Action Postponed On Engineering Bill

Aeflon on the SIU engineering bill before the Senate Education Committee has been postponed until next Wednesday.

Sponsors of the bill requested postponement in order to enable it further consideration.

The SIU operating budget bill passed the Senate Appropriations Committee by unanimous vote on Wednesday. The bill will next go before the Senate for its first reading.

This bill, if passed, will appropriate $22,902,139 to Southern from July 1, 1957 to June 30, 1959. This does not include amounts for capital improvements, which will be the subject of another bill.

The home economics building appropriation proposal will be included in the capital improvements bill, which will be acted upon next Wednesday.

The Senate Education Committee will meet at 3 p. m., Daylight Saving Time, in Springfield next Wednesday. They will further discuss and possibly take action on the bill that would grant Southern the right to offer degrees in engineering.

'Our American Cousin'

Players Climax Season With Period Melodrama

The Southern Players are ending their 1956-57 playbill this week, and doing it in fine style by presenting Tom Taylor's delightful melodrama, "Our American Cousin."

The play is presently enjoying a successful six-day run, and will be given again tonight and tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Southern Playhouse.

Climaxing the most successful season in the history of the Southern Players, "Our American Cousin" could hardly be described as a literary masterpiece.

It is recognized in America, however, for its historic significance. The play was being viewed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1865 when he was shot and killed by John Wilkes Booth.

out the black-dad mustached villain who holds the mortgage in exchange for the fair lady's affection and "Our American Cousin," is no exception.

Stalking onto the stage, accompanied by occasional hisses from the audience, Joe Embser gives a most realistic portrayal... complete with cane and sneer.

Spotting stiff English accents and authentic costumes of the period, the entire cast gives entertaining performances.

Top Supporting Roles
 James Lash, Jerry Van Dover, Bennie Cook, Dick Hunsaker, and David Brookbank bring forth purposefully exaggerated supporting roles, as do Yolanda Pasano, Helen Reed, Phyllis Bångdale, Sylvia Beate and Doris Drage in the female parts.

Fran Wilhelm and Mrs. C. V. Bennett give the play its heroines, and the melodramatic touch of romance.

Rounding out the full cast are Don Gilleland, David Ogg, Dick Small and Harry Lusk.

The play is presented in 10 scenes, with frequent scenery changes. Technical direction is by Sherman Abrams, assisted by Bennie Cook, a student and member of the cast. Don Gilleland is the state manager.

Result Of Research
 The properties and settings for the performances are as nearly like those used in the 1865 assassination performance as research can reveal.

Dr. M. Leod, assisted by a grant given him from the SIU Graduate School, traveled to Washington D. C., New York, and Baltimore to gather authentic background information for the play.

The fatal show was fired by Booth during the second scene of the third act when only one character, Asa Trenchard, was on stage.

In the play's production, Purtillo freezes for a few seconds after saving the last lines, "you sock-dologizing old mantrap," before Lincoln was killed.

During Purtillo's motionless silence, the music "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" comes from the background... paying tribute to Abraham Lincoln.

BIKES FOR SALE
 Miss Danielle Sedlack, freshman from Christopher, respects a price tag on a bicycle in the University Store. The store opened its bike sale Wednesday.

Face Other Charges

4 SIU Students Fined $15.40 Each for Theft of Flares

Four SIU students were fined $15.40 each by Carbondale Police Magistrate Roy Hall Wednesday for the theft of two street department flares.

The students were also charged with the theft of signs from Devlin's Kitchen and Little Grassy Lakes and from Giant City State Park.

Carbondale Police identified the students as: Edward Fiorie, 18, Du Quoin; Patrick Currie, 21, Scott Air Force Base; Edwin Payne, 18, Union; and George Cavannes, 20, Benton. The students live at 711 S. Rawlings St., in Carbondale.

Police said they found signs from Devlin's Kitchen, Giant City and Little Grassy when the students were arrested. The police also recovered two street department flares taken from Freeman St. near the Lincoln School.

Police Chief Roy Bain signed complaints against the four boys for the flare theft. Bill Summers, Giant City custodian, was to sign state complaints for the sign theft from the state park.

Bain said the case would be referred to the U. S. District Attorney in East St. Louis for possible federal action, since some of the signs were from federal property.

Fiorino and Currie were arrested at 1 1/2 m. Wednesday by Asst. Night Chief Henry Hale and Patrolman Tom Ellis at the corner of Main street and Illinois Ave. after they saw some of the signs in the rear of the car in which the boys were riding.

Hale and Patrolman Jim Stearns arrested Payne and Cavannes at their Carbondale address.

Exhibits, Concerts Featured at University Day Open House

Spring flowers, farm animals, Civil War relics, pottery, radiotelegraph, live fish, and a large three-dimensional map of Southern Illinois will be among the wide variety of "University Day" exhibits here next Sunday.

The campus-wide open house, scheduled for 1 to 5 p. m., also will feature conducted tours through eight new buildings in the Thompson Point area. None of the events will carry an admission charge.

Special attractions will be bus tours to the Vocational - Technical Institute at Southern Acres Campus, the SIU camp at Little Grassy Lake, and the University Experimental Farms southwest of Carbondale. Buses will leave from the Student Union at regular intervals.

Visitors will find registration and information booths at the Library, Student Union, and main gate.

The original $2,500,000 request for the building has been cut to $2,000,000.

The proposed building is to be built on the corner of Grand Avenue and South University Avenue, across from Woody Hall.

Residents to be razed are at 905-909 S. University Ave., 204 W. Grand Ave., and 910 S. Illinois Ave.

All structures except one are University officials. Negotiations for the one privately-owned home are being made.

The Home Economics building was second on the University's priority list. The proposed physical education and military training building group which was in first place on the list is still under consideration, according to University officials.

The Home Economics building is the first to gain Straton's approval of those requested in the University's 1957-59 budget request.

$2 Million Slated For Home Ec Building Here

A new home economics building for Southern has been approved by Gov. William C. Stratton.

In a meeting with the SIU board of trustees Monday, Stratton announced that construction funds for the building would come from the state agriculture premium fund. Courses taught in the home economics department are approved under the premium fund's rules, and the building plan was endorsed by the Illinois Agricultural Association.

The original $2,500,000 request for the building has been cut to $2,000,000.

New Home Ec Program Enrolls First Student

Donna Schuchard, of Alton, was the first woman student to enroll in the new home economics program. She received a scholarship from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

The new course will be taught this summer, according to Dr. Eileen Quigley. The course is planned for the future home-economics teacher than the career girl. It provides a combination of cultural background with home economics fundamentals.

Old Tradition Reborn

Sunday Brings Greek Sing

One of Southern's oldest traditions - Greek Sing - will be reborn Sunday night in Shroyok Auditorium when SIU's 14 fraternities and sororities compete for the coveted first-place trophies.

The first Greek Sing, originally called Inter-Fraternity Sing, was a given impetus by Chi Delta Chi - now Phi Kappa Tau. It was held May 21, 1936, on the steps of Shroyok at twilight.

Only two fraternities and two sororities were present at the first Sing, all competing for one trophy. Separate divisions have since been created: Phi Kappa Tau (Alpha), Delta Chi, and Pi Kappa Sigma.

Dr. Robert Fanner of the English department, and then sponsor of Kappa Delta Alpha (now Theta Xi) remembers the first Sing well, although he isn't sure of the date. "The first sing wasn't too big, even if it is now," he recalls. "The groups didn't practice near as much as they do now."

One feature of the 1936 Sing was the first singing of Southern's Alma Mater, written by Governor Morgan. All four groups joined in the singing.

The Sing is free and open to the public.

Show Must Go On!

The old show-business adage, "The show must go on," found itself right at home during the first-night performance of "Our American Cousin," this week.

One table, the victim of pine previous scene changes, finally gave out just as the curtain was opened for the final scene of Act III.

As the curtains opened, the table toppled over, banging against the floor.

Harry Lusk, on stage at the time... and soon joined by other members of the cast... completely ignored the mishap.

Soon the audience had forgotten it too.

The Editors' Opinions

Peter is Being Robbed

One more week has passed, and another will go by before the Senate Education Committee will reach a decision concerning the bill that would enable Southern to grant degrees in engineering. And even then, they may not decide.

Time is of little importance when legislators must make decisions concerning a bill that may benefit some and harm others. But the bill in question is not basically of this nature.

The only possible benefit that could come from not passing the bill would be the keeping of an engineering program in the hands of one school and out of the hands of another.

The lack of engineers in our country, in Illinois, and in Southern Illinois long ago passed the critical stage. Any one school, any one college administrator or any one legislator who opposes any type of program that would offer a means of creating more engineers should reconsider such a stand.

Having and keeping an engineering program in one school and not allowing one in another is like robbing Peter to pay Paul. Peter in this case represents Southern Illinois, which could serve the area by teaching engineering in its University.

But Peter is not the only one robbed. For if Southern had an engineering school many of its graduates would seek employment throughout the state, and thus help to relieve the engineer shortage in Illinois. In a very real sense, everyone in Illinois is being robbed.

In time, Southern's engineering graduates would fill posts throughout the United States, and thereby contribute to lessening the overall national shortage.

In a broad sense, the Peter that is being robbed is not merely Southern Illinois, or SIU, but every citizen of Illinois and the country as a whole.

And who is being paid? Only those who fear that granting Southern an engineering program would somehow hamper their own ideas of control and domination.

No one need be robbed of anything. Every legislator who is on the committee need only consider one thing: Will robbing Peter to pay Paul benefit those people he represents?

SIU asked for $39 million for capital improvements last week, wrote yesterday informing us that he would wind up his western tour tomorrow, and will be back in time to contribute to Tuesday's paper.

Don't Delay . . . Act Today!

The engineering bill, still grinding away in the Senate Education Committee in Springfield, is now, more than ever, in need of student support.

Every student in pre-engineering and industrial education should write his state senator and inform him of the need for passage of the proposed bill.

Every student, regardless of major, should write, wire or phone his or her senator.

Every student should also inform his parents and friends about the situation, and suggest that they too do everything in their power to let elected officials know that the bill should be passed.

Senators, as all other elected public officials, are supposed to represent their districts. They cannot always do this adequately unless the people they represent inform them of their needs and desires.

In the case of the engineering bill, there is no question but that it would be desirable for Southern, and beyond that, the entire state and nation.

Unless Southern is granted the right to offer degrees in engineering, those students affected will have to leave Southern in order to obtain a degree of their choice.

Senators on the Senate Education Committee charged with handling the bill are listed on page one, along with the way they have voted so far on the bill. Their home town addresses are also listed.

The senators can be reached either at their home address or in the Senate Office Building, in Springfield.

It is sometimes hard to realize how much effect a letter or wire can have on the outcome of a vote. It is the one recourse open to the student now.

Don't delay!

Across The Desk . . .

By Bill Epperheimer

This bit comes from the Inter-collegiate Press weekly news-letter: "Unless some other method is found to alleviate the crowded classroom conditions at Florida State University, students may be faced with the prospect of more night and Saturday classes."

Tch, Tch, Tch. — what a shame. Our heart bleeds for the students at Florida State.

Those of you who are "Pogo" fans will be interested in what Walt Kelly had to say about some of his characters during a talk at Baylor University recently.

Kelly said his characters were created by dissecting himself. He described Pogo as being the innocuous, civi-minded type, while Albert the alligator is an alligator by trade and a "would-be politician." Kelly said, "Albert is the type who would like to own his own cigar."

He described the owl in the strip as "intelligent and wise-looking. He has the answer for every question, but questions. A pseudo-scientist, he looks like everyone's old geometry teacher."

We ran across two different views on restrictive clauses in Greek national charters this week. They point up the existing differences in attitudes about this subject across the country. At Southern, no problem concerning restrictive clauses exists, simply because the administration will not allow fraternities of societies on campus that have these clauses in their charters. However, here are two opposite views on the subject that merit consideration.

In an editorial, the Syracuse Daily Orange editors had this to say about restrictive clauses: "Though much of the blame for restrictive clauses can be placed with alumni and national officers, the students themselves exert a certain amount of pressure."

"Some are influenced into the paths of stereotypes of prejudice by their parents and firmly believe in discrimination within the group they are to spend four years with in college."

"Others, who realize that they will meet all types in life, are anxious to mix with those of other beliefs in the liberal fashion."

"Then, there are those who are apathetic to the whole situation. They meet those of other races and creeds in classes and activities and feel that this is enough 'mixing.'"

"This is a problem that cannot be solved overnight. Still, it seems logical to us that a 'liberal' education cannot be complete until students have not only met those of other backgrounds, but have seen them in the daily routines of life."

Shorter, but more to the point, was the University of Southern California student senate's vote on a National Student Association resolution favoring eventual elimination of discrimination in fraternities and sororities. (USC's student senate's comparable to SIU's student council).

Calling the resolution "the highest discrimination by not allowing us to pick our own friends", the senate voted disapproval 23-7 of the idea.

Letter to the Editor:

Library Article 'Outrageous'

Dear Editor,
I heard in your May 14, 1957, edition of a method of stealing books from the SIU Library. The article was outrageous.

As a member of the library circulation staff I attended a meeting as the first of the use of the employees. At that meeting we discussed several methods of stealing books from the library. This method, which was outlined so clearly for you, was mentioned. Mr. S. Brennan, head of the circulation division, told the staff that we should keep quiet about this method. To stop and check each book would necessitate more employees, would slow up checking considerably, and would create ill-will among our customers. This check, necessitated by your article, has done all three things. To so many people fame and fame would we check book after book. This check has now become very necessary since the whole campus knows the secret.

Next time you want to know how to steal a book from the library please inquire at the circulation desk. We know most of the methods, including a great many the students haven't tried as of yet. After you learn your information then do not print it. We have too many customers suffering under the close checks now without tightening any more.

Yours truly,
Richard Nagel

Liberal Arts Courses Should Be 'More Liberal', Says N. C. Dean

Chapel Hill, N. C. — (I-P)

Challenging the liberal arts facilities to "make the liberal arts faculties" than they are now, Dean Maurice W. Lee of the Business Administration School at the University of North Carolina recently said liberal arts courses "are neither liberal nor capable of giving an appreciation of arts."

Dean Lee said "They are not cultural courses, they are often meaninglessly repetitive and they are often more fragmented and diluted than anything within the imagination of earlier day faculty members in business administration."

Too much "how-to-do-it" emphasis in the education of men going into business, he said, is being replaced by insistence upon building a strong background in the arts and sciences as a preliminary to professional business training. He also disclosed a current investigation here on the possibility of changing the education system used for business students.

3 Years Of LAS

A proposal is now being explored with the College of Arts and Sciences to have business students take three years of pre-professional education instead of two before starting the intensive program leading to the Master of Business Administration degree.

Dean Lee said most schools of business administration in the country are now insisting upon an approximate 50-50 division between the two studies. He listed three things wrong with the vocational concept of business training in collegiate schools of business.

1. College teaching would always be out of date.
  2. No two business firms follow identical methods.
  3. The business firms can do a much better job than the universities can in teaching how to do a particular operation as the firm wants it done.
- "If the universities have nothing better to offer than this vocational training it would be well to withdraw their sources of funds for such education," he said. This can be done "more cheaply and better" by business firms.
- Desirable Areas Listed
- In order to strengthen and make more meaningful the business man's background, he must have more and not less work in the arts and sciences, Dean Lee said. He specified six areas of desirable

Old Timers vs. Varsity Tomorrow

Thomas Pitches 2-Hitter; Faces Memphis St. Today

Riding a 3-0 non-conference record, the Salukis will host Memphis State here today at 3 p. m. Today's game, however, only precedes one of more local interest and one that has been guaranteed to bring more than a few laughs. Tomorrow's game, a rivalry game, will be the first annual Old-Timers vs Varsity game at 1:30 p. m. One game was originally scheduled, but a large alum turnout may necessitate a five-inning "old-timers-intra-squad" game before the scheduled varsity-alum encounter.

Bill O'Brien, member the SIU alumni squad and organizer of the group, has expressed high optimism for tomorrow's chances. Expect No Trouble "We expect absolutely no trouble whatsoever," says O'Brien, "because if we can't win on playing ability, we'll outcoach the old master. We know all his tricks. The entire Saluki team was coached by SIU coach G. L. E. 'Abe' Martin, and many of them are now coaching themselves. O'Brien further commented that he was searching for an ump who might consider accepting bribes, and that after reading all the replies from the alumni players, he

RAMBLINGS Not too long ago we ran a series of "goods" we had made this term. Last week we produced a real one, and we hope that not too many students and track fans were inconvenienced. We're speaking, of course, of our headline last Tuesday that announced the Eastern-SIU track meet was to be held on Tuesday night. "Southern last the track meet after a close point battle, 66-65... but it happened on Wednesday night, not Tuesday." Rumor has it it's unhealthful to deal in facts that the "Director Derby" may turn into a marathon affair after all. Chances are, however, interested SIU students will be home or away for the summer before the news is officially broken. We do, however, hope to have late developments in this column by next week. Speaking of the SIU athletic department, and we were, it's a sure bet now that this year's Jayvee basketball coach Jim Sells, will be leaving Southern. Jim's boys posted an impressive 10-3 record last season, and he has shown every indication of making a fine college coach. Sells was offered the recently vacated assistant coaching job held by Fred Lewis... but Sells and the department failed to meet even

Whip Evansville 5-2

Southern's Salukis, with their two best hitters out of the lineup, defeated Evansville, Ind. for the second time this season last Monday, 5-2. Gerald Thomas, 6-3 1/2 right handed freshman, in his first starting assignment of the regular season, held the home Braves to just two hits in the seven-inning game. The Salukis had previously been rained out twice at Evansville, and last Monday's contest was cut short for the same reason. Regulars Richard Jones and Don Taylor, sporting the top averages of the SIU nine, missed the game because of injuries. Harlon Schiebel filled in at shortstop, and Rich Dillinger shifted from first base to left field. Another SIU regular, Wally Westbrook is still out of the lineup because of a shoulder injury.

In the Evansville game, the Salukis gathered seven hits, but still trailed going into the fifth, 1-0. A double by Sanders started a Saluki rally in the sixth, and a single by pinch hitter Ronnie Ayers drove across two big runs. Southern picked up two insurance runs in the seventh, before the rains came, on singles by Dillinger and Monschein, an infield out, and a sacrifice fly. Evansville threatened in the bottom of the seventh, but Thomas from Sumner, Ill., fanned Thompson for the final out. Thomas gave up only two hits and struck out eight. The victory gives SIU a perfect record in non-conference play (3-0), and a 4-5 overall record.

Weekend Ends Play For 3 Sports

Track The astounding Saluki track team, seemingly destined to finish the season in winless fashion, will travel to Illinois Normal tomorrow for their final dual meet. The SIU tracksters surprised even themselves last Wednesday night by fighting Eastern Ill. to the finish in a dual encounter, only to lose 66-65. SIU garnered six individual first places, with standbys Roger Counsel, Sam DeNeal, and Louis Lambert leading the trail. Marlon Rushing, Chubby Velasco, and Earl Edwards also gave SIU top honors in their events. Eastern, who hasn't lost a dual since 1954, when they were beaten 66-65, lost a valuable man at the beginning of the meet. Broad jumper and hurdler Scott pulled a muscle while jumping, and was forced to withdraw from participation. A stadium record of 49' 11 1/2" was set by Eastern's Fisher in the shot put. Results: Mile — Lander E. Harvey E. Carterberry SIU, 8:57.3; 440 — Du Neal SIU, Helberg SIU, Seger SIU, 50.0; 100 — Brown E. Tennis

The SIU Netters, hoping to snap their present losing streak and pad their 2-7 1/2 season's record, will host the St. Louis Billikens here tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The matches will conclude the spring tennis card for SIU, excepting the IIAC meet at Eastern Ill. last weekend. Lost 7-2 Southern's tennis team took their seventh loss of the season last Tuesday to a team they had defeated earlier in the year. The Salukis dropped a 7-2 defeat at Murray State, Ky., winning only singles match and one doubles point. Ron Underwood and Jim Jarrett, although losing their singles matches, continued their mastery in the doubles competition by beating highly rated Poolos and Kang to 6-4. Merrill Rosenthal, the No. six man in singles, defeated former SIU student Larry Henson 6-4 and 10-5. Coach LeFevre has expressed a desire to send his top duo of Underwood and Jarrett to the N.M.A. Meet in Beaumont, Tex., June 12.

Golf

Southern's golf squad, riding high with a 8-2 season's mark, will be hoping for revenge today when they host the Bills from St. Louis University. SIU will close their 1957 dual season today against the team that topped them in the season's opener 10-5. After the opening loss, Lynn Holder's crew marched to seven straight wins before falling again last week 11-9-3 to Illinois Normal. The Salukis bounced back the following day, however, to defeat the same team 10-8. The Saluki Netters, who now have a three-year dual meet record of 24 wins, seven losses, and two ties, conclude their season in the IIAC seven-team meet at Charleston, Ill., next weekend. Western Ill., Illinois Normal, Northern Ill., and SIU are expected to make a four-way bid for the conference crown. SIU has never won an IIAC golf championship. Competing for Southern against St. Louis today will be Brent, Behiv, Pottoff, Vannatta, Frost, and Whittenberg.
