Six Students Nominated In Race For Spring Festival Chairmanship

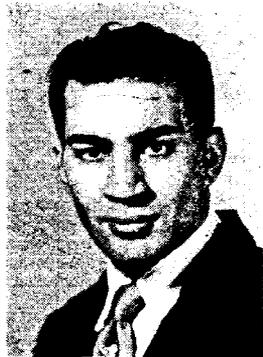

Six students were nominated for Spring Festival chairman in nominations held Tuesday by the Student Council. Dolores Hamp, Delta Sigma Epsilon, received the largest number of nominating votes totaling 25. Others nominated were Lou Diamond, Kappa Delta Alpha, with 22 votes; Lowell O'Daniell, Nu Epsilon Alpha, 10; Bill Sackett, 16; Mimi Alecci, Chi Delta in the nominations. Elections for the chairman will be held Tuesday in the crosshalls of Old Main from 8 a. m. to 4 p.m. Requirements for the Spring Festival chairman are that he must have at least 96 quarter hours and a 3.0 average.

Also in elections Tuesday, students will be asked to vote on the symbol and name they wish to be

BILL SACKETT

MIMI ALECCI

Chi, 13; and Gordon Tate, Chi Delt, with 19.

STUDENTS RECEIVING five or more votes but not getting the necessary 10 for nomination are Jeanne Webb and Phyllis Wolfe, Tri Sigma, Sara Parrish, and Jim Parker. A total of 20 were named adopted for Southern as a result of the symbol contest sponsored by the Alumni Service. The following names will be presented for student vote: Egyptian Warriors, Maroon Marauders, Southern Colonels, Southern Flyers, Southern Knights.

Southern Requests Operating Budget Of $10,606,317

Southern's Board of Trustees will request an appropriation of $10,606,317 for 1951-53 operating expenses.

Although the request to be presented to the state budgetary commission is $4,105,683 above that for the current biennium, Southern is not asking for any new projects, the board emphasized. The additional funds, the board explained, are required to make possible a steady development of programs now under way.

Request for funds is divided into four classifications:

1. Funds for the university retirement system of Illinois.
2. Funds necessary to maintain and develop the present established programs.
3. Revolving funds which will be covered by university income.
4. Funds which will be necessary to strengthen service programs for the Southern Illinois region.

Major portion of the increase is needed to pay the salaries of existing staff, salaries of necessary new faculty members, and current expenses of operating the university. To support this part of the University's program, an increase of $2,681,655 is requested.

THE PROPOSED increase also includes amounts necessary for efficient operation of the university's recently established service programs designed primarily for Southern Illinois.

The Vocational-Technical Institute is attempting to meet demands of labor unions and other groups for additional courses, chiefly for the development of skilled labor, which is a critical need for present and future operations at Joppa, Pa.

duch, and other points of industrial expansion throughout the southern counties.

Courses already have been offered in retail selling, coal mining, machine shop operation, and better business letter-writing for secretaries. In the field of building trades, the Institute has offered courses for both apprentices and journeymen in carpentry, plastering, pipe fitting, and blue-print reading.

NEXT YEAR, the Institute will offer a two-year course for high school graduates, featuring programs in the fields of business and industrial trades.

Another program in the developing curriculum is a three-year course in nursing education, scheduled to begin in September. As this program continues, the university will be able to contribute to the supply of nurses for which there is a vital need in the southern section of the state and to help meet demands of the military services. Other area service projects have been started in agriculture, with emphasis on application of research results through demonstration projects.

Concerning the budget request, President D. W. Morris said, "We at Southern are gratified that a university designed to serve the educational and service needs of Southern Illinois is finally an actuality. Our plan for a well-rounded program of instruction, research, and area service, as a result of the past help of the General Assembly and the Governor of Illinois, is now well established and is ready to expand to meet the demands of the area."

New Social Senate Meets; Makes Plans For School Dance

Southern's new Social Senate began operation this week at an organizational meeting Monday, and made plans for a dance to be held Saturday, Feb. 24.

The Senate consists of 14 Southern Illinois University students, who represent the school's seven leading organizations, Independent Student association, Girls' House Council, Interfraternity Council, Pan-Hellenic Council, Alpha Phi Omega, Girls' Rally and the Student Council.

THEIR JOB, as a sub-committee of the Student Council, is to co-ordinate all student social activities at Southern.

ISA is handling arrangements for the dance, including contacting an orchestra, and decorating the woman's gym, while the Senate is providing the necessary financial aid.

Next Monday the group will select its officers and begin discussion on other social events planned for the remainder of the term. In the interim, Tom Sloan, president of the student council, is acting chairman.

State Senate Passes SIU Building Request

Southern's request for a transfer of building funds advanced to the state House of Representatives, as the Illinois Senate passed and referred to the House three bills juggling funds appropriated in 1949.

The bills divert money originally earmarked for a new library building as follows: training school, $301,400; completion of power plant, $263,000; life science building, $664,000; dormitory, $615,000.

Senate R. G. Crisenberry (Republican) said construction estimates on the proposed library far exceed available funds and that the project was being deferred.

Speech Students Plan Two Week-End Trips

Southern speech students in forensics plan to make two trips this week end if weather conditions permit.

Doris Schwinn, Roy Clark, and Tom Sloan, accompanied by Dr. C. Horton Talley, speech department chairman, will attend the state contest for extemporaneous speaking and oratory at Monmouth college tomorrow.

At the same time, Southern debaters Jo Ann Eblen, Carolyn Read, Jake Lipe, and Norman Megoff will compete in a debate meet at De Pauw university, Greencastle, Ind. A. J. Croft, director of debate, will accompany the squad to De Pauw.

Students, Faculty Vote In Favor of AFROTC Unit

Southern's students and faculty definitely want an Air Force ROTC unit at Southern. This was indicated in a poll of more than 2,000 SIU students and faculty members in a special vote taken here Tuesday.

Of the approximately 1,800 students voting in the poll, 85.6 per cent of them favored the establishment of an Air Force ROTC for the duration of the present emergency while 80.4 per cent of the students favored the establishment of an Air Force ROTC on a permanent basis.

RESULTS OF the poll of more than 300 faculty members were similar as 94.9 per cent favored establishment of the ROTC for the duration while 85.9 per cent favored the ROTC on a permanent basis.

University officials quickly followed up this student-faculty approval by filing with the Air Force an application for ROTC.

Approximately 62 colleges and universities are to be selected by the Air Force for the establishment of AFROTC units. Southern is one of more than a 1,000 schools which are applying for such a unit.

Tenney, however, believes that SIU has a good chance for the acquisition of this military training program.

QUESTIONNAIRES were passed out Tuesday to the students and faculty to fulfill one of the requirements for application since the Air Force desires to acquire the school's over all opinion of an AFROTC unit.

The Air Force ROTC, if established at Southern, would provide for a basic course of two years military training for undergraduate students. If the student wishes to receive a reserve commission after the completion of the basic course, and is selected by the Air Force, he would then go on to finish the advanced course of two more years. Whether or not the basic course would be compulsory would be a matter of local policy which would have to be decided later.

Students would spend about three hours per week in the basic course and five hours per week in the advanced course. Credit for these courses would be established by the university. Upperclassmen taking advanced ROTC would receive pay from the Air Force.

ESTABLISHMENT of this military program would not interfere in the regular college curriculum the student wishes to take.

Students enrolled in the proposed AFROTC program and making satisfactory grades would not be subject to call by their Selective Service Board.

Previous application had been made by Southern for the establishment of Army and Navy units here. These units, however, are not available at this time.

IF SIU'S APPLICATION is approved by the Air Force, it is supposed that the Air Force ROTC would be established by September, 1951.

Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president, said an ROTC unit would help Southern's enrollment "tremendously."

ART MAJORS TO MEET THURSDAY

There will be a meeting of art majors at 3 p.m., Feb. 22, in room 203A of Old Main, according to Burnett H. Shryock, art department chairman. The entire art staff will be present, and certain matters of special interest, to majors in art will be discussed.

VA Guidance Center Closed Yesterday

After about five years of advice and work with World War II veterans, the Veterans Administration Guidance center closed shop yesterday in Carbondale.

The center, with offices on South Thompson, was sponsored by the Veterans' administration, and was not a university agency, although the University granted space for its quarters.

REASONS FOR CLOSING the SIU office is that the number of veterans needing its service has dwindled rapidly in the past few months, according to Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president.

Early days of the office were the busy days. In the fall of 1946, 1512 veterans swelled the SIU enrollment, and in the winter term of 1946-47 there were 1492 former servicemen.

ENROLLMENT figures continued to be well-stocked with veterans as late as the fall of 1949 when 1182 vets returned to Southern's campus.

This year, however, the ex-servicemen enrollment figures took their expected dip. Only 603 vets enrolled for the winter term. 460 of them being undergraduates.

Chief duty of the center has been to advise veterans about occupations, G. I. checks and supplies, and other problems.

GEOGRAPHY FRATERNITY SPONSORS COFFEE HOUR

Gamma Theta Upsilon, geography fraternity, will sponsor a coffee hour each Wednesday at 3:30 p.m., preceding a 4 o'clock geography lecture by Dr. Charles Colby.

Both the coffee hour and lecture will be held in the conference room of the student Center, and are open to students and faculty interested in geography.

Nominations for Oblivion

Recently some of our reporters told us some of their pet peeves. Here are some of their nominations for oblivion: The student who invariably waits until two minutes until the end of the class period, then asks a long, involved question which requires five minutes for an answer.

The instructor who, when a person asks about his grades replies, "Oh, don't worry about it, you're doing all right,"—then flunks you.

Girls who smoke cigarette holders and put cigarettes in them for show.

The instructor who gives you a B-plus when he could just as easily have given you an A-minus.

People who say after doing a favor, "Oh, I don't charge you anything . . . but if you just want to 'give' me something . . ."

Girls who would love to go to a dance, but would rather "sit this one out," all the way through the thing.

People who walk up to you and say, "I know it's none of my business, but . . ." and then proceed to ask some very personal questions.

Teachers who make detailed assignments and then forget to collect them—if you have the assignment.

Hot-rod drivers who pull out in front of you.

Dirty glasses in a restaurant or cafeteria.

Girls with the "I like you, but it can never be anything else" attitude.

The "carbon copy" songs such as "Cry of the Wild Goose" after "Ghost Riders," and "Beg Your Pardon" after "Near You."

Any more nominations?

Childishness

Childish drawings (apparently the work of childish minds) have been found tacked on professional drawings now on exhibit on the second floor of Old Main, according to Burnett Shryock, art department chairman.

He adds that some of the tacks have been removed from the exhibits, allowing the exhibits to fall to the floor, thereby damaging them.

We do not mean to praise the art exhibit, but the damaging of the drawings should be severely reprimanded.

Our not liking a person's performance at a concert gives us no right to damage his instrument. Likewise, our not liking an art exhibit gives us no right to damage a painting.

The pasting of childish drawings on the paintings may have brought several laughs to the guilty persons, but it simply is a sign of intolerance. To say the least, it is very low humor.

Actually, most students probably appreciate the art exhibit and appreciate the effort spent in getting it to Southern. Those who don't like it may criticize, but defacing a drawing is completely unjustifiable. B. H.

A Forward Step

Southern's students this week overwhelmingly gave their approval of an Air Force ROTC unit located here. We think this is a step in the right direction both to combat the falling enrollment and to give male students a chance to finish their education before entering the service.

The administration's quick action and the good co-operation and response by the students and faculty have set the stage for the establishment of the ROTC here.

It's now up to the Air Force. B. H.

The Storyteller

Aladdin and His Magic Lamp--A Re-release

by Bob Coover

Once upon a time in far-away Make-Believe land of fairies, goblins, no taxes, peace and other old-fashioned occurrences, there lived a young fellow named Aladdin Jones.

Aladdin's father was Murgle-troyd Jones (maiden name), who in turn was related to Montgomery and Kermit Jones, Louisa Jones Muck and Anna Jones Burrough. This has little to do with the story but might be of some interest to any anthropology student, considering the fact that Kermit Jones was a rhinoceros.

ONE DAY WHILE Papa Jones was looking over his 38 children (let it never be said that Murgle-troyd Jones did not enjoy life) he spied his gangly 18-year son, Aladdin.

"Aladdin," quoth his old man, "thou are approaching manhood. Git out of them diapers and go out into the world."

And so it was that young Aladdin, armed with an extra pair of socks, left-overs from the garbage Dispos-All, and Kinsey's books, set out on his search for fortune, adventure and romance.

On his journey he happened to run across an old fluorescent lamp. Picking up the remains, Aladdin started to brush off the dust, when ALL OF A SUDDEN—nothing happened.

DISAPPOINTED, ALADDIN threw the lamp away. As it met the ground there was a loud pop, a puff of smoke, and, with an 80-drum roll, a 12-trumpet fanfare, 33-cannon salute, and thunderous earth-shaking laughter, out stepped a monstrous giant with bulging muscles, shaggy black locks of hair, costume jewelry and eye mascara.

"Hammy," said Aladdin.
"Well," replied the genie proudly, "I didn't spend three years under Dr. McLeod for nothing."

"So, what's the scoop, droop?"
"I am in your power. You art mine master, and other such world-shaking statements."

"So?"
"You may have three wishes. Is there anything your little black heart desireth?"

"Whoops!" thought Aladdin, as he sat down on a rusty nail to ponder the possibilities of three wishes. What would it be: world-wide peace? riches for the poor? food for the world's hungry? a life-time reservation on Anthony Hall's passion porch? free beer at John's?

"Cripes! Sometimes," said Aladdin, "I wish this story would end."
The End.

New Curriculum For Art Planned

A new four-year curriculum has been designed to fulfill the need to qualify students for various types of positions related to teaching art in the schools, according to Southern's departments of education and art.

The new curriculum is being set up to fulfill state and university requirements for both the elementary certificate, which permits the graduate to accept a position as a grade teacher (grade 4 through 8) and the special certificate which permits the graduate to accept a position in the teaching of art on any grade level or in high school.

IN THE PAST, students have generally prepared either for high school or grade school work and have often found that combinations are available for which they cannot qualify.

Dr. Ted R. Ragsdale, professor in the department of education, stated that he feels interesting careers are available in this special field to persons who are not interested in professional performance as artists. Many persons interested in children and in teaching eliminate themselves from consideration of this as a field because of the misconception that high standards of technical skill and professional interest are prerequisites.

SIU Exposure

Reinert Favors ROTC Unit at SIU

By Harry Reinert

Our heartiest congratulations go to all those who are responsible for the great success of Southern's first Career Day—to the students and faculty who planned the affair, to the various persons who led the sessions, and to the students attending them. Many of the discussion groups had to turn students away because of crowded conditions. Although it is a shame that these students could not also participate in these particular discussions, it is gratifying to see such an interest displayed.

Southern Exposure learned last week—by bitter experience—that a mistake was made in the previous issue. Not the whole parking lot next to the music annex, but only the east half of the lot is now open to the public—that is, only the lot closest to the IC tracks. We apologize to any others who might have been misled by this error.

Among other things, cards were distributed this week to the students to take a poll concerning the introduction of an air force ROTC unit on campus. As this column mentioned before, there is certainly a no more painless way for draftable males (and who isn't now?) to get rid of part of their stint in uniform, in addition to getting a crack at a commission. We can only hope that the administration—backed by the student body—will exert all possible pressure to get such a program inaugurated at the earliest possible date.

Notable quote: Getting a college diploma with the least possible amount of effort is another victory of cleverness over intelligence.

Unusual Hobby

Trtanj Remembers License Numbers

Throughout the course of a college career, students run across a few individual differences, which may include personalities, occupations, and various hobbies. Among the many unusual hobbies of students at Southern, is that of Al Trtanj, whose favorite pastime is remembering license plate numbers.

A native of Madison, Al first started memorizing the numbers of license plates when he was a junior in high school, when his brother bought a new Buick. Since then, five years ago, Al has an indelible memory of some 200 plates, ranging from 924-618 to 1292-614, his newest addition.

THIS COLLEGE junior makes a practice of remembering the license plate number of everyone he knows who owns a car, in addition to those of important men in the government, and in religious circles. It is a fact that the governor of the state usually has No. 1 as his license number. But such is not the case with Governor Adlai Stephenson of Illinois. After checking on this plate, Trtanj found out that Cardinal Strich of Chicago now has the initial number in the state of Illinois, and Stephenson has a large No. 2 on his shiny, black car. It would seem to be a difficult task to remember the number of the people whom he has not seen for two or three years, but after a quick flash of thought, Al can tell you the exact number of any car he has ever considered.

ONE SUNDAY afternoon, an old fraternity brother stormed into Al's home, and among his first questions was, "Al, do you still remember my license plate number?" Al smiled and rattled off the exact numerical answer. Unbelievable as it may seem, Trtanj never forgets a number, once he learns it firmly.

Undoubtedly, this remarkable memory comes in handy in Al's collegiate work. A junior majoring in chemistry, Trtanj says remembering license plate numbers is a big help in his major subject. He says, "You think it's tough memorizing license plates? You ought to try chemistry equations!"

BOB COOVER, center, was elected as sophomore class president, with Barbara Ames as secretary-treasurer, and Doug Shepard as vice-president.

WE SHOWED 'EM

It's a great experience to make a trip with the home basketball team, especially if the team wins. Such was the case last Tuesday night, when Southern polished off Washington University at St. Louis. The boys didn't like the idea of being referred to as "a breather" in the Washington U. schedule, and when they got through, they had the St. Louis boys panting. The boys really put on a flashing finish, and coupled with the entire attitude that prevailed at Washington U., were in a celebrating mood following the game. By "attitude," we are referring to the way Washington U. fans treat their opponents.

Every time Southern had the ball, the Washington U. band started making noise to the tune of, "Take it away, take it away." When the Bears had the ball, however, it was a different story. The gym was expected to be as quiet as a test room. But thanks to a large following from Carbondale, plus the Maroon "B" squad, the Southern side was anything but quiet.

In fact, Southern's cheering section completely outclassed Washington's. Some 30 men, including alums Bob Colborn, on his way to the Marine Corps, and Norm Nilsson, former sports publicity director at Southern, made more noise than the 1,000 Washington students. It was really a shot in the arm to know that Southern does have a following after all.

WHERE IS THE CROWD?

This brings us to another problem. Athletic director Glenn (Abe) Martin has been somewhat put out by the lack of student attendance at basketball games this year. Although there has been a fair following, the home crowds are nothing like they should be. We have a good basketball team this year. Any cage crew that beats Washington, Eastern, Western, Millikin, and almost beats Evansville aren't sloths. Thus we agree entirely with Martin on the students' attendance this year.

However, all isn't lost yet. We still have one important game left this year at home—with Illinois Normal. Normal beat us on their home court, but we all know the story will be different here in Carbondale. So if the students can turn out in good numbers for this last home game of the season, we can give the basketball boys a vote of confidence before sending them up to Western next week.

In fact, why don't some of the frat boys get up a crew to send to Western on Feb. 24? We're sure that Abe Martin would be willing to fix things up about tickets. A large following at an out-of-town basketball game is one of the best insurances for victory.

THE BEST ON PAPER

By the way, our victory over Washington U. puts us in a high position on paper. Washington U. routed Missouri U., and Missouri U. beat C.C.N.Y. So on paper we're better than the team that won every major tournament in the United States last year—the country's champs. And we don't deserve good attendance at home games? A wrong answer to that question and you flunk the school spirit test.

Last Home Game With Normal Here Tomorrow

Coach Lynn Holder's Maroons* will be shooting for their 13th win of the season here Saturday night against Illinois Normal University. In their first battle Normal came out on top of a 57-53 score. Ed Sarver was the big gun for the Normal men in the last battle with 15 points.

This will be the final home game for Southern. After Saturday night they will start on a long road trip. Their away games include Western, Culver-Stockton, and Illinois Wesleyan.

The Maroons have a 6-4 conference record in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic conference. They are ranked fourth in the conference behind Northern, Eastern, and Western.

Coach Lynn Holder probably will start Millikin, Nickolaus, Garrett, Bozarth, and either Wickmann or Thate against Normal's Sarver, Brennem, Hughes, Hornsburg, and Holz.

Parking has been prohibited on the drive which circles through the main part of the campus.

Wrestlers Lose To Western In Close Contest

By Don Duffy

Southern's matmen entered their sixth collegiate wrestling meet Tuesday without a victory, and came out the same way. For the sixth straight time Southern's talent shy crew came out on the bottom. The final score, which read Western 16, Southern 12, was more on the respectable side than it has been in the past, however.

WESTERN won the first bout on a fall when their Harry Grubb pinned Russ Holbrook, Southern's 123 pounder, in 1:06 of the second period. Charlie Cutrell of 130 pound fame earned three team points for the Maroons when he outpointed Willis Wisely of Western by a score of 5-0.

137 pounder Jack Stoudt reverted back to his old form to beat Erie Huff of the Leathernecks 6-2, and put Southern ahead in team points, 6-5.

Art Hargis kept the rally going by beating Western's 147 lb. representative Dave Packard on riding time, 4-2. As the weight class went higher, so did Southern's team points. Derald Spratt elevated the score to 12-5 for Southern when he outpointed Noetzel by a score of 4-1.

The dreams of victory number one did not materialize for the Maroons. Western went on to win the three remaining matches and the meet. The Westerners were off on the road to victory when Gross beat Nick Veremis 2-1. Western took the lead when Robinson pinned Andy Bitta, returning to competition after a long lay-off due to a shoulder injury, in 1:43 of the second period.

SINCE LEON MAYER, Southern's heavyweight, is still sidelined, Andy wrestled in the 177 lb. class and Phil Bruno was moved up to heavyweight. Phil also went down in defeat, but for the first time this season. Macklin of Western executed one take-down and an escape in the third period to win on points, 5-3.

This victory gave Western three more team points and made the final score Western 16, Southern 12.

Cagers Overthrow Bears With Final Surge, 60-58

By Jim Kahmann

They were knocked down, beat out, and behind 13 points with five minutes to play, but Lynn Holder's basketball Maroons didn't know what it was to quit. That's the full story of Southern's 60-58 victory over high-flying Washington University of St. Louis last Tuesday night.

The score read 53-40, and the clock showed five minutes to play, when Southern's basketball team took on new life at St. Louis. The Maroons started a press all over the court, and when it was all over, Southern had dropped the Bears for their fourth loss of the year, 60-58.

Ernie Bozarth was the boy who put the Maroons in front, with a 25-footer with 25 seconds left. Bozarth scored only three points all night, but his lack in scoring was made up for by his magnificent guarding of one Charlie Cain, the Bears high-scorer, who was held to four points all night. Stan (Pony) Horst also turned in a good job in guarding Cain, when Bozarth was out of the game.

Captain Tom Millikin came through in grand style once again, scoring 23 points to lead the Maroons. Millikin completely outshone Cain, and raised his point total to 426 for the season. This gives the Pinckneyville captain a 19.3 average per game.

The Bears led all the way, until the final five minutes. After the Southern boys led for the first few minutes, Washington took the lead, and held it, at times by margins of 12 and 13 points. But Southern kept on scoring, and really turned on the heat when the chips were down.

Some fraternity boys from Southern were on hand for the game. And an old-time cheerleader, John Mulkin, doffed his coat to come out of hibernation once again to lead cheers. The boys really hooped it up, and partially aided in the holding of Cain to four points. Cain wasn't very effective after the crew yelled, "Stick a fork in Cain, he's done!"

Gus Miller led the Bears in scoring with 19 points, followed by Hadley Hasemeier with 17. Bill Garrett carried off second high-scoring honors for the local men with 11 points.

Kappa Delta Alpha Moves Into Lead In Greek Bowling

In Southern's Hellenic bowling league last Thursday, the Sigma Sigma Sigma quintet came out of hibernation in the lower ranks of the league to dethrone the erstwhile co-leading Nu Epsilon Alpha outfit in a humiliating defeat, with Wilma Wood's 458 the big factor in the sweep, aided by Rooney McCarthy's 386 and Connie Conaster's 357.

The Chi Delta Chi pinsters borrowed the brush from the Tri Sigs and proceeded to paint the Tau Kappa Epsilon five with the lily white finish. They put together 2407 along the route, helped no little by Bill Nichols' 558 beauty which was tops in that department. Jim Throgmorton's 499 and Gordon Tate's 484 also were vital contributions.

In the Delta Sigma Epsilon—Sigma Beta Mu fracas, the latter won a 2-1 decision with Don Solars' 495 accounting for most of the timber for the winners. J. K. Williams' 171 game sparked the Delta Sigma Epsilon gals to their only win.

In the remaining scheduled encounter, the Alpha Phi Alpha outfit forfeited three games to the Pi Kappa Sigma fems with Mary Ann Klingberg and Celia Hutton powdering the sticks for noteworthy efforts of 425 and 384, respectively.
