USO reps initiate new terms

By Eric Oestmann
Staff Writer

Undergraduate Student Organization representatives elected April 15 have begun their summer semester terms. The following is a list of officers and the area they represent:

The east campus residence halls — Neely, Allen, Boomer, Wright, Mae Smith and Schneider — are represented by Senators Ann E. Hutchinson and Dara P. Lawyer.

The Thompson Point residence halls are represented by Senator Peter P. Soliman.

The School of Agriculture is represented by Senators Joe H. Wills and Mark D. Huber.

The east side of Carbondale is represented by Senators Larvester Gaither, Jane E. Deppe, Andrew J. Repka, Debbie K. Alstad, Barry G. Selitzky, Charles A. Hageman and Kenneth I. Partee.

Undergraduate Academic Services are represented by Senator William L. Hall.

The College of Engineering and Technology is represented by Senators Jihad A. Hamdan and Nick J. Basil represent the College of Engineering and Technology.

The College of Business and Administration is represented by Senators Kwang Lee and Joseph C. Greenspan.

The College of Liberal Arts is represented by Senator Thea F. Rubin.

The College of Communications and Fine Arts is represented by Senators Sonja H. Yuill and Dale R. Kitchell.

The west side of Carbondale is represented by Senators Brian A. Adrian, Brenton J. Berdick, Rick L. Holmes, and Peter L. Schrader.

The School of Technical Careers is represented by Senator Kevin J. Marro.

The College of Science is represented by Senator Kent F. Hamra.

John A. Attard and Charles E. Levy are the newly elected USO president and vice president, respectively.

Attard said the USO acts as a middle man between the students and the University administration.

"Coming to the USO with a concern can be a little smoother for students because the USO officers are also students who may be able to better relate to the students problems," Attard said.

Vietnam vets display camaraderie

By Jackie Hampton
Staff Writer

Doug Robinson admitted he was at first wary when the Southern Illinois Vietnam Veteran's Coalition asked him to help with a two-day reunion held this weekend at the DuQuoin fairgrounds.

Robinson, 25, is a radio and television major. The veterans staging the event told him they needed someone with professional experience to coordinate media coverage.

"I didn't know what to expect," he said. "Some people said these guys would be angry, ready to explode. They said there would be weapons; people ready to fight.

"But, I don't see that here. What I see is families and friends having a good time."

The event was billed as "Turning Point '87," an indication that organizers Louis and Jane Russell of Du Quoin had hoped for a positive atmosphere for what was for some, a gut-wrenching experience.

For Robinson, the Vietnam era meant watching dispatches from the war zone on the evening news. But he had an experience that helped him to understand the twist of fate that haunts many veterans who watched their friends die.

"I was a Navy corpsman stationed with the Marines in Beirut," he said. "The only reason I wasn't there when the barracks were bombed was because my discharge date was in February. If it had been in April, I would've been there."

Robinson's experience made him appreciate the job the Russells undertook when they invited the region's 24,000 Vietnam veterans to a reunion that was bound to be emotionally charged.

"Louie is quite a guy and he's done a great job pulling this together in such a short time," he said. "Everything he's doing is something positive. Not everyone could pull something like this off."

Even if the only positive thing that came from the reunion, attended by an estimated 2,500 people, was a chance for the vets to get a reassuring hug from a fellow soldier, Russell said his goal had been achieved.

SIU-E textbook controversy settled

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

No action was taken by the state of Illinois concerning nearly $286,000 withheld by SIU-E from textbook rentals, but the University has voluntarily resolved the issue, University officials said.

The Legislative Audit Commission has reviewed the report from the Auditor General's office citing the University has wrongly withheld funds made renting textbooks by placing the money in a capital reserve account, but has taken no action on the matter, Lyle Manock, audit manager, said.

An audit report released recently from Auditor General Robert Cronson said SIU-E violates University guidelines created in 1982 by the commission and the state to regulate the administration of profits.

The guidelines allow for the creation of reserve accounts for profits for "repair and replacement of things like buildings and equipment," Manock said.

"The question is whether or not textbooks qualify for the creation of a reserve account," he said. "The office says 'no' but the University says 'yes.'"

The University believes they were right in establishing the reserve account.

"We feel we should be able to retain the account for replacement of textbooks when they wear out or when professors replace them, which they can do every three years," Earl Beard, SIU-E vice president of administration, said.

The audit report stated the University should pay the $286,000 to the State Treasurer's Office, Manock said.

If SIU-E pays the money to the Treasurer's office, the money could be "given back to the University for expenditures," he said.

SIU-E is voluntarily eliminating the textbook reserve account and transferring the money to a capital operating account, Beard said.

The money will possibly be used for a proposed renovation of the University Center, which includes relocating the textbook rental service there so it will be more accessible to the students, Beard said.

The money also will be used to computerize the textbook rental service and replace shelving, he said.

In the past, SIU-C also rented textbooks, but that policy was changed. "SIU-C quit renting textbooks in the late 1960s," Charles Hinderman, vice president of financial affairs, said.

Textbook rental was abolished because rental fees were not enough to replace books, because professors could not change books for three to five years and because of faculty dissatisfaction with the system, Hinderman said.

Gus Bode

Gus says they could have used the extra money to lower book prices.

South Korean president to meet with adversary

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — President Chun Doo Hwan agreed Monday to meet his chief political foe to seek an end to anti-government protests that entered a 13th day with students battling riot police in 33 cities. Also Monday, U.S. and South Korean officials expressed concern over the fate of the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul if the unrest continues. White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Gaston Sigur, the assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs sent to Seoul to assess the situation, would carry the Reagan administration's message "that we would like to see a dialogue with the opposition and we hope for restraint in ending the demonstrations."

Beirut suburb skirmish results in eight deaths

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — At least eight people were killed in fighting Monday in the Shiite southern suburbs of Beirut where an American journalist and his two Lebanese companions are believed held, and Syrian officials pressed to secure the captives' release. Pro-Syrian Shiite Moslem Amal militiamen fought members of the Meqdad family, a Shiite clan, with machine guns, rocket-propelled grenades and mortars for the second time since Friday, police said.

U.S., Australia at odds over nuclear testing

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — The United States and Australia wound up two days of talks Monday, agreeing on basic issues facing them but openly disagreeing on French nuclear testing in the Pacific and trade. The American team, led by Secretary of State George Shultz and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, defended continued nuclear testing at the French underground site at Mururoa Atoll in the western Pacific.

Rebel sheikh spurns reconciliation council

SHARJAH, United Arab Emirates (UPI) — The United Arab Emirates Supreme Council arranged to meet again Monday in an effort to bring together a rebel prince and the brother he ousted last week in a bloodless palace coup. Sheikh Abdel Aziz, 50, snubbed the council — made up of the leaders of the seven emirates — by failing to show for a scheduled meeting Sunday night at which he and his younger brother, Sheikh Sultan Bin Mohammed al Qassimi, were to ratify a reconciliation deal.

Tentative agreement might put North on stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt. Col. Oliver North and the congressional panels investigating the Iran-Contra affair reached a tentative agreement Monday that could allow North, the scandal's central figure, to testify in public in early July, congressional sources said. The agreement, reached between lawyers for North and the House-Senate committees, is subject to approval by members of the panels, who were expected to consider it in closed sessions today.

Dupont arsonists receive heavy sentences

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — A federal judge ignored prosecution recommendations for leniency and sentenced three men Monday to prison terms of up to 99 years for the New Year's Eve Dupont Plaza Hotel fire that killed 97 people. "It is very difficult for me to accept that the consequences of potential death did not cross the minds of any of the defendants," U.S. District Judge Jose A. Fuste said before sentencing the three former employees of the Dupont Plaza.

University offers awards for original ideas.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The University of Louisville announced Monday it will award two $150,000 prizes annually for the best original ideas for improving education and world affairs. The international awards, funded by and named after retired Louisville businessman H. Charles Grawemeyer, are believed to be the largest prizes of their kind in the nation.

Dance legend Astaire, 88, dies in wife's arms

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fred Astaire, the epitome of elegance in top hat and tails who danced his way with Ginger Rogers into Hollywood legend with a series of musicals that brightened the Depression and war years, died Monday of pneumonia in his wife's arms. He was 88. "I got in bed with him and I put my arms around him and he died in my arms," said Robyn Smith Astaire, his wife of six years. "He knew I was with him. He was happy. He was ready to go."

"Everything we set out to do, we accomplished," said Russell. "We've brought the vets together and re-established some good friendships, even if it has just been long enough for them to hug or grab a hand."

"We've brought the vets together and re-established some good friendships, even if it has just been long enough for them to hug or grab a hand."

-Louis Russell

There was a great deal of personal contact Saturday as the vets gathered to look for names of friends and relatives on a replica of the Vietnam memorial or listen to a vet give an emotional performance of a song he wrote about his Vietnam experiences.

"You see a lot of hugging and that's great," he said. "A lot of guys couldn't have faced the wall. But together they can do it. All they need is someone who understands to lend a hand."

The wall, is what veterans have given to the Washington, D.C., monument erected in their honor.

Frank Carlisle, who works in the Veterans Affairs office and is a senior in the aviation management program, said the event also helped get exposure for some of the programs Vietnam veterans are involved in.

Carlisle has been raising funds for a proposed $250,000 Vietnam memorial in Springfield. He said response to the idea was excellent.

"But it's mostly just great to see these guys out here talking. They're also raising some money for the outreach center the coalition is trying to get going. I think it'll settle down a lot of the things on the minds of the guys from this area just for them to know someone still cares."

Another person in the fund-raising business Saturday was Dorothy Lippert, Illinois Coordinator of the National League of Families of American POW-MIA.

Lippert said her son, Sgt. Timothy Bodden, dropped out of SIU-C to enlist in the Air Force. He has been listed as missing in action since 1967 when his plane was shot down during a combat mission in Southeast Asia.

She said that while events are important fund raising tools for the organization, even more important is the media coverage they elicit.

"The media have to be our messengers to Vietnam," she said. "We have to put pressure on the government there to get their cooperation to find out what has happened to these men and get them home."

AMA to vote on AIDS testing program

CHICAGO (UPI) — Despite criticism from some doctors, the American Medical Association's proposed stand on AIDS testing headed toward approval with a vote of confidence Monday from its most prominent representative — Surgeon General C. Everett Koop.

"I think it's a very good report," Koop said at a committee meeting on a report from the AMA's Board of Trustees on the AIDS epidemic.

"The wonder of it is that it so nicely balances the need for epidemiological information about the epidemic with the individual's civil rights," he said.

The trustees' report, which must be approved by the 406-member House of Delegates before becoming official AMA policy, recommends against expanding mandatory AIDS testing beyond select populations.

Stone House plans on the right path

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES and Chancellor Lawrence Pettit have decided that Stone House should be the chancellor's home, and they are right. When Stone House was built in the late 1960s, it was intended for then-SIU President Delyte Morris, whose position was what is now titled chancellor. But after the house was built, the job Morris held was eliminated and the house became the SIU-C president's home.

Chancellor Lawrence Pettit has outlined his plans for Stone House. He said he wants to hold meetings in the house. "We'll let people use it whenever it's available and appropriate," he said.

That's good. Stone House should not be just the chancellor's home, but, as Pettit has said, a meeting place.

Pettit said: "I believe a mistake is made when the occupants start thinking of it as their residence. If it is looked at as the University's house, then it becomes an asset, not a liability." It is good that Pettit wants to make the house an effective part of the University, rather than the beautiful embarrassment it once was.

THERE PROBABLY WILL BE student groups that will want to use Stone House as a meeting place. But that shouldn't be necessary.

There are more than enough rooms in the Student Center in which students can meet, and if Stone House is used as a meeting place for administrative business, that will free even more of the Student Center rooms for students.

Limiting Stone House meetings to administrative affairs may seem elitist, but there are times when decorum plays an important part in the effectiveness of a meeting. Stone House provides that decorum. And Stone House, located far from student activity, is not nearly as convenient to students as the Student Center.

WHATEVER PETTIT PLANS to do with the house, it should be kept public. Stone House has been surrounded by controversy since it was built in the late 1960s. The best way to eliminate controversy and the subsequent rumors is to go public. Presented with the facts, people have little to spread rumors about.

The Board of Trustees must approve any expenditure over $2,500 at Stone House. This is especially important to ensure that Pettit's taste differences with former SIU-C president and former Stone House resident, Albert Somit, don't become too costly.

The Board of Trustees has said it expects the Stone House operating budget for Pettit to drop to $112,000, down 42 percent from the house's $194,653 budget in 1986 when Somit lived there. That's a good first step toward a useful and effective Stone House.

Will shows homophobia in column

George Will in his opinion piece which appeared in the June 19 Daily Egyptian reveals not only his class, race and sexual prejudice in his thesis that middle-class white heterosexuals are not at risk for AIDS. He also displays an appalling ignorance and naivete regarding anal sex, as well as the spread of AIDS among heterosexual people. His statement that "the rectum, with its delicate and absorptive lining, is not suited to homosexual practices," would probably come as a surprise to the ancient Greeks we base so much of our culture on and the medieval royalty of England and France which so influenced our history. Will also makes the assumption that heterosexuals don't practice anal sex (see Kinsey or ask a few women on campus about their husband or boyfriend's sexual practices). Does he believe the AIDS virus is so intelligent and so moralistic it knows when to decipher anal sex between gays and anal sex between straights and will strike accordingly? This is unscientific and homophobic nonsense.

It is important to recognize that neither anal sex nor any kind of sex is the disease of AIDS. Nor is anal sex or any kind of sex the cause of AIDS. What is important to remember is that some forms of sex (vaginal and anal) performed in some ways (without the protection of a condom) make it easier for the AIDS virus to be transmitted.

Will does not cite the source for his statistics that only 4 percent of AIDS cases have been heterosexually transmitted. On one level it really doesn't matter because the important thing is how fast that 4 percent could quickly increase. Not all cases of heterosexual to heterosexual transmission of AIDS can be traced to intravenous drug use. In Zaire, Africa, ABC News recently reported nearly a half of the population is suspected to be infected with the virus. Will probably doesn't think this has any consequence or concern since the people afflicted are primarily black heterosexuals and not white ones, but it still needs to be acknowledged and dealt with — heterosexuals who do not practice safe sex are at as high a risk for AIDS as everyone else. The denial Will shows is as dangerous as his racism and homophobia. —Tommy Westerfield, graduate student, playwrighting.

Send letters to DE, George Will to D.C.

This is a formal request to the readers of the Daily Egyptian opinion page to please submit something — anything — for publication. In the last week I have grown increasingly weary of reading the asinine and myopic views of George Will. His column seems to be getting into the paper with alarming regularity. In particular, his recent comments on AIDS were reflective of his narrow views. The only logical explanation that comes to mind for including his brand of questionable journalism is the lack of alternative material. So please, do us all a favor and submit an editorial and leave old George at the Washington Post where he belongs. —Paul L. Logeman, social work.

Biker asks drivers to stop 'torture'

This is addressed to all motorists who truly enjoy torturing bicyclists:

What I cannot say to you as you're whizzing by at 80 mph in a 50 mph zone (though dangerously close), I'll say now while I'm alive and have the chance. I realize that being in a car is a temptingly safe, unidentifiable way to vent your frustrations, viciousness and perversions.

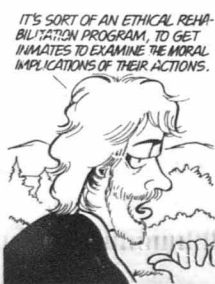

It's true just about any remark, obscenity or evil of human nature can be freely expressed or activated from the security of a quick getaway vehicle with six times the speed of a bicycle. But before any more lives are taken by this deranged form of entertainment (I'm tired of reading about the broken bodies of bikers who have been left to rot as their assailants rip off into the sunset), may I encourage you to please find some other way to amuse yourselves?

If screaming obscenities into the wind is your thing, set up a fan and do it from your bedroom window. If laying on the horn at innocent souls trips your trigger, sit in the driveway and heck at the bushes. And if swerving onto the shoulder of a bike route where bikers have a perfect right to be turns you on, commit yourself to the authorities — you're murderers. —Barbara Brewer, graduate student, journalism.

Memorial concert features solemn, inspirational music

By Winnie Stones
Staff Writer

Robert Wilson Kingsbery "loved music and he loved people."

That quote, from Keith R. Sanders, dean of the School of Communications and Fine Arts, set the tone for the memorial concert of the late School of Music choral director, held Saturday at Shryock Auditorium.

Mr. Kingsbery died April 28 at his Memphis, Tenn., home, where he moved after retiring from SIU-C in 1983.

ABOUT 110 alumni chorus and glee club members were on hand for the concert, put on by the Southern Illinois Choral Society. An audience of friends, family and former students took part in the tribute to the man many referred to as "Mr. K."

The concert was representative of the type of choral work Mr. Kingsbery conducted during his tenure as director of University choirs from 1961 to 1983.

THE ATMOSPHERE before the concert was solemn, accentuated when Robert Roubos, director of the School of Music, performed Mendelssohn's short organ work "Sonata IV (Chorale and Variations)" on Shryock's concert organ.

Sanders asked the audience not to applaud until after the singing of the final piece, Handel's "Hallelujah!"

But there were many times during the concert when the audience was so moved by the music that they appeared anxious to leap out of their seats and start cheering.

Choir alumna Kitty Mabus, who had a solo in the oratorio chorus performance of "Amazing Grace," said the action was one that Mr. Kingsbery would have loved.

THE HIGHLIGHT of the concert clearly was the performance by the Male Glee Club, which Kingsbery founded in 1962. The glee club alumni performed four selections, including the "Glee Club Opening." Mr. Kingsbery had improvised the piece before the club's first rehearsal on March 27, 1962, so the newly-formed male choir would have something to sing.

"Now we come your way, Singing songs of the day, old and new; We are men of song" was coupled with a song from Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Music Fraternity, "A Sinfonian Anthem," to become the Male Glee Club's theme.

AFTER SUCH selections from the full choir, directed by A.B. Mifflin, as Mozart's "Gloria, from 12th Mass," and the bone-chilling "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Sanders' no-applause request was getting difficult for the audience to abide by: after "Hallelujah!" the response was thunderous.

After the concert, a reception held in the Shryock lobby gave people a chance to reflect on the lighter side of

Mr. Kingsbery's life. That lighter side included well-known "Kingsberysms," picturesque and colorful expressions he used in everyday conversation.

DURING A rehearsal, a choir member might have heard in Kingsbery's Southern twang: "You're not counting — you're guessing!" or, "The sopranos came in like wet Kleenex."

In everyday conversation one might have heard "Frazzlin' thing ...," "Ain't that a hoot?" or "... as sure as there's a cow in Texas."

Seaver retires

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitching great Tom Seaver retired from baseball Monday 16 days after rejoining the New York Mets, leaving the team he carried to its first championship 17 years ago.

Seaver, with a 311-205 record and 2.86 ERA in a magnificent 20-year career, was attempting a comeback at age 42.

"I can't complain about anything," Seaver said at a Shea Stadium news conference. "I have had more than my share of accomplishments, championships and good times ... this is the time for me to go."

Seaver entered the majors in 1967 and pitched more than 10 seasons for the Mets. He captured the National League Cy Young Award three times (1969, 1973, 1975) and won 20 games five times, including a 25-7 mark when the Mets won their first World Series title in 1969.

Robinson drafted

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — The San Antonio Spurs selected David Robinson Tuesday with the top pick in the NBA draft in hopes the 7-foot-1 center from Navy will emerge in two years from the service as the impact player they long for.

Robinson will not be eligible to play in the NBA until he completes his two-year tour of Navy duty that begins July 1 at the Kings Bay, Ga., submarine base. It is possible Robinson will not sign with the Spurs and become a free agent by the time he is ready to join the NBA.

"He is the type of player you can wait for," said Spurs Coach Bob Weiss, whose team had a 28-54 record last season and won the first NBA pick in a May 17 lottery.

"We want to build a championship team, and he's the one we've got to do it with," Weiss told about 700 spectators gathered at San Antonio's Convention Center Arena to watch the draft.

Weiss said the Spurs were "very confident" of being able to make a deal with Robinson's agent, Lee Fentress of Washington, D.C.

Wimbledon:

1st day wash out

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Rain, the constant companion of Wimbledon, washed out the entire opening day's program Monday, and the gloomy atmosphere was further dampened by the withdrawal of fourth-seed Hana Mandlikova.

When weather conditions permit, two-time defending champion Boris Becker will put an official start to the proceedings on Center Court by playing Karel Novacek of Czechoslovakia.

Becker, the popular West German teenager, provided the faithful Center Court fans with the only highlight of a dreary afternoon when he made a brief appearance to check on conditions. The crowd cheered and applauded, and Becker responded by waving his arms.

Although rain frequently disrupts the program, this is only the fourth time since 1888 that an entire opening day's schedule was called off.

Future Dogs play Coal Bowl

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Several Saluki gridders-to-be turned in performances befitting their all-star status in the Southern Illinois Football Coaches Association All-Star Classic Saturday night at Anna.

Graduated seniors from the Black Diamond and South Seven conferences formed the victorious East squad, which romped 22-6 past the West, formed by graduated seniors from the Southwestern Egyptian Conference and Southern Illinois area independents.

Many names that figured prominently in Saturday night's action may become familiar names to Saluki football fans who watch SIUC grid action the next few seasons.

Dwayne Summers, a 6-2, 230-pound linebacker from West Frankfort, was one of several linebackers signed to scholarships this spring by Saluki coach Ray Dorr.

A two-year starter on West Frankfort's basketball squad and a formidable opponent in track and field, Summers played well in the all-star game and won East co-coach Steve Baillie's praise.

"He's a big strong kid and it showed," Baillie, an offensive coach with Herrin's varsity football squad, said. "We faced him through the season and he was tough then, too."

At one point of the game, Summers and defensive lineman Steve Young, also of West Frankfort, were on the field for 24 consecutive plays. Despite the long drive, the East defense held.

"That effort was a real compliment to the defensive players on our team," Baillie said. "That was a pretty long time to be on the field in muggy conditions."

The most visible player of the game — Bert Simon of Carbondale Community High School — also suited up for the East and didn't waste any time drawing attention.

Simon broke the first play from scrimmage for a 68-yard touchdown run that put the East on top to stay. Simon later added runs of 22 and 27 yards and finished with a 9.3 yard-per-carry average and 130 total yards.

He has excellent physical tools but he runs with reckless abandon," Baillie said.

Simon, like West Frankfort's Young, plans to walk onto SIUC's football team this fall as does Roger Yates, a defensive lineman from Herrin.

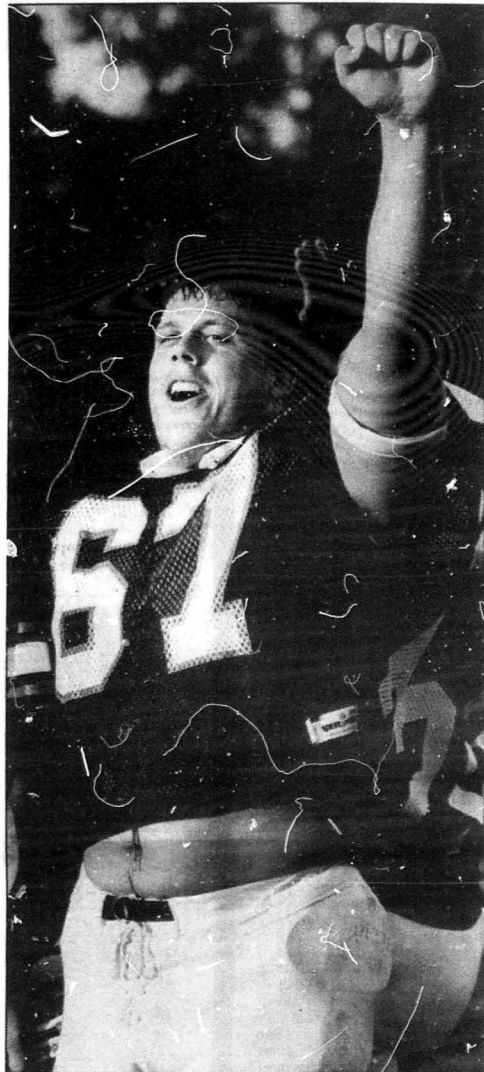

Two members of the West squad also plan on walk-on bids.

Tris Greenwood, a 215-pound fullback-linebacker from DuQuoin, rushed for 96 yards on 23 carries but fumbled twice, including a crucial turnover that squelched a long drive late in the game.

"Greenwood kept the West in the game down the stretch," Baillie said. "He's a bruiser and he played well."

Murphysboro's Scott Uffleman, a defensive lineman, is another who plans to try out for the Saluki roster this fall.

Carbondale's Tony Lasiter, perhaps this spring's hottest area recruit, made his last Southern Illinois area appearance in the Classic. Lasiter, an offensive lineman, will be suiting up for the University of Illinois this fall.

Aerobics good for all sizes

By Darren Richardson
Staff Writer

Exercise doesn't have to be boring, especially with the wide variety of aerobic events on tap at the Recreation Center this summer.

"The programs are comprehensive," said Kathy Rankin, coordinator of recreational sports here. "We have programs geared toward those out of shape as well as those in good physical condition."

Rankin said the exercises are most popular among students age 18-21, but added older students, faculty and staff members are also welcome to participate. "Workouts are geared toward fitness levels and not age," she said.

Some people are afraid to take the first step toward getting in shape because they feel everyone else is in such better condition than they are. But this problem quickly dissolves once the initial step is taken.

"You'll find people who share your particular fitness level," Rankin said.

"The beginner can expect an aerobic dance exercise class geared toward their own particular intensity level," Lindi Bitter, a graduate assistant in recreational sports here and an eight-year veteran aerobics instructor, said. "We try to achieve a taste of excitement for aerobic dance and how much fun it can be."

Low impact aerobics are a new edition to the schedule. The difference between these exercises and traditional aerobics is that at least one foot is always on the ground during the workout.

"In low impact, we use the arms and hands to get the heart rate up instead of the bouncing and jumping found in dancercise," Rankin said. "Low impact is beneficial for all because it maintains the intensity level while reducing the risk of chin splints."

Low-impact aerobics begin today at the Recreation Center at 5 p.m. and will run Tuesdays and Thursdays until July 31.

Another interesting possibility for those who enjoy water merriment is the aquacise program, often recommended by sports medicine physicians as a healing activity for injured athletes.

"Aquacise involves aerobic workouts in the pool. It's ideal for people with knee or ankle trouble who can't do other aerobics," Rankin said.

Aquacise events will run Mondays and Wednesdays at 6 p.m. until July 31.

Fitness walking is another example of how exercise can be a gradually beneficial experience.

"It's not a strenuous exercise, but it is one of the best aerobic activities to get started with," Rankin said. She added that those who aren't in the best of shape can begin the road to fitness with this activity.

Fitness walking begins July 7. Participants will meet in the multi-purpose room before walking from 7 to 8.

Intramural deadlines

Today is the last chance to sign up for the newly formed Dominos team tennis. The event, open to men's, women's and corec teams, has a captains' meeting set for 4 p.m.

room 158 of the Recreation Center.

Badminton Singles has a closing date of June 24 and is open to men's and women's divisions.
