Cuts may boost plan support—faculty

By Christiann Baxter
Administration Writer

A rescission calling for money back from SIUC to the state would force SIUC officials to put cost-cutting measures of the 21st Century Plan into action, faculty leaders say. University deans are preparing for a 3-percent rescission after Ben Shepherd, vice president for academic affairs and research, asked them to make plans to meet a 3-percent cut in their budgets.

George Gumerman, chairman of the 21st Century Task Force, said the more serious the University's financial crisis becomes, the more likely it is that cost-cutting sections of the plan will be put into effect.

"I think the financial crisis and things like the possible rescission might force the University to make some of the changes that are suggested," he said.

A faculty task force last month presented a blueprint to guide the University into the next century. The plan combines cost-cutting measures with ideas that would help SIUC strike a balance between finances and excellence.

Cost-cutting and fund-raising measures of the plan include a two-year hiring freeze on all tenure track positions, higher tuition for seniors and juniors than for first- and second-year students and reallocation of funds in response to the University's financial crisis.

A rescission is money an organization asks back from the budgets of its sub-levels.

The governor could ask universities to give money back to the state to make up for a shortage in its budget.

Leaders call Soviet Union nonexistent

MOSCOW (UPI) — The leaders of three Slavic republics emerged from their political summit late Sunday to sound the death knell for the Soviet Union and kill President Mikhail Gorbachev's hopes to salvage a new union of former Soviet republics.

"We, Republic of Byelorussia, Russian Federation and Ukraine, as the founding states of the U.S.S.R. who signed the union treaty of 1922 ... admit the fact that the U.S.S.R. as a subject of international right and a geopolitical reality does not exist any longer," the leaders of the three Slavic republics said in a statement released by the Soviet news agency Tass.

At the same time, the three Slavic leaders announced formation of their own Union of Independent States.

Leaders of the three-republic Slavic union said they would admit other republics that agreed with their aims and principles, thus keeping the door open for a possible new union of the former Soviet republics—but one which appeared to exclude the center, the Kremlin.

The statement was signed by Russian President Boris Yeltsin, Ukrainian President Leonid Kravchuk and Byelorussian leader Stanislav Shushkevich.

The three republic leaders spent Sunday cloistered in a remote Byelorussian hideaway to discuss the future of the disintegrating Soviet Union.

The Slavic leaders did not invite Gorbachev to their meeting, but all three were to meet Monday in the Kremlin with Gorbachev and Kazakhstan President Nursultan Nazarbayev.

Even as the Slavic leaders were acknowledging the death of the country and outlining a blueprint for their new Slavic union, Gorbachev was appearing on Ukrainian television making yet another futile plea for his so-called Union of Sovereign States.

Even Nazarbayev, who has supported Gorbachev's union treaty, seemed to acknowledge that there was little left of the country to salvage on the eve of the meeting between Gorbachev and the leaders of the four biggest republics.

New minority club fires up USG debate again

By Doug Toole
Politics Writer

SIUC minority organizations are fighting for approval from Undergraduate Student Government leaders who question the need for separate racial groups with allegedly duplicate interests to exist.

The Black Aviation Association was approved for registered student organization status last week after some USG Committee on Internal Affairs members tried to halt its creation.

USG Senator Patrick Brown said the BAA did not convince him that minority aviation students were not being served adequately by the existing Aviation Management Society.

Although both organization are open to any student, the BAA promotes recruiting minority students into the school and addressing their concerns.

Organizations could have minority committees within the dominant group, Brown said, but separate groups for ethnics or genders promotes segregation and increases racial tension on campus.

Students have to study for finals with caffeine, hot meal

By Sarah Anderson

Bevonne Bean-Mayberry of Carbondale has made a five-year tradition of cramming for finals over coffee and oatmeal pie.

The second-year graduate student heads to the Corner Diner during Finals Week to join hundreds of SIUC students who pack local 24-hour restaurants to study over coffee and a hot meal.

"The place is a madhouse all day long," said Kara McCracken, manager/waitress at the Corner Diner on South Illinois Avenue and West College Street.

Students like to go to restaurants because they are social places and because they get the service they want, McCracken said.

Norka Rabinovich, a senior in psychology from Lima, Peru, said she does not mind paying for service while she is studying.

"The waiters and waitresses here are nice," Rabinovich said. "It's

Basketball teams stay undefeated

Amaya, da Silva score career highs

By Todd Eschman
Sports Writer

Seven-foot Saluki center Marcello da Silva has been under siege by Southern Illinois basketball fans.

Spectators booed him and called him "Marshmallow" in the Dawgs' preseason opener against Athletics in Action for mishandling a couple rebounds. But da Silva quieted the hecklers Saturday night with 16 points and 16 rebounds in the Salukis 81-73 win over the Austin Peay Governors.

Since the season began, head coach Rich Hiern said he has no set lineup for his squad. But with senior forward Kelvin Lawrence lost with a broken ankle and a decided size advantage over Austin Peay, it was no surprise to see da Silva get the start against the Governors.

Da Silva answered Hiern's call to duty by having the best game of his collegiate career. His

Women beat second team in Big 10

By Cyndi Oberle
Sports Writer

Before the 1991-92 season began, SIUC's women's basketball coach Cindy Scott said wins against Big 10 schools were a key to the Salukis receiving national recognition.

SIUC stomped Illinois in its home opener Nov. 23 and squeezed by Wisconsin Saturday to complete its sweep of the scheduled Big 10 schools.

The 70-69 victory over the Badgers brings the Salukis to an unblemished 4-0 mark — the best start in Scott's 15-year stint as coach.

"It was a great big win for us," Scott said. "Wisconsin beat No. 11-ranked Auburn last weekend, and we beat Wisconsin."

The season sweep of the Big 10 foes was the first since 1987, and the Wisconsin win put the Salukis in position to break into the Top 25 in the near future. SIUC received 32 votes last

Women runners capture second in first track meet

By Scott Wuerz

After three months of rigorous training the SIUC women's track team finally reached the moment it had been waiting for—the opening of the 1991 indoor season.

The Salukis have been training since the second week of the fall semester. SIUC assistant coach Kathleen Raske said, and saw action finally Saturday at Illinois State where they captured second place in the four-team field.

"Everyone was really anxious to see where they stood against live competition, especially the freshmen on the squad," Raske said. "There's always a lot of nervousness before you get that first race under your belt."

"At this point of the season everyone needs a confidence builder more than anything else."

The Salukis' egos appear to be in no immediate danger as SIUC turned in strong performances across the board, finishing second to Illinois State.

Raske said the Salukis were sparked by particularly strong performances from junior shot putter Jennifer Bazou

Baseball bazaar opens today with prices rising

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Baseball's winter meetings officially open Monday with commissioner Fay Vincent's "State of the Game" address, but the free agent holiday shopping spree already is in full swing.

The New York Mets, Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs set the tone for baseball's week-long gathering at the Fontainebleau Hilton Hotel with their early signings.

The Mets presented Bobby Bonilla with a five-year, $29 million contract, highest ever in baseball, shaking the sport's salary structure and some of its players' egos.

Bonilla's Pittsburgh teammate, Barry Bonds, who becomes a free agent after the '92 season, already is demanding more money, which may prompt the Pirates to deal him this week.

Imagine the figures dancing in the head of free agent Danny Tartabull, who batted .316 with 31 homers and 100 RBI — and has the same agent as Bonilla. Christmas could come early for the 29-year-old outfielder.

But the Dodgers' four-year, $16 million contract to Tom Candiotti and the Cubs' four-year, $12.5 million deal with Mike Morgan have made free agent pitchers like Frank Viola and Jack Morris demand long-term, megabuck deals.

After all, Viola and Morris are winners. In 11 seasons, Morgan has compiled a 67-104 record, posting his first winning season this year at 14-10 with the Dodgers. He's 32. In 15 seasons, Morris has a career 216-162 mark. The 36-year-old was 18-12 with Minnesota and was named World Series MVP in October.

At last year's six-day session in Chicago, 28 transactions were made involving 45 players for $130 million. As of Saturday night, $93.6 million had been spent on 13 players.

Vincent will deliver his speech at 10 a.m. to be followed by the Rule 5 draft.

Players left unprotected and not on a team's 40-man major league roster may be selected for $50,000. The Cleveland Indians have the first pick, followed by Houston, Baltimore, Montreal, the New York Yankees, Cincinnati and California.

San Francisco will follow, then Kansas City, the New York Mets, Milwaukee, the Chicago Cubs, Seattle, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston, San Diego, Oakland, Los Angeles, Texas, Atlanta, the Chicago White Sox, Pittsburgh, Toronto and Minnesota.

The draft order is based on the reverse order of finish during the '91 season with the two leagues alternating.

Bears maul Green Bay in 27-13 win

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jim Harbaugh threw for two touchdowns and running back Brad Muster scored twice in replacing injured starter Neal Anderson Sunday, carrying the Chicago Bears to a 27-13 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Chicago maintained its spot atop the NFC Central with its second straight victory, climbing to 10-4 while the Packers fell to 3-11.

Muster put the Bears in front late in the opening quarter with an 8-yard touchdown run, but the Packers jumped in front, 10-3, on a 30-yard field goal by Chris Jacke and a 1-yard pass from former Chicago quarterback Mike Tomczak to Jackie Harris.

The Bears then took command with two quick touchdowns, one of them coming on Muster's 6-yard run and the other on a 20-yard pass from Harbaugh to Wendell Davis.

Green Bay narrowed its deficit on the final play of the half on Jacke's 30-yard field goal, but the Packers were shut out in the second half.

The lone second-half score came on a 35-yard throw from Harbaugh to Davis with 1:07 left in the third quarter.

INDIA ARRESTS TIBETANS FOR PREMIER'S VISIT — Police arrested 20 people at a Tibetan refugee camp Sunday in a sudden crackdown on activists who were encouraging widespread protests during the upcoming visit of Chinese Premier Li Peng. Karma Santen, the information secretary of the Tibetan Youth Congress, said police swept through a Tibetan refugee camp housing 2,000 people in the Majnu-Ka-Tilla section of old Delhi Sunday and arrested about 20 people.

MILITIAS SHIFT RESOURCES TO BUSINESSES — Lebanon's various militia groups have invested their resources in businesses or fighting Israel and its allies in southern Lebanon. Young militiamen wearing blue jeans, civilian sweaters or kaftiyas (Arab shirts) no longer roam the streets of the Beirut region, flexing muscle or firing at targets or into the air. Public military appearance is only confined to the presence of Khaki-clad Lebanese or Syrian troops and policemen.

SALVADORANS MARCH TO SUPPORT MILITARY — Thousands of Salvadorans marched through the capital Sunday to call for peace and to support the small Central American country's politically powerful armed forces. Army helicopters flew overhead as more than 20,000 marchers waved flags and shouted "Viva the Armed Forces" and "Armed Forces yes, terrorism no." The event dubbed "Peace Unity 91" was sponsored by the army and right-wing political and business sectors.

YUGOSLAVIANS FIGHT DESPITE ACCORD — U.N. special envoy Cyrus Vance ended his latest mission to war-torn Yugoslavia Sunday, and said that a U.N. peacekeeping force will not be deployed because of persisting Serb-Croat fighting in disregard of a Nov. 23 cease-fire accord. Vance's statement came as the secessionist Croatian regime and the Serb-dominated federal army reached a European Community-brokered pact to complete the deblocking by Croatian forces.

MANDELA RECEIVES $100,000 AWARD — A philanthropist gave anti-apartheid leader Nelson Mandela a surprise $100,000 award during a human rights ceremony Sunday for his crusade against racism. Mandela, visiting the United States for a week, gave the keynote address at the ceremony for the Carter-Menil Human Rights Prize, which posthumously recognizes six Jesuit priests killed in El Salvador in 1989.

BUSH CHALLENGER SUGGESTS SHUTDOWN — Patrick Buchanan, a conservative Republican commentator expected to challenge George Bush for the presidential nomination, Sunday proposed radical solutions for excessive government spending and immigration. Buchanan said he would veto any budget passed by Congress that increased spending and would shut down the government until lawmakers agreed on a budget that reduced spending.

ALLEGED VICTIM'S CLOTHING CAUSES DOUBT — A forensic scientist, testifying Sunday for William Kennedy Smith's defense as a $100-an-hour expert witness, tried to cast doubts on the alleged victim's story by releasing results of a grass-stain test he conducted. Connecticut's chief medical examiner acknowledged that the grass-stained handkerchiefs he showed the jury "don't relate at all" to the allegations against Smith.

MURDEP SUSPECT FACES ARRAIGNMENT — House painter Edward Moore Junior is scheduled to be arraigned in Grundy County court Monday on charges of raping, beating and burning a Morris woman to death. Judith Zeman, 49, was found burning in the driveway of her posh home July 7th after being doused with gasoline and set ablaze. Police said she was able to name her attacker before she died. Moore, 34, originally fought extradition from New York but was returned to face trial in Illinois Friday.

Fantastic lights set city streets aglow in parade

By Annette Holder
City Writer

The wise men would have had little trouble finding Carbondale Saturday night.

A thousands points of light guided a glowing stream of Christmas characters through downtown Carbondale for the first lighted parade in Southern Illinois.

Spectators at the first Lights Fantastic Parade lined the streets to watch bright floats led by a City of Carbondale float with the city logo.

Bart Simpson, the KBSI Fox and Santa Claus pranced through the streets in the warm glow of Christmas spirit and electric lights.

Carbondale resident Evelyn Koine said she came with friends and their children because she had never seen a lighted night parade.

"This is unusual all right," Koine said. "It's a good night for this to be happening—there's no snow."

Bart Briggs of Carbondale said she wanted to enjoy the spirit of Christmas that the parade would inspire in her, as well as visit with her friends.

"We've seen lots of people we know," she said. "It seems like everyone is out to see it."

More than 8,000 people from Carbondale and other towns came out to see the parade. After the parade, a crowd gathered at Town Square to meet Mayor Neil Dillard and Santa Claus.

Thirty five floats, bands and convertibles with multi-colored Christmas lights set off a glow along Main Street.

Marina Turner of Centralia was in town to visit her sister and see the parade. She said she especially liked the float for the Walnut Street Baptist Church.

"That is absolutely beautiful," Turner said.

The float was decorated with 10,000 white lights in the 3-D shape of a church. The stained glass windows were made from multi-colored lights.

Diane Dorsey, Lights Fantastic coordinator, said the city plans to make the parade an annual event. She said it was designed to be a holiday celebration, not just a religious Christmas event.

"Carbondale is truly diverse," she said.

The student who startled the campus by emitting a holiday glow is still undecided about a mim-series. "If I do it, I want to work with Meryl and Kevin, but I don't think my experience, while very memorable, is that big a deal," said the modest junior.

It all started when an ArtCarved ring was chosen from a large selection of men's and women's finely crafted gold rings. The ring with its lifetime guarantee was a holiday gift. After wearing it, the student began to emit a holiday glow.

SIUC should strike balance in research

ALTHOUGH THE FACULTY 21st Century Plan lacks former Chancellor Pettit's sense of grandeur, it provides a way for SIUC to be good at what it can do—successfully compete at its own level.

The 21st Century Plan calls for less emphasis on research for the University.

The weight placed upon achieving Carnegie Research I status for the University is the main difference between the faculty 21st Century Plan and Pettit's 1990 Strategic Plan that declared the status as vital.

THE 21ST CENTURY PLAN realistically provides a strategy for the University to hurdle budget traps while setting the pace for excellence.

The faculty plan takes a more practical approach in leading SIUC into the next century by allowing it to maintain and enhance existing assets.

The weight Pettit's plan places on the research status unnecessarily would drag the University through upcoming financial quagmire.

SIUC PRESENTLY HOLDS Carnegie Research II status. Moving up to Research I status within five to 10 years, as called for in Pettit's plan, would put more emphasis on quantity instead of quality research.

In effect, the Carnegie Research I classification would leave SIUC spinning its wheels, trying to compete with other institutions that have the funding contacts, the faculty and graduate students, and facilities to operate at the Research I level.

Achieving Carnegie Research I classification for SIUC would result in a mismatch not unlike the football Salukis competing in the Big 10—not a productive use of SIUC resources.

PETTIT'S PLAN FOR SIUC to move to Research I status recommends increasing the number of graduate students from 16 percent of the student body to up to 25 percent, expanding the engineering building and providing for a new research facility for the biological sciences.

The University's main mission should be to do more with less: Recruiting goals should focus on attracting higher quality graduate students and well-rounded faculty. Funding priorities should allow for achieving excellence in a small number of superior programs.

THESE GOALS STRIKE a balance between the search of new knowledge with the pursuit of enhancing existing resources, including teaching.

Efforts to polish existing facets of the University, like a cut gem, will do more to make it shine among its comparatively sized counterparts.

These objectives of quality over quantity as outlined in the 21st Century Plan would better help SIUC to not only stay afloat, but to provide the means for strong sailing through rough financial waters ahead.

Students' ideas about fall break should matter

I think fall break at SIUC should be abolished.

First, "Housing Hassle" arises due to fall break installation. Closing university dorms lead many students to spend big bucks for unnecessary traveling. Let me assume here that each student who had gone home this fall break spent $50 for transportation.

This is a reasonable assumption because the public transportation cost you at least $45 to go to Chicago.

Then, it sums up to $625,000, assuming the half of the total student body had gone home.

Next year the residence halls will remain open during fall break. But, because University housing will not offer meal service or the same quality service they usually do for normal times, students will still be forced to leave Carbondale.

Secondly, I believe fall break interrupts students' education. Personally, I had a hard time studying again right after this year's fall break. I also heard my close friends saying the same thing.

Lastly, the University's installation of fall break is not supported by the majority of students.

Many times, I've seen students complaining about fall break policy. Some are hostile and give no credibility to the University officials because they think they are treated as immature children while the University officials made fall break without considering students' opinions or feelings about the policy.

I believe SIUC President John C. Guyon and other administrators should take heed in how students really feel about fall break policy and make wiser decisions rather than just sending students home.—Bob B. Kang, sophomore in philosophy.

USG needs to promote SIUC students' needs

IN THE NOVEMBER 26 edition of the Daily Egyptian there was an article which described how the Undergraduate Student Government President Jack Sullivan, and Chief of Staff Brad Cole, were both members of political parties.

This raises for me serious concerns about their priorities in student government, whether they are there to serve students or to use the resources of the USG to promote their future political careers.

Student representatives who aspire to become professional politicians, as the article states, may not be as interested in serving students as they are in carrying out their hidden political agendas.

One cited example includes using University staff for references in their resumes.

THIS RAISES THE question of whether these representatives are effectively working for students when they have a vested interest not to upset the people who will directly contribute to their employment chances.

I am not saying that I am opposed to student representatives being politically aware and getting involved in political parties, but I am concerned when these representatives declare publicly their objective of using their USG positions to get into professional politics, when they are supposed to be representing students' needs.

AT A RECENT USG meeting, a motion was also presented by Jack Sullivan and Brad Cole to the Senate attempting to restrict the Student Trustee from representing individuals and groups of students, and assisting them in solving their problems.

It may be that officers of the USG are not effectively meeting student needs, and instead of solving students' problems, they are attacking potential allies.

I personally find Jack Sullivan's and Brad Cole's platform offensive in that they may not see their role as one of student advocacy but instead, one of self-interest.—Dan Zipperer, graduate student in instructional technology from Savannah, Ga.

U.S. should withdraw from UN

Back on September 23 President Bush gave a speech at the United Nations that should alarm us all. He endorsed the use of United Nations power to dictate the internal political make-up of a nation. If this notion becomes UN policy, it is a clear threat to all nations including our own.

If ever the United Nations is given the military power to enforce this notion against any nation on earth, we shall have lost our freedom. Plans already exist to transfer enough military strength, including ours, to the UN "Peace Force," so that no nation on earth can challenge it. The action against Iraq was supposedly taken because of aggression against Kuwait.

But by urging in his speech that the UN sanctions against Iraq remain in place as long as Saddam Hussein remains in power sets a fearful precedent. As the John Birch Society points out, forcing Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait is one thing, but deciding that he cannot be the ruler of his nation is giving the UN the implicit power to force any leader out of any nation, even Mr. Bush himself.

The John Birch Society has long been a foe of the United Nations and also opposes Mr. Bush's "new world order" precisely because of its potential for destroying national sovereignty. We want to see our United States remain free and independent with liberty and justice for all, never subject to the dictates of any outside force, be it called "United Nations," "New World Order," or some other nice sounding name.

I admit Mr. Bush closed his speech by defining the new world order as "an order in which no nation must surrender one iota of its sovereignty," but notice that these closing remarks are completely contrary to the rest of his speech. His attitude as expressed in the main body of his speech is one more reason why our country should completely withdraw from the UN.—Bruce Taber from Kansas, Ill.

nice to have someone be pleasant to you when you are studying—even if you're paying them to do it."

Students who come to the Corner Diner and stay for hours eating and drinking mean good business, McCracken said.

"The way we look at it is that they'll come in and drink coffee," she said. "If they stay for more than three hours, they'll eat something, too."

McCracken said the restaurant also sells more coffee in the weeks before finals than during the rest of the year.

One of the best things about studying in a restaurant is studying with partners, said Angie Russell, a senior in psychology from West Frankfurt.

"If helps me focus in on what we're trying to study," she said. "You can learn from what they know, what you know and then pull it all together."

McCracken said the restaurant also sells more coffee in the weeks before finals.

Micki Ellett, a junior in administration of justice from Cambria, finds studying in the local diner among the clang of dishes and soft jabber of voices less distracting than studying at home.

"I have kids," she said. "There is no studying at my house."

Rabinovich said the diner has less distractions than home for her, too.

"You're forced to study here, instead of cleaning out drawers or wondering why your house is so dirty," Rabinovich said.

Restaurants can also provide more comfort than other popular places to study.

addressed if minorities work separately," he said.

Last month the National Society of Minority Hoteliers faced a similar conflict regarding its creation as an RSO.

The group questioned the CIA for trying to halt its creation, even though the minority group met requirements to become an RSO.

The purpose of the minority organization is to spread and to increase awareness about minorities in the hotel and restaurant industry.

Petros Koutsopanagos, CIA chairman, had said the minority society was too similar to the existing Hotel Restaurant Student Association, except one is open to all students and the other is open only to minorities.

Nancy Hunter Pei, director of Student Development, said the University is concerned only with the membership clause of minority groups, not their purpose statements.

USG and the CIA have every right to question potential RSOs it sees as redundant when deciding whether to approve them, but the institution recognizes all potential RSOs that meet their criteria, Pei said.

University criteria, like USG criteria, includes having 10 or more members in the potential group, having a democratically elected president and meeting federal and state laws. Meeting those criteria is the only requirement to become recognized by the University, Pei said.

"That doesn't mean (RSO) criteria shouldn't be looked at time and again," she said.

USG senator Penny Felton said the minority aviation students are forming the BAA to help themselves. Just because they want their own organization, it does not mean they are trying to segregate themselves from the world, she said.

James Graham, BAA co-founder, said he was surprised the name of the organization caused so much trouble. He said the two aviation organizations do not duplicate each other, and he hopes they can work together.

Tony Svach, USG vice president, said minority students he talked with said they saw the BAA as fair representation, not segregation. Senators need to talk with their constituents to find out how to vote on these issues.

"We just felt we needed our own post to hold onto," Graham said.

Tony Svach, USG vice president, said minority students he talked with said they saw the BAA as fair representation, not segregation. Senators need to talk with their constituents to find out how to vote on these issues instead of guessing how to make things right, he said.

"In their hearts, people want to do what's right," Svach said.

Koutsopanagos said he hopes both organizations can work to the betterment of the College of Technical Careers. In the future, he wants to see the senate recognize CIA's authority to use its judgment—not just its criteria—in deciding whether to recommend an organization.

In other business, USG approved a resolution Dec. 4 to support a refundable $1 annual fee for all students so SIUC could be affiliated with the Illinois Student Association.

The student body supported a referendum to use the refundable fee to be affiliated with the student lobbying group earlier in the year.

Svach said ISA works in the best interest of students and University students support the fee, so he was glad to see USG pass the resolution.

USG President Jack Sullivan had questioned what ISA has done for SIUC students in the past.

GPSC President Susan Hall, concerned that SIUC ISA representative Michael Parker is withholding information from student government presidents, proposed and received a resolution Dec. 4, allowing her to veto Parker's appointment as representative and the transfer of funds to ISA from SIUC.

Hall said Parker, who was elected CEO of the ISA board, has not shared with her personnel information about ISA which legal counsel has told him not to discuss.

"I feel uncomfortable being told my designee can hold information private from me," Hall said.

Parker was jointly appointed as ISA representative by USG and GPSC. Sullivan said he is not sure if Hall had the authority to veto either decision by herself.

calling for a more limited core curriculum in place of the current general education system and the internal filling of administrative positions.

David Derge, political science professor and former SIUC president, said sections of the plan that might cost more money probably would not be put into effect.

"Can 'X,' whatever that is, be done without any extra money?" he said. "Anything that's going to cost more money is up for grabs right now."

The 21st Century Plan was made public Nov. 18.

The plan will be reviewed by Faculty Senate committees and the Graduate Council. Those groups will make recommendations to the administration on which sections of the plan should be implemented.

Deans have said equipment funds, classroom supplies, and summer programs will be cut if the rescission goes into effect.

Jane Adams, assistant professor in anthropology, said the fiscal crisis will spur certain sections of the plan into action.

"We're definitely in a fiscal crisis," she said. "Something will happen."

The idea for abandoning the goal of SIUC becoming a Carnegie I institution probably will be instituted, Adams said.

"I think that was an unrealistic goal to begin with," she said.

SIUC currently is a Carnegie Research II institution.

The only difference between Research I and II institutions is the amount of external funding received. Research I institutions receive more than $33.5 million, while Research II receive between $12.5 and $33.5 million.

But Mary Davidson, director of the School of Social Work, said abandoning the goal of Carnegie Research I status is not an issue because the University already is heading in the Research I direction.

"I believe the University is going to move steadily forward to achieving that rank," she said. "To say we should settle for Carnegie II is to say faculty should abandon research."

The suggestion of having separate tracks of teaching and research faculty is a good concept, but there will be a problems, Davidson said.

A second-class citizenship might be created by dividing the faculty, she said.

The SIUC Faculty Senate Executive Council last Monday discussed sections of the plan

Three SIUC women bare-ly in Illinois semi-nude calendar

By Natalie Boehme
Special Assignment Writer

Three women from SIUC are barring it all in the University's name for the 1992 Illinois Coed Calendar.

Jack Dyer, executive director of University Relations, said SIUC does not endorse this type of promotions, but officials had no control or knowledge of the calendar.

"The official University would not choose this manner to promote SIUC," Dyer said. "But considering the type of people who would be buying the calendar I doubt they would be college material."

Candice, Jennifer, and Monica, whose last names did not appear in the calendar, could not be reached for comment.

Besides showing women from SIUC, the semi-nude calendar features models from the College of DuPage, Columbia College, Illinois State University, Joliet Junior College, Northern Illinois University, Northwestern University, Parkland Community College and the University of Illinois.

Frank Trebusak, publisher and creator of the Illinois Coed Calendar, said the calendar was a spin off from a section in his weekly paper, the DeKalb Nightly.

The paper sponsored a coed of the week feature, highlighting Northern Illinois University women.

But as the feature gained attention, readers suggested Trebusak put together a calendar along the same line except with nude models, he said.

Trebusak started the calendar in 1985, focusing on NIU students. He expanded to universities and junior colleges statewide in 1987.

Although all Illinois universities and junior colleges are not represented each year in the calendar, Trebusak said he tries to get a wide variety of models that represent Illinois coeds. Not all models are current students, but all have attended an Illinois university at some time.

"Taking a peek at the girl next door or the coed in your classroom continues to be the popular appeal of the Illinois Coed Calendar," Trebusak said.

Trebusak said super model Cindy Crawford is one of his success stories. Crawford's first shoot was as a coed of the week when she was 16, he said.

"She's not the only success story," he said. "A lot of people will criticize (for posing nude), but they don't realize these women are considering going into modeling professionally."

Trebusak said a few feminist groups on campuses have protested his calendar; however, it has never been more than a small group of people. Of the 12,000 to 13,000 women at NIU only 12 to 15 people have ever protested the calendar, he said.

"In my opinion it is sensual and pretty," Trebusak said. "If nudes are done tastefully and in good style we show these girls can be intelligent as well as pretty."

Next to each girl's picture is a brief description of the university she attends, her major and hobbies.

Trebusak said he contacts prospective models through classified ads in school papers and through model photographers.

An information package describing the calendar and the models' options are sent to women who answer the ads.

Then he selects the models from people who still express interest after reading the information.

"Basically the calendar is topless," Trebusak said. "It's the models' choice; none of these girls are pressured into it."

The models decide to what extent they expose themselves, he said.

Models are paid $150 to pose in see-through lingerie, $300 to pose topless and $500 to pose nude.

Trebusak said the calendar has a following nationwide with more than 500 orders this year from states other than Illinois. Trebusak estimates he will sell 3,000 to 7,000 calendars this year.

"When I first did the calendar in 1985 it was the first of its type at any state and I think it still is today," he said.

Professor haggles down price of advanced design computer

By Teri Lynn Carlock
General Assignment Writer

Professor Sunand Bhattacharya and his students are seeing 3-D in their classroom.

Bhattacharya, an SIUC assistant professor of art and design, was the key person in obtaining a state-of-the-art, 3-D computer graphics work station for the College of Communications and Fine Arts.

"The new computer system eliminates a lot of the time it takes to build a project," Bhattacharya said. "Previous product design students had no 3-D computer graphics."

The work station, valued at nearly $150,000 from the Alias Corporation of America, was acquired by Bhattacharya for CCEA's use for $20,000. The work station, complete with silicon graphics, is installed at the SIUC Small Business Incubator.

Bhattacharya said SIUC is one of only eight universities in the United States that has received the computer equipment in the last three to four years.

"There are close to 100 design programs in the country, and apart from the large scale super computers such as U of I has, this is the most advanced computer system available today," he said.

Bhattacharya developed connections with Alias Corp. through a regional sales manager at a Siggraph computer graphics convention. Bhattacharya showed the sales manager his students' work to try to persuade him that SIUC should be considered for a grant.

The corporation's first offer to Bhattacharya was the opportunity for CCEA to purchase the system for $34,000. But SIUC could not afford that price.

Then Maria Cropper, director of the SIUC Technology Center, assisted Bhattacharya in negotiations with Alias Corp. The corporation allowed CCEA to buy the work station at its year-end inventory because of connections with Mariah Boat Corp., Cropper said.

Mariah Boat Corp., located in Benton, gave industrial support to the college when it wanted to purchase the system from Alias.

Finally, after about two years of negotiations, CCEA was able to purchase the work station for $20,000.

CCEA is a division of the SIUC end system, with all the hardware and software, at almost half of the company's original offer," Cropper said.

The system, which is used today to develop television ads for companies such as Reebok, Timex and American Tourister, took Bhattacharya and his students about three months to learn.

"It is a very powerful system," he said. "It takes a lot of getting use to," he said.

Students are required to read manuals as well as be instructed by Bhattacharya. Besides his design students using the work station, computer science and cinematography students also have used the system, Bhattacharya said.

"I would like more involvement from students as well as faculty," he said.

One problem with the work station is the absence of a printer and a scanner. Bhattacharya said when it is time to transfer frames to video, he must look to other universities, such as the University of Chicago, as well as the Institute of Design in Chicago.

Bhattacharya is a past president of the American Society of Computer Graphics.

SIUC moot court team advances to nationals

By Katie Fitzgerald
General Assignment Writer

The SIUC School of Law moot court team will compete nationally next month in New York City after capturing the championship title in the regional moot court competition.

The national moot court competition is the oldest and largest mock court competition with more than 150 law schools competing.

The best two teams from each of 14 regions will advance to the national competition.

"We'll be facing the best law school advocates in the country," said R. J. Robertson, SIUC School of Law associate professor and team adviser.

The three-person team of third-year law students defeated its Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin competition last month in Chicago.

Because the midwest region constitutes the largest number of teams, the high level of competition makes it difficult to advance, Robertson said.

"We consider it a victory just to get to the national competition," Robertson said.

Twenty-five teams from 13 law schools participated at the Chicago competition, judged by the Young Lawyers' Division of the Illinois State Bar Association.

The moot court competition provides a hypothetical situation in which students are given a set of facts and writing and argumentative skills.

Teams were provided hypothetical cases in early September, giving them less than two months to prepare their case.

"To do this as an extracurricular activity is tough. Law school alone isn't exactly a piece of cake," said team member Lyndon Sommer.

The case scenario places a journal publisher against a manufacturer whose employee photocopied the journal's copyrighted articles.

Teams wrote case briefs that counted toward 40 percent of the overall competition score. The remaining percentage is based on oral presentation, Robertson said.

Brief writing is difficult because students must write briefs without faculty assistance, he said.

The SIUC team defeated Loyola University in the regional final to claim the best brief and best score overall.

"The better your brief, the better your chances of winning," Sommer said.

Teams are chosen by former team members after first-year law students complete a moot court course, Sommer said.

The team, Sommer of Carbondale, Terence Patton of Atkinson, and Frederick Schlosser of Springfield will take their case on to the nationals in January.

In their first competition last year, this team placed third at regionals and was ineligible for national level competition. Sommer said.

Profs to study birds' ability to store fat inside stomach

By Todd Weivaert
General Assignment Writer

Scientists from SIUC will take part in a baby-switch scheme of two southern bird species to help understand the ecology of the Antarctic.

Daniel D. Roby, an SIUC scientist at Carbondale's Co-operative Wildlife Research Laboratory, will fly in January to Bird Island, east of the Falkland Islands, to switch offspring of the prions and the diving petrels.

The switch will help scientists better understand the links between the species' diet and their environment.

Allen R. Place, a colleague from the University of Maryland, and SIUC post-doctorate fellow Jan R.E. Taylor will join Roby on the expedition.

Prions store undigested fat in their stomachs instead of on their bodies. The "sack" of undigested fat allows the birds immediate access to the energy. Humans and most other mammals have to re-mobilize fats.

The birds will be fed three indigestible, slightly radioactive substances that will tell scientists how fast food moves through the bird's system and how efficiently it is used.

The scientists will arrive to switch the offspring on the island Jan. 14 while the birds are hatching.

The scientists hope the project will provide more information on the stomach oils that allow the birds to carry the undigested fats. The scientists will compare the growth and development rates of the adopted offspring to find out if the switch eases the load of the food-finding job for the adults and perhaps boosts the survival rates of parents and offspring.

"Our main goal is to find out what is the importance of these stomach oils in ocean going seabirds," Roby said. "By studying these birds we hope to better understand how to protect or conserve these birds. You have to understand how they tick."

The test is a small part of a larger effort to better understand the Antarctic ecology. Scientists are concerned with the efforts to harvest krill (a small shrimp-like creature). This animal is the building block of the Antarctic food chain. A decline in the krill population would have a dramatic effect on the birds.

"The whole food web is based on krill," Roby said. "When you start harvesting that low on the food chain, you are dealing with some serious problems. Whales, birds, penguins—the whole area eventually feeds on krill."

"The Soviet Union, Japan, South Korea and Poland harvest krill for protein supplements for livestock and human consumption.

The birds are raising only one chick a season and scientists fear it is only a matter of time before the management of the Antarctic marine systems is necessary to ensure the existence of seals, whales and sea birds.

"The Japanese are marketing the krill for direct human consumption," Roby said. "It has to be processed because it is very strong tasting, but the Japanese are good at processing food from the oceans."

Success of the experiment hinges on the weather. Should the weather be bad, the scientists would not be able to get on the island and could miss the hatch.

Museum displays arts, crafts depicting Mexican way of life

By Jefferson Robbins
Entertainment Editor

The University Museum has a warm taste of Mexico on display through the chill of the December final exams week.

Samples of arts and crafts from the native Mexican Huichol Indians and other cultures line the walls in one room of the museum's Faner Hall exhibition space, on display until Dec. 13.

The Huichol Indians, reduced since the European conquest of the New World to a population of 9,000 living in north central Mexico, still create contemporary art and functional household items distinctly tied to their inherited culture.

Samples of Huichol clothing and accessories are displayed, including bolsos, or shoulderbags, and cendores (belts) woven from cotton and wool and colorfully embroidered.

Biggest-ever plan ready to rescue banking industry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government regulators are ready to begin the biggest round of bank and savings and loan seizures in history, rescuing nearly 600 institutions that could fail next year, The Washington Post reported.

Officials are devising strategies using new regulatory powers and $95 billion provided by banking legislation now awaiting President Bush's signature, the paper reported.

The Post said as part of the new strategy, regulators plan to step in more quickly when signs develop that a bank or S&L is in trouble and to seek mergers with healthy institutions rather than shutting them down.

The Post said as many as 400 banks and S&Ls are likely to fail next year, with the most costly expected in the Washington, D.C., area, New England and California.

Savings and loan regulators said as many as 170 thrifts could close, the Post reported.

By rescuing banks before they go broke, "You can actually make the case that you are crunching credit less," William Taylor, new chairman of the FDIC told the Post. "People have got to start being interested" in costs of the cleanup.

"We're trying to find the most appropriate form of resolution for the next wave," Timothy Ryan, director of the Office of Thrift Supervision, told the Post.

"We don't want to close down anything we can save," the Post quoted Albert Casey, new head of the Resolution Trust Corp.

Robert Clarke, comptroller of the currency, said, "We all agree it is much more desirable to keep the assets (of failed banks) in the private sector to keep them being managed by bankers rather than liquidators."

The FDIC predicts failure by at least 200 banks with $86 billion in assets for 1992. The agency said the toll could reach 240 banks and $116 billion in assets if the economy remains weak or real estate markets decline further in Washington, New York, New Jersey, New England and Southern California.

In a key shift, buyers of failed banks or S&Ls will no longer be allowed to take only the valuable deposits and branches, leaving everything else to the government. By requiring buyers to assume riskier loans and properties, regulators hope to reduce the disruption to normal business

The Huichol artists sometimes use peyote, a hallucinogenic cactus used in some Native American religious rites, to gain inspiration before creating their work.

One type of art to which this is applied, according to the exhibit, is the yarn painting—an abstract scene or image woven from colored yarn treated with beeswax and mounted on plywood or fiberboard.

Intended to depict the tribe's way of life, the yarn paintings on display feature revered animal figures and abstract representations of sun- and moon-like symbols.

The exhibit was designed as a project by students in an SIUC museum studies course, said John Whitlock, the museum director.

Whitlock, who teaches the Anthropology 450A course, said the samplings of clothing, pottery and Santa Clara tin masks and figurines on display were culled from the museum's archives and were of fairly recent dates.

"They've been collected over the years, mostly from the marketplace," Whitlock said. "It's all pretty contemporary, so it's conceivable that the oldest work in it might be 25 to 30 years old."

At least one piece of Huichol culture has been adopted in recent years by the United States—the Chia Pet. Lime leaf sage, or chia, is placed onto the rough clay animals and allowed to sprout as offerings in the Huichols' spring religious festivals.

The selection of pieces for the exhibit was assisted by Jo Anne Nast, the museum's curator of history, as a taste of a forthcoming display, Whitlock said.

"It was kind of orchestrated ahead of time," he said. "We're having a Huichol Indian ceramic exhibit opening here at the museum in January, and my feeling is the curator kind of wanted to preempt that."

This candelabra, currently on display in the University Museum, is one of the exhibits in the Mexican native folklore exhibit. The candelabra was originally used in special wedding ceremonies.

16 points and 16 rebounds matched his totals from all of last season.

"That was a nice ball game by da Silva," Herrin said. "He had 16 boards which is nice and he is making a lot of progress. He is going to get better and better."

Junior forward Ashraf Amaya, the game's top scorer, also put in the best performance of his career with 32 points and 6 rebounds. Together Amaya and da Silva were 23 of 36 in shots from the field.

The Dawgs opened a 21-12 at the 11-minute mark and appeared to be having their way with the smaller Governors. But Austin Peay made a 26-10 run to claim a 40-31 half time lead.

Herrin said the defense laid back in the first half, but there was no panic in the locker room.

"Our defense needed to keep (the Governors) on one side and not let them get back to the middle. We didn't do that and they were able to run some blind side back door cuts to the goal," Herrin said.

Austin Peay picked up where it left off in the second half and opened the lead to 12 points. But the Dawgs' battled back and took the lead for good with a jam by Amaya with 9:23 left in the ball game. It was all Saluki from there and the Dawgs held on for the win.

SIUC remains undefeated after four games and the Governors fell to 2-4. The Salukis' win was Herrins 100th in the collegiate ranks.

and senior long jumper Michelle Williams.

Bazou led the field with a personal record 45-1/2 6-inch throw while Williams won the long jump with a 19-foot 2-inch effort, as well as finishing third in the triple jump.

"It's hard to set firm expectations for the first meet of the season," Raske said. "But it's encouraging to see such strong performances because we should only get better as the season goes along."

Other top Salukis finishers include Laura Batsie, who finished first in the 1,000-meter race in 3:06.51 and Leann Conway turned in a 5:13.38 finish to take first in the mile.

"As a whole, I think we can pat ourselves on the back for this one," Raske said.

week.

"A lot of it depends on how the teams ahead of us did this weekend," Scott said. "I will vote for us in the poll, but even if we don't make the Top 25, at least people will look at us."

The Salukis started with an early lead and kept it throughout the entire fast-paced game.

Wisconsin pressured SIUC's 42-41 lead with :22 remaining in the half, but a foul on junior point guard Anita Scott brought the Salukis two points to secure them a 44-41 lead at the half—the most points scored all season in the first half for the Salukis.

In the second half, SIUC broke a 53-53 tie with a 16-6 run to bring the score to 69-59.

But the Salukis managed only one free throw by freshman forward Rocky Ransom the rest of the game.

Wisconsin got within 70-69, but a missed three-pointer and two missed free throws kept the Badgers at 69.

"It was a game where in the last three minutes it was anybody's game," Scott said. "But the kids kept competing and that carries a long way."

The Salukis survived a 27-turnover performance matched by the hosts.

"We made some critical turnovers when the game was on the line," Scott said. "Wisconsin had a great game plan, and they took away our offensive game plan, but we also took away theirs."

Despite a season-low 35 rebounds and a season-low 70 points, the Salukis shot a season-high 43.8 percent (28 of 64).

Four Salukis finished with double figures with junior center Kelly Firth leading the team with 19 points and eight rebounds. Junior guard Angie Rougeau followed with 14 points and seven rebounds.

Scott tallied in with 13 points and a career-high seven rebounds and senior guard Karrie Redeker scored 10 points and had four rebounds.

SIUC found the hole 13 of 14 times from the free throw line while Wisconsin was just 10 of 17.

The game concluded a three-game road stand, and Scott said the final game was critical.

"A win on the road gives the kids confidence, and that is important because it brings us together and will help us out on down the road," she said.

SIUC will next face Evansville at the Arena this weekend.

Herzog's holiday shopping begins with Von Hayes deal

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — California general manager Whitey Herzog, still aggressive after a one-year hiatus, made the first of several anticipated moves Sunday, acquiring Von Hayes for two minor league players to begin baseball's holiday shopping spree.

Herzog, who was fired from St. Louis in the middle of the 1990 season and took over the Angels' GM job at the end of '91, projected Hayes in right field. Herzog also hinted that Lee Stevens would star at first base, leaving free agent Wally Joyner out of the picture.

The Angels and Joyner, one of nearly 80 players available at baseball's annual bazaar, had apparently agreed on financial terms. But Herzog said team owner Gene Autry had voiced opposition to re-signing Joyner.

"I don't know whether he (Joyner) should be an Angel," Herzog said.

Hayes, who has a career .270 average with 139 homers and 667 RBI, was acquired from Philadelphia for pitcher Kyle Abbott and outfielder Ruben Amaro. Jr. Hayes was limited last season by a broken right arm, batting .225 in 77 games, and has a career .270 average.

Herzog, a wheeler dealer who traded 12 players and gained 10 at the 1980 winter meetings when rebuilding St. Louis, said he wasn't finished by picking up Hayes.

"This is just a start," Herzog said. "We were 13th in the league in runs scored, 13th in the league in home runs. We've got to make some changes. But this is just a start."

The winter meetings officially open Monday with commissioner Fay Vincent's "State of the Game" address. However, the week-long session is highlighted by the player movement accomplished through free agent signings and trades.

Barry Bonds could make this a very unique meeting. Bonds, who is signed through 1992 with Pittsburgh, was expected in Miami Beach to meet with some ballclubs in hopes of selling them on making a deal for him.

"First, you'd have to see if you could get him signed and second, you'd have to see what the asking price is," White Sox general manager Ron Schueler said, calling his team's chances a "long, long shot."

The New York Mets' $29 million contract to Bobby Bonilla prompted Bonds' expected visit. The deal, the highest ever in free baseball, not only shook the sport's salary structure but some players' egos.

Bonds, who becomes a free agent after the '92 season, is demanding similar compensation as Bonilla.

"I'm not going to try to trade Barry," Pirates general manager Larry Doughty said. "I'm going to have to be overwhelmed."

Imagine the figures dancing in the head of free agent Danny Tartabull, who batted .316 with 31 homers and 100 RBI — and has the same agent as Bonilla. Christmas could come early for the 29-year-old outfielder.

But the Los Angeles Dodgers' four-year, $16 million contract to Tom Candiotti and the Chicago Cubs' four-year, $12.5 million deal with Mike Morgan have made free agent pitchers like Frank Viola and Jack Morris demand long-term, megabuck deals. After all, Viola and Morris are winners.

In 11 seasons, Morgan has compiled a 67-104 record, posting his first winning season this year at 14-10 with the Dodgers. He's 32. In 15 seasons, Morris has a career 216-162 mark. The 36-year-old was 18-12 with Minnesota and was named World Series MVP in October.

"Those early signings really hurt us," lamented Minnesota general manager Andy MacPhail, who said their negotiations with Morris were at an "impasse."

At last year's six-day session in Chicago, 28 transactions were made involving 45 players for $130 million. As of Saturday night, $93.6 million had been spent on 13 players.

Recession? What recession?

"There seems to be a little more talking and meeting than last year," Schueler said. "This might be the first meeting I've been to where there are more talks of trades than free agents signed. This year's free agent list is not as strong."

Also to be discussed are the addition of expansion teams Miami and Denver in 1993, and possible realignment of the National League in which Cincinnati and Atlanta would switch to the East, and St. Louis and Chicago be in the West.

The Cubs are opposed to the change because they would play more games within the West division and at late starts, hurting their WGN superstation television programming.

Vincent will deliver his speech at 9 a.m. EST, to be followed by the Rule 5 draft.

Players left unprotected and not on a team's 40-man major league roster may be selected for $50,000. The Cleveland Indians have the first pick, followed by Houston.

Soviets to meet Yugoslavia in soccer's World Cup battle

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Soviet Union and Yugoslavia, two international soccer powers and disintegrating countries, were placed in the same group Sunday during a World Cup 1994 qualifying draw that was filled with intriguing matchups.

World soccer also welcomed the Baltic nations back into the fold after an absence of more than 40 years, then sent them off to assignments against some of Europe's powers.

Estonia was placed into the same group as three-time champion Italy, while Lithuania and Latvia were drawn into a division that included 1990 World Cup qualifiers Spain and Ireland.

Three-time World Cup champion Brazil and two-time winner Uruguay appeared to receive easy trips through the South American draw. Colombia, however, likely will have to win a wild-card playoff for a berth in 1994, when the World Cup comes to the United States for the first time.

A record 141 nations were divided into more than two dozen continental groups in the draw at Madison Square Garden. The event marked the first time the qualifying draw had been held outside the Swiss headquarters of FIFA, world soccer's governing body.

Only the United States, as host nation, and defending champion Germany are exempt from qualifying.

The remaining countries will bid for the 22 berths in qualifying games over the next two years.

Montgomery Ward Pricing Pledge
 For starter accounts Annual Percentage Rate is 24% (minimum finance charge 50¢ except in D.C. and NV.) Rates as of September 1, 1991. We will match any store's current advertised price at time of purchase. Plus, if you find a lower advertised price at any store, including Montgomery Ward, within 30 days after purchase, we'll cheerfully refund the difference. Simply bring in the ad and/or your receipt. This pledge is not limited to identical items and model numbers like some of our competitors. We will match the price on the same name brand item even if the model numbers are different. If shown on our comparable model charts. And on many items we will also match our private label item with our competitors' comparable name brand or private label items. Our sales associates in Electric Avenue, Auto Express, Home Ideas and our Seasonal Shops have comparable model charts of matchable items. Price Matching policy does not apply to sales of floor samples, one-of-a-kind, damaged or clearance goods, closeouts, limited quantities, special order tires, manufacturers' rebates, sales by other than local stocking retailers or merchandise sold in mail order catalogs.
