An All Time Low

SIU students will have their opportunity to go to the polls to vote for candidates of their choice in the Student Council election. If it is the usual turnout, about 20 per cent of the student body will cast ballots. Editorials have been written, and lectures have been made on the lack of student interest in campus elections. About all that can be said has already been said.

But interest has lagged so low during this recent campaign that policies is nothing more than a watered remnant of the old party system. There is little attempt to secure votes by any candidate. He is running on his good looks, if he has any.

There are no platforms, suggested changes or improvements by most of the candidates. Students will have little to vote on when they go to the polls. However, your might want to contact student council candidates and ask them what their views on campus matters—what they think they can do to improve the Student Council. Perhaps a few of them will have something to say.

But this stagnant attitude toward student government should not prevent students from voting. The Student Council can and should be an important part of SIU. The administration frequently calls on the Student Council for opinions on matters of policy. They call upon the Student Council because they think it should be representative of student opinions.

Let's have some opinions. Let's have some votes. Let's have some representation. J. A.

The Issue Involved

A couple of weeks ago some students contacted the editors of the Egyptian if they would be interested in a new plan of Student Council elections by which the Student Council could be a more fair representation of the student body.

When we gave them an affirmative reply, they invited us to a meeting to discuss this new plan. This group was promised that the Egyptian would voice their opinions in its columns. When an editorial was written to explain this group's plan and mildly commented on the past record of the Student Council and student interest in the election process, the governing body raised its sleepy head and wrote a rather nasty letter to the editor.

Again we put forth this plan for a better representation on the Student Council at the risk of violent criticism from the nut

Since most student activities are not carried out on a class competition basis, why should there be an equal number of representatives from each class?

Why should the freshman class have the same number of representatives as the other classes when it has almost as many as the other groups added together?

Why should the election booths be placed in such a way as that it is much less convenient to students to vote when there could be many more election booths spread about the city?

Why can't the city be divided up into districts according to student population so that there is one Student Council representative from each district?

Why shouldn't this new system be given a try? There is a small group of students running for Student Council running on this platform, more than many of the other Council running on this platform. They are not being backed by the faculty or helping any campus political party. They are merely interested in improving the Student Council and the election system.

They appear on the ballot as "unattached" candidates. These students are not running in a popularity contest—what the Student Council election usually consists of. Glory seeking is not their aim. An issue is involved.

The preceding is this group's opinions. It should not be considered unfair to have their views presented in the newspaper. Any other slate of candidates who want to take the time or trouble to tell the editors their views or platforms would have received equal space. But they aren't even interested enough to let the students know what they stand for. J. A.

Radio-TV Roundup

Around the Air-Waves...

Here is a gliding-tiding for golf fans: The NBC Networks are planning a comprehensive coverage of the National Open Golf Tournament, scheduled to be played at the Baltusrol Golf Club in New Jersey, June 17th and 18th, and 19th. Two of the NBC Nets top sportscasters, will call the shots and describe the tournament on both NBC Radio and TV. This is the first time such an event will be telecast.

The nation-wide course classic consists of two 18-hole rounds and an exclusive 36-hole final. Utilization of NBC-TV's Cadillac Mobile Camera Unit will give viewers unequalled coverage of the entire proceedings; in addition to the link-by-link reportings. Telecasting of golf tournaments in the past has been limited to fixed camera stations.

Speaking of Air-Wave Anniversaries, Mary Margaret McBride, after twenty years in radio, has decided to toss in the towel. The "homemaker" standard for two decades, Miss McBride has signified from the ABC Radio network effective May 15th, with a background of radio progress estimated at fifteen thousand. She intends to take a four-month vacation, her first in twenty years. After that, the begins preparations for a TV show, which she hopes to schedule on one of the video nets about September. It will virtually include the same make-up as her long-standing popularizing program.

SONGSTRESS J. O. Stafford's video show has soared to such high seasons and extremes that CBS-TV is now attempting to locate a time-slot on their net sked from whence justice can be seen and heard twice a week instead of just once.

Pat Buttram, the popular radio TV cowboy comic-actor, and his wife, movie actress Bette Ryan, are grazing proudly upon a new addition—a baby girl born in Hollywood.

Rezanne, the beautiful blonde model, appearing on Bob Collier's "Beat the Clock" Saturday nights on CBS-TV, has become a bride. Roy married Tom Roddy, non-professional boxer, who was her boy friend when she was in his back in her hometown of Minneapolis, Minn. . . . The next "March of Medicine" video show will be telecast a week from this, coming Thursday, May 27th over NBC-TV. Highly fascinating, it's produced in Chicago thru coop of AMA.

C. C. FRANKLIN, SIU assistant professor of physical education, is the newly-elected president of the Illinois Association for Professional Preparation in Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Seventeen colleges and universities in Illinois comprise the Association. Franklin previously has served three terms as secretary-treasurer and has edited the Association's "Proceedings of the Annual Conference."

Southern last, October. Maj. McGinnis has not been notified as to his new assignment. By a strange coincidence Sgt. Joyce is being assigned to the hometown of Maj. McGinnis, Lincoln, Neb.

A very impressive display has been installed in one of the cabinets in the hall of Parkinson lab. The display, made possible through the generosity of Maj. Oakes, consists of two awards, one from heavy paper and one signed by Maj. Oakes, and an award which will be awarded on May 27. Each medal is labeled as to the donor and the purpose.

Capt. C. Greulius and DuBois took part in the aerial display from Scott AFB last Saturday as the entire base was opened to the public for Armed Forces Day. The two SIU officers flew a P-51 Mustang which was over Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois.

The other member leaving from Scott staff will be Major Robert McGinnis. Maj. McGinnis, although only a few months at SIU, has been handling the base cadet record. He is now at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Two staff members will not be amongst the present when roll call is taken at the beginning of the 1954-55 school year. One member, SSG Charles Joyce, who has been handling the base cadet record, has already received his new assignment, once, who applied for a transfer to a school near his home in Fels Point, South Dakota. He has been assigned to the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Bulletin Printed Listing Summer Recreation Plans

A summer recreation program bulletin with information concerning Southern summer workshops and recreation arrangements will be issued sometime this week, according to Betty Greenleaf director of student activities.

The bulletin will contain workshop dates and list recreational facilities available to summer students.

Those facilities include availability to the University pool, square dancing each Tuesday on the Anthony Hall parking lot, and volleyball, softball, horseshoe and tennis equipment.

Arrangements have been made for students to attend the St. Louis Missouri Sports "Robbers" and "Gentlemen Preter Blondes", for approximately $3.50. If enough people indicate an interest, a group will make an excursion on the Admiration. This last trip will cost approximately $4.

Free movies will be shown each Wednesday in the stadium, or in case of rain, Shoyack auditorium. These will include "Capt Horatio Hornblower", "The Prize", "Treasure of the Sierra Madre", "Quartz", "The Last Journey", "I've Always Loved You", and "Viva Zapata".

Dr. John A. Allen will conduct a historical trip through Southern Illinois for those interested. In addition to the above, plays will be presented in the Southern Playhouse on three different nights and a number of picnics, coke hours and lemonade hours have been scheduled. The bulletin will include a list of interesting attractions in Southern Illinois and directors, as to how to reach them.

Reservations for the opera trips may be made at the Student Union by the price of the ticket. Transportation fees may be paid at the time the trip is made.

Looking Back
By Elaine Hartley
A drive for stadium funds was in full swing in April 1936, with William McAndrew, director of the stadium fund drive, attending meetings all over Southern Illinois.

"The Drunkard" or "The Fallen Saved" was the Zetetic Literary society's choice for spring play in 1936. The play was a five act melodrama of "old fashioned ideals and morals."

John L. Wright's thesis "The Evolution of Granger Laws in Illinois from 1870 to 1886" was placed on the reading series of the University of Chicago library.

"Moving Around" a column of movie reviews in 1936 mentioned "child actors" Shirley Temple and her performance in "Captain January." Writers of the column said "when movies have perfected their dimension, there will be very little left for them to do."

What about small and cinema? The '36 Egyptian won nine awards at the Illinois College Press Association meeting. Plans for the Inter-fraternity singing were underway in May 1936. Chi Delta Chi was sponsoring the event.

The Junior - Senior Prom in 1936 was held in the Men's Gym which was decorated to resemble "a flowering garden."

Plans Being Laid For Master's In Primary

Area educators will be called on by SIU education professors this month to help plan a master's degree program for kindergarten-primary teachers in Southern Illinois.

Dr. Charles Neal, SIU director of teacher training.

An SIU planning committee is now investigating courses offered in this field by other universities. Initial contact with area educators will be made by way of a questionnaire designed to find out the needs of kindergarten-primary teachers, both from the viewpoint of the teacher and administrator.

SOUTHERN Illinois education trained in methods and techniques of kindergarten-primary education is being increasingly recognized by educators as a vital area in contributing to the mental, physical, social, and emotional growth of the child. Dr. Neal points out in explaining the need for the program.

He says that the kindergarten level, not bound by the traditional curriculum that often stresses mental learning only, provides an excellent opportunity for dealing with all aspects of the child's development.

Ag Club To Hold Annual Roundup

Contests, tours, a chicken barbecue, and presentation of contest awards by Stillman J. Sanard, Illinois State Director of Agriculture, will feature the annual Southern Illinois University Agriculture Club Roundup May 20. Donald Vanetti, Roundup club president, announced today.

Standards will appear on the evening program which will include showing a motion picture film, "Agriculture at Southern," produced by the University in cooperation with private firms.

Contests will include a tractor driving contest for agriculture students, an all-agriculture judging contest open to anyone, and milking contests and pig races. Activities begin at 1 p. m.

A demonstration of the till-plant (more commonly called a mulch-planter) will take place at 1:30 p. m. Two-hour tours of the SIU Experimental Farm and the Illinois Horticultural Experiment Station will be conducted during the afternoon.

Reservations for the chicken barbecue are due by May 18. Vanetti said.

'SIU Story' Premiere In Assembly Thursday

The "SIU Story," a color movie, will be shown to Southern students during the freshman assembly Thursday morning, according to C. William Horrell, director of the Photographic Service.

Frank Dobie To Address Historical Group Saturday

Texas J. Frank Dobie, speaker at the closing session of the two-day spring tour meeting of the Illinois State Historical Society at SIU May 21-22, will talk on a subject with which he has lived his 65 years.

Dobie will address the Saturday evening dinner session on "Literature and Lore of the Cowboy."

Dobie began teaching English at the University of Texas after receiving his master's degree from Columbia University, New York, in 1914. He remained on the faculty most of the time until 1950 except for several periods during which he served in the armed forces during World War I; managed a quarter-million-acre Texas ranch for his Uncle Jim Dobie down in the brush country; headed the English department at Oklahoma A. & M. College for two years; lived in Mexico a year; lectured on American History at Cambridge University, England, in 1943, and took leaves of absence at various times to gather lore, write, and travel.

Dobie is scheduled to accompany the Illinois Historical Society members on their Saturday historical tour of Cairo and interesting places en route. The tour begins at 8 a. m. from the campus; goes to Cairo by way of Murphysboro, Grand Tower, Thebes, and Horseshoe Lake; and returns through Mound City and Jonesboro.

Clifford G. Massoth, Harvey, editor of the Illinois Central Magazine, will address the opening session at 11 a. m. Friday on "From Wood Burners to Coal Burners: Early Days of the Illinois Central Railroad in Southern Illinois."

William A. Pirkin, SIU associate professor of history, is serving as chairman of local arrangements. Program chairman John W. Allen, Carbondale, is SIU's authority on Southern Illinois historical lore and will speak at the Friday luncheon session. Nearly 200 are expected for the two-day meeting.

TWO BENEFIT MOVIES PRESENTED TONIGHT

The Kiwanis Club of Carbondale will present a double feature movie program for the benefit of underprivileged children in the University School Auditorium tonight.

Women's Club To Convene On Campus May 23

Women from all over the area will converge on Southern Illinois University's campus Saturday May 29, for the first annual Southern Illinois Women's Day, sponsored by the University Women's Club of Carbondale.

Highlight of the three-hour program open to all area women, will be the crowning of Mrs. Ella K. Moseley Metropolis, as Queen of Mothers for 1954 by Pat Bruce, Fairfield, SIU student who reigns as Miss Southern, Miss Carbondale, and ISA Sweetheart.

Mrs. Moseley was named earlier this year as Illinois Mother for 1954. She is the mother of four children, one of whom was killed in the Battle of Java Sea in 1942.

Principal speaker of the day will be Lillian E. Schlagenhauf, Quincy, State senator from the 36th district. Senator Schlagenhauf has been practicing law in Quincy for 24 years.

Southern, Eastern Split Double Header Friday

Salukis Take First Drop Second Try

Southern and Eastern split a doubleheader Friday afternoon, and for all their time and trouble accomplished little else but practically knocking each other from the 1954 race.

The Salukis won the first game 5-3 and dropped the nightcap 5-1, leaving both teams with a 4-4 conference mark.

Four runs in the first four innings wrapped up the first game for SIU, but in the second game, Coach Glenn Martin's boys were rather harmless against the masterful hurling of Morris Hernandez. After giving up a hit and a run in the first inning, Hamphill scattered four hits over the final six innings to guide the 1953 conference champs to victory.

In the first game, two men who've faced each other on a basketball court started on the mound. Tim Miliklin for SIU and Jack Kenny, center for Eastern's conference winners.

Each team scored in the first inning on walks and errors. In on second after a throwing error the third, Roger Wells was perched and came home on Wayne Williams' single, giving SIU a 2-1 lead.

Jerry West, playing third base with a sore back, tripled to right field to open the fourth. Ray Tabacchi scored a high fly to right, but the right fielder fooled everyone by letting it go over his head for a moment. Tabacchi scored on Jack Renfro's fly to right.

Southern added to their lead in the seventh on a walk to Pete Baggett. Dick Sandin's sacrifice, and Jerry West's single, making it 5-1. Miliklin was fairly effective on the mound until the eighth. A single, triple, and a long fly scored one run. After the next batter bled, Miliklin was replaced by Vin Koehr, who retired the side on a strike-out and pop.

The Salukis collected eight hits, one more than the Panthers. Jerry West was the most potent Saluki batter, getting two hits in three trips.

Southern jumped to a brief 1-0 lead in the seventh inning, but Jack Renfro, leading off in the first inning, was safe at first when the pitcher hit him in the back on a throw to first. Renfro went to second on a passed ball, and scored on Williams' single.

Good fielding pulled SIU pitcher Darrell Thompson out of a hole in the third. With runners on second and third, score tied 1-1, and one out, Tabacchi came up with an eye-opening play and either Jack Chor picked the runner off or scored.

The Panthers got their run in the third on two singles and a double.

After walking the first batter in the fourth, Thompson was relieved by Gordon Lambert who retired the side without any further trouble. Lambert was eventually the losing pitcher, however, as he loaded the bases in the sixth. Tabacchi and two walks with one out. He was replaced at that point by Bob Meyers, who got the side out after allowing a run to score on a fly to center.

Meyers gave up a run in the sixth on a walk, a sacrifice, and a two-out single. This gave Eastern a 3-1 lead.

Dame Fortune took a proverbial powder from the Salukis in the last portion of the sixth. Baggett, who had slammed a triple with out out, was doubled at the plate on Jerry West's short fly to right.

Three walks and two singles gave Eastern two more runs in the seventh.

The Salukis play a single game at St. Louis U. this afternoon, and then go to Western for an IAC double header tomorrow.

BACK TO HALL OF FAME

Jim Thorpe Group Starts Memorial For His Name

Jim Thorpe, the legendary American Indian athlete who died broken and forgotten will have some sort of a memorial in the "Jim Thorpe Foundation," a group which is starting with treasury but with the commendable idea of memorializing the name of one of America's foremost if not THE foremost athlete.

Another aim of the organization will be to build a Jim Thorpe memorial cancer hospital. Thorpe died of cancer.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, will be president of the institution. Bell says, "I have always admired Thorpe as the greatest athlete of all time and the first president of the National Football League."

The NFL commissioner held a press conference attended by Mrs. Patricia Thorpe, the athlete's widow. She said that Bell would have complete charge of the foundation.

An NFL attorney who led the fight with battle against government anti-trust charges some time ago said the foundation had not been incorporated as yet, although proceedings had been started in Philadelphia Common Pleas Court. He said it would take three or four months to complete the legal matters. He said that a bank would be named as the official treasurer.

Bell explained that the center of the Thorpe Foundation would be at Mauch Chunk, Pa., in the eastern Pennsylvania anthracite region. Residents of Mauch Chunk and adjoining East Mauch Chunk will vote in today's state-wide election on whether to change the name of the two communities to Jim Thorpe, Pennsylvania.

Thorpe earned much of his athletic fame in Pennsylvania, starting at the Indian school in Carlisle, Pa., some 70 miles from the Mauch Chunk region.

Some $2.75 and $2.00; front balcony, $2.00 and upper balcony, $1.25.

Mail orders, with check or Money Order made out to "Golden Gloves," should be sent to: Golden Gloves, Globe Democrat, St. Louis 1, Mo.

Golfers High But Not High Enough To Score Win

Saluki golfers scored the highest number of points in any match so far this year but still could not muster enough to win. They are still looking for their first victory. The Normal Redbirds won by four points, 11 to 7.

Bill Malinski was low man for the Salukis, firing an 81. Goldstein and Wilson were tied for second best, both shooting 83's. None of the Salukis broke into the 70's for the first time this golf season.

The match was played for 18 holes on a three point medal basis, one point going to low man for 18 holes.

Captain Bob Henley led off for the Salukis. He shot a 42 and a 45 winding up with his highest score for this year—87. His Redbird opponent, Galin Goodwin won all three match points with a very good 77, beating Henley by 10 strokes.

Second up for Southern was Ed Goldstein. Goldstein got off to a slow start shooting a 45 on the front nine. He got red hot on the back nine, however, and whipped a 38 to total 83 and defeat Northern's George Meidel. Meidel shot a 43 and a 44 for an 87. Goldstein got two of the medal points and Meidel one.

Ron Wilson was in third position for SIU and shot a respectable 39 on the first round. He ran out of gas on the back nine and plugged in a 44. Wilson's 83 was topped by Redbird, Dick Heise who whipped out a 78 and took two of the match points.

Firing next to last for the Salukis was Bill Malinski. Malinski was consistent, firing a 41 and a 40. He beat Normal's Jim Brocker by two strokes and took two of the three medal points. Brocker shot an 83.

In last position for Southern was Tom Brock. He shot a 44 on the front nine, and benched himself by one stroke on the back for an 86. Jerry Meidel from Northern was three strokes better though and took two of the medal points to win, 2-1.

The next Southern golf match will be a conference championship meet against all IAC schools with golf squads. The tilt will be this Saturday at Jackson country club. Tee-off time is two p. m.

The scoring: Goodwin N-3, Henley S-0, Goldstein S-3, Meidel N-1, Heise N-2, Wilson S-1, Malinski S-2, Brocker N-1, Meidel N-2, Brock S-1.

In The Locker Room

In case you're a pitcher (a person who throws baseballs, not a container for liquids), you may be troubled by blisters on your fingers at one time or another.

The trainer for the Milwaukee Braves, Dr. Charles Lacks, said recently he had a solution for preventing them which is contrary to popular belief—you should soften the fingers, not harden them.

Lacks said he demonstrated it recently with Chet Nichols, just returned from two years of soldiering. The idea was first tried out on Johnny Sain about seven years ago. With Nichols, Lacks used mainly petroleum jelly.

Lacks said that the skin hardens and alcohol, used by many pitchers to prevent blisters, dehydrates the skin tissues, and as a result, the pitcher's fingers crack and blister after a few innings.

Agitated by a basketball referee's decision in Iowa, Mich., an irate fan charged to the floor and inflicted body bruises and cuts on the whistle tooter's person.

What caused the affray was the banishment of the fan's son for his fifth foul. For his vigorous objection, the fan received a 30-day jail sentence and a $50 fine.

Sleep-that-knits-the-soul-dept: During the state high school track meet Friday, a maintenance man at the University of Illinois stadium found a Champaign high school runner fast asleep on a bench in the upper west side section of the stadium.

The runner decided to take a nap after competing in an earlier half-mile relay heat and two 220-yard dash heats. But because his nap lasted for several hours, the relay team on which he was to run a leg was scratched.

Even though Ty Cobb hung up his spikes many years ago, he is still spoken of in referred tones as the scrappiest player who ever spiked a second baseman or buried insults at an umpire.

One of the players who challenged the great Cobb was Charles (Buck) Herzog, a frail sort of fellow who eventually died of tuberculosis in 1953. Their battle is now a baseball legend.

In the spring of 1917, the Giants and the Detroit Tigers, with Cobb, were touring Texas together. Cobb was as arrogant as was possible, and the rough and tough Giants bristled at the sight of him. Cobb bristled in return.

In the first inning of one game, Cobb was hit by a pitched ball. When he reached first, second baseman Herzog yelled, "I dare you to Johnny Sain about seven years ago. The throw beat him handily, but he slid high and gashed the inside of Herzog's leg with his spikes. A moment later, the two were rolling together on the ground, and shortly thereafter were put out of the game.

That evening, Herzog walked up to Cobb at supper in the hotel where both teams were staying. "What's your room number?" he asked. After Cobb told him, he said, "I'll be there at 10."

Herzog was there at 10, regardless of the height and weight he was giving away to Cobb. The Giants' trainer volunteered to serve as referee, and the duellers took off their shirts and prepared to do battle.

Herzog's first punch knocked Cobb down. That was the climax of the fight for Herzog. Cobb closed his eyes. He clobbered his nose. He ground him into a state of incompetence—but not out of apoplexy.

"Okay," said Herzog as he picked himself up at last and stumbled to the door. "Don't spike me again."

BUD NANGLE TO SPEAK AT HUSKIE BANQUET

Among the guests will be high school coaches and area newsmen. The program will honor members

Dick Gregory set a new school record in the 80 yard run Saturday as the Salukis swamped Washington in a dual meet. Gregory bested the mark he tied last year by a second plus. The old record was 1:57.4.

WILLIAM BULL RECEIVES U OF I ASSISTANTSHIP

He is one of all Huskie athletic teams for the current year, and the coaches will review their respective seasons. Among the guests will be high school coaches and area newsmen.
