Fair attendance tops 1986 total

A Da Quin State Fair "poker" game Sunday that gate attendance figures of 23,270, nearly 1,000 more than last year's total attendance record of 22,290.

The highest attendance figure was 12,000 on the preview night Friday, Aug. 28. The highest attendance reported so far was Sunday's 12,400.

Opening day had 36,100 fairgoers, which was 1,100 more than state fair last year. Sunday, Aug. 30 had 46,000, the second highest figure reported for this year's fair.

Physicians gather for annual fair

By Laura Milbrath

More than 50 Illinois communities will send medical representatives to meet with young residents and physicians at the School of Medicine's annual Doctors Fair on Friday in Springfield. The fair will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will be held in a tent next to the school at 801 N. BUTTON. John Record, assistant dean of students for financial aid and alumni affairs for the School of Medicine, is the fair's coordinator.

Record said the fair gives medical students and residents a chance for an initial meeting with potential employers that will hopefully result in high interest levels leading to site visits and eventually job placement.

"It's a chance for communities in Illinois that are looking for physicians to make initial contacts with medical students and residents about practice opportunities," Record said.

In communities where physicians from hospitals to the fair but also can send representatives from clinics or local groups of citizens, Record said.

This year's fair will have more communities interested than ever before with representatives coming from all over the state of Illinois. However, the bulk of representatives will be from central and Southern Illinois, Record said.

The fair is open to any medical student, resident or physician and provides a "low pressure environment" for learning about job opportunities, Record said.
Gunfire kills 1, Injures 4 at Gulf

Dubai, United Arab Emirates (UP) — Supertankers and freighters moved safely through the Persian Gulf Monday, taking advantage of a lull in the Iran-Iraq war. Industry officials said they were hoping for a U.N.-negotiated peace in the conflict.

The industry sources said that despite last week's wave of Iraqi and Iranian attacks in the gulf, a steep rise in war-risk insurance premiums and nervousness among crews, shipping had remained largely uninterrupted.

Philippine rebel prisoners moved off ships

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The first of about 800 rebel prisoners were transferred Monday from rain-battered ships in Manila Bay amid fresh warnings that some may be transferred to a new site.

Gregorio "Gringo" Honasan may be marooning for another strike at President Corazon Aquino's government. A Navy spokesman said 27 officers and 47 enlisted men captured in Honasan's abortive Aug. 28 coup attempt were taken ashore and placed in the custody of their units after more than a week of detention aboard two overcrowded ships.

More than 800 of the 1,200 captured rebels had been imprisoned on the ships.

Peronists win Argentina's mid-term elections

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UP) — President Raul Alfonsin's radical Civic Union was stunned Monday by an unexpected Peronist sweep of midterm elections that put 20 of 22 governorships in the hands of opposition parties and erased the Radical majority in the Chamber of Deputies. Alfonsin met with key Cabinet members in his presidential residence in the suburb of Olivos Monday to review the defeat, and press secretary Jose Ignacio Lopez said: "resignations were not considered."

W. Germany cienies hostage deal for terrorist

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Officials confirmed they struck a deal to win Monday's release of a German hostage in Lebanon, saying an Arab whose freedom was sought by the kidnappers still faces trial in Frankfurt for hijacking a U.S. airtliner.

Statements issued by the kidnappers indicated Alfred Schmit's release may have been part of a deal to free Vadim Kamenev and Dino Hamadi, arrested in Frankfurt in January and charged with West German authorities with the hijacking of a TWA airliner and the murder of a U.S. Navy diver, one of the passengers.

Gunfire kills 1, Injures 4 at anti-drug concert

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gunfire rang out during the closing number at an open-air neighborhood concert against drugs and crime Monday, killing a bystander and injuring four people. A fifth person was hurt when the panicked crowd stampeded. The melee erupted when an unidentified man got in an argument at the end of the evening of free entertainment, whipped out a gun about 1:16 a.m., aimed it at his opponent and opened fire, said Sgt. Maurice Howard.

Families of victims of serial killer told news

LONDON, Ky. (UPI) — The families of 12 hospital patients who were being notified by a Kentucky prosecutor that four of their relatives died at the hands of serial killer Donald Harvey, not from natural causes, of five counties, said he has already notified some of the families of the alleged victims. He said the notification was going slowly because Harvey did not provide him with the names of all the victims.

Siamese twins condition improving slightly

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Doctors Monday said they were "slightly encouraged" by the condition of 7-month-old Siamese twins whose skulls were separated in delicate surgery, but they cautioned it is too soon to tell if the twins escaped brain damage. Dr. Mark Rogers, director of pediatric intensive care at Johns Hopkins Hospital, who reviewed the twins' condition Monday, said he was "slightly encouraged [they are doing well]." But Rogers said it will be several weeks before doctors can determine if the babies will have normal brain function.

Greek system offers alternative housing

By Dana DeBeaumont
Staff Writer

Students who are unhappy with overcrowding in the dorms can turn to the Greek system for a housing alternative, Kevin Tinsley, public relations spokesperson for Inter-Fraternity Council, said.

"We want students to know that housing opportunities exist within the Greek system and give all students an invitation to join," Tinsley said.

When too many students apply for University housing, the last applicants receive over-assigned housing contracts. Over-assigned students are housed three to a room or in floor lounges and hall basements until room spaces become available.

There are currently 74 over-assigned students in the dorms, down from 96 at the beginning of the semester, according to Catherine Hunter, University Housing administrator.

"It's difficult to say how long students will be in over-assigned housing," Hunter said. "It could be for as little as a week or as long as 10 weeks."

Steve Kirk, an assistant director for University Housing, said the officer over-assigns rooms each year because some students with contracts don't show up and others get homesick or move to Greek Row.

Tinsley said students who want to apply for Greek housing can break University Housing contracts for a fee.

It costs less to live in the Greek system than in the dorms, Tinsley said. Kirk said it costs $228 for room and board in the dorms, while the cost ranges from $310 to $325 for room and board in the Greek system.

Greek housing openings include: Alpha Gamma Delta, three; Delta Zeta, one; Sigma Kappa, seven; Delta Chi, two; Phi Sigma Kappa, 12; Tau Kappa Epsilon, nine; Sigma Phi Epsilon, three; and Sigma Pi, two.

"Students must maintain a 2.0 grade point average to live in a (Greek) house. Scholarship is promoted; it's not like Animal House," Tinsley said. "It (the Greek system) is a great housing choice with opportunities for recreation, good food and homestyle living."

Ethics should rule in athletics search

 REGARDLESS OF WHOM is chosen to fill the athletics director vacancy created by Jim Livingood's resignation, let's hope it is someone who chooses to promote the ideal of the student athlete, as opposed to promoting winning athletic teams at any cost.

As past mistakes have shown, an emphasis on athletics promotion without a similar emphasis on the well-being of the student athlete can have disastrous results.

Most recently, in March 1985 overzealous attitudes led to the not-forgotten scandal of Kenny Perry. Assistant basketball coach Stafford Stephenson was fired and head basketball coach Alan Van Duyne resigned when the public learned that Saluki basketball center Perry had been receiving illegal payments from a Saluki booster.

SINCE THE SCANDAL, the University has taken a fresh look at the athletics department to see where it went wrong. This re-evaluation brought about a move to restructure and refine the athletics department, and hence the role of the athletics director.

Many beneficial changes have resulted from the reevaluation. One is the creation of the position of a director who would oversee both men's and women's athletics and work toward creating greater unity and equality between the two programs. Another is taking the first important steps toward stressing academics for the student athlete, and stressing the "interests and well-being" of the student athlete in general.

But there also has been a shift toward a greater emphasis on promotion of athletics, and this is where the University must be careful in defining the director's responsibilities.

As THE UNIVERSITY begins to look at athletics as a potentially valuable publicity tool, it seems to place a mistaken emphasis on promotional cheerleading — which translates into fundraising — rather than addressing the weaknesses of the program.

The permanent athletics director will play a vital role in reshaping departmental structure and standards, but should not be given responsibilities best left for others. This should begin with leaving the fundraising worries to Mike Royko, who has had experience for this.

Even without fundrasing responsibilities, the athletics director will have quite a bill to fill. As corruption becomes a major issue in every level of athletics, the athletics director will need personal integrity and commitment to a "clean" program to keep the taint out of SIU-C. Equally as important is a long-term commitment to SIU-C, to provide the continuity the University needs to see that beneficial changes are carried out and evaluated.

WHILE ATHLETICS may be the "window to the University," as Dean Steuck, one-time special assistant in intercollegiate athletics said in 1985, publicity should not be considered more important than strengthening ethical and academic standards in the department. This may in fact be the best publicity of all.

President Guyon should consider that no amount of promotion will improve a weak program. This can only happen with programs sport by sport and athlete by athlete. The person chosen for the position of athletics director could play a key role in this improvement if the selection committee chooses someone who is up to the task.

You may need fierce protection from some o' man's best friends

FOR YEARS, I've been arguing that a person doesn't have to own a gun if he has a fierce dog, or even a cowardly dog that can dog it.

The only problem with a truly fierce dog is that you can never be sure when it might bite. That doesn't bother me, but the neighbors can become nasty if your dog takes an ear off one of their children.

So a few years ago, when I was between dogs, I decided to get a couple of basset hounds. They have level tempers but they set up an impressive howl when a visitor is at the door, window or on the roof.

I also like bassets because they always look morose. No matter how depressed I am, when I look at them they seem even worse off, and that makes me feel better. It is human nature.

A FEW weeks ago, one of them got sick and passed on. To make everyone in the house feel better, I decided to replace him. I knew exactly what I wanted.

A good basset puppy, I decided, costs upward of $100. Even when it reaches full growth, this comes to almost $3 a pound.

It is against my principles to pay a pound for something I can't eat, so I decided to look instead for a homeless waif. As it turned out, an old and beloved dog shelter said a young basset hound was available.

IT LOOKED morose enough and, when I shook it, no fleas fell off, so I adopted it.

A couple of days later, I noticed something unusual about it. It walked and ran on only three legs.

I took it to a veterinarian and he gave me this diagnosis: "It has tennis elbow."

He added that it could be, since the dog hadn't played any tennis. None of us do.

He explained that bassets, because they have big, chunky bodies supported by legs the size of thread spools, often develop aches and pains in their joints.

"WHY DID nature design them that way?" I said. "It seems stupid."

He shrugged. "Why did nature design you the way you are?"

So I accepted owning a basset that walks on three legs. Actually, this gave it an even more menacing, hunched appearance. It has a gait something like that of Igno, who was Dr. Frankenstein's assistant.

A few days later, I detected another unusual, I aspect in its personality. It began growling at me. When I came near, it bared its teeth and seemed sincere about it.

When I came home the next evening, it barked furiously until it saw who I was. Then it barked even more.

I CALLED the veterinarian. "Does he do that to anyone else in the house?" I asked.

No. He lives everyone else. Even the cats. I'm the only one he tries to bite.

"Then there are two possibilities. One, he is a highly intelligent dog. Or his previous owner was a man who mistrusted him, so he distrusts men."

Will he get over it? "Maybe. Maybe not. But if he doesn't, on three legs he shouldn't be able to catch you."

So FAR, he hasn't shown any signs of growing affection. It is caused by one of the most exciting situations I've ever been involved in.

Our relationship has now reached a point where one can't enter the house until somebody inside holds him by the collar to prevent him from trying to tear my throat out, or at least jump my knee.

And later, when I move about, I have to do so slowly and be careful not to get near him or he lunges. Until you have been lugged at by a three-legged basset hound, you don’t know what fear is. Especially when you've just stepped out of your own shower.

But HE is a great watchdog, I thought that for him. Last night, when I got home, I wasn't even out of the car when he was looking in the backyard, howling for my blood. It took both kids to keep him off me. I can't even imagine what he might do to a thief in a car.

So if anybody is considering getting a watchdog, I don't hesitate in recommending a three-legged basset hound, you can find one. When I'm in bed at night, I'm confident that no fiend is coming into my room. In fact, I can't even get out of the room if he's out there.

I've changed my mind about owning guns. I'll probably get one soon. To shoot my way into the damned house.

You may need fierce protection from some o' man's best friends

Chicago's teacher strike deadlocked in negotiations

CHICAGO (UPI) — Negotiations aimed at averting a strike by the Chicago Teachers Union ended early Monday in a deadlock, while 20 teacher walkouts in four other states affected about 260,000 students.

Contract talks in Chicago broke off at about 3 a.m. Monday with little progress reported toward a new contract 30 days away.

A walkout today by the school system's 8,000 unionized employees would be the 10th Chicago school strike in 18 years, and would extend the summer vacation of 430,000 students.

Chicago Teachers Union President Jacqueline Vaughn appeared discouraged Sunday night and said negotiations were at a complete standstill.

She said the Board of Education refuses to take the union's strike threat seriously.

"There won't be any significant progress until they see the support of our membership," Vaughn said. Last Friday, about 4,800 teachers, out of 29,000 eligible to cast ballots, voted 4,437 to 428 in favor of a walkout. Tuesday if negotiations fail.

Vaughn said the board feels that because such a small percentage of teachers voted, many would not walk out if the union decided to strike.

The main issue in the dispute is pay raises. The CTU has proposed a two-year contract and a 15 percent salary increase in the first year and a 5 percent raise in the second.

Kidnap victim mowed; two more suspects sought

KANKAKEE (UPI) — Police Sunday searched homes and offices of two more suspects in the kidnapping and apparent suffocation of a 4-year-old boy.

The kidnapping of the wealthy great-grandson of a former Illinois governor and demand of $1 million ransom had been planned for at least one month, investigators said.

Charges of murder and kidnapping were expected to be filed today against three people — Daniel Edwards, 30, and Nancy Rish, 26, both of nearby Bourbonnais; and Kent Allain, 33, of Kankakee, police said. The trio was being held in the Kankakee County Jail.

Allain, sentenced to prison for counterfeiting and auto theft, allegedly was the ringleader of the group, the Chicago Sun-Times reported Monday.

The tape recording including instructions for delivery of the $1 million ransom was so garbled that the FBI could not decipher it over the telephone, the newspaper said.

Police believed the two additional suspects were locked inside a worked-over plywood coffin in which Small was buried, about 4 feet underground, in a rural area about 13 miles southeast of Kankakee. Kankakee is about 60 miles south of Chicago.

Further arrests were expected, said Kankakee Police Chief Timothy O. Nugent.

Small's body was found Friday, two days after he was kidnapped. The kidnappers bungled their attempt to keep Small alive because a 26-foot pipe they wanted him to breathe through was a "Mickey Mouse rig" that could not provide sufficient oxygen to Small, said Kankakee County Coroner James Orrison.

Orrison said he thought Small died in short period of time.

Massacre-questioning continues

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Police Monday may have more arrests in addition to the 13 suspects charged in the weekend bloodbath that left five supermarket employees dead and two others wounded.

"We still have some loose ends to tie up in the investigation," said homicide department Capt. Charles McCrary. "Possibly, there could be more arrests. We still have a lot to do to finalize the investigation."

"We have spent the past 50 hours non-stop to try and solve the case."

Charged Sunday night with 17 counts each in the killings were Charles Wright, 36; Anthony Benn, 27; and Reginald Williams, 23, police said.

of Maaten-en-Sara, 60 miles inside Libyan territory. The Chadians attacked and destroyed it Saturday. Several hundred Libyans were believed to have been killed and 50 Libyan combat aircraft destroyed.

Chadian officials said their troops would leave the base eventually.

Monday morning, two Libyan Soviet-made Tupolev-22 bombers flying from another base in southern Libya reached Ndjamena.

The French Defense Ministry in Paris and Chadian military officials said a French anti-aircraft battery fired a U.S.-made supersonic Hawk missile and hit one Tupolev, killing its three-man crew.

The plane co-axed 500 yards from the French-Chadian military base at the capital and no injuries were reported on the ground, officials said.
Beethoven Society benefit reaps six practice pianos for students

By Phyllis Coon and Muriel Winston
Staff Writers

The "Beethoven Experience of a Lifetime," held last April, raised $900 for the University to buy six new practice pianos for music majors.

Donald Beattie is an associate professor of music and director of SIU-C's Beethoven Society, which organized the event. He said a key person in many of the Society's projects is SIU-C graduate Bill Barras Jr., the owner of Baldwin Piano and Organ Center in Herrin.

Through price reductions, Barras enabled the University to purchase $35,000 worth of pianos from his store at a special discount.

A seventh piano, an upright concert grand, was donated by Barras.

In addition to the new pianos, the 19 music practice rooms in Algid Hall have been refurbished, Beattie said. Changes in the practice rooms included carpeting and painting. Beattie said the cost of the refurbishment was "modest" because music students helped with the work and local merchants funded the project through gifts.

The practice rooms with the pianos are open to students who practice at least 20 minutes three times a week. Admission is free.

Recitals scheduled

The School of Music and the School of Law are cooperating this fall in presenting a series of recitals, "Law and the Arts," in the Lesar Law Building Auditorium.

The inaugural recital in the series will be at 8 p.m., Sept. 23 and will feature pianist Donald Beattie, associate professor of music and violinist Michael Barto, who is the conductor of the SIU Symphony Orchestra.

The second recital, held at 8 p.m., Sept. 22 in Shryock Auditorium, will feature pianist Donald SIU-C's

Admission to both of these recitals is free.

Beattie, who is the director of SIU-C's Beethoven Society, said the first Beethoven Society event this fall will be a guest piano recital by John Yi-Chang Sun at 8 p.m., Sept. 28 in Shryock Auditorium. Admission is free.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jazz great Woody Herman, who died Monday of lung and congestive heart failure, faces eviction Tuesday from his Hollywood Hills home, which has been auctioned off by the Internal Revenue Service.

Herman, 74, who has won several Grammy awards and spends most of his days sleeping, unaware of the pending eviction, his daughter, Ingrid Herman Reese, said Monday.

Herman's hillside Hollywood Boulevard home, once owned by Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall, was auctioned by the Internal Revenue Service in 1986 to recover part of $1.6 million in payroll taxes and penalties, which the IRS contends he owes from two decades ago.

The eviction notice orders the legendary big band leader and clarinetist to leave the house by 5 p.m. today, came last Thursday. But Herman's attorney, Kerr Pasich, said he hopes to reach an agreement with the landlord, William 1.1., to block the eviction in Superior Court.

"Given Woody's contribution to jazz — he put out over 100 albums and received awards and recognitions — you have to see him basically penniless," said Pasich, who is providing free legal services.

Reese, 46, who lives with her father, said she had not told her father, who now weights less than 100 pounds, about the impending eviction. "I don't think it would do him any good to be upset."

Although Herman is lucid, he can speak only a few words at a time, she said. "He sleeps most of the time because his heart is so weak ... He has a serious lung disease and congestive heart failure and he has to have 24-hour nursing," she said.

"That's no way to treat a legend in American music," said Ed Flynn, 74, a former band leader and friend of Herman's. "He's trained some of the best musicians in the business through the years."

new pianos are locked and only music majors and approved non-majors are given access.

Three of the new pianos are reserved for piano performance majors only to prepare for their recitals.

The purchase of the piano has given the School of Music's piano performance majors flexibility in their practice schedules, Nga Hien Ong, graduate student in music said. She added that she now feels less pressure to find time at a piano.

The "Beethoven Experience of a lifetime," held April 25 at Shryock Auditorium, was an all-day continuous performance of transcriptions for three pianos of Beethoven's nine symphonies.

The day's performances were capped off by a Grand Finale that evening, which included an encore performance of "Symphony No. 5" and two of Beethoven's piano with orchestra works with the SUO Orchestra.

Ong, who played in Symphony No. 2, said, "It makes me appreciate those pianos more. Those pianos are great. They open up new possibilities to experiment with new tunes."

Ong said the pianos that were already in the practice rooms have become "worn" and no longer have as large a tone range as a new piano.
Hart sorry, but won't run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., will say he is sorry for his actions during his disastrous 1987 presidential campaign and will stick to his decision to withdraw from the race, it was reported Monday.

Hart is scheduled to appear on ABC News “Nightline” Tuesday night to discuss his plans. Hart abandoned the race in May after the Miami Herald broke a story that he spent a weekend with model Donna Rice while his wife was out of town.

GOP in South favors Bush; Poll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President George Bush is favored by nearly half the GOP voters in the 14 “Super Tuesday” Southern and border states, but the big winner among the Democrats is “undecided,” a Scripps-Howard News Service poll showed Monday.

Among the Democrats polled, 40 percent said they were undecided. Jesse Jackson is favored by 23 percent.

A comment last month by one of Hart’s former campaign leaders kindled speculation Hart would re-enter the presidential race, and Hart cut short a vacation in Ireland and returned home. The prospect of a revived Hart campaign drew negative reactions from political observers.

Cable News Network, citing unnamed sources, reported Hart will not resume his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination and will make the announcement “when he appears tomorrow night on a television talk show.”

CNN also said he will “apologize for his actions while he was still a candidate.”

A spokesman at ABC News “Nightline” said it had not been told what Hart might say. “It hasn’t happened yet,” he said of the scheduled live interview by ABC News anchor Ted Koppel.

Hart campaign officials could not be reached for comment.

Jackson focuses on labor

PITTSBURGH (UPI) – Jesse Jackson announced plans to formally seek the Democratic nomination for president Monday, choosing Labor Day in a traditional blue-collar stronghold to reach out to American workers to help him win the 1988 race.

Jackson said he chose Pitts burgh as the starting point of a three-city tour so he could participate in its Labor Day celebration and "be with working people who are the heart and soul of this nation."

Jackson planned to make stops in Cleveland and New York City after participating in a Pittsburgh Labor Day parade.

The civil rights activist leads the Rainbow Coalition of minority and ethnic groups and has a solid base of black support, especially in his native South. But Jackson said one of the lessons he learned from his unsuccessful bid for the presidency in 1984 was that he must expand his base and build a larger coalition, including blue-collar workers.

"I've learned that by focusing on the issue of economic justice, we can build a coalition sufficient to win," Jackson told a news conference and a group of about 100 supporters at the St. Benedict the Moor Church.

Jackson said he formally will announce his entry into the race on Oct. 10 in Raleigh, N.C., at the National Rainbow Coalition Convention.

Jackson, however, has enjoyed the field's highest level of name recognition since former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart abandoned his front-running Democratic campaign May 8. Both men were the only holdovers from the 1984 campaign.

Simon, in a statement read by his spokesman, Jim Killpatrick, said Jackson's announcement "is no surprise. I welcome him to the continuing debate over what course the Democratic Party and the nation will take."

But State Rep. Tyrone Brooks, Jackson's campaign manager in 1984 who is not supporting him this year, said last week that in 1988 "there is a chance that a Democrat can win the White House and there is the perception that if Jesse runs he could split the party and give the Republicans a chance to win it. If that happens, if the Republicans win, then Jesse is gone, to get part of the blame."

Wood drying short course set Sept. 25

The SIU Department of Forestry is offering a short course on hardwood lumber drying methods on Sept. 25.

Many firms and individuals are now investing in larger lumber drying equipment because of the demand for dried lumber. This course will provide the participant with the knowledge to be able to choose the best system for his or her needs.

The course content will include the advantages, disadvantages, costs of each of the drying methods, causes and prevention of defects, operational techniques and market requirements.

The course will be instructed by Fredrick M. Lamb, an associate professor and extension specialist in the Department of Forest Products at Virginia Tech. Lamb has been involved in wood processing research and technology for 19 years.

Computer assesses students' interests

Out of focus on your career goals?

A computer program set up to help undergraduates without declared majors explore career possibilities has been updated this semester by the Career Development Center in Woody Hall.

Virginia Rinella, coordinator of the center, said the DISCOVER computer system is a career exploration program concerned with students' interests in future occupations.

"It's a very powerful system," Rinella said. Students answer questions on the assessment covering their interests, abilities, experiences and values. They are then given suggestions for possible majors in the work dimension of people, data, things and ideas.

Students then select hypothetical occupations out of a comprehensive list of 469. The computer contains 16 topic categories describing such things as skills needed, work tasks and national salary ranges.

In addition to helping students without declared majors, the program can assist those with majors who are unsure about the validity of their interest, Rinella said.

The program also has a list of graduate programs in universities across the nation for students who want to map out a long-term plan of study.

Rinella said the program has been in use at the University for one year.

"It especially helps students with academic difficulty," she said. "It helps them gain focus.

Spikers learn lesson in match with alumni
By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The Saluki volleyball team found out why you should have more respect for your elders. The Alumni defeated the Salukis 1-2, 1-2, 15-12, 15-13, 15-13 in an exhibition match at Davies Gym on Sunday afternoon.

Demonstrating a court savvy that only experience gives, the Alumni also provided a model for coach Debbie Hunter to use in her next practice session.

"What we've been emphasizing to the players, the Alumni executed," Hunter said. "There was good communication out there. I guess it was just good old volleyball heritage being passed on." The match marked the return of last year's potent front-line duo of Pat Nicholson and Jan Trembly-Sims, which combined for six blocks.

Bears place McMahon on injured list
LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — The Chicago Bears Monday placed quarterback Jim McMahon on the injured reserve list and waived 10 players, including 13-year veteran Mike Hartenstein.

McMahon, still recuperating from shoulder surgery, will miss the first four to six games of the season. Center Larry Ruben and tight end Tim Wrightman also were placed on injured reserve.

In addition to Hartenstein, the Bears cut punter Maury Buendy and defensive tackle Henry Waechler, all three of whom were veterans.

Also cut were defensive end Steve Bryan, cornerback Eric Jefries, running back Tim Jessie, receiver Glen Kozlowski, linebacker Jay Norrell, tight end Don Taggart and guard John Wojcikowski.

Gateway teams win four of six

Four of the six Gateway Conference teams involved in non-league season-openers this weekend came out with a win. In San Jose, Calif., San Jose State beat Eastern Illinois 24-3 to give new Panther coach Bob Spoo a rough introduction to being a head coach.

SJU quarterback Mike Perez, last year's NCAA leader in total offense, threw for two touchdowns, connecting on 27 of 45 attempts for 291 yards. The SJU defense was also tough, allowing Easterners just three yards of rushing offense.

The game was a close 10-3 until the third quarter, when SJU scored, recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff and scored again.

In Macomb, Western Illinois beat Arkansas Tech 48-9 on a three-touchdown passing performance by quarterback Paul Singer. Tight end Jeff Prentice caught two of the scoring passes, one in a 20-point fourth quarter when the Leathernecks ran away with the ball game.

In Springfield, Mo., the Southwest Missouri State Bears opened their season with a 20-7 victory over Central (Okla.) State.

League favorite Northern Iowa spoiled past Nation State 34-31 in the season-opener for both teams. UNI was forced to score 17 fourth-quarter points to overcome a 31-17 deficit. Kevin Mote hit a 36-yard field goal with 2:06 left in the game for the winning score.

UNI's Mike Smith became the school's all-time career leading passer with a 241-yard performance, good for two touchdowns.

Illinois State did not play this weekend and will begin the season next week against Western Michigan.

Injury report for Salukis looking good

The only good thing about Saluki football loses to Delta State is that few Salukis were injured.

Chuck Harmke, a walk-on running back who looked impressive in his first career outing, left the game early when he was poked in the eye. He'll be ready for next week's game with Southwest Missouri.

Defensive tackle James Cox left the game early with a knee sprain and also should be ready for next week's game.

In other injury news, senior cornerback Ira Davis is out of a cast and walking on crutches. The preliminary report of a fracture in the foot have been rediagnosed and Davis could be ready for action this weekend.

Patterson nabs Gateway honors

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Saluki running back Paul Patterson was named the Gateway Conference offensive player of the week for his standout performance in Saturday’s loss to Delta State.

Patterson rushed for 121 yards on 16 attempts, 4 in the 24-16 back and scored two touchdowns in the third quarter for SIU-C’s only touchdowns.

After the game, Patterson said he was happy with his performance but he would have rather won the game.

Patterson’s first score came from five yards out late in the third quarter. Fifty-one seconds later, he scored from 16 yards to give SIU-C a temporary 13-10 lead.

A 53-yard scamper by Patterson in the first quarter gave SIU-C the ball at Delta State’s 4-yard line, but the Salukis were shut down and didn’t score. He also caught two passes for six yards.

Last season, Patterson returned a kickoff for SIU-C’s only score in a 52-7 loss to eventual league champions, Eastern Illinois.

The Gateway’s defensive player of the week is Western Illinois’ Marty Lomelino, a senior linebacker from Grisly. Lomelino recorded six unassisted tackles and 14 assists in the Salukis’ 28-7 win over Arkansas Tech.

Rec Center cuts fees to boost participation

By Greg Huber
Staff Writer

The Recreation Center has lowered pass prices for most users as a one-year trial to increase use by faculty, staff, older students and others.

The price — $37 in the spring and fall and $11 in the summer — is the same for all users, except part-time students who pay according to the number of class hours taken.

Last year, faculty, staff and their spouses were charged $33 for fall and spring semester, alumni, $34; students’ spouses, $32, and students: $32 in fall and spring.

Intramural Directors J. Michael Dunn, said the changes were suggested by an advisory board. The new rate will be reviewed in May, 1988.

Dunn said about 180 non-students purchased passes last semester, while more than 300 people have taken advantage of the programs and prices this year.

At least 200 were needed this semester to break even and make the program a success, and Dunn expects another 50 to 100 may sign up before the semester is finished.

Other factors Dunn cites in the success of the changes include different schedules for students, a faculty, high-use times by faculty and staff center around 6 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. when it’s quieter, while students pack the center from around noon until evening.

Though intramurals sports are big at the center, they still represent only about 30-40 percent of the total users. Dunn cited studies showing that about 50 percent of the total users come for individualized workouts such as weightlifting and about 75 percent come to socialize in areas like aerobics.

Winless Saluki spikers to tangle with Tigers

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The Saluki volleyball squad is looking for its first win of the season 7 p.m. Tuesday night when the Salukis invade Davies Gymnasium.

The “Tigers,” led by first-year coach Craig Sherman, were 3-6, 9-18 last season, finishing fifth in the East Eight.

Regrouping remains the top priority for Saluki coach Debbie Hunter, who was forced to juggle her lineup during the first three matches of the season because of injuries.

The method of attack or personnel Missouri might have is purely secondary.

“Volleyball is the type of game which is won by execution on your side of the net,” Hunter said. “Ball control is all-important.”

The Salukis reestablished two players who were injured outside hitter Teri Noble and middle blocker Amy Johnson. Although Noble and Johnson practiced only since coming back, Hunter said they are getting back into form.

Noble, a 5-foot-8 junior, is in contention with freshmen Lori Simpson and senior Ann Wallenberg for two outside hitter starting positions.

Meanwhile, Johnson, a 5-11 freshman, is adjusting quickly. “Amy’s been out of practice for two weeks, but when she got out onto the floor she floowed into the game. It showed she’s been paying attention,” Hunter said.

The rest of the starting lineup has junior Dawn Thompson at setter, junior Beth Wissett on the right side, and junior Dorothy Buchanan with sophomore Nina Breckin at middle blocker.

Hunter found some things in practice encouraging. “I don’t feel myself making tons of systematic reminders,” she said.

The Salukis lead the series versus Missouri 10-5, winning the last match 13-6, 16-15, 15-12, 15-8 on Nov. 1, 1986 at Davies.

This is the first of two meetings this year. The Salukis play the Tigers Oct. 18 in Columbus, Mo.

Senior Sue Sinclair, still out with an injured right knee, will see her physician in St. Louis on Tuesday for tests.

Scoring dive

Paul Patterson earned his name in Saluki football history books by scoring twice within a 51-second span, but it wasn’t enough to prevent Delta State from spoiling SIU-C’s home opener on Saturday. In 1960, the Salukis scored twice within a 25-second span on, strangely enough, back-to-back kickoff returns for touchdowns. Unlike the Delta State game, however, the Salukis went on to win that contest, a 66-6 laughter over Eastern Michigan.

Dorr decides to stick with game plan against Southwest Missouri

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Despite being upset by Division II Delta State in Saturday’s season-opening football game, Saluki coach Ray Dorr said plans for the same-aged game plan next week against Southwest Missouri.

“We’re absolutely not going to change our philosophy or our way of doing things because of one game,” Dorr said Monday afternoon, "I feel very strongly about our game plan, it’s won a lot of games for us in the past and we are not going to just abandon it.”

Instead of making “whole-hearted changes,” Dorr said, “everyone — coaches and players alike — are working toward the same objective.”

Dorr readily admitted that Southwest Missouri, this weekend’s opponent, would defend better than Delta State. The Bears beat Central State Saturday to open their season.

“They’ll have some momentum and confidence from their win this week, and the fact that we lost to a Division II team, maybe they give them a little extra confidence,” Dorr said. “They’ve got to be thinking that maybe we didn’t deserve the high preseason rankings we got.”

Dorr said that winning a Gateway Conference game early in the season would be crucially important, especially after the unexpected loss to Delta State.

“I said before our championship game would be every week when we play a conference game,” Dorr said. “Whoever wins this game will take at least a share of the Gateway lead into the latter part of the season.”

Dorr said he was pleased with some individual efforts in the Delta State game, but as a team, the play was poor.

“We did not play as a mature, cohesive unit,” Dorr said. “We gave them confidence early and didn’t do anything to take away the momentum.”

“The most discouraging thing is that no one really went out and tried to make something happen,” Dorr said. “We were all just kind of standing around waiting for someone else to do something, waiting for someone else to make the big play that would turn things around.”
