Camille says loans might be cut 63 percent

By Karen Wiltberger
Staff Writer

President Reagan's proposed cuts in student financial aid would hit SIU-C students harder than the Illinois State Scholarship Commission estimates, a University spokesman said. The most severe impact would be on students from middle-class families, especially those who receive Guaranteed Student Loans, said Joe Camille, director of student work and financial assistance.

Loans at SIU-C for the 1985-86 academic school year would be slashed 63 percent from this year, cutting off 2,109 students who now receive loans, Camille said.

Earlier this week, the ISSC estimated that the state would lose 54 percent of its loan money, or $150 million.

Camille said GSL program funding would be reduced next year under Reagan's proposal. Other federal aid program cuts are to begin in the 1986-87 academic year. He said the GSL program is the only program that doesn't have funds secured for 1985-86 under the federal fiscal year 1985 budget.

This year 6,590 SIU-C students received $16,031,334 in student loans, which would be reduced to $10,099,740, beginning in fall, Camille said.

Reagan's proposal would change the loan eligibility formula by eliminating students whose families have adjusted gross incomes over $32,500 per year and requiring students whose families earn

$18.7 billion budget sought by Thompson

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Saying Illinois must protect its most vulnerable citizens as it works to rebuild its economy, Governor Thompson on Wednesday proposed an $18.7 billion budget with major increases in services for the elderly, the disabled and children.

Thompson's budget, which also contains the record outlays for education he recommended previously, proposes more than $800 million in new program spending — a figure branded as lavish by Democrats, who said it likely would be cut.

Thompson would spend nearly $1,630 for each man, woman and child in Illinois, up about 5 percent from what was appropriated this year.

previously described spending plans for education and public works, he emphasized human services in his ninth budget message to a joint session of the General Assembly.

"THE GOAL of this third part of the budget for fiscal 1986 is to assure quality of life in Illinois for all of our citizens, so that we can continue to be an attractive place to live, work and do business," Thompson said.

He said the spending plan "proposes to use our resources ... to ensure that our extraordinary opportunities to grow as a state do not come at the expense of those most vulnerable of our citizens."

THOMPSON SAID despite the big increases, the budget was prudent — a set of circumstances he called "a neat trick."

Democratic Sen. Howard Carroll of Chicago called it "using smoke and mirrors."

Said Democratic Senate President Philip Rock: "The Democratic members of the General Assembly will be very skeptical of overly optimistic projections of the state's fiscal health. ... We need to be far more cautious in our approach to spending than the governor has suggested today."

TO HELP foot the bill for the increased spending, Thompson proposed new taxes on long distance phone calls and private used car sales, and an increase in the state cigarette tax. He did not recommend higher sales or income taxes, saying the three smaller tax changes and growth in the economy would bring in enough money.

The proposed budget, which must be considered by the Legislature, is for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

AP staff might get salary increase

By David Liss
Staff Writer

Administrative and professional staff employees will get a 5.34 percent across-the-board salary increase if a resolution passed by the AP Staff Council is approved by the University administration.

The council decided at its meeting Wednesday how to distribute a possible 8 percent salary increase. The increase was recommended by Gov. James Thompson for faculty and staff statewide, and was approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education Tuesday. It must still be passed by the General Assembly.

The council decided to give 5.34 percent, or about two-thirds of the proposed increase, across-the-board. The remaining 2.66 percent will be used for merit salary increases, according to the resolution.

Merit increases are to be given on the basis of "longevity and performance," the resolution states.

The across-the-board increase will raise the average monthly salary of administrative and professional employees to $2,307, council member Kay Allen said. It will raise the average annual salary from $26,280 to $28,300, she said.

Another part of the resolution raises faculty salary ranges. Administrative and professional employees are currently grouped into 22 categories, with a minimum and maximum salary for each category, council chairman Terry Mathias said.

City, SIU-C lobby for FAA school

By Thomas Mangan
Staff Writer

Representatives of SIU-C, Carbondale and TSA Partnership met with U.S. Department of Transportation officials Tuesday to exchange information on the proposed relocation of the Federal Aviation Administration Management Training School.

The three parties are coordinating their efforts to bring the FAA-MTS to Carbondale. The University applied to the FAA to have the training school moved to Carbondale last fall and the city has applied for federal funding to build the school.

TSA Partnership owns the former International Hall at 1101 Wall St., where the school would be located if it is moved.

The FAA management training school is located on the campus of Cameron University in Lawton, Okla., but the lease expires Sept. 1986.

The group met in Washington, D.C., to "acquaint our legislators with the facts on the FAA application," said James Brown, SIU-C vice-chancellor.

Brown; Christine Svec of the SIU-C school of Technical Careers; Carbondale Mayor Helen Westberg; Lewis Smith of Benton and Nicholas Adkins of Peoria, two of the TSA partners; their attorney J. Phil Gilbert of Carbondale; Rep. Ken Gray, D-W.Frankfort; Sen. Paul Simon, D-Makanda; and Sen. Alan J. Dixon, D-Belleville met at the capital.

Brown said the primary reason for the meeting was to make sure that Southern Illinois congressmen are familiar with the group's plans. It would be advantageous for the congressman to be able to answer questions the FAA might have concerning the project, he said.

Westberg said the FAA will announce the final locations being considered March 20. The FAA is scheduled to announce its final selection Sept. 30, but it could announce that selection sooner, she said.

"We're in a holding pattern until they announce the finalists," Westberg said. If the FAA waits until September to make the announcement, the builders who will renovate the International Hall will have a tight schedule finishing the job by Sept. 30, 1986.

Vietnamese cross border; Thai forces launch attack

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (AP) — Thai troops and aircraft attacked Vietnamese forces who crossed the border in a bid to surround the last major Cambodian resistance camp, the Thai army said Wednesday. The Thais said their troops drove the Vietnamese from one of three hills they tried to seize and killed 60 soldiers. Thai and rebel officials said the Vietnamese captured two other Cambodian guerrilla camps in the two-day drive and assaulted the Tatum camp from all four sides behind artillery fire.

President vetoes farm credit relief bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan Wednesday vetoed a farm credit relief package hours after it was delivered to the White House from Congress, saying it was irresponsibly expensive and would not have helped farmers. The House passed the measure Tuesday 255-168 on a largely party-line vote, despite Republican complaints that members were playing politics with the problems of U.S. farmers. Administration officials had warned Reagan would veto the package, labeling it a "budget buster."

Sources say Aspin will support MX spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Les Aspin, the Democratic chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, will support in an upcoming vote funds for 21 additional MX missiles, congressional sources said Wednesday. The decision is almost certain to mean a major legislative victory for President Reagan. In recent months, Aspin has hinted that he might switch and support critics who said that despite the arms control talks beginning in Geneva on March 12, the controversial, powerful strategic weapon should be scrapped.

Bodies of kidnapped agent and pilot identified

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two bodies found in plastic bags on a ranch Wednesday after a shootout were identified as those of a kidnapped U.S. drug agent and a Mexican pilot, the U.S. Embassy said. Enrique Camarena Salazar, of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency, was abducted Feb. 7 in Guadalajara, and the pilot, Alfredo Zavala Avelar, was kidnapped on the same day. A search before dawn Wednesday turned up the bags containing the badly decomposed bodies, said a U.S. Embassy spokesman on condition of anonymity. Five people, including a Mexican federal policeman, were killed Saturday in a gunbattle between police and suspected drug traffickers at El Mareno ranch near the village of Vistahermosa, about 60 miles east of Guadalajara.

Plan allots seed money for satellite fair attractions

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago's World's Fair 1992 Authority has approved a "final" plan that cuts projected costs by $200 million but leaves intact $24 million in seed money for satellite attractions outside the lakefront site, a fair spokesman said Wednesday. The funds could go to improve existing attractions such as Lincoln's home in Springfield, the Galena historic district, and the Fermi atomic research lab in Batavia, Authority spokesman John Camper said.

Judge denies motion to acquit protesters

ROCK ISLAND (AP) — A federal judge denied a defense motion Wednesday to dismiss charges against five anti-war protesters accused of trespassing on Rock Island Arsenal property during a prayer vigil last year. Moments after the prosecution rested its case Wednesday, defense attorney Kary Love of Moline asked that all charges be dropped. Love said protesters weren't given enough time to leave the island's Fort Armstrong area. But U.S. District Judge Michael Mihm ruled that testimony from security guards indicated that when the defendants were told to leave Fort Armstrong, they, in effect, ignored the guards.

About 1,000 homes flooded by Illinois River

PEORIA (AP) — An estimated 1,000 homes, some with only their rooftops showing, are awash in the Illinois River and sandbagging efforts shifted into high gear Wednesday as the bloated waterway swelled toward an expected record-level flooding. Chris Loifgren of the Peoria Red Cross estimated at least 300 area families fled their homes by early Wednesday afternoon — double the morning estimate.

Serial killer claims 30 murders in Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Henry Lucas, the Texas jail inmate who says he has killed at least 360 people, has told authorities he killed 30 people in Illinois, investigators say. The Cook County sheriff's investigators said Lucas, 48, indicated the Illinois slayings occurred from 1976 to 1983.

Council candidates quizzed on housing, bar entry age

By Bob Tita
Staff Writer

Rental housing, the aldermanic council system and proposals to curb underage drinking were among the issues presented to Carbondale City Council candidates David McNeill and Archie Jones by members of the Undergraduate Student Organization City Affairs Commission.

McNeill said Monday he is running for council to try to eliminate the "rigamarole" that businesses have to go through to locate in Carbondale. He said city codes and regulations must be revised to make the city more attractive for businesses.

He said city officials, renters and landlords will have to work together to improve the condition of rental housing.

"Students need to be educated on what is good housing. It's going to take a lot of work," said McNeill, who said he owns three rental properties. "It's a tricky situation, but basically code enforcement needs to be better."

He said supply and demand factors in the rental housing market will force landlords to improve their properties.

McNeill said he is opposed to the so-called Halloween Ordinance which limits the number of liquor licenses on Illinois Avenue. He said the council and the market should decide the number of liquor establishments on Illinois Avenue.

McNeill, 37, said he does not believe a bar entry age of 21 will decrease underage drinking. He said bar owners need to be more responsible.

McNeill, who is manager of McNeill's Jewelry, 214 S. Illinois Ave., said he is not opposed to downtown redevelopment. Although his store is on the site of the proposed downtown parking garage, he said the convention center would stimulate the downtown economy.

McNeill favors the railroad project but said alternatives such as overpasses should be considered.

McNeill said he is against an aldermanic city council, although he did admit that students are not adequately represented.

"I can't really see an aldermanic system working very well in Carbondale," he said.

Incumbent councilman Archie Jones, 83, said he would favor an aldermanic council.

"I think if we don't go to an aldermanic system it will be very difficult for a black or a student to get on the council," Jones said.

Jones said, however, an aldermanic council might lead to council members who are narrow-minded and only concerned with their own wards.

He said he feels rental housing in the city continues to be a problem, but he said he supports the city's code compliance certificate program.

He also said the Halloween Ordinance was originally enacted to improve the health and safety downtown. However, he said the ordinance may be slowing down the downtown development.

He said bar entry should be set at age 18 and said he is opposed to a proposal that would prohibit people under 21 years old from working in bars. He said the punishments for bar owners found selling liquor to underage people have been too lenient.

School chief favors raising minimum salaries

By Lisa Eisenhauer
Staff Writer

The most important factor in quality education is the quality of teachers, the new Illinois Superintendent of Education said Tuesday.

He also noted that the state board of education favors a $20,000 minimum starting salary for teachers and offering scholarships to teachers to further their education.

Superintendent Ted Sanders, addressing the annual meeting of the Educational Council of 100, Inc., said that making education a "competitive profession" will be a major asset to the state's attempts to reform elementary and secondary education.

Referring to studies conducted by the Illinois Board of Education over the past three years, Sanders said that raising the minimum starting salary for teachers to $20,000 and giving teachers grants to continue their education are just two of several changes that the board believes will upgrade the state's education system.

Developing means to monitor and assess the quality of individual school districts is also being proposed by the board, Sanders said. If used, such a system would allow schools to exist "in their uniqueness," he said, by using local rather than statewide standards to evaluate school quality.

Funding to train school administrators more extensively is also being sought to enhance the school system, the former superintendent of public instruction in Nevada said.

"We now train, hire and award principals for keeping superintendents and boards out of trouble," he said. "That will not do if we're going to improve our schools."

The "deplorable statistics" relating to the drop-out rate in Illinois high schools are another problem that the state board intends to attack, he said.

White supremacy groups mobilizing

ALTHOUGH ADOLF HITLER'S CRUEL REGIME was destroyed some 40 years ago, the seeds of that distinct and vicious hate linger today. Groups such as The White American Bastion, the Silent Brotherhood and the Ku Klux Klan, while relatively small in numbers, are carrying on a campaign of violence and lawlessness that is hauntingly familiar.

While the Nazi party and other far right-wing fringe groups are nothing new in the United States, those groups' heightened level of violence is. A rash of armed robberies — of banks and armored cars — arson and murder have been attributed to these groups. The groups have not strained themselves pleading innocence.

At the heart of these fanatical groups and their campaign of terror is a belief in revisionist Christian theology. Identity, as the theology is known, is founded in the belief that Christ was Aryan, not Jewish; and that America is the Promised Land, not Israel.

"MEIN KAMPE" HITLER'S RABBLE-ROUSING manifesto, is seen by Identity as the final chapter to the Bible.

The U.S. government, however, and the FBI in particular, see in Identity little that resembles a Christian sect. Numerous arrests in recent months, plus ongoing investigations into the activities of these groups, reveal a growing concern on the part of law enforcement officials.

Conversely, these ultra right-wing organizations view the U.S. government in less than complimentary terms. One KKK member in the March 4 Newsweek remarked, "Today we see the evil is coming out of government. To go out and shoot a Negro is foolish ... it's the traitors in Washington (who are responsible)".

As beneficial to the cause as its growing rank-and-file has been the advance of technology. Computer networks designed to coordinate various groups' activities has meant an evolution in mentality from merely individual directed attacks to a more business-like approach.

ORGANIZATION, THE KEY TO ANY BUSINESS, is where the fanatic, white supremacy groups are turning to. The prospect that these groups are taking a more business-like approach to their violent activities must come as scary news to not only blacks and Jews, but to all Americans alike.

The First Amendment gives all persons and all groups the inalienable right to free speech. These groups — spread hate though they may — are as entitled to these rights as anyone. But that doesn't mean that society should sit idly by while The Silent Brotherhood and The Order distribute their racist and mearspirited brand of terrorism.

The beauty of the First Amendment is that it gives all opposing ideas an open forum for debate. History shows that these dangerous groups fare poorly in the open market-place of ideas. While the FBI scrambles to thwart these groups, it is the responsibility of all Americans to affirm, and re-affirm the basic tenets of American culture — tolerance and compassion.

Maybe it's really better not to know what goes on deep inside the brain

IT WAS A headline that arrested the eye. "Einstein's Brain was Different."

Not news, you say? Wrong. The news from neurobiology is large enough to subvert our sense of ourselves.

Having obtained bits of Einstein's brain from the pathologist who conducted the autopsy in 1955, a scientist at Berkeley has discovered that Einstein's brain had 73 percent more "support cells" for every neuron than are found in average brains. The Einstein samples reportedly came from the part of the brain responsible for "the deepest thinking" — presumably the part we use to ponder the infield-fly rule.

We are learning a lot — perhaps an alarming lot — about what we are. Increased knowledge of the brain already has brought a reduction of misery through pharmacological treatments of such diseases as depression and schizophrenia. But that knowledge seems to threaten us — that inner something that makes us individuals. It seems to portray us as merely physical, as more comprehensible and quantifiable than we want to be.

IT WAS BAD enough when Copernicus evicted us from where we think we belong: the center of the cosmos. Since then, many systems of thought have seemed to imbed us stickily in the world in ways that compromise our sense of autonomy.

Darwin embedded mankind in the mud of the planet that Copernicus had made peripheral. Darwin asserted a continuum between mankind and lesser (are we sure?) matter. The historicisms of Marx and others asserted that the political and social change are governed by iron laws of social evolution, not the choices of autonomous human beings. Freud said there are within us uncharted depths with their own turbulences.

IN THE current issue of the New York Review of Books, Israel Rosenfield of the City University of New York offers a balanced assessment. Suppose particular mental events — FEELINGS, EMOTIONS — can be associated with particular chemical events. That does not mean that, say, the feeling of love or patriotism or whatever can be expressed as a chemical formula. Neither does it mean that when you read "Hamlet" you should say, "Ah yes. This is the product of beautiful brain chemistry."

What has been learned about brain functioning has advanced therapy more than it has understanding. We can improve the functioning of the brain without really knowing how to explain what is being done, aside from the correction of a chemical imbalance. As Rosenfield writes, "Just as we cannot know the role an actor is playing by studying the basic electrical patterns in his brain, no analysis of the circuits of a computer can tell us whether the computer is playing chess or predicting the weather." While it is better to treat certain mental illnesses by administering drugs rather than confining the patient to an immobilizing chair, "we should have no illusions that we really know what we are doing when we use many of the therapies administered today."

THE CHEMISTRY of memory, the chemistry of sorrow.... We would feel diminished in dignity by such ways of speaking. But certain foods contain amino acids which pass into the blood and alter moods. Indeed, simply seeing food evidently can trigger physiological mechanisms that produce weight increase. Gracious.

Human beings became comfortable with the thought of themselves as creatures composed of flesh and blood and also something grander. Now neurobiology makes problematic the idea that we are both bodies and quite distinct minds or spirits. The idea of "the ghost in the machine" may be yielding to the idea that we are machines. Are we just the sum of the chemical reactions bubbling within us?

Happily, the more we know, the less we know. The more we know about the brain, the more we are awed by how much there is to know, not only about the brain but about the totality of creation that has culminated (we are the culmination...aren't we?) in a gadget as intricate as man. The neuroscience behind the news that "Einstein's Brain was Different" calls to mind a recent Chicago Tribune headline. It was a story about the aftermath of the Israeli airlift out of Ethiopia: "20th Century Stuns Ethiopian Jews."

Show rated coverage

I would like to question the Daily Egyptian staff on what is important to them as far as campus activities. In my opinion, the work of students is one of the most important things that needs to be recognized. The Theta Xi All-Campus Variety Show was a demonstration of what the students here at SIU-C can do.

On the night of March 2, this show was presented at Shryock Auditorium, and there were many entertaining acts. Not only were all of the performers students, but so was the entire production staff of the show. As a performer in one of the acts, I can appreciate the amount of fine work that went into putting the Theta Xi show together.

Many SIU-C alumni were in attendance, as well as Theta Xi Patron Society members. As an additional part of the program, the Service to Southern Award was presented by Bruce Swinburne, and the Kaplan Memorial Scholarship Award was presented by John McPherson.

I realize that the Alabama concert, "Barber of Seville" and the women's basketball game all deserved coverage in March 4's D.E., but so does the delightful talent of SIU-C's students. If the editorial staff of this paper isn't in agreement, then maybe we all need to re-evaluate why we're here. — Doug F. Boone, Freshman, Architectural Technology.

Crackdown on abortion harassment urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a House Judiciary subcommittee opened hearings on abortion clinic attacks Wednesday by urging the Reagan administration to crack down on protesters who harass patients outside abortion centers.

"Civil rights laws protect blacks who want to enter any restaurant in the land," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee on civil rights. "Why aren't the same laws applied to women entering abortion clinics?"

The House panel heard testimony from abortion patients and clinic administrators who said women's health centers are disrupted daily by bomb threats, vandalism, telephoned death threats, and shouting anti-abortionists.

ONE WITNESS, Katherine Taylor of Portland, Ore., said she and her mother were surrounded and vilified by a dozen protesters last January as she entered a clinic for an abortion she said was necessary to protect her health.

"They started yelling things at me like 'two lives go in and one comes out,'" she said. "Each sign they were holding had the word 'murder' written on it. One sign had some old pictures of dead babies in the garbage can..."

"While we were in the clinic, I could still hear one woman outside yelling 'Auschwitz' continuously," she said. "Whatever their reasons are, I do not believe it is right for them to be out in front of the clinics."

BUT JOSEPH M. Scheidler, director of the Pro-Life Action League, told the panel that vigorous protests outside abortion clinics and even bombings are justified because "of what takes place inside the abortion chambers."

"No one has been killed in the attacks on abortion facilities," Scheidler said. "But thousands of human lives are destroyed inside these buildings every day."

Most leading anti-abortion organizations, including the National Right to Life Committee, have publicly condemned the bombing of abortion clinics, but encourage picketing outside the facilities.

REP. PAT Schroeder, D-Colo., said the fight over abortion often develops into a confrontation between a woman's legal right to have an abortion and the protesters' First Amendment right to freedom of speech.

less to complete a needs analysis test for eligibility.

Under the current formula, students whose families earn more than $30,000 are eligible if they qualify under a needs analysis test.

Pell Grant money would be cut in half at SIU-C during the 1986-87 academic year, Camille said.

The ISSC estimates that 48 percent of Pell Grants would be lost at four-year state schools. University students in 1984-85 received 6.6 million in Pell Grants which would be reduced to $3.3 million.

Camille estimates that 22.5 percent of University students who receive Pell Grants would be denied grants under Reagan's proposal. The ISSC estimates 18.5 percent of Illinois students would be eliminated from the program.

Under Reagan's plan, students whose families earn more than $25,000 would be denied the grants, and students whose families earn less than that must qualify under a needs analysis test and provide $800 for their education to be eligible.

Students whose families earn more than $25,000 are now eligible if they qualify under a needs analysis test.

Reagan's attempt to put a $4,000 per year lid on total federal aid per student would affect 20 to 25 percent of SIU-C students who receive at least that amount, Camille said.

He said many students draw slightly more than that limit, receiving $4,001 to $4,500 per year. Some students receive more than $8,000 per year in federal aid, he said. Most of these students are married or have children.

Reagan's budget also proposes elimination of the Student Educational Opportunity Grant program, from which SIU-C receives about $390,000 per year, Camille said.

The budget also calls for no new funds for the National Direct Student Loan program, which would cut $650,000 per year from SIU-C, he said.

Holmes is back on trail of crime

By David Liss
Staff Writer

Theater Review

Sherlock Holmes came to the rescue of England once again in the Student Center production of the play "The Incredible Murder of Cardinal Tosca."

The performance was excellent and the suspense was high as Holmes came face to face with his archenemy Professor Moriarty in this recently written play.

The play is not an original Sir Arthur Conan Doyle story, but was written by Alden Nowlan and Walter Learning in 1981.

The play, set in London in 1895, begins with a dark, candlelit scene in which a Satanic ritual is taking place. The young priest Chidlock Tichborne, played by David Duncan, is subjected to torture and later murdered. But before he dies, he gives Holmes a clue which tips him off to a devilish plot to kidnap the Austrian Emperor and set off a world war.

Holmes, played by Lee Shackelford, teams up with Cardinal Tosca, the head of the pope's secret service, to investigate the case. He quickly discovers who lies behind the plot — Professor Moriarty, whom he mistakenly thought had died four years previously.

Holmes and Tosca devise a scheme to fool Moriarty and find out who else is behind the plot. Holmes pretends to shoot Tosca and is sent to jail. He later escapes, disguises himself and infiltrates Moriarty's headquarters, leading to the climax of the play.

Shackelford created an entertainingly intense Holmes. From facial expressions to body movements, his portrayal of the legendary detective was fun to watch.

One of the strongest characters in the play was Dr. Watson, played by Henry Odum. Odum's young, strong, bright Watson sharply contrasted the doddering old character played by Nigel Bruce in many movies. Odum and Shackelford created a strong feeling of mutual respect and love between their characters.

Tosca, played by Mike Overton, was at his best disguised as Charlie the Rat, full of bawdy energy. Paul Engelhardt made Moriarty a truly evil character, but not at the expense of a sense of humor.

The play had the look and feel of a mainstage production. Brent Lappin's stage direction, particularly of crowded action scenes, was excellent.

Talents discovered at annual variety show

The 38th annual Theta Xi Variety Show was held last Saturday and awards totaling $655 were presented to the performers judged as the best in three categories.

Of the small group presentations, Greg Heck won first place and $50 in American Express travelers checks for a guitar solo. A group called Apollonia 6 won second place with a performance of "Missing You," a song made popular by Diana Ross.

In the intermediate group there was a tie for first place between the Black Fire Dancers and the Delta Chi Beach Buddies. The two groups will divide the prize of $100.

The large group prize went to Sigma Kappa sorority and the Theta Xi fraternity. The two groups jointly performed a show called "Reveille." They will divide a $500 cash prize.

The two groups also won all the special awards in the large group category. The awards were for best costume, best choreography, best direction and best male and female vocalists. The male and female vocalist awards were won by Sean Roach and Vai Wolf respectively.

The prize money for the performance awards was contributed by American Express.

Two $400 scholarships were awarded by the Inter Greek Council to Nancy Horton, junior in chemistry, and Mary Ann Patryn, junior in zoology.

Also awarded at the variety show was the annual Service to Southern Award, which went to Cheryl Gript.

Gript's involvement included participation in the Red Cross Blood Drive, Student Life Advisor program, Inter Greek Council and honor day committee work. She will receive $400.

Ball gowns, talks bring historical first ladies to life

Replicas of the inaugural ball gowns worn by first ladies, from Martha Washington to Nancy Reagan, will be on display at the University Mall Thursday through Sunday.

Lectures will accompany the display, which features 18 gowns, and are scheduled at 1, 3 and 7 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and 1 and 3 p.m. on Sunday. The lectures will provide additional information about the gowns and the women who wore them.

The gowns were recreated by Vicki Valentine, who undertook the project of researching and finding the appropriate fabric and trim for each gown.

The original gowns are on display at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

The gowns are used to bring the historic women to life, according to information supplied by the mall, and are part of the mall's activities to commemorate Women's History Week, which continues through March 10.

The exhibit is sponsored by Van Productions, WEBQ and the University Mall.

Guns are stolen

A DeSoto man told police several guns valued at over $3,000 were taken from his home on Reed Station Road Saturday night, said a Jackson County Sheriff's Department representative.

Women's decade progress judged

By Cathy Brown
Staff Writer

As the U.N. Decade for Women nears its end, women around the world are trying to assess what progress women have made worldwide and what problems they still face.

A panel of five SIU-C women met Tuesday night in the SIU-C Faculty Club to address these issues as part of Women's History Week. Their basic message was that although the status of women worldwide is "improving," women still face barriers to equality.

Kathryn Ward, assistant professor in sociology, said that worldwide, women still make up less than half of educational enrollments.

The job situation is not good for women. Economic development in Third World countries has not necessarily benefited women, Ward said. "In many cases women have been displaced during economic development," she said.

Sheila Mmusi, graduate student in linguistics, said black women in South Africa "suffer the triple oppression" of being working class, of being black in a society that practices apartheid and of being women in a patriarchal society.

In South Africa, Mmusi said "the man is still the head of the family," although in many cases women have become wage earners.

Many women are forced to take care of their households alone because their husbands are often away working in the mines, in jail, or in exile because of political activities, she said.

Though a small percentage of women have managed to get professional jobs, most of the women who work have low-paying jobs as nannies, farm workers, or factory workers, she said.

Uma Sekaran, associate professor in management, said that "women are progressing a little" in India, although this progress doesn't include the 75 percent of India's population that still lives in poverty in rural villages.

In urban and semi-urban areas though, "women are having some kind of jobs," and in metropolitan areas they "are now starting to talk in terms of careers, not just in terms of jobs," she said.

Women are helped in their advancement because they have extended families that can help with child care and because they have good role models, such as the late prime minister Indira Gandhi, Sekaran said.

Still they face many of the same problems as American women in dealing with conflict over their dual roles of housewives and career women, she said. "When there is a question of career and family, family always comes first," she said.

In the United States, women are better off than in the rest of the world, but there are still problems, Corai Snodgrass said.

Slaughter, Vaughan gain entry into Hall of Fame

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Outfielder Enos Slaughter and shortstop Arky Vaughan were elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame Wednesday by the Veterans' Committee at its annual meeting.

Both will be inducted at Cooperstown, N.Y., July 28 along with base stealing king Lou Brock and relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm, elected in January by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Slaughter played 19 years, the first 15 of them with the St. Louis Cardinals, and had a career batting average of .300. He hit 169 home runs, drove in 1,304 runs and was famed for his hustling style of play. In 1942 he led the National League in hits with 188 and batted .318.

Vaughan, who died in 1952, just four years after retiring from baseball, had a lifetime .318 average in 14 seasons with Pittsburgh and Brooklyn. He was the NL batting champion in 1935 and led the league in triples and runs scored three times.

Slaughter lives in Roxboro, N.C., where he was born in 1916.

After coming up to the Cardinals in 1938, he reeled off five straight .300 seasons and batted a career-high .336 in 1949, completing a string of nine years in which he hit no lower than .294. He was traded to the New York Yankees in 1954 and completed his career with Kansas City, the Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves.

Slaughter probably is remembered most for scoring the winning run in the seventh game of the 1946 World Series, when he scored from first base on a single by Harry Walker, beating the relay home against the Boston Red Sox.

Lyman fired by Clippers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Lyman has been fired as coach of the Los Angeles Clippers, a spokesman for the National Basketball Association team announced Wednesday.

Scott Carmichael, public relations director for the Clippers, who are playing their first season in Los Angeles, announced that former Boston Celtics guard Don Chaney, a San Diego assistant, would succeed Lyman.

The Clippers, who entertain the Cleveland Cavaliers Wednesday night, were 22-39 under Lyman this season and lost 17 of their last 20 games under Lyman.

Lyman, 43, was hired to coach the team prior to the 1983-84 season, the club's final year in San Diego.

Tennis men to travel south over spring break

By Stan Goff
Staff Writer

The SIU-C men's tennis team will go up against some fierce competition during its swing through the South over spring break before returning to Carbondale for its outdoor home opener against Tennessee-Martin on March 20.

The Salukis, 2-5, will open the trip on March 10 with a practice meet at Central Florida Community College. They will travel to the University of South Florida the next morning in the first of five tough road matches. CFCC is the two-time defending National Junior College champion, and USF defeated SIU-C 6-3 last season.

"It'll be nice to get a practice match in because we'll be facing some tough teams, and it's going to be tough because these teams have been playing outside for quite awhile now," SIU-C Coach Dick LeFevre said.

The Salukis will take on Florida on March 12, then Furman; and the College of Charleston before closing the trip at Georgia on March 16. Georgia is ranked sixth in the nation, and Florida was a top twenty team in the preseason polls.

"It's a great disadvantage for northern teams to go down and play the strong teams that have been outside for ten or fifteen matches, but it will get us in shape, and if we're good and lucky we'll win a couple," LeFevre said.

The Salukis have been led so far this season by Per Wadmark, their No. 1 singles player. Wadmark is 4-3 at No. 1 singles and, along with Rollie Oluquino, he's 6-1 at No. 1 doubles.

Doubles have been the Salukis' strongpoint this season, with the three doubles teams posting a combined 13-8 record. The No. 3 team of Scott Krueger and Chris Visconti is 4-3, while Lars Nilsson and Gabriel Coch are 3-4 at the No. 2 spot.

Wadmark was the only Saluki to win at singles.

"We'll be the underdog in most of these matches, but once we get back from the trip we'll start winning regularly. We won't be facing teams that tough later in the season," LeFevre said.

Upsets continue to occur in MVC tournament

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

Because of a rash of regular-season upsets, it hasn't been a typical year for the Missouri Valley Conference in basketball.

The pattern continued Tuesday night when one upset and two near-upsets occurred in the first round of the MVC Post-Season Tournament.

Seventh-seeded Indiana State shocked second-seeded Illinois State 61-59 at Normal to advance into the semifinals on Thursday at Wichita State.

The Sycamores entered the Illinois State game with 11 losses in their last 14 games and a 13-14 overall record, but they managed to upset the 21-7 Redbirds.

Sixth-seeded SIU-C threatened third-seeded Wichita State before falling 69-66 at Wichita. In SIU-C's two previous meetings with the Shockers this season, it lost by 24 points at Wichita and 16 points at the Arena.

The Salukis finished the season with a 14-14 record. If they had managed to upset Wichita State, they would have hosted Indiana State in the semifinals on Thursday. The winner of the MVC Tournament gets an automatic bid into the 64-team NCAA Tournament.

The other near-upset occurred at Tulsa, where the top-seeded Golden Hurricane held off eighth-seeded West Texas State 74-69.

Tulsa (22-6 overall) hosts Bradley on Thursday in the other semifinal game. The fourth-seeded Braves defeated fifth-seeded Creighton 69-59 at Peoria.

While there has been a great deal of parity in the league, MVC Public Relations Director Jeff Hurd said he thinks five Valley schools will qualify for post-season play.

Hurd thinks Tulsa and Illinois State will qualify for the NCAA Tournament, and Wichita State, Bradley, and Creighton will qualify for the National Invitational Tour-namment. Wichita State and Bradley could win the conference tournament and get an automatic bid into the NCAA tournament, however.

"I don't know how the (NCAA) committee feels, but I think regardless of its loss Tuesday, Illinois State will get into the tournament," Hurd said. "I think a 21-7 record is a good record in any conference."

Hurd said Illinois State didn't have a strong non-

Men gymnasts to take on fourth-ranked Nebraska

By Stan Goff
Staff Writer

Spring break will not leave the SIU-C men's gymnastics team a lot of time to relax, as the Salukis will travel to Lincoln, Neb., on March 10 to take on the fourth-ranked Cornhuskers, and then travel to Kalamazoo, Mich., on March 16 to compete in the Western Michigan Invitational.

The Salukis, 10-2, will be looking to improve their road scoring average to assure a trip to the NCAA Championships for the third consecutive year. Nebraska is ranked fourth in the qualifying rankings with a 279.63 mark, while SIU-C is fifth at 278.65. Ten teams will be invited to the nationals in Lincoln on April 11-13.

"We'd like to replace a low score by scoring well at Nebraska, and then replace another one at Western Michigan. The meet with Nebraska should be a great one," SIU-C Coach Bill Meade said.

SIU-C has scored between 278.05 and 280.05 (a school record) in its last three outings, and will need another high score to knock off a Cornhusker team that boasts five solid all-arounders.

Wes Sutter, Nebraska's top all-arounder, has scored 56-57 points consistently, and Neil Palmer has been scoring right around the 56 mark all season. Mike Epperson, Kevin Davis and Mike Schlesinger, all freshmen, have given Nebraska three more strong all-arounders.

score 55.00 or higher last Sunday when they defeated Oklahoma and Houston Baptist in a triangular meet at the Arena. Junior David Lutterman led the way with a 56.10, as he won the pommel horse competition with a season-high 9.50.

Gregg Upperman (55.65), Brendan Price (55.50) and Mark Ulmer (55.10) also turned in strong all-around performances as the Salukis edged the Sooners by one point to win the meet. Ulmer's career-high 9.35 on the floor exercise helped him top the 55.00 mark for the first time in his career.

"I was really pleased with the all-arounders. They had to do it because of the strong all-around work of Oklahoma," Meade said.

The Salukis will be one of six teams competing in Kalamazoo.

Franks to contend for national crown in 440-yard dash

By Mike Frey
Sports Editor

Michael Franks is an athlete who has enjoyed plenty of individual success in his four years as a standout member of the SIU-C men's track and field team, but in Franks' estimation, the team comes first.

Franks' teammates discovered this last month when the Salukis lost the Missouri Valley Conference Indoor Track Championships at Normal to host Illinois State. Franks had done his part for the SIU-C cause by finishing first in the 60- and 300-yard dashes.

His time of 29.81 in the 300-yard dash set a school, conference and Horton Fieldhouse record. It was also the fastest NCAA time recorded in the 300-yard dash during the indoor season, breaking the mark of 29.96 established by Tony Dees of Mississippi.

Despite these accomplishments, Franks admitted that he was deeply hurt by the Saluki loss. Franks has been part of three indoor and three outdoor MVC championships at SIU-C, and wanted to extend the streak through his final season.

"You hear about how Southern has never lost the Valley and it's hard to take when we finally did lose it," Franks said. "After taking part in championships in my first three years, I wanted to win the championship in my final year."

"If we went on to win the outdoor meet by 300 points, it will never take away this loss. I'll never forget about it." "Michael's not only a great competitor, but he's a hell of a team man," SIU-C coach Bill Cornell said. "No one took it harder when we lost the championship."

Despite Franks' dedication to the Saluki team, he will take time to focus on an individual performance this weekend when he competes in the 440-yard dash in the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships at Syracuse, N.Y. Franks will be one of four Salukis who will compete in the meet, but is the only one who has a realistic chance of winning a national title.

Franks finished third in the 440-yard dash at last year's NCAA indoor finals, and placed second nationally in the outdoor finals.

Michael Franks

Franks qualified for the NCAA finals last Saturday when he recorded a school-record time of 46.03 in the 440-yard dash at the Last Chance Invitational at Murfreesboro, Tenn. It was the second straight year that Franks qualified in the Last Chance meet, which was his final opportunity to gain a berth in the NCAA meet.

"At the beginning of the year I had had problems with a groin pull and that slowed me down," Franks said. "I'm not having as much of a problem with it now."

Record-setting performances are nothing new for Franks, but he said he still gains a special feeling when he has an outstanding effort.

"I'm always surprised when I have a good time," he said. "If something good happens, I rejoice. I still get excited when I do well."

Franks has competed mainly in the 300-yard dash this season, an event that's not included in the NCAA finals. He has competed in the 440-yard dash only twice this season. He failed to qualify in his only other attempt, at the Domino Pizza Classic at Champaign on Feb. 9.

Franks will receive stiff competition in the 440-yard dash from Antonio McKay of Georgia Tech, who was a member of the U.S. Olympic team last year. But Franks said he won't be concentrating on any one opponent this weekend, because that strategy has backfired on him in the past.

"You can't make the mistake of looking at just one athlete," he said. "I've tried that before and it has failed. There are a lot of good quarter-milers in the country."

Horton signs with St. Louis

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The two remaining unsigned players on the St. Louis Cardinals — pitchers Rick Horton and Rick Ownbey — both have agreed to terms on one-year deals, the club announced Wednesday.

Ownbey signed a new contract late Tuesday and Horton Wednesday morning.

"I'm glad it's out of the way," Horton said. "Now I can concentrate on baseball."

Horton had been hit on the left hand by a batted ball during Tuesday's practice, but X-rays on two fingers were negative and he participated in Wednesday's workout.

Right-hander Kevin Hagen will refrain from throwing for the next few days, however.

Hagen reported to camp with some stiffness in his right shoulder and because it persisted, he has been placed on a program of medication and rest.

Horton posted a 9-4 record with a 3.12 earned run average as a rookie with the Cardinals last season. He is expected to fill a spot in the teams' starting rotation this year.

Ownbey spent most of last year at Louisville, the Cardinals' American Association Triple A affiliate. He came to the Cardinals from the New York Mets along with pitcher Neil Allen in the controversial trade involving first baseman Keith Hernandez in 1983.

Joaquin Andujar, the National League's only 20-game winner in 1984, reported to camp Tuesday.
