973 to Get Academic Degrees Tonight

Cosmetologists Get Diplomas, Dinner Tonight

Certificates will be presented tonight to 15 persons who have completed their third summer in the annual School of Advanced Cosmetology at SIU.

A graduation dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom, with a graduation ceremony at 8 p.m. in the same location.

Glenn E. Wills, supervisor of adult education, will present the certificates. In addition, certificates for first and second-year students will be presented by Victor H. Honey, supervisor of adult education.

This year, 21 persons are in the first-year group, 12 in the second, 15 in the third, and 17 are postgraduates.

The program includes an invocation by the Rev. R.W. Hallett, and introductions by Charles Budas, chairman of the Committee on Policy and Curriculum.

Helen Humphrey is valedictorian and Lois Cold, salutatorian. The graduating class president is Lena Bailey; Leroy Jasinski is president of the second-year class, and Georgia Unthank of the first-year class.

The speaker for the ceremony will be Ursula Monheim, president of the Illinois Cosmetologists and Hairdressers Association. She is also a member of the executive board of the national association.

Campus to Return To 8-to-5 Hours

Summer office hours will be switched on Monday for the remainder of the summer session, according to John E. Grinnell, vice president for operations.

Since there are now 7:30 a.m. classes scheduled after today, University office hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Gus is told by his friend among the African students that the weeds in the campus woods are far taller than anything they have seen in the jungles of their continent.

IN A HURRY — Larry Henry, a senior from Mt. Vernon, just couldn't wait to try on his cap. He tried it for size after picking it up at the bookstore Thursday. He's one of some 973 candidates for degrees who will take part in tonight's commencement ceremonies.

Bridge Table Outgrown

Southern Graduated Tiny Foursome in 1876; Tonight More Than 900 Will Get Degrees

SIU's first graduates could have been assembled around a bridge table, or as a foursome of golfers.

The date was June 15, 1876. The first graduates of what is now Southern Illinois University numbered four.

In contrast, more than 900 candidates for graduation were listed for tonight's summer commencement; last June, over 1,600 were graduated from SIU.

Many of the records of those earliest graduations are in the custody of Max W. Turner, University archivist.

On the Sunday before the first graduation in 1876, a Dr. Allen presented a sermon. The archives contain a speech of several pages; Turner believes that this speech is an introduction for a longer oration.

Manuscripts of speeches delivered on other occasions include one of 74 pages, and another of 113 pages.

In 1877 four persons were graduated from what is now SIU; a year later, 13, but in 1879 back to four again. In 1880, 10 were graduated.

Turner believes that the small number of graduates was a result of dropouts. A person could teach elementary school with an eighth-grade diploma, and students left the "Normal School" to accept teaching positions.

In the early days of what is now SIU, the graduates received certificates and diplomas, but not degrees. The function of the institution was similar to that of a high school.

In 1909, Lillian Teeter of Carbondale received a B. Ed. degree.

However, the bachelor's program seemed to have been neglected until 1920. Herman Greer completed the two-year course in 1917 and then joined the Army; he returned in 1920 and spoke to President Shryock about starting a program for a third year of study.

Shryock agreed, if Greer could interest a sufficient number of students. After a considerable amount of effort, Greer was able to interest six students in the plan.

SIU Trustees Meet Here at 9:30 a.m.

SIU's Board of Trustees' regular monthly meeting is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. today on campus.

Among the items on today's agenda are possible changes in the Civil Service employe payrolls; faculty appointments; and proposals to eliminate fees and to waive fees and tuition.

The Board also will hear reports on possible sources of financing for the Edwardsville campus University Center.

Traditional Rites to Honor 26 Ph. D.'s, 362 Masters

For over 900 persons, tonight is a ceremony of recognition of academic achievement.

Amid pomp and circumstance, they will participate in the commencement exercises of the summer of 1964 at SIU. The graduation rites will have all the traditional elements: The academic procession, the invocation, commencement address, conferring of diploma covers, and recessional.

In the space of about two hours, the academic work of terms and years will be recognized: Bachelor's, master's, and the doctorate, as examples.

"Edward My Son," starring Spencer Tracy, Deborah Kerr and Ian Hunter, will be featured in Cinema Classics at 8:30 tonight at Browne Auditorium.

The disintegration of his marriage is followed by ironic tragedy when his son is killed in the war.

The preliminaries will include the formation of the academic procession in the vicinity of the Gymnasium, US-51, and Harwood Avenue, and a concert by the Summer Band at 7:20 p.m. The graduates will form on the walkway between Parkinson and Morris Library.

After the faculty has assembled, it will proceed in four files into McAndrew Stadium through its north center gate. The processional will then move to the center of the field to assigned areas.

At the end of the processional, all participants will remain standing until after the invocation by the Rev. Edward L. Hoffmann, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Carbondale.

The commencement speaker will be Ralph A. Micken, chairman of the SIU Speech Department. His selection was in the University tradition of naming an outstanding faculty member as summer graduation speaker.

His subject will be, "What Comes of Trained Intelligence?"

Micken received his bachelor's degree at Rocky Mountain College in Montana, his master's at Montana State, and his doctorate in speech at Northwestern University.

He has taught at Montana School of Mines, Montana State, Iowa State, and Illinois State Normal University. Micken came to SIU in 1957.

He is the author of many articles in professional journals, and his memberships include the American Forensics Association, the Speech Association of America, and the Public School Teachers of Adult Education.

He has also been a speech counselor for a life insurance company.

Graduates of both Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses will participate in tonight's exercises. The number of degree applications totaled 973 and included 26 for doctoral degrees, 362 for mas-

Counselor Aides Trained Here To Wage War Against Poverty

By Leonor Wall

Project Cause is a catchy name for a new government-sponsored project known officially as Counselor Aide-University-Summer Education.

Robert E. Lee, project director, is in charge of a nine-week crash orientation program on campus this summer. About 95 future counselor aides are receiving instruction.

The program began here July 20 and will continue to Sept. 18. Lee said the program can only give the trainees an appreciation of the conditions they will encounter because there is not enough time for an extensive program.

The trainees will spend six weeks in Carbondale studying, attending lectures and discussion groups. They will go to St. Louis for the remaining three weeks working in various industries.

Their curriculum will focus primarily on basic counselor training, supplemented with courses in the economics of the labor market, the culture of poverty, employment service operations, job counseling of disadvantaged youth, job development and job placement techniques.

Project Cause is connected with President Johnson's anti-poverty program and, when the poverty bill passes Congress, the program will go into full operation. In fact, "35 centers for counselors are in the planning stage to be ready by fall or near the large cities of the United States," Lee said.

To qualify as a counselor aide, one must be a college graduate in counseling, psychology, sociology, education, social work or related fields in addition to possessing specific personal traits, a brochure indicates.

There are also youth advisers who must have a high school diploma and perhaps even some, if not all, work leading to a college degree. These advisers "contact the disadvantaged youths, primarily on street corners or in pool halls and bring them into the counseling centers where they are able to talk with a counselor aide," Lee said.

The counselor aide then talks to the youths. The initiative of the youths plays a significant role in the rehabilitation process. The youths are tested, and potentialities, aptitudes and interests are noted. The counselors work with the youths to help them gain motivation, confidence and the capabilities needed to get jobs that will rescue them from the poverty trap, Lee pointed out.

The program is an attempt to help youths who seem never to have been given a chance. "Youths who have come from minority groups, broken homes, even those who have been rejected from the draft and who desperately need a job to feel that they are good for something, are to be given attention," Lee noted.

Cause counselors want to instill ambition into the youths. They want the youths to become responsible for their own behavior and to become useful citizens.

The goal is to get the youths exposed to other ways of life from what they are accustomed to and to show them how to escape the environments they live in.

Ideally, the counselors are to be aware of all referral agencies who deal with youths, Health and social services can be called upon to help. Referrals may be made for further schooling or job training.

All of these aims may be accomplished through Youth Opportunity Centers available in depressed neighborhoods in the large cities. Mobile teams serve in the less densely populated areas.

The plans and hopes of Project Cause seem to rest on the passage of the anti-poverty bill.

Using Car Causes Junior's Probation

Edward M. Crocken Jr., 21, a junior from East St. Louis, has been placed on disciplinary probation through the fall term by the Office of Student Affairs.

An office spokesman said Crocken was arrested July 11 and fined $100 plus $5 costs the next day in Circuit Court after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Crocken was suspended in April, 1963, after an incident involving excessive use of alcohol, the office said, and the current difficulty involved unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Art Students Honor Watkins, Stewart With Farewell Today

Students and faculty of the Art and Art Education Departments plan a farewell event for Ben P. Watkins and William R. Stewart.

The get-together will be held in the Ohio and Illinois Rooms of the University Center, from 9:30 a.m. until 11:00 a.m. today.

The two art faculty members will move to new campuses and begin new duties in the fall.

Watkins came to the SIU campus in 1946 as an assistant professor. Since 1959 he has taught art history and been acting curator of the University Galleries. For a short time he was acting chairman of the Art Department. Consecutively, Watkins has been on the Art Department staff longer than any other member. His new position is at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston, Illinois.

Stewart, assistant professor of Art Education, came to SIU in 1961. He holds positions as president of the Illinois Art Education Association and staff editor of School Arts Magazine. Stewart will assume his new duties on the campus of Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Illinois.

Some 50 persons are expected at today's gathering. Doughnuts and coffee will be served.

'A Taste of Honey' to Open At Proscenium One Tonight

Proscenium One's third summer production, "A Taste of Honey," opens at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

The play will also be performed Saturday and Sunday nights. Subsequent performances will be on the following two weekends, on Aug. 14-16 and 21-23.

Shelagh Delaney's "A Taste of Honey" was first performed in London during the 1958-59 season. The decision of Lord Chamberlain to soften the restrictions placed upon the public presentation of drama in the British Isles allowed the play with its strong undercurrent of homosexuality to be presented. Miss Delaney evaded censorship by not mentioning the subject explicitly.

Miss Delaney's environment is a slum in Lancashire. She presents working-class life in all its rawness and squalor and vigor. Her most successful character is a young man of feminine qualities who displays extraordinary tenderness in encouraging a girl to look forward to the birth of her illegitimate child. Needless to say, he is not the father.

The author's strength here is that she treats this youth as if he were part of the normal order of nature, not as a freak or a warning or a pioneer. The result is extremely moving and generous-hearted.

Curtain time for each performance is 8:30 p.m. All seats are reserved. Reservations can be made at the 409 South Illinois box office or by phoning 9-2913.

U.S. Bombers Sent to Saigon; Crisis Enters Crucial Hours

SAIGON, Viet Nam -- About 30 U.S. Air Force B57 jet bombers, capable of carrying nuclear weapons when fitted for combat, Thursday joined American and South Vietnamese forces standing watch to meet any attack from the Communist North.

The fleet of high-flying, twin-engine Canberras sped to Saigon unheralded while a steady shuttle of transport planes completed overnight a

Eight U.S. Planes Downed, Say Reds

TOKYO -- Radio Hanoi claimed Friday that North Viet Nam shot down eight attacking U.S. planes Wednesday and damaged three others.

The broadcast contrasted sharply with U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's statement that two U.S. planes were shot down and a third damaged during the strikes at North Vietnamese torpedo-boat bases.

Radio Hanoi, monitored in Tokyo, said the latest claim was made in a communique issued by the high command of North Viet Nam Thursday. Radio Hanoi also identified the U. S. airman taken prisoner by North Viet Nam as Lt. (j.g.) Everett Alvarez Jr. The Defense Department in Washington said Alvarez is from San Jose, Calif.

buildup of troops and material in the area adjoining the North Vietnamese frontier.

But U.S. officials reported Thursday night there were casualties as the jet armada moved into the country under cover of darkness. They said four bombers crashed at or in the vicinity of Bien Hoa Airport, 15 miles north of Saigon, and that two pilots probably were killed.

Air traffic came to a virtual halt Thursday. The general feeling in Saigon was that, if nothing important happened in the next 24 hours, the Gulf of Tonkin crisis probably would be past.

The alert status in South Viet Nam's capital was nowhere near what it would be if an attack were considered imminent.

There was no public announcement of the arrival of the B57s but they were seen by a correspondent on a run-

House to Act Today Upon Resolution Backing President

WASHINGTON--House and Senate committees quickly approved Thursday a resolution backing President Johnson's military actions in Southeast Asia.

Leaders scheduled it for Senate action later in the day and for House action today.

There was one vote against the resolution in a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., cast it.

In the House Foreign Affairs Committee, two Republicans reportedly voted "present," but no one voted against. Twenty-nine members approved it.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Earle C. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, appeared first at the joint meeting of the Senate committees.

way apron occupied Wednesday by six supersonic F102 Delta Dagger fighters from Okinawa. The F102s were gone, perhaps to augment defensive aerial forces at Da Nang, a base on the South China Sea 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman discounted two Saigon rumors, which also lacked confirmation elsewhere.

One was a story that Ho Chi Minh, president of North Viet Nam, had been replaced by a pro-Peking subordinate in the North Vietnamese Communist party.

The other was that two squadrons of Soviet-made MIG fighters had been flown into North Viet Nam.

The spokesman said he "had nothing to back up" the rumor about Ho Chi Minh.

He said he had no information about MIGs.

The spokesman said a United States note protesting North Vietnamese torpedo boat attacks Sunday and Tuesday against U.S. 7th Fleet ships has not yet been delivered.

Fighter-Bombers Move to Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand--The United States has ordered two squadrons of fighter aircraft into Thailand in connection with the Tonkin Gulf crisis, a U.S. Embassy spokesman announced Thursday.

"The movement of these units has been undertaken as a precautionary measure after full consultations with the royal Thai government and with its approval," the spokesman said.

The spokesman declined to say how many aircraft were involved, where they came from and where they would be stationed in Thailand.

Other sources said the squadrons consisted of F100 and F105 fighter-bombers.

Security Council May Invite Both Viets to Join in Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. --Diplomats predicted Thursday the U.N. Security Council would invite both North and South Viet Nam to take part in debate on North Vietnamese attacks on American warships and U.S. retaliation.

Council President Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway suspended debate so he could sound out delegates to the 11-nation body on the proposal to hear representatives of the two Vietnamese governments. Nielsen said he believed he could convene the council again today to report results.

If the Communist North and pro-Western South both send spokesmen, it will probably produce a heated debate on the roles the United States, North Viet Nam and Red China play in South Viet Nam's war.

Comedian Dick Gregory Says He Helped FBI Find Bodies

JACKSON, Miss.--Federal and state authorities intensified their investigations Thursday into the slaying of the three civil rights workers whose bodies were unearthed after an exhaustive 44-day search.

Rumors that arrests were imminent were heard from one end of the state to the other. But the FBI would neither confirm nor deny the reports.

In Honolulu, Negro comedian Dick Gregory said he had relayed to the FBI three weeks ago a letter which told where to find the bodies.

Gregory also said he had given the FBI a tape recording containing names of the killers.

In Washington, the White House reportedly was told that the three-page typewritten letter, as well as tape recordings Gregory said he received, were worthless.

Sources close to the FBI described the letter-writer as a 39-year-old former psychiatric patient in Washington who had gleaned his information from material already published.

The letter reportedly made no mention of the dam where the bodies were dug up.

The three bodies were found two days ago in an earthen watershed embankment in a remote area near Philadelphia, Miss.

Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white New Yorkers, were positively identified, the FBI said. The third body was tentatively identified as James Chaney, 22, the Meridian Negro who had accompanied Goodman and Schwerner on a trip to Philadelphia from Meridian on June 21.

Gregory had offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the "finding of the bodies, the arrest and prosecution of the killers," shortly after the trio vanished.

He did not name the source of the letter he said he turned over to the FBI. He exhibited what he said was a copy of it at a press conference in Honolulu--where he is appearing in a night club.

Goldwater Confers With Eisenhower

GETTYSBURG, Pa.--Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater spent two hours with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Thursday and reported him "very enthusiastic and... very anxious to get going" on the presidential campaign trail.

The Arizona senator and his vice-presidential running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, met at Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm with the former president and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Goldwater told reporters at Gettysburg's small airport as he headed back to Washington that they had discussed "general, broad campaign strategy and suggestions...."

"He's very enthusiastic and he's very anxious to get going," Goldwater said.

Winning Wasn't His Aim

Ronald Eaglin Places Top In Campus Tennis Tourney

Ronald G. Eaglin, assistant supervisor of group housing and adviser to the Interfraternity Council, won the first intramural tennis tournament of the summer term.

Only eight men participated in the first tournament. Eaglin expressed some of his ideas about making such tournaments more worthwhile to SIU students.

"In order to have a successful tennis tournament," Eaglin said, "you need to have the physical facilities, the actual planning of the tournament and the correct attitude of the individuals who plan to enter."

"I believe we had enough planning behind the tournament and I know we had the physical facilities," he said. But the attitude of the student body left something to be desired.

"Many students refused to participate in the tournament because they didn't feel they had a good chance to win," he added.

The purpose of intramurals, Eaglin believes, is to offer an individual a chance to participate in a sport he enjoys playing.

Eaglin is currently residing in Woody Hall with his wife and young son where he is a resident counselor.
