General Telephone Co. Unions Continue Working Without Contract

The General Telephone Co. of Illinois and its union employees may be working "on a day-to-day basis" if contract terms are not agreed upon by Wednesday, according to a company spokesman.

The three-year contract between the union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and General Telephone ended on Nov. 7. A 30-day "grace" period for negotiations will end Wednesday. Negotiations are being conducted between company officers and representatives for all local unions affected in the state.

James Evans of General Telephone's public relations division said a federal mediator asked the two parties to continue working on their present plans until local union chapter meetings can be held. Evans said both parties agreed not to take any further action until local meetings are held and representatives of the union and General Telephone officers can hold at least one more meeting.

Evans said it is hoped that meetings of all the locals can be concluded before the deadline Wednesday. The parties have been meeting since early October and have held meetings, Evans said.

Sue Freeberg Elected Queen Of Yule Fete

Susan Freeberg will reign over remaining Season of Holidays festivities through Thursday.

Miss Freeberg, a sophomore from Carbondale majoring in special education, was crowned Miss Season of Holidays Saturday night in the University Center Ballroom.

She topped seven other candidates in the campus election Friday. Miss Freeberg was sponsored by Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Remaining events in the Season of Holidays celebration include the Madrigal Singers, who will carol in the Roman Room of the University Center beginning 5:30 p.m. today. At 7 p.m. students are invited to a caroling party which will begin at the Center.

Term Paper Ends In Blazing Finale

A student's end-of-term efforts were hampered Monday when his term paper and textbooks were destroyed in a fire at College View dormitory.

The fire, which was confined to one room in the dormitory, started in a mattress, according to Don Hicks, resident counselor.

Damage was slight and no one was injured, Hicks said.

A spokesman for the Morris Library here said the student would not have to pay for the damaged library books if he brought in the charred remains as evidence.

It is not known what can be done about the lost term paper.

Computer Will Soon Automate Faculty-Staff Payroll Methods

The faculty and staff payroll office will be performed by computer, the central payroll office has announced.

"We are attempting, via the computer, to keep an up-to-date monthly budget," Blaney said.

The computers will also make it practical to build a more complete history of employees, Blaney said, with such information as veteran status and academic ranks and degrees.

"We are now involved in collecting this data from the over 3,000 employees on the faculty and staff payroll," he said, "and the changeover will probably not take place until after Jan. 1." The computers will necessitate some procedural changes in processing the payroll, according to Blaney. But the change will not affect the pay schedule of most employees, he added.

"Some employees may be affected, but just which ones these will be, we aren't certain yet," Blaney said.

Draft Deferral, Good Grades

Head List of Yule Requests

By Lloyd Pletsch

"And what would you like for Christmas, little SIU students?"

"Well Santa, I could sure use a five point if you could swing it."

Good grades seem to head the list of things that students would like to receive this year. This seems to be a good indication of the anxiety that always grows as finals draw near, closely followed by Christmas vacation.

After this bit of wishful thinking on the part of the students, most of them found a few other things to add in their letters to Santa. These other articles ranged everywhere from a Selective Service card stamped 2-S, to good old money.

Many times the presents the students really want, and the presents they think they will get, differ considerably.

Judith A. Gerino, said, "I'd like to get a horse. I've always wanted a horse." She said that she would probably get another instead.

This was also the case of Michel J. Schneider, graduate student, who said, "I'd like an Austin Healey, but I don't think I'll find one in my stocking."

Dennis Falcon freshman, said, "I can envision a new cycle complete with a sticker under the tree. I still have some hope."

"I've got the cycle but I hope I get a helmet so I don't freeze to death this winter," said Anthony J. Bonanno, who was also present at the time.

"I want an end to all sickness in the world because I don't feel very well now."

Larry Kristoff Nominee for Sullivan Prize

Former SIU wrestler Larry Kristoff has been nominated by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States for that organization's James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy which is presented to the "amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence, did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

Kristoff, a native of Chicago, won several national honors while wrestling at SIU.

Among them were the national championships in the college division of the N.C.A.A. and runner-up to Jim Nance of Syracuse in the university division of the N.C.A.A. championships. Kristoff lost to Nance 2-1 in the finals.

Kristoff also won the national AAU championship in 1964, his senior year at Southern and an international crown in Tokyo in 1963.

Since his graduation he has won a bronze medal in the World Freestyle Championships in 1965 and been a member of both the World Games Team and the 1964 Olympic Team.

Some of the past winners of the award are Don Cornellius, Warner, Tate, Felix "Doc" Blanchard, Bob Mathias and Bob Richards.

Swimmers Defeat Iowa State, Take First in 8 of 12 Events

The SIU swim team gave Coach Ray Essick a 59-45 victory over Iowa State in Essick's first dual meet as head coach of the Salukis.

SIU captured eight first places out of 12. The Saluki swimmers added five second place finishes, five thirds and two fourth places.

No individual performances were especially outstanding in this meet, according to Essick, but the coach was well pleased with the work of Rich Everitt and Reinhard Westerreider.

First places were won by Kimo Miles in the 1,000-yard freestyle and the 200-yard butterfly, Scott Cokel in the 100-yard breaststroke, Ed Mossoiti in the 100-yard freestyle and the 50-yard freestyle, Don Shaffer in the 200-yard individual medley and Gerry Pearson in the 200-yard breaststroke. The Saluki 400-yard medley relay team of Shaffer, Pearson, Mossoiti and Mike Miles also took a first place.

GLENN YARBROUGH
"In" Songs for the "On" Crowd

From college concert to supper club performance, the magic is always the same when the artist is Glenn Yarbrough. No one delivers a song quite like Glenn, as you'll hear in his two latest albums. The songs are important, their messages are meaningful, and many of them were written by Rod McKuen — one of today's most talked-about composers. Pick these recordings up soon—they're happening now at your record store.
Prison Plan Shows Merit of Program

President Johnson announced last week a major reorganization of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, with emphasis placed mainly on rehabilitation.

An important part of the rehabilitation will be work-release programs which were begun in 1965.

Under these programs more than 1,400 prisoners held day-time jobs or attended school and returned to prison at night. Only 5 per cent were taken off the program any reason other than discharge from prison.

Undoubtedly a major reason for the reorganization was an affirmative report on the work-release program given to Johnson by acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Myrl E. Alexander, director of the Bureau of Prisons. Alexander is a former rector of the Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Correction at SIU. He still ranks as an adjunct professor in the Department of Sociology.

The success of his programs and his position as director of the Bureau of Prisons is an impressive vote of confidence for the area services and other non-academic divisions of the University.

Alexander certainly developed part of his programs and theories while working at SIU. This fact adds to the prestige Southern will garner through the President's announcement.

Successes such as this point up vividly the merit of such SIU programs and add to the belief that they should be continued. We agree.

Propaganda Not Role For Teaching to Take

To the Editor:

In his letter in the Daily Egyptian Dec. 1, Peter C. Olson decries the low state that religious courses have come within the public university and asks for courses "in primary religious content and theology" (which he leaves undefined) from such flaws in his letter as his confusion between the "teaching-exercise" and "establishment" portions of the First Amendment, some comment is required.

If, as Mr. Olson says, separation of church and state means that neither has the legal authority to interfere with and control the other, how can religion demand to be given a voice for its content "within the curriculum of the public university?"

But Mr. Olson propose to have the university offer courses of the sort he suggests without the university's sanction being given to what is taught in the other, how can religion demand to be given a voice for its content "within the curriculum of the public university?"

Certainly, any such sanction was being given, Mr. Olson wishes "specifically religious education." What does this mean? If it means an examination of the beliefs in which religions has approached the "truth" as they see it, then it is basically not different from the courses in history of religion of which Mr. Olson talks. If it is more, it is propaganda.

In the study of political science, we may teach what propaganda is developed and disseminated. It is not our place to teach propagandistic courses.

The same distinction holds in the area of religion, with even greater force because of constitutional provisions and Supreme Court decisions which Mr. Olson seems to understand only vaguely.

The University is not forbidding the student to expose himself to religion, and in fact facilitates this, through the upcoming religious emphasis week and through encouragement of those religious foundations. It seems to me that is enough.

PEMEMBER—THE APPLE IS THE TARGET

New Asssination Theory

Six Crossbowmen Shot an Arrow...

By Arthur Hoppe

The theory that the late President Kennedy was actually shot by six medieval crossbowmen in a gas-filled balloon was first advanced by a free-lance journalist and service station attendant, Mr. Homer T. Pettibone.

His book, "Behind the Inside Report on the Exclusive Disclosures Exposing the Warren Commission," was an instant bestseller. Appearing on Meet the Press, Mr. Pettibone explained that his work was the result of three years cold search 18 hours a day.

"I have," he said proudly, "wrote a single book that exposes the Warren Commission and advances a new theory. All 378 of them, the purpose of my book," he said with dignity, "is to exonerate the innocent, per­secute the guilty, resolve history, and make a million dollars."

On his wildly successful nationwide lecture tour, Mr. Pettibone displayed a huge blowup of frame 247 of a fuzzy home movie which clearly showed a gas-filled balloon in the upper left hand of the city with a water spot on the film.

He then went into a complex analysis of versets, demonstrating that the deed could only have been performed by a medieval crossbow that shot around corners. "As proof," he would say triumphantly, "let me point out that no crossbow arrow was found at the scene. Indeed, six crossbow arrows were never recovered! And due to the average loading and firing time of the average medieval crossbow—27.2 seconds—this obviously means that it would require six medieval crossbowmen to fire the six un­recovered arrows."

Critics hailed Mr. Pettibone's "a work of truth­ness and originality," Experts agreed that it was "consistent with the known facts," The public liked its simplicity and aficionados its mystery. So it was universally accepted and the nation slept easier knowing how the deed was done.

But Mr. Pettibone had made only half a million dollars. So he wrote a second book, "The Return of Behind the Inside, Etcetera." In this he produced a second volume, a fifth cousin twice removed that Officer Ruby had once expressed an interest in medieval crossbows while Jack Tippitt had seen "Richard, the Lion-Hearted." "If we could find which crossbows were extensively employed," he wrote, "we might find out 13,7 miles from the home of Oswald Lee Harvey.

From there, Mr. Pettibone went on to prove conclusively the existence of a conspiracy involving the Right Wing, the FBI, the Left Wing, the Secret Service, all news media, Congress and Troop 102, Boy Scouts of America. Its un­deniable purpose: the take­over of the nation by medieval crossbowmen."

Unfortunately, the public had turned its attention to a child star who had died from a mysterious overdose of sleep­ing pills, and nothing much was done to ban crossbows. "Goodbye, crossbows," cried Mr. Pettibone. "The whole na­tion's in this conspiracy." Unable to face this horrible fact, he shot himself with a crossbow, A Coroner's Jury hastily ruled a death a sui­cide. A friend later wrote a book proving definitively it was a suicide. The book didn't sell.

Oklahoma Oil Profits State Land

By Katherine Hatch

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — What may be the most photogra­phed oil derricks in the nation were still pumping today, 30 years after the first one was drilled on the Okla­homa plain.

It took a publicity-minded governor bent on a U.S. Senate campaign to get the federal Bureau of the Interior to give the first crews onto state-owned land and the first and only working oil wells onto a state capitol's grounds.

Since 1935, when leases were sold, the state of Okla­homa has earned nearly $8 million in revenue from its one-fourth interest in the wells. The capitol itself is not extrapolating any income, lacking even a dome.

But most tourists don't seem to notice the domes and the building, aiming their cameras instead at the oil wells that really are pumping.

In 1928, the British American Petroleum Co. had oil with a well drilled about two blocks east of the Oklahoma governor's mansion, adjacent to the capitol.

Two years followed the "dis­covery field" in the southeast portion of the city — the field which first showed there was oil in the area.

City authorities, fearing damage and accidents if drill­ing were pursued within the city limits, ordered a ban on all further development of the field within the city unless residents of the affected neighborhood approved the drilling.

In 1935, the State Legis­lature said firms could look for oil on state-owned property, setting the stage for widespread drilling which followed.

Gov. F. W. Marland, a success­ful businessman in his own right, gave the go-ahead after residents of the oil area overwhelmingly ap­proved development of the oil field.

But Marland, knowing the city forbade such operations, ordered the National Guard to protect the first drillers.

Loco Parentis Allows Board to Set Rules

By Laurel Wirth

"In loco parentis' simply means in the place of the parent, and is a term used to describe a parent or guardian of the child in a family or in the school system. The concept was developed as a result of the need to protect children, and it is applied to situations where a student, upon joining a University body, becomes part of a family of students. By doing so, he becomes responsible for the actions of other members of the group."

The courts have ruled that the "personal rights of students; No Limitation," brings forth a guide that generally seems to be one that courts follow in determining the legality of a university's actions in regards to in loco parentis.

The courts ask the question whether the administrative action "reasonably tended to maintain good order and discipline on the campus and promote the necessary tone and standards of behavior of an educational institution."

The essence of in loco parentis is that once a student, upon joining a University body, becomes part of a family of students, students are not playing the same role as in a private setting or an in loco parentis situation.

The courts have ruled that the "double jeopardy complaint overlooks the basic principle of universal law: The same offense cannot be punished twice.

Another section in the report deals with married students and students who have reached the legal age of 21. Persons in this category, the report states, are not as likely to be in college for the purpose of education and are more likely to be in college for another purpose."

The courts have also ruled that the "right to bear arms" by Carl Bakal.

Some by accident and the courts' attitude towards the theory in varying ways.

Experts in child psychology do not subscribe to the idea that a student can be a bowler or a toy gun. But they believe that the courts have not given much weight to the fact that a student may be disciplined by local courts and also by the university for the same offense.

Grundy's report states that the double jeopardy concept overlooks the basic principle of universal law: The same offense cannot be punished twice.

The report, in defining double jeopardy, uses this parallel to further explain cases that appear to be the same offense and more than one person is disciplined twice for the same offense.

Another section in the report deals with married students and students who have reached the legal age of 21. Persons in this category, the report states, are not as likely to be in college for the purpose of education and are more likely to be in college for another purpose.

By Paul Simon

"Christmas gift suggestions are a hot item in December, and it's a Christmas suggestion list somewhat different from the usual."

1. Don't buy your boy a toy gun.

A leading American newsmen says American parents need to be concerned for careless use of toy guns in manslaughter just as young American females are concerned for careless use of mouthwash. When they get the message, the toy is no longer attractive for the under 7-year-old.

2. Don't buy your boy a toy gun.

"Many believe toy guns are an aid in England and Wales over a recen three-year period, only 159 were carrying guns. In 1962, only 29 persons were shot dead in all of England and Wales; the United States, with four times the population, had 4,954 firearms murders." Here's a list of ways to make your boy safer practically anywhere out of this country than it is. First and foremost, get a model under $1 for less than a third of ours. Italy even has less than a fifth, England only a seventh, and the Netherlands only a seventh.

3. Can we do anything about it?

The author of the book, a former Army officer, suggests that we can, but we don't.

Community Colleges Deal in Archaisms

By Robert M. Hutchins

The so-called community college is a junior college, like those in the Chicago area, that is planning to train people to earn a living in the local community.

Rusell Lynes, in his excellent article on the junior colleges in Harper's, uses the words of the president of the Orange County Community College of Connecticut in explaining the process by which the educational program of these institutions is determined.

"We wish to be sure," the student says, "we listen, we talk to businessmen and professional men, and when we are convinced that they are convinced that the community needs and will use we set up a curriculum in it."

This is a somewhat archaic, for it overlooks two of the most obvious facts of contemporary life: the mobility of the population and the rapidity of technological change. These two world-wide phenomena have reached dramatic proportions, and the institutions of education must be visible to the educators of Middletown.

According to the census of 1960 Middletown has a population of 899, and more than 90% of it in 1950. The young people are not staying, and it is unlikely that the community college or opportunities in local industry can induce them to do so.

Middletown has had a history of technological disasters. The turnpike companies on which its early prosperity was based have disappeared. The New York, Ontario and Western Railroad, which had shops there, has long since died. Boys and girls trained to work in turnpike companies and railroad shops would have caused damage to some of the jobs that they might have taken.

Let's take one simple example. Nine states (not including Illinois) require a "cooling-off" period after a purchase of a gun. Many murderers are committed in a fit of passion by someone who is not in his wits. A cooling-off period of two weeks would kill someone. In nine states there is a period of one day, one day which you have to wait after buying a gun before you can get it.

The second type of law can hardly hurt anyone. And the law of common sense says: Don't buy a gift this Christmas which will hurt you or your family.

Gluhmans Enter Art in 3 Exhibits

Two SIU faculty members, Joseph W. Gluhman, instructor in art history, and his wife, Margaret A. Gluhman, assistant instructor in the basic studio program, have had art works accepted for regional and national exhibition.

The "6th Annual National Exhibitions of Graphics" sponsored by Mercyhurst College, Erie, Pa., is displaying a drawing, "Deposition from the Gothic" by Gluhman, and a pen and ink drawing by Mrs. Gluhman, "Metamorphism." The Gluhmans also exhibited works in the 19th Annual Fall Exhibition at the Canton, Ohio, Art Institute. Mrs. Gluhman exhibited a drawing "Tree Form," and Gluhman had two works, a water color "Leonine Head" and an ink wash drawing "Chain Landscape."

NATIONAL RECOGNITION—Peter M. Soulsrada (center), president, and Thomas Fitzgerald, secretary, of the SIU Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management, received the national award for "Outstanding Contributions to the School of Business." From William H. Lastham, national executive director of the SAM, Soulsrada and Fitzgerald received the award for the local chapter at the recent national convention in New York City.

Housewives Schedule Boycott Of Carbondale Kroger Stores

The Carbondale housewives committee seeking lower food prices in the area has decided to schedule a boycott against the two Kroger stores for an indefinite period.

Pat Bavel, publicity chairman of HELP (Housewives Effort for Lower Prices) said the boycott and picketing will begin Thursday.

Mrs. Bavel said the Kroger Stores were selected because of the group’s disagreements on services and prices.

HELP has been calling Carbondale residents during the past week to notify them of the boycott.

About a month ago HELP staged a one-day demonstration boycott against the five large supermarkets in Carbondale in an effort to get store managers to meet with them. Since that time, Paul Reuschler, manager of Boren’s IGA, has talked with HELP leaders.

HELP was formed following a comparative price study of Carbondale and neighboring communities. The findings of the group indicated food prices were on the average 2 per cent higher in Carbondale than in neighboring towns.

U.S. Jets Bag Red Mig During Battle Within Sight of Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) - U.S. airmen knocked down one Communist MiG17 and possibly another in a swirling air battle Sunday within sight of Hanoi while American jet bombers tore up a major railroad freight yard six miles northeast of the North Vietnamese capital and heavily damaged an oil depot 1 1/2 miles north of it, the U.S. Command reported Monday.

Despite heavy flak and challenges from MiG17s, no U.S. planes were lost, the command said. The Communists claimed three attacking planes were downed near Hanoi and another about 60 miles to the south.

The heavy U.S. air strikes close to Hanoi defied Viet Cong threats to stage reprisal attacks against Americans in the South.

The ground war in the South continued virtually stagnant but the U.S. Command reported a sea-to-shore battle between the U.S. and the North Vietnamese coast, and Communist forces in the Ingersoll, six miles off the North Vietnamese coast, and Communist shore batteries. The Ingersoll sustained slight damage in the exchange but there were no casualties among the crew, the command said. There was no assessment of the damage, if any, to the shore guns.

Gregory Would Visit

Yanks Held by Cong

NEW YORK (AP) - Dick Gregory, Negro comedian, said today he hopes to entertain American prisoners of war in North Viet Nam as a "human being-not as a patriot or as an American."

He said he was on his way to Hanoi via London and Paris to try to arrange for a Christmas visit with captured Americans.

The upbeat buttondown.

Everything about this Arrow Dacron Perma-Iron shirt is traditional - except the fact that it resists to wrinkling. And that may start a whole new tradition. Note the wide stripes, the just-so roll of the collar. It's in a blend of Dacron polyester and cotton that's "Sanforized Plus." In other stripes, solids and whites, too. A winner at $7.00.

High Court Slaps Down Georgia Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Monday that the Georgia House may not bar Julian Bond because of his state-ments criticizing the draft and U.S. policy in Viet Nam. "The disqualification of Bond from membership in the Georgia House because of his statements violated Bond's right of free expression under the First Amendment," Chief Justice Earl Warren said for the court.

Warren's opinion did not, in so many words, order the Georgia House to seat Bond. But it cleared the way for the thrice-elected Negro civil rights official. State Rep. George L. Smith, who is in line to become speaker of the Georgia House, said "I see no alternative other than seat-ing him."

The Georgia House twice barred Bond from taking his seat because he supported a statement by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Com-mittee that described U.S. policy in Viet Nam as aggression. Bond, a former SNCC of-ficial, has been critical also of the draft system and said he admired the courage of those who burned their draft cards although he would not burn his own.

China Accuses U.S. Of Bombing Attack

TOKYO (AP) - Peking radio charged Tuesday that U.S. planes bombed and sank six Communist Chinese fishing boats in the Gulf of Tonkin, killing 16 Chinese fishermen and injuring 29 others.

In a Chinese language broadcast monitored here by Radio Freesian, a Japanese monitoring agency, it said the alleged bombing took place Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 on the western part of the gulf.

It said the Chinese Defense Minister lodged the "strongest protest" and is-sued the "most serious" warning in connection with this alleged incident, which the broadcast described as a "war provocation" against Red China by U.S. imperialism.

Residents Flee Macao Riots

MACAO (AP) - With Chinese Communist gunboats ap-pear off shore, Portuguese residents and some Chinese fled this riot-torn enclave on China's south coast Monday for Hong Kong. Other Por-tuguese took refuge in two ancient forts.

Shooting broke out again during the day apparently in an attempt by Portuguese soldiers to halt what wit-nesses said was looting by gangs of Chinese teen-agers.

"Business is for the birds!"

Who says so?

Lots of people do. Some right on your campus. And for rationale, they point an accusing finger at business and say it lacks "social commitment."

Social commitment? We wish they could visit our Kearny, N. J. plant, where we make cable and apparatus for your Bell telephone company. But we have time for other thoughts, other talents.

Like the situation in nearby Newark.

With civic and business leaders, we be-gan buzzing with ideas. "Let's teach higher skills to some of the un-employed and under-employed. Say, machine shop prac-tice. They could qualify for jobs that are going begging - and help themselves as well."

We lent our tool-and-die shop, evenings. We found volunteer instructors. A community group screened applicants. Another supplied hand tools. The Boys Club donated classroom facilities. Another company sent more instructors.

Some 70 trainees enrolled. Their incent-ive? Self-improvement. Results to date? New people at better jobs. Happier. And this is only one of dozens of social-minded projects at Western Electric plants across the country, where our first job is making communications equipment for the Bell System.

So, you don't give up ideals when you graduate. If anything, at a company like, say, Western Electric, you add to them. And it's not just a theory. It's practice. Satisfying. Come on and find out. And watch a feathered creech fly out the window.
William George's 'Iceman Bust' Wins Ice Sculpturing Contest

An SIU art major won first place Sunday afternoon in the Season of Holidays Ice Sculpturing contest.

William George, a sophomore from Eighty-Four, Pa., received top prize of a five-dollar gift certificate.

George's work was a peg-nosed bust called "The Iceman." He said it was "a modern interpretation of the Abominable Snowman."

Second place went to Bruce Potta, a sophomore art major from Carlyle, Ill., for the bust "Mother Blues." Jerry Zalesky, a freshman chemistry major from Chicago, placed third with the bust "Ronald."

Only three contestants competed in the event on the University Center patio. They had two hours to complete their work.

The judges were Orville Bowden, food production manager at Trueblood Hall and Charles Lukens, food service manager for residence halls. Both received ice sculpturing training at the Culinary Institute of America, New Haven, Conn., Lukens said.

The contest was part of the Season of Holidays activities sponsored by the special events committee of the Activities Programming Board.

"We hope to make this an annual event with bigger chunks of ice," said Howard Sloan, chairman of the special events committee. Entries had complained of the small pieces several years prior, he said.

Three busts were on display Sunday evening and Monday at the east entrance of the University Center.

‘Come Blow Your Horn’ Cast Named for SIU Arctic Tour

Casting has been completed for the Department of Theater’s production scheduled for a month-long USO tour of the Northeast Command (Greenland and Iceland) during February.

This will be SIU’s second USO tour of defense bases in Greenland and Iceland, the first in 1962 offering Carson Gania’s “Born Yesterday.” “Come Blow Your Horn” will be directed by Christian Moo, associate professor of theater. It has been scheduled for campus performances April 7-9 and 13-16.

Moo, assistant dean of the School of Communications, is an authority on American historical drama.

Students selected for roles in “Come Blow Your Horn” are Z.J. Hymel, IV, of New Orleans, La., John Callahan of St. Louis, Peter Goetz of Paducah, Ky., and Stu Taylor of Carbondale.

Faculty Members Join Interior Design Group

Three faculty members have been accepted as members of the Interior Design Educators Council.

Rose Padgett, chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles, in which interior design is offered, had been accepted in the council earlier in the fall. The new members are Mrs. Lucy Stewart, Norman Slack and Stanley Phillips, all of whom are also members of the Association of Interior Designers and the National Society of Interior Designers.

The council, according to Phillips, was formed in 1962, its purpose is to strengthen and improve interior design education and the professional level of interior design. Its activities include competitions and publications, promotion of research and advanced degrees, and conducting a major study of curricula and accreditation.

In addition to the USO tour, the department this year is staging “Arms and the Man” by Shaw; “Rainbow Terrace” by Mordecai Gorelik, research professor of theater; Barrie’s “Peter Pan,” and Chekhov’s “The Three Sisters,” as well as a series of three children’s play, a mental health play which toured some 25 area communities in the fall, and a series of original one-act plays written by students.

East summer the department produces a number of major plays on campus and sends its Lincolnland Drama Festival troupe to New Salem State Park for a month’s run of one or more Lincoln plays.

The Salukis made their basketball debut Monday night for the 1966-67 season a bright one with a resounding 93-58 victory over State College of Iowa. Southern was ranked second best in the country before leaving the dressing room and wanted little time proving the pollsters correct.

A tenacious defense and early mastery of the backboards catapulted the Salukis into a lead of 11-9 with 14:03 left in the first half and they were looking back at their opponents the rest of the contest. The teams traded baskets for the first five and one half minutes before Walt Frazier put Southern ahead to stay with a short jump shot. Frazier added three more points within a half-minute and the Salukis defense repeatedly stole Frazier passes under their own basket.

Southern moved out to a 21 point advantage before Coach Jack Hartman began substituting liberally with about five minutes remaining. The edge at the intermission was 15 points, 43-28.

With the first team back in at the outset of the second half the Salukis again wanted little time opening the game up by snaring most of the rebounds and repeatedly forcing the Panthers into errors. State College turned the ball over 20 times to the Salukis.

Sophomore forward Dick Garrett's debut was just as auspicious as the Salukis'. He scored 27 points on 13 field goals and an extra point. Garrett also contributed eight rebounds to rank second on the team in that department. Frazier contributed 19 points and 12 rebounds from the guard post. Following him were center Ralph Johnson with 10 points, forward Clarence Smith and guard Roger Bechtold with nine apiece and reserve center Chuck Benson with seven.

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT SWITCHES

Coach Pleased by Performance Of Gymnasts in Midwest Open

At the Midwest Open Friday and Saturday, the Salukis sent 13 men into the finals and 12 placed among the top six. This included a first place in the still rings by Fred Dennis who dominated the defending national champion.

"This was the best Midwest Open they have had in a number of years and the fact that we did so well was very encouraging," Meade said. He added that the Salukis "moved SIU Matmen Win 6 Titles"

SIU's wrestling team again dominated the Illinois Invitational wrestling tournament, winning six individual titles in a meet held Friday and Saturday in Champaign.

Coach Jim Wilkinson was pleased with the outcome, adding that some of the boys were held back because of injuries. Dan Rose won the 132-pound division even though he had the flu and is now in the hospital. Terry Appleton won the 160-pound class after recovering from an injury.

"Terry Magoon, defending champion in the 115-pound division, lost a close semifinal match and finished third, Teammate Steve Sarosky finished second in this division. Both Larry Baron and Dean Ohl were impressive in the 130-pound class, Baron was the victor and Ohl took second place.

Al Lipper lost a tough match to Loffredo of Illinois to finish second in the 152-pound class. Joe Domko won the 167-pound division.

Back Deardrich won the heavyweight class with Rich Selesower finishing third. Below was second in the 191-pound class."
