptian Sports Editor
SIU staff members, Alden Hall of the Registrar's office, and Frank Dusek, an auditor, had a little trouble with a bird while fishing at Little Grassy recently.

They anchored their boat in a cove and unlimbered for action. When Hall made his first cast, a large hootowl swooped out of the blue and plucked away with the bait. The bird was reeled in, disentangled and released. Settling on a limb overhead, the owl watched balefully while Dusek cast. As soon as the lure hit the water, the owl struck again. Dusek reeled him in again and untagged bird and bait. After returning to the limb and kibitzing painfully, the owl finally took off. He was last seen headed inland.

More than 150 SIU athletes and coaches attended a "Beaubus" at Giant City Park last Sunday. The coaches, who sponsored the event, met a student's softball team in the big attraction of the afternoon.

Jerry Oettle and Phil Smith have been elected co-captains of the 1957 SIU gymnastics team. Oettle also was selected the most valuable member of this year's team. Bob Day was re-elected bothered by a pulled muscle and could not compete in Southern's opening meet. DeNeal, captain and holder of the 440-yard dash record, and Sprehe, co-holder of the 100-yard dash mark, also have pulled muscles.

Sprehe's injury came midway in SIU's opening track meet against Western Illinois and may have cost SIU the victory. The score was tied 63-63, going into the final event—the mile relay.
