Public hearing set for budget

By Paula J. Finlay
Staff Writer

A public hearing on Carbondale's proposed fiscal year 1984-85 budget will be held before the City Council Monday.

The proposed $21.5 million budget includes $1.15 million of federal revenue sharing funds to be used for general government operations, capital improvements and debt service.

The waterworks and sewerage fund makes up the largest category of the proposed budget with $6.26 million — $1.3 million more than was budgeted for FY 83-84.

More than $3 million of the budget is earmarked for public safety with $1.93 million for police protection, $1.01 million for fire protection and $2,500 for animal control.

The Eurma C. Hayes Center will be increased from the FY 83-84 budget by $4,600 to $114,600. The comprehensive health program is listed for $350,662 — about $9,000 more than FY 83-84 — while comprehensive child care is to get $417,065, about $46,535 less than FY 83-84.

Of more than $4.5 million in capital project funds, $3.69 million is earmarked for the railroad relocation project and the rest will go for local improvements.

The council will review the proposed agreement for Cedars Professional Center Subdivision to be developed by Rolf Schilling, north of Streigel Road.

The hearing will begin at 7 p.m. Monday in the City Council Chambers, 607 E. College St.

U.S. plans for use of troops in Central America

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration has drawn up plans for the use of U.S. combat troops in Central America if its current support for regional opponents of leftist forces there fails, administration officials said Sunday.

But they stressed the contingency plans are no different from those prepared for other regions where conflict is possible.

"It's something that's done for any potential trouble spot in the world," said one senior administration official, who, like others, spoke on condition he not be identified by name.

This source stressed that the administration is not considering any combat role for U.S. troops this year or next.

"There's no definite time frame attached," he said, indicating that whatever was being prepared was for some indefinite future, and possibly as far away as the 1990s.

But in a television interview Sunday, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger maintained that no such planning existed at the Pentagon.

"There is no plan of that kind, nor is there any necessity for it," he insisted under questioning on ABC-TV's "This Week With David Brinkley."

Weinberger also denied that contingency plans exist for almost every eventuality.

President Reagan also has said he has no plans to send combat troops to the region.

Meanwhile, reports of the possible use of combat troops could effect congressional action.

One White House official, describing the reports as not helpful, said they could make it tougher to win approval for additional military aid for El Salvador.

But, he added, it also could signal to Congress the administration's willingness to use the troops if U.S. financial support is insufficient to turn back the leftist rebels seeking to overthrow the Salvadoran government.

Officials acknowledged that if troops were sent in, it would most likely involve invoking the Rio Pact of 1947, which involves mutual defense of the United States and the nations of Central America.

It would also most likely require action under the War Powers Act, under which Congress must give assent to the extended use of U.S. troops in a combat situation.

Hearing scheduled on water rate boost

By Bruce Kirkham
Staff Writer

Carbondale officials have proposed a 14.4 percent increase in water and sewer rates beginning Aug. 1.

The increase is attributed to rising energy costs and interest payments on 1983 Water and Sewer Improvement General Obligation Bonds.

A public hearing on the proposed rate increase is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday in the City Council chambers.

City Finance Director Paul Sorger said Friday that the increase will result in about $331,000 in annual revenue for the city. Interest on the bonds will cost the city $257,000, Sorger said.

The increase is based on a minimum monthly usage of 3,000 gallons.

City officials project that the increase for a typical family of four would be 14.3 percent, and high volume industrial customers using more than 25 million gallons would receive an increase of about 8.5 percent.

The increase for high volume users is less because of a 1979 sewer rate increase of 96.2 percent and a 1981 water rate increase of 50.5 percent for those users.

Data released by the city indicates that if the proposed increase is approved, a family using 8,000 gallons per month in Carbondale will still have cheaper monthly bills than similar families in Anna, Carterville, Marion and Murphysboro, but more expensive than in Du Quoin.

Candidates crisscross state as Pennsylvania primary nears

By Carole Feldman
Of the Associated Press

Walter F. Mondale promised Sunday that the Three Mile Island nuclear plant would remain closed if he is elected president, while Gary Hart campaigned among unemployed steelworkers and the Rev. Jesse Jackson said he could not "muzzle" supporters, even when they threaten violence.

"I have no problem disassociating myself from violence or threats of it," Jackson said two days before Pennsylvania's Democratic presidential primary.

But he said attempts to impose remarks by a supporter, Minister Louis Farrakhan of the National of Islam, into his campaign were "a bit unfair."

In a radio speech, Farrakhan had threatened a Black Washington Post reporter who disclosed that Jackson had referred to Jews as "Hymies" and New York City as "Hymietown."

"I have no ability to muzzle a surrogate who wants to make a contribution," Jackson said on NBC. "That statement certainly was not a campaign-authorized statement."

Jackson campaigned in Philadelphia on Sunday while his Democratic presidential rivals crisscrossed the state for votes in the primary Tuesday, when 172 delegates will be at stake.

Going into the Pennsylvania contest, Mondale leads Hart in delegates, 916.8 to 540. Jackson has 141.2.

A Washington Post-ABC poll taken Wednesday through Friday found Mondale and Hart dead even in Pennsylvania, with 41 percent each. Jackson was a distant third with 12 percent. The poll, based on interviews with 454 registered Democrats, has a margin of error of five percentage points.

Mondale traveled Sunday to Middletown, Pa., the site of the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident, saying he would guarantee that the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant would remain shut if he is elected president.

Referring to the Metropolitan Edison Co., which operated TMI during the March 1979 accident, he asked, "What strange logic justifies giving them a license to run a nuclear power plant when a meltdown could kill thousands of people?"

Hart, meanwhile was in western Pennsylvania, nibbling at Mondale's labor support. He told unemployed steelworkers he would provide government-guaranteed loans to modernize aging plants and factories.

Beirut ripped by sniper fire, shelling

BEIRUT (AP) — Sniper fire and intermittent gun battles kept tensions high Sunday along Beirut's east-west frontier, in the southern suburbs and in the commercial center of the city.

State and privately owned radio stations reported army troops and Druse opposition gunners battling with mortars and rockets near the mountain village of Souk el-Gharb, nine miles east of the capital.

Politicians said they expected no important advances in efforts to defuse the Lebanese crisis before the upcoming Syrian-Lebanese summit.

Militiamen poised on both sides of the green line frontier between Beirut's Christian and Moslem sectors traded sniper fire all day Sunday.

Late in the afternoon, police reported machine gun and rocket-propelled grenade exchanges in the southern suburbs and in the already-battered city center, near Beirut's closed port.

Sunday's shelling subsided after the Security Committee, made up of representatives of the rival factions, announced a cease-fire agreement shortly after midnight.

The afternoon clashes came shortly after a Lebanese army soldier was killed by sniper fire in Christian east Beirut. The two-hour exchange killed one person and wounded four others in the Christian suburb of Hadath, state television said.

The duels, however, were less intense than those of the previous two days, when hundreds of rockets and artillery shells fell on residential neighborhoods in both east and west Beirut, killing 14 people and wounding more than 100.

The plan calls for withdrawal of combatants several hundred yards from present positions, creating neutral zones of varying width.

News Roundup

Attempts to retrieve satellite fail

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Spacewalker George Nelson failed Sunday in three daring attempts to retrieve a costly but crippled satellite for repairs in space, and officials said the shuttle crew will make one last try Monday to grab it with a robot arm.

The satellite repair was the main purpose of the 11th space shuttle flight. Another part of the mission, deploying an 11-ton cylinder loaded with experiments for a 10-month stay in space, was conducted without a hitch Saturday.

Search resumed for Air Force men

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Rescue teams resumed a search Sunday for five missing Air Force men whose helicopter crashed in choppy Atlantic waters during a missile-testing mission, officials said.

"We still feel there's a chance we'll find somebody. We wouldn't be out there if we didn't think there was," said Coast Guard Petty Officer 1st Class Charles Kemnitz, who is coordinating the rescue efforts from Miami.

The HH-3 "Jolly Green" helicopter and its eight-member crew went down in the Atlantic early Saturday. Three crewmembers were picked up by the USS Frank Cable about 60 miles off the coast of Cape Canaveral.

Prison population growth down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The growth in the nation's prison population dropped dramatically last year as the baby boom generation began to leave the prison-prone age group and more states turned to early release programs, but a record 438,830 inmates were incarcerated at year's end.

In its annual report on the population of federal and state prisons, the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics said Sunday that the nation's penal institutions were 10 percent over capacity at the end of 1983.

Opposition raised to reduction of polling places

By John Stewart
Staff Writer

A plan to reduce the number of polls for the April 18 Undergraduate Student Organization election has met with opposition and official protest.

Students living in on-campus residence halls would vote at their dining halls and off-campus students would vote at the Student Center, according to the plan announced Friday by Franco Laterza, USO election commissioner.

But the plan, established by Laterza with help from Jean Paratore, assistant to the vice president for student affairs, would place a Student Trustee poll at the Law School. A formal protest was filed April 3 by Glenn Stolar, campaign director for trustee candidate Bruce Joseph.

Stolar's protest states that either rationale used to put a trustee polling place at the Law School is illogical. If placing polls at the Law School were to accommodate students that are never on-campus, then polls should be placed at the SIU Medical School in Springfield, the School of Technical Careers campus in Carterville, and the SIU Airport, Stolar said. If centralization was the reason for not putting polls at academic buildings, then placing a poll at the Law School is inconsistent, the protest states.

The plan provides that all students on-campus would vote at their dining halls, except for the fraternity and sorority residents at Greek Row.

Laterza said that the West Side is considered an off-campus area. Off-campus votes are part of those which make up the district, and the name of the district is West Side, not West Campus.

If other on-campus living areas have polls, then Greek Row ought to have one, said Bob Craig, chairman of Inter-Greek Council. Greek Row cannot be considered off-campus, he said, as the land and buildings are owned by the University.

"If you consider Greek Row off-campus then the Chancellor's Office is off-campus, too," Craig said. The Greek's are active in campus politics and their votes are important, especially in light of the fact that only 2,000 students voted last year, he said.

With no poll at Greek Row, residents should at least be allowed to vote at the Law School, Craig said. The Law School is located adjacent to Greek Row, but only Student Trustee balloting will take place there. Laterza said.

The new polling plan was designed to prevent students from voting more than once, according to Paratore. In previous elections, students would vote at one of 12 polling locations, and their hand was stamped so they couldn't vote again. But the stamps washed off easily, leaving the possibility that the students would vote again.

Congress ready for tax, budget bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anxious to demonstrate election-year resolve to cut federal budget deficits, Congress is set for a flurry of voting this week on broad legislation to raise taxes and cut spending.

Before leaving town Friday for a week-long Easter recess:

— The Senate will debate Monday on whether to raise taxes by $48 billion through Sept. 30, 1987, and reduce spending by $14.8 billion.

— The House will vote on a similar, $49-billion tax increase Wednesday, and later in the week consider a package of about $12 billion in spending cuts.

— The Senate Budget Committee will meet Monday to begin writing a spending bill for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The House passed such a blueprint last week.

The activity is in stark contrast to the deficit-reduction activity last year when Congress imposed a three-year, $85 billion package of deficit reductions. By the time the House and Senate adjourned for the year, the House had passed a $10.3 billion package of minor spending cuts and the Senate had done nothing.

During floor debate last week, Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., chairman of the House Budget Committee, reminded his colleagues that failure to act would stir the public to bring "a bipartisan plague on both our partisan houses. We will all be tarred with failure."

The Reagan administration was expected this week to revise its budget projections to take into account the stronger-than-expected economic growth.

Chernenko: Arms talks bleak

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Konstantin U. Chernenko said in an interview published Sunday that, despite "contacts with the American side," the superpowers remain deadlocked on arms control with no sign of a breakthrough.

Chernenko painted a bleak picture of Soviet-American relations and the threat posed by recent escalations in nuclear arms. "The situation in the world is not improving. It remains very dangerous."

His statements were carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass and read over Soviet television. Soviet news media said they were answers to questions put to him by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, and that Pravda would carry the remarks on Monday.

Chernenko did not specify what kind of contacts he had with the United States. He and President Reagan reportedly have exchanged at least four letters since Chernenko succeeded the late Yuri V. Andropov two months ago, and Soviet and U.S. ambassadors in Washington and Moscow have had meetings with senior officials in their host countries.

Cancer claims life of American statesman

THE UNITED STATES lost a courageous statesman Saturday as former Sen. Frank Church of Idaho died of cancer at the age of 59. Sen. Church became the fifth youngest senator in U.S. history when he was elected in 1956 at the age of 32. He was an early critic to U.S. military action in Vietnam and joined with Republican Sen. John Cooper of Kentucky in sponsoring an amendment to limit U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

Although cancer ended the life of Sen. Church, the mysterious disease may have added to the richness of that life. At the age of 23, when Church was studying at Harvard Law School, doctors diagnosed incurable cancer of the abdomen and lymph nodes and predicted his death within six months. But after gruelling X-ray treatments, which left him weighing less than 90 pounds, he recovered.

AS A SENATOR, Frank Church said that his first bout with cancer taught him to take risks — to vote his conscience regardless of the political costs. That philosophy led to his criticism of Vietnam and the clandestine operations of the Central Intelligence Agency. It guided him in his support of the Panama Canal Treaty and was responsible for his emergence as a leading proponent of arms control. And that philosophy, which he carried with him in a brief bid for the presidential nomination in 1976, may have cost him his political career.

In 1980, his bid for a fifth term came up against a National Conservative Political Action Committee, which also worked to defeat several other liberal senators, including George McGovern of South Dakota, and Birch Bayh of Indiana.

NCPAC SPENT $200,000 for anti-Church advertisements and, along with a nationwide Republican landslide, swept Church from office. But even after his defeat, Church continued to speak for arms control and peace.

Frank Church's life was short, but rich — a study in statesmanship. His critical voice will be missed.

Acid rain headline was in error

The Thursday, March 29, issue of the Daily Egyptian carried an article on the front page describing the acid rain conference of the previous day. The headline "Professor says Midwest should bear acid rain cost" is incorrect. No statement to that effect was contained in my talk, the text of which was made available to the press. —

Judge's anger well-aimed at IUD makers

SOMETIMES ANGER can be a beautiful thing. In a courtroom, from a jurist's bench, it can be majestic. Some beautiful anger was visible recently when Chief U.S. District Judge Miles W. Lord of Minneapolis approved a settlement of $4.6 million in seven product-liability cases involving A.H. Robins Co.

The Richmond, Va., multinational corporation sold some 2.8 million Dalkon shield intrauterine contraceptive devices, but under a Food and Drug Administration request stopped sales in 1974. Claims had been made for three years that the Dalkon shield was defective. Cases were reported in which women suffered sterility following corrective surgery. Serious and occasionally fatal pelvic infections occurred.

IN A DECADE of litigation, Robins has lost seven jury trials in which punitive damage awards of $13.1 million have been won by women. Robins has appealed in five cases. Some 1,500 more women are seeking punitive awards. In addition,

Colman McCarthy
Syndicated Columnist

more than 10,000 claims and lawsuits have been brought for compensatory damages. This isn't your everyday "oops, sorry" product-recall case. Nor is Miles Lord your ordinary judge hesitant to make moral connections between boardroom decisions and the suffering caused by those decisions. When he approved the $4.6 million settlement against Robins, the judge had three of the firm's top officials before him in the courtroom. He accused them of "corporate irresponsibility at its meanest." Juries have found that Robins knew that the device was defective by reason of its design and the company's failure to warn women of its hazards.

ROBINS DENIEs, denies this, but the judge wasn't buying. He referred to the 10,000 women who "have made claims that they gave up part of their womanhood so that your company might prosper. If one poor young man were by some act of his — without authority or consent — to inflict such damage upon one woman, he would be jailed for a good portion of the rest of his life."

That was before the Big Dan's rape trial, but Lord's remarks are relevant to that case. There is corporate rape, too. "Your company," he told the Robins gang of three, "without warning to women, invaded their bodies by the millions and caused them injuries by the thousands. And when the time came for these women to make their claims against your company, you attacked their characters. You inquired into their sexual practices and into the identity of their sex partners. You exposed these women — and ruined families and reputations and careers — in order to intimidate those who would raise their voices against you. You introduced issues that had no relationship whatsoever to the fact that you planted in the bodies of these women instruments of death, of mutilation, of disease."

WHY SUCH anger, it might be asked? To err is human, and all that. Who's this judge to be throwing so hard a book at three respectable corporate officials, one a scientist and another a lawyer? Lord removed all doubts as to why this was no day for leniency: "Gentlemen, you state that your company has suffered enough, that the infliction of further punishment in the form of punitive damages will cause harm to your ongoing business, will punish innocent shareholders and could conceivably depress your profits to the point where you could not survive. When the poor and downtrodden in this country commit crimes, they too plead that these are crimes of survival and that they should be excused for illegal acts which helped them escape desperate economic straits. On a few occasions, when these excuses are made and a contrite and remorseful defendant promises to mend his ways, courts will give heed to such a plea. But no court would heed this plea when the individual denies the wrong nature of his deeds and gives no indication that he will mend his ways."

AMERICAN COURTS are inundated with Dalkon shield cases. Some court calendars list three-year waits for trial dates. Lord appealed to the Robins officials to give up their defensive legal ploys put into action by "your well-financed nationwide team of attorneys. You, the men in charge, must surely have hearts and consciences."

The beauty of judge Lord's anger is that for once the corporate infrastructure of lawyers, public-relations men, boards of directors and balance sheets was penetrated. Three culpable human beings were uncovered. For a moment, the Robins men were unincorporated. Responsibility was assigned individually.

Brochures won't help quality

I am quite pleased to see that the SIU-C administration is concerned about the potential effect of declining numbers of graduating high school students on enrollment here. I am also pleased to see that our leaders have adopted the appropriate response — a flashy set of brochures extolling the virtues of our beautiful campus.

Frankly, I was concerned that they might try something silly like upgrading the quality of undergraduate instruction offered here. They might have seriously considered making teaching excellence a legitimate criterion for faculty promotions, equal in status to research and publishing. They might have gone so far as to mandate teaching competence and a demonstrated interest in students as minimum expectations for tenure.

They might have made faculty development a major priority, and made added resources and rewards available to faculty members wishing to renew themselves as professional educators and teachers. They might have even refuted the philosophy, articulated last fall in a graduate seminar by our graduate dean, that faculty for whom undergraduate teaching is a high priority do not belong here at SIU-C, but at a community college.

They might have done all these things, but I apply they didn't. Nice brochures might not improve undergraduate education, but they'll no doubt impress the trustees. It's reassuring to know our leaders have their priorities straight. — Dave Davis, Doctoral Student, Higher Education

Alcohol still smuggled in dorms despite rules

By Phil Milano
Staff Writer

Although alcohol consumption is not permitted in on-campus dormitories at SIU-C, some students are successful in smuggling it in, said a University official.

Steve Kirk, assistant director of housing-residence life, said people working at the front doors of the high-rise dormitories on campus are instructed to check everyone who comes in, "but people are ingenious and are going to get a certain amount of (alcohol) past you."

A student resident of Schneider Tower said, "You can get away with anything. Everybody sneaks stuff in at different times of the day."

Student resident assistants in the high rises are effective in keeping beer kegs out, he said, but smaller quantities of alcohol can easily be smuggled in.

"You can put beers in shoes or backpacks or a laundry bag," he said. "You can take a Big Gulp cup from 7-11, fill it with vodka and bring that in, and you've got drinks all night."

Kirk said the system used by the University to alleviate the problem after the drinking age was raised to 21 in 1980 has been "pretty successful in terms of accomplishing our goals."

The most important of those goals, he said, was for University Housing to provide a more academically supportive environment for students in an off-campus housing facilities provide.

"The University is in the housing business". The whole point of the rules system is to create an environment in which students can study when they want to and sleep when they want to, and things aren't crazy all the time," Kirk said. "University housing is something more than just an apartment complex."

Current rules allow for beer and wine in Allen 1 in University Park and Warren Hall in Thompson Point. Both dormitories are for students age 21 and over. Kegs of beer are not permitted in any University housing.

Another student, who resides in Thompson Point, said, "We've gotten kegs in Thompson, and we don't have to worry about getting checked. We can just bring it right in.

"Just last week, a friend of mine used ropes to pull up a couple six packs to his floor in Mae Smith," he said.

Other students reported hiding beer in guitar cases, and one student said he used a duffle bag to bring a keg into a high rise.

Kirk said, "We confiscate a heck of a lot of alcohol. On Halloween weekend, we take an ocean of it away from people lying to bring it in."

It is easier to bring alcohol into Thompson Point residence halls, according to Kirk, because there are more entrance doors than in the high rises. He said, however, that there was not a dramatic difference among the dormitories in the percentage of students written up for noise or alcohol violations.

A first alcohol violation results in a disciplinary reprimand by the lead resident of a building, Kirk said. After a first offense, students are referred to Student Life, which can impose stiffer sanctions such as censure, probation and suspension from the University.

Dan Lane, administrative assistant for University Security, said the role of campus police is primarily to pick up confiscated alcohol.

"I'd say probably 90 percent of any action taken by University Housing doesn't get to us," he said, adding that security does get calls from housing when student dormitory parties get out of hand.

Kirk said staff members are allowed to enter a student's room if they believe they have reasonable cause. He said a room entry allows the staff member to search a student's closet, but a search permit must be obtained from Student Life in order to search the room.

"If we get one of those, we can go into a room, and we can tear it apart," Kirk said. "We can look in the drawers, inside luggage, under beds and we can make the student open up everything for our inspection," he said.

Kirk added that room searches usually result from other student's information.

Local day-care center program helps handicapped kids develop

By Debra Colburn
Staff Writer

Jumping and landing on both feet, stacking blocks without knocking them down and labeling common objects are examples of the tasks that face children at Archway Inc.

The day-care and homebound developmental program is for children from birth to age 3 who have some type of disability. The activities put before each child are programmed with that particular child in mind, according to Vicki Beuligmann, executive director.

The center, located at 1108 W. Willow St., is open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. four days a week. Children work in small groups or individually. Speech and physical therapy, as well as self-help feeding and toilet training, are also a part of the day's activities.

Children are referred to the service through a physician, social service agency or their parents. The center then does an evaluation and assessment of the child's development. If there is evidence of developmental delay, the child is eligible for the program.

Archway Inc. was developed about 12 years ago by a group of people with children who had learning disabilities or behavior problems. At that time, according to Beuligmann, handicapped children weren't usually provided for in the public school system.

Three children, whom Beuligmann refers to as normal models, are at the center to serve as role models for the children who are slower in development.

"The peer pressure of this age group is just amazing," she said, adding that the center has had success with children referred to them for behavioral problems because of the contact with normal models.

No more than 21 children can be at the center at a time, but because some children aren't there every day or all day, the center has a much larger list of children it helps. Beuligmann estimates that the center is currently serving about 45 children.

"We are sadly aware that there are many more children out there who need the service," she said.

Children at the center benefit from their time there, according to Beuligmann.

"We don't claim to cure, but, for example, research on Down's Syndrome and early intervention programs show that some children are reading at normal or above levels," she said.

Beuligmann said part of the work they do at the center is counseling parents.

"The parents may go through a mourning period when they give birth to a child with disabilities," she said.

Fear, anxiety, guilt, denial and anger are all common feelings parents with handicapped children experience. Beuligmann said parents are made aware of the feelings and told that they are normal.

All Stars jazz performance blends jazz greats, standards

By Jeff Wilkinson
Staff Writer

A Review

"We took a walk around Carbondale today," said pianist George Wein, one of the Newport Jazz Festival All Stars, "and there is nothing going on tonight better than this."

The "this" he was referring to was the All Stars' performance Friday night at Shryock Auditorium, and Wein was absolutely right.

The All Stars' near-sell-out concert was a spark of brilliance on a quiet night in Carbondale.

The group's performance of golden-age jazz blended tributes to jazz greats with jazz standards. The blend kept the show moving quickly, entertaining those who grew up with Dixieland and big-band jazz, and educating the younger members of the audience.

The first half of the show was dedicated to the music of Duke Ellington. Norris Turney, former member of the Duke Ellington Orchestra, propelled the group through numbers such as "Penitentiary Blues" and "Take the A Train."

Turney is a veteran player. In his 35-year career as player, writer and teacher, he has worked with the likes of Dizzy Gillespie, Sy Oliver, Dick Hyman and Billy Taylor. Although his mainstay is the soprano sax, he has mastered clarinet, flute, alto flute and piccolo. He is presently a member of the New York Jazz Repertory Company.

Considered a "new" artist at 30 years of age, Scott Hamilton has learned his lessons well. His tribute to Coleman Hawkins, a tenor sax solo on "Body and Soul," was deliciously rich and warm.

Over the past eight years, Hamilton has developed into an extraordinary player. He has worked with Benny Goodman and Roy Eldridge in numerous jazz festivals throughout the world and was named International Jazz Musician of the Year in 1978. Along with fellow All Star Warren Vache, he is a very bright spot in the world of jazz.

Vache is also very promising. He is an experimenter on the trumpet. His solos are sometimes startling, but always innovative. Based in Dixieland, Vache's challenging style breaks out of the traditional and is refreshingly contemporary. His performance Friday night beautifully complemented the styles of the older players in the group.

The elder statesman of the group was bassist Siam Stewart. In his 40 years of experience he has played with the who's who of jazz musicians — Art Tatum, Benny Goodman, Dizzy Gillespie and others.

He was the first to use a combination of bowed bass and vocals in octave unison in jazz solos. The style is delightful. It enables Stewart to hum or sing anything from nursery rhymes to popular songs over his solos.

The other half of the rhythm section was Oliver Jackson, and he was a knockout. He even managed a solo with no drums, clapping his hands, slapping his thighs and snapping his fingers. He is a master of the drums and his talent was in full flower Friday night.

Women finish last in tri-meet

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

Throughout most of the season, the SIU-C women's track team has received outstanding performances by sprinter Denise Blackman and shot putter Rhonda McCausland.

However, other Saluki athletes are suddenly beginning to enter the picture.

In the Two by Three Triangular Saturday at Champaign, the Salukis received two of their three first-place finishes from Sydney Edwards, with a 36-foot-9.75 leap in the triple jump, and Sally Zack, with a 17:43.7 time in the 5,000-meter run.

The performances turned in by Edwards and Zack overshadowed the Salukis' last-place finish in the three-team triangular, Indiana, 92 points, won nine of 17 events to win the meet, and Illinois, 55, won five events to finish in front of the Salukis, 34.

"We achieved the things we wanted to do in the meet, like moving people around in different events," Coach Don DeNoon said. "We're making progress for the conference championships and I'm pretty happy at this stage."

DeNoon said the absence of Blackman, who is nursing a pulled hamstring, hurt the Salukis' chances of finishing second. Blackman was favored to win the 100 and 200, and would have helped the Salukis in the 4x100 and 4x400 relay events.

In the triple jump, Edwards shattered Sue Anderson's school record of 34-2, which was set at the Saluki Relays March 31. Edwards competed in the triple jump for the first time in her career, an event that has been added to the outdoor season this year.

"We have found an event she can be successful in," DeNoon said. "With the confidence she gained in her triple jumping, hopefully it will carry over to her long jumping."

Zack's performance in the 5,000 moved her into third on the all-time school list. She had a personal best in the 3,000, 10:30.77, to finish fourth overall, which ranks her fifth on the all-time list.

"Sally believes in herself and she found out she can compete at that level," DeNoon said. "She has put in a tremendous amount of work, from 16 to 17 hours a week."

McCausland was the other first-place finisher for the Salukis, winning the discus event, 145-9. She finished second in the shot put, 45-1, and fourth in the javelin, 134-1, behind teammates Laurie Dvorak, 136-9, and Cynthia Joy, 135-3, who finished second and third, respectively. Dvorak's effort was a personal best.

Other Saluki performances were turned in by Odette James, second behind Zack in the 5,000 with a personal-best 18:12.9; Lori Ann Bertram, fifth in the 5,000, 18:38; Jennifer Bartley, third in the 200, 25.79, and fourth in the 100.

Netters take 2 G-CAC matches

By Jim Lexa
Sports Editor

The SIU-C women's tennis team beat the rain, Wichita State and Drake last weekend but then the Salukis ran into Kentucky.

The Wildcats beat SIU-C by winning five of the six singles matches, and then they beat it — as in leaving without playing the doubles matches.

It'll go down in the record books as a 5-4 win for Kentucky, but Saluki Coach Judy Auld didn't like the way her squad picked up three "easy" points in the match.

"I consider it kind of low class," Auld said. "It was not satisfying to win doubles that way."

Auld said the Kentucky coach cited injuries, a tired team and a long drive home as excuses to leave early, after the Wildcats' third win of the weekend was secure.

SIU-C's 5-4 wins over Gateway Conference members Wichita State and Drake were important, Auld said, because it proved that SIU-C, 10-0 in the Gateway, is still in the hunt for the Gateway title.

"My players had something to prove to themselves and to the rest of the conference," Auld said. "We have as much of a shot at the conference title as anybody else."

Wichita State beat Drake 6-3, while Kentucky won all three of its matches by 5-4 scores.

Although the Salukis, 6-9 this spring and 17-14 overall, won two of three matches, SIU-C had doubles trouble. The Salukis lost five of the six doubles matches that they played, and their combined doubles record this spring is 18-31, after going 33-21 in the fall.

"We're just not playing real well doubles right now," Auld said.

Auld labeled SIU-C's doubles play as "inconsistent." The Salukis won just four sets in doubles action, including two in the 6-3, 6-0 win Mary Pat Kramer and Amanda Allen racked up over Drake's Jean Letner and Ca. Hanrahan at No. 3. Allen and Kramer are 7-9, the best doubles record on the Saluki squad this spring.

Allen boosted her singles winning streak to seven by winning all three of her matches. Allen is 9-8 at No. 6 this spring after posting a 6-12 mark in the fall at No. 4.

"I'm really pleased with Amanda's play," Auld said. "Amanda has had a rough time with injuries."

Last year Allen had mononucleosis, last fall she had a broken finger and at the beginning of this spring season she was bothered by a back injury, Auld said.

While Auld likes Allen at No. 6 singles, she doesn't know how to help Alessandra Molinari at No. 1 singles. Molinari lost two of her three matches and watched her record drop to 3-13.

"It gets to the point where I don't even know what to say anymore," Auld said.

Auld thought Molinari had pulled out of her slump with a win March 23 against Indiana

State, which snapped a nine-match losing streak. Since then Molinari has won just one of four matches.

Kramer, at No. 3 singles, won two of her three matches, and improved her record to a team-leading spring mark of 11-8. Stacy Sherman also won two of three matches, running her record to 9-6 at No. 5 singles. However, she saw her eight-match winning streak end in a 4-6, 4-6 loss against Kentucky.

Harney, at No. 4 singles "his spring after playing at No. 6 in the fall, won one of her three matches. Her record this spring is 8-11.

Keidi Eastman won one of three singles matches, and her record stands at 8-11.

 - 19. 610 Sycamore, 3 bedroom, furnished, heat & water included, $425 summer, $430 fall.
- MUST Rent Summer to obtain for fall.
If you're not going to be here for summer, it would be cheaper for me to let you rent the house and let it go empty.
Having a summer house saves you the expense of:
1. Monthly storage
2. The expense of coming back to look for a place (trouble) to rent back the city and last month's rent.
3. Lost work from coming back a week after you get your furniture out. (If you have a car, your house, you can stay up over the weekend, you'll be the last day of your summer break.)
Add Travel, Storage and last work time and it more than equals your share of summer rent.

Men netters lose No. 17

By George Pappas Staff Writer

Even though the SIU-C men's tennis team lost its 17th straight this past weekend in Memphis, Tenn., there was still a bright spot for one of the Salukis.

Freshman Steve Quanon won his first collegiate match at No. 6 singles but the win was not enough as Memphis State downed SIU-C 6-3. Even though it took Quanon 12 matches to get his first victory, the feeling was still there for the 16-year-old freshman who beat Eduardo Eche 6-1, 6-4.

"I was so accustomed to losing," Quanon said, "I don't know how to feel right now. I do know that it will be a good confidence builder for me."

Quanon said he used different tactics to get his first win.

"I played all the big points better, like when I was up 3-0. I just gave it my everything," Quanon said.

It would help the team if some of the other Salukis could give it their all when they're up too. For instance, Saluki Chris Visconti won the first set in his No. 4 singles match against Bill Conley 7-6. But Conley prevailed by downing Visconti 6-2, 6-1 in the second and third set; to get the victory.

The Salukis also got a victory from Per Wadmark at No. 1 singles as he beat Julio Martins 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. At No. 2 singles, Saluki Gabriel Coch was beaten by Peter Lebedevs 4-6, 5-7. Lars Nilsson lost to David Nicholson 2-6, 3-6 at No. 3 singles. Paul Rasch lost to Jeff Gray 5-7, 4-6 at No. 5.

In doubles action, Wadmark and Nilsson won their fourth of their last six matches by beating Conley and Gray 6-7, 7-5, 6-3 at No. 1. Coch and Visconti were dismantled by Lebedevs and Nicholson 2-6, 3-6 and Rasch and Quanon lost to Martins and Eche 6-7, 2-6.

mate Karl Schneider took third in the discus with a 165-9, a personal best. Schneider recorded another personal best in the hammer throw with a toss of 163-5, but placed third behind SIU-C's Tom Smith's personal best and first-place throw of 187-4 as SIU-C claimed the top three spots.

Sayre hurt in vaulting practice

By David Wilhelm
Staff Writer

Although the Salukis enjoyed some successful performances at the Texas Relays in Austin, Texas, over the weekend, they were handed a severe setback when pole vaulter John Sayre injured himself and will probably miss the remainder of the season.

No team scores were kept at the Relays, in which more than 2,200 athletes competed. The Salukis competed in the decathlon, 4x100-meter relay, 4x400 relay, high jump and invitational mile.

The injury to Sayre was a big blow to the Salukis. Sayre is SIU-C's top decathlete and No. 1 pole vaulter.

Sayre was competing in his first decathlon of the season. After being in third place after Wednesday's events, Sayre injured his knee Thursday while warming up for the discus event. Though the injury was not serious, it was enough to keep him from finishing the decathlon, Saluki Coach Lew Hartzog thought. He pulled Sayre from the Relays.

Sayre was entered in the pole vault event, scheduled for Friday, but Hartzog did not plan on using him because of the previous day's injury. After taking the team back to the hotel to rest for an upcoming event, Hartzog said Sayre later left the hotel without telling him and hitchhiked the four miles to the stadium to watch the pole vault competition.

After watching for a while, Hartzog said Sayre borrowed some shoes and other equipment to participate in the event, despite his injury. While practicing for the vault, Sayre missed the landing pit, fell on concrete and suffered a slight chip on a vertebrae and a "halfway dislocated hip," Hartzog said.

It appears as if Sayre is out for the rest of the outdoor season and will probably miss the U.S. Olympic tryouts this summer.

"I've got a feeling he's not going to make it the rest of the year," Hartzog said. "It'll be a miracle if he does. Had I been there, I wouldn't have allowed him to vault. He's such a competitor that he couldn't just sit in the stands."

"It was a foolish, impulsive thing for John to do. It's a blow to the team and a bigger blow for John."

Mike Franks led the 4x400 relay team to another victory. Franks, in the anchor position, outran Texas Christian University's Michael Cannon in the final leg to secure the Saluki win. The Salukis were trailing throughout the race but finished a nose ahead of TCU, 3:04.46 to 3:04.51. Florida State took third.

The Salukis placed fifth in the 4x100 relay behind Abilene Christian, Arizona, Baylor and Arkansas. SIU-C was timed at 40.33. Tony Adams, who runs on the 4x100 and the 4x400 relay teams, has a sore groin and Hartzog said he will hold Adams out of the hard sprint events, particularly the 4x100, as a "precautionary measure" to keep him ready for the 4x400 relay, the Salukis' strongest event.

High jumper Stephen Wray placed second with a jump of 7-2 and Edison Wedderburn took seventh in the invitational mile with a 4:08.

The remainder of the squad competed in the Illinois State Invitational in Normal. Assistant Coach Bill Cornell, who traveled to Normal with the team while Hartzog was in Texas, said the Salukis "had a pretty decent meet."

"We did well for what we ran in," he said.

SIU-C had six individual first-place finishes and won the 4x400 relay.

Mark Hill took first in both the 200- and 400-meter dashes with times of 22.1 and 47.9. Javell Heggs placed first in the 100-meter dash with a 10.7 and David Greathouse won the long jump with a leap of 23-1.

Saluki John Smith won the shot put with a toss of 60-10.5 and placed second in the discus with a throw of 166-1. Team-

Erratic defense, hitting spell doom for Salukis

By Dan Devine
Staff Writer

Despite the efforts of pitcher Sunny Clark, the SIU-C softball team dropped three of four Gateway Conference games this last weekend.

The Salukis were swept 3-0 and 3-2 by Wichita State on Friday, and split against Southwest Missouri State on Saturday, losing 1-0 before winning 3-1.

Clark started and completed three of the games, including a pair of 13-inning contests, and relieved Eileen Maloney in the third inning of the second game Friday. Altogether, she pitched 36 innings in two days, allowing 26 hits and just five earned runs. Nevertheless, she lost twice to lower her record to 4-7. Her earned run average is 0.76.

SIU-C's win Saturday, a 3-1 triumph over Southwest Missouri, marked the first time in 11 spring games that the Salukis have beaten the Bears. The Salukis scored three runs in the third inning and held on for the win.

Nancy McAuley and Kelly Nelis started the rally with walks, and Susan Jones reached on an error by the third baseman, as McAuley came around to score. Then Tonya Lirsdye doubled over the right fielder's head to drive in two more runs.

"They bounced back," said Brechtelsbauer. "Hopefully this will be a lift. They're playing hard. It's not been from a lack of effort."

SIU-C had six chances to win the first game in extra innings but left the winning run on base several times.

"We've got to start cashing in on those opportunities," said Brechtelsbauer, who said her team may have been overruling at times.

The Salukis lost the game in the top of the 13th, when a throwing error led to the Bears' only run.

The team lost twice Friday, let down by its hitting and by five errors in the first game. The Shockers scored three runs in the 13th inning of the first game to break a scoreless tie. They had three hits and two walks, but were also aided by two errors and a passed ball.

The Salukis had only one hit, an eighth-inning triple by Cindi Knight. SIU-C had runners on first and third with nobody out but couldn't score. Wichita State had more chances to win, but was robbed on several occasions by outstanding plays by the Saluki outfielders.

"They should have won the game a lot earlier, if not for our defense," said Brechtelsbauer. "We looked a lot better defensively."

Right fielder Nelis made the weekend's best catch — a diving grab of a bloop down the right field line. Center fielder Pam Flens made three excellent catches.

Flens came up with another sparkling play in the fourth inning of the nightcap, when she made a shoestring catch that stranded two Shocker runners. But Wichita State had already pushed across the three runs that it needed for the win.

SIU-C is now 4-10, and 1-3 in Gateway play. The Salukis' next game is Tuesday, when they travel to Eastern Illinois for a conference game against the Panthers.

Tigers thrash White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Barbaro Garbey drove in three runs with a pair of doubles Sunday and the undefeated Detroit Tigers romped to a 7-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox for their fifth straight victory.

The Tigers spoiled Tom Seaver's American League debut as the 39-year-old, three-time Cy Young winner, failed to last five innings and was tagged with the loss.

Garbey's first double was his first major league hit, a two-run, pinch shot off reliever Juan Agosto in the fifth inning. He also doubled to drive in a run in a two-run seventh.

Salukis regroup, split against Braves

Daryl Van Schoonen
Staff Writer

Bradley's Mike Dunne knocked the Saluki baseball team down, but not out of Saturday's double-header at Abe Martin Field.

Dunne bested Gary Bockhorn, 2-1, in 10 innings, in the tense opener but the Saluki bats arrived in time to salvage the nightcap, 8-3, on opening day in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Sunday's Saluki-Brave double-header was rained out and will be made up noon Monday at Abe Martin Field.

The win snapped SIU-C's seven-game losing streak, the longest ever by a Saluki team. The Salukis are 7-13. Bradley, 15-6, had its 12-game winning streak terminated.

"The first game was a great one," said Bradley Coach Dewey Kalmer. "Bockhorn and Dunne were like two heavyweight boxers standing toe to toe and sluging it out."

Both teams scored a run in the second inning then watched Bockhorn and Dunne string goose eggs until the 10th inning, when Bradley's Scott Melvin slashed a one-out double to right field, scoring David Panizzi from third base. Dunne, like Bockhorn, went the distance, retired SIU-C in order in the 10th.

Panizzi had led off with a single, stole second and moved to third on a sacrifice. Melvin, whose pair of errors in the second led to SIU-C's lone marker, then atoned for his fielding mistakes.

While reliever Mark Wooden warmed up, Saluki Coach Itchy Jones paid Bockhorn a visit as Melvin stepped up, but only to alert the right-hander of a possible suicide squeeze bunt.

"No way was I going to take Bockhorn out," he said. "It was his game to win or lose."

Melvin's game-winner gave Dunne instant credibility as a prophet.

"I told Scott he'd come back and pick it up for me," Dunne said. "He did."

Bockhorn, 2-4, struck out 13, a career high. Dunne, the main attraction for the 15 major league scouts in attendance, manufactured six strikeouts and 15 ground outs with his tailing fastball. He yielded just two hits and raised his record to 5-1.

Dunne came within inches of losing the game in the bottom of the ninth. With two out and Mike Gellinger on third, Jay Burch hit a sharp ground ball deep in the hole at shortstop, but Ed Weylock backhanded it and threw out Burch by an eyelash at first.

"I said a Hail Mary on that one," Dunne said.

The Salukis quickly picked themselves up in the second game, thanks largely to four first-inning walks issued by loser Mike Frew, 1-2. SIU-C scored twice in the inning and four times in the fourth en route to the win.

Kalmer, who looked across the field into the quiet Saluki dugout between games, saw a slumping team and was thinking swoop.

"We wanted two quick ones," Kalmer said. "We knew they were down a little bit, so we wanted them to go out and beat us. The last thing I wanted to see was the walks."

"We weren't about to fold up by any means," Jones said.

Clean-up hitter Robert Jones and Steve Finley keyed the Saluki attack, each collecting three hits. Jones had three RBI and Finley had two.

Starter Jay Bellissimo evened his record to 2-2, but needed help from Wooden in the sixth. Wooden entered with SIU-C leading 6-3 with one out and two runners on base. He retired Scott Shepke and Craig Holthus to squelch Bradley's threat, then got the side out in the seventh to earn his third save.

"That's what I'm supposed to do," said Wooden, who had failed to collect a save in his last two tries. "It's about time."
