We came together at the beginning of the semester for training week as nine photojournalists with a common goal: take great pictures. We came together during late nights at the Daily Egyptian, dedicated to bringing the news to our readers. We came together every Thursday at Buffalo Wild Wings to relax and take a break from it all. Above all, we came to be friends. When we learned of Ryan Rendleman’s death last week, we were all lost but we came together as we mourned the great loss the world had suffered. When we came together last week after losing a friend, I realized just how close of friends we all are at the Daily Egyptian, and how much I will miss the place after graduation. I treasure the friendship that I have built with the photojournalists at the Daily Egyptian; each and every one of them has made an impact on my life.
Footprints spatter the entrance to Lawson Hall as students leave class Feb. 11. According to weather.com, 1 to 4 inches of snow and ice were expected in the Carbondale area by Feb. 12.

Below: Physical Plant employees Keith Fields, (left), and Joe Wolfe work to replace a tee body in an effort to isolate the electrical problem that affected the Agricultural Building, Public Policy Institute and Greek Row March 19. The workers stated they had to pump nearly 6 feet of water out of the manhole before they could begin their work.

On the flooded streets of Route 13 by Eastgate Shopping Center, Richard Flon walks to the curb leaving his car behind him. The Feb. 5 storm caused flash flooding throughout Carbondale, but rescue workers and volunteers cleared the trapped cars in a matter of hours.

to help with the

Annual Fishing Expedition for Special Populations

Wednesday, May 14, 2008 at Bleyer Lake

On Wednesday, May 14th, the Annual Fishing Expedition for Special Population youngsters and adults will be held at Bleyer Lake. This event is sponsored by Frank Bleyer, The Bank of Carbondale, and Rend Lake Beverages, Inc.

This year we are expecting 800+ participants, and we rely on the help of several hundred volunteers to help make this event a success. Volunteers are needed to help these special population youngsters and adults select fishing equipment, bait hooks, and encourage their efforts. All equipment will be provided at the event.

Volunteers should be at Bleyer Lake and ready for instruction at 8:30 AM. The participants from Southern Illinois Schools and Sheltered Workshops will begin arriving at 9:00 AM. Picnic lunches will be provided. The event concludes by 2:00 PM.

For more information or to sign up as a volunteer, please call
The Bank of Carbondale at (618) 549-2181
or sign up online at www.tboc.com
Thank you for your help!
