SIU Doctoral Programs To Be Strengthened

Auto Hearing Set June 13

Hearings in Jackson County Court for the two students charged with damaging 15 cars early Wednesday have been set for 1:30 p.m. next Thursday.

The students, Gary E. Martyn, 19, a sophomore from Rantoul, and William Nowers, 20, a junior from Steeleville, have been released on $2,000 bond each, according to the Security Office.

They are charged with illegal purchase and acceptance of alcoholic beverages and criminal damage to property, authorities said. It was estimated that damage to the 15 cars in the Small Group Housing parking lot exceeded $1,000.

Martyn and Nowers have been placed in a status of suspension from the University, pending the outcome of the court cases, disciplinary officials said.

Authorities said the students had been drinking prior to the incident. Windows were broken, gearshifts were bent, a convertible top torn and other damage done to the cars.

Union Jack Still Will Be Raised Over Old Main

The British Union Jack will fly at high noon Saturday on the flag pole in front of Old Main as originally announced. A later announcement changing the ceremony to McAndrew Stadium was incorrect.

The ceremony, marking the official birthday of Queen Elizabeth, came about after Major H.R. Pratt Boorman, publisher of the Kent Messenger in Maidstone, England, flew a new 50-star American flag at Maidstone on July 4 1961 and again 1962.

Boorman had received the flag as a gift after he gave the annual Sigma Delta Chi lecture here in connection with the annual meeting of the International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors.

Boorman and his wife are making the 8,000-mile round trip by air from England to Carbondale to take part in the flag-raising ceremony.

Compete Oct. 13:

Eight Students Still In Running For SIU's GE College Bowl Team

Final eliminations in the G. E. College Bowl Quiz Show team held Wednesday, boosted one alternate into the first eight and temporarily eliminated two women students from that category.

Moving up is Noel Schannen, a junior. Out of the first eight for the time being are Fredna Carlson and Elizabeth Motley.

Kenneth Frandsen, coach of the team, said the selection of the eight to make the trip to New York Oct. 13, is not final. He said circumstances may change for the people involved and others may try out and move up between now and the appearance date.

Frandsen said eight will make the trip and four of the eight will represent SIU on the show. The other four will be alternates.

A film of the SIU campus is now being prepared, according to Frandsen. This film will be shown before the first appearance of the SIU College Bowl team on the NBC network next fall.

Frandsen said he and Robert Hawkins, professor in Fine Arts at the Edwardsville campus and the coach of the Bowl team on that campus, are planning intensive preparation a month or six weeks before Oct. 13. He said there would probably also be some summer practice.

Tenney Outlines Plans To Meet NCA Suggestions

Several changes will be implemented in the graduate program within the next few weeks to strengthen the doctoral programs at Southern, according to a recent announcement by President Delyte W. Morris to the graduate faculty.

After a recent study of SIU's various doctoral programs by consultants from the North Central Association, a report was issued recommending that several doctoral areas be proposed for full accreditation this fall, that some be proposed for preliminary accreditation, and that accreditation proposals for some areas be deferred until they can be further strengthened.

The North Central Association is the official accrediting agency for university academic programs and approves the programs at each level—bachelor's, master's and doctorate.

Charles D. Tenney, vice president for instruction, said the NCA has two kinds of accreditation—full accreditation and preliminary accreditation during the period when a school is developing and strengthening to meet standards for full accreditation.

Over the last five years, 24 doctoral programs have been developed at SIU. President Morris said in his report that at least 12 of the areas and possibly more can be proposed this fall for accreditation.

Each department knows where it stands in the NCA recommendations, Tenney said, but a list of those to be proposed for accreditation and those which probably will not be proposed this fall has not been publicly announced.

"It is a delicate situation," Tenney said. "While the NCA report has been helpful in pointing out strengths and weaknesses in our doctoral programs, if it were wrongly construed it might give the impression that doctoral programs at the University are weak."

"This is not the case, he said. The programs here have been progressing well but many are extremely young programs and in the growth stage, he added.

"There has been a doctoral program here only five or six years," Tenney said, "while at many of the major universities doctoral programs have been in operation for 60 to 70 years."

Doctoral programs have been operating in some departments at SIU for several years, have graduated several persons with doctorates and have had time to build up their staffs and strengthen the programs, Tenney said.

Other departments have been in business with doctorate programs just a few years and are not fully established but are on the way, he said. Many of these are ready for preliminary accreditation. Doctoral programs in some of the departments are just beginning.

Naturally, the NCA consultants decided in their report that some of the departments are not ready for accreditation, Tenney said. Some of the faculty members have disagreed and think their departments are ready to be proposed for accreditation, he said.

The result has been a series of discussions over the past five or six months over which departments should be

University Press To Release 18 New Books Next Fall

The University Press has 18 new titles slated for publication this fall, according to Vernon Sternberg, director.

The fall list includes such books as:

"Henry Miller and the Critics" by George Wickes. In this critical miscellany, the author brings together 21 opinions of Henry Miller and his work, with a postscript by Miller himself.

"F.M. Dostoyevsky: Dualism and the Synthesis of the Human Soul" by Temira Pachmuss. The author gives a new reading and insight into Dostoyevsky's work as a whole from the point of view of the artist as philosopher.

"G.B. Shaw: Creative Artist" by Homer E. Woodbridge. The author concentrates on Shaw as the creative artist and gives the reader a judicious and well-rounded book written from a deep appreciation of his long-lasting achievement.

"Remy de Gourmont: His Ideas the Influence in England and America" by Glenn S. Burne. This is the first book length study in English on Remy de Gourmont, the influential editor of the "Mercure de France" from 1891-1915.

"A Garland for Dylan

Thomas" edited by Oscar Williams. This book is an anthology of such tributes by the leading poets of Great Britain and America, some of them friends of Dylan Thomas.

Other books are: "Barbizon Revisited" by Robert L. Herbert, "The Wonder and The Glory: Confessions of a Southern Bibliophile" by Edward Alexander Parsons, "Naked as the Glass" by Jean Burdian, "Blood & Milk Poems" by Ruth Whitman.

"The Philosophy of Rhetoric" by George Campbell, "The New University Wits and the End of Modernism" by William Van O'Connor, and "Visions" by Francisco Gomez de Quevedo y Villegas.

All of the books scheduled for fall publication will be hard cover editions.

Bailey Hall Honors Raymond Foster, First Resident Counselor In TP

Raymond Foster, 61-year-old senior resident counselor of Thompson Point's Bailey Hall, was honored Wednesday night with a banquet given by the 120 residents of the hall.

President Jim Greenwood presented the retiring counselor a watch, engraved with the words, "From Bailey Hall 1963."

Jerry Wilson, captain of the Bailey Hall intramural track team, presented Foster with the first place trophy and a framed clipping of the picture layout from the Daily Egyptian, to be placed in the hall's trophy case.

Foster, an instructor in the Department of Educational Administration and Supervision, was forced to retire from his position because of failing health. He told of his reluctance to give up the position, but "the doctor thought I ought to avoid--well," leaving the rest to the imagination of his residents.

President and Mrs. Delyte W. Morris headed the list of guests, which also included Dean and Mrs. I. Clark Davis; Albin Yokie, coordinator of housing and Mrs. Yokie; and John Carlisle, head resident counselor of Thompson Point. Foster was the first resident counselor of Thompson Point, coming to Bailey in the summer of 1957. And in the words of President Morris, "It's difficult to think of Thompson Point without thinking of Mr. Foster."

Dean Davis commended Foster for his influence in making Thompson Point of profound interest around the nation.

Before coming to Southern in 1955, Foster was principal of the Harrisburg Township High School for eight years, and had served at the DuQuoin High School for 21 years previously. This is his 40th year in the teaching profession.

Foster, along with his wife Helen, plans to spend the summer touring Europe, but will return to the University in the fall to resume his teaching duties.

Sister Tolentine taught seventh and eighth grades in Washington, Mo., and in Morilton, Ark., and has taught home economics in high schools in Baton Rouge, La., and in Aviston and Teutopolis, Ill., before coming to SIU for her advanced degrees.

In fact, the degree--the first doctor of philosophy degree in home economics ever granted by SIU--will have to be mailed to her in Japan.

She is Sister Mary Tolentine, formerly of St. Louis, who left several weeks ago to take over her new job as head of the home economics department at Notre Dame Women's College in Kyoto. It is a new college for Japanese women.

A native of St. Louis, where her three sisters and three brothers live, she graduated from Notre Dame high school there; received the bachelor's degree in history and sociology from Webster College, St. Louis; studied home economics at Arkansas State Teachers College, Conway, Ark., and at Stout Institute in Wisconsin; and completed her master's degree in home economics education at SIU in 1960--the first Catholic sister to complete a master's degree here.

One of three American and six Japanese nuns on the faculty of the two-year-old college, together with about 40 lay teachers, she is finding the language her principal difficulty, according to letters she has written SIU faculty members.

She prepared for her new duties in Japan by intensive

Met On Tour:

Play Acting Turned Real For 2 Southern Students

Play-acting turned real for Victor and Jennifer West Cook, husband and wife who will get their diplomas here June 13.

They met on an SIU theater tour about two and a half years ago when the students were staging "Laura" for adults and "The Emperor's New Clothing" for children. They were in both plays but in "Laura" Jennifer had the lead and Victor was her fiance. Romance developed and they were married a year later, on Sept. 15, 1961.

The two continued their education and on June 13 will be getting their degrees of bachelor of science in theater. He's 25 and she is 23.

For more than a year she has been a stenographer in the Rehabilitation Institute and he is a staging supervisor for the University television station, WSIU-TV.

They'll be on campus this summer but plan to enter graduate school at the University of Florida, Gainesville, in September.

Jennifer is from Anna, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wayne West, reside. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor N. Cook of East St. Louis.

30 Summer Fellowships Granted Graduate Students

Thirty students have been granted summer fellowships, according to David T. Kenney, assistant dean of the Graduate School.

They are: Martha Corillon, speech correction; Louis Bubanovich, government; Bruce Norton, criminal delinquency; John Thompson, plant industry; Shelly Vanderborgh, music; William Ertling, VTI; Jae-on Kim, sociology; Saeed Nizami, government; Robert Matthes, agricultural industry; and Robert Griffis, government.

Emma Arancillo, speech correction; Eva Ventura, government; Judith Allen, rehabilitation; Nelly Cheng, instructional materials; Peter Cheng, government; Jeny Meyer, art; Germa Amave, educational administration; Norma Benner, home economics; Stephen Chen, government; and Fang-quei Quo government.

Paul Hartman, journalism Margaret Britton, sociology Susan Cummings, elementary education; Ming-huey Kao educational administration George Shamo, speech.

Also Sharon Karr, guidance Ray Ewing, speech; Gene Dahlin, industrial education Peggy Rippendan, physica education and Jonna Cornell, secondary education.

Associated Press News Roundup:

Hot Line Between US And Russia Worked Out

GENEVA

United States and Soviet Union diplomats reached agreement here yesterday on the technical details for a hot line designed to prevent an accidental war.

Full details were not immediately released.

The hot line—a direct communications either by telephone or telegraph—between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchov was originally suggested by Kennedy.

He made the suggestion during the early stages of the Cuban crisis when it appeared evident that the United States was ready to mount a full-scale invasion of Cuba and Russia was threatening to retaliate.

WASHINGTON

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., denounced as "fantastic" an Agriculture Department denial that its officials tried to keep secret the list of pesticides being sold without endorsement.

Without naming any of the officials he accused of "bureaucratic blight," Ribicoff told the Senate there have been instances when the officials tried to block public information on products which might be dangerous to humans, animals or crops.

QUESTION OF LEADERSHIP

Bruce Shanks in Buffalo Evening News

VIENTIANE, Laos

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said yesterday there obviously are North Vietnamese troops in Laos in zones controlled by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

He said Pathet Lao forces have been receiving a constant flow of arms and ammunition from Communist North Viet Nam since last April, when fighting erupted in the Plaine des Jarres area between Gen. Kong Le's neutralist troops and the pro-Communists.

This was the first time that Souvanna publicly accused his former allies, the Pathet Lao, of harboring North Vietnamese troops and receiving armaments from North Viet Nam.

CARACAS, Venezuela

Hundreds of Venezuelan police sought eight pro-Communists who Wednesday burned the U.S. Army mission, stripped occupants to their shorts and knifed a portrait of George Washington.

Three youths found loitering around the fire-blackened remains of the rambling, one-story Spanish colonial building were arrested for questioning.

Defense Minister Antonio Briceno Limares called on U.S. Ambassador C. Allan Stewart and expressed official regret.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the loss was small. The building was leased from the Venezuelan armed forces.

The Americans and their Venezuelan companions were left outside the burning building as the band made off.

WASHINGTON

The silver certificate—the last piece of U.S. currency which is fully backed by a dollar's worth of metal—will be burned, but don't look for any big bonfires right away.

President Kennedy signed a bill Wednesday providing for retirement of silver certificates to free 1.3 billion ounces of metal for use in coins. All dollar bills are silver certificates. There is also a relatively small amount of this type of currency in $2, $5 and $10 denominations.

The dollar bill will become a Federal Reserve note, the type of currency which makes up the bulk of U.S. money. A Federal Reserve note is backed by gold at the rate of 25 cents in gold for each dollar of face value.

Theater Group Elects Miss Hooker

Sharon Hooker is the new president of SIU's Interpreter's Theater.

Other new officers are Gerald Shriver, vice president, reader's bureau; Bob Meyer, vice president, on-campus productions; Shirley Elkin, recording secretary; Jeanette Dothager, corresponding secretary; Judy Lloyd, publicity.

They were introduced at the group's annual banquet in the Faculty Club.

A perspective of the year past and the year to come was presented by Mrs. Marion Kleinau of the Speech Department who is director of the group. And several readings were given by members.

BERLIN

Border guards of Communist East Germany today intensified their harassment of traffic on the autobahn linking West Germany with West Berlin.

In addition to delaying traffic leaving the isolated city, the Communists tightened controls of vehicles coming from West Germany.

Tactics of alternately tightening and relaxing checks, which were started Wednesday, again were being applied, West Berlin customs officials reported. Only outgoing traffic was affected Wednesday.

WASHINGTON

The State Department announced yesterday that U.S. commercial airliners will be allowed to fly over Cuba for the first time since the October missiles crisis.

The United States had imposed restrictions on flights by U.S. airlines at that time. Cuba never formally acted to bar the flights.

The department noted that airlines of other countries have been flying across Cuba for the past several months without incident.

Bizzel To Attend Data Institute

Jack Bizzel, business instructor at VTI, is one of eight educators from Illinois selected to attend the North Central Regional Business Data Processing Teacher Education Institute in Milwaukee, Wisc., during the summer.

The Institute will be in session June 17 through Aug. 9 at the Milwaukee Institute of Technology. It is one of five such summer institutes in the nation being conducted cooperatively by educational institutions, state boards, of vocational education and the technical education branch of the US Office of Education.

Plan To Strengthen Ph. D Program

presented for accreditation first, which departments presented second, etc.

One of the criteria used by the visitation committee in determining if departments are ready for accreditation is the number of people on the staff of that department with experience in supervising doctoral candidates. Therefore, some of the specialized departments might be consolidated in order to have enough qualified people on the doctoral program staff, Tenney said.

One of the measures included in President Morris' report to graduate faculty of things to be implemented soon is the reorganization into fewer and more functional areas four of the present doctoral areas, regrouping for greater strength in these areas, and reducing the number of doctoral specializations in one area.

The purpose of the report released by President Morris is to define the situation of the new measures, Tenney said. There have been a lot of rumors and fears expressed about the changes which represent misunderstandings, he said.

He reports by far the majority of all doctoral candidates are acceptable. However, Tenney said, the review may find that some are not qualified and these people will be encouraged to discontinue or change to another program. This number would be comparatively small, he added.

Tenney said this screening process occurs in any graduate school. Graduate school differs from undergraduate work, he said, in that a candidate in graduate school is not allowed to continue work toward a degree unless he seems able to make it.

An enrichment fund of $260,000 has been set aside to help the programs now proposed for accreditation and those programs preparing for accreditation at a subsequent time.

Some of the other measures include making strong additions to the graduate faculty by fall of 1963 through use of the funds mentioned above, adding graduate assistants, research assistants and equipment to the points of greatest need, and strengthening the leadership in a number of doctoral areas.

Tenney said one of the criticisms was an overloading of the qualified staff. People can be added to the departments to release the time of persons qualified for supervising doctoral programs, he added.

Another measure to be implemented is deferring acceptance of further doctoral candidates for the doctorate in the areas not now being recommended for accreditation at either the preliminary or full level. The programs in these areas will continue to operate, fulfilling obligations to present doctoral candidates but they will wait until they get additional staff and facilities before accepting new candidates.

Each doctoral candidate now in progress will be reviewed by strict criteria to determine if he should continue in the program, or be diverted to another program or school. Tenney said William J. McKeefry, dean of academic affairs, is working on the review.

Lindgren Book

Translated For Japanese Edition

"Yeast Genetics--1962," a 22-page brochure summarizing the then-current state of research, by Carl C. Lindgren, chairman of the Microbiology Department, has been translated in full into Japanese and published in "The Heredity," Japanese scientific journal.

Lindgren, director of the Biological Research Laboratory at Southern, has won international recognition for his studies of cell behavior as revealed in yeast.

The brochure was translated by Akira Yuasa, professor at the University of Tokyo, who spent a year and two summers working with Lindgren at SIU.

During the past quarter century Lindgren has published some 200 research papers in scientific journals. Reprints of his articles are in demand throughout the world. One recent article, "Viruses, Genes and Cistrons," has drawn more than 300 requests.

Lindgren has presented research papers before international scientific congresses in France, Sweden, England, Japan, British West Indies, Russia and Latin-America.

Abrams Plans Leave

Great Leap Forward

The end of spring quarter 1963 coincides with a number of great steps forward in Southern's growth.

One of the most significant achievements is the beginning of the Edwardsville campus. Construction on the core of the campus began just recently. More than 18,000 students will eventually be enrolled there.

This summer, construction will begin on the University Park Residence Halls east of the Carbondale campus. A 17-story women's dormitory will dominate the area which will include a number of smaller men's dorms. The residence halls represent yet another attempt by SIU to catch up with burgeoning enrollments. More than 1,800 students will be housed there.

With the beginning of summer quarter, Southern moves another year closer to an all-campus 12-week summer session. One year ago 100-level courses were taught for 12 weeks instead of the usual eight. This summer, 200-level courses will be taught for the full 12 weeks.

The move stems from a realization in American education today that schools are not being used to best advantage if allowed to lay idle and empty at any time.

The 12-week quarter is beneficial to the student as well as the taxpayer. A full summer quarter enables students to finish college in three years if they so desire. It also enables the university to eliminate the shock of huge fall freshman enrollments by spreading it out over four quarters.

Registration for this year's summer term is running ahead of last year. The expanded summer quarter can be expected to stimulate faster growth.

A small step in Southern's growth, but probably of more immediate gratification, is the announced move of the Sectioning Center from "that little house" to the floor immediately above the Book Store in the University Center.

June, 1963, marks a new period of growth at SIU.

Lobbyists Continue

Work In Dark

By Paul Simon,
Illinois State Senator

Illinois is one of the few states which requires no disclosure by lobbyists of what they spend. Recent action in the Senate indicates that Illinois will continue to be one of the states which does not let the public know what's going on.

Several of us in previous years have made attempts to have compulsory disclosure by lobbyists of what they spend. This was overwhelmingly defeated, due to the efforts of those same lobbyists.

At the beginning of this session it occurred to me that if we can not have compulsory disclosure, at the very least we can have voluntary disclosure.

I introduced a bill--co-sponsored by Senators Alan Dixon and Robert McCarthy--that made the proposal as watered-down as you could possibly make it. It simply said that the lobbyists "may" file statements showing what they spend to pass legislation or defeat it. That put it on a strictly voluntary basis.

This would permit those who would be willing to file returns to do so. It would give the public a little idea what was going on and who was spending the money.

Newspaper reporters then could have contacted those who did not file statements and ask the simple question: "Why didn't you file a statement?"

In any event, even this weak proposal was too strong for the lobbyists who barraged members of the committee with requests to vote the bill down.

The result was that the measure was defeated 10-1 in committee.

Significantly, no lobbyist had the courage to publicly come before the committee and oppose it. They had done their work ahead of time. There were no witnesses against the measure at all; there didn't need to be. They had the vote already.

By this I do not mean to say that all lobbyists are bad

Most are good, decent people who represent worthy causes. But if the honest lobbyists don't want to get tarred with the same reputation as the dishonest, they are going to have to speak up

There is absolutely no reason why the people of Illinois should not be told what is being spent to pass and defeat laws.

There are hundreds of lobbyists around Springfield

They represent everything from teachers to churches to gambling interests.

These people are experts in their fields and provide a valuable service to legislators. In a few minutes legislators can contact people; almost every field of endeavor and get opinions acquired through many years of experience.

But disclosures of financial would be a healthy thing for everyone.

Right now, for example there is a big fight between the rural electric cooperatives and the private utilities. Why shouldn't the public at the legislators know how much each side spends?

As long as you do not require public disclosure of these figures, Illinois will continue to encourage the undue influence of the dollar of legislation.

Until the public demands to know what is going on they will be kept in the dark. And those of us in the legislature who would like to know, can only guess.

Dick Moore's Alternatives

Part II:

Should Student Government be concerned with taking part in the democratic process on a local, state and national level, or should it concern itself only with such affairs as establishing bus service and programming dances?

This is a question Student President-Elect Dick Moore will be asked, because last year Student Government attempted, opposition or no, to transcend what its leaders called "the sandbox theory of Student Government."

We feel, of course, that Student Government has a potential. Its influence, both positive and negative, is apparent. It assisted the Athletic Department, for instance, in developing a contract which insures an athlete that he knows what he's getting.

Student Government also had a part, however minor, in the desegregation of Murphysboro and Cairo. The latter put up a fight, but it too joined the United States.

This is only an indication of Student Governments' potential. There is a lot more that could be done through responsible action.

Moore could, for instance, make certain that Student Government has a positive influence in Carbondale. This cannot be accomplished if

Moore decides "who are we to say that Carbondale should consider our proposal."

Moore could even rally voting students behind an important state or national issue, and communicate the dominant feeling to the appropriate party.

This cannot be done if Moore feels that Student Government should only be concerned with appropriating funds for a leadership camp. Such an attitude, obviously, would be the epitome of irony.

Moore has the potential, the age and the experience. We only hope he has the right principles and the courage of his convictions.

Letter To The Editor:

Library Needs Better Record System

I consider myself an average patron of the Library, withdrawing books, records, and so on at regular intervals. Items borrowed are returned in good time, keeping my end of the affair straight.

In the last two years this borrower has received, on the average, one summons per term from the Circulation Department to return a book which I have presumably neglected to turn in on time. Except for three instances where the fault was my own, the procedure is always the same.

Upon receipt of the letter I visit the Library, proceed to the appropriate stack, remove the book of which the Library has denied possession, and present it, along with the letter, to a circulation clerk at the desk.

Perhaps this shortcoming might be avoided if the cancellation of returned-book accounts were handled more carefully -- saving time, trouble and tempers on the sides of both parties involved. The fact that the Library is an impersonal creation with no feelings whatsoever obviates the necessity for Library personnel to see beyond their acquired anonymity and to inject an element of pride, and thereby care, into their duties.

Tennis Tournament:

Burge May Substitute For Lumsden At Meet

Southern's tennis team entered the College-Division of the NCAA championships yesterday at Washington University in St. Louis. But the Salukis might be greatly handicapped because Lance Lumsden, number one singles player, has not yet returned from Jamaica.

Lumsden, who left for his native country over a month ago to try out for the Davis Cup team, was seeded number two in the three-day tournament behind Los Angeles State's Gil Rodriguez.

"Without Lumsden," said a disheartened coach Dick LeFevre, "We're cooked."

If the tall Jamaican does not return in time for the tournament, LeFevre will try to use Wilson Burge against the field of 13 schools and 31 players. But LeFevre, who can only enter four players, may have a tough time in entering Burge because all entries had to be in by June 1.

The only other Saluki who is seeded in the large field is captain Pachito Castillo who was ranked fourth. Bob and Roy Sprengelmeyer will comprise the rest of the squad for the Salukis who hope to advance to the University-

Division final in Princeton, N.J. on June 17-22.

Although the Sprengelmeyer brothers were not seeded by the NCAA committee, both boys have only dropped one match between them this year. Bob is undefeated in 18 outings.

The Los Angeles school will probably be pre-tourney favorites because of Rodriguez, who has a 20-3 record this year and John Lee who is seeded third ahead of Castillo.

Other entries include the University of California (Santa Barbara) MIT, Northern Illinois, Oberlin (Ohio), North Carolina College, Southeast Missouri State, Southwest Missouri State, Trinity, Washington University of St. Louis, Wheaton College, and Wittenberg.

SIU has only met the host Bears this year, with the Salukis coming out on top 7-2.

Alkies Sweep Intramural Football, Softball, Bowling

It was an Alkie year in the SIU men's intramurals this school year.

The Alkies won the intramural flag football, softball and league bowling titles.

The Alkies won the softball championship this spring for the third straight year. They had little trouble in winning the title.

The bowling Alkies, however, had a tougher time winning. They squeaked into the roll-off by a half-point margin. Five other teams are in the running for the school bowling championship.

The Alkies flag football title was the second in as many years.

It appears that the old familiar cry to baseball "break-up the Yankees" will appear on the SIU campus but in a different version. The cry will be "break-up the Alkies."

Coach Martin Recruiting At State Tourney

Even though the baseball season ended officially last Saturday with a 3-0 win over Menard, next year's season has already started for Glenn Martin, baseball coach.

Martin left yesterday for a recruiting trip which will take him to the Illinois state baseball tournament at Bradley University in Peoria and then on to Chicago.

"Granite City is playing in the state finals and I want to see them play," Martin said, "I understand they have several good boys."

"Also there are bound to be several other top boys in the tournament which might help next season," the coach added.

"I am looking for outfielders this spring who can hit well enough to help us," he explained. "Kankakee has a real fine pitcher-outfielder who is supposed to be one of the best in the northern part of the state."

"I think we have a good chance of getting this boy too," Martin said, "I have written him several times and he indicates SIU is his choice."

Martin is also interested in Al Pilaudik, Belleville Junior College shortstop. He might be able to help next year in the outfield, Martin said before departing for Peoria.

Martin thinks his pitching in the infield for next year is sound unless several boys sign. Then he will have problems which he will deal with next spring.

Plan Guidance Meeting

Frank C. Adams, director of the student work office, and Benson B. Poirier, assistant dean of SIU's extension division, have been named to head off arrangements for the 9th annual convention this fall of the Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association.

The convention, October 11 and 12, will be held on the Carbondale campus.

Trackmen In USTFF Meet Today

SIU's track team which is nearing its peak this spring is competing this weekend in the first U.S. Track and Field Federation meet at Houston, Tex.

Lew Hartzog, track coach, has five Salukis on hand for the meet. Jim Stewart, George Woods, Bob Green, Brian Turner and Bill Cornell are the trackmen who will be competing this weekend.

This week's meet will serve as a tune-up for the NCAA meet which will be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Stewart qualified for both the federation and NCAA with his :9.6 and :21.4 times in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. If the weather is warm and the track fast Stewart believes he could run a :9.5 time or better in the 100.

Woods will be attempting to break the 60-foot mark this weekend after flirting with the mark in dual meet competition this spring. With the tough competition at Houston, he figures he will do it this weekend.

Green hopes to break the :14 seconds in the 120-yard high hurdles after consistently running the event in :14.1 for the past four meets. He wanted to break to :14 seconds against Notre Dame but failed.

He would just as soon break :14 seconds at the federation meet as any other place.

Turner is one of the early favorites in the three-mile run. He qualified for both meets with his times in the two mile run which have been just short of sensational.

Cornell will be entered in the half-mile run where he hopes to do as well as he did at the Drake Relays. In that meet he ran the 880 in 1:47.1 but had a running start.

Hartzog believes, however, that the British runner can come close to 1:47.5 or 1:48 on a flat start.

This is the first annual federation meet which has been formed by the U.S. Track Coaches Association of the NCAA in disgust with the AAU. This is part of the trouble which has caused the present flare-up between the two governing bodies.

Brooks To Study Swahili Under NSF Fellowship

Robert J. Brooks, lecturer on the staff of the Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Correction, has won a National Science Foundation grant to study Swahili this summer.

Brooks will spend eight weeks at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, studying the African language.

At the center here, Brooks frequently works with visitors from African nations who come here under State Department programs to study crime prevention.

Student Art Exhibit

The graduate exhibit of Gerald Gedekes of Oak Lawn, who expects to complete the master of fine arts degree in August, is currently being shown in the Allyn Gallery. His work included about 30 paintings, prints and drawings.

JOHN HOTZ LEADS PITCHERS

Hotz Leads Saluki Pitchers In Earned Run Average

John Hotz finished the baseball season with a flourish this spring and ended up leading SIU's pitching staff in earned run average and tied for the lead for the most wins.

Hotz completed his sophomore season with a 1.63 ERA and three straight victories. In the last three games he pitched opponents scored only one run off the 20-year old right-hander.

Hotz also tied with freshman right-handed pitchers Gene Vincent and Ed Walter for the most victories. The trio finished with four victories each.

Hotz also gave up the fewest number of hits on the pitching staff. Opponents managed only 25 hits off the sophomore hurler in 49 and 2/3 innings.

Walter led the pitching staff in a number of strikeouts with 59. He also led in the number of innings pitched. He appeared in 52 innings and gave up 32 hits in the appearances.

The final pitching statistics follow:

	IP	H	R	ER	SO	BB	W	L	.ERA
Walter	52	32	15	13	59	25	4	3	2.25
Vincent	38 1/3	32	20	15	43	16	4	1	3.53
Hotz	49 2/3	25	15	9	34	27	4	1	1.63
Edwards	44	36	23	18	22	15	3	1	3.69
