Buildings decay, turn students off and away at VTI

By Bob Carr

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

If VTI were to catch fire, nearly all of it would be in ashes within 15 minutes.

Last week, all the urinals were removed from VTI's principal male living center, West dorm, because they were rusting and stinking.

In the VTI machine shop, some equipment is idle well over half the year because proper temperature control cannot be maintained.

Part of the flooring in the VTI dental lab has sunk at least 1-1/2 inches in less than two quarters.

Computer equipment worth about $750,000 is housed in a frail wood building with peeling white paint.

VTI classroom fire escapes consist of wooden ladders nailed to the outside wall.

Physically, VTI, SIU's two-year vocational and technical training school, isn't even a nice place to visit. About 300 students live there. At least 1200 attend VTI classes.

Donald (Skip) Niebrugge, president of VTI's executive council, describes the physical conditions at the campus as deplorable.

Niebrugge is a sophomore at VTI, and a resident of Playboy Hall, one of the three wings of West Dorm. Every day he is faced with the vile buildings and conditions that make up VTI.

In 1950, SIU took over a group of World War II barracks that was originally run by the Sherwin Williams Co. during the war as an Illinois ordinance company. After the war, the barracks were abandoned until VTI started taking shape some 20 years ago.

Today, with one notable exception, VTI is still housed in the now decrepit barracks, whose paint is peeling and actual worth negligible. The exception is a modern brick dormitory on the western edge of the campus. It is, however, the only exception.

Not only are the barracks offensive to students, they are also potential fire hazards as well. Although a state fire inspector examines the buildings once a year, it appears that, at best, the buildings just meet safety codes.

According to Jerry Butler, head resident, burning time for the barracks is less than 15 minutes by state standards.

Lighting in the classrooms is anything but bright, and students complain of hot and stuffy classrooms and living quarters during the hot months of the year.

The great paradox of VTI is that although the shell of the campus is on the brink of decay, the campus building cores are bright and bubbling.

The equipment for the vocational and technical courses according to Niebrugge, is nearly faultless. Students at VTI receive top rate instruction on excellent equipment, he said. And not incidentally, the rapport between the students and the faculty and staff and among the students themselves is excellent.

Lyle Adams, head resident at West Dorm, points out that the general spirit of the campus is like "one big family."

The "family" is stable at best, though, and enrollment may be decreasing. Although students seldom leave campus, Adams said, it is becoming increasingly more difficult to convince new students to come to the campus because it is, he said, "such a letdown, especially after reading the literature."

"I'm convinced enrollment suffered in the past because of conditions, but it will suffer even more in the future," he said.

VTI... today, tomorrow

The decrepit remnants of World War II army barracks constitute an unimpressive greeting to new arrivals on the VTI campus. But once Governor Richard S. Ogilvie lifts his freeze on University funds, a new classroom building (bottom photo) will be constructed. Unfortunately, plans for four high-rise dormitories are still only plans. Gus Bode

Gus says the fire hazard of many VTI buildings could become a red-hot issue.

Fulbright conference slated here in June

The 19th annual Mid-West Fulbright Conference will be held at SIU on June 14-17. The conference will involve about 100 scholars, half of them foreign, who will discuss the role of the scholar and the university in the ever-changing world.

According to Oliver Caldwell, professor of higher education, and this year's conference program chairman, the conference will include "Scholars' response and responsibilities in the changing world of the university."

There will be five major addresses by distinguished scholars and a "no holds barred" discussion will follow each, he said.

The five scholars at the conference will be George S. Counts of SIU, William C. Olson of the Rockefeller Foundaton, Abdul Majid Abbas of SIU, Danish educator Mogens Blegvad and Ambassador David Nicol of the Sierra Leone Embassy to the United Nations.

Caldwell said this is the first time SIU will have an important African diplomat visiting the campus.

He also said scheduling the Mid-West Fulbright conference at SIU was an honor considering it is the first to be held outside of a Big Ten school, Notre Dame or the University of Chicago. He said it was a recognition of the international work SIU is doing.

Ever since Senator J. William Fulbright set up the program, many U.S. students, teachers and scholars have gone abroad and foreign students, teachers and scholars have come to the United States.

Each year, three annual Fulbright conferences are held, one on the east coast, the west coast and in the mid-west.

Caldwell said he was interested in contacting Fulbright and Smith-Mundt scholars at SIU who would like to attend the conference. Those interested should contact Caldwell in Anthony Hall, Room 212.

The National Academy of Sciences and the U.S. Department of State consider these conferences very important, Caldwell said. The main speeches and a digest of the discussions will be published in book form after the conference.

Stevenson claims surplus in budget

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III claimed Wednesday that $296 million additional funds, not figured in the state budget, are available for the 1971 fiscal period.

Stevenson challenged Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's statement that Democrats were making a "false issue" in contending the state will have a big surplus.

'Study-Voyage' is talk topic

William J. Hoffman, admissions counselor for the World Campus Afloat of Chapman College at Orange, Calif., will visit SIU at Carbondale Thursday and Friday (April 9 and 10) to discuss study aboard the S.S. Ryndam.

The World Campus Afloat combines liberal arts courses with the experience of world travel. Students attend classes six days a week while at sea with formal studies supplemented by in-port activities related to course material. During the current semester the Ryndam carries about 500 students and 70 faculty and staff to a journey around the world via the Orient, the Middle East and Africa.

Students, faculty and staff who wish interviews or who have questions about the international study-voyages are invited to meet with Hoffman in Room 116, the International

Student opposes new golf course

To the Daily Egyptian:

I recently sent the following letter to the governor of Illinois.

Dear Sir,

I was glancing through our school paper when I came across the enclosed article (the article about the proposed SIU golf course, April 4).

This piece angered me enough to write this letter, which I must admit is a first in my life. I have long hair and dress in the fashions of the times, but no means do I consider myself radical, and I still have faith in the Democratic process (which many of my peers have given up on).

My purpose in writing is to perhaps enlighten you on a very possible crisis, should this golf course be built. I might add I will be at the head of this encounter, which would also be a first in my life, for I have never even participated in a demonstration. I will do everything in my power to see that an unwanted golf course not be built.

You recently recommended a hike in tuition costs at state supported schools, thus our tuition will soon be doubled. School housing goes up each year and we still have not counted all the other expenses which must be met by a student. I realize all these increases are necessary, but why should I and my fellow students pay for a golf course which we will never use?

I truly feel sorry for my father, who must support two people that are now in Illinois colleges and very soon a third. Why should he be burdened and have to suffer in order to meet the rising costs of college and a golf course which his sons will never use?

I admit many people (including the fine citizens of nearby cities) will take advantage of a cheaper place to shoot golf, but what I can't understand is why I should be forced to pay for their desires when the money could be used to lower my tuition!

This estimated $440,000 plus $100,000 per year could be used for so many more practical purposes which would be useful to the majority of students.

I can only hope and pray that you will listen to the message of this letter and that you will initiate an investigation into the construction of this golf course. For the peace of this school and its students, please.

Athlete denies student right to play on court

To the Daily Egyptian:

While my wife and I were playing tennis on Sunday afternoon, April 5, a member of the tennis team, abruptly stepped onto our court and ordered us off. When I protested, saying I had no proof he was on the team or that the team had special privileges on Sundays, he began using extremely profane language toward my wife and myself, challenged me to a fight, and then began hitting tennis balls as hard as he could at my wife's feet.

As staff members and as students of the University who pay the activity fees that send these athletes around the country, I vigorously object to sending such nonprofessionally acting, obnoxious people as representatives of SIU. I realize the actions of one player should not result in a condemnation of the whole tennis team, but I have certainly lost a lot of the respect I had for these fellows as a result of this incident.

Rodent, vermin infested firetraps; VTI students deserve far better

SIU's Vocational Technical Institute, in its present physical state, is wretched.

There is one building on the entire campus, a small dormitory, which could, by a stretch of the imagination, be called modern. The rest of the campus is housed in decayed, peeling shells of World War II vintage barracks, which are not only odious and odorous, but are potential fire hazards as well.

According to Donald "Skip" Niebrugge, the president of VTI's Executive Council, the official estimated burning time for the barracks ranges up to 15 minutes. Fire escapes consist of wooden ladders nailed to the side of the building.

Vermin live at VTI, and pest conditions warranted a request by Niebrugge for control service by Serve the People. Rust and stench were abundant enough last week to force removal of all urinals in the West Dormitory, which houses about 120 men.

In contrast to the deplorable conditions of the buildings, the equipment in the barracks is first rate. An IBM 360 computer blinks at the data processing students, dental hygiene personnel practice with top grade equipment and student auto mechanics use the most up-to-date diagnostic gadgetry.

Lighting is almost uniformly substandard and spring through fall the classrooms are hot and stuffy.

Unfortunately for those who attend classes and live at VTI, relief is not in immediate sight. Although a new classroom building has been planned for the campus, the funds appropriated by the Illinois General Assembly for this project, have been frozen by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

According to University Architect Charles

Pulley, there is nothing the University can do until the funds are made available.

A balanced state budget is a nice thing to put on a former governor's record. Nonetheless, it is silly to play power politics with the welfare of the people.

Students like VTI. It's small enough for the students to know each other and have an excellent rapport with the faculty and staff. They deserve better facilities than insect and rodent infested tributes to the decayability of wood. VTI students are SIU students. VTI students are university students. They must be given proper facilities. Now!

Beer vs. mouthwash

To the Daily Egyptian:

Talk about something stupid in this state here's a dandy for thinking over. To drink any kind of alcoholic beverage in this state legally one must be 21-years-old. This includes beer which is not even ten percent alcohol and, yet, anyone and everyone can buy mouthwash and it so happens that my mouthwash contains 17 percent alcohol!

Nigeria wants to solve problems its own way

Oye Kale is an undergraduate from Nigeria, majoring in Zoology. In the following article, he offers his interpretation of the postwar conditions in Nigeria. Another interpretation on the recently ended civil war was published in the January 27 issue of the Daily Egyptian.

By Oye Kale

Nigeria occupies a position where the western parts of the African Continent meet Equatorial Africa. The country lies between parallels four and 14 degrees north of the equator. Its area is 356,669 square miles and its population is over 55 million, making it the most densely populated country in Africa. The republic is a democratic country, although it is under a military rule at the moment. The nation has an independent judiciary with subordinate courts and high courts in the states, and a Federal Supreme Court.

Nigeria is predominantly an agricultural country. It is estimated that 80 per cent of the total male working population is engaged in agriculture. Some of Nigeria's most important export items are palm oil, palm kernels, cocoa, groundnut, cotton, rubber and timber. Industry contributes modestly to the gross domestic product when compared with agriculture. It is expected, however, that within a decade or two, the industrial sector will contribute substantially to the nation's export earnings.

Nigeria is rich in a diversity of natural resources, the most important of which are natural oil, coal, gas, tin, limestone, iron, timber, fisheries and water supply.

Nigeria got its name from one of the longest rivers of the world, the Niger. The country is bounded on the south by the Atlantic Ocean, on the north by Niger and Chad; on the east by the Cameroons and to the west by Dahomey.

The British ruled Nigeria for almost a century, and the country got its independence on October 1, 1960. On Oct. 2, 1960, it became a member of the United Nations. On Oct. 1, 1962, it became a republic.

Nigeria had a federal type of government at the time of independence. At independence, the country was divided into three regions, the North, the West and the East. In 1963, a part of the west was carved out to form a separate region - the Mid-West region - making four regions in all. Each of the four regions had its own government and council of ministers. However, all the regions were subordinate to the Federal Government. Each region had its own premier and governor.

In January, 1966, Nigeria had its first military overthrow of government. The operation was carried out by five Ibo military officers, all of which had the rank of major. During the take-over, many political and military leaders were killed. These included the Prime Minister of the Federation and the premier of the North, both of whom are of the Hausa tribe; the premier of the West and the second highest man in the Nigerian army, both of the Yoruba tribe; and some others. Ironically the President of the Federation and his deputy, the premiers of the East and Mid-West and the highest man in the Nigerian army, all of the Ibo tribe, were unaffected.

A military coup d'etat, organized and carried out by military officers, raised eyebrows by killing many national leaders that were non-Ibo and letting all Ibo leaders live.

In July there was a counter coup carried out by some Hausa officers to avenge the Ibo's act of tyranny. During this period, many lives were lost.

The second coup saw Nigeria with a new military government headed by Ya Kibu Gowon. He is neither Ibo, Hausa nor Yoruba. He comes from a minority tribe of Angas. Under him, the future looked very promising for the country. He condemned the killings of the two coups, and made strong appeals to all Nigerians to have all hands on deck for the building of a great and better Nigeria. Unfortunately, his hopes were shattered by the activities of some Nigerians, mainly the leaders of the East.

One of the greatest fears in Nigeria, and the cause of much concern, is the domination of "everything" by the largest tribes. To alienate these fears, Gowon created 12 states from the existing four regions in the country. This gave the minority groups opportunity for self-determination and rule, and equal representation with groups at the center.

But two days after the creation of these states, Chukueke Ojukwu declared the secession of the Eastern region, consisting of three states, and called it the Republic of Biafra. The three states were comprised of many tribes. None of the tribes, except the Ibo tribe, was in favor of secession. Even then, not all Ibo supported secession. Ojukwu built up a large army with many weapons preparing for war. This was a hostile action toward the Federal Government, a treason and a rebellion. The Federal Government was going to pull down the rebellion. The now famous Biafran War was the result.

The war was unfortunate and everyone wished it had never been fought. A lot of lives would have been saved and a lot of suffering could have been prevented, but history will judge whether the war was necessary or not.

One thing is certain. Nigerians now stand in brotherhood more than ever before. The war has caused some hardships and mistrust, but it is a healer of many wounds. Ask any Nigerian. He will tell you. As with the "outside world," Nigeria has learned a lot of things. We owe no one any malice, but we know our friends.

The days of European Africa are long gone, if anyone is in doubt, I invite him to Africa.

Some activities and pronouncements over the war should not go unmentioned.

1) Senator Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) has been credited with some ridiculous statements over the war. Ridiculous, yes! He once asked President Johnson, and later President Nixon, to fly relief supplies to "Biafra" regardless of whether the Nigerian government gave consent or not. I wonder: how many nations can just fly to Alaska, Hawaii or Illinois without the approval of the U.S. government. I know what it takes to get a visa to enter the U.S. to study. I can only hope that George Wallace's "prophecy" that Ted Kennedy will never be President of the U.S. will come true.

'I've got an idea... let's ask him what he needs.'

2) The U.S. did not recognize Biafra when it was alive. But Mrs. Nixon collected donations for Biafran children. Yet Biafra did not exist with the U.S. government. (The readers of the article may not understand my point here. You have to be a Nigerian to understand.)

3) Pope Paul should have done better than he did. At least he knew better than he acted. He talked of planned genocide against Ibo. What a statement! Has anyone ever known such a controversial Pope? I wonder if Popes do resign?

To all that turned out to be humanitarians over night, I say thank you on behalf of all Nigerians. Whatever you may think, Nigeria, a sovereign and independent nation, will solve its problems its own way. If one has to love America or leave it, I wonder why those that do not love Nigeria cannot leave it?

Genocide, starvation, rape, looting and mass death, were given in quantum. But let us deal with them. Those days of white supremacy idealism are gone with Africa in general, and Nigeria in particular. Democracy, Socialism, Capitalism or Communism are all Western ideas. We have our own "isms."

The one thing Nigeria did that annoyed the U.S., most was going to Russia to buy arms and ammunition. As if Lincoln did not ask for "military help" from Russia when the U.S. had its own succession and civil war.

Self styled authorities on African affairs often talk of Nigeria being in Nairobi. The U.S. is not part of Havana, Cuba, is it?

Nigerians owe no one any malice, but no one should go beyond reasonable limits. We had been slighted too much. For those that do not know it, the dark days of Africa are now dreams, the wind of change, indeed a storm, is blowing over Africa.

James Johnson fund lags

The Brush Towers Area Council has created a fund to help alleviate some of the cost of medical treatment for James Johnson, Johnson is the Brush Towers resident who was shot in Truaxblood Hall on March 7. He has undergone surgery for kidney removal and has been under intensive care.

During the first week of spring quarter the council set up a table in Grinnell Hall to collect donations at meal hours. The members of the council displayed posters in the cafeteria and placed form letters in the mailboxes of all residents and gave them information on Johnson's condition.

According to David Mahaman, president of the Brush Towers Area Council, almost $25 was collected the first day, March 31. After that, things tapered off rapidly and the council stopped collecting in Grinnell Hall April 2. Mahaman said that only $34.02 has been collected.

Mahaman also mentioned that $1000 may have been offered to the Johnson Fund by the University Park Area Council treasury, but he could not verify this.

Donations may still be made at Schneider Hall, Room 215 or May Smith, Room 915. For more information call 536-1461.

Italy indicts airplane hijacker

ROME (AP) — Italy indicted airplane hijacker Raphael Minichiello today on eight separate charges—but not with hijacking the Trans World Airlines jet he seized at gunpoint over California last November.

Squillante filed the charges, ending the pretrial process in Minichiello's case. Informed court sources said Minichiello probably would be brought to trial before July, although no date has yet been fixed.

No request for extradition has been received from the United States, Squillante said. A Brooklyn grand jury has indicted Minichiello for hijacking, a federal crime that carries a maximum penalty of death in the United States. The Brooklyn grand jury recommended extradition.

May bar Majority Party

Senate eyes election violation

By Terry Peters
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Senate Wednesday night sent the Campus Judicial Board an elections commissioner's report recommending that the Majority Party be barred from the student government election April 29 for violation of election laws.

Rhonda Starnes, elections commissioner, told the Senate that the Majority Party's posters which appeared early in March violated an election law prohibiting campaign material from being posted before three weeks prior to the election date.

Miss Starnes read a complaint filed by Richard Blumefeld against the Majority Party alleging such violation. The complaint bore 92 signatures, she said.

"I gave them a week to remove the signs when they put them up during the first week of March," Miss Starnes said. Their failure to do so led to her decision to bar the party from the ballot, she said.

"But if I know the Majority Party, they'll request an appeal," Miss Starnes continued, "so I am asking the Senate to mandate the Campus Judicial Board to have a meeting before next Wednesday to include all the parties involved."

A lengthy and confusing exchange followed, marked by an attempted filibuster by Mike Mayfield, commuter senator, and an unsuccessful move to impeach him for dereliction of duty.

Under the announcements section of the agenda, Wallace, Dwight Campbell, student body president, and several other members of student government charged that President Delyte W. Morris may not be mentally competent to hold his present position. Wallace asked that Morris submit himself for diagnosis to a board of psychiatrists.

"We've accused Morris of strange sicknesses and syndromes," Wallace said. "The average student says we're crazy as he is when we talk like that. But many students who have sat down and talked with him have come back confused."

"I'd like to give him the opportunity to vindicate himself," Wallace continued. "I request that he submit himself to a board of competent psychiatrists. He has the prerogative of picking them, but I hope they're not on his payroll."

The Senate was still in session at press time.

VTI buildings called decrepit

The opening of Logan Junior College has also hindered VTI enrollment, Adams commented. Two former programs, welding and cosmetology, have moved to Logan because of better conditions.

"Last fall, I saw parents who would not allow their kids to come here," Niebrugge added. "They said that they did not want their kids living in such old and decrepit dorms."

What is being done? Unfortunately, very little. With the exception of some light remodeling, VTI will be synonymous with old and ugly buildings for an indeterminable length of time.

Although funds have been allocated for the construction of a new classroom building on the campus by the Illinois General Assembly, Governor Richard B. Ogilvie has put a "freeze" on the funds. Until they are available, no bids may be taken or work done.

Plans have been made though, and approved by the SIU Board of Trustees for the total redevelopment of VTI, according to Charles Pulley, University architect, who admitted that present facilities were poor. Once the freeze is lifted, the first building on SIU's priority list will be the classroom building, Pulley said.

The master plan, according to Marvin P. Hill, assistant dean for technical and adult education, will consist of four high-rise dormitories and four academic wings connected by closed concourses.

Each wing will consist of two-story buildings. The first, will house printing, commercial art, architecture, mechanical drafting and the appropriate laboratories. The second wing will contain data processing, electronics and accounting. Allied health, dental hygiene, dental laboratory technology, mortuary science and water resources technology will be located in the fourth wing. A heating and cooling plant is also planned, as is a new student union.

These plans, however, are not satisfying the need of VTI students now, Adams said. "The kids want something done." "Promises just won't do. They want action."

Pandemonium follows

Carswell denied, 51-45

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rejected the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell Wednesday by a surprising 51-45 vote that touched off pandemonium in the staid and ornate old chamber.

Wild clapping, cheers and a few scattered boos from the galleries greeted Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's solemn announcement of the tally that marked President Nixon's second straight defeat on a nomination of a Southern judge to the high court.

Five months ago Agnew had made a very similar announcement as he declared the 55-45 rejection of Nixon's nomination to the court of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., a result which met with silence.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that Nixon was, of course, disappointed at the Carswell 'relieved but disappointed'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Judge G. Harrold Carswell said today, after his nomination to the U.S. Supreme Court was defeated, that he was relieved the battle was over but disappointed in the outcome. He also said President Nixon had called him and expressed his disappointment.

Carswell vote. The press secretary said the President will submit a new nomination in due course—but not necessarily before the November elections.

Demonstrations in galleries are against Senate rules, but this one went on for perhaps two minutes.

Thirteen Republicans joined 38 Democrats to reject the 50-year-old Carswell, a Georgia-born federal appeals judge accused of racism and of lacking the judicial laurels.

Despite a 52-44 reversal two days earlier in an effort to shelve the Carswell nomination by sending it back to committee, the liberal opposition refused to abandon the fight.

In the final hours it became clear that the outcome lay with no more than three Republican senators, with one of them Maine's Margaret Chase Smith, perhaps the key.

With the defeat, Carswell becomes the 25th Supreme Court nominee in history to fail to reach the bench through outright rejection, by declining the appointment, having his name withdrawn or by action being postponed.

The Tallahassee, Fla., resident was the 11th nominee to be rejected outright.

The Veterans Administration has reduced the number of quarter hours necessary for receiving maximum veteran benefits, according to the Registrar's Office.

For the current Spring Quarter, 13 quarter hours is considered a full-time undergraduate load since spring quarter is less than 12 weeks.

Graduate students are not affected by the new rule. The provision for undergraduates, however, may exist for ensuing quarters.

The veteran's section of the Registrar's Office will publicize this information when available.

Face Wichita St. today

Salukis top-seeded in tourney

By Bob Richards
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The Saluki tennis team is top-seeded in the Oklahoma City University tournament which begins today.

Coach Dick LeFevre will send his squad against Wichita State University at 4 p.m. today in an opening round match in the eight-team tournament. With a win over the Shockers, SEU will probably face fourth-seeded University of Oklahoma Friday.

"I'm hopeful that at least three of our guys can go undefeated," said coach LeFevre. He admitted that with the presence of Mississippi State in the tournament, top singles man, Fritz Gildemeister could have trouble.

The tournament is set up with five singles matches and two doubles matches in each meeting of schools. LeFevre said all team members would make the trip to prevent the Salukis from becoming short-handed in the event of injury or sickness.

Other schools entered in Oklahoma City are the second-seeded host school, Oklahoma City University, North Texas State, West Texas State and Texas A & M. LeFevre said he did not know too much about the Texas schools but indicated SIU would have to turn the tables on both Oklahoma and Mississippi State to win.

Following their 3-4 performance on the pre-season tour of the south, the Saluki men came back with 7-2 and 9-0 victories last week against Murray State.

A tentative line-up for the tournament will have Gildemeister at number one singles, Bill Lloyd in the number two spot and Macky Dominguez at number three. Chris Greendale will probably compete in the fourth spot with either Graham Snook or Ray Briscoe playing the final singles match.

Jorge Ramirez saw action in both matches against Murray State but LeFevre said the Mexican star was not ready to compete in the tournament. "He didn't play while we were gone over spring," said LeFevre. "He'll be ready to go in a week or two." Ramirez won both his matches at number six against Murray.

Swimmers enter AAU meet; fatigue reduces Saluki team

Nine members of the Saluki swimming team will compete this weekend in the National Amateur Athletic Union championships in Cincinnati.

Coach Ray Essick does not plan to enter a full team in the meet because many team members were tired after the NCAA finals.

Similar to the NCAA championships in format, the AAU meet is open to any amateur athlete, collegiate or noncollegiate. Qualifying standards must be met during the season in each event to qualify for the meet.

Present plans of Essick will have Vern Daach, Rob Dickson, Fernando Gonzalez, John Holben, Bob Schoos, Bruce Windeatt, Bruce Steiner, Bill Tingley and Steve Dougherty swimming.

Essick said that many team members had peaked twice during the season for the Southern Intercollegiate championships and the NCAA finals and were just plain tired. SIU won the Southern Intercollegiate and placed 17th in the NCAA final.

Linksmen to compete Friday in 16-team Mid-South meet

SIU golfers will match strokes Friday and Saturday with 16 other teams at the Mid-South Golf Classic at Clarksville, Tenn.

Austin Peay State University hosts the event which is rapidly becoming one of the outstanding collegiate golfing events in the nation.

The mens intramural volleyball tournament continues tonight in the SIU Arena. At 7 p.m., on Court 1, Sammlies "A" meets Theta Xi and on Court 4, Tau Kappa Epsilon "B" meets TKE Heads. At 8 p.m., on Court 1, Phi Kappa Tau takes on Kappa Alpha Psi and on Court 4, Alpha Gamma Rho tackles Phi Sigma Kappa "B". At 9 p.m., on Court 1, Sigma Tau Gamma plays TKE "A" and on Court 4, DWS' Out Group takes on the Beavers.

Harvey Ott, Jr., apparently is ready to challenge for medalist honors this week. He was six strokes off the pace last year with a 76-72-148.

Other team members are Jerry Glenn, who missed the West Frankfort layout with a four-under par 68 last week for medalist honors; Monty Secrist; Dave Perkins; Richard Tock and John Bartolotto.

SIU is one of three independents entered in the Mid-South event which also has seven conference representatives. Entries include Alabama, Austin Peay, Eastern Kentucky, Illinois State, Indiana State, Louisville, Middle Tennessee, Moorhead State, Murray State, Sewanee, Southwest Missouri State, Northwestern at Memphis, Tennessee Tech, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga and University of Tennessee at Martin.

For some real peace of mind, do this now: stop in at the Bursar's Office and enroll in SIU's Blue Cross/Blue Shield Group.

It takes only a few minutes of your time, and you'll be fully protected, no matter what kind of weather's headed your way.

Home outdoor meet

Saluki athletes all set to take on Indiana State

By Bob Richards
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Some team members are still nursing their injuries but the Saluki track and field team is ready for Indiana State. The Sycamores invade McAndrew Stadium Saturday in SIU's first home outdoor meet of 1970.

Assistant coach Aubrey Dooley said Wednesday the injured distance runners Alan Robinson and Ken Nalder, sprinter Ivory Crockett, pole vaulter Larry Cascio and triple-jumper Don Miller had all improved.

Crockett should be doing better than the 9.5

effort he ran last week in the Kentucky Relays 100-yard dash, according to Dooley. Crockett will also run in the 220-yard dash where Sycamore Dick Fulmer could push the Saluki star. Fulmer is a great sprinter, according to his coach Bill Malloy.

Nalder has come on very strong in recent weeks, especially during spring break when the sophomore from Geelong, Australia turned in a 4:07 mile. Nalder will run the 880-yard dash Saturday. He had complained of severe pain in the achilles tendon area last week in the Kentucky Relays and could not finish his mile leg of the distance medley relay. The injury is very similar to a foot ailment bothering Robinson.

Pole vaulter Larry Cascio, the Illinois Intercollegiate champion, is ready to compete. Cascio had been held back with an injury for several weeks.

Miller also has had some rest in an attempt to keep strain off his ailing foot. The Saluki jumper should be ready as workouts begin to taper today and Friday.

The Sycamores strong points will be in the short and middle distance races. Peter Howe of England has run the 440 in 49.0 as has team-mate Denny Jones for the Sycamores. Both are key runners on the Sycamore mile relay which turned in a 3:19 clocking indoors this season. SIU had a 3:16 in the Illinois Intercollegiate in February.

Robinson will run both the mile and the two-mile Saturday, hoping for a double win. His chief opposition from Indiana State will be Charles Wartham, a 4:16 miler. Wartham has gone 9:07 in the two mile, an event Robinson ran in 8:39.2 in the NCAA indoor finals.

Steve Cooksey of Indiana State has gone over 48 feet in the triple jump and was in the NCAA meet this year. The Sycamores Ed Henry could outclass both Obed Gardiner and Miller in the long jump if he repeats a 25-foot effort earlier this year.

Bound to win

Two big reasons for SIU's success during the indoor track season on this year were triple-jumpers Don Miller (left) and Obed Gardiner. The event, which includes a hop, step and jump, requires great spring and coordination. Both jumpers are shown going through their daily bounding routine, part of the warm-up. SIU coach defends use of courts

By John D. Towns
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

In a letter to the editor, (see related letter on page four) an SIU student reported that he and his wife were ordered off one of the tennis courts by a member of the varsity tennis team Sunday.

Commenting on the incident to the Egyptian, John R. LeFevre, tennis coach, said, "During the spring quarter the six South tennis courts are reserved from 3-5:30 p.m. during the week for the varsity team.

"Three of the West courts are reserved for tennis use by the varsity team for weekend practice and the North courts are reserved from 4-5 p.m. Monday-Thursday for the Womens Recreation Association (WRA). We don't have any way of posting a notice," LeFevre added.

"Twelve tennis courts for 25,000 students is ridiculous. We have fewer courts than any state college in Illinois. There is no way in the world to avoid conflicts," LeFevre said.

LeFevre explained that through the years the policy has been for the nonvarsity members to give up the court when it is time for the varsity team to practice and usually those on the court give it up.

"If you notify a player to get off the court because it is time for the varsity team to practice and he doesn't get off what do you do?"

"I have already reprimanded the player, but who is going to reprimand the other student?" LeFevre concluded.

Unlike some of the other facilities at SIU which require a student to sign up, the presentation of his ID card and/or fee statement, students who want to use the tennis courts only have to enter the facility and play.

SIU's batmen blank Moorhead State 5-0

By Mike Klein
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The Salukis blanked Moorhead State College 5-0 Wednesday in their final game before meeting fifth-ranked Tulsa Friday and Saturday.

Steve Webber hurled a two-hitter but needed excellent support from his infield. Moorhead made better hitting contact than in their two previous appearances.

Mark Newman robbed the much improved Moorhead club of at least four hits.

Mike Berg was twice a Newman victim. The convicted Saluki pitcher knocked down a line drive and threw Berg out in the seventh. On the final play of the game, he went far to his left on the outfield grass to turn a sure single into an out.

Newman also robbed Paul Heerwald of a single in the fifth inning and went to his left for a hard liner in the fourth.

In the sixth inning, it appeared Moorhead would get its first hit when Gerald Vandermay chopped a high bounding ground ball over Webber's head. Shortstop Gene Kinaldi charged in, caught the ball on the short hop, and got Vandermay at first.

Moorhead collected singles in the seventh and eighth for their only hits. Tuesday, John Daigle and Chuck Richards held Moorhead to one hit.

Webber got off to a shaky start in the first inning when he threw two pitches to the screen and walked the first batter.

After Mike Berg was safe on a first inning fielder's choice, Webber struck out five of the next seven Moorhead hitters.

Jim Dwyer continued his hot hitting streak by singling in Webber in the third inning for the Salukis' first run. Dwyer hit safely in eight of nine games in the home stand.

Mt. Everest claims 6

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Six native Sherpas guiding a Japanese expedition have been killed by a huge block of ice that knocked them into a crevasse on the slopes of Mt. Everest.

This worst disaster on the 29,028-foot mountain—the world's highest—brought to 21 the number of persons known to have been killed in attempts to conquer it.

The Japanese team had set out to scale the peak to perform a new feat—that of skiing down one of the slopes.

The accident that killed the Sherpas occurred Sunday. The news reached here Wednesday.
