City Police Resign; SIU Force on Duty

SIU Security Police and Jackson County sheriff's deputies took over law enforcement duties in Carbondale Wednesday following the resignation of all but two Carbondale city policemen.

Members of the City Council and the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners met in a special executive session Wednesday night in City Hall and were still meeting at press time.

Resignation of the 26 policemen followed the firing earlier in the day of Police Chief Jack Hazel. He was released as police chief by Richard Wilhelmy, city public safety director.

Thomas Leffler, chief of SIU Security Police, said 10 members of the security force were sworn in Wednesday morning as special officers to fill the positions vacated by the resignations.

NO 'Cooperation'

Police Chief Hazel Fired

Carbondale Chief of Police Jack Hazel was fired Wednesday because "he refused to accept and implement the orders and directives given to him," according to Safety Director Richard Wilhelmy. Hazel, 13-year veteran of the department, said he gave Wilhelmy a letter Tuesday evening explaining the unsatisfactory conditions and low morale existing in the police department. He said "I wrote the letter because this has reached a critical stage. I tried to talk to Wilhelmy about these things but couldn't get anywhere."

Wilhelmy said that Hazel's nine-page letter was full of "distorted facts in many, many instances." He said "We cannot have an elite police force without the cooperation of the chief of police and cannot get his cooperation." The letter states the resignation of Hazel's position was given to the police chief by Wilhelmy early Wednesday morning. It was signed by both Wilhelmy and City Manager C. William Norman.

Leffler said SIU officers would help until other arrangements are made sometime Thursday.

A Look Inside

"Acid" and "grass" at SIU—it's not all in the Department of Chemistry or the law in front of Morris Library.

As at many universities around the country, they are being used by SIU students, and, of course, they are really "LSD" and "marijuana."

For the past two months eight students in an advanced reporting class have been investigating the drugs situation at SIU.

A report—coincides with conclusions based on obtained evidence—appears in several stories on pages 4 and 5 of today's Daily Egyptian.

How many students use drugs? Is drug usage on the increase? If so, why? What is University policy regarding drug usage? Why do students use drugs? What is the effect of drugs on the mind and body? Is LSD a problem at SIU?

These are just a few of the questions for which answers were sought. Under the supervision of Kenneth Stack, instructor, the students tried to strip away the shroud that has tended to obscure the drugs situation at SIU.

Members of the reporting team were John Durbin, John Epperheimer, Tom Gaylo, George Koemeyer, Barbara Leebehn, David E. Marshall, Donald Mueller and Dean Rebottini, with the assistance of Durbin, analyzed the results of the investigation and wrote the final stories.

Wilhelmy appeared at a special meeting of the City Council Wednesday night, and told councilmen that a letter of resignation signed by the 26 policemen had been submitted by him at 3:20 a.m. He said the resignation was effective at 4 p.m. Two officers, a meter man and a part-time radio dispatcher, did not resign.

The letter to Wilhelmy said the policemen would come back only after Hazel was reinstated. In another letter addressed to the City Council, the policemen said that in addition to reinstatement of Hazel they would have to fire both Wilhelmy and City Manager C. William Norman.

Wilhelmy told the Council that he had asked the�

Firing Caps City Hall Wrange

By George M. Killenberg

Yesterday's dismissal of Carbondale Postmaster Jack C. William, Norman, the city manager, and the people below him. According to Mayor David Kenee, Norman is aware of the problem and is making an attempt to improve relations with his employees. The misunderstanding between city workers and Norman came to light during a recent discussion of the city hall personnel ordinance. The workers were reportedly upset over the personnel ordinance, seeing it as a threat to their jobs and employee rights. Not until Norman and a representative of the workers met to discuss the matter was the air cleared.

Another trouble-spot has been the political anarchy that has hung over city hall since the city elections last spring brought a new administration into office. The political loyalties towards the previous administration are still deep-rooted among some city employees, said Mayor David Kenee, and there is no attempt to eliminate his political foes.

Kenee denied the charges, "I have no political ambitions," he said, "and I'm not about to prop up any political dog fights."

The mayor and others feel that the root of the trouble has been the rapid changes that have taken place at city hall. "Changes are painful," Kenee said, "but they have to be made if this city is going to grow."

"There has never been any organization at city hall before," said George Fleurage, city attorney, "and because we are now getting some organization, it has caused bad feelings and resentment."

White Kenee and Norman believe that the changes at city hall are justified, particularly the replacement of some department heads by professional administrators, other officials feel the city perhaps is moving too rapidly.

At Tuesday night's Council meeting, Councilman Frank Kirk expressed concern over the expenditure of funds for professional administrators. As an economy measure, Kirk suggested eliminating the office of finance director and reviewing the office of city clerk.

In addition, Kirk said, the community is dissatisfied with the way the city is being run. Many people have complained to me that the city is not interested in economy. I'm beginning to ask myself if they're not right."

Councilman William Eaton also was critical of the city management stating that the city was not "fully utilizing its employees, dollars and resources. We have created a poor image within the community," Eaton said.

Kenee said that undoubtedly there is some citizen unrest in Carbondale, but he has no way of knowing if it is wide-spread.

"All I know is that the honeymoon is over here. All the people who have kept things from happening over the years are now attacking Mr. Norman and myself. But I'm not about to bend under the pressure. I'm going to keep on doing my job the best I know how," Kenee declared.

Dictionary of Drug Terms

Some clarification of the terms involved in the topic of drug usage— and the definitions themselves are often the subject of considerable debate and confusion.

Drugs: any organic substances which, when introduced into the body act on the psychological (nervous) system. This can include anything from cigarettes and coffee to morphine, barbiturates, pills, and marijuana, heroin and alcohol (acquired life support system— A.L.S.)

Narcotic: a class of drugs which induce sleep and stupor and which are especially used for anesthesia. This includes opium, opium derivatives, and barbiturates. (barbiturates do not relieve pain).

Opiate: a class of drugs which have the properties and action of opium; includes opium and its derivatives as well as synthetic opiates, like codeine.

Depressant: any agent which will depress (decrease) a body function or nerve activity.

Habituation: psychological dependence on a drug.

Supplementing the legitimate vocabulary is a drug jargon which is as changing as the psychological condition which "turned on." Some of the more popular are:

Acid: Lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD).

Benzodiazepine capsules or pills: (an amphetamine).<

Downer: Drug which brings someone down from a high or trip: a depressant, often tranquilizers.

Head: One who has become realistic in the orbit scene; often refers to a particular type of drug, such as marijuana user, an "acid head" (LSD user).

High: After effects of drug.

Nicher: Refers to the use of marijuana (or grass) with "Zig Zag" paper. The finished product is a reefer on marijuana cigarette.

Nickel Bag: A $5 bag of marijuana; a $10 bag is a "dime bag," etc.

Pot: Grass: Marijuana.

Speed: Crystal Methadone, an amphetamine. "Speed" is considered to be an extreme form of drug usage—not for the faint of heart or novice.

Up tight: Worried or nervous due to pressures, often legal, related to drug usage.

There is no virtual myriad of other terms involved with drug usage— from the now-obsolete "mary jane" ("Something only an idiot would call marijuana," one student drug user said) to "Floydian woman" (a man who had died in the League of Spiritual Discovery— the cult which breeds" LSD supersalemen Tomi Tim and Captain John Grist). In the psychology aside, it all comes down to the profound persuasions against the use of drugs. You must accept the responsibilities for living as an adult, to college campuses, the Army in Vietnam, pot was very easy to come by, everyone who goes over there tries it, so why shouldn't I get to like it.

Top: Of course, still other reasons—some of which the student-user himself may not be completely aware of. Richard Gruny, SIU legal counsel, cited the "growing permissiveness of today's society" as one of the reasons for the increasing use of these strictly taboo drugs such as marihuana.

The "Incentive of drugs is that if you can't make it in the square (real) world, you can always turn to the cool (unreal) world," Gruny said.

Daniel McMillin, instructor in the Department of Sociology, said the use of marihuana, for instance, can be related to "encapsulation," but that this particular drug has the advantage of not having "de-bilitating effects such as alcoholic hangovers." McMillin cautioned, however, that the "use of drugs has a very wide variety of effects, depending on the individual and the cultural differences which exist between our society and the drug-users'."

John Grenfell, associate professor in the Sociology and Correction Department, recently said that "Those who are in a state of life where most likely to have unpleasant affairs with drugs are.

. . . I can't foresee that marijuana will ever become as widely adopted as alcohol, although the legal statutes may one day change the possession of marihuana from being a criminal offense to a misdemeanor.

Wilbur Moulton, SIU dean of students, said: "It's like the situation we had in the 1920's with the prohibition of alcohol, but wait five years or so—you'll be able to purchase marihuana as easily as you did in Buckey today."

SIU student.

Gruny, referring to Gruny, SIU legal counsel, "It has been fairly lenient to those who have been caught with marihuana in their possession, if it is their first offense. The University realizes the young man is often trying it out of curiosity and takes this into consideration."

Gruny, who doesn't deal directly with narcotics investigation but who has given talks to other University authorities on the ramifications of illegal activities in narcotics, offers some different advice to drug-using underclassmen, however.

". . . severe action has been taken against those underclassmen who have been caught in the act of "pushing" drugs for a profit, and a large fine.

If SIU has remained somewhat lax toward the problem of drug usage among collegians, then it can be claimed that this is because SIU has not attempted to take advantage of recent advances in recent years, a less-than-comprehensive approach to the problem.

One of the particular appeals of SIU has always been its "small town atmosphere," and even today, with over 19,000 student on the Carbondale campus, it retains that appeal, for better or worse.

If attitudes of student and authority alike toward usage continue to change, doubtlessly the problem will become a large one. The social problem of drug usage here and elsewhere would seem to be linked with the general attitudes of society as to drug usage—pro or con.

At present, these attitudes lie in a nebulous, changing atmosphere, and no one—not even Timothy Leary or J. Edgar Hoover—knows exactly what society will condemn or allow tomorrow.

But for all of Leary's colorful promises and Hoover's frightening threats, the present time would seem to indicate a very cautious approach toward drug usage. There is too much uncertainty involved in drug usage today, and the attitude seems to remain that drugs are not the answer.
Drugs a Problem, But LSD Scare

Despite the vast publicity given recently to the presence of LSD on campus, a majority of students are not apt to be in much usage at SIU.

Although Capt. Carl Kirk of the SIU Security Police claims there is "quite a bit of LSD" in the area, the investigation of the drug situation at SIU indicates that LSD is not very prevalent.

Dr. Walter Clarke, physician with the SIU Health Service, said there haven't been many reported cases of LSD usage which required the aid of the Health Service in the past several years. "Maybe an average of three or four per year," he said.

Dr. Clarke said the Health Service is reluctant to admit a stranger into the patient's sleep off the effects. SIU's现象 at SIU indicates that a case of LSD is strictly in the experimental stages at the present time, but it had been thought that the drug could help psychiatry.

Richard Wilhelmy, Carbondale director of public safety, said, "It seems the use of LSD is dying out as many people have getting ‘high’ with it. There is a lot of people—and it should." Wilhelmy said his office had been involved with one case of LSD usage.

According to Donald Melzer, assistant professor in the Department of Psychology, the hallucinogenic effects of LSD are "grossly variable."

Melzer said, "Generally LSD seems to heighten the repression which may tip to hallucination." He added, "The more these hallucinations are good or bad to the user depends on several factors, including the mental set and the ability of the user, the time, the situation setting and the amount of the dosage."

"There is no real medical benefit from LSD," he said. "It is strictly in the experimental stages at the present time, but it had been thought that the drug could help psychiatry."

For the student desiring illicit drugs—for purposes of satisfying his curiosity or for a form of 'peace and drugs' involved, Carbondale is not exactly a healthful Village, and the supply of drugs here is rather limited.

People who do have access to drugs are, of course, required to have their confidence, and often they cannot obtain the drugs they need or cheap enough to supply someone interested in them.

The drug here, in comparison with the rates in larger cities such as St. Louis and Chicago, is rather expensive.

One student said he could "get the stuff" for about $5 an ounce. Another said the cost for marijuana was "about $5 for a ounce." He added, "The supply of drugs here is rather limited."-a statement that anyone interested in drugs would consider a large amount of "grass."

Carl Kirk of the Security Police said that a "nickel bag" of marijuana—which three full-ounce packages sell for about $5, a coed said her "little dolly"—barbaric—cost her "about $25 for 15." Such tablets can often be purchased here through the description of some form of sleeping pills or similar documents.

One admitted user said that most of the marijuana used here is brought into Carbondale from either St. Louis or Chicago, but on a rather informal basis.

He said one of the reasons marijuana is rather expensive here is because most users don't want to part with their supply before they are sure they would require another visit to the larger cities.

The availability of a drug "network" operating in the area does exist, however. Recently nine bags of marijuana valued at about $50 per bag, were found in a woodshed just north of Oakland Cemetery.

Agents of the state's Division of Narcotic Control have been working in the area in hopes of uncovering a drug link tying Carbondale with Chicago and St. Louis.

It still appears, however, that most of the drugs used at SIU are acquired by students while home on weekends or during vacation periods.

Once having decided to use drugs—even if only for an "experiment"—the student has acquired the goods, they usually go through the experience, the 'trip', the "high":

"It's a state of enjoyment... you become enthralled by the nature movement or color of some particular object. At one time I became completely fascinated by the movement of windshield wiper blades... while on a run.

But the use of drugs among students at SIU doesn't usually take place, as in the case above, in an environment of friends. The majority of the drug users interviewed, the usual "scene" for pot parties is an off-campus trailer or apartment. And the experience with drugs is usually just that—a party.

Although LSD is rarely used, it has acquired the press of a drug of "mild, mellow afterglow." His said that, on one occasion, he experienced "at least an hour" of pleasant, relaxing sensations on the morning following a night of smoking marijuana. The "mild, mellow afterglow" took place dur- ing an SIU class discussion, how- ever, and he said his instructor took no notice.

Marijuana Most Popular Drug

The problem of drug abuse at SIU, despite several incidents to the contrary, centers around only one particular drug: marijuana.

"Marijuana seems to be the biggest drug in circulation on the SIU campus at the present time," said Jack Hazel, chief of the Carbon- dale Police Department, said, "So far this fall, we have had about 12 arrests dealing with its usage by students."

In recent years, with the advent of LSD and other more exotic drugs, marijuana has been regarded by many individuals as being rather tame, even banal, a drug. It is often regarded as being no more harmful than alcohol.

Several interviewed marijuana users pointed out that marijuana considered the after-effects of the drug as being far less severe than those resulting from the heavy consumption of alcohol.

One student, in fact, described a marijuana user as "a mild, mellow afterglow." He said that on one occasion, he experienced "at least an hour" of pleasant, relaxing sensations on the morning following a night of smoking marijuana. He said, "And it doesn't seem to be addicting, but that doesn't mean that it is safe to take."

Joseph Zaleski, assistant dean of students, said he felt "confi- dently a comparison, there were only 14 arrests for violation of narcotic laws last year."

The drugs are induced into the body through a variety of means: inhalation, syringe injection, or orally, as with a capsule. One student said a method of using marijuana consisted of taking a bottle, knocking the top off, filling marijuana and running a rubber tube into the bottle, then covering the top and smoking it. "Turkish style"—a method somewhat different from the use of the more commonplace "reicher."

The "high" itself has been described as either a "pleasant trip" or an unpleasant trip, a nightmare.

Individuals who are emotionally unstable are more likely to have unpleasant trips. Often the setting, particularly when the drug being used is LSD or one of the more potent varieties, can affect the pleasantness of the trip.
Music Department Schedules
Electronic Program in June

A workshop on "Electronic Synthesis of Musical Sounds" has been announced for June 9-22 by the Department of Music at SIU.

"Persons without electronic studio or computer experience should find this workshop particularly helpful as an introduction to the entire field," Will Gay Botte, SU composer and associate professor of music, explained. "Specially prepared tapes will be utilized to develop aural concepts directly applicable to computer vocabulary. A knowledge of musical acoustics will be an extremely helpful background."

SU's Electronic Music Studio is well equipped to give students a working knowledge of basic techniques and procedures in this field, Botte said.

In addition to Botte and Gordon Chadwick, composer, technician and electronics consultant for the studio, three guest authorities will serve on the workshop staff. Hubert Howe, composer and faculty member of Queens College, will assist with computer programming instruction. Le Jaren Hiller, composer and director of the University of Illinois experimental music studio, and Robert Moog, founder and president, Moog Instruments Co., will serve as guest lecturers.

Fee for the workshop is $30.50 for Illinois residents or $46.50 for out-of-state residents. Housing accommodations may be obtained in SIU residence halls.

Telfund Project
Set for Monday

The eighth annual Telefund Campaign of the SU Alumni Association will be conducted throughout St. Clair County on Monday.

During the day, volunteer workers will call alumni in the area to solicit contributions to various projects, including a scholarship fund, student loan fund, the Association's annual great teacher award, and research projects. Donors may earmark their gifts for any one of the projects or may contribute to the unrestricted general fund.

Senate Urges Hours Changes, Accuses Theta Xi in Ticket Sales

The report charges that last fall Theta Xi member Ron Glenn gave two boxes containing season basketball tickets to Bob Aikman, president of the Theta Xi pledge class, on the first day of sales. Glenn is a ticket salesman for the Department of Athletics.

The report says that the number of tickets in the boxes could not be determined, but that it was more than four. A limit of four tickets per purchaser had been announced by the Athletics Department.

Finney's report also says that Aikman admitted privately on several occasions that he had "received more than four" tickets in the boxes, but could give no definite number.

Finney also said that Aikman was prohibited by the fraternity from making a public statement. The tickets were probably paid for with small checks or in cash, and the seats were scattered throughout several sections in order to avoid detection, Finney said.

He added that Theta Xi members had claimed that tickets had been in the boxes.

The Senate passed a bill on a proposed student conduct and review board which seeks to give three faculty members and five students final authority over student disciplinary problems. If such authority were granted, a change in the University's bylaws would have to be made. That authority is now held by the vice president for student and area services, Ralph Ruffner.

Taxi Rates Up 10 Cents

The Carbondale City Council Tuesday night unanimously approved the Taxicab Committee's recommendations including a 10-cent fare increase for each of the first three zones for both taxicab firms.

Councilman Frank Kirk asked Mayor David Keene if he would appoint a committee to investigate the taxicab firms' practice of picking up several passengers enroute to delivering a single passenger.

The Council also approved the committee's recommendation that both taxicab firms be allowed to charge 25 cents for each parcel over two up to the size of a foot locker. The taxicab companies were also granted permission to charge 75 cents for foot lockers or parcels of comparable size, and $2 for stroller trunks.

The committee's request for enforcement of the portion of the ordinance requiring rates to be prominently displayed in each cab at all times was also passed. The approved increase will not take effect until the charges have been incorporated into an ordinance passed by the council and published.

SIU Officers on Duty

Mayor David Keene, following the resignation, called as an assistant to Gov. Kerper to advise the governor of the situation. State police were also contacted and Wilhelmy said Wednesday afternoon that he hopes to have state police officers sometime Thursday to help enforce the law.

In the special Council meeting Councilman William Eaton asked Wilhelmy if he thought the resignation had been planned in advance. Wilhelmy said he did not. Eaton then asked why Wilhelmy had notified state police Tuesday that their assistance might be needed and Wilhelmy replied that in the event of some thing like this would happen.

Council members questioned Wilhelmy about his relations with Hazel and Wilhelmy said he was in daily communications with the police chief but indicated that he did not have his cooperation on many matters.

Earlier Wednesday Wilhelmy said, "These police officers have taken an oath to uphold the law, yet they have resigned without giving any type of notice.

"If the council is going to support me then we must accede to these as bona fide resignations and proceed to find new police officers."

Also, Wilhelmy was appointed by Norman as acting police chief and was given a letter of confidence by the city manager.

The Carbondale City Council Tuesday night unanimously approved the Taxicab Committee's recommendations including a 10-cent fare increase for each of the first three zones for both taxicab firms.

Councilman Frank Kirk asked Mayor David Keene if he would appoint a committee to investigate the taxicab firms' practice of picking up several passengers enroute to delivering a single passenger.

The Council also approved the committee's recommendation that both taxicab firms be allowed to charge 25 cents for each parcel over two up to the size of a foot locker. The taxicab companies were also granted permission to charge 75 cents for foot lockers or parcels of comparable size, and $2 for stroller trunks.

The committee's request for enforcement of the portion of the ordinance requiring rates to be prominently displayed in each cab at all times was also passed. The approved increase will not take effect until the charges have been incorporated into an ordinance passed by the council and published.

Mayor David Keene, following the resignation, called as an assistant to Gov. Kerper to advise the governor of the situation. State police were also contacted and Wilhelmy said Wednesday afternoon that he hopes to have state police officers sometime Thursday to help enforce the law.

In the special Council meeting Councilman William Eaton asked Wilhelmy if he thought the resignation had been planned in advance. Wilhelmy said he did not. Eaton then asked why Wilhelmy had notified state police Tuesday that their assistance might be needed and Wilhelmy replied that in the event of something like this would happen.

Council members questioned Wilhelmy about his relations with Hazel and Wilhelmy said he was in daily communications with the police chief but indicated that he did not have his cooperation on many matters.

Earlier Wednesday Wilhelmy said, "These police officers have taken an oath to uphold the law, yet they have resigned without giving any type of notice.

"If the council is going to support me then we must accede to these as bona fide resignations and proceed to find new police officers."

Also, Wilhelmy was appointed by Norman as acting police chief and was given a letter of confidence by the city manager.

The report charges that last fall Theta Xi member Ron Glenn gave two boxes containing season basketball tickets to Bob Aikman, president of the Theta Xi pledge class, on the first day of sales. Glenn is a ticket salesman for the Department of Athletics.

The report says that the number of tickets in the boxes could not be determined, but that it was more than four. A limit of four tickets per purchaser had been announced by the Athletics Department.

Finney's report also says that Aikman admitted privately on several occasions that he had "received more than four" tickets in the boxes, but could give no definite number.

Finney also said that Aikman was prohibited by the fraternity from making a public statement. The tickets were probably paid for with small checks or in cash, and the seats were scattered throughout several sections in order to avoid detection, Finney said.

He added that Theta Xi members had claimed that tickets had been in the boxes.

The Senate passed a bill on a proposed student conduct and review board which seeks to give three faculty members and five students final authority over student disciplinary problems. If such authority were granted, a change in the University's bylaws would have to be made. That authority is now held by the vice president for student and area services, Ralph Ruffner.

City Police Chief Fired

police was given two weeks' severance pay in lieu of a two week notice.

Wilhelmy said he would "temporarily" assume the role of chief of police in addition to his duties as safety director until a permanent chief is named.

Wilhelmy went on to explain that "Hazel took my orders and directives to him as personal affronts against him and those men under him.

The safety director said that he felt this (Hazel) letter was more or less a letter of re-signation.

Hazel said "I was surprised that I was fired. I really don't know how I haven't co-operated as stated by Wilhelmy." Regarding his "actual feelings toward Wilhelmy, or the city—I have none."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate adopted a ban on transporting Molotov cocktails and other explosives for use in riots Wednesday, but killed a second proposal which its sponsor id was aimed at Black Power militants.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said that Long’s proposals would mean moving directly into the creation of a national police force. Javits contended the states now have the police and the laws to cope with riots.

The ban on transporting or manufacturing in interstate commerce any firearm, explosive or incendiary device for use in civil disorders was adopted by a vote of 72 to 23.

It was made a part of the civil rights-opening bill which the Senate has been working since Jan. 18.

The House defeated 64 to 27 a long proposal to make it a federal crime to engage in shipping, storing, destroying property or other violence in a riot.

Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., a former U.S. attorney general, supported the Long move, asserting it would “change the whole complexion of the civil rights struggle in the United States.”

He said it would bring the federal government into local law enforcement “to a degree we never contemplated when I was attorney general.”

Under terms of the Long proposal, Kennedy said, “any time a group of three people anywhere in the United States get together and commit any act of violence or any destruction, the Federal Bureau of Investigation would have jurisdiction.”

All the Republicans voted against the proposal and most of the support came from Southern Democrats.

Long derided anti-provision provision adopted by the Senate Tuesday as adding up to zero. This proposal, patterned after a bill passed by the House last summer, would make it a federal crime to cross state lines with intent to incite a riot.

Long and some other critics objected that this would require federal prosecutors to prove what a defendant was thinking about when he crossed from one state to another.

The Louisiana senator proposed that the federal offense simply to incite a riot that obstructs or adversely affects commerce.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., moved to kill the proposal and the motion carried 48 to 47.

The Senate Nixes Explosives

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson’s advisory Commission on Civil Disorders Wednesday of in effect blanketing the code for riots except the perpetrators of the riots.

He said, “I have complained that the panel put undue emphasis on the idea that we are in effect a racist society.”

Nixon said the nation needs more talk about reorganization, less about racial division.

The former vice president criticized the report of the White House panel on city disorders as he campaigned in K enne for next Tuesday’s Presidential primary.

“One of the major weaknesses of the President’s commission is it in effect blames everybody for the riots except the perpetrators of the riots,” Nixon said in an interview with Radio Station WKEN, and “I think that deficiency has to be dealt with first.

“I believe that we’ve got to make it very clear to potential rioters that in the event something statute next summer that the law will move in adequate force to put down rioting, looting, at the first indication of it.”

Earlier, Nixon said after the war in Vietnam is ended the draft should be abolished and the nation should turn to an all-volunteer army. He proposed creation of “a civic corps under civilian control which would have as its function nation-building” in countries threatened by guerrilla uprisings.

“Our once can end this war, it remains that we can remove from hanging over our young people the draft,” Nixon told some 400上了 a S orfolk hotel.

“I believe that we should have and we can have a much more effective military and economic and certainly diplomatic policy if we have what I call volunteer armed services, pay them on a basis that is competitive, draw them into our armed services, and have a highly trained professional group,” Nixon said.

He said that would let young people be able to plan their lives rather than living always as are the young people today with that hanging over them.”

Logistics was one of the more interesting aspects of the day Nixon spent campaigning for New Hampshire’s March 12 presidential primary.

He began the day in Nashua, on the southern border, flew to Manchester, then made his way north, flew back to Keene in the south, and was to go back to the north for a couple of days for the night. It added up to almost four hours of flying for two campaign speeches.

Explaining his draft proposals to a reporter at the Keene Airport Nixon said that in the future the war in which the United States is likely to be involved will probably be of a guerrilla nature—or a nuclear conflict. He said the draft is not an effective system for producing the kind of trained manpower needed in either case.

Commission Report Cited by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the report of his special commission on Civil Disorders was “outstanding, most thorough and exhaustive studies ever made” of the problems of the cities.

He did not comment on what he thought of the recommendations of the commission, currently the subject of nation-wide discussion, but said it was “written by a very diverse group” and reflected “a lot of talent.”

The commission report said American society is made up of “two societies, one black, one white—separate and unequal” and declared that racism and riots will split the nation unless massive and costly remedies are applied.

Johnson made his comments welcoming a 22-member joint committee of executives of savings and loan associations and savings banks from across the country.

They have pledged to get thrust investments to give priority to providing construction and mortgage financing in the nation’s new model cities program in 63 cities.

John Brademas, Democratic congressman from Indiana, will replace Sen. Birch Bayh as Convocation speaker at 10 a.m., and 1 p.m., today in Shryock Auditorium.

Sen. Bayh, whose appearance here was announced in Wednesday's Daily Egyptian, said that he will not be able to speak because he does not feel that he can leave Washington with the civil rights issue now being debated in the Senate.

Brademas, 41, a representative from Indiana's third district, has served in the House of Representatives since 1958. He is currently a member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

A former Rhodes Scholar, Brademas served as an administrative assistant to both Sen. Pat McNamara and Adlai Stevenson. His home is in South Bend.

Handicapped Students Need Personal Aides

Personal attendants are needed for some prospective disabled students if they are to enter SIU. William Vincent, coordinator of services to the handicapped, said several prospective disabled students are not admitted each quarter because of the difficulty in finding people to assist them in activities of daily living. Students serving as attendants are earning up to $450 per quarter, as well as making it possible for handicapped individuals to attend college.

Anyone interested in discussing the possibility of becoming an attendant is asked to contact Vincent in Building C, Washington Square.

Physical Plant to Test, Adjust New Disaster Warning Siren

The new noise maker is "9 to 10 times more powerful than the old siren," according to Frank Bridges, Civil Defense coordinator for the Carbondale campus. It will be sounded several times, starting at 4 p.m. Friday, in order that adjustments can be made. The device is mounted atop the Power Plant.

Bridges said it is hoped the new siren can be heard at all locations on the campus. If not, plans are to mount the old siren at the southwest corner of the campus and hook it up to sound simultaneously.

The siren is used to sound disaster alert and all clear signals in the event of a tornado or other emergency. By state law such signaling devices are tested at 10 a.m. the first Tuesday of each month. The first test of the new siren, after Friday's adjustment session, will be on April 2.

Women’s Gymnastics Tourney Slated

The fourth annual Collegiate Gymnastics Championship for Women will be held at SIU March 29 and 30, and promises to be the best ever.

SIU has conducted the championships on all three previous occasions, and has won each time. And SIU is the odds-on favorite to make it four in a row.

The championship will feature eight of the top 10 finishers in last year's AIA National Meet. In addition, many of the top contenders for the U.S. Women's Olympic Team will be performing.

Coach Herb Vogel said that 15 schools have entered and about 20 others have expressed interest. There will be 60 to 90 women competing in the two classes.

Some of the top female gymnasts at the meet will include Donna Schaezner, Joanne Hashimoto, Gail Trainer, Judy Wills from SIU; Sue McDonald and Debbie Bailey from Cornell, Linda Metheny from Chambana (Ill.) Gymnastics Club and Kathy Gleason of Buffalo.

Vogel said that "all (of the girls) competing are able to do well in every event." He also pointed out that nearly all of the competitors will compete in every event.

Last year 14 schools and 60 women entered the competition.

The championships will be divided into two groups: Classes "A" and "B." Class "A" is known as the championship division and Class "B" is the intermediate. Only in Class "A" will there be team competition.

Individual titles will be awarded in the four international events (balance beam, vaulting, floor parallel bars and floor exercise), and in special events of tumbling and trampoline in both classifications of competition.

Some of the schools which will challenge SIU for the top spot this year are Genenary College of Louisiana, Kent State of Ohio, West Chester State of Pennsylvania, and the University of Massachusetts.

A university or college may enter teams in both classifications, but individual team members may participate in only one division.

Selections for the All-American team will be made on the basis of Class "A" participation only.

Because of the requirement that entrants must be registered for 12 or more academic hours in their college or university, two of the nation's top gymnasts will not be eligible.

Joyce Tanec of the Seattle Gymnastics Club is still a high school student while Marie Walter of Connecticut is not carrying enough credit hours.

The two-day championship will be divided into five sessions, two per day. The sessions will start at 1 and 7:30 p.m.

Procedures for students wanting to obtain tickets will be announced in a few days.

Brown Gods Win Weightlifting Title

The Brown Gods of the Independent League have captured their second consecutive weightlifting crown. The BG's finished on top in the 165-pound, 198-pound and heavyweight classes during the tournament conducted last weekend.

The winner of each event was determined by total pounds lifted by an individual in three steps in each class.

Leading the lifters was John Harrington of the Coyotes in the 181-pound class who lifted a combined total weight of 790 pounds. He pressed 235 pounds, lifted 185 pounds and managed to snatch 270 pounds.

Heavyweight competition was won by Mike Person who managed 650 pounds.

Tom Travis of the BG's led the 165 pound class with a 595 combined total.

An Intramural Office spokesman indicated that all the combined weight totals were new records except those posted in the heavyweight competition.

The two top teams will be presented trophies by intramural officials.

March 29 and 30

Swimmers to Hold Qualifying Meet for Upcoming Nationals

The SIU swimming team will hold an invitational meet this weekend to qualify more swimmers for the NCAA Championships.

The meet starts at 4 p.m. Friday, and will continue Saturday afternoon.

Hoping to turn in qualifying times good enough for the nationals are five individuals and the 400-yard free style relay team.

The fours are Bruce Jacobson in the 100-yard breaststroke, John Holben in the 200-yard breaststroke, Vern Davis and Bob Schoen in the 200-yard freestyle and Henry Hayes in the 100 and 200-yard breaststroke.

SIU has already qualified in seven events. Davis in the 500-yard freestyle; Monoma in the 50 and 100 free style; Conkel in the 100 free style; Jacobson in the 200 breaststroke, Holben in the 100 breaststroke, and the 800-yard free style relay team of Davis, Schoen, Bill Noyes and Conkel.

The NCAA Championships will be held March 25 at Dartmouth College.

After the invitational meet and finals are completed, the swimmers will have little time to enjoy spring break.

They will have two-a-day workouts throughout the break, one each in morning and afternoon, throughout the University pool. Coach Ray Essick considers the break the most important part of the year for preparation for the nationals.

"This is the time we get very specific in our training," Essick pointed out. "We try to pick up the loose ends.

The guys have gotten plenty of rest since the end of the season."

"I'm expecting a good national meet this year," Essick said. "It should be tougher than it was before."

Mossett, who had been sick recently, is getting back into shape. He had been sick Christmas, and should be in top shape, Essick said.

Essick is also dividing his time between preparing for the nationals and recruiting. He has five top prospects who will be visiting SIU in the near future.

They are Bill Schuster of Island High School, the state champ in the backstroke; John Teurer, the Wisconsin state champ in the butterfly and breaststroke, respectively; and Dave Cattalini, of St. Ignatious in Chicago, the state champ in the 50-yard free style.
Golfers' Outlook Optimistic

With Return of Letterman

By Dave Cooper

With the top six golfers back from last season's squad, SIU Coach Lynn Holder has every right to be optimistic about the upcoming campaign.

Golfers: Jim Johnson, number one man on last year's team which won 13 of 18 matches and finishing first of the five college division championship, seven tournaments with veterans Steve Heckel, Dennis Kortkamp, Jack Downey, Schenck and Heffern.

Johnson posted a 15-2-1 record last season when he averaged 74.6 strokes per round, one of the best averages in the country.

Schenk and Heffern were side-by-side in the final averages a year ago, the former carrying a 75.8 mark and aged a year ago, the former finished fifth in the NCAA man on last year's team which about the upcoming campaign.

Pitlock to Anchor Pitching Staff

By Dave Paiermo

To anchor a pitching staff with the mound talent SIU has taken a great deal of ability, Hurter Lee (Skip) Pitlock will do just that this spring.

As a sophomore last year, Pitlock won seven while losing only one and accumulated a 2.94 earned run average. These credentials for a pitcher on most other teams would designate him as the team's top moundman, but it wasn't the case for Pitlock. He was simply one of many outstanding hurlers that made up Southern's staff last year.

Don Kirkland headed the pitching rotation last season winning nine, losing four and owning an ERA of 1.96 followed by the U.S. Track and Field outstanding hurlers that made the Journal Games. Winning nine, losing four and by Howard Nickason with a pitching record and a microscopic 1.8 ERA.

This season Kirkland has been shifted to the shortstop spot and Pitlock will be moved from the number two spot in the rotation to the number one position.

"In Pitlock I think we have one of the finest collegiate pitchers in the country," said Coach Joe Lutz.

If the job the junior southpaw did this summer is any indication of what he's capable of this spring, he should have no trouble taking over the pitching leadership.

Pitching for Lincoln in the Central Illinois Collegiate League, Pitlock compiled a won-lost record of 10-2 and fanned 119 to lead the league. His ERA was an impressive 1.76.

"I don't see why he shouldn't duplicate his performance of this summer," said Lutz.

Pitlock's best pitch is the fast ball and, combined with his high kicking windup, is a very deceptive pitch.

"I am looking in journalism in the advertising sequence, Pitlock has aspirations in the major leagues. If he continues to perform as he has in the past, his aspiration could become reality.

NCAA Tourney Starts Saturday

By the Associated Press

Although three berths still have to be decided, the NCAA's major college basketball championship tournament opens a two-week run Saturday with UCLA's defending champions favored to meet top-ranked Houston again in the semifinals March 22. Still up for grabs in the sprawling 23-team tournament are the spots for the Big Ten, Atlantic Coast Conference and the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Iowa is a virtual cinch to bag the Big Ten's berth Saturday. The Hawkeyes, 10-3 in the conference, already have assured themselves of a tie for the title, the Ohio State, 10-4, has finished its schedule.

Iowa will be at home Saturday in its windup with weak Michigan, 5-8. The Hawkeyes won 70-57 at Ann Arbor, Mich., previously.

The WCAC title will be decided in games Friday and Saturday. Santa Clara is first with 11-1 followed by Loyola of Los Angeles 10-2 and San Francisco 9-3. Loyola plays at San Francisco Friday and at Santa Clara in the key game Saturday. In an earlier clash Santa Clara beat Loyola at Los Angeles 75-71.

Claire plays Pepperdine, 2-10, at home Friday while San Francisco takes on Pepperdine Saturday.

Fifth-ranked North Carolina and sixth-ranked Duke are favored to battle for the ACC's berth in the Conference tournament Thursday through Saturday.

North Carolina beat Duke at home 75-72 early in the season but the Blue Devils avenged that defeat at Durham last Saturday night with an 87-86 victory in a three-overtime thriller.

Kansas State, Columbia and East Tennessee clinched tourney berths in the last two nights.

Nine of the Top Ten in the weekly Associated Press' poll will be in the NCAA tournament if either North Carolina or Duke wins the ACC's tournament.

La. Meet Draws Ten From SIU

Although finals week is approaching, four men and six women will be traveling this weekend. The squad will be composed of four men and six women.

The burden of competition before finals was made lighter for the men since the scheduled dual meet between SIU and the University of Illinois here Friday night was cancelled. The Illini asked to withdraw from the meet because of several injured gymnasts.

The men and four women will be competing in the Monroe, La., Invitational on Saturday. The meet will be held on the campus of Northwestern Louisiana State.

The men will be Rick Tucker, former SIU gymnast and now a graduate assistant to Coach Bill Meade, Fred Dennis, Paul Meyer and Dale Hardt.

The women will be Gail Daley, Linda Scott, Karen Smith and possibly Sue Rogers. Miss Rogers is still recovering from surgery. If Miss Rogers is unable to compete, one of the other women gymnasts will replace her, Coach Herb Vogel said.

Coach Meade said that the competition should be of high caliber. He said that there may be as many as 25 gymnasts at the Invitational. Top gymnasts from Big 10 conferences and Michigan State will also be there. The same caliber of competition applies for the women also.

Two other women gymnasts will be participating in the Olympic Trials at Long Island, Donna Schaeizert and Joanne Hashimoto. Miss Schaeizert will represent SIU at the trials. They also competed in February in Olympic Trials at New Haven, Trials at the National league. Miss Hashimoto finished fifth in the Olympic Trials in both the floor and balance beam at the Connecticut trials.
