Dean Takes Hat, Davis Gets Cool

A very embarrassed dean of men is walking around the office of Student Affairs this week, and is skillfully eluding Dean I. Clark Davis, director of Student Affairs.

Dr. Joseph F. Zaleski and Dean Davis attended a meeting in the Cafeteria Tuesday and when they left, Dean Davis was without a hat.

Neither man noticed that Zaleski was wearing the brown hat.

But, all's that ends well. The only remains of the episode are a chilly noggin and an embarrassed dean.

Barnes Hospital in critical condition. Mr. Bresson worked in the Textbook Service for more than two years.

The youth was driving east on Bypass 66 about one-half mile east of Route 67A, near Granite City when his automobile was struck from behind by another car, according to a State Police report.

Making Left Turn Mr. Bresson was making a left turn into a driveway when the accident occurred at 1:50 a. m. Sunday. The other car was driven by David G. Wachter, 20, of Mitchell.

The car was struck on the left rear and shoved off the highway, where it turned on its side. A passerby helped Mr. Bresson from the auto, and he appeared uninjured. However, his clothing was drenched with gasoline from the vehicle's gas tank.

The witness said Mr. Bresson then returned to the overturned car, presumably to get something from inside, when the auto burst into flames, igniting the young man's clothing.

An ambulance rushed Mrs. Bresson to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City where he received emergency treatment. He was transferred to Barnes Hospital later.

Burns covered 65 to 85 per cent of his body. The Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department was called to extinguish the flames, and the youth was placed on a stretcher until the ambulance arrived.

Alton Graduate Mr. Bresson is a 1956 graduate of Alton High School and was following in family footsteps at Southern. His mother was graduated from here last summer with a master's degree, and his sister, Virginia, was graduated two years ago from SIU.

Michael Bernard Bresson was born in Wooster, Ohio, and resided for the past 14 and one-half years in Alton. His father, Maj. Bernard C. Bresson, is an instructor at Western Military Academy.

A member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Alton, Mr. Bresson was active in the Alton Civil Air Patrol and a member of the SIU Newman Club. He was residing at 408 W. Mill St., while in Carbondale.

He is survived by his parents, Maj. and Mrs. Bernard O. Bresson of Alton; a sister, Virginia, of Granite City; a brother, Alan, of Alton; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Weimer and his paternal grandfather, A. P. Bresson, both of Wooster, Ohio. The Statten Funeral Home in Alton is in charge of services.

Capacity Crowd Expected For Johannesen Concert Tonight

A capacity crowd is expected to greet the second Community Concert of the academic year.

Johannesen received rave press reviews from the New York Times following his Carnegie Hall appearance in November, 1958.

Two more dormitories at Small Group Housing are scheduled for completion today, but the possibility of a strike might cloud the picture.

Crazy Man

Disposable Mouse-Trap

SIU officials have signed contracts allowing a Chicago firm, Labline, Inc., to manufacture a radically new laboratory cage built by the SIU design department.

The new cage, designed to be thrown away after one week of use, is made of plastic and paper. It will be mass produced in two sizes, costing about 25 and 35 cents.

Typical stainless steel cages now in use for scientific study and research cost approximately $10.

The disposable animal housing project was first initiated by SIU Microbiologist Isaac Schmeistler and Harold Cohen, chairman of the design department.

Eight advanced students, under the direction of Cohen and Research Associate Robert Hunter, were then given a "crash program" assignment to develop the finished design.

The final design, perfected last summer, is based on a newly developed plastic, 1/8 inch thick but extremely rigid and transparent.

Other advantages, Schmeistler says, include more accurate control of experimental conditions because the mice live in quarters untouched by any other mouse, and the elimination of danger of contagious infection since the week-old cages are thrown out and burned.

Each of the cages can store enough prepackaged food and water to sustain an adult mouse for seven days.

Labline officials said 1,000 production models of the cage will be field-tested before full-scale production begins. Tests will be run at research agencies across the nation whose work involves cancer, space medicine and a wide variety of other fields.

Three other major scientific supply companies in addition to Labline bid for the manufacturing rights. John Anderson, SIU director of research, said the distributor will set up a separate production to handle the new equipment.

The University will earn royalties on each cage sold. Cohen said if the disposable cage nets only one percent of the mouse-house market, SIU's original research investment will be repaid four times in the first year.

Each recognized campus organization must have one or more faculty advisers who have been approved by the Office of Student Affairs.

Dr. Carroll Riley, SIU assistant professor of anthropology, has received a $4,000 grant from the U. S. Public Health Service to further his study of medical-religious practices among the Tz'utuj in northern Mexico during 1960, he says.

Riley will study native religious practices concerned with healing, especially ritualistic ceremonies which often continue for several days. He will continue his earlier study of the herbs used and will probe the mental health and psychological implications of the practices.

Book Mutilation Average

"Southern's book mutilation problem is no greater than that of any other university," SIU library director Ralph E. McCoy said in an interview Friday.

An even greater problem than that of cost, however, is the inconvenience to students, faculty and library caretakers, according to McCoy.

Faculty members are often called upon to help trace the identity of a person who may have stolen articles from the library.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Engineering of microwave relay and carrier systems keeps Bryan Clinton's job interesting and challenging.

"I got the engineering career I wanted ... and right in my own home state"

In 1955, William Bryan Clinton, Jr., got his B.S. in Mechanical Engineering at Clemson College. Now Bryan's with Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company at Columbia, South Carolina.

Cagers Batter Crusaders, 74-64; Illinois State, Western Next Foes

By Joe Gagie Staff Reporter

Coach Harry Gallatin's SIU Salukis, led by Charlie Vaughn and Tom McGrail, stopped Belmont Abbey Crusaders, 74-64, in the Men's gym Monday night. Vaughn tossed in 27 points and McGrail added 20.

In chalking up his 10th win against five setbacks, Southern added a sour note to McGrail's grandstand antics. The loss left the Crusaders with a 9-3 slate; they played Kentucky Wesleyan and Kelly Coleman Tuesday night at Owensboro, Ky.

McGrail put on a one-man show for the SIU fans with his crying, pleading with the referees and Gallatin, pacing, pacing, kicking, and stamping routine. Poor officiating added to McGrail's glory. For "Liner" from the act read colleague Ron Jacober's column.

The Salukis jumped to a 4-0 lead at the start of the game on baskets by Jim Gualdoni and Vaughn. The lead was short lived as Belmont Abbey scored the next seven points.

Controlling the boards, midway in the first half, the Crusaders grabbed their biggest lead of the night, 29-12. Jim Lytle and Danny Doyle found the range for the visitors; Lytle made a layup and a long shot, while Doyle scored over the head shot and a tip-in.

Sparkling a comeback drive by the Salukis was a three-point play by McGrail followed by buckets from Vaughn and Don Hepler, which made the score 20-15 with 8:40 to go in the half. Carl Leffler connected for Belmont, but Hepler countered for SIU. Then Lytle and Leffler put Belmont five points ahead, 25-21. Once more Hepler hit from the corner, and Jim Lazenby tossed in a long shot to pull the Salukis within one point.

Vaughn and Doyle matched free throws, making it 28-27. Belmont, dropping in two from the free throw line. Seconds later Charlie stepped up to the line and sank two more charity tosses making the score 66-58. Doyle joined the march to the line and made one; he missed the bonus shot and teammate Mullen was fouled. Mullen sank two free shots; the score was 66-61 with two minutes left.

Again Vaughn scored two more one-pointers, and McGrail made a layup to assure the Salukis of victory. McGrail and his men on the bench thought so as they walked to the dressing room with Belmont losing 70-61, and only a minute to go in the contest.

Sparrow made one from the free throw line followed by two from McGrail. Mullen drove in for a two-pointer, at last, and Vaughn got back into the swing of things by connecting for two more from the line. Thus the free throw practice session was over and so was the game! The final score 74-64 in SIU's favor.

The win was a must for Gallatin because Southern had lost 78-70 last year. Rivalry springs out of the fact that Gallatin and McGrail were roommates and teammates while playing for the New York Knickerbockers in the NBA.

SIU Captain Dick Ruggles started the game at his guard position but was forced to give way to Lazenby because stiffness in his ankle hampered him. Ruggles is recovering from a severe sprain that he received in the Eastern Illinois game Jan. 14.

The University's Air Force ROTC drill team performed at half time of Monday's game.

Southern won the game at the free throw line, hitting 20 of 57 attempts. Belmont hit 20 of 36 attempts from the charity stripe. From the field, SIU shot 379 to the Crusaders' 333.

Southern entertains Illinois State Normal tonight in the Men's Gym and plays host to Western Illinois tomorrow night. Prior to tonight's games ISNU's conference record is 2-3, while Western sports a 3-0 conference mark.

Scoring: SIU - Vaughn 27, McGrail 20, Hepler 12, Gualdoni 8, Lazenby 5, McClary 2.

Belmont - Mullen 16, Doyle 15, Sparrow 6, Lytle 8, McDermott 7, Von Bargen 6, Leffler 4.

Athletic teams at SIU were nicknamed "Maroons" until 1951 when the Saluki was adopted as the University Sports Symbol.

The most points scored in one football game by an SIU team was 118 against International University of Arts and Science (0) in 1914.

The Saluki basketball team faces a "must win" weekend tonight and tomorrow night as they face two tough IIAC foes.

Tonight the Redbirds from Illinois State Normal University are in town and tomorrow night Western Illinois hot-shooting Huskies (playing at Eastern in Charleston) will take the court in the Men's Gym.

Southern stands in third place in the conference with a 3-1 record, losing to Northern last weekend after winning three in a row. Western is in second place with a 3-0 (Northern is on top with 4-0) and Illinois Normal is behind Southern with a 2-3 mark.

Normal was picked at the pre-season favorites to repeat as conference champs but ran into some early trouble against Eastern, Northern and Western. They scored their first two conference wins last weekend in Michigan. The Redbirds have a flashy 10-4 overall season mark.

English Leads

Normal is paced by Big Ron English, Detroit, Mich. junior who leads the birds with an average of 21.7 points in 14 games. English has also pulled down 15.6 rebounds per game. Jerry Odell, senior forward from Galesburg, is second with 15.2 points and is third in rebounding with 9.6 per game. Odell is also the team's top free throw shooter, hitting 73 of 87 for .839.

Junior "Burr" Shaw, Edwardsville, is hitting at a 14.6 point clip per game. The rest of the starting line-up: Jack Hornak, Chicago, and Dale Haywood, Edwardsville, are averaging 9.6 and 15.1 points per game, respectively.

The Redbirds as a team have outshot opponents by 435 to 323 points in the field, while scoring 27.3 points per game to 72.6 for all opponents.

Gymnasts Get Rest, Meet Lowly Eastern

The Saluki gymnasts, fresh from wins over the tough University of Illinois and Air Force Academy gymnastic teams, travel to Charleston in a meet against the Eastern Illinois Panthers tomorrow.

Captain Don Kitchen will lead four other Eastern lettermen against the Saluki's. Kitchen topped the Panthers in scoring last year with 112 1/2 points as Eastern went winless in seven meets. Other lettermen are John Armour, Sam Clark, Jack Goodfellow and Jim Wendling.

When the Saluki's go against the Panthers they will be seeking their fifth straight victory against the lowly rated Panthers. The Saluki's drubbed Eastern twice last year, 101-27 and 77-46.

Southern's youngsters had a busy time last week, winning two and losing one. The Saluki's handed University of Illinois its third home defeat in 12 years. The other two teams were Michigan State and Penn State.

The Saluki's captured five firsts in the seven events, going one-two in tumbling and trampolining to hand Illinois its first loss of the season. Southern won every event against the Falcons of the Air Force, sweeping 1-2-3 in the still rings. Iowa, led by Bill Bucks 30 points, hit brilliantly to win four of the seven events, giving the Saluki's their first loss of the season.

"ICE CREAM" PUTS ON SHOW

Al (Ice Cream) McGuire, head coach of Belmont Abbey, put on a one man, three-ring circus Monday night in the Men's gym. McGuire was practically worth the price of admission as he kept the crowd in stitches with his vaudeville antics.

McGuire lived up to all his advance notices as he paced up and down the floor, kicked the scorers table, put his arms around the officials, ran out on the playing floor, and finally, with a minute remaining in the game, put his suit coat back on, and headed for the dressing room.

The colorful coach played his professional ball with the New York Knickerbockers as a teammate and roommate of Saluki coach Harry Gallatin. McGuire was tabbed as "Ice Cream" Al after his episode at Evansville college last week.

He made the statement that if Evansville beat the Crusaders he would buy an ice cream bar for every fan that attended the game. A record crowd of over 12,000 people turned out for the game-Evansville won. A dairy company picked up the tab, however, and saved Al a bill of several hundred dollars.

He also gave Evansville a goal which he agreed to take back if he lost.

McGuire told Gallatin at one point in the game that he didn't know what the officials names were, "but I'll bet they are Jesse and Frank!"

Al did everything but stand on his head as he protested the officials decisions. "Harry, Harry, I'll never catch again," he yelled once. At half-time he put his arm around one official and said "Ya know fer, ya're the best fer I've ever seen."

At one point late in the game, Jim Lytle, sharp-shooting Abbey guard fouled out - but McGuire didn't think so. He ran frantically from the free throw line to the scorers table to the officials and finally to Harry Gallatin. "Harry, what are we gonna do!" Gallatin simply shrugged his shoulders. McGuire said, "What do you mean-you've got all your relation behind this (pointing to the scorers table)?" He proceeded to head down in front of the table and threaten to take his team off the floor.

During a timeout, the pep band added their part to the stage show with their rendition of, "I Cried For You."

With only about two minutes remaining in the game, the officials called an obvious foul on Southern's Charlie Vaughn. McGuire sprang to his feet and yelled, "We don't want the damn thing!" He calls "em when the game's over. Harry, we saw that for seven years."

McGuire became confused with the two clocks in the gym. "Ya have to be a mathematician to keep up with this place," he growled.

The coach was so shook up after the game, he left part of his teams uniforms in the locker room.

"The fan reaction to the game was that McGuire had a good ball club. He had tremendous height. Most everyone felt that if he would have settled down and coached, he would have won."

It's no wonder McGuire couldn't keep track of the time in Mon-

Matmen Meet Rifenour 'Y'

With their 23 - straight wins streak broken by powerful Oklahoma State last Saturday 31-3, Southern's wrestlers go against Rifenour YMCA at 3 p. m. in the Men's Gym, tomorrow.

The loss was Southern's first in dual competition since 1866-67 when they were defeated by Indiana University and Illinois Southern swept through 23 dual wins before meeting State College boys, the defending NCAA champs.

The Saluki's now are 1-1 for the season, with an earlier 25-9 win over Central Michigan on the books.

Paul Tretiak, assistant basketball coach, has been assigned by the Pittsburgh Pirates as a scout for the Midwest. Paul, one of the greatest guys you'd ever want to meet, has nothing to do, to baseball at Southern. He has been connected with professional baseball in some manner or form for several years.

As of last week, Southern was ranked 20th in the nation in small college ranks. Two weeks ago, they were also ranked 20th. Evansville College was on top of the ratings and Tennessee A & I, with their only loss of the season coming at the hands of Southern, was ranked second.

Charlie Vaughn, Southern's candidate for Little-All American, was ranked fourth in the nation in scoring last week. Vaughn's average was a little over 28 points per game.

The 'Merc' Is Happy

Money And Recruiting Showed Shannon Way To Canadian Ball

By Larry Mayer Staff Reporter
"Money and recruiting both were factors which influenced my decision to play Canadian pro last season an outstanding football instead of with the Los Angeles Rams," explained Carver Shannon, former SIU football and track star and last season an outstanding rookie with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, during a recent interview at his Bailey Hall room.

The athlete, who was sought after by every American pro football team returned to Southern to work on his bachelor's degree in physical education. He later intends to work for a master's degree. Shannon talked in a serious and businesslike manner as he lay on his bed. He told how he arrived at a decision to sign for the Canadian team.

"During the pro draft late in 1958, Los Angeles and I negotiated on the phone sometimes two or three times a day for about a week. The Rams made me the best deal of any of the American pro teams $9,000 if I made the team," Shannon reported.

"Winnipeg's general manager, Jim Ausley and Bomber coach, Bud Grant, called me twice during Christmas vacation that same year. When I came back to Southern for the '59 winter term, they were waiting here for me. What they told me about Canada interested me. I got the impression that Winnipeg really wanted me."

"But the Rams wanted me, too, and they still want me. They called me twice during the past Christmas vacation. I'm not saying that I wouldn't go to the Rams," Shannon stated, "but I would have to get a better offer than Winnipeg's offer."

Shannon explained the major differences between Canadian and American football. The Canadians pro field is 65 yards wide and 110 yards long compared to the American gridiron's widths of 50 yards and lengths of 100 yards. The end zones in Canada are 25 yards deep instead of 10 yards as in this country. Canadian teams have 12 men per team including two fullbacks.

"The Canadian rules make the game more exciting to the fans."

Pirate Gloveman Seeks Help From Bender

Gene Baker, Pittsburgh Pirate infielder, Thursday began a battery of tests on his injured left knee at SIU's Physical Education Research Laboratory. Baker, 32, will be tested for three weeks in an effort to determine a program of exercise to help strengthen the knee. The Buc gloveman, who broke into the majors with the Chicago Cubs in 1963, injured the leg in St. Louis during the latter part of the 1968 season.

The tests will be conducted by Dr. J. A. Bender, director of the research lab, and Robert Spackman, SIU athletic trainer and physical therapist. The stress is placed on offense. When a ball carrier runs 50 yards in a Canadian game, he has done so without the aid of downfield blocking, and consequently the run is usually more spectacular than a run of the same distance in the U.S., Shannon explained.

Shannon laughed when he recalled an incident which happened in an exhibition game against Montreal—his first game of Canadian football. "One and caught a pass, and I gave what I thought was a fabulous block to a defender. But it resulted in a 15 yard penalty against us, because it was a downfield block."

"The thing to adjust to playing without downfield blocking. At first I would wait around for my teammates to block for me when I could have been making more yardage. I would forget that they weren't permitted to block downfield."

Winnipeg is the Canadian champion team of both the Western Provincial League and the Big Four Conference. The Blue Bombers defeated Hamilton's Tiger-Cats, 41-7, to win the Grey Cup championship game. Winnipeg played 21 games last season, including 2 exhibitions, 16 during the regular season, 2 playoff games, and the championship. The teams sometimes play exhibition games.

The ankle which bothered Shannon during his senior year at SIU gave him no trouble last season. "After the '58 football season, 'Doc' Spackman (Southern's track coach) and I worked on it. Track helped my ankle, even though I did pull muscles in it. Shannon hurt his leg in a practice the second week of practice at Winnipeg and was bothered by injury until the sixth week of the season."

That injury really scared me," he recalled. "I thought that was it. I thought they would cut me from the squad since I couldn't practice for awhile. "It is a step to go from high school ball to college ball, but it is more of a step to go from college to pro. In a pro camp, just about everybody was a college star."

The halfback stated that football is the No. 1 sport in Canada instead of hockey. Canadian football is well organized. Leagues are set up for certain age groups for the purpose of finding and developing Canadian players, and men who don't play on college teams can play on the league teams, Shannon explained. Football at Canadian colleges is "just catching on," according to Shannon. He reported the interest in high school football in the country is about like the interest in the sport in the U.S. Some weights were lying in a corner of Shannon's room.

"I'm going to work with those weights to keep my legs and shoulders in shape," he replied to a query concerning them. Shannon paused a moment and stared solemnly at the weights. "After all," he continued, "with his eyes still fixed on the same position, legs and shoulders are the life of a football player. If he has a bad leg or shoulder, he just as well call it quits."

Murray came roaring back the second half to pull within two points 70-68, the result of a full court press. Southern's Spila took matters into his own hands and scored six straight points on three short jump shots to pull the Salukis' out of reach. Coach George Lubel had the freshmen holding the ball in the final minutes and the Salukis' stepped to free throw line six times as Murray began fouling in a futile attempt to get its hands on the ball.

The Salukis' converted five of their free throw attempts to project their five point lead, 75-70 with a little less than two minutes remaining. Leroy Newton scored 18 points for the winners on seven of 12 field goal attempts and four of five free throw attempts. Dick Burda also scored on the double figures with 16 points on five of 10 field goal attempts and six of seven free throw attempts.
