State health insurance issue settled

Local hospitals to provide care

By Tim Crosby
Staff Writer

Conflict over health insurance for area state employees was resolved Thursday when a contract was signed between the state of Illinois and hospitals in Carbondale and Herrin.

The contract stipulates since Oct. 1, 1989, Memorial Hospital of Carbondale and Herrin Hospital are again members of the preferred provider network for the state health plan and will be compensated by the state for providing care to state employees. The contract expires June 30, 1990.

"I think the state gained a better understanding of the health care situation in Southern Illinois in the ensuing months after they realized we were not going to accept their contract," George Maroney, administrator of Memorial Hospital, said. "Other area hospitals can't provide the obstetrical or diagnostic care we can."

Under the new contract, state employees will pay 10 percent of their total bill after an undisclosed discount is subtracted from it.

Maroney said conflict over the amount of this discount was one of the main obstacles in the negotiations, but because of a provision in the contract the final amount of the discount will not be released.

Maroney also declined to say if the discount was more or less than the previous contract provided for, but that it was "very comparable" to it.

When this previous contract expired July 1, 1989 and the hospitals chose not to renew preferred provider status, state employees' cost would have increased to a $100 deductible and 20 percent of the remaining bill.

However, Maroney said in August he would waive the deductible and the additional 10 percent so that state employees would not have to pay more for care than they did under the preferred provider agreement.

When the state said it would consider this discount plan before calculating its share of the bill, Memorial Hospital, realizing that this could cost it more than anticipated, considered a law suit. The dilemma was resolved Thursday with the signing of the contract.

"I think they realized that (state employees) would have to go to St. Louis, Belleville or even Springfield to get comparable care," Maroney said, adding that he is satisfied with the contract.

"We just wanted a fair return for the care we provide," Maroney said. "I think we got that, and I think the fact that the state accepted our offer shows they also think it was fair."

Mike Jaroch, manager of the bureau of benefits at Department of Central Management Services that administers the state's health care plan, said the fact that the National organizations representing groups traditionally targeted as victims of hate crimes applauded a Senate bill that would make statistics about those crimes available.

U.S. Senator Paul Simon, D-Michigan, is sponsoring the bill that would direct the Federal Bureau of Investigation to collect information on crimes of hate and violence against people because of the group to which they belong.

"My instinct is that if we had such statistics today they would show a rise in such incidents, and not just against blacks," Simon said in his weekly column from Washington.

David Carle, spokesman for Simon, said no law exists for collection of that type of information.

This information would include incidents of vandalism of Jewish synagogues, cross burnings and violent crimes against certain groups.

"It allows the FBI to collect information on hate crimes from local police departments so (the FBI) can better target the offenders," Carle said.

City will continue suit against Marion

By Lisa Miller
Staff Writer

Carbondale city officials said Thursday they had no intention of dropping their lawsuit against Marion, despite Marion's attempts to remove the proposed Illinois Center mall property from its controversial tax increment financing program.

"Based on what the Marion City Council has disclosed, we believe the proposed second TIF district will be an illegal expenditure of TIF funds, just as we view their current plan as illegal," Don Prosser, counsel from Carbondale, said in a press release.

Carbondale officials claimed Marion was using the TIF program to lure businesses, such as the Sears department store, away from Carbondale and decided to file a lawsuit against Marion.

However, Marion's City Council decided last week to remove the current TIF program and replace it with a new TIF program that will include only the land on which the mall and other related projects are to be built.

In designated TIF areas, the amount of real estate taxes created by the property is frozen. Tax increases created by improvement to the property are transferred into a special fund to pay back redevelopment-related expenses.

A report from the Marion City Council said the new TIF program would eliminate the mall and other projects "from the chilling effect of the litigation."

"We plan to watch the developments in Marion closely and if they persist in using TIF subsidies for this project, we will challenge it whether it's the current plan or a second TIF project," Prosser said.

Prosser explained that Marion's use of TIF subsidies to establish a

Poshard vows to probe postal investigation

By Lisa Miller
Staff Writer

Congressman Glenn Poshard, D-Carroll, said he promised to go "right up to the line" to make public the results of an investigation that showed the Carbondale Post Office had committed a "wrongdoing."

U.S. Postal Service investigators revealed this week that they found evidence of a wrongdoing in the post office, but they refused to make their findings public, Dave Stricklin, an aide and spokesman to Poshard, said.

Stricklin said Poshard was told Wednesday the postal service would release a summary report of the investigation within the next two days.

"Glenn is inclined to see what the summary report says before he takes action," Stricklin said. "If he's not satisfied (with the report), it's possible he might call for a congressional investigation," Stricklin said.

Stricklin said published reports alleged there may have been a conflict of interest when construction, delivery and repair work contracts were awarded to Miller Construction, located in Cambria.

There is also a possibility the material and labor could have been used for outside purposes, Stricklin said.

The American Postal Workers Local Union in Carbondale suspected the postal service may have been guilty of misappropriation of funds last February and asked Poshard to conduct the investigation, Mike Gunter, president of the APWU, said.

Gunter believes it was conceivable there was a "misappropriation of several thousand dollars."

Association protesting policy of state-appropriated raises

By Theresa Livingston
Staff Writer

The SIU-E Professional Staff Association has said Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit and SIU-E President Earl Lazerson are denying due process of the law to 65 professional staff members who have attempted to file grievances for not receiving their 1990 salary increases, an SIU-E professional staff union official said.

John Druke, president of the SIU-E Professional Staff Association, said the professional staff members are protesting a board policy that provided nonrepresented employees with state-appropriated raises.

The association, which is affiliated with the Illinois Education Association-National Educational Association, contends the staff members were excluded from the pay raises because of their involvement with collective bargaining.

"We voted for collective bargaining in our February elections. On July 13, the (SIU) Board of Trustees passed a salary increase for fiscal 1990 which provided no raises for those of us in the bargaining unit," Druke said.

Druke said union members then followed the University grievance policy by filing formal grievances with Lazerson, who advised the group to contact the SIU central administration office in Carbondale.

Ben Quillian, vice-president for administration at SIU-E, said at the time, the group was directed to contact the central administration because the plan was approved by the board, not the Edwardsville campus.

'Freedom Express' arrives with hundreds of refugees

HOF, West Germany (UPI) — Eight trainloads of East German refugees arrived Thursday, completing the "Freedom Express" from Czechoslovakia as East German police fired water cannon and beat off throngs of would-be emigres along the route. Refugees who arrived at dawn in the West German border town of Hof on the East German trains said many of the East German stations they passed through had been occupied by security forces. "Police, secret police and factory workers' militia were everywhere," one man told reporters. The West German news agency DPA reported demonstrators were injured in police battles.

Dalai lama wins 1989 Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — The Dalai lama, Tibet's exiled god-king who has advocated non-violent struggle against Chinese domination of his homeland; was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1989, Nobel officials announced Thursday. China immediately accused the Nobel committee of meddling in China's internal affairs in making the award. Norwegian Nobel Peace Committee Chairman Egil Aarvik said the committee gave the prize to Tibet's 14th Dalai lama, 54-year-old Tenzin Gyatso for "opposing the use of violence in his struggle for the liberation of Tibet. He has instead advocated peaceful solutions," the chairman said.

Noriega consolidates; opposition hiding

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — As Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega moved to consolidate his forces in the wake of a failed coup, Noriega's opposition said the violence dramatizes the nation's declining political situation. "This dramatically aggravates the Panamanian crisis in all its dimensions and makes it much more dangerous," Ricardo Arias Calderon of the Democratic Opposition Coalition Alliance said in a statement issued from hiding. "Only the path toward immediate democratization offers us hope for salvation," said Arias Calderon, vice presidential candidate in last May's national elections that ended in fraud.

Senate passes flag desecration legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed legislation Thursday making desecration of the American flag a crime after Southern Democrats contributed heavily to the addition of an amendment opponents said could destroy the bill. The bill won the 91-9 approval of the Senate and backers had hoped the House would quickly agree to minor changes made by the Senate, but the House opted to wait to vote until next Wednesday. It passed a slightly different version by an overwhelming margin last month. President Bush continued to insist Thursday that a constitutional amendment is the best approach.

Domestic cocaine seizures setting records

Record-setting seizures of 35 tons of cocaine in Los Angeles, Texas and in a ship in the Gulf of Mexico in the past seven days indicate the international drug cartel has become fearful of warehousing its contraband in Colombia, Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner said Thursday. Skinner spoke at a news conference at the Coast Guard base in New Orleans where the Panamanian registered 185-foot supply boat Zedon Sea was tied up under guard. On Monday the ship was boarded 450 miles south of Galveston, Texas, and agents found 11,500 pounds of cocaine on board.

Officials increase number of college savings bonds

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Heavy demand for college savings bonds has prompted state officials to raise the amount of Illinois' bond sale to $250 million, making it the largest such sale in state history, budget officials said Thursday. Banks and other financial institutions started selling $200 million worth of $5,000 bonds on Monday to help parents save for their children's college educations. Bill Ledbetter, chief of the Bureau of The Budget's debt division, said the total of this offering will not be raised above $250 million. "That's all the cash we need to borrow for our capital needs," Ledbetter said, referring to construction projects.

GPSC leader looks to fill vacated post

Vice president for administrative affairs sought

By Jeanne Bickler
Staff Writer

Charlie Ramsey, Graduate and Professional Student Council's new president, announced a search to fill his former position as vice president for administrative affairs at Wednesday's meeting.

Ramsey, who became GPSC president after the resignation of Tracy Hale two weeks ago, said Ronald Smith will hold this vice presidential position until the end of October.

Smith is a GPSC representative of educational administration and higher education.

Smith and Terry Bratcher, of curriculum and instruction, have been nominated for the position so far.

All graduate students are eligible for the position, Ramsey said, but they must be nominated for it by a GPSC representative. The position is a quarter-time assistantship.

Ramsey said it will take at least three meetings to get a new vice president established. At the next meeting on Oct. 18, the GPSC will be accepting more nominations and voting will take place on Nov. 1.

The position will be advertised through flyers and the newspaper, Ramsey said.

At Wednesday's meeting, the GPSC elected Darrell Johnson, representative from philosophy, to fill a vacant position on the Graduate Council. The Graduate Council is made up of graduate school faculty and students.

Nominations were taken for the GPSC outstanding contribution to SIU-C award.

Harold R. Hungerford from curriculum and instruction was nominated.

At previous meetings, Erwin Atwood, journalism faculty member, and Lewis Hahn, philosophy faculty member, were nominated.

Any SIU-C student, faculty or staff member can be nominated for this award.

Nominations for this award will be kept open until Oct. 10 and voting will be Nov. 1.

NORML to sponsor Southern Illinois Fest

By Jeanne Bickler
Staff Writer

The SIU-C chapter of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws will hold a festival in the Free Forum area this afternoon.

The Southern Illinois Harvest Fest will be held from noon to 6 p.m. and will feature bands and speakers, Joe Goldsberry, NORML treasurer, said.

Goldsberry said a high turnout is expected.

The event was announced at the University of Wisconsin at Madison's Harvestfest last weekend. UW-Madison's event attracted over 32,000 people, Goldsberry said.

The event also has been advertised in an underground newspaper, he said.

Madison's Harvestfest is traditionally marked by marijuana users marching to the capitol building and smoking marijuana on the steps.

Goldsberry said this is not one of the points of today's gathering.

"We told people not to smoke, but we really can't stop them if they're going to. That's not the main goal. We're here to see if we can make a change," he said.

Goldsberry said Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit and University President John C. Guyon were among the people who received invitations to speak to the group at the Free Forum area.

"We invited them and several local politicians," he said. As of Thursday afternoon, none of the invitations had been acknowledged.

Publishers from High Times magazine were invited and are likely to show up, Goldsberry said.

Goldsberry described High Times as a "pro-drug, informative magazine."

Several acoustic bands will be playing and speakers from NORML will be addressing such topics as the industrial uses of marijuana and the economic advantages to legalization.

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL CAR CARE MONTH

Creation of hospital a good move for all

CARBONDALE, E. IN its quest to enhance the economy in Southern Illinois, has gotten the ball rolling on another important facility for the area.

The new psychiatric hospital that is coming to Carbondale is a welcome change for the community.

The $6.5 million facility has received unanimous support from Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board to finance and build a 60-bed psychiatric hospital for adolescents and adults on Route 51, north of Carbondale's industrial park.

The hospital will employ 70 full-time employees during the first year, and has plans for expansion to over 100 employees at the end of the year.

The hospital's payroll to employees will bring between $2 and $2.5 million to the area economy. And it also will attract a number of new physicians to serve the hospital.

Construction costs, employee payroll and the income brought into the community from servicing the facility, all amount to economic development for Carbondale and the Southern Illinois area.

BUT THIS is not the most important aspect the new hospital has to offer. Throughout Southern Illinois, including Carbondale, communities are comparably understaffed in health care facilities, ambulance services and mental health care facilities.

Deborah Nasca, vice president of development for Park HealthCare Co., said, "People in need of severe psychiatric treatment in this area are forced to go to St. Louis, Paducah, Evansville or Chicago for treatment."

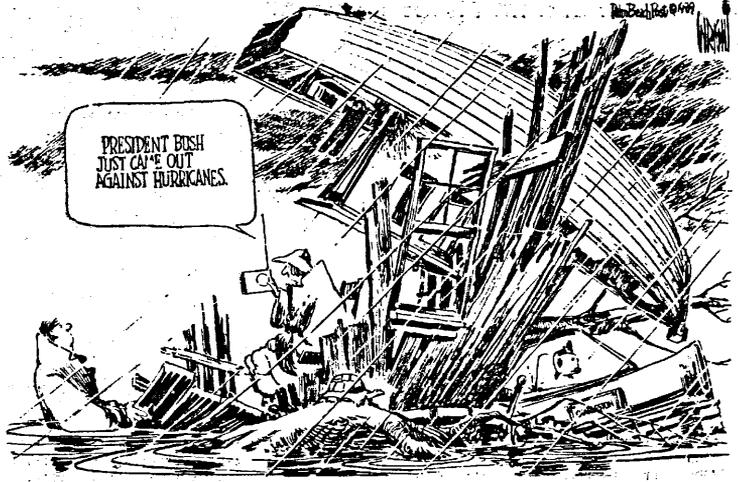

It is important to bring the health care to Southern Illinois where the surrounding communities can have easy access and don't have to travel long distances for in-patient care, not to mention out-patient care that doesn't require extended visits to the facility. The hospital will handle mild to the most severe cases of mental illness at the facility.

THIS IS an important move for Carbondale considering that the facility will be the only one of its kind in Southern Illinois.

Nasca said she has received at least 35 letters from psychologist and psychiatrists who have agreed with the plan to create a mental health care facility in Southern Illinois.

This also could mean important experience for the University, that could benefit from hands-on internships and training at the facility. Nasca said the her company has "every intention of hiring SIU medical school graduates to work at the new hospital if they are interested."

The creation of a new psychiatric hospital is good for Carbondale and the entire area and should be welcomed with open arms.

Those who cannot find entertainment in Carbondale are boring, uncreative

Recently there has been a spate of letters from SIU students bemoaning the loss of the Halloween celebration. It's as though the Carbondale City Council removed their only source of entertainment (or perhaps their only reason for being here?). And we wonder why SIU is presently struggling to change its "party school" image.

I feel no remorse whatsoever in seeing the end of the Halloween weekend festival. I welcome the departure of any students who elect to attend schools elsewhere because of the demise of the celebration. It is precisely those students who we don't want here in the first place. In my opinion, they are the students who contribute the least to the academic ambience of this institution.

While I would be the first to acknowledge that Carbondale is anything but a cultural Mecca, I'm really sick of hearing students whine and complain that there is nothing to do around here in their leisure time. A quick glance at the long list of campus-based clubs reveals the rather broad range of activities available in which they could participate.

So one does not have to sit at home and watch "Three's Company" re-runs or go to Rompers and watch Joe Cannon flop into a hammock filled with eggs. By the way, I wonder what this latter activity says about the proprietor's appraisal of SIU students' mentality? I also wonder what led them to believe that people would flock to their establishment to watch (him) decimate 250 dozen eggs? The owners of Rompers are both ex-SIU students, so one might presume they have a pretty good idea as to the type of entertainment that some students prefer.

To summarize, I believe that people who often complain of boredom are often boring, uncreative people. And that if people leave SIU because the annual Halloween riot has been scrubbed, then so be it.

Let them go home to their mommies and daddies and play Nintendo games all day. I think that their absence may likely improve the education atmosphere of SIU, increase the overall academic prestige of the University and ultimately enhance the marketability of our degrees. — P. Scott Parker, graduate student, clinical psychology.

Credit for creation of SIU-C not in right place; a favor for a friend rallied the votes together

I have put up with it as long as I can; having SIU-C and writers give Paul Powell the credit for bringing SIU to Carbondale.

Here is exactly the way it was accomplished:

A new governor took office in Springfield. He sent a group of some ten people on a tour of the state to report to him how much needed the many things requested. A prominent Chicago businessman, Charles V. Jewell, was travelling with them as a goodwill man representing the Chicago Association (Chamber) of Commerce.

The group stopped overnight at a hotel in Carbondale. About a dozen of us met them there. Mr. Jewell sat at my table. I told him some jokes and what I had been doing. After breakfast our leader asked the visitors where they would like to go: To visit the coal mines, parks or scenic places. Mr. Jewell said he wanted to go where I went. All were to meet at Giant City Lodge that evening for dinner.

During the trip, I took Mr. Jewell to a cottage I had built on Horseshoe Lake where I could take underprivileged children for outings. I told him how I had taken bus-loads of them to many, many places, sometimes camping overnight.

After dinner that night, I took Mr. Jewell to the train in Carbondale. As he boarded the train, he said to me, "If there is ever anything I can do to help Southern Illinois a better place for your little friends to live, just let me know."

Two bills had been introduced in Springfield to elevate the Old Teacher's College to a university. Each time the bills were defeated by Chicago and upper Illinois. A third bill was introduced. Someone told me it was doomed to the same defeat. I remember what Mr. Jewell had said. I learned that four members of the committee were from Chicago, two Democrats and two Republicans. I called Mr. Jewell and told him that if he could get the Association of Commerce to get these four to vote with our two from down here, we could have a place where my little, low-income friends could learn to do something other than teach school.

The Association of Commerce told him that this was an awful big thing to do just because a little rural mail carrier wanted it. They invited the president of the Normal University of Chicago. After hearing him they eagerly decided to back the bill. It passed big, and from that day to this, Chicago has stayed solidly behind SIU-C. This has, and is continuing to bring millions and millions of dollars into our area. — Wayman Presley, Makanda.

Letters

Letter incorrect about Cards

Hooray for Daniel Wallenberg! His article was excellent and I am saving copies for my friends in the Windy City. As for Jeff Cople, his letter in Thursday's DE sounded like the ramblings of a deluded closet Cardinal fan to me. Is Mr. Cople a Cardinal fan? He certainly isn't a die-hard Cubs fan, and I would be surprised if he is from the Chicago area.

As for Mr. Cople's comment that the Cardinal fans gave the Cubs an ovation on Sunday, I was there, too! The Cubs received ovations from the Cubs fans. We were louder and happier than the Cards fans, and we were the majority of the fans left after the seventh inning. The only time I heard any Cardinal fans cheer is when Tony Pena left the game.

As for Mr. Cople's statement that Mets ex-catcher Gary Carter believes the Cardinals are still the team to beat, he (Carter) must have been talking about second place, because surely the Mets weren't worried about the Cardinals when the Cubs were leading them by 5 or 6 games down the stretch.

The comment by Daniel Wallenberg on a dismal future for the Cardinals is not such an absurd one: The Cubs, Mets, Expos and Pirates will undoubtedly still be in their division next year. Even if the Cardinals should stay healthy playing on astroturf all year. Will they ever be able to beat the Pirates again?

I, for one, am not going to predict a Cubs dynasty, since injuries and Cub management are as unpredictable as a Cardinal fan's loyalty. However, I will predict that next year, for the third year in a row, the St. Louis Cardinals will finish behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs.

I will also predict that at least a dozen whining letters to the DE, and the greatest rivalry in baseball will continue as always.

As far as the playoffs go, I hope it goes to game seven, cause I'll be there. — Brian Pegg, senior, rebuttal technology.

Editor's note: This is in reference to Brian Schroeder's planned trip to San Francisco.

It would take a Cubs fan to be so arrogant to believe that he can drive to San Francisco in 24 hours. It takes two hours to drive to St. Louis. It takes another three-and-a-half hours to drive to Kansas City. Kansas City is ONLY 17 and one-half hours from Salt Lake City. That means Salt Lake City is ONLY one hour from San Francisco! No, really! Maybe by plane...

Salt Lake City is nine and one-half hours from Sacramento, which is where I live. Sacramento is one and one-half hour from San Francisco, and it takes another one-half hour to get to Candlestick, providing there is no traffic. This is providing you average 70 miles per hour. If California is only 24 hours away, do you think I would drive home only twice a year? Don't you think a lot of other people would take off to California for an extended weekend? If you plan to go to San Francisco to watch the Bears and 49ers game in December, I suggest flying there. I am. — Staci Hatz, graduate student, physical education.

Fire prevention race kicks off safety week

By Douglas Powell
Staff Writer

The Carbondale Fire Department will take part in the nationwide Fire Prevention Week Oct. 8 to 14.

The department is starting one day early this year by holding the third annual "Fire Prevention Great Downhill Race" at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The race will be held on East Grand Street adjacent to Lewis School.

John Manis, assistant fire chief, said the purpose of the Great Downhill Race is to promote fire safety within the city of Carbondale and the surrounding community.

"Most of the contestants for the race build stick cars with basic designs," he said, "but some contestants will put four or five thousand dollars into a car, using airplane skins and bicycle wheels."

A disaster drill will be held Monday at 10 a.m. at University Mall, Everett Rushing, Carbondale Fire Department fire chief said.

Rushing said the evacuation disaster drill will be conducted by the Carbondale Fire and Police departments and assisted by other city divisions.

Rushing said, the purpose of the drill will be to familiarize the personnel working in the mall complex of steps to be taken should an emergency situation occur, which would require evacuation of part or all of the complex.

On Tuesday, fire department officials will be visiting all Carbondale elementary schools, Rushing said.

Each school will be presented with a 45-minute program on fire safety, he said.

Police Blotter

University Police reported that a University student was arrested and charged with tampering with a motor vehicle in Parking Lot 106 on Wall Street across from Meadowridge Apartments shortly after 1 a.m. Thursday. Donald D. Haywood, 18, Mae Smith Tower posted $100 bond and is to appear in court on Oct. 18.

"We were concerned that the (state) employees had no protection," Jaroch said. "We wouldn't have been interested in a contract that lost money for the state either. We think this is a good and fair arrangement."

Jaroch said he expects the state to notify employees by mail within a week.

Illinois' TIF law.

"If TIF Act exists to permit cities to redevelop blighted areas which are deteriorating and will not come back economically without tax incentives," Prosser said.

The Proeking property, on which Marion proposes to build its mall, is a prime development area near Interstate 57, Prosser said.

"This is not 'blighted' property and the use of TIF money is improper," Prosser said.

Carbondale Mayor Neil Dillard said the legislature did not intend for cities to use TIF programs to lure businesses from one city to another.

"We won't stand by and do nothing while Carbondale's tax base stands to be eroded by this improper and unacceptable use of TIF funds," Dillard said.

Marion residents Ron Emery and J.D. Castellano, who also are included in the litigation against Marion because they claimed the original TIF program didn't comply with state guidelines, opposed Marion's new decision and said they had no intention of dropping their lawsuit either.

Despite Carbondale's lawsuit, the Sears managers decided to go ahead and sign the final papers, making the move to Marion official.

Marion Mayor Robert Butler could not be reached for comment.

Local youths will attend Space Camp

John A. Logan College, Carterville, will work with authorities in the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, Alabama, to help three Southern Illinois youth in grades 4 through 12 spend a week at a nationally acclaimed Space Camp in Huntsville.

Winners to the trip to Huntsville will be determined through a scholarship competition for schoolchildren.

Scholarship winners will explore all fields of the space program — from the design of rockets and spacecraft to conducting experiments beyond Earth's atmosphere. They will size up a full-scale simulator, suit up for a flight, and learn about careers in the space program.

director of the Anti-Defamation League in Washington, said crimes against Jews have increased nationwide.

He said vandalism against Jewish homes and institutions increased by 18.5 percent in 1988 and hate crimes of assault and harassment against Jewish people and institutions increased by 41 percent.

"Simon's bill would allow law enforcement officials to have those statistics and respond to them appropriately," Medin said.

David Wertheimer, executive director of the New York City Gay and Lesbian Anti-Violence project, said he is concerned that the Senate will strike the provision of the bill that includes crimes against the gay community.

"The bill is an important first step," he said. "For the first time, the Department of Justice will be able to collect that data," he added.

Althea T.L. Simmons, chief lobbyist for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Washington bureau, said the NAACP strongly supports Simon's bill.

"Because we have seen an increase in racially motivated crimes lately, the NAACP has been lobbying strongly for the bill," she added.

"It is beyond the SIU-E president's jurisdiction to provide a salary increase if it has not been approved by the Board of Trustees," he said.

Tom Britton, vice chancellor for administration, said the University has taken the position that employees represented by a union must negotiate pay raises.

"The manner that the wages are fixed on both campuses is consistent with state practices. I know of no other group that is organized that believes their wages should be set on any place other than the bargaining table," Britton said.

The union contends the past practice of giving professional staff their state-appropriated raises should be maintained until after the first contract is settled, Drake said.

Union members are asking for pay raises retroactive from July 1990.

"The law says they cannot go around changing the rules until a contract has been agreed upon by both parties. The University is required to maintain their past employee practices until we sign a contract," Drake said.

Britton said Pettit has "declined" to meet with representatives of the association because such a meeting would cancel the purpose of the on-going negotiation process.

"The bargaining units have met 16 times and they're making progress, although slowly. For the chance to meet with them (the association) outside of the bargaining table, it would defeat the purpose of the duly elected bargaining agents," Britton said.

However, representatives of the organization disagree, maintaining Pettit is "dictatorial" and is using the bargaining process as an excuse not to schedule a meeting.

"The chancellor's contention that a meeting with us would compromise bargaining is nothing but a smoke screen," Hilde Duebber, vice president of the SIU-E association, said.

Gary Kolb, president of the SIU-C IEA/NEA, said his organization supports the SIU-E group "wholeheartedly in their struggle."

Kolb said the SIU-E action directly relates to the Carbondale campus because of upcoming elections concerning the representation and collective bargaining issues.

"The administration is very aware of the staff election in the spring in which we vote on who will represent us. They're using it as a signal, because it would show the (SIU-C) faculty and staff that collective bargaining would only make their lives more difficult," Kolb said.

supervisor "voluntarily retired" as a result of the investigation.

One of the supervisors authorized clearance to do some things at the post office that he did not have clearance to do and therefore he decided to retire, Goforth said.

Postal Service Spokesman John Goodman refused to comment on the investigation.

Stricklin said Poshard may have the summary reports by the end of the day Friday.

"On that basis, I initiated the investigation," Poshard said in an article from United Press International.

"The post office is owned by the people, it's paid for by the people, it serves the people, therefore if there was a misuse of public funds, I feel the people ought to know what happened and why," Poshard said.

Comedian uses insults to entertain audience members at Cellar show

By Doug Toole
Staff Writer

Judy Gold's performance at Wednesday night's Comedy Cellar combined a smattering of prepared material with a barrage of insults directed at members of the audience.

Gold talked briefly about her family, her high school days and the disadvantages of being tall (she stands 6'3"). Occasionally she would use jokes she had worked out beforehand, but the bulk of her act came from the Big Muddy crowd itself.

And the crowd was in rare form Wednesday night for her. Almost without fail, every time she talked to someone in the audience she got either a stupid answer, someone with an unusual major, someone with a strange personality, or a freak of nature.

Gold was apparently impressed with the SIU-C crowd. She commented more than once that this was the weirdest audience she had ever performed for. Most of the time she seemed to be as amused with the crowd as it was with her — maybe more so.

At times Gold's caustic comebacks were very funny. Unfortunately, she eventually locked herself into a battle of wits with one particular member of the audience and refused to let him go. While the battle was amusing at times, it was a poor substitute for a regular act.

What made Gold's performance more enjoyable than Buzz Sutherland's, who shared her style, was that she was genuinely funny at times. The Comedy Cellar attracts some... unusual people into its audience, many of whom return week after week to pester the comedians or draw attention to themselves. Where Sutherland sought out people to insult seemingly at random, Gold only went after people who were attempting to disrupt her act, and managed to put them down in amusing ways.

Gold managed to keep control of the crowd, as well. When she dealt with a heckler, she insulted him, told him to shut up, insulted him again and moved on. She kept the upper hand throughout the performance and never lost her cool.

Okay, so she wasn't hilarious.

English professor presents 'writing for science' seminar

By Tony Mancuso
Staff Writer

Thirty-two professors and graduate assistants from the chemistry and biochemistry department attended a special, one-hour seminar Wednesday on "New Insights from Science Writing."

Bruce Appleby, professor of English, presented the seminar as an opportunity to discuss aspects of writing that are important in science instruction.

Appleby said he is hoping to make instructors aware that writing must be used as a learning tool in chemistry and he has given a series of two-day seminars on the subject.

Appleby, who specializes in scientific writing, said, "I am not a scientist. The biggest reason I wasn't attracted to science as a student was my science teachers did nothing to make it interesting for me."

"Everyone belongs to a variety of discourse communities and we use a different language in each discourse community," Appleby said. "Many of us know instinctively to switch our languages for each change, but teachers tend to forget students are constantly forced to do so."

He said students must change their vocabulary, their use of language and their way of conceptualizing ideas each time they enter a different class.

"If we don't make our students aware of the different discourses, we fail them," Appleby said.

"The language of chemistry has a context all its own."
—Bruce Appleby

Appleby said writing makes teachers, as well as students, conscious of "the language of chemistry," as opposed to other languages.

"Chemists have developed an idea within their community that 'this is how we write chemistry.' It is also important for the students to be taught how to write the language," Appleby said.

"The language of chemistry has a context all its own and students must be able to see ideas within that context. Information in the chemical community, as in all communities, is constantly being re-evaluated and revised," he said. "Students who understand the language will understand re-evaluations and revisions."

If students are able to comprehend the language of chemistry, they also will be able to learn about the sociology, history, rules and nature of cooperative activity in science, he said.

Appleby said he believes teachers will be able to make their students better chemistry writers—and students—by making themselves better writers. He described his own experience as an example.

"I write constantly, and I use a word processor. Some time ago, I realized that my mind is always looking at the material I have just typed and asking 'Are you sure?'" he said.

Appleby said he became so involved in the mechanics of his writing, he forgot about the idea he was considering. He said he solved the problem by turning off the screen and typing blindly.

'Monty Python' member dies on eve of show's anniversary

LONDON (UPI) — Fans and friends Thursday mourned the loss of Graham Chapman, a founding member of the zany British television series "Monty Python's Flying Circus," who died of cancer on the eve of the show's 20th anniversary.

The Pythons were set to celebrate the anniversary of the airing of their first show Oct. 5, 1969, with a private party Wednesday night when Chapman suffered a sudden relapse at his home in Kent, southeast of London, and was admitted to a Maidstone hospital for emergency treatment.

Family members and Python stars Michael Palin and John Cleese were with him when he died Wednesday, said Python Productions Ltd. business manager Ann James.

"We're all devastated, because two days ago we thought he was kind of winning the battle," she said. Chapman had had two operations for spinal and throat cancer.

The son of a policeman, Chapman was educated at Cambridge University and began his career as a physician in clinical medicine.

He joined the British Broadcasting Corp. in 1966, and he and Cleese wrote as a team for "The Frost Report" television series.

He teamed with Cleese, Idle, Michael Palin, Terry Jones and Terry Gilliam to launch "Monty Python's Flying Circus" in 1968.

The program lampooned old ladies, politicians and practically everyone else with bawdy gags, bizarre animation and naughty British humor.

The Pythons' popularity escalated with the 1975 release of their film "Monty Python and the Holy Grail," in which Chapman played the leading role as King Arthur.

But the comic's successful career was shadowed by problems with alcohol. After a long struggle against his heavy drinking habits, Chapman quit drinking in 1977, according to a biography released by his agent.

Teen hacker taps corporation's files

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — A 15-year-old hacker used his personal computer to tap into two small computers at Grumman Corp. but did not find any classified information, police and company officials said Thursday.

"It's not anything that has national secrets on it or high security," said Nassau County police detective Christopher Poppe.

The youth, who was charged as a juvenile and not identified, was arrested in his Levittown home Wednesday night and was released into the custody of his parents, Poppe said.

The boy tapped into two mini-computers at the company's Bethpage headquarters with about 20 terminals attached to each several times between Sept. 5 and Oct. 3 but never broke into any information files, said Grumman spokesman Bob Harwood.

"This was the first time a computer was illegally accessed at the company, which makes the Navy's F-14 Tomcat fighter and A-6 attack-bomber, Harwood said.

"There's no classified information on the computer, he did not access anything past the operating file of the computer," Harwood said, adding no data was lost in the computer used by engineers working on aircraft.

"It's unacceptable behavior, we can't have people trespassing on our computer system anymore than we can have on our property, we are a government contractor," he said.

The teen-ager broke into a Navy contractor's system but failed to access classified information.

The boy used a random dialing device attached to his computer, stumbling on the Grumman computer while it was undergoing maintenance enabling him to put information into the computer so he could get into it again, Harwood said.

"He happened to hit our computer at a time when they were doing some diagnostic work on the computer," Harwood said. "Had this random dialing been done a half an hour before or half an hour later he never would have been able to get in."

Grumman security was able to detect the intrusions and the computer's recording of the boy's telephone number led police to his home where they confiscated computer disks with information from Grumman computers as well as passwords and information on company employees.

The youth was charged with juvenile delinquency.

Teen holds classmates hostage

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — An armed student held a high school class hostage and shot and wounded another student in the face Thursday before surrendering to police, officials said.

The incident began about 9:30 a.m. when the 15-year-old, apparently armed with a 12-gauge shotgun and a semiautomatic handgun, walked into the class at Loara High School, Sgt. Frank Van de Weerd said.

Witnesses said the student, whose identity was not immediately known, ordered the teacher and girls in the class out.

He then was apparently challenged by one of the boys in the class and shot him in the cheek.

The victim, shot in the left side of his face, was taken to U.C. Irvine Medical Center in stable condition.

One of the students held hostage, Terry Davis, told reporters the suspect had told him several days ago that he was planning the attack.

Van de Weerd said the suspect was coaxed into surrendering about 10:15 a.m.

Florida court: No consent needed for minor abortions

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court Thursday overturned a state law requiring minors to have parental consent for abortions, saying the law violated privacy rights guaranteed women and minors under the state constitution.

All seven justices agreed the privacy provision adopted by Florida voters in 1980 clearly encompasses a woman's right to abortion prior to the point where the fetus becomes viable. Four of the justices went further, saying minors also enjoy a privacy right to abortion under the state constitution.

The ruling comes five days before the Florida Legislature is to meet in special session to debate the state's abortion laws. Activists on both sides have promised to gather in Tallahassee to campaign.

The majority of the court recognized the state's interests in protecting immature minors and the integrity of the family but said those interests are not compelling enough to intrude on a minor's right to terminate a pregnancy. The ruling said state law permits minors to consent without parental approval to other medical procedures involving pregnancies being carried to term.

"We are unable to discern a special compelling interest on the part of the state under Florida law in protecting the minor only where abortion is concerned," said an unsigned opinion by Justices Leander Shaw, Rosemary Barkett and Gerald Kogan.

The ruling comes three months after oral arguments on a challenge filed in May by a 15-year-old Lake County girl who was 11 weeks pregnant at the time and wanted an abortion.

A trial judge found the state parental-consent requirement too vague but he refused to allow the abortion. A state appeal court ruled the statute unconstitutionally vague and the case was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which declined to hear the case and returned it without comment to the Florida Supreme Court.

Anti-abortion leader fined, sentenced

ATLANTA (UPI) — An anti-abortionist refused Thursday to pay a $1,000 fine for leading demonstrations at women's clinics and was instead sentenced to two years in jail.

Operation Rescue founder Randall Terry was told he could avoid prison by paying a $1,000 fine, but he told Fulton County State Court Judge John Bruner:

"In good conscience, I cannot pay the fine."

Terry, 30, was convicted Sept. 29 of criminal trespass and unlawful assembly at a women's clinic. The judge had delayed sentencing to allow Terry to spend time with his family in Binghamton, N.Y.

Before the punishment was imposed, Terry accused Bruner of blindly following the law with no regard for the saving of children's lives.

"I'm in your hands," Terry said. "I've requested no fines or imprisonment. I am not a criminal. I was there for the purpose of saving babies."

Bruner bristled. "I won't be preached to" after repeatedly telling the defendant to avoid the abortion issue in his arguments for a leaner sentence.

Terry was whisked away by Fulton County deputies, presumably to begin serving his sentence.

Operation Rescue attorneys, who plan to appeal the conviction, said they were not sure how committed Terry was to spending the 24 months in jail.

Prosecutor Lee O'Brien said Terry could be released anytime in the two years if he agrees to pay the fine.

Dean: U.S. to offer Soviets farming help

By Phil Pearson
Staff Writer

Farming in the Soviet Union is in bad shape and needs American help, James Tweedy, dean of the college of agriculture, said.

"They want our help and I think we should help them," Tweedy said.

Tweedy was part of a group of Illinois legislators, business representatives and representatives of the Illinois Department of Agriculture that went on a 10-day trade mission to the Soviet Union in September.

Tweedy said the main problem with Soviet agriculture is the lack of technology, efficiency and incentives by the Moscow government. He said most farming is done on cooperative farms and state-run farms that provide no incentive for workers to work hard.

He said the contrast between the cooperative farms and the family farms in the United States, where farmers work very hard to produce the best crop possible, is something the Soviets are considering in their farm reforms.

"They seem to be attempting to adopt our approach (to agriculture)," Tweedy said.

As part of that attempt, an agreement was signed between the Illinois Department of Agriculture and its Soviet counterpart agency, Tweedy said.

He said the agreement was little more than an agreement to start working together, but that could have a big impact. He said because of the agreement, there is the possibility of exchanging American agriculture students and Soviet students sometime in the future.

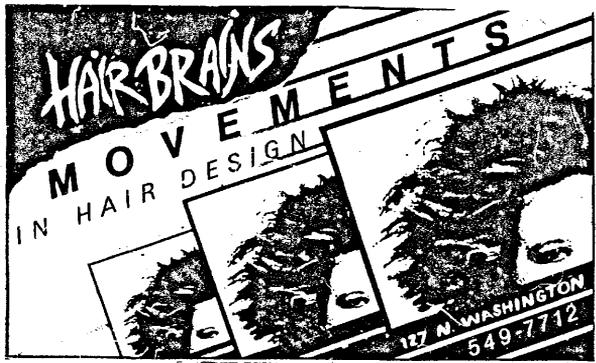

Tweedy said in almost all instances American technology is a long way ahead of the Soviet's technology.

Tweedy said on a visit to a dairy farm he saw an example of inefficiency which could easily be corrected. The rations being fed to the cattle were not nourishing enough to produce the maximum possible volume of milk, which is a valued commodity.

He said he was impressed with work the Soviets are doing with greenhouse technology and biological, instead of chemical, methods for controlling pests. Tweedy said he is in the process of learning more about their work, which he feels Americans should look into.

Tweedy said the lines in the grocery stores and the bareness of the shelves in the Soviet Union are things he had heard about, but seeing it in person made him think about what Americans take for granted.

"What I hadn't anticipated was the enthusiasm the (Soviet people) showed in our technology," Tweedy said.

SIU-C depends on diversity

By Marlo Millikin
Staff Writer

The need for planned structural and organizational changes SIU-C was addressed by George J. Gumerman in his Outstanding Scholar lecture Wednesday.

"We can be a follower like a hundred other universities, or take a chance and try new methods," Gumerman said to a full audience in the University Museum Auditorium.

Gumerman used his research of the adaptation and culture preservation of prehistoric Pueblo Indians of the Southwest as a role model for successful change and presented the basic concept of traditional disciplines being enhanced through integration.

Saying his proposal to strengthen SIU-C through campuswide department interaction is not a unique one, Gumerman said the effects of such a program could enrich the University by drawing students as well as faculty from more diverse backgrounds.

The issue of attracting new faculty is becoming relevant because some have suggested a retirement rate of 50 percent over the next 10 to 15 years, Gumerman said.

Bringing in higher levels of student and faculty diversity also serves the practical purpose of increasing chances for funding, he said.

Issues such as the prospective retirement situation and educational funding make the present an appropriate time to begin looking at this program of multi-disciplinary integration, Gumerman said.

"These are the issues we should be concerned with, not whether SIU should have a football team," Gumerman said.

Gumerman, who has been at the University since 1973, received his bachelor's degree from Columbia University and his master's and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Arizona.

Jury convicts Jim Bakker on all counts

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Jim Bakker, the television evangelist who lost his multimillion-dollar PTL ministry over a 15-minute sex fling, was convicted Thursday on all 24 counts of fraud and conspiracy for fleecing his flock to support his high living.

Bakker, 49, faces a maximum sentence of 120 years in prison, five years on each count, and fines totaling $5 million. He was obviously surprised when he heard the verdict read, but insisted he would prevail. His wife, Tammy Faye, uncharacteristically dry-eyed, declared, "It's not over until it's over."

Bakker's lawyers have made it clear from the outset that they would appeal any guilty verdict.

U.S. District Judge Robert Potter, who presided over the six-week trial, which often took on a circus atmosphere, set sentencing for Oct. 24. The judge has wide discretion on how stiff the penalty will be for each count, but sentences for three other PTL officials convicted in the scandal have ranged from eight to 18 years in prison.

Bakker was indicted by a federal grand jury in December on 23 counts of fraud and one count of conspiracy stemming from the sale of "lifetime partnerships," four days' and three nights' lodging a year for life at PTL's Heritage USA theme park near Fort Mill, S.C., for donations of $1,000.

"It's not over until it's over."

—Tammy Faye Bakker

The government argued that Bakker used the mails and the television airwaves to operate a classic pyramid scheme by vastly overbooking the partnerships, then diverting $158 million of the money dedicated to the program into the PTL general fund, from which he, his wife and the ministry's top executives were paid generous salaries and bonuses.

PTL's general fund also paid out $265,000 to former church secretary Jessica Hahn in an effort to keep her silent about a quarter-hour love tryst in a motel room in Clearwater, Fla., in 1980. It was this encounter that prompted Bakker to step down on March 19, 1987, from the ministry he founded.

Potter ordered Bakker to provide $250,000 bond after receiving assurances Bakker would not try to flee, and ordered him to report to a probation officer in Orlando once a day.

Prosecutor Jerry Miller argued against bond, saying Bakker now "has the motivation for becoming a flight risk."

Potter turned to Bakker's sister, Donna Puckett, and asked whether Bakker would jump bond, and if he did, would his followers hide him and help him.

"No way, no way," sobbed Puckett.

Asked if she felt Bakker would be recognized by people across the country if he did flee, Puckett said: "I think so. I know so." She said Bakker would "comply with the law and so would the people who love him."

Tammy Faye Bakker, who led a prayer service and hymn singing in the courthouse while the six-man, six-woman jury deliberated, appeared outside U.S. District Court after the verdict, smiling as she went before the microphones.

"I have a song for you," she told the throng of shouting reporters, then sang the hymn "On Christ the Rock I Stand."

All classified advertising must be processed before 12:00 Noon to appear in the next day's publication. Anything processed after 12:00 Noon will go in the following day's publication. Classified advertising must be paid in advance except for those accounts with established credit. A 25% charge will be added to billed classified advertising. A service charge of $7.50 will be added to the advertiser's account for every check returned to the Daily Egyptian unpaid by the advertiser's bank. Early cancellation of a classified advertisement will be charged a $2.00 service fee. Any refund under $2.00 will be forfeited due to the costs of processing.

All advertising submitted to the Daily Egyptian is subject to approval and may be revised, rejected, or cancelled at any time.

The Daily Egyptian assumes no liability if for any reason it becomes necessary to omit an advertisement.

A sample of all mail-order items must be submitted and approved prior to deadline for publication.
 No ads will be mis-classified.

Saluki cross country teams to run at Indiana State invite

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

After hosting the Country Fair-Saluki Invitational last Saturday, the SIU-C women and men's cross country take their acts on the road this weekend.

Both SIU-C cross country squads compete in the Indiana State Invitational Saturday.

The women's cross country team finished in a first place tie with Southeast Missouri State University in the Saluki Invitational.

"That was a good meet for us last weekend," SIU-C women's coach Don DeNoon said. "We are training hard and I'm still optimistic."

Freshman Leann Conway won her second individual championship of the fall. Conway's time of 18:11.11 moved her into the No. 8 position on the SIU-C women's all-time list. Conway was named the Coors Gateway Conference cross country athlete of the week.

Conway's time is the second fastest in the Gateway this fall. Western Illinois' Kathy Campbell's time of 17:56 is the fastest.

DeNoon said the 13-team Indiana Invitational is extremely competitive. He expects the Salukis toughest competition to come from Indiana University, Missouri and Gateway Conference pre-season favorite Illinois State. SEMO also will be there, DeNoon said.

"We needed to see Illinois State," DeNoon said. "I hope we can come out on top for a confidence builder. But it will all come down to that one day."

Four Saluki runners are ranked in the top 11 of the Gateway Conference. Along with Conway, sophomore Amie Padgett is ranked eighth with a time of 18:29, junior Rosanne Vincent is ranked 10th with a time of 18:36 and junior Dona Griffin is 11th with a time of 18:39. These four, along with freshman Dawn Barefoot, entered the SIU-C women's top 20 all-time list Saturday.

Meanwhile, SIU-C men's coach Bill Cornell was satisfied overall with his team's effort Saturday and said the team practiced well during the week. The Salukis finished second to Illinois State here Saturday.

"Finishing second out of nine teams isn't bad," Cornell said. "We just got beat by a good team, that's all."

Cornell said that a number of the Salukis improved their times Saturday.

"We ran well and we're on schedule for doing well in the conference championships," Cornell said. "We had some good practices this week as well."

Eight teams compete in the men's division and Cornell expects Purdue, Indiana State and Southern Indiana to be the Salukis top competition.

Sophomores Mark Stuart and Vaughan Harry along with freshman Gerallt Owen lead the men's team.

Robinson to manage Orioles again next year

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Frank Robinson, whose Baltimore Orioles spent most of a remarkable season in first place after a last-place finish the previous year, Thursday said he will return to manage the team in 1990.

He said he did not ask for extra money in 1990 and did not seek additional years on his rollover guaranteed contract.

Robinson, the front-runner for American League Manager of the Year, led the Orioles to an astonishing turnaround in 1989. The team nearly captured the American League East, finishing with a 87-75 record, second place behind the Toronto Blue Jays.

Conference.

The consistency of the Salukis top two players, Beth Boardman and Michele "Missy" Jeffrey have been contributing factors in the team's success this fall.

Boardman, a senior and the Salukis No. 1 player, is 7-4 this fall and has a career record of 91-40.

"Beth has played very well and I think she's really starting to settle into that tough No. 1 position," Auld said. "If a player is over the .500 mark in that No. 1 spot they're having a good year."

Jeffrey, a junior and SIU-C's No.

2 player, is 9-2 this fall and has a career record of 63-27. Auld said Jeffrey's performance this season has been outstanding.

Freshman Wendy Varnum is 9-2 in the No. 3 position and sophomore Lori Edwards is 9-1. Edwards has a career mark of 7-21. Michele Toye, a junior, is 9-2 in the No. 5 position and has a career record of 44-20.

Freshman walk-on, Nancy Mullins, holds a 3-7 mark and is coming along, Auld said.

"Nancy doesn't have the background of the other players but she works really hard," Auld said. "She is learning more with each match."

find out what would work and what wouldn't work," Lukes said. "The weight equipment we will receive is the latest in technology and the electronic equipment is the best available on the market."

The new equipment will include: Pyramid Fitness Industries free-weight equipment for the existing weight room. Two Smith machines, four flat benches, two leg press machines, a hack-squat machine and a power rack are just a few of the 18 new items. The new equipment will include heavy-duty steel frames and polypropylene weight guards to provide longer wear.

Universal's newest line of physical conditioning equipment will be divided between the fitness forum, suspended track and Sports Medicine Center. The selectonized weight stack machines include deluxe weight stacks featuring noise-reduction spacer plates, machined cast iron weight plates, and linear ball bearings for extended life.

Among the more than 50 new pieces of exercise equipment, there will be two seated back machines, two seated incline abdominal machines, three seated dipping machines, three lat pull-down machines, three electronic treadmills, six electronic exercise bicycles, three electronic rowing machines, one cable cross-over machine and two multi-station machines. Lukes also said Universal donated $9,000 worth of equipment to the Recreation Center.

Four Electronic Stairmaster PT 4000 (personal trainer) which will offer workouts for any conditioning need, from rehabilitation to triathletes. The machine provides computer-assisted workouts and summarizes goals when finished, including calories burned, average work level, floors climbed and distance travelled.

40 Schwinn DX900 digital exercise bikes which will be divided among the fitness forum, suspended jogging track, and Sports Medicine Center. The bikes offer a digital readout for speed, pedal RPM and trip distance with variable resistance settings.

One Freedom Machine will go into the fitness forum. The Freedom Machine is designed for training the competitive athlete as well as aiding in rehabilitation. The machine allows access to electric and manual wheelchairs and has padded wrist-cuffs to enable use by hand-impaired individuals.

"It's hard to please everyone," Lukes said. "But we've done a good job. We wanted the best equipment available for SIU."

Midnight practice planned

The SIU-C men's basketball team will tip off the 1989-90 practice season with the earliest start possible—it will scrimmage at 12:01 a.m. on Oct. 15, at the Arena.

Herrin has brought in a solid recruiting class to add to a group of established players in trying to improve on last season's 20-14 record.

More than 1,000 fans attended the midnight scrimmage last year on Oct. 15, which is the first day of sanctioned practice allowed by the NCAA.

rivalry - North vs. South. I expect that kind of game this year as well."

Pettibone and Smith are both concerned about the opposing team's quarterback.

Saluki quarterback, Scott Gabbert, made his first start of the season a memorable one. Last week against Arkansas State, the sophomore quarterback passed for 343 yards and set school records for attempts (55) and completions (28). Gabbert was filling in for an injured Fred Gibson. Gibson still is bothered by a swollen knee and won't play Saturday.

"We anticipate them throwing a lot," Pettibone said. "Gabbert has thrown the ball extremely well."

Pettibone is also impressed with the Saluki defense.

"They are well-coached and play hard," Pettibone said. "I think Kevin Kilgallon (Saluki linebacker) is an excellent player. I was also impressed with their defensive tackle Shannon Ferbrache last season. He has good techniques."

Players on the offensive line that will make the trip but with questionable status, include Gary Mastia and Tim Schiller with sprained ankles and Tom Roth and Joey O'Connor with shoulder injuries.

runs, four on a fourth inning grand slam, to lead the Giants to an opening game rout of Chicago.

George Loukas, 1973 graduate of SIU-C, said the Cubs are a very resilient team. He said when they lose, they come back.

"We'll take three in a row in San Francisco," Loukas said, regardless of Thursday night's outcome. The Cubs travel to San Francisco for night games on Saturday and Sunday and an afternoon game Monday.

"The Cubs have the hitting to compete," Loukas said. "They will make it a respectable series."

Craig Lindsley, an employee of the Tayco Printing Co. in Colorado Springs, Colo., was not as optimistic.

"Going in tied 1-1 they still have a chance," Lindsley said. "But if they go in down 0-2, stick a fork in them, they're done."

Pete Jansons, an SIU-C senior who made the trip from Carbondale to see the series, said the Cubs will bounce back from whatever the Giants deal them.

"They're going to go out to San Fran and win," Jansons said. "They have to."

Jansons said the 1989 Cubs are too youthful to know about the Cubs' tradition of losing.

Only three members of the Cubs 1984 championship team remain on the current roster. Pitchers Scott Sanderson and Rick Sutcliffe and second baseman Ryne Sandberg have been a part of both championship teams.

"This team is young and unpredictable," Jansons said. "They could be down 0-2 or 0-3 and sweep the next four. This team comes back. Remember the Houston game."

Salukis must contain Huskie wishbone offense

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

When the Salukis travel to Dekalb to play the Northern Illinois Huskies Saturday, head coach Bob Smith knows his team will be facing an opponent that hasn't been contained all season.

"They (Northern) haven't been contained yet," Smith said. "They were ahead of Nebraska 17-0 before Nebraska woke up and won the game. So our main goal is to try and contain them."

Nebraska's 48-17 come-from-behind victory over Northern in the second week of the season is the Huskies' only defeat this season. Northern, 3-1, enters Saturday's game on a two-game winning streak with wins over Kansas State, (37-20) and Western Illinois, 34-27.

The Div. I-A Huskies employ the wishbone offense. It will be the second consecutive week SIU-C's defense has to contend with a wishbone set. The Salukis last opponent, Arkansas State, also employed the wishbone. Arkansas State defeated the Salukis 28-23.

"Northern's wishbone is very similar to Arkansas State," Smith said. "We should be more assignment and alignment perfect this week."

Smith is worried about Northern quarterback Stacey Robinson. Robinson, a 6-1, 192-pound junior, is the leader of the Huskie wishbone. Robinson has rushed for 467 net yards on 81 carries in four games. He has averaged 5.8 yards per carry and scored six touchdowns.

Robinson, a Danville native, set a school record last week against Western with 228 yards rushing.

"He was a backup to Marshall Taylor in their system last year," Smith said. "I remember him (Robinson) when he was at thought," Pettibone said. "He only had 21 snaps last season. He's always had talent and he just came out and won the job in the spring."

Pettibone said that the reason Robinson has been able to step in so quickly is the number of good players around him.

"We have nine returning starters on offense," Pettibone said. "Our players understand what they're supposed to do and that's taken a load off of Stacey."

Adam Dach, a 6-foot, 210 pound sophomore fullback, has rushed for 253 net yards on 53 carries this season. Brett Schroeder, a 6-foot, 197 pound sophomore and Mike Strasser, a 5-8, 181 pound junior are the halfbacks in Northern's wishbone.

Smith is also worried about a Northern defense which includes seven returners including six senior starters.

"They are similar to last year's team but better," Smith said. "They have some veterans back and a few new kids have made them better defensively."

Last season the Huskies defeated SIU-C at McAndrew Stadium 10-9 on a 32-yard field goal by John Ivanic with just 12 seconds remaining in the game. Pettibone, whose team finished 7-4 last year, said that game was a turning point Danville. He is an outstanding athlete. He may be even better than Taylor. He's bigger and stronger."

Northern coach Jerry Pettibone said that even he's surprised at how fast Robinson developed.

Cubs tie series, 1-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jerome Walton triggered Chicago's record six-run first inning and Mark Grace drove in four runs Thursday night, helping the Cubs square the National League playoffs at a game apiece with a 9-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Walton hit Rick Reuschel's first pitch for a single and capped the outburst with an RBI basehit off Kelly Downs, sending the best of seven series to Candlestick Park for the next three games.

The favorite for NL Rookie of the Year, Walton also ignited a three-run sixth inning with a single and drew a walk in the seventh. Grace drove in four runs and tied a playoff mark for most hits in consecutive games with six.

With a crowd of 39,195 packing Wrigley Field on a mild and breezy night, Cubs starter Mike Bielecki added a two-run single in the first. Despite his 6-0 lead, however, the 18-game winner lasted just 4 2-3 innings.

He received some help from Paul Assenmacher, who watched from the bullpen Wednesday night when Will Clark hit a grand slam. This time, Assenmacher faced Clark with two on and two out in the fifth inning, and retired him on an infield grounder.

Les Lancaster, who relieved Assenmacher with two on and none out in the sixth, was the winner.

Reuschel retired just two men, approaching the record for worst start by NL playoff starter. Pittsburgh's Bob Moose retired no one in a 1972 outing.

Giants right-hander Mike LaCoss is scheduled to pitch Game 3 Saturday evening and be opposed by Rick Sutcliffe. Chicago tied Oakland for most road wins in the majors this year with 45. San Francisco owned the best home record in the league.

Clark had reached base seven straight times until being retired by Assenmacher.

Walton, 24, hit .293 with 24 stolen bases this year. He made the club after leading the Eastern League last year with a .331 average.

He suffered a longitudinal tear of his right hamstring May 10.

Cubs fans keep faith

Prior to Thursday's second National League Championship Series game between the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants, most Cub fans were not worried about the outcome of the best of seven matchup.

Not even wet Chicago weather and a Wednesday night trouncing at the hands of Will Clark and the Giants, could dampen hopeful spirits.

Women netters serve up home tennis action today

By Greg Scott
Staff Writer

SIU-C women's tennis coach Judy Auld expects to renew a couple of rivalries when her team competes on the University courts this weekend.

The Salukis begin a full slate of weekend action in a 3 p.m. match against the University of Louisville Friday. SIU-C hosts two matches Saturday. The Salukis hook up with SIU-Edwardsville at 9 a.m. and take on Memphis State at 2 p.m.

Auld said that Louisville and Memphis State are friendly rivals of the Salukis.

"Louisville is usually a strong team with a lot of depth," Auld said. "We have played them a lot over the years and established a friendly rivalry. Memphis State is a lot like Louisville. We usually have intense matches and it's a friendly rivalry we have with them."

SIU-E is a team that has enjoyed recent success. Edwardsville has won the NCAA national championship for two consecutive years. But this year the Cougars are in a rebuilding stage, Auld said.

"They (SIU-E) lost some players to graduation and I think they may be a little down this season," Auld said. "They are at a rebuilding stage now."

The Salukis have won three in a row with victories over Eastern Illinois, Chicago State and Austin Peay State. SIU-C is 5-2 overall and 3-2 in the Gateway

Rec Center gets more equipment

By Kevin Simpson
Staff Writer

The final bids are in and $192,000 worth of exercise equipment soon will be delivered to the Recreation Center.

Brian Lukes, coordinator of Intramural-Recreational sports, said the money was invested in new equipment which includes state-of-the-art custom-made selectorized weight and exercise machines. Some of the equipment will be available for use when the new addition to the Recreation Center opens and the rest should be in place by Halloween.

Lukes said a weight room advisory committee was developed to find the best equipment for the people who will use it.

"The committee was comprised of students and faculty who represented different styles and levels of users," Lukes said.

"We've done some research to
