Debate Squad Has Six Veterans Back, Rigid Schedule Ahead

A rigid 18 tournament schedule for the SIU debate team will begin Nov. 16-17, when 20 SIU debaters will enter the 10-team Bradley University Invitational Tournament in Peoria, Ill.

Practice began Mon., Oct. 15, for the debaters, who under the coaching of Walter H. Murrish, assistant professor of speech, last year compiled the best record in Southern's history with 178 wins and 73 losses.

Six veterans from last year's highly regarded team, led by third year debaters Richard Rader, Joe S. Murrish, and Leon Scroggins are expected to form nucleus of this year's team.

Other returning veterans are Ted Foster, Marsha Wiehn, and Robert Holton.

Headlining the 18-tournament schedule will be three tournaments in which SIU will be defending champions from 1955-56 competition. Southern will defend its crown at: Greenville College Invitational, Dec. 1; Normal University Invitational at Normal, Ill. 4-5; The Southwestern College Invitational, Jackson, Miss., Jan. 4-5.

Three new meets this year are: The Southwestern College Invitational at Winfield, Kan., Dec. 7-8; The Millsaps College Invitational at Jackson, Miss., Jan. 4-5; The Savage Invitational at Southwestern College, Durant, Okla., Feb. 28-March 2.

The 1956-57 proposition, which will be debated both pro and con by the debate squad throughout the season, is:

"Resolved, that the United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign countries."

Adding strength to this year's squad will be several new members, of which some proved themselves outstanding debaters in last year's first intercollegiate debate tournament on the SIU campus. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen won last year's tourney and will be debating with the team this season. Other outstanding debate team prospects emerging from the intramural meet were: Vernal Beckman, Kenneth Carter, Glenda Wiggins, Harry Van, Shirley McCluskey, Ray Cantrberry, and Sherwin Adelman.

Added help is also expected from transfer student Peter Morris, who has had previous debate experience at University Heights School in Carbondale, and Dr. Paul University in Greencastle, Ind.

Other newcomers to this year's team are: William Jenkins, Regina Miller, Patricia Yates, Sharon Peterson, William Adams, Nancy Craig, Richard Hunsaker, Patricia Cook, Hastings Banner, Merle McDonough, and Margaret Ritchie.

Two new graduate assistants are helping Coach Murrish with the debate team this year.

In his first year at SIU's Donald Paul, graduate of McPherson College in Kansas and member of the championship debate team in 1956, at Kansas Paul received a degree of special distinction in Phi Kappa Delta, the national forensics society.

Richard Crawford, a 1956 graduate of SIU, is also serving on the staff. Crawford was a member of Southern's debate team for four years and was also awarded a degree of special distinction by Phi Kappa Delta.

Win Tickets To Homecoming

More free tickets to Homecoming Monday morning from 10 to 11 a. m. in the Student Union where students will have a ticket apiece to one of the Homecoming activities. They will give them to the first person to say "SIU 1956 Homecoming" to them.

Also in today's Egyptian in another story is the "Magic Message" which tells students where they may get a free ticket to Homecoming today.

Winners will be announced as soon as they become known.

ELECTED GOVERNOR

Willie C. Swartz, Dean of the Graduate School at SIU was elected Governor of District 216, Rotary International, Wednesday afternoon at the District Conference at Carmi. Swartz was the only nominee and the vote was by acclamation.

Swartz, who succeeds W. A. East of Carmi has been active on district fellowship committees and has introduced dozens of students from foreign countries to Rotary Clubs throughout Southern Illinois. He was formerly a member of the National Council of American Association of University Professors and has been prominent in church and community affairs.

Everything But ...

Golly, It Even Has ... A Kitchen Sink

Southern's library has a kitchen sink, and though the sounds of pots and plates and spoons and things are not audible in the study areas, the clutter, none the less, in this little known feature of the new building.

According to Ferris S. Randall, Assistant Director of Technical Services, the kitchen is just one of the many services and features of the new library which are either in operation now or will be in operation soon.

The kitchen is used for serving refreshments and snacks in conjunction with meetings and programs held in the library auditorium.

Another little known area near the kitchen is a small, well-furnished lounge in which speakers, guests and committees may meet for tea, talk and trifles.

On the second floor of the library is the proposed Social Studies library which according to Randall, "We may get as a Christmas present."

The spacious, unfurnished hall still lacking the scholarly desks of books, stacks, desks and students will be "one of the choice spots on campus," said Randall.

Homecoming Parade Features Bands, Floats

Pretty majorettes, colorful marching bands, and beautiful floats will help make this year's Homecoming parade one of the largest ever held.

Lois Harris, parade committee chairman, announced that this year there will be a theme in connection with the parade. The theme topic is "Memories of Childhood in Fantasy." All floats entries must be turned into day by 4 p. m. at the campus post office.

Marching in the parade will be 47 high school bands from the 31 southern counties. The committee sent 176 invitations to area high schools.

Invitations have been sent to 175 organizations to build floats, according to Miss Harris.

The bands will park on the north end of University Ave. floats and stunts will line-up on Southern and Peoria Sts. Starting time for the parade will be 10 a. m., and it will proceed down University Ave., to the main gate in front of Old Main.

There will be three classes in the floats, a men's class a women's class, and an organization class. The parade will be 10 a. m., and it will proceed down University Ave., to the main gate in front of Old Main.

Also on the committee with Miss Harris is Jerry Vandover, vice-chairman, and a faculty sponsor is Mr. Jack Buckle.

Four Newsmen To Discuss Photography

A panel of four Southern Illinois newsmen will discuss "The Future of Weekly Photojournalism" during Southern Illinois University's First Annual Newspaper Workshop for Weekly Newspaper Editors and Saturday at Giant City State Park.

Scheduled for 8 p. m. Friday at the park lodge, the panel discussion will feature Charles Cox, Alton News; Curtis Small, Harrisburg Daily Register; John Temple, Wayne County Record; Fairfield, and Robert Voris, Waterloo Republican. Voris will speak again Saturday on "What Do Your Photos Cost?"

Another attraction for workshop participants will be press passes to the SIU-Eastern Michigan College football game Saturday night at the SIU Photo Service.

The two-day meeting also will include a picture-taking session at Makanda; speakers on picture editing, writing credits, print selection, and camera and darkroom techniques, and informal discussions.

The workshop fee, including meals and lodging, is $20. Enrollment will be limited to 30 persons, Horrell said.

Business Courses Credits Changed

Business 471, a four hour course, has been added to the requirements in general business specialization along with several other changes in Business Administration.

Business 370-Production Management, will be four credit hours, starting with the next time it is offered.

In all programs other than Business, new requirements for Business 370 are: Business 471 may be used. This is a four hour course called Business Organization and Management.

TO SHOW A.F.A.

"Hawaii, U. S. A.," a color film by Fran William Hall of Carleton College (Northfield, Minn.) will be shown at the University School auditorium Wednesday, Oct. 17, at 8 p. m.

The showing is sponsored by the Audio-visual and zoology departments. Admission will be 20 cents with activity card, or 35 cents without.

Council To Study Final Exam Schedule Set-Up

60 at First FTA Meeting

Sixty students attended the first FTA meeting of the year, Tuesday, Oct. 9, 1956.

The club is composed of kindergarten-primary majors.

A committee was chosen to make plans for giving a breakfast to the kindergarten-primary alumni during Homecoming.

Paintings were made by the members at the meeting as practice for teaching kindergarten-primary students to paint.

Meetings of the ACE club are held on the second Tuesday of every month at the University school.

New Life For An Old Industry

The Connecticut Daily Camera reports this one: It seems there's been a boom in the sale of mustache wax lately. Since that item has been overtaken popular since the days of Teddy Roosevelt, manufacturers started checking back and traced the increased sale to the latest expected place, the college campus. America's clean-shaven college youth are now buying the product, but not for the purpose for which it was originally intended. Undergraduates, after adopting the crew cut, couldn't make their hair bristle. Then, some wise fellow remembered grandpa, and found that nothing will stiffen a crewcut better than old-fashioned mustache wax. Result: New life for the makers of mustache wax.

Special Collection Room Open To Students in New Library

SIU has acquired a sizable collection of books, both old and rare, spanning over four centuries in publication, which is housed in a small, impressive conference room in the south-east section of the new library.

"The most important feature of the special collections room is without a doubt the Walt Whitman collection," according to Alan Cohn, a member of the special collections committee.

Much of the Whitman collection was donated to Southern by Charles E. Feinberg, a Detroit industrialist and book collector. He became interested in Southern because of the work of Dr. Robert F. Kennedy in the North American Review in 1952.

One of the most interesting items in the Whitman collection is small, one page pulley proof of an article published in the North American Review in 1952.

Considered a rare item also is a printed in 1851 it was at one time sold at $150.

Dr. Maurits Kesar, of the music department donated some very old and interesting music items. A large, colorful page from a Spanish book produced by Menck of around the 15th century merit an important place in the collection.

Also donated by Dr. Kesar were some early editions of the works of Mozart and Haydn.

"We are deeply indebted to Charles Feinberg who has helped us build our collection," said Cohn, "and we hope that in the future our collection will outgrow the room where it is now housed and will be moved to a larger department of its own."

"I have been here three terms, and during two of three terms I have had four final examinations in one day," declared Paul Jones in a Student Council meeting last Thursday.

Jones made an appeal to Council President Sonnie Under to appoint a committee to investigate the matter. The committee will try to set up a system for a maximum of only three exams during one day.

President Under appointed Jones as committee chairman, and Bobbie Harris, sophomore representative; Mary Ann Edwards, junior representative, as committee members.

The Council also unanimously gave recognition to two new organizations, the Dames Club and Stearns Residence. The Dames Club was formed last year, and it is being sponsored by the women on the faculty. Stearns' Residence is located at 111 1/2 S. Washington. The organization is sponsored by Paul M. Hoffman, of the business administration department.

Jane Curry, senior representative, made a motion that the Student Council appropriate $550 to the Southern Spinal Council. The motion was seconded by Larry Whitcomb, and passed by the rest of the Council.

Polling Places Announced

Polling places for the all school elections to be held on Oct. 23 were designated. This year there will be three polling places: one in front of Old Main, one by the Library, and one will be in front of the Student Union.

Students are reminded that all petitions are due at 5 p. m. today. They must be turned in at the Student Union desk.

Students Must Follow Rules

The Student Council also passed a set of rules governing the coming elections. None of the rules received any opposition.

In order to put out posters or announcements on bulletin boards on Southern's campus, a stamp of approval must be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. The stamp is now for the purpose to help the candidate.

The posters must be neat and attractive as possible. When placing a poster any place but on a regular bulletin board, the student must ask permission from the Office of Student Affairs. The posters should be taken down within 24 hours after election.

Students are not to place any notices on a door. No notices are to be tacked on trees, but they may be tied around the tree. Posters are to be placed on bulletin boards should be made on 8 1/2 by 14 inches. The Council also decided to print booklets for each Council member explaining their duties.

All twelve members were present last Thursday for the first time this year.

SIU Post Office Regulations To Be Enforced

All campus organizations with University accounts when sending mail chargeable to that account should follow the regulations which have just been announced by Elizabeth A. Greenleaf, coordinator of student activities.

The name of the organization to which the account is to be charged should be placed in the top left-hand corner. Do not use initials.

Organizations are to keep Air Mail, Special Delivery, Certified, and Registered mail separate from the regular mail.

Mail for campus delivery, including residence halls, should be separate from general outgoing mail. Postage is not necessary on letters going to the Post Office or Men's Residence Hall.

Any mail addressed to an individual in the residence halls should include the person's name, residence hall, and room number if known.

Students should not use perforated stamps for personal letters. Groups with University accounts will automatically be charged once a month for postage mailed from the University Post Office.

No charging will be done for any mail which does not have a University account.

It is necessary that organizations follow these procedures in order to eliminate confusion at the post office.

Felix Candela Tells How He Started Career

"I came to be a designer of shells quite by accident," Felix Candela said in a lecture at the Library Auditorium Wednesday, Oct. 10.

"My father asked me what I wanted to be and I didn't know, but I had a friend who was studying to be an architect, so I studied with him."

Candela, professor of design at the University of Mexico, was presented by Harold L. Cohen, as Candela was born in Spain, came to Mexico in 1939.

Candela told of winning a scholarship to study architecture in Germany after receiving his degree, but was prevented from going because war broke out in Spain.

"But," Candela said, "if I were in Germany I wouldn't be building shells. I came to Mexico to work on an interest in building shells. I built shells because I got for his broken English. Candela said, 'it is the only English I have.'"

Candela accompanied his talk with slides showing the gigantic structures of concrete over a framework of light steel, explaining how the arches and cylinders were built so that the edges hold all the weight of the center.

Several of the pictures showed canopies extending far out, but only support being at the junction with the rest of the building.

"The material is very strong," Candela said, documenting his statement with a picture of five men standing on a structure only one-inch thick, supported only by its edges.

ISA PICNIC

Plenty of food, music, and recreation will be on tap for the annual ISA picnic, which will be held Thursday, Oct. 18, at the Carbondale City Reservoir.

Music will be provided by the Egyptian Melody Men and a potluck sack race for journalism students and faculty members will highlight the day's entertainment.

All journalism students and faculty members are urged to attend the picnic, and should meet at the news lab between 3:00 and 3:30 Thursday. Transportation to the reservoir will be provided until 5 p. m.

Chairman for the picnic activities is Si Surowski. Aiding him will be picnic committee members Bob Cox, Joyce Brinkley, Charles Schleier, Bill Markle, and Joe McSwain.

A $50 deposit is required from all picnickers, but this will be returned at the picnic.

HORSESHOE TOURNAMENT

A horseshoe tournament is scheduled at Southern Avenue Oct. 14 to 17, and the doubles from the 19th to 22nd.

Whoever hung the fancy undies on Dr. Flagpole extending from Alt-gold last year found the perfect system to get rid of anything. Not only did the administration remove the undies. The flagpole's gone for good.

Of all the forms filled out in the Office of Student Affairs, the most important one is the emergency card.

"Magic Message" - The first three people to go to the lawn of University School right now will find a student sitting in the middle of the yard. Just say "SIU 1956 Homecoming" and he will give you a ticket to one of the Homecoming activities. It's Free!

It Has To Be

A slightly misguided student appealed to the Student Council Thursday night because he felt that it was wrong to have four final exams on one day.

The Council decided to appoint a committee to investigate the system to see if something could be done about such things.

For once, the Egyptian must defend the administration. To set up a system of final exams whereby all classes are given a time with an extremely small percentage of confessions is a formidable task.

It would be entirely impossible for those drafting the schedule to take each individual student into consideration. The schedule is set up in the best possible way.

For every student who has three or four exams in one day there is at least one who has his exams spread out over the entire week.

In a university of this size, there are bound to be people dissatisfied with the exam schedule. As the old saying goes: "You can't please all the people all the time, etc."

Is Grace Kelly on Campus?

Freshmen Often Told She Resembles Princess

By Joyce Brinkley

There's something about a fairy tale that the end of childhood cannot destroy. It lives on long after one has thrown away his bedtime storybooks.

One, particularly, that never fails to intrigue the old and young alike is that of a beautiful girl marrying a prince, whisking off to a far-away kingdom, and living happily ever after.

Proving that there are really nothing more than children at heart, the American people last spring read and re-read every printed word they could find about the wedding of actress Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

Probably thousands of breathless women watched silently that they were Grace Kelly. Many of them may have sat in a theater and, watching her on the screen, wished that they could just look like her.

How would it feel to be told that you do look like her? Zelma Johnson, a freshman here at SIU, could possibly answer that. She is from Mt. Vernon and last spring her picture appeared in The Vernon News. Mt. Vernon Township High School's student newspaper, along with an article which revealed that many people had compared Zelma with Miss Kelly.

Majoring in speech correction, Zelma has medium blond hair which is styled slightly shorter than shoulder length and turns up casually at the ends. It is combed over straight from the side in a style similar to one that the Princess occasionally wears.

She was a sophomore in high school when people first began telling her that she resembled Grace Kelly, Zelma said.

"I'm very flattered," she stated, with the same kind of modest dignity for which Her Serene Highness has been widely acclaimed. "Personally, I don't see any resemblance at all."

Zelma claims dramatics as "one of her loves," and took an active part in high school plays. She played the female lead in the all-school play when she was a senior, and belonged to the National Theatre Society.

"Since I had quite a bit of dramatics in high school, I decided to change to something different in college," Zelma said. "I chose speech correction because I may be able to help people. I think it will be interesting."

Zelma, who has hazel eyes, said she is "almost" 5'7" tall. Princess Grace is 5'8" and has sky-blue eyes. A distinct resemblance of the two may be seen in their facial bone structure. The shapes of their noses are very similar and both girls have a pouty lower lip.

Zelma has been chosen house queen of the Embassy, a men's organization house. She was chosen over three other entrants. The house will be sponsored by the house in any beauty contest in which she chooses to run. There are 21 boys living in The Embassy and any of them were permitted to enter a girl in the house contest.

"I was really surprised when I heard that I had been chosen house queen," Zelma said quietly, with her slow smile.

Here at SIU, Zelma is on the Student Union recreation committee and plans to join a sorority. She attended Fall Leadership Camp.

Asked about her special interests, Zelma said she liked all kinds of sports.

"I'm not exactly the tomboy type," she stated, "but I do like to watch sports even if I can't participate in them."

"Most of all, I like meeting people. I don't have any particular hobby."

Zelma was quite active in high school affairs. She was feature editor of The Vernon News and was a member of Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society for high school journalists. She was also a member of the National Honor Society and was varsity cheerleader during her senior year.

"Grace's double," replied that she likes to wear skirts and sweaters better than she does "dressy" clothes, when asked what type of clothing she prefers.

"I had sport clothes wear flats than heels," she said emphatically. "I like sport clothes most of the time, but once in a while, I like to really dress up."

Unlike the "Philadelphia Princess," Zelma is not planning to marry a prince.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"YOU FLUNK FOR THIS-YER SUPPOSED TO PICK UP ROCKS-NOT DIG FOR 'EM."

'Can't Make Mistakes' Explorer Tells Freshmen

"You can't make mistakes, if you expect to return home," Rear Admiral Donald B. MacMillan, North Pole explorer, told the freshman class Thursday, Oct. 1.

MacMillan is a veteran of 30 Arctic expeditions, the first as Admiral Peary's assistant when the flag was raised on the North Pole in 1908. Since then he has directed 25 exploration trips.

The 80-year-old explorer, well received by a packed auditorium, said that "there is nothing new except the same thing we are doing today in polar expeditions was done in 1881."

In that year, the leaders of the world met in Hamburg, Germany to start cooperative explorations. The U. S. selected 25 men-known later as the Greely expedition-to penetrate the polar region.

The first mistake that was made, he related was that they were carried so far north-to within 9 miles of the North Pole-that they couldn't be reached. They were ordered to leave and start south in small boats if not reached in 1883.

Unknown to the expedition was the fact that the ship in search of Greely had been crushed by the glacial mountains.

After all hope had been given up, the 25 men left the pole in small boats with only one man knowing how to row.

South and found a note saying the ship had met with total disaster. MacMillan said. They had only 30 days food provision to last a whole year.

By this time, they decided to settle on one of the icy islands. The unpurified boats served as shelter for the men. One by one the men began to die, until only 7 remained.

He said that "one man's hands and feet had literally frozen off."

At Cape Sabine, a $25,000 reward was offered to the ship that rescued the remainder of the expedition.

Two ships were made ready clothes, when asked what type of clothing she prefers.

"I had sport clothes wear flats than heels," she said emphatically. "I like sport clothes most of the time, but once in a while, I like to really dress up."

Unlike the "Philadelphia Princess," Zelma is not planning to marry a prince.

And this from the United Press via the Daily Kansas: In Batavia, New York, a drum major flipped his baton into the air during a parade and was startled when it didn't come down. He looked up and found that the baton was suspended to a 5,000 power line suspended across the street. It caused a 90-minute power failure.

their destination, only to find that Amundsen, a Norwegian polar explorer, had beaten them there. And men subsequently all died.

One of the ships fortunately found the devoted crew. One of the men thought dead was lying in a sleeping bag. A doctor said that the man was still alive.

The man was carried out of the sleeping bag to warmer shelter, and revived.

They gave him a shot of whiskey and the man went on to live to be 91 years old," the explorer-writer said.

During the cruise back to America, the men said that they had been eating moss, lichen, rawhide rope, bags and anything they could get their hands on while waiting for the rescue party.

While attending the funeral of Admiral Peary, in 1920, one of the MacMillan. They exchanged greetings and MacMillan had reached that the man was Sgt. Brainerd, who had ordered one of them ship food supply.

He explained that he had stood the man in front of a firing squad, consisting of three men. But before the squad could squeeze the trigger, the man was shot.

The body was unclaimed for a long time. Finally a man identified the body as John Henry Bue, who was wanted for murder in Oklahoma and enlisted in the army under a false name.

MacMillan told about other polar explorers. But he mentioned a British expedition led by Scott in particular.

The Scott expedition arrived at the South Pole in 1911.

DESEVERSKY SPEAKS Maj. Alexander de Seversky, one of the nation's top authorities on air power, spoke to SIU audiences on the importance of air power in the world today. This picture was taken Friday evening in Shryock Auditorium. Also in the picture are Dr. I. Clark Davis and Col. Alexander R. MacMillan.

DeSeversky Speaks "Must Achieve Global Command of Air"

"If we are to survive, our Air Force must be able to achieve global command of the air directly from this continent -- from home bases, the only bases that can be defended adequately," said Maj. Alexander de Seversky.

Maj. de Seversky, Russian-born aeronautics expert who received the Medal for Merit, highest civilian award in the U. S. and twice the Harmon Trophy, spoke to a special assembly of ROTC cadet and staff on Oct. 12. He is the author of "Victory Through Air Power" and "Air Power: Key to Survival."

"Those who say that war is impossible with atomic and hydrogen warfare thinking in widely thinking it is not, that is why both sides are furiously working on controlling the size of bombs," said de Seversky.

U. S. Is Overtaken by Russia

"The alluring dream of American jet transport supremacy was rudely shattered last March when Gen. Ivan Scrov was flown to London in a magnificent twin-engine jet transport, the TU-10," de Seversky said.

"The U. S. has no such plane, Russia also announced the completion of a huge 4-engine jet transport which can carry 107 passengers non-stop from Moscow to New York."

"Unless we make a superhuman effort to regain our military leadership, it is Russia that will have the deterrent force." "It is the Communists who will acquire the power of persuasion over the Free World through the threat of massive retaliation," he said.

"We are still operating under a military philosophy that holds that the next war will be won by our lions fighting in the mud 3,000 miles away. Our present strategic position could be compared to a two-headed ostrich, with one head buried in the mud of NATO and the other buried in the mud of SEATO," said the major, "and its plumage exposed to the North Pole. If we don't watch out, the Russian, flying across the North Pole will blow some of these feathers off! The time has come when we must pull our heads out of the mire and take a good look around."

Congress Must Repeal

"Congress must repeal the Unification Act and legislate a realistic Military Establishment that is attuned to the technology of our time. Unification which is neither fish, fowl nor flesh, is the basic obstacle to the development of sound and realistic strategy to make America militarily invincible," de Seversky said.

The retired major said that such changes, one single military department--with one uniform, one promotion list and a single general staff, can come only through the American people urging their representatives in Congress. Neither party has the moral courage to confess to the American people that in the light of the profound technological and sociological changes of the time the current foreign policy is not only untenable but calamitous, de Seversky said.

"The strategy of our national defense is likewise archaic," de Seversky said.

"A false sense of security has been deliberately fostered in the public through adroit propaganda, self-serving security laws and slanted official releases by those who are responsible for the policies that have left Americans behind the aeronautical eight-ball," de Seversky said.

Airpower is the ability to navigate throughout the globe and refuse the enemy the same power, said supporter of strategic air power. Seversky maintains that the air ocean is one and indivisible and must be controlled by a single, homogeneous force, the United States Air Force.

"We have deliberately fragmented our air power, with the result that we already have five different air forces: The U. S. Air Force proper, the Naval air force, Army air force, Marine air force and Coast Guard air force. We have reached the stage of absurdity where the Navy is a self-contained Defense Department and where the Army clamors for its own complete air component," said Maj. de Seversky.

Hangover From World War II

"What we have done is to fall into historical error of preparing to fight the next war with methods that proved successful in the previous war," said de Seversky, "and as in the past we are taking full advantage of interim technological progress to embellish those obsolete methods to the point they appear to be new and revolutionary."

"Yet those methods are totally unrealistic under the new power relationships existing among the superpower nations. The classic example of this intellectual fixation is France's Maginot Line. World War I was won in trench warfare. So the French generals insisted that the next war would be fought by the same method. The whole undertaking was based on the assumption that the next war would be just

Salukis Whitewash Panthers, 33-0

By Bill Epperheimer
The Southern Salukis, with Carver Shannon tying a conference scoring record for one game, whitewashed the Eastern Illinois Panthers Saturday at Charleston, 33-0. Shannon stepped into the end zone four times to tie the IIAAC individual scoring record of 24 points in a game. Holder of the record was Fran Cahill, Illinois Normal, 1951. Shannon was also the leading ground gainer for the Salukis with 165 yards in 12 carries from scrimmage.

Shannon started the scoring with a 32 yard punt return in the first quarter after Southern and Eastern had exchanged the ball. Not a hand touched him as he gathered in Roger West's punt on the 32, cut to his right to pick up blocking, and raced across the goal line. Bill Norwood's extra point kick was blocked.

With a 4:24 left in the second quarter, Shannon took a handoff from Norwood, went through his left guard, and outran the Panther secondary for a 67-yard score. Norwood's placement was good this time, and the Salukis led, 13-0.

Eastern unleashed a wide-open passing attack the second half, with quarterback Gary Anderson throwing most of the throwing. They picked up four first downs in the first series of plays the third quarter, but were stalled when the SIU line broke up key pass plays. With fourth down and 20 yards to go, Eastern tried the old "Snake of Liberty" play, with all-conference tackle Ray Fisher pulling out to carry the ball, but End Marion Rushing shot into the backfield to break up the play and give Southern possession on their own 33.

After Rich White and Dave Wheeler gained first downs, Shannon went through right guard for another touchdown. Wheeler's kick was wide, and Southern led, 19-0.

Two minutes after the fourth quarter began, Shannon again burst through right guard for 65 yards and his fourth touchdown. Wheeler kicked the extra point to make it Southern 26, Eastern 0.

With Eastern backed up to their own goal line late in the fourth period, a pass from center stalled over West's head, but he managed to get off an incomplete pass. That gave Southern possession on the Eastern 11.

On the first play from scrimmage, halfback Tom Kilpatrick went around his right end for 11 yards and the last touchdown of the day. Robert Swanson's placement was good to make the final score 33-0, SIU.

In the statistical department Southern picked up 298 yards rushing and 46 passing for a total of 344 yards net gain. Eastern made 57 rushing and 83 passing for 140 yards gained.

The complete statistics:

	SIU	E
First downs	10	6
Yards rushing	298	57
Yards passing	46	83
Passes attempted	8	32
Completions	2	7
Interceptions by	1	1
Fumbles lost	2	0
Punts	7	9
Average	35	37

VTI Inaugurates Recreation Program
Southern Acres has set up a recreation program for the students living at VTI. This program does not but is set up for the enjoyment of VTI students.

The program for the Fall quarter includes many things such as: which are popular, a croquet tournament, indoor swimming, and outdoor recreation and education, which includes camping swimming.

The program also encourages any special interest group that wishes to form a club.

ers for six yards for his third touchdown Saturday at the Salukis beat Eastern 33-0. Shannon scored four touchdowns to tie a conference scoring record for a single game.

Campus Rec. Offers Horseback Riding
The Campus Recreation Department will resume the offering of horseback riding to students next Saturday.

Free horseback riding will be available to all students at the Colp Stables on Saturday morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The University Swimming pool will be open each Sunday afternoon for all students between 1:30 and 5 p.m., and the men's gym will be kept open for free play each Saturday morning from 9 to 12, and from 1 to 5 in the afternoon. It will also be open on Sunday from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Sports In Spurts

By Bill Epperheimer
In whipping Eastern Illinois Saturday, the Salukis threw only eight passes, far short the number many had predicted. Probably the major reason for this was the strong wind blowing, especially the first quarter.

Southern threw several passes to start the game, but all of them were sailing over the heads of the receivers, and the Salukis immediately switched to a ground game, which in the end ended them 33 points.

On the other hand, Eastern's offense was built around the arms of quarterbacks Gary Anderson and Verlor Myers, but they could complete only seven of 32 passes for 83 yards while fighting the wind.

Carver Shannon, while tying the individual IIAAC scoring record for a single game, could probably have broken the record had he been in better physical condition. Due to a foot injury, Shannon did not attempt any extra point placements. Should he have kicked even one extra point, a new record would have been set.

Shannon is also nearing a conference scoring record for a season. In two league games to date, Shannon has scored 37 points. The league record is 60 points for a season, shared by Jim Podoley and Bernie Ratunek of Central Michigan and Virgil Windom of Eastern Michigan. Podoley made his in 1953, Ratunek in 1955, and Windom in 1954.

Thus, with four more conference games yet to play, Shannon is only 23 points and four touchdowns away from the record. Barring injuries, he should break the record.

Shannon was also the leading ground gainer for the Salukis, with 165 yards. He had runs of 65, 67 and six yards for touchdowns from scrimmage. Paul Restivo was nearest to Shannon, as he picked up 39 yards in four carries.

Individual rushing statistics:

Players	Times	Gained	Carried	Ave.
Shannon	16	12	13.8
Restivo	39	4	9.8
Hamilton	34	8	4.3
Miller	23	2	11.5
White	22	8	2.8
Miles	19	3	6.3
Hart	13	1	13.0
Kilpatrick	11	1	11.0

More than 80 women students are now taking part in the Women's Athletic Association fall sports program, which is featuring hockey, tennis, modern dance, and synchronized swimming.

The activities, which are held Monday through Thursday of each week, will continue through December.

Little Grassy IM Play Gets Underway

Little Grassy intramural football got underway last night when the first and second floors of Thompson Point No. 4 were scheduled to play at 7 p.m.

A temporary field has been constructed at Little Grassy for intramural play between the Thompson Point teams.

This week's schedule:

Tuesday Oct. 16: Second floor of dorm three vs. third floor at 8 p.m.

Wednesday Oct. 17: First floor of dorm four vs. third floor, dorm 3 at 7 p.m.

Thursday Oct. 18: Second floor of dorm four vs. first floor of dorm three, at 8 p.m.

Intramurals

By Joe Melesi
The fraternity league inaugurated intramural touch football competition Thursday, Oct. 11, with the other leagues swinging into action this week.

Two games were played, one being forfeited.

Sig Pi cut down Phi Tau, 6-0, turning a first half interception into a winning tally.

Phi Tau flipped a pass from the Sig Pi five yard stripe, but Phi back, Wally Reese, gathered in the interception and galloped 15 yards to score the only touchdown of the game.

Jerry Lucas, Phi Tau, suffered a cut lip. One stitch was required to close the wound.

Theta Xi 0, Alpha Psi 0

Theta Xi and Kappa Alpha Psi battled to a scoreless tie, but the Xi guys were awarded the game in overtime by yardage.

The yardage system of decision was devised for intramural play only.

The rule states that if both teams are tied at the end of regulation time, the winning team should be decided by yardage in overtime play.

The ball is placed on the club's own 20 yard line. Each team is given four downs to accumulate yardage. The team with the most yardage is the winner. Theta Xi picked up 15 yards, KAP got only four.

The first attempt for yardage was made by KAP. They downed the ball on their own 20. An attempted rush took them only four yards.

On their second attempt, they went to the air, but the pass was intercepted.

For the first time, co-recreation al swimming is being offered to Southern Illinois University students at the university pool each Sunday afternoon.

Suits and towels are furnished.

SIU's Junior Varsity squad will try to go above the 500 mark as it clashes with Eastern Illinois' "B" team at Charleston Thursday afternoon (Oct. 18).

SIU lost to Washington University's Jaynes, 13-7, last week after edging Eastern, 13-6, in the season opener.

Are you an Academic Operator?

As a student, do you know the do's and don'ts of suave academic behavior? Check your savvy with this little quiz:

- 1—Do you find it hard to carry on an intelligent conversation with your professors?
- 2—Can you find your way around the college library without groping?
- 3—Do you hesitate to ask questions in class?
- 4—Do you pooh-pooh the free lectures, speeches and programs that are offered?
- 5—Are you constantly having to borrow filler paper, ink . . . all the supplies you need for efficient work?

If you answered yes to any question but #2, you're lacking in student savoir-faire. An easy start on being a smoothie, though, is to make sure you're always stocked with supplies that help keep your work smooth and productive. We carry stocks and stocks of notebooks, filler paper, ring binders . . . everything you need to make your course work easier. Come and stock up today.
